THERE IS A PRAYER we would utter now—as Thanksgiving comes again to America. A prayer we feel and live and know—but cannot find the countless words, the million tongues and voices to repeat.

IT COMES FROM THE CENTURIES that have molded this nation—and made her great and strong. It comes from the canyons of towering cities . . . from the echoing quiet of countless village streets . . . from the roaring tumult of industry . . . and a fisherman hauling his nets.

IT IS THE HEART OF A NATION—giving humble thanks. For blessings we cannot measure. For gifts we cannot appraise. It is a people—saying in one reverent voice: "Thank God I live in America."

IT IS A PEOPLE AWARE, as never before, of the greatness of their nation. The wealth of her resources. The riches of her lands. The strength and courage and unity of her people. A people giving thanks for a nation built from a wilderness to limitless power. To stand firm against those who would plunder and steal and enslave. And thanking a beneficent God for His gifts.

IN A WORLD, long suffering from the barbarism and cruelty of war—we have lived in a land of peaceful sky and earth. There has been no ceaseless horror in the heavens above us. No endless devastation to lay our lands and homes in waste. No despot rules that our children shall starve and die.

WE ARE FREE. Free, in a world of prejudice and intolerance. Free to live and speak and act and work and worship as we choose. Free to elect our own leaders. Free to live by the laws of our own making. Free to decide our own destinies. For this we give thanks—and pray that God may guide us in the exercise of this freedom—that others of the earth, no slaves, may share it. That in the end—they may again be free.

AMERICA GIVES THANKS, for the men who saw with clear, unflinching eyes, the nation to be. Who fought as we fight in the cause of freedom and humanity and brotherhood. And for those who now fight—knowing that history has given few men the privileges of fighting for so great a cause.

THIS THEN, IS THE GREATNESS OF AMERICA. And in our prayer of thanks—there would be the voices of all who share this nation's glory. All who now work and save and fight as one—that no power—however great, may ever be allowed to assault to plunder this freedom that is our lives.

—THE SATURDAY EVENING POST

We Should All Do Something

By GRACIE ALLEN

Nowadays everybody is talking about Clark Gable being in the Army and about sharing meat before we have rationing so there will be enough for our boys in uniform. I don't suppose there's any connection between these two subjects but anyway everybody is talking about them. And many people are actually sharing meat already. I know my sister Bessie goes down town every day with a baked ham under her arm, trying to find some nice looking soldier or sailor to share it with her. So far, all the soldiers and sailors she's met don't seem to care for baked ham. But perhaps you and others are having better luck than Bessie. Whether it's carrying baked ham down town every day or doing something else, we should all do something about the "share the meat" plan.

One article I read about it said, "The meat output for the present marketing year will be more than 24 billion pounds." Along with other figures, it also said, "Civilians will have to get along on about 3 1-2 billion pounds less than they'd like to have." A person with half a mind can see that's right—and I agree with it! Speaking just for myself and a hundred and thirteen million others, I'd say that each of us can easily get along on 3 1-2 billion pounds less meat. Furthermore, if it's necessary we can get along on 4 1-2 billion pounds less! And we'll be glad to do it! After all, we can use less meat more than our allies and soldiers can. That may sound a little confusing—what I mean is: We need more meat less than they do.

Anyway, we should all try to save meat and here's a little tip on how you can make it go farther when you have company. Take a five pound roast of pork or beef—that's the weekly ration for two people, cook it in a slow oven and use plenty of garlic and seasoning so the aroma will fill the whole house. When your dinner guests arrive, leave the door to the kitchen open. How their mouths will water as they sit waiting for dinner. After you feel your guests can't stand it any longer, call them in to the dinner table and serve them a nice snack of sardines and potato salad. After sniffing the roast for half an hour, sardines will taste wonderful to them—and next day you and your husband can warm over the roast for your own dinner.

Of course, things like this won't completely solve the meat problem, but they'll help. And all of us want to help, don't we?

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Jane Cabell Sanford ..... Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers ..... Managing Editor
Elva Andrews ..... Business Manager

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

Walter Winchell calls them Saboteurists. I don't call them any name because I have been as guilty as anyone else. I mean those people who crowd up the buses and trains on week-ends. The government has pleaded with civilians to stay at home unless they absolutely have to travel. And especially to travel during the week rather than on week-ends. The buses were forced to cut their schedules because of tire and gas shortage, and the trains, already overloaded had to assume the extra burden. Pleading did no good. The civilians would not cooperate. Then the War Department did the next best thing. They ordered that, in so far as possible, all furloughs be given between Monday and Friday. The government couldn't stop the civilians but they could curtail the soldier's traveling.

There is a very good reason why we shouldn't travel just now. Prior to the war, much of our freight traveled by motor car. Now with a shortage of tires and gasoline, that freight must go by train. Not only the normal load but also all the war materials, as well. Then, too, the railroads must always keep many Pullmans and coaches ready so that they can be used at a moment's notice to transport troops. Beside the extra freight, baggage, and troop trains, soldiers on furlough are traveling to and from their homes. To add to all this confusion, comes the little Farmville girl going to a dance or an all important game.. See how selfish those petty pleasures seem in the light of the war and all that the fighting men are doing to keep us free. I'm not trying to put a wet blanket on pleasures. We all like to go to dances and games, we all like to travel and visit. But it seems that staying at school for a few more week-ends is the least we personally can do to add to the work our brothers are doing in Africa and Australia.

If you can find anyone with tires and gas—go ahead. A golden opportunity like that will come only once—but for the cause of liberty and freedom, don't travel by bus or train.

BETWEEN YOU 'N ME AND . . .

The Gatepost

(Who Hears An Awful Lot)

At W. and L. this week-end, Peggy Becker was no little surprised to find herself rooming with Nancy Hughes, of last year's Farmville fame.

Eleanor Wade didn't mind the long wait for her call last week when she heard Bill's voice coming across the wires.

Sara Jeffries and Betsy Owen have the nicest brothers at-tall—Even if they did root for aCrolina at the game Saturday! After all, they go to school there.

Lee Oliver is evidently picking up where Scott left off. Isn't everything still all bright, Jane?

Lelia Dowell and Betty Blackwell were two happy sophs this week-end, wit htheir young men on the spot—the right spot.

Amy Read, Jeanne Strick and Jane Ruffin think the British navy is as attractive as the U. S. nautical force ow One young man, the Scotsman, plays the piano, one writes poetry — and the other brews English tea.

Dodie evidently liked playing opposite Rick, and is loathe to stop. Evidence—dates in Lynchburg and S .T. C. Sunday night.

Martha Higgins' Dick Anderson is the man of the hour. He sends her corsages just anytime! The girls are wondering why there aren't more men like him instead of so many girls liking him.

Betty Burns is again to be seen in the choice circles. H-S will be glad to hear.

Application from members of the Lonely Hearts Club are being accepted in room 4 Annex for dates for Senior dance.

Jac Hardy and Jim Peden make a handsome couple these days.

Nancy Moss is looking heavenward with "Pearly" aGtes to meet her there.

Sally Johnson and Birdie Williams are staunch H-S supporters at this point. Oh, well, they're happy!

The Show Is On—Circus Has Arrived!

When we were little folks, it used to be "The trumpets blow, the bugles play, the Circus is coming to town today". . . and there were always the thrills of the Big Tent, the awe we had of the elephants, the general air of hustle 'n bustle all about, and the hope of seeing a stray clown running around calmly in the midst of all the excitement. Thrills for the young folks, dread of the old . . . a Circus!

Here at S.T.C. it's slightly different . . . but it's still a circus. Even the parade on Saturday afternoon, with animals and clowns and freaks and a crowd of people, and all the excitement you can hope for. Everything from bulls to skunks will be loose on the streets of Farmville before this week end is over. Guests needn't be aghast a bit should they even encounter a Pink Elephant somewhere along the way.

But that's just the parade! Wait 'til you see that gala four-ring performance Saurday night! Why my goodness, there's everything from a German Beer-joint to an old-fashioned minstrel, all ready, and rarin' to show . . . and regardless of who the Queen may be. Variety will reign supreme!

Nor can we forget the booths, either. The lemonade may not be pink, but the ice-cream will be cold, and if you don't like the Wheel of Chance, try something more definite and have your fortune told.

"Buy, Keep Buying" Says Noted Writer

By STRUTHERS BURT
Novelist and Magazine Writer

Listen, Americans! We don't have to be told this.

We're a lucky nation. We've been lucky all through our history. We began to be lucky the moment our ancestors decided to come here. We're still lucky. But don't let's crowd our luck.

Our cities are still unbombed; our children can still walk in safety; not yet have our wives or daughters been enslaved or insulted or raped; none of us have as yet been shot as hostages, but it is coming closer—the red horror of war, and already on a score of far-flung battle fronts our young men stand at attention or are already engaged. So let's finish it off. Let's make this as speedily as possible a world where men and women can live and bring their children up decently, and let's bring our young men back as speedily as we can, and let's bring as many as we can back whole.

It may take a year; it may take two years; it may take longer, but let's finish it off. Even Hitler. But it's going to take every ounce of strength and brains and patriotism we have, and it's going to take lots of money. And that's where the young people not yet of age or who can't go to war or who are essential where they are can help. A dollar today is worth two tomorrow. Machine guns and high explosives don't wait. Neither do submarines.

How much is a young American worth? Each stamp or bond you buy may be saving his life, and the lives of two million like him. Nor will tomorrow do. It takes only the fraction of a second to kill a man.

Buy, and buy, and keep on buying. Buy regularly what you can. Ten cents, twenty cents, a dollar, five hundred—buy and keep on buying. Put so much aside each week. You're investing in lives, in the future, and in your country.

—U. S. Treasury Dept.

Student Advocates Change in Tea Room Management, Hours

To the Editor:

This is my fourth year at STC and during the past three years I have constantly been a patron of the College Tea Room. For sometime now there have been many unfavorable comments concerning the functioning of this enterprise. Admittedly, the college students cater to the tea-room because the food is excellent and it is the most convenient place to go. However, existing circumstances have become such that the students are asking questions among themselves which naturally have hertofore remained unanswered. Perhaps you can offer a suitable answer in response to our query.

Why is it a student has to wait, sometimes an hour, for an order when a person from in town or a faculty member is served shortly after his (or her) arrival? Among the students it is understood that the tea room was begun for our benefit. Don't misunderstand, we do not object to faculty members or town people patronizing the tea room. On the contrary, it creates a friendly atmosphere. But, why are the orders not filled as they are handed in and each person await his turn instead of showing such obvious partiality to the members of the faculty and the townpeople.

Another situation exists in the tea room which is only partially interpreted by the students. It is quite reasonable that no orders from the kitchen be filled between 12:00 and 12:30 noon because of the preparation for lunch during that time. But we do not understand why we cannot purchase school supplies or loose cookies or a box of crackers during this half hour when no preparation for such an order is necessary.

If the latter inconvenience is caused by the lack of helpers why not allow some of the Home Economics majors to assist in the tea room, receiving credit for their aid as they would in a class. A similar program is being carried out in other colleges with maximum success. Why not give it a try here at S. T. C. and relieve the present tension in our College Tea Room?

Conscientious Objector

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

All minds are turned to the celebration of Thanksgiving tomorrow. There isn't a person in America who can afford to neglect thanking God for His goodness. The town churches are worshipping together tomorrow morning at 10:30 at the Baptist church with Mr. Blackwell of the Methodist Church delivering the sermon. Instead of the Sunrise Service Thankgiving at 5:30 P. M. behind the Senior Building. Everyone is invited to attend.

Wednesday, Dec. 2 Dr. Kathleen tary of Religious Resources of the Y. W. C. A. will be on campus. She will meet in the afternoon with the Cabinet and committee members. It is quite a privilege to have hr on campus and every committee membersh should do her best not to miss the meeting. The Vabinet is entertaining her at their annual Christmas supper that night.

Since this Sunday is the fifth Sunday in November and it has been the custom of the college Sunday School classes to meet together on every fifth Sunday the Church Cooperative Committee has arranged to have the classes meet at the Baptist church with Dr. Jeffers, head of the Biology Department teaching the lesson. Anyone who has heard Dr. Jeffers can say that she would not miss it.

At the Presbyterian young peoples league meeting next Sunday night Miss Lillian Minkel will review the home mission study book, While It Is Day. This is a very worthwhile book, and will be interestingly presented by Miss Minkel.

Seniors To Swing Out 'Neath Christmas Trimmings On Dec. 5

Formal Features Cavalier Tunes And Figure

Christmas will be theme for the decorations of the Senior Dance Saturday night, December 5, Margaret Kitchin, general chairman, revealed this week. Small cedar trees and green and white streamers will contribute to the total effect. A large '43 will be featured at one end of the gym.

The Lynchburg Cavaliers will supply the music for the prom. The Cavaliers played at both the Junior and Senior Dances last year and have been featured at Randolph-Macon and Washington and Lee this fall.

Figure Leaders

Mary Katherine Dodson, president of the class of '42 and honorary member of the class of '43, will return to lead the figure. She will be assisted by the class officers, Betty Boutchard, president, Shirley Turner, Libby Bernard, and Nancye Allen, and their escorts. Other members of the class will also be in the figure and all will wear white.

Chaperons for the dance are Mr. and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Johnson, Miss Ruth Gleaves, Mrs. Hallie Laing, Mrs. Eva Warren, Miss Elizabeth Burger, Miss Rachel Royal, Mr. Raymond French, Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Graham, and Mrs. Edwin P. Lancaster.

The receiving line will be composed of Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Olive T. Iler, Mary Katherine Dodson, and the class officers.

Self-Treatment Very Dangerous

"There are thousands of persons having ready access to doctors who undertake to diagnose and treat their own illnesses, and sometimes those of their friends and acquaintances as well. In this practice there is nothing to commend," said Dr. I. C. Riggin, State health commissioner.

"It is difficult to understand why such persons who have had no medical training will attempt to determine what is ailing them, and then select for themselves the type of treatment required. As with headache and other manifestations of pain, too often this inexcusable conduct results in treating symptoms rather than causes. As a consequences, the physician in many cases gets the patient after the real and unsuspected trouble has dug in, sometimes beyond remedy.

"The practice of medicine is one of the oldest professions on earth. In its modern and scientific form it is a great art. One must have a substantial academic education, years of study in an accredited medical school, and at least one year's practical training with cases in a hospital before the examination given by the State Board of Medical Examiners can be taken. Only after that barrier has been passed successfully is the young physician permitted to open an office and practice.

"Yet against all this training and experience, and the daily treatment of patients, many otherwise intelligent persons somehow conclude they know enough to treat themselves and give advice to others," Dr. Riggin concluded.

Senior Dance Leaders . . .

BETTY BOUTCHARD
Class President

MARY KATHERINE DODSON
Honorary Member

S. T. C. Alumna Wins Commission In WAACs

FORT DES MOINES, IA., November 24—Mary Elizabeth Shearer Carroll, of Rocky Mount, Va., daughter of Mrs. Robert Scott Carroll, was recently commissioned a Third Officer in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps at the First WAAC Training Center at Fort Des Moines, Ia. The commission is equivalent to that of second lieutenant in the regular Army.

Miss Carroll will serve her country in war time by releasing some man from a non-combatant job so that he may go to the front to fight.

MARY ELIZABETH CARROLL

She has just finished an intensive study course to prepare her to become an officer. She has learned to command troops, to activate a company, has studied company administration, military laws, property accounting, and many other courses which an army officer must know. She has not yet been assigned to her post of duty.

Miss Carroll was born in Rocky Mount and attended Farmville State Teachers College, graduating in 1938. While here, she was a member of Mu Omega sorority and the staff of the Rotunda, writing a column called "Rotunda Reverberations".

Her sister, Natalie Carroll, is now a student here, and another sister, Virginia Carroll, an alumna of S. T. C., is in training at Smith College, Northampton, Mass., in preparation for receiving her commission as a WAVES ensign.

Ashcroft To Sing Here December 10

The Student Christian Association of Hampden-Sydney College will present Earl Ashcroft, popular New York baritone, in the first of three concerts to be given here this year Thursday, December 10.

Mr. Ashcroft received his first musical training at Winona State Teachers College in Minnesota where he specialized in public school music. Later he attended the University of Minnesota where he excelled in music and also sang at clubs and in oratorio throughout his native state. Mr. Ashcroft then came to New York and before two weeks were up he had joined the Schubert light opera companies and was singing leading roles in "The Student Prince", "Roberta", "Firefly', 'Gay Divorcee", and many others.

Since then Mr. Ashcroft has sung in concert throughout the East and West, for thirteen weeks he appeared on the General Motors Radio program over the National Broadcasting System, he has appeared as soloist in all major oratorios including the Creation, Elijah, the Crucifixation, the Seven Last Words of Christ, the Redemption and the Bach Masses.

Last year he appeared in Town Hall and was acclaimed by many New York music critics and at present he is a member of the Workshop Opera Company with which Mr. Ashcroft has sung leading roles in most operas. He is also soloist at the First Presbyterian Church in Brookiyn.

The Book Review

John A. L. Ruff
Courtesy Hampden-Sydney Tiger

Hartzell Spence in his new book, Get Thee Behind Me, well expresses the predicament of the son born in the clergy, stamped for life as being a "preacher son". In this followed up of One Foot in Heaven he clearly delineates the vicissitudes and harrying stresses which characterize the son of any orthodox clergyman. Considering the question of the "preacher son" pro and con, there may be more con's against him, but the pro's are greater in the long run, and being a son of the rectory or manse is a great thing.

"The Preacher Son" lives a life wandering between the Devil and the deep blue sea. He must above all please his family and his father's parishoners, and then try to please himself. The rub comes when he sees that he must please himself, even though it may mean letting the rest go hang. It takes him years to believe that his life is his own, and not some doting matriarch of the church, who knows exactly what's "best for him and his own good". But should he branch off and be himself for one time, then he is sinful, wicked, profligate, and degenerate, one who does not appreciate his heritage, and who will never see the truth.

If he is a fool and decides to be a good boy, never to think of himself, he will not smoke; he will never dance; he will avoid the hot spots like death; the very thought of beer will sicken him. He will read only the acceptable literature, and he will avoid like the plague all questionable characters, especially of the opposite sex, theaters, and anything which smacks of normality.

At the tender age of four he is introduced to the Bible and the two catechisms. He will attend all church services, no matter how boring he thinks his father may be; he must never criticize, and he is expected to be a shining example, a little Sir Galahad, who will eventually become a minister Too soon in life he knows where he stands—he must be either devil or saint, or run the tedious gauntlet of being both. He must become used to the raised eye brows, the eternal criticism, the gossip—true or untrue.

Hartzell Spence's Get Thee Behind Me shows the greatness of being born in the clergy, likewise its hellishness. It is an interesting, understanding, and readable book, smacking of Tom Sawyer, St. Augstine, Calvin, Faust, and Brimstone. Read it before the Reader's Digest grabs it.

Gasoline shortage failed to dampen Saturday's festivities; stags, drags, and autos were in abundance at the Juke Jive as well as at the season's final pigskin parade. Only Maestro Duval and his jitterbuggin' drum majorettes were conscpicuous by their absence. And then there was that trailer truck that carried half the student body en masse to town Saturday evening.

Just Looking, Thanks

During the week end, Washington and Lee Openings were attended by five Farmville girls Jane Brown, Agnes Patterson, Lilly Becy Gray, Peggy Becker, and Lillian Goddin. Agnes Patterson was the guest of a Phi Delta, Peggy Becker and Lilly Bec Gray, of a Pi Kappa Alpha, Jane Brown, of Bobby Mish, and Lillian Goddin, of Sigma Nu—S. T. C. was represented at University of Virginia by Kitty Parrish and Virginia Corbin this week end . . . . Libby Heath and Libby Bernard journeyed to Opening Dances at Roanoke College . . . And pre-Thanksgiving vacationers included Lois Aiphin, Dorothy Anderson, Louise Andrews, Margaret Claiborne, Frances Cleaton, Ann Darneil, Barbara Dickinson, Susan Durrett, Christine Eddins, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Margaret Anne Horton, Betty Jackson, Mary Moore McCorkle, Ernestine Morgan, Alice Murray, Nell Pritchett, Nancy Quinn, Jeanne Richardson, Sally Robertson, Rosalie Rogers, Gwen Sampson, Anne Shelor, Lillian Spain, Elizabeth Walls, Phyllis Jane Watts, Catherine Williams, Sarah Woodward, and Arlene Wright.

The members and pledges of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority held their Founder's Day banquet Saturday night, Nov. 22 in the College Tea Room.

Miss Virginia Richards was hostess at an informal tea in honor of the iyceum artist, Robert Kitain, Saturday afternoon, November 21 at Longwood.

The members of the Student Council entertained Dr. J. L. Jarman in honor of his birthday at a formal dinner at Longwood Thursday night.

The Monogram Club at Hampden-Sydney College held the second of its informal juke dances in the old gym on Saturday night following the H.-S.-Randolph-Macon football game. Music was furnished by James, Goodman, T. Dorsey and others.

Two hundred and twenty-five S. T. C. girls will attend the Thanksgiving dance at Camp Pickett tonight. The informal dance which will be given in the Post Field House, will include only girls from this college and will be centered around a Thanksgiving theme.

Personalities Shine . . Under Big Top

Just like the little nigger who fell outta the cart, the majority of students are clean out of it, but previewing the stunts, the bystander finds any number of peculiar Who's Whos. "Fiddle" Haymes becomes the Napoleanic little sergeant whose cracks really exercise the diaphram . . . Celebrities of the past are not to be neglected when Gwen Sampson and Nancy Wilkinson give impersonations of comedians Gallagher and Shaln . . . Reeling in the Junior act is Jane Ford who gives the well-known "rasberries" to a reasonable facimile of Europe's Chief Heel . . . Betty Cock exaggerates size to imitate "Mr. Five-by-Five", with a face full of cigar and a rollicking rhythm. The boosting of Americanism and the satiring of totalitarinism are the two domineering themes of the entire program.

All in all, the circus this year promises to be more enjoyable than ever before . . . including everything from a general school spirit to the usual class competition, and if everybody's looking forward to it with the good ol' S.T.C.zest, we know you can hardly wait!

Lecturer . . .

DR. MacARTHUR

VMI Draws 11 STC'ers To Dance

Finally Thanksgiving is almost here, and running close upon its heels is the long-awaited VMI Ring Figure Dance. And is that something for which to be thankful! As usual, S. T. C. is not to be left out where there's fun going on.

It will be well represented by Aloise Boswell with Dan Tucker, Polly Cammack with Tommy Laundon; Frances Craddock with Chares Crowder; Sara Wayne France, H. M. Wilson; Cleo Frick, William Kastelberg; Joscelyn Gilium, Marvin Gillum; Minnie Rose Hawthorne, John Webb; Ann Jones, Haywood France; Martha Patterson, Ray Floyd; and Nancy Lee Weeks, Ed Wasdell.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Roses Store
Now in New Location
Next to Hub Dept. Store
Complete line of school supplies

This year, more than ever, THE HUB will be CHRISTMAS GIFT HEADQUARTERS.

All packages Christmas wrapped and shipped free!

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Charge Accounts Solicited

Christmas
IS ON THE WAY---
BUY YOUR NEEDS EARLY
. . . Because there is a limited quantity of
GOOD MERCHANDISE AVAILABLE
Davidsons, Inc.

Say, Frosh--- Gonna Wear Those Caps Or Not? Thursday Tells

Underclass Teams Clash Tomorrow After Lunch

The big moment for all freshmen will arrive tomorrow, Thanksgiving, at 3 o'clock, when the frosh's red team clashes against the sophomore greens in a struggle for victory in the first interclass hockey game of the season. Ready for victory stand the freshmen in an effort to remove Rat caps placed on by their fellow sophs. If they do succeed in defeating the third classmen, they will take off Rat caps for good; if not, they'll wear them until Christmas.

Practices have been under way all season and both classes have complete teams plus reserves ready for action and in hopes of a goal for their color. Catherine Lambert has been named acting captain for the red and white freshman and Helen Wilson for the sophomores.

Red and White was victorious in last season's battle with a 2-0 win over the frosh.

Possible line-ups:

Pos.	Freshman	Sophomores
R.W.—	Fulcher	Flemming
R.I.—	Lambert	E. Wade
C.F.—	Jones	Watt
L.I.—	Watts	Nichols
L.W.—	McLean	J. Smith
R.H.—	A. Ellis	E. Sanford
C.H.—	B. Wade	M. Bear
L.H.—	Lee	Lovins
R.F.—	L. Elliott	H. Wilson
L.F.—	Southall	Whittle
G.—	I. Sampson	Britts

Subs—

Substitutes for freshmen will be Orange and Stoakes and Sophomores, Caldwell and Terrell.

Alumnae Magazine

Continued from Page 1

daughters' Club.

Poetry contributed by various alumnae will also be featured. The front cover will be a colored picture of the Rotunda.

Junior Dance

Continued from Page 1

Mary Moore McCorkle and Gertrude Wright will be in charge of tickets. The floor committee is composed of Hannah Lee Crawford, Frances Craddock, Ella Banks Weathers, Betty Bridgforth, and Frances Lee Hawthorne.

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

Rooms
Reserve a room for your family, friend or dance date with Mrs. A. H. Irby 210 High St., opposite college. Phone 189

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
5-10-25c STORES
ADVANCE SHOWING
Now Out
CHRISTMAS
GREETING CARDS
AND GIFTS

Compliments of
Shannon's

CHRISTMAS GIFTS GALORE!
Especially for the College Girl
Southside Drug Store

Busy at Work . . .

Hockey sticks clash on the athletic field as class teams get ready for games this week-end.

Color Rush Arouses Much School Spirit

Red and Green Race To Win Points

Thanksgiving marks one of Farmville's oldest traditional events this year—Color Rush. For many years this occasion has aroused much excitement and a great deal of school spirit. This date was chosen because the girls will spend this holiday at the college.

The signal will sound at 9 A. M. for the awaited Color Rush to commence. Student, Whitehouse, Rotunda, Library, Junior Building, and Senior Building will serve as the six places for the races. Red and white will be represented by M. K. Ingham, Jane Hobson, Frances Lee, Frances Satterfield, Isabel Sampson, and Faith Weeks. Those running for green and white are Frances Parham, Mary Frances Bowles, Elizabeth Walls, Jean Smith, Edith Lovins, and Cecil Pare. A red and green representative will start from the back of each hall and race to the front to hang the winning banner. The color which places the greatest number of banners will gain five points toward the color cup.

All students are expected to be out of the halls during the races.

Kryl Concert

Continued from Page 1

dience an encore.

Other soloists featured were Rita Warsawska, soprano, Marian Beers, cellist, and Joseph Arbeit, violinist.

Those who had seen Walt Disney's film production of "Fantasia" recalled vivid mental images as the orchestra rendered "March" "Chinese Dance," "Dance of the Millitons," and "Waltz of the Flowers" from Tschaikowsky's "Nutcracker Suite."

Mr. Kryl is himself a renowned musician as a violinist and a virtuoso cornetist, the latter talent discovered in his youth by no less than John Phillip Sousa, who engaged him for his band as cornetist soloist when 19 years of age.

Now entering its thirty-eighth year in continuous pilgrimage of beauty Bohumir Kryl's symphony orchestra this year follows not only its established course, performing at leading colleges and universities but will also play a circuit of army and navy camps by special arrangement with the government.

—E. M. C.

Don't Travel Unless There Is Real Need

Launching a "Don't Travel" campaign, Joseph B. Eastman, director of the Office of Defense Transportation, said:

"The time is here when all the American people must understand, what many of them now realize, that unnecessary travel can do real and serious harm to the war effort."

He said overcrowding on many rail and bus lines has already become serious, and with intercity travel by passenger automobile almost out of the picture and troop movements increasing, "conditions will become much worse, unless the American public comes to the rescue."

He added that the American people "can cure this situation" by staying at home unless there is real need to travel.

"I urge you most earnestly to ask yourself before you purchase a travel ticket or board a bus or train if you really need to make that trip," Eastman said. "If you can not answer that question in the affirmative, please do not go."

Eastman explained that the "don't travel" drive is being worked out by ODT in collaboration with the Association of American Railroads and the National Association of Bus Operators.

Ping Pong Tourney Set for November 30

Dottie Sue Simmons, manager of ping pong, has set the week of November 30 as the date for the matches to be played off between those entered in the tournament. The rest of this week will be open for those wishing to practice.

Approximately twenty-five girls have signed up for the matches but others may enter any time this week. All those living on Student, Whitehouse, and Annex will find their equipment in Barbara Scott's room and will play in the locker room. Girls on Gym, Main and Library will use the "Rec". Their paddles and balls are in the room of the Courter twins. Elizabeth Walls will give out the equipment to those girls in Junior and Senior Buildings. The tables are located in the Senior "Rec".

A schedule of matches will be posted on the A.A. Bulletin Board. All results should be turned in to Dottie Sue Simmons as soon after the games as possible.

Russian Violinist

Continued from Page 1

Java, then to Germany and most of the rest of the world.

Eventually his wandering brought him to Paris, where he established a rich home and sent for his family. With his three brothers he formed a troupe known in Europe as the Kitain Brothers. One brother is a violinist and the other two were the accompanists . But war followed Kitain even to France and his mansion in Paris was bombed and his family scattered "My mother", he said sadly, "is still somewhere in France and my brother—but one never knows".

Kitain is not only a great musician known the world over, but he likes tennis and was a champion player at 14. "But I could not continue my tennis—you know, my hands." Again he seemed the least bit wistful. Brightening immediately, he came forth with, "I like Charlie McCarthy—oh, he is funny", in his thick little accented way.

In the midst of his busy daily schedule, Kitain has found time to learn and speak six languages besides his own native tongue. His mind rapidly flying to other subjects, he next came forth with the fact that he was superstitious. "You know—things like not returning to one's starting place—once a trip is begun. Yes, I am very superstitious," he said, a trifle deflantly.

When he was asked who his favorite composers were, Kitain immediately said, "Bach and Brahms. Spanish music is good, too." He does not like to play before a very few people nor does he ever eat before a performance. While playing, he said his thoughts were about Beauty—"It is hard to explain—I am very aesthetic". His present violin is a $30,000 gift from Mrs. John Hudson Bennett's late husband's collection. His own violin was destroyed in the bombing of Paris.

The artist's next engagement is at Carnegie Hall in New York on December 9. After that he goes on a tour of army camps. "I like to play for the soldiers—they are such attentive listeners."

—F. B. J.

V.M.I., V.P.I. To Fight It Out In New Stadium In Roanoke

Tomorrow for the fortieth time Virginia Military Institute and Virginia Polytechnic will vie in their traditional Thanksgiving Day football clash. The gridiron classes this year will be played in Roanoke (after a year's leave of absence) in the New Victory Stadium built especially for these annual games. The ancient pigskin rivalries began in 1894 and has continued without missing a year through World War I up until the present time. It has become for Virginians what the annual Army-Navy game has been for people all over the country for many years.

Although much of the color and excitement of past games will be toned down in this year's, many cadets will, as usual, be on hand . . . in spite of transportation difficulties, etc., for 1800 cadets from VPI and 600 from VMI will get there or bust—provided their thumbing techniques hold out. Tomorrow cadets from Blacksburg and Lexington are breaking all precedents and will rely on the kindness of their Southwest Virginian neighbors for lifts.

The game tomorrow may provide a solution to the state and Southern conference title puzzle. that is provided at down in Richmond Williamsburg's Indians fall prey to the passminded Spiders. An upset victory by Richmond would toss a share of the state crown to the second standing Tech team provided that they can stop VMI's Joe Muha. This reporter says that anything can happen in this wacky grid season and probably will . . . Tech, enjoying its best football season since 1931 when a 9-7 loss to Alabama cost the Gobblers a crack at the old Southern Conference title, will enter the Thanksgiving Day game as the second ranking team in the conference as well as the state. VMI having started the season with a bang never exploded full force and the past few weeks has gone unnoticed with the absence of Muha.

As a finale to the game tomorrow, the pigskin to be used by the teams will be auctioned to the highest bidder in war bonds and stamps . . . A fitting finale.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to KLEANWELL
CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Exercise . .
BOWL at . . .
NEWMAN'S
BOWLING ALLEY
Downstairs in Shannon's
OLLIE G. PILLOW
Manager

Reds, Greens Clash In Junior-Senior Hockey Game Friday

Green and White seniors clash with their junior rivals on the hockey field Friday, November 27. This final match ends the first round of games played between classes in the race for color cup points. The winner of the game will vie against the victor in the freshman-sophomore contest and thus the final winner will be determined.

The red and white seniors were victorious last year over the juniors with a score of 2-0. It is hard to predict any outcome this year since the individual teams have not practiced much together. Due to the rainy weather this week the practices have been held in the locker room. These drills were mainly for the purpose of acquainting the girls with all of the rules.

The tentative line-up:

Pos.	Juniors	Seniors
R.W.—	Gwartney	Owen
R.I.—	Nimmo	Walls
C.F.—	Hardy	Pilkinton
L.I.—	Simmons	Parham
L.W.—	Elam	Andrews
R.H.—	Dugger	Bowling
C.H.—	McCorkle	Hillsman
L.H.—	Pierce	Sanford, J.
R.F.—	Connelly	Parrish
L.F.—	Droste	Rogers
G.—	Ford	Brown

Price will be the substitute for Seniors.

Service Center

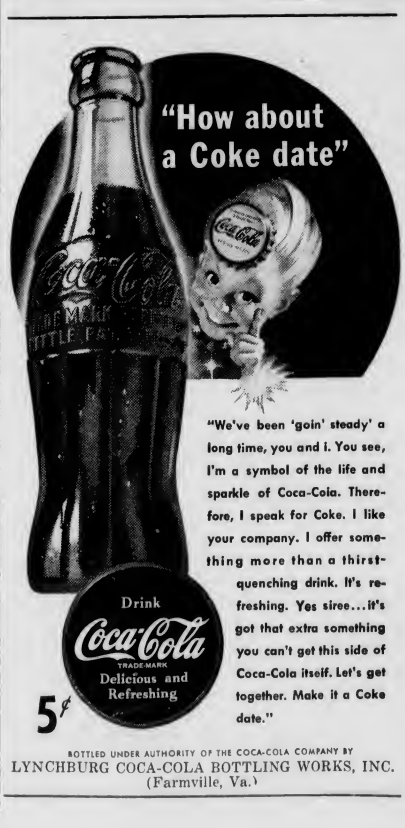
Continued from Page 1

Organizations on this campus which have contributed to the upkeep of the Recreation Center are Alpha Kappa Gamma and Gamma Psi, the latter of which assisted in decorating the game room. Many S. T. C. seniors have assisted the hostesses in charge of the center in entertaining soldiers on Sunday afternoons.

Seniors, Juniors Win Song Contest

Juniors and seniors were co-winners of the song contest sponsored by the Athletic Association last week. The songs were presented by the various classes last Friday in chapel and were judged by Miss Lizabeth Purdom, Hallie Hillsman, Athletic Association president, and Patsy Connelly, secretary of the A. A.

The prize of War Stamps was divided betwen the two classes.



Adolph, Benito and Hirohito —the three blind mice. Make them run with ten percent of your income in War Bonds every pay day.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

10 Passenger Bus Service
TO HAMPDEN-SYDNEY
3 Round Trips Daily
For bus or taxi rates to other places call 78
A. E Cralle, Jr.
Owner

NEED NEW LUGGAGE?
We Have Just What You Want . .
IN A BRAND NEW STOCK
WILSON'S FIRESTONE STORE
311 West Third Street

If so many times you've tried
To think of a gift for the Bride,
And now you're in a doubtful stew
Just drop by MARTIN'S and They'll help you!
Martin the Jeweler

"We've been 'goin' steady' a long time, you and I. You see, I'm a symbol of the life and sparkle of Coca-Cola. Therefore, I speak for Coke. I like your company. I offer something more than a thirst-quenching drink. It's refreshing. Yes siree... it's got that extra something you can't get this side of Coca-Cola itself. Let's get together. Make it a Coke date."

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY LYNCHBURG COCA-COLA BOTTLING WORKS, INC.
(Farmville, Va.)

MAY THIS CHRISTMAS BE YOUR WHITEST

The Rotunda

AND THIS NEW YEAR
YOUR FINEST!

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, DEC. 9, 1942 NO. 10

Tonight's Lyceum Features Dancers

Bali-Java Troupe Open Show at 8:30

Devi Dja and her Bali-Java dancers will appear in the State Teachers College auditorium, tonight, December 9, at 8:30 o'clock.

Devi Dja and her Bali-Java dancers are a fascinating Bali troupe from Bali who feature native dances. This is their first in a series of entertainments for American audiences following sensational European successes.

Odd Dances Featured

This program is something very new and odd in the world of dance and music. Exotic dances of Bali, Java and Sumatra are performed. One of the most attractive features of Miss Dja's troupe are the magnificent costumes.

Critics have acclaimed this troupe one of the most exciting entertainments ever brought to America. "The performance has not only the lure of the exotic, but it has dignity, grace and all the fascination of a Far-Eastern thousand—and—One Nights come to Life," said Ed Downes in the Boston Evening Transcript.

Third Lyceum

This is the third in a series of artist's programs, the first, being Robert Kitain, distinguished violinist, and the second, Bohumir Kryl and his symphony orchestra.

Analysis of Flag Etiquette, Anthems Presented in Chapel

On Wednesday, December 2, the College War Council presented in chapel a program on flags and national anthems of the Allied Nations. Alice Nichols opened the program with a brief talk on flag etiquette. Mary Keith Bingham displayed the flags of the Allies and the national anthems were sung by members of the College Choir.

Marie Nichols sang the Chinese "Jasmine Flower"; Beth Johnson, "Men of Hartech"; Welsh Anthem; Alice Parkhurst, "International"; Minnie Lee Crumpler, "Polish Hymn"; Carolyn Beard, the French "Marseillaise"; and Nancy Bell Bruce, Canada's "The Maple Leaf".

Dr. James Elliott Walmsley concluded the program with a brief talk on common errors in connection with the American national anthem and flag. He also pointed out differences between the English national anthem, "God Save the King" and "America".

Orchestra Initiates Concert Season

The newly organized college orchestra, with Ann Brooks as president and leader of the violin section, gave a short program in chapel on Friday, December 4. The program was opened with "Menuet Exaudet", followed by "Songs of the South" arranged by Seredy and "Dance" by Schubert. Members of the group closed the program with a demonstration of instrumental class work.

Members of the orchestra are, violin section, Ann Brooks of Prince George; Jean Altiere, Alexandria; Mrs. H. V. Lancaster, Farmville, and Naomi Major, of Clifton Forge; Trombone, Isabel Key, Bedford; xylophone, Pat Osborne, Lynchburg; piano, Eloise Parks, Jenkins, Ky., and Ada Claire Snyder, Alta Vista; drums, Jean Guy, Norfolk; flute, Annette Grainger, Farmville; bass viol, Martha Grainger, Farmville; and clarinet, Boyd Coyner, Jr., of Farmville.

Miss Elizabeth Purdom is directing the orchestra.

As December 7 Passes . . .

America Does Remember Pearl Harbor

(An Editorial)

AMERICANS have been in it full force now for one year and one day. Times have changed in the elapsing period. Americans have changed with them. Since the first thrust of the Japanese knife in the spine of the American nation on December 7, 1941, they've united as no nation has done before. While American sons battled stark tragedy in Singapore, Bataan, and Corregidor, Americans at home shoved war production to phenomenal peaks. They became soldiers, sailors, marines, coast guardsmen, WAVES, WAACS, and defense workers by the hundreds of thousands. While the Axis relentlessly torpedoed American ships in American waters, Americans themselves learned how to roll bandages, save scrap metal, read maps, and control incendiary bombs. They gave up large-scale pleasure riding in cars and the tires on their cars while Doolittle raided Tokyo. They learned to shut up after Nazi spies landed in Florida and on Long Island from submarines. Then they began saying "Thank you, no" when offered sugar for their coffee; they even gave up most of their coffee. Yes, and they bought War Stamps.

Throughout all this Americans resolved to "Remember Pearl Harbor." Why? It is fitting as this, the first anniversary of "the date which will live in infamy," passes that we turn to confront our own minds with what it is exactly that we are remembering—

"It is certainly a day for us to remember with as much shame as indignation. Consider the dreadful kernel of its meaning. It took the death of many Americans, the shattering of our ships, the destruction of our planes, it took all this, to make us recognize the fact that this was our war. It took the sacrifice of American lives to make us as a nation abandon (and only in part, for some of us are still blind or worse) our self-seeking, our lethargy, our half-admiration of the dictators. It took spilled blood to make men and women of us. It took men lying twisted and dead on a Pacific island to call us away from our petty internal fights, our interest in our own small individualities."

That is the meaning of December 7. If we remember Pearl Harbor, let us remember it as a time when we were pitifully and shamefully unprepared. As as we remember it, let us resolve that we shall never be late again in uniting to destroy tyranny and intolerance.

Russian Scientist-Wrtier Began Career Because of Family Envy

"Because my cousin was something of a rimester, and I felt a pang of envy," Professor Nabokov explained when asked how he began his literary career. "I copied a short poem by a not so well known poet and showed it to him He exclaimed over it and wanted to show it to my aunt who was somewhat literary minded. Then I shut myself up in the smallest room in the house and composed my first poem. I was about thirteen at the time."

Professor Nabokov learned the English language from his governess at an early age and his first translation of English into Russian was "Alice in Wonderland." "It was during the inflation and I received $5 for the translation Five dollars would almost buy a house then," he remarked. About the same time he translated some of Rupert Brooke's poetry. "I don't remember what I got paid for that but they came out very nicely in Russian," he said.

The Russian novelist, described by one of the STC faculty as "a mixture of science and humanity" is by profession an entomologist. He is particularly interested in butterflies as was his father before him. He has been collecting butterflies since the age of six and has done research work in Berlin and in America. At present he is connected with the Museum of Contemporary Zoology at Harvard where he is classifying butterflies as to structure.

Asked his pet peeves, Professor Nobokov replied "The Post Office—going to mail letters and writing them. My hands always make smudges on the paper. I forget to sign the letter and open it only to find that I have signed it. Oh, it's terrible!" He also dislikes intensely the advertisements so frequent in America that imply that 'love is based on the teeth, or something of the sort'." The

Continued on Page 3

"Male Animal" Wins Praise From Men At Camp Pickett

Members of the Farmville State Teachers College Dramatic Club and Hampden-Sydney College's Jongleurs presented "The Male Animal" at Camp Pickett on Tuesday night, November 24, where the play was an outstanding success. Miss Leola Wheeler, dramatics coach and director, and the players won the praise of enlisted men and officers alike.

Colonel D. John Markey, post commander, said of the play: "I can't praise the efforts of the students and Miss Leola Wheeler highly enough. It was a splendid job of acting and all who were responsible for the production are to be congratulated."

Special service officer Captain John T. Kibler, remarked: "Few, if any, stage productions brought to Camp Pickett have brought more genuine talent and afforded more entertainment for those of us who were fortunate enough to be in the audience."

Said Captain Philip R. Winebecker, post public relations officer: "I want to congratulate Miss Wheeler and members of the cast for their fine work. We all hope they will return here soon."

Members of the cast were amazed at the reception they received from their army audience. Richard Cornwell, male lead in the play, remarked that of the five audiences they had played before in Farmville, Lynchburg, and Camp Pickett, the cast was most dubious about the reception they would receive at the latter. However, as it turned out, he continued, the Pickett audience was one of the most appreciative."

Cast in the play were Dodie

Continued on Page 3

Ruled Over Big Top . .

Sara Wade Owen reigned as queen at the annual college circus on November 29. (For story see page 3.)

Nabokov Declares World Should Give Russia Right of Way

"Other nations must step aside and give Russia the right of way, for it has taken her one century to develop a literature that would have taken other countries centuries to develop." This was the dynamic assertion made by Vladimir Nabokov to his audience Monday night in the large auditorium when he spoke on "A Century of Exile". Stressing the creative productivity of Russian writers even under governmental and ecclesiastical oppression Nobakov cited Pushkin's poetry with its "light motif of exile."

Nabokov quoted from various Russian authors in describing the plight of writers suffering "inner exile" or "actual banishment" from their native land. "The past is a queer parody of the future. The hope of the poet is always that some day the exile will end and real life will begin". Today the dream of the poet may be translated into reality because the bitterness felt by Russians in exile toward their homeland has been blasted by German bombs. Nabokov discredited the Anglo-Saxon practice of identifying the national literature of Russia with pessimism. He emphasized the great social distress in Russia during the first decades of the last century.

After defining exile as the "aimless longing permeating one's being", Nabokov said, "Literary exile is nowhere so well illustrated as in Russian literature." Pushkin, because he wrote "under the rigid cloak of storms," furnishes the best example of "inner exile" the end in spite of opression."

Despite this, one finds in Pushkin's prose and poetry a freedom of thought, and the fact that the present government of Russia publicizes his works is evidence that "art cannot but triumph in the end in spite of oppresion".

To Nabokov the "Troika", Russia's fleet horse-drawn carriage immortalized by Tschaikowsky, is symbolic of the Russian's love of speed and of his eagerness for a way of life that will make bright the future of his country.

In tones weighty with sarcasm

Continued on Page 3

Mish Announces Examination Rules

Margaret Mish, president of the House Council, has announced the House Council rules that will be in effect beginning Thursday night, December 10 and continuing during the periods of examinations through Monday night, December 14.

Study hour will be observed from 8 P. M. until 11 P. M. Quiet will begin again promptly at 11:30 P. M. Special late light permissions will be granted by the hall presidents.

Anyone who receives a call down during this period will be subject to one week on campus.

S. T. C., Pickett Join In Concert Sunday

Annual Service Will Feature 3 Male Soloists and Pat Maddox

Next Sunday evening, December 13, the annual Christmas Carol Service will be given in the college auditorium beginning at 8:30 p. m. This traditional Carol Service will bring together the College Choir, Choral Club, Madrigal Singers, and the Intermediate, Junior, and Senior A'Capella Choirs, together with the Glee Club from Camp Pickett who will join forces with the STC groups in singing carols. Three soloists from Camp Pickett, all professional musicians and graduates from Conservatories in Philadelphia and New York, will be heard.

Due to the heavy demand for seats, the auditorium will be open at 7:45 p. m. and there will be the usual silver collection taken at the door.

Distinguished Guest

Among the distinguished visitors who are expected will be Colonel D. John Markey, commanding officer of Camp Pickett, and his staff.

Following is the program:

Part 1 will include, "Christmas Snows of Sweden" by Svendsen sung by the Intermediate Choir; Hummel's "Alleluja" sung by Patricia Maddox; "Songs My Mother Taught Me", Dvorak, Junior A'Capella; "It is Enough", aria from "Elijah" by Mendelssohn, Sgt. Marshall Ward; and "Old French Air" and "Come Hither Ye Faithful" sung by the Choral Club.

Pickett Soloists

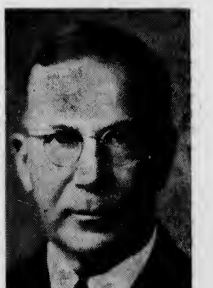
Part 2 will be opened by Cpl. Wilbur Searle who will sing "Cantique de Noel" by Adam, following will be "Jubilate", Burkhart, by the Senior A'Capella Choir; "Regina Coeli", Aichinger, Junior and Senior A'Capella Choirs; Gourad's "Nazareth" by Pvt. Emil Markow; "Vere languores", Lotti; "Adoramus Te", Perti-Saar; and "Silent Night" by the Madrigal Singers; and "Sing Unto God", Handel, College Choir.

The College Choir, Choral Club, and the Camp Pickett Glee Club will close the program with the Christmas Carols, "Hark the Herald Angels Sing", "The First Noel", and "O, Come All Ye Faithful".

200 Girls Volunteer To Roll Bandages In Red Cross Work

Last week 200 girls responded to a call for volunteers from the student body to roll bandages for the Red Cross under the leadership of Nancye Allen, chairman of the Service Committee of the Y.W.C.A. These bandages will be used for the wounded in the war areas all over the world.

From the list of volunteers, 30 girls will be selected to roll bandages each Wednesday night from 8 until 10 o'clock. The first meeting of the group was very successful according to the chairman. The girls worked in two shifts, 15 beginning at 8 o'clock and 15 at 9 o'clock. Altogether the State Teachers College girls rolled 184 bandages that night.



Nancye Allen has announced that each week a list of the 30 girls she has selected for work that week will be posted on the Y.W.C.A. bulletin board, so that girls may check their names promptly if they find they will be unable to attend a meeting on that night.

Corsages Go On Sale

Helen Hardy, chairman of the War Finance Committee of the College War Council, has announced that War Stamp corsages and War Stamps are being sold each day at the table in the hall.

Corsages featuring an original design by Elizabeth Tennent and Sara Trigg have recently gone on sale and any number will be prepared for anyone ordering them. The corsages can be made up of war stamps of any denomination.

Honored by K. D. P.

DR. EDGAR G. GAMMON

K.D.P. Initiates Gammon Tonight

H-S President To Talk To Group

Dr. Edgar G. Gammon, president of Hampden-Sydney College, will be initiated as an honorary member of the Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, honorary scholastic fraternity, tonight at six-thirty o'clock at a formal banquet in the College Tea Room.

Dr. Gammon is a graduate of Hampden-Sydney College and the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, and he holds an honorary LLD degree from Washington and Lee University. He has served as pastor at Presbyterian churches in Clarksburg, W. Va.; Harlington, Texas; Selma, Ala.; Charlotte, N. C.; and Hampden-Sydney.

H.-S. President Since '39

In addition to these positions, Dr. Gammon has served as president of Hampden-Sydney College since 1939. He was Y. M. C. A. war secretary there during World War I. He is a member of Omicron Delta Kappa and Beta Theta Pi honorary fraternities.

Dr. Gammon will speak at the banquet on "The Part of Religion in Preserving Social Heritages."

3 Students To Be Initiated

Preceding Dr. Gammon's initiation, Sara Wayne France, Patsy Connelly, and Martha Patterson will be initiated.

Last year Dr. Dabney Lancaster, State Superintendent of Education, was made an honorary member of Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi.

Officers of the local chapter are: president, Eleanor Folk; vice-president, Rosalie Rogers; secretary, Brookie Benton; and treasurer, Alice Seebert. Miss Pauline Camper is the faculty advisor.

Greens Chalk Up Victory In Mighty Color Rush; Sophomores Blank Frosh, Juniors Drub Seniors

Top Hockey Teams . . .

JUNIOR RED AND WHITES

AND THE GREEN AND WHITE SOPHS

Sportspourri . . .

Color Cup Divided
As Hockey Season Exits

Although the hockey season officially exits with the close of the Fall quarter, the top-rate hockey team among the classes has not yet been decided. When the frosh bowed to the sophomores on Thanksgiving and then the juniors beat the senior class team the next week, it was necessary for the two winners to meet to decide which wins the most points this year and which has the best hockey teams: Red and White or Green and White.

Due to inclement weather and a slushy athletic field it has been impossible for the match to be played; and as plans now stand it will be run off soon after the holidays. Watch for it; it'll be waiting for you; come over and yell for your team.

Concerning Riding
And Equestiennes

Say, did you see the circus parade? Well, that wasn't the cavalry in the lead, nor were those six beautiful horses imported from Arabia or South America. They were none other than the mighty Stallions the STC stables are providing each day for student up a leaf-covered hill, to splash through streams, or sail over jumps in the ring. And for girls riders who like to take long trail rides on country roads, to pound who, in general, just like to ride.

The schedules for riding for the next two quarters will be made up during the Christmas holidays, so if you are interested in joining the Riding Club, contact Miss Stella Fox (you can call her at 142-R) or see Joyce Cheatwood no later than tomorrow to turn in your class schedule. You should do this immediately if you plan to ride as riding will begin the same day classes begin after the holidays. You don't want to be left out, do you?

Shirley Pierce

Freshmen Bow To Watts' Score; Juniors Blackout Seniors 1-0

Green and White triumphed over Red and White in the annual Color Rush held on Thanksgiving Day with a score of 4-2. The event began early in the morning with the runners from each of the four classes racing from the end of the halls to the front of their respective buildings. Banners of Green and White were flown from Student Building, Library Hall, and both Junior and Senior Buildings. Red and White raised its colors over the Rotunda and on Whitehouse. This victory over their rivals gives the green team five points toward the color cup and simultaneously their first victory of the season.

Continuing the winning streak of the green teams the sophomore hockey team blanked the frosh in their annual clash that afternoon. During the first half the freshmen held the sophomores to a scoreless tie, even though the ball remained in freshman territory most of the time.

During the first two minutes of the second half Watts, center forward, chalked up the winning point for the sophomores. The rest of the game the freshmen kept the ball on sophomore ground, but failed to score.

Clashing in the fastest and tensest hocky game of the season the senior and junior team met for their final game on Monday, November 30. From the bully which started the ball rolling until the whistle ending the game, both teams exhibited strong offense and defense alike. Although both goals were threatened numerous times, the juniors, led by Hardy as center forward managed to squeeze by the senior backfield long enough to score one point and chalk up the first victory for Red and White this season.

During the first scoreless half the ball was taken from one end of the field to the other continuously with much passing and hard drives. But each time the forward lines neared a goal they were pushed back by a surge of concentrated defense.

During the last few minutes of play in the second period, the juniors sparked by Hardy and McCorkle steadily carried the ball down the field past the interception of Hillsman, senior's star center half. Hardy then sneaked into the goal on a short drive from the right.

Following the bully, the seniors carried the ball down the field in a burst of passes, but were unable to near the goal before the end of the game.

Following is the line-up:

Pos.	Juniors	Seniors
R.W.—	Gwaltney	Andrews
R.I.—	Nimmo	Ebel
C.F.—	Hardy, S.	Parham
L.I.—	Simmons	Walls
L.W.—	Pierce	Pilkinton

Orchesis, Choir Give Xmas Sing

Dances Portray Christmas Theme

Orchesis Dance Group under the direction of Miss Emily Kauzlarich presented their annual Christmas Sing program Saturday night, December 5. Members of the College Choir directed by Miss Virginia Richards assisted in the program.

Following the processional, the club presented "Adoration" after which the choir sang Christmas songs. Betty Sexton, president of Orchesis, then gave a dance interpretation expressing the sorrow and grief of one whose loved ones have gone to War. The third and final number was a light Christmas carol dance by six Orchesis apprentices. The entire group and audiences then sang "Joy to the World".

Eleven new apprentices have been issued bids to Orchesis. They include Betsy Caldwell, Polly Cammack, Betty Ellis, Virginia Mae Ellet, Mary Watts, Ophelia Whittle, Gwen Thompson, eJan Smith, Mary Virginia Roundy, Ruth Parker, and Nancy Wilkinson.

R.H.—	Dugger	Sanford, J.
C.H.—	McCorkle (c)	Hillsman
L.H.—	Elam	Wright, W.
R.F.—	Connelly	Parrish
L.F.—	Droste	Rogers, R.
G.—	Ford	Brown

Bowles and Carr were the only substitutes, replacing R. W. and L. H., respectively, for the seniors.

H2O Club Issues Bids to Swimmers

Four girls have received bids to the H2O Club. They are Jean Carr, Jane Moseley, Pat Maddox, and Jeannette Garrison. Initiation of these members will take place this week.

Last Thursday, December 3, an informal party was given the new girls and members of the club at the home of Miss Mary Barlow, advisor.

At that time plans were made for the swimming meet which was run off yesterday, December 8. Mildred Droste and Ellen Ebel were in charge of the meet.

"The Coke's in"

"That's the happy greeting heard today when a new supply of Coke arrives at a cooler. Folks wait for it . . . wait because the only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola itself. Customers smile and start moving up to pause and be refreshed.

"There's a cheerful spirit about this way of accepting wartime restrictions. Morale is high."

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY LYNCHBURG COCA-COLA BOTTLING WORKS, INC.
(Farmville, Va.)

Christmas Gifts Galore
Southside Drug Store

MERRY CHRISTMAS
And a Very Joyous
NEW YEAR
Roses Store

Shannon's
EXTENDS CHRISTMAS GREETING TO EACH OF YOU

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
5-10-25c STORES
ADVANCE SHOWING
Now Out
CHRISTMAS
GREETING CARDS
AND GIFTS

NEED NEW LUGGAGE?
We Have Just What You Want . .
IN A BRAND NEW STOCK
WILSON'S FIRESTONE STORE
311 West Third Street

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

Chappell's
Fountain Service
Visit us for the best
PHONE 93

Martin the Jeweler
Wishes You a very MERRY CHRISTMAS

Hop . . .
Wishes the Girls at S. T. C.
A MOST JOYOUS
CHRISTMAS
DE LUXE CLEANERS
PHONE 77

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

BALDWIN'S
GIFTS OF DISTINCTION
FOR DAD - BROTHER MOTHER - SISTERS

Shirts	Handkerchiefs	Hose
Ties	Tie Pins	Bags
Sox	House Slippers	Gloves
Belts	Scarfs	Scarfs
Bill Folds	Fancy Linens	Cosmetics
Pajamas	Bed Spreads	Costume Jewelry
Robes	Towels	Fancy Stationery
Gloves	Silk Underwear	Handkerchiefs

(All At Popular Prices)

WATCH FOR WAR DAY ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Rotunda

REMEMBER MARDI GRAS ELECTION DAY

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 13, 1943 No. 11

Today's Headline Highlights

Darden to Speak Here

According to a late release last night Governor Colgate W. Darden, Jr., will be among the speakers on this campus for a special celebration to be sponsored by the War Council on Wednesday, January 27. Other speakers on the same day will be Dabney S. Lancaster, State Superintendent of Public Instruction; Major E. V. Graves, director of Physical Education, and Miss Louise Bernard, of the State home economics board.

* * *

Play Trv-outs Held

Try-outs began this week for the S. T. C. Dramatic Club-Hampden-Sydney Jongleur production to be given on this campus on Founders Day, March 7. The play to be presented has not been selected as yet, but either Maxwell Anderson's "The Eve of St. Mark", Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," or "Watch on the Rhine" will be selected it is believed.

McCorkle Wins Medal

In recognition of high scholarship achievement Mary Moore McCorkle, junior from Lexington, has been awarded an Alpha Phi Sigma medal from national headquarters. Upon investigation of grades it was disclosed that she has a 3.00 average for the past three quarters.

A similar medal will be presented each year to the student with the highest average of the preceding quarters.

OPA Gives Jivers OK

The OPA ban on pleasure driving in the majority of eastern states will not affect the transportation of girls to the dances at Camp Pickett and other servicemen's centers. Mrs. Shelton Whitaker, hostess at the Farmville Recreation Center, has said that this transportation has been marked essential and classified as war work.

Cowan Here Jan. 14

Rev. T. B. (Scotty) Cowan, minister of the Norris Fellowship at Norris, Tennessee, will speak to the YWCA at a regular association meeting in the "Y" lounge Thursday afternoon, January 14 at 5:30 o'clock.

"Scotty" will come to Farmville from V.P.I. and will speak to the group on "The Meaning and Need of Faith Today". This marks the third visit of Rev. Cowan to this campus in three years.

Enrollment Drops 100

Miss Virgilia Bugg, registrar of the college, has anounced that since December, 22 students have withdrawn from the college and 13 new students have enrolled.

The total enrollment for the session is 816 as compared with an enrollment of 916 last year.

70 Students Cited On Dean's List

Seventy juniors and seniors are listed on the Dean's list for winter quarter, Miss Virgilia I. Bugg, registrar announced yesterday. They are Lois Alphin, Rt. 1, Lexington; Martha Anderson, Pedro; Elva Andrews, Farmville; Louise Bell, Berryville; Brookie Benton, Rt. 4, Orange; Eleanor Leah Boothe, Wakefield; Betty Bridgforth, Kenbridge; Mary St. Clair Bugg, Farmville; Haydee Carbonell, Mayaguez, P. R.; Mary Jean Carr, Williamson, W. Va.;

Continued on Page 3

18 Year Old Pianist To Present Return Concert Tonight

Louise Meiszner, 18 years old pianist, will make a return visit to the State Teachers College campus when she presents a concert tonight at 8 o'clock in the college auditorium as the fourth of the Artist Series Programs. She played here on Founders Day last year.

Born in Missouri of Hungarian parents, Miss Meiszner studied in Franz Listz Academy of Music in Budapest and at present is doing graduate work under the supervision of Ernest Hutcheson at the Juilliard School of Music. She has appeared as soloist in Budapest, in Holland, in Paris in Kansas City and Chicago and with well known symphony and philharmonic orchestras throughout the country.

Critics Laud Work

Miss Meiszner created a sensation with her recent Chicago appearance. Herman Devries of the Chicago Herald-American, wrote, "The 17-year-old pianist possesses those qualities essential to a virtuoso of the keyboard. There seems to be nothing amiss in her mechanism for fluence and rhythmic precision go hand in hand with a stone that gives meaning to her phrasing and brilliance". "Young pianist thrilled audience," Edward Bacry, of the Chicago Tribune, wrote.

Miss Meiszner began playing at three and a half and gave her first recital at the age of five.

Varied Program

Her concert tonight will include sonatas by Beethoven, Listz's "Hungarian Rhapsody No. 6", several nocturnes by Chopin, and Debussy's "Reflects dans L'eau".

Students to Elect Mardi Gras Court

Rotunda To Reveal Winners Next Week

Mardi Gras, annual masked ball sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu, will be held Saturday, February 6 from 8:30 to 12:00.

For Editorial Comment See P. 2

The queen and the court of this ball fashioned after the gay New Orleans Mardi Gras festival, will be elected from a list of candidates selected by the society. The table in the hall will be open for this purpose on Monday, January 18, and the results will be published in next week's Rotunda.

Brookie Benton, chairman of the committee in charge has announced the following committees and chairmen: floor show, Nancye Allen; decorations, Charlotte Phillips; business manager, Virginia Sedgley; tickets and advertising, Warwick Mitchell; and orchestra, Ann Ellett.

Tickets will be on sale about January 25.

The whole festival will have a patriotic theme this year according to the chairman.

Organizations Give To Center Fund (Fun) For Service Men

Mrs. Shelton Whitaker, hostess at the Farmville Servicemen's Center, has acknowledged many gifts to the center from organizations at the college during the past quarter. Alpha Kappa Gamma and the Circus Committee gave $40 for a radio-victrola combination and a set of kitchen china, the Cotillion Club gave $15 for card tables, and the Dramatic Club has given a sofa and several chairs. Gamma Psi painted shuffleboard courts and mounted large wall maps for the game room.

Dot Childress has announced

Continued on Page 4

Colonnade Sponsors Poetry Contest

Carolyn Rouse, poetry editor of the Colonnade, has announced that the annual poetry contest will begin this year on Wednesday, January 13, and close Monday, February 22.

Open to all students, there are no specifications as to length, content, or form of the poems entered. Contributions may be dropped into the Colonnade box, or given to Lois Alphin, assistant poetry editor.

Judges, to be announced later, will be two members from the advisory board, a member of the student body at large, and two members of the poetry staff.

College Girls Help Entertain Soldiers

Refreshments Add Attraction to USO

Beginning last Sunday, January 10, the college USO committee will serve refreshments at the Farmville Servicemen's Recreation Center every Sunday afternoon and on alternate Saturday nights. The committee has been granted 15 pounds of coffee and 15 pounds of sugar a month by the local rationing board for this purpose. Various organizations in the college have signed up to help provide and serve these refreshments. During the preceding months the Town of Farmville has provided and served refreshments at this time.

The other major project of the committees is to send students to dances at the Farmville Armory and at Camp Pickett dances on alternate Saturday nights.

The USO committee was formed last winter as part of the College War Council, but because of the increased activities is working as a separate unit this year.

College Library Has Master Biography

Biographies of more than 1850 writers who have, in a literary sense, flourished since 1900, are now available to local readers in Twentieth Century Authors, the 1577-page biographical dictionary of modern world literature just received at the College Library, LeRoy C. Merritt, Librarian, announced today.

In preparation for over four years, Twentieth Century Authors presents narrative sketches of more than 1850 world literary figures who have published in English since the turn of the century. Included with the American and British authors are the better known Russians, Germans, Frenchmen, Poles, Swedes, Finns, etc., whose writings have been translated into English. More than 1700 portraits accompany the biographies. Information about hundreds of these authors is nowhere else available.

Twentieth Century Authors takes the place of two earlier, much-used volumes, Living Authors and Authors Today and Yesterday, both of which went through many editions before going out of print. The new book does not merely revise the sketches of writers who appeared in the earlier volumes—every sketch has been completely rewritten, and there are 1050 more biographies in Twentieth Century Authors in Living Authors and Authors Today and Yesterday combined!

Every living author in Twentieth Century Authors who could be reached was invited to write his own sketch. Many who did

Continued on Page 4

Krishnayya Speaks Here January 25

Hindu Sponsored By Pi Gamma Mu

Helen Hardy, president of Pi Gamma Mu, has announced that Pasupuleti Gopala Krishnayya, noted Indian lecturer, will speak on this campus on Monday night, January 25, under the auspices of that organization.

Having graduated from the University of Madras in India, Mr. Krishnayya taught there for some years and was actively associated with all nation building activities. He is widely traveled and an experienced speaker and has done graduate work at Columbia and New York Universities. He is a Hindu which is the religion of two-thirds of the Indian people, and he was for some time president of the Hindustan Association, the premier Hindu organization in this part of the world.

He is now editor and publisher of "India and the U.S.A." and managing editor of the "India and the U.S.A. News Service" and is the author of a well received book, "India, the War and Cripps Mission".

Dr. Clarence Linton, of the Teachers College, Columbia University, says, "Mr. Krishnayya is well informed and has a pleasing intimate delivery which is particularly popular with students".

3 Students Added To Rotunda Staff

Three girls have been added to the editorial staff of the Rotunda following try-outs held during the past quarter. They are Kathryn Hutchinson, Clara Moses, and Virginia Treakle, all freshmen.

Further try-outs for positions on the editorial and business staffs will be held at an early date. Try-outs for editorship will begin next week and all members of the staff who have worked on the paper for on year are eligible. Ella Banks Weathers, managing editor, will be in charge of next week's issue.

"For Men Only" Signs Exiting As Women Take Over Engineer Jobs

The engineering profession is no longer reserved "for men only" it is emphasized by G. W. Vaughan, president of the Curtiss-Wright Corporation, in a statement explaining how this organization is now seeking approximately 800 American college women for special training as engineers in eight universities. This project is especially significant, he said, since less than 20 women throughout the United States received engineering degrees in the past year.

According to plans made by Curtiss - Wright Corporation, America's largest producer of war planes, engines and propellors, the women candidates, are to be known as "Cadettes" and will be enrolled February 1, 1943 as engineering student employees of the company in custom-built aviation courses of 10 months. In December, 1943 the "Cadettes" will enter various plants of the corporation in the East and Middle West to take over engineering positions thereby releasing already overloaded engineers for more creative duties.

The corporation announced that "Cadettes" will receive tuition, room and board, free plus a salary of ten dollars per week. They will be registered as special students living in special section of college residence buildings and will receive all benefits and privileges given regular students.

Recognizing its inability to send representatives to all the schools for interviewing prospective "Cadettes", the organization has set up temporary district offices. Students on this campus who are interested in the program are urged to contact by letter, telegram or telephone, Miss R. Morrison, a Curtiss-Wright representative, who will be located at the Biltmore hotel in Atlanta, Ga., between January 7 and 15 (1943) inclusive to arrange for a convenient interview.

The program will be administered by Cornell University, Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, Pennsylvania State College, Purdue University, University of Minnesota, Northwestern University, Iowa State College and University of Texas.

To qualify for "Cadette" positions, women students must have passed their 18th birthday prior to February 1, 1943; should have a sophomore standing, or better; and, must have completed college algebra or its equivalent. It is interesting to note that of those accepted by Curtiss-Wright Corporation to date, the average "Cadette" is 19 years and 8 months of age, is completing her junior year in college and has studied college mathematics for 1.9 years.

Another interesting fact was revealed by Curtiss-Wright interviewers as a result of individual conversations with applicants. That fact was that many young women expressed a long-standing interest in engineering, some wistfully stating that they might have entered engineering colleges had the field not been recognized at that time as being, "for men only."

College Schedules 4 Morale Programs

War Council Sponsors Concerts, Lectures In Attempt to Build Morale

Beginning last Saturday night with a lecture by Phillip Noble, the College War Council in cooperation with the soldiers from Camp Pickett began a series of programs which will serve to build morale and to increase knowledge of what this nation is fighting for and what victory or defeat would mean to America. The programs center around the way of life of the United Nations, and an attempt has been made to vary the programs so that they will provide cultural and educational stimuli.

Following the lecture on Saturday night, the College Choir and Camp Pickett soldiers will give a program on "Folk Songs of America and England" on February 13. As the third program a concert will be given by the Camp Pickett Glee Club and the musical groups of the college on February 20.

On March 13 Dr. James Elliott Walmsley will speak on "History of National Anthems of Allies". On a date to be announced later a program on "Building Morale Through Music" will be led by Chaplain Harlow Campbell.

* * * *

Noble Illustrates "The England We Have Known"

In the opening program of this series, Phillip Noble gave an illustrated lecture on "The England We Have Known". Taking the audience on a imaginary tour of the British Isles through the use of movies and colored slides, Mr. Noble showed illustrations of the typical cathedral towns of England and gave vivid descriptions of the interesting features of each.

Slides were also used to picture the informal gardens of England, and special emphasis was placed on the spots in the English countryside most cherished by the natives themselves, yet not frequented by tourists. Several slides showing scenes in the "Lake Country" were also shown.

Medical College Band Will Swing Out At Junior Dance

Under the direction of "Tiny" Heine the orchestra of the Medical College of Virginia will play for the junior dance on January 23, Patsy Connetlly and Sara Wayne France, general chairmen of the dance, recently announced. It is a well known dance orchestra in the state, and has played in many colleges and universities.

Part of the proceeds from the junior hop will go to the school U. S. O. committee to help furnish recreation for college girls

The dance will take the place of the annual class production, however, there will be a floor show at intermission and refreshments will be sold in the small gymnasium in the "production" style.

Committees for the dance are: music, Mary Keith Bingham, Caroline Caldwell, and Elizabeth Anne Jordan; decorations, Sara Jeffreys, Emma Broyle, Nancy Hutter and Theresa Fletcher; publicity, Jean Arrington, Jane McFall, and Sara Trigg; refreshments, Joscelyn Gillum, Sue Harper, Frances Strohecker, and Frances Rainey. Hannah Lee Crawford, Frances Craddock, Ella Banks Weathers, Betty Bridgeforth and Frances Lee Hawthorne are on the floor committee; Jane Smith will assist the chairman in the program itself. Mary Moore McCorkle and Gertrude Wright will be in charge of the tickets.

May Day Work Begins As Plans Near Completion

Plans for May Day program are nearing completion and work on the various committees has begun, Anne Ellett, general chairman, revealed this week. The queen and her court will be selected by the student body at an early date.

The theme of this year's May Day will be a river, the Mississippi. As the backbone of the United States, the theme will be developed symbollically by a portrayal of the people who live on the great river, and who work there. The influence of the different nationalities and races represented will be shown as well as the varied physical and climatic conditions. Beginning at the source of the river in the north, the dance groups will follow the course southward to the mouth in Louisiana, picturing this life as the core of the United States. The effects will be developed by dance, music and costume. Music will be centered around the songs of Stephen Foster.

Anne Ellett, senior from Jennings Ordinary, is general manager for May Day. Assisting her as business manager is Rosalie Rogers, from Melfa; Winifred Wright, from Arlington, in charge of transportation; Charlotte Greely, from Roanoke, as chairman of the costume committee; Susie Moore, from Richmond, in charge of staging and properties; and Betty Sexton, from Raleigh, N. C., chairman of the dance committee.

Miss Emily Kauzlarich, of the physical education department, will be the faculty adviser for May Day.

Last year the theme for May Day, was colonial, and the story centered around Alexander Spotswood's trip across the Blue Ridge mountains

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Jane Cabell Sanford — Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers — Managing Editor
Elva Andrews — Business Manager

Associate Editors

Jane Waring Ruffin — News Editor
Marilyn Bell — Feature Editor
Shirley Pierce — Sports Editor
Jane Smith — Social Editor
Lilly Bee Gray — Copy Editor
Sara Jeffreys — Photographic Editor

Assistant Business Managers

Mary Keith Bingham — Advertising Manager
Mary St. Clair Bugg — Circulation Manager

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 13, 1943

Timely Aid for Teachers

Foresighted Virginia communities which find it at all possible to do so, should move to take advantage of the funds made available, at Governor Darden's instigation, for raising teachers' salaries. The State's proposal, in setting aside $232,500 for this purpose, anticipates by half a year the increase in the minimum teacher allotment from $660 to $720 per year, authorized by the General Assembly of 1942.

Communities accepting the State's offer will provide a sum equal to the State's contribution. It is estimated that individual increases under the new plan will amount to only $24 or $25 for the remainder of the 1942-1943 school session, but no matter how small the amount, it will be some aid in coping with the teacher shortage problem, and in relieving the pressure of rising living costs.

Although in recent years the status of Virginia teachers has been much improved, with the institution of a retirement system and by the raising of the minimum teacher unit allotment, the average salary of all teachers in the school system is approximately $850 per year. Many demands are made upon teachers' salaries. In his memorandum to division school superintendents in the State, describing the allotment program, Dabney S. Lancaster, superintendent of public instruction, said: "It is apparent that with the increased living cost, new taxes, contributions to the retirement fund and the purchase of War Bonds, the situation has become alarming. Not only that, but many schools next year will need to replace teachers called into the service, and will find it difficult to do so, even under the increased minimum salary allowed. In many areas, teachers receive only a little more than a private in the army.

It should be kept in mind that teachers have been called upon to accept more and more duties, as a result of the war, and these duties they have shouldered gladly. They have, and will continue to have, a tremendous responsibility in educating the young people who eventually will take their places in the postwar world, a world in which more than ever in our history, a thorough understanding of the interrelationship of the world's peoples is needed. In a sense, the labors and contributions to society of the teacher cannot be measured in dollars. It is only right, however, that in recognizing their responsibilities, we continue to work toward an increase in their rewards, more commensurate with their positions.

—Richmond Times-Dispatch

Sideliners' Viewpoint

At times the talk of college students in the halls and in rooming houses proves quite interesting and a bit disillusioning. Naturally, a large part of Joe College's conversation with classmates centers the familiar trend of the progress of the war.

There seems to be a general feeling among the present crop of boys who frequent the college campuses that they are riding the high road to an early death. And even if the youngster is not unduly pessimistic, Latin, English, and zoology seem awfully trite in comparison to the incomparable adventures which accompany the donning of a uniform.

Too, each youth not now in uniform secretely realizes that the good jobs after the war will go to the man who has helped on the front lines to openly repulse the enemy. One soldier soon after he was commissioned a second lieutenant, was heard to remark that he valued his bars more than his college degree. He was convinced that the commission would be of more value after the peace than the result of his four years' labor for a bachelor's.

Then there is a feeling by many eighteen and nineteen year olds that this war is the biggest adventure of the century. It probably is. They feel that something of "once-in-a-lifetime" variety is occurring and they are viewing it via letters from Pvt. Bill, lectures by history professors, the newspapers and the radio.

Boys needn't believe that just because they are not in uniform now that they are about to miss the entire show. The first act of this super-thriller is still underway. And the head Allied coach has formulated definite planes for using all of his substitutes long before that final gun.

Teachers are obviously having a difficult time in keeping students interested in training primarily for civilian life when military training seems so much more important.

But even if this war lasts for years, there will be people who will emerge from it. The odds are in the soldier's favor that he will come back, despite the innumerable dangers of military life in the trenches. Of course, people will die. People are killed annually in appalling numbers in automobile accidents. Most men will be back. Then how can college students afford to waste valuable time now when they could be amply fitting themselves not only for war but for life?—Eastern (Ill.) Teachers News.

Capitol To Campus

By J. RICHTER

Washington (ACP)—As students left the nation's campuses for holidays at home, the Secretaries of War and Navy—with the approval of Manpower Commission Paul V. McNutt—announced the long-awaited college training program for service men and service-men-to-be.

Loose ends of the dual program still need to be tied together. For example, just how men are to be chosen for the college work isn't yet clear.

Which colleges will be selected for training centers is another unanswered question, although Secretary of Navy Knox has said "We will give special consideration to those (colleges) with meager financial resources whose existence is threatened by the war."

Main provisions of the plans, as they affect both Army and Navy, are these:

* * *

Army men 21 years old and Navy men 22 and under, may apply for college work.

Nothing in the new plans will affect existing contracts of Army or Navy with colleges.

Men selected for college training will wear uniforms, be on active duty and receive service pay. Soldiers will go to school as privates, seventh grade; sailors as an apprentice seaman.

Civilian professors will do most of the teaching.

* * *

Main provisions of the Army plan, known as the "Army Specialized Training Program":

Men chosen for college training will be drawn from enlisted men who are taking, or have finished, basic training. Exceptions are medical, dentistry and veterinary students in the enlisted reserves who will continue their studies under the new program in an active duty status.

Medical, dental and veterinary students not in the reserves may finish another semester of college. After that, they apparently will be subject to selective service and will have to qualify for training under the new program in order to continue their education.

Pre-medical and pre-dental students and junior and senior engineers, whether or not they are in the reserves, also may finish another semester in college.

Fourth-year ROTC students may finish another semester of college.

All other students in the reserves may expect to be put on active duty soon.

All other students not in the reserves are subject to the draft—now.

* * *

The Navy's side of the new program is known as the "Navy College Training Program."

Normally, students in this pro-

Continued on Page 4

Campus Camera

British Tars Find Agriculture Unexpected Service Career

"If anyone will be glad to see us the British sailors who left from a two week stay at the home of Mr. J. M. Grainger before the holidays.

"We've turned into real farmers," said Eric Simpson, another of the group. "We've killed several chickens and a pig," he proudly added. "We've learned how to milk, too, as well as how to ride a mule."

"And we've really felt the benefit of the country air for two glorious weeks," said Bill Watson, the Scotchman in their number.

The three sailors have been in America for three months, but their exact position cannot be revealed. When asked how long they had been in the navy, the three chorused, "too long," and in reality it has been two and a half years. But they have had some thrilling adventures together. Particularly interesting to the boys were the African natives, the Fuzzie Wuzzie, and the Egyptians, whom they called Wugs.

Upon inquiry as to food differences Bill remarked that "Americans eat more vitamins. I mean there is more stress on vitamins. And everything is so highly seasoned. We lived on sweet potatoes in Egypt but they were cooked in mud and not good like the ones Martha fixed."

Farmville they liked "as well as any place we have visited in America—and better than most." "It's so hard to get used to small towns, though. We don't see them in England—only big cities. And distances are so great," Eric exclaimed. "You can travel from the north to the south of our country in a matter of days, but here you go for weeks on end and get no place."

Before the war Bill was the manager of a Woolworth store in Glasgow, Scotland, Leo was with the Prudential Life Insurance Company, and Eric was with a cigarette company.

"By the way, we don't like American cigarettes—they are putrid, too strong," Eric said, and his sentiments were upheld by the others.

Speaking in crisp, English-accented English, the boys told of their experiences in New York at the Stage Door Canteen. "It was so good seeing lights," Leo said. "We came in the harbor at night and bright lights outlined the horizon. It was glorious."

The three sailors were very much impressed by the college. "I never saw so many girls at one time," Eric said. "You see, colleges at home are smaller." While here they attended the violin concert of Robert Kitain and the presentation by Kryl's Symphony Orchestra. "We also played basketball with a team of young ladies," Bill said, "But we were defeated."

Ants March To Food As S. T. C. Gestapo Of Snack-Time Joy

By BETTY COCK

Food is food, and we all love it. Regardless of rules 'n' regulations of colleges there will always be food in college girls' dormitories . . . and in accordance with rules 'n' regulations of Nature, where ever there is food there will be Ants.

It's all well and good to be invited across the hall for a midnight snack and enthusiasm runs high at sight of delectable cupcakes and delicious chocolates. But the enthusiasm sinks to a lower ebb at the sight of those ever-present un-invited guests—the Ants of Farmville.

Call out your imagination. Curl up on an imaginative bed and sink back into the pillow, and reach out your hand for a butterscotch tart. It's a beautiful Tart . . . all crispy and creamy and Butter-Scotchy. You bring it up to eye-level, and your mouth opens automatically as well as expectantly . . . then you shut your mouth—suddenly—over a forbidden word, and fling the crispness and creamyness clear across the room to let it land with a sickening "Splat". When the astounded girls with you gather 'round to question your sanity, you have but one word to say . . . "Ants".

It happens every day and every night . . . on every hall in this institution. How they make up their minute minds as to which smell to follow, and how they climb the inapprehensible heights from the ground where they must live to the third floors they ascend upon, will forever remain a mystery, but the evidence is all there. They invade the cookie-box and stampede the crackers; they drool into the cheese-spread and drown in the mayonnaise.

March on, ye Ants of Farmville! Raise your red heads in unison and stare us straight in the eye. We fear you, we despise you, and your know it well, yet united you stand, and your sturdy defiance is incessible . . . March on . . . spurning the mere crumbs in the window-sill and sprawling all over the caramel-crumbles. March on, and on, and on, and eat your fill . . . and enjoy it while you can. For we know now what you do not . . . you'll choke when you reach the peanut-butter!

Not everybody with a dollar to spare can shoot a gun straight—but everybody can shoot straight to the bank and buy War Bonds. Buy your 10% every pay day.

No Rationing Here . . .

The end of a strenuous and active holidays find you and the raving reporter back at the grind. Changes have been made! In order to inform those who've not heard here goes:

Sparklers are appearing on all sides—Agnes ('I Work Fast) Patterson has upheld the tradition at the Head Table and Libby, Carrol, Kitty, Cample, Lillian, Parcell, and others have received similar gifts. Other items from under the Christmas tree would be Parham's music box, Anne Ellett's quilt, and Shirley Turner's pink sweater, not to mention her other recent acquisitions!

Exit the Lovelorn . . .

Sarah Massie and M. K. have both departed until Spring quarter. Love and collitch seem to be immiscible for some.

Flashes! . . .

Ruth Parker, class of '44, will be married in California January 28. . . . Rabbi Charlie Gilliam, noted lecturer on this campus, has joined the air corps . . . For details see Maggie Kitchin, publicity mgr.

On the Cuff . . . (or collar) . . .

Wett Shields' sojourn on the Eastern Shore during the holidays ended whatever there was between him and Peggy Ross from all appearances. Local talent was probably too influential.

Borrowed Blues . . .

The Hampden-Sydney Tiger carried in this week's edition a full account of the effects of the OPA ban on pleasure transportation. The German Club has canceled plans for the annual Mid-winter Dances. However, the Every Day Club, reports the Rounder, will continue to meet regardless of transportation difficulties. The announcement was made recently in a speech delivered by President Barbara White in Shannon's back booth. Incidentaly the Tiger's cinemanalyist Crummett continues to review the local quarter movies with much zest, yet he inevitably mixes up the stars. Please note, Mr. C.: Naish, not Zucco, was the ape-man in Saturday night's thriller.

Particular? . . .

"Mangy" Fox reports that he will try them all before the year's over. Seen with Betty Pat Lewis on Monday.

Tables Have Turned . . .

Mildred Corvin has agreed to disagree with the young man after three years.

Caught in the Draft . . .

Charlotte Phillip's George has left Hampden-Sydney for the Army . . . Party of the first part is now consoling Kitty.

Sara France and Hannah Lee are planning a big trip to Camp Lee soon . . . a big mix-up, too!

Up In the Aair . . .

Betty Youngberg is still goggle-eyed after holidays in the Windy City . . . Midwinters are next on her calendar.

Next on the college social calendar is Junior Dance.

In a late release yesterday, it was announced that Anne Jones will complete requirements for her Ph.D. at an early date. The subject of her thesis is "What Does the Northern Neck Club Do?" . . .

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

So you're ready for a new year? Well, here it is just waiting for you—and so is the "Y".

Every Monday morning at the chapel hour the "Y" cabinet has been having a study group. Following the theme of the year, "Christianity in Action" has been the general outline of study. Continuing the outline Miss Mary Clay Hiner will lead the study this Monday using the topic "Christ as a Lover of Little Children."

Those of you who found your way to the Presbyterian church last Sunday found a long awaited new minister.

Maybe you didn't even know it went on but every Sunday morning after breakfast there is a worship service in the Student Lounge which is called Morning Watch. This service comes under the work of the Freshman Commission. The Courter Twins are in charge and are planning some very good programs

Homey Service Center Speed Blues to Tune of Coffee, Sweets

Two soldiers with a week end pass. Far from home, without an acquaintance in the small town we landed in—Farmville, Virginia. Wandering down the street we discovered an inconspicuous door on which were words "Farmville Recreation Center". There was nothing else to do so we went in, and there was really a surprise in store for us.

At the head of the steps we found a hall with six doors in it. First we tried the one on the left and found ourselves in a charming little parlor. Seated at a table were two interested checker players, one of whom showed us the office of the director. Mrs. Whitaker was delightful and hospitable and the next thing I knew I was in ping-pong game with a college girl in a large room swarming with uniforms and skirts. Between points I looked around. On the left was a piano and soon we joined the group who were singing. We almost had an orchestra what with an xylophone and a flute to supplement the piano.

The group broke up and turned to the juke box with its supply of dance music. Finally exhausted by "Lindy Hop's" and other jitterbugging we settled down to more quick games.

Then lo, and behold. what should come forth but coffee and doughnuts. Coffee like the coffee at home! Munching on the doughnuts I examined the rest of the room. There were shuffleboard courts as well as the ping pong table. On the opposite walls were mounted immense maps of the war theaters. There were card tables and bridge was flourishing. A table was piled nigh with various games. There was a soldier sleeping on the sofa.

My curiosity got the better of me so I went exploring into the next room. And what to my wondering eyes should appear but a cozy reading room! Stacks of magazines—not old magazines, but current issues. Tables that actually invited letter writing, supplied with paper. On the wall over a charming fireplace hung a plaque dedicating the room to service men in comemoration of Lt. Raeburn F. Gordon, U. S. Army Air Corps, 6-29-42. The room I was told was furnished by Ray's mother.

Very anxious to know more about the center I questioned the director. Mrs. Whitaker. The staff, she told me, is composed of Mrs. Christine Fansler, Miss Geniva Walden, and Miss Janie Meridith. The girls were town girls and students at the State Teachers College. The center she told me is supported by the town of Farmville through such organizations as the Chamber of Commerce, the Lions, the Rotary, the U.D.C., the American Legion, the town council the Woman's Club, and the churches, with help of the WPA.

Farmville is a great place!

Elizabeth Burger Is New A. K. G. Advisor

Miss Elizabeth Burger, of the science department of the college, has accepted an invitation to become adviser to Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership society. She will serve in this capacity until the end of the college year of 1944.

Miss Burger, whose home is in Farmville, has been a member of the college faculty for three years. Prior to this she was professor of chemistry and biology at the Farmville High School. She attended this college and received her B. S. and M. S. degrees from the College of William and Mary. She is chairman of the local Red Cross chapter, is leader of Troop 1 of the Farmville Girl Scouts, and for several years was a member of the National Hockey Team, making the South American tour with the team in 1939.

Nancye Allen has recently been elected secretary of A. K. G. to replace Agnes Patterson who was forced to resign because of points.

Dean's List

Continued from Page 1

Imogen Claytor, Bedford; Willie Grace Collins, Drakes Branch; Patsy Connelly, Lebanon; Mildred Corvin, Crewe; Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville; Lucy Davis, Lynchburg; Marie Davis, Smithfield; Helen DeLong, Buchanan; Ruth Dugger, Denbigh; Ellen Ebel, Richmond and Emma Frances Elam, Prospect.

Also Anne Ellett, Jennings Ordinary; Dearing Fauntleroy, Altavista; Marjorie Felts, Ivor; Eleanor Folk, Salem; Alyce Lee Fulton, Danville; Charlotte Greeley, Roanoke; Delia Gregory, South Boston; Jean Guy, Norfolk; Martha Hammock, Blackstone; Helen Wiley Hardy, Farmville; Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston; Fidele Haynes, Irvington; Mary W. House, Prospect; Myrtle Frances Jenkins, Culpeper and Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, Franklin.

Also Maude Lucille Lewis, Culpeper; Margaret Lovins, Cumberland; Mary Moore McCorkle, Rt. 2, Lexington; Louise McCorkle, Farmville; Dorothy Marrow, Clarksville; Leona Moomaw, Roanoke; Susie Moore, Rt. 7, Richmond; Faye Nimmo, Suffolk; Elizabeth Overcash, Hampden-Sydney; Martha Catherine Parrish, Richmond; Agnes Patterson, Kenbridge; Charlotte Phillips, Melfa; Alma Porter, Fine Creek Mills; Mary Frances Quillen, Bristol, Va.; Frances Rainey, Curdsville; Amy Read, Newport News; Betty Reid, Staunton; Rosalie Rogers, Melfa; Carolyn Rouse, Newport News and Virginia Sedgley, Bristol.

Also Helen Shaw, Hampton; Dorothy Simmons, Fincastle; Mrs. Anne W. Smith, Beckley, W. Va.; Estelle Smith, Victoria; Elsie Stossel, Front Royal; Jeanne Strick, Farmville; Elizabeth Tennent, Hopewell; Sarah Trigg, Hopewell; Betty Watts, Portsmouth; Mildred Willson, Amelia; Violet Woodall, Norfolk and Betty Youngberg, Richmond.

Capitol to Campus

Continued from Page 2

gram will be picked during their senior year in high school.

At a "date to be announced" all V-1 and V-7 reservists in college will be placed on active duty as apprentice seamen, and V-1's and V-7's then may continue their studies under the new plan at least through their junior year. Those who qualify as medical, dental, engineering and theological students may complete their professional studies.

V-5's may complete the year "current at the time of their enlistment or transfer to V-5."

Students now holding probationary commissions may resign "at a date to be announced," enter the new college program, and be commissioned again later.

* * *

Manpower Plan

Now that general outlines are drawn for the Army-Navy college program, the War Manpower Commission is working on a similar plan which would provide college training for prospectvie civilian war workers, including both men and women.

This plan should take up some of the slack in college enrollment, which has dropped about 14 per cent in the last year. That's assuming the government finances such education. Extent of financing depends upon how much money Congress will appropriate.

Principal courses of study probably would be medicine, chemistry, and engineering, although McNutt has said liberal arts will not be overlooked.

Education Elsewhere

A Nazi educational publication recommends that teachers in the eastern occupied territories employ "weighty canes . . . for instruction purposes."

NEED NEW LUGGAGE?

We Have Just What You Want . .

IN A BRAND NEW STOCK

WILSON'S FIRESTONE STORE

311 West Third Street

New Year Brings New Clothes Ideas And—New Clothes

By JANE SMITH

Back to school again with 1943 a brand new slate to start on and 1942 existing in that place called memory concluded with the first yell of Happy New Year.

We learned a lot in 1942, not only from our books but from the experience we gleaned from our first year at war. We learned to do without the second cup of coffee, sugar and not to complain too much about rayon hose, that our clothes must be made according to government regulations . . . skirt lengths sixteen to nineteen inches from the floor, skirts limited in sweep from sixty-four to seventy-two inches and suit jackets reaching no further than twenty-five inches, that zippers must go for now to nip the Nipponese, that buttons and pockets and wide belts and all around pleated skirts weren't so necessary after all, that men's trousers didn't really look funny without cuffs, that we could turn skim milk into clothes and find simple substitutes for elastic, and finally we learned to adapt ourselves to doing without.

Santa Claus must have been in the fur coat business this Christmas. Everytime you turn around there is another one to make little jealous demons run around in your brain. But if Santa brought you a bond instead of a fur coat, why not try a few new ideas on the faithful old black beauty. Lapel gadgets are eye catchers and fun to wear. Or if you like to sew why not try some super stylish leopard skin binding or a bright new lining—something like crimson or scotch plaid.

With this eternal Virginia rain and snow lately scarfs are becoming very vital apparel especially if Mother Nature did not furnish natural curls. Have you seen any of the becoming crocheted ones which are simple to make? The pastel silk tablecloth variety ones are rapidly gaining in popularity. Why not make several in different colors?

The very latest in sweater style seems to be bright linings of flowered or plaid crepe with blouses to match. They are supposed to be very warm and cozy and above all—colorful.

The old favorites, pastel wool dresses take the field again for dress up occasions—Nice, soft and comfortably tailored they come in all the shades of rose and blue and green—Bright red still holds her place but as dyes become scarcer we see more and more natural and pastel clothes becoming favorites.

Last item up is the glamorous black lingerie which was a popular

Start the New Year Right . . .

Let Us Keep Your Clothes Looking New

DeLUXE CLEANERS

PHONE 77

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service

to

KLEANWELL CLEANERS

OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

College Shoppe

Try our delicious

SANDWICHES And Plate Lunches

Roll Films

Developed and Printed

8 Exposures 25c

Southside Drug Store

Alumna Doing Red Cross Work Abroad

The safe arrival in Australia of eight additional American Red Cross club workers has been announced by the Red Cross. They augment Red Cross staffs and among them is: Phyllis Payne Pedigo, assistant club director, of Covington, Va.

Miss Pedigo, an alumnus of S. T. C., was a general field representative of the American National Red Cross at Columbia, S. C. prior to her assignment for foreign service. She was graduated from this college with a B. S. degree. After completing her college work, she taught in the Covington schools, was publicity director for the Hotel Cavalier, Virginia Beach, and later was hostess of the Surf Club, Chamberlin Hotel, Old Point Comfort. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter S. Pedigo, of Covington.

Fitzgerald's Editorial To Be Published

Anne Fitzgerald, class of '43, has recently received a request from the Paebar Company, New York, for permission to allow her editorial, "Blackstone and Democracy" to be published in the January, 1943 volume of "We, the People", national yearbook of public opinion.

Her article tells of the conditions in Blackstone due to the invasion of Camp Pickett, and was published in the Richmond Times Dispatch in the "Voice of the People", November 17. Ann, who completed her college work at the close of the Fall Quarter, plans to make journalism her permanent work.

Christmas present this year—It is our duty to keep up the eternal feminine, you know.

MAKE—

Your Headquarters This Year

Shannon's

Just Looking, Thanks

Diamond days are here again with the third fingers, left hands sparkling out engagement announcements; every where you look—S. T. C. certainly has its share of the lucky girls this season.

Some of the brides to be are Lillian Goddin who is engaged to Richmond Harrison Hamilton of Richmond; Agnes Patterson to Stan Carmichael of Washington and Lee and Bowling Green, Ky.; Louise Parcell to Lt. George Watts of Camp Lee and Bluefield, W. Va.; Carroll Costello, to Jimmy Crosby of Richmond; Libby Bernard to Bob Saul of Roanoke College; Virginia Campfield to Jimmy Cleveland of Staunton; Kitty Parrish to Marshall Howard of Charlottesville; Kitty Shelburne, to P. T. Atkinson, of Hampden-Sydney; Ruth Parker to Lt. Vernon Brooks of California; and Nancy Bruce to Winston Noel of Camp Lee and Farmville.

Also sporting sparklers are Jane Morris and Lelia Holloway.

WAVEs Conduct New Enlistment Program

A streamlined program of WAVE enlistments will begin in Richmond next week. For the entire week of January 25, it will be possible for a young woman to go through all the preliminaries in one day, and be sworn in that evening.

Offices will be open in the Medical College of Virginia Hospital, Twelfth and Broad Streets, every day from 8 A. M. to 10 P. M. The whole procedure has been cut down, so that instead of taking several days, as formerly, the candidate reports at 8 A. M. with her credentials and takes all her examinations and knows, before 10 P. M., whether she is rejected or accepted.

A candidate between 20 and 36 years of age should bring her birth certificate or a notarized statement signed by either parent, stating place and date of her birth; three letters of recommendation, preferably from employers, giving definite information as to her qualifications for Navy work; an official copy of divorced, certified copies of both marriage certificate and divorced decree; if under 21, signed consent of her parents.

Two years of high school are required for enlisted personel and two years of college for officer candidates. Both will be interviewed next week.

Candidates will be given physical examinations and aptitude tests and will be interviewed by a board of three officers.

After taking the oath, successful candidates will be put on the inactive list for two or three weeks before they are called to duty. They may enlist specially for the SPARS, new auxiliary to the Coast Guard.

Then they will be sent to one of several schools at the Navy's expense. Enlisted personnel will have the rating of apprentice seamen and will get $50 a month at school, plus maintenance and medical and dental care. On their showing at school depends the rating they get after graduation, when their pay will be the same as that of men with similar duties. Enlisted personnel get $200 for uniforms, officers $250.

WELCOME S. T. C. STUDENTS

Make This Year A Bright One

Martin the Jeweler

Old shoes are made to look new

Expert Repairing

Prompt Service

Electric Shoe Shop

Next to Baptist Church

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoe"

Only First Class material used

All work guaranteed

The Convenient Store

For Faculty and Student Body

Good things to eat and drink

Butcher's

(High Street)

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

Latest styles in stationery

Quality—Price—Service

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Careful Management

Courteous Service

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

Building Materials

For Exercise . .

BOWL at . . .

NEWMAN'S BOWLING ALLEY

Downstairs in Shannon's

OLLIE G. PILLOW

Manager

10 Passenger Bus Service

TO HAMPDEN-SYDNEY

3 Round Trips Daily

For bus or taxi rates to other places call 78

A. E Cralle, Jr.

Owner

Rooms

Reserve a room for your family, friend or dance date with Mrs. A. H. Irby 210 High St., opposite college. Phone 189

12.95 to 19.95

Winner takes all . . . and these two Roulette (rayon) crepe frocks will win all bets. Left: "DOUBLE 'ER SOMETHING" is quaint, young and full of flattery. Choose yours in Caliente Aqua, Monte Carlo Black, Canfield Blue, Tia Juana Tan, Riviera Rose. Right: Lady-like loveliness for lovely young ladies . . . in Monte Carlo Black and Riviera Rose, Tia Juana Tan and Canfield Blue, Canfield Blue and Riviera Rose, Navy and Riviera Rose, Monte Carlo Black and Riviera Rose. Sizes 9-15.

BALDWIN'S

QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE

STC Cagers Begin Regular Practices

Teams Schedule Fewer Tourneys

Varsity and general basketball practices have been scheduled to begin this week. They will continue throughout basketball season. Regular practices will be held each Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons from 5 P. M. to 7 P. M.

An announcement of the members of the varsity team for 1943 will be made at an early date.

Sarah Wade Owen, manager of basketball is working on a schedule for the season and several games are expected to be played on the home court. Due to the gasoline situation and ban on driving, trips previously made by the team will be reduced.

Practices Scheduled For Volleyball Teams

Volleyball, managed by Elizabeth Walls, has been scheduled to begin this week. Practices will be two times a week beginning at 7:45 P. M. to 8:30. In order to become a member of a class team eight practices are necessary.

Refer to the A. A. bulletin board for practice schedules.

Library

Continued from Page 1

not contribute autobiographies supplied biographical and bibliographical data. In addition to the biographies and portraits, each sketch contains a list of the author's principal works, with original dates of publication. A list of biographical and critical sources about each author is also given as a guide to further study.

The editors of Twentieth Century Authors, are the same as for the other volumes in "The Author Series": Stanley J. Kunitz, also editor of the Wilson Library Bulletin, and Howard Haycraft, Vice President of The Wilson Company, now on leave while serving as Captain in the Services of Supply, Special Service Division, U. S. Army.

The editors have dedicated Twentieth Century Authors to Eugene Petrov, the "Russians Mark Twain", the first author, of the 1850 in the volume, to die in active service. To quote from the Editors' Preface: "Scores of our authors are now in the service of the United Nations: leveling word or gun at the enemy. One gave his gallant life, on July 2, 1942, in the tremendous defense of Sevastopol. To the memory of Eugene Petrov, soldier of freedom, this volume is dedicated."

J J. NEWBERRY CO.
5-10-25c STORES

Close Shopping Center For College Girls

Wash Cloths
5c and 10c
Roses Store

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Life Saving Offered Advanced Students In Aquatic Safety

Ruth Dugger, instructor in American Red Cross Senior Life Saving and Water Safety, will conduct a class in Senior Life Saving this quarter at the pool. Classes will meet twice a week: on Monday night at 9 P. M and on Wednesday afternoon at 5:30 P. M.

All girls who wish to enter the class may do so by reporting at the scheduled time. Entrance requirements limit membership to those who are 18 years old.

Ruth Dugger has suggested that any persons desiring to do any type of camp work for the coming summer enlist in the life saving class. In the majority of camps such experience is a requirement.

S. T. C. Alumna Plays In "Eve of St. Mark"

Bernice LaForce, of Charlottesville, who was a member of the freshman class last year, is currently featured in the production of Maxwell Anderson's "The Eve of St. Mark" now showing at the Lyric Theatre in Richmond. The cast is made up of Camp Pickett soldiers and members of the Roanoke Little Theatre Guild and is being produced by the Camp Pickett Special Services office.

At present Bernice LaForce is employed at Camp Pickett. While at S. T. C. last year she was winner of the ping pong tournament.

Attention, Rotunda Staff

There will be a meeting of all members of the Rotunda staff, who have worked on either the editorial staff or the business staff for one year on Friday immediately after lunch in the Publication Office.

Assignments will be given as usual after dinner tonight, Wednesday.

J. C. SANFORD

Play Night Begins '43 With Varied Fun

Play night, for the benefit of all those who wish to spend an hour or so in recreation will begin for the new year this Saturday night at 8 P. M.

Student Building Lounge will be the scene of the bridge games. This is the first in the series of bridge tournaments and anyone who wishes to enter may do so. Card tables and cards will be furnished by the A. A. council and Patsy Connelly will be in charge of the tournament.

The swimming pool will open at 8 P. M. and life guards from the H2O Club will be on duty until 9:30. Regulation tank suits which are required may be bought at the suit room during this period.

Ping-pong tables will be set up in the locker rooms. Scheduled matches may be played off at this time in reference to the tournament which began before Christmas. Dottie Sue Simmons asks that persons play off the first set of matches this week.

In the gym volleyball courts will be open for any persons who wish to play.

Soldiers Vote Cigs Popular As Gifts

Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company announce that reports from servicemen indicate the popularity of cigarettes as gifts.

On distant fronts, like Africa and the South Pacific, next to a letter from home there is nothing the men would rather receive than cigarettes made in the U. S. A. Chesterfield points this out in its newspaper and radio advertising and urges its readers and listeners to send cigarettes regularly to men in uniform.

Service Men

Continued from Page 1

that the Pan-Hellenic Council and the Dramatic Club and the H2O Club have contributed to the fund of the USO committees of the college.

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Travel Rules Hit Sports . . .

Winter sports in Virginia received a fatal blow this week when the OFA ruled out team travel by automobile. General Bright, director of the state office of Price Administration said that they had ruled out any spectator travel and felt that the teams were only traveling to play before the spectators. However, he stated that the summer sports might be helped provided the situation is eased "for we feel that sports are essential to civilian morale and must be continued."

William and Mary plans to carry on their schedule by the use of trains and buses. V. M. I. will do the same as long as possible.

Washington and Lee had planned to use cars because the government had previously allowed gas for traveling, but these plans are changed now. The problem will probably result in W. and L.'s cancellation of all games for "after all the boys must study."

University of Virginia's athletic director states that they will carry on its boxing and basketball program, but swimming would be curtailed. Buses will be used for the basketball team.

Virginia Tech and University of Richmond plan to use bus travel for the teams and carry on their schedules.

Hotels and Public Institutions Here Ready for Blackout

(Courtesy The Farmville Herald)

No one knows when an air raid alarm will come, or whether the alarm will be a test or caused by the approach of an enemy plane!

This area, so close to the Atlantic coast, would be in line for attack were the enemy to come, so the Civilian Defense Council is urging every preparation for complete blackout of homes, business houses and other places when an alert is sounded.

It is suggested that one room in every home be equipped so that no ray of light will be cast outside, and so that all other lights in the home can be extinguished. Hotels and institutions in Farmville have designated their shelters.

The problem was solved at State Teachers College, when S. L. Graham, business manager, selected the basement of the several iron and steel constructed buildings, and the underground passage ways, as shelters for the students during an alert. These basements afford ample accommodation for the large number of students, and make the safest refuge possible.

Mr. Graham pointed out that the several floors of the buildings designated are of steel and concrete, and while a bomb could penetrate the roofs and some of the floors, the force of the bomb would be reduced by the same method that a nail can be driven into two or more boards when they are solidly together, but when there is a space between, there is a resistance which retards the penetration. Hence, he feels, there is little probability of a bomb doing much injury to those in the basement refuges.

The basement shelters have all the conveniences under stress of a blackout as are afforded during daylight, and all students and officials at the college are acquainted with the "layof the land" and can quickly assemble when an alarm is sounded.

Instructions have been issued and students made acquainted with what to do on the instant the signal is given.

Hotel Weyanoke

The basement dining room, used for the Lions Club meetings, is the designated air raid shelter at Hotel Weyanoke. Special window shades enable the room to be converted instantly into a bright spot, while no rays penetrate to the exterior. Chairs and tables are available for those who seek shelter, and if a banquet is in progress the serving of the meal will be undisturbed when the blackout signal comes.

At Prince Edward Hotel

The air raid shelter at the Prince Edward Hotel is located in the basement. The one door window is fitted with proper shading, and straight back chairs and a couple of rockers are provided, also tables for dominoes or checkers. The shelter will be lighted with old-fashioned lanterns.

At the end of the shelter room is another room which has been equipped with a cot and necessary things in event an emergency treatment is necessary. The shelter is heated from the furnace room, and upwards of 20 people could spend hours there very comfortably.

J. A. Powell, proprietor, is the air raid warden for that area, and will see that the blackout regulations are adhered to by guests of the hotel, and others who may be seek shelter when an alert is signaled.

Presbyterian Girls Invited to Become Affiliate Members

Sunday morning, January 17, all Presbyterian girls who wish to do so, may become affiliate members of the Farmville Presbyterian Church. This does not in any way affect their membership in their home church, but merely means that they wish to be a part of this church during their college term. Rev. P. A. Roberts will be in charge of the service.

On Sunday night, the young people will have their quarterly fellowship banquet, after which Hampden-Sydney boys will have charge of the program. All Presbyian students on campus are invited to attend.

Ten per cent of your income in War Bonds will help to build the planes and tanks that will insure defeat of Hitler and his Axis partners.

DON'T FORGET TO TRY FOR THE QUIZ CONTEST TEAM

The Rotunda

REMEMBER TO HEAR THE HINDU LECTURER MONDAY NIGHT

VOL. XXII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1943 | No. 12

Jac Hardy Wins Regal Mardi Gras Queen Title

Noted Hindu Author Will Deliver Speech

Krishnayya Will Speak on Problems Of Native India

Pasupuleti Gopala Krishnayya, noted Hindu lecturer, will be the speaker at a program sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu on Monday night, January 25.

Mr. Krishnayya is a member of the Hindu religion, as are about two-thirds of the people of India. He belongs to the House of Tirmul Naick whose descendants ruled over the greater part of southern India and Ceylon for nearly five hundred years before the British occupation.

Lecturer Attended Madras

Having graduated from the University of Madras in India, he taught for some years there and was actively associated with all nation building activities. For four years he held the rank of lieutenant in the British Army, being one of the few Indians thus honored.

He is widely traveled and an experienced speaker and has done graduate work at Columbia and New York Universities. He was for some time president of the Hindustan Association, the premier Hindu organization in this part of the world. He is now editor and publisher of "India and the U. S. A. News Service." He is the author of a well received book, "India, the War and Cripps Mission."

KRISHNAYYA

Educators Applaud Author

Leading educators and statesmen made very complimentary comments on Mr. Krishnayya's lectures. Ira F. Weisman, president of Men's Club, Kehillath Jeshurn of New York city said that the lectures gave a comprehensive insight into the true situation in India today—Adrian O. Murray, vice-president of the Chamber of Commerce, Elizabeth, New Jersey congratulated Mr. Krishnayya on his unbiased attit-

Continued on Page 4

Feagans, Harvie Added To Council

Margaret Mish, president of the House Council, has announced that Eleanor Feagans, senior, will be hall president on first floor Cunningham. She will replace Eveline Looney who graduated at the end of fall quarter.

Margaret Harvie, freshman, will serve as hall president on third floor Whitehouse, to replace Ann Hargrove, sophomore, who did not return to school this quarter.

Rustin To Lead ReligiousEmphasis Discussions Here

On February 11 and 12, 1943 Religious Emphasis Week will be observed here. Dr. John W. Rustin, who is at present pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, Washington, D. C., will be here to speak to the student body.

The topic for discussion this year is "The Christian Student and the World Scene." Dr. Rustin will speak in chapel on both days. His subject on February 11 will be "Social Reconstruction." On February 12 he will talk on "The Post-War World." On Thursday afternoon, February 11 he will lead a discussion, and he will also have individual conferences. Selecting his own topic, centering around the general topic for the week, Dr. Rustin will speak at Prayers on the night of February 11.

Dr. Rustin is a native of Glenville, Georgia. He received his Ph. D. degree from Emory University and his M. A. from Columbia University. He also holds an LL.

Continued on Page 4

Moore Adds Six To Virginian Staff

Six girls have been added to the staff of the Virginian, Susie Moore, editor, announced this week. They are Katherine Hutchinson, Gladys Wilson, and Mary Lou Dondley to the literary staff; Mary Elizabeth Harvey to the photographic staff, and Virginia Radosna and Lelia Holloway to the typing staff. Katherine is a freshman and has been recently added to the staff of the Rotunda. Gladys, a junior this year, has been on the Rotunda staff for several years and Mary Lou is on the art staff of the Colonnade. Mary Elizabeth is a sophomore and has been very active in Alpha Phi Sigma and FTA. Virginia and Lelia are both freshmen.

Lelia, a freshman is on the Colonnade and Rotunda staffs. Virginia is also a freshman, and on the Rotuda staff.

At the meeting of the Virginian staff on Monday night, Susie announced that the student body will be able to get annuals with padded covers and their names embossed on the front for a small fee in addition to the cost of the annual. Deadline for subscriptions to the 1943 Virginian is midnight, February 16.

Sophs Elect Scott To Replace Parker

Barbara Scott, sophomore from Franklin, was elected class representative to the Student Council at the sophomore class meeting Tuesday night. She will replace Ruth Parker who did not return to school.

Barbara serves on the Athletic Council as manager of General Basketball. She is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma, of the photographic staff of the Virginian, of the business staff of the Rotunda, of the Cotilion Club and also a member of the varsity basketball team. She was a member of the Sophomore Commission.

JAC HARDY

Dining Room Call Downs To Be Given

Student Standards has recently passed a regulation permitting call downs to be given for violation of dining hall regulations. These call downs may be given only by Betty Reid, dining hall hostess, and her assistants, Shirley Pierce, Mary Keith Bingham, Lois Alphin and Vivian Gwaltney. Three call downs in the dining hall will put a girl on campus for one week.

Poetry Contest Closes February 22

Deadline for entries in the Colonnade Poetry Contest will be February 22, Carolyn Rouse and Lois Alphin, chairmen, announced. There is no regulation as to length of content of the poetry and all members of the student body except members of the Colonnade staff are eligible. Prizes of three dollars, two dollars, and one dollar will be given in War Stamps for the best poem, and the winners will be published in the Colonnade.

Queen's Court To Be Composed Of Four Seniors, Three Juniors, One Freshman For February 6

Jac Hardy, senior from McKenny, Virginia, was elected in secret ballot by the Student Body on Monday, January 18, to reign over Pi Gamma Mu's annual Mardi Gras Dance which will be held this year on Saturday, February 6. Four seniors, three juniors, and one freshman will compose the court.

The seniors class members are Kitty Shelbourne, Staunton; Dot Childress, Christianburg; Frances Mallory, Lawrenceville; and Shirley Turner, Petersburg.

Virginia Mae Ellett from Crewe; Sara Hardy, Farmville; and Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Roanoke, will represent the junior class and Frances Lee, of Richmond, the freshman class.

Queen is Newcomer

The queen, Jac Hardy, is a member of the Cotillion Club.

Kitty Shelbourne is a transfer this year from Mary Baldwin college.

Dot Childress is president of the Cotillion Club, head of the membership committee of the Y. W. C. A. and was on Mardi Gras court and May Court last year.

Shirley Turner is vice-president of A. A., head of First Aid and treasurer of the Senior Class.

Frances Mallory is a member of the Cotillion Club.

Virginia Mae Ellett has had several parts in Dramatic Club plays and is a member of Beore Eh Thorn, Kappa Delta Pi and Orchesis.

Sara Hardy is a member of the varsity hockey team, and has represented her class in May court the last two years and was in Mardi Gras court last year.

Mary Evelyn Pearsall is secretary of Student Government and was on May court last year.

Frances Lee, freshman class representative, is president of her class.

Benton Named Chairman

Brookie Benton is general chairman for Mardi Gras and is assisted by committees composed of members of Pi Gamma Mu who will decorate and arrange for the orchestra, decide on suitability of costumes and handle business matters.

Members of the committee are Virginia Sedgley, business mananger; Warwick Mitchell, tickets and advertising; Anne Ellett, orchestra arrangement; Estelie Smith, costumes; Jane Sanford, prizes.

Mardi Gras, according to its name was to be celebrated on Tuesday but will be on Saturday so that more people can attend. The girls will wear costumes, the boys will dress formally. Prizes which will go on display two weeks before the dance, will be given for the prettiest costume and for

Continued on Page 3

STC Brain Trust To Challenge HSC In Quiz Contest

For the third year State Teachers College students will select a a five-man quiz team to defend their title of "Supreme Intelligentia" which was won first in 1941. This year the team will again challenge Hampden-Sydney College which set back S. T. C.'s Five Smart Girls 16 points in 1942 to take over the revered brain title. If the Tiger Team accepts the challenge this year a match will be scheduled as soon as possible, possibly around the first of February.

Eliminations will begin at an arly date for members of the S. T. C. quiz team sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma. The preliminary elimination will be composed of a written test. Further eliminations will be held orally, and anyone in the school may take the preliminary test at the time to be announced.

Questions to be used will be contributed by members of the college faculty.

Continued on Page 4

Med Jivers To Doctor Swing at Junior Dance

All plans have been completed for the Junior Dance to be held Saturday night, January 23, in the College gymnasium, according to Patsy Connelly and Sara Wayne France, general chairmen.

Part of the proceeds of the hop will go to the school committee of the U. S. O. The patriotic theme will further be carried out by decorations in red, white, and blue.

The floor show held at intermission will feature the dancing of Virginia Mae Ellett and Betty Sexton, the singing of Patricia Maddox and songs by a trio of S. T. C.'ers.

Music for dancing will be furnished by the orchestra of the Medical College of Virginia under the direction of "Tiny" Heine.

Dr. J. L. Jarman and Miss Mary White Cox have been invited to receive the girls and their dates. Other members of the receiving line will be Miss Elizabeth Burger, class sponsor and the class officers, Faye Nimmo, president; Patsy Connelly, vice-president; Mary Keith Bingham, secretary; and Mildred Corvin, treasurer.

Miss Emily Kauzlarich, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Halliay, and Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Holton have been asked to be chaperons. The entire faculty has been invited to attend.

Refreshments will be sold, probably in the small room adjoining the swimming pool.

As usual the dance will begin at 8:30 and end at 12:00 P. M.

Committees for the dance are: music, Mary Keith Bingham, Caroline Caldwell, and Elizabeth Anne Jordon; decorations, Sara Jeffreys, Emma Broyle, Nancy Hutter and Theresa Fletcher; publicity, Jean Arrington, Jane McFall, and Sara Trigg; refreshments, Jocelyn Gilliam, Sue Harper, Frances Strohecker, and Frances Rainey; floor committee, Hannah Lee Crawford, Frances Craddock, Ella Banks Weathers, Betty Bridgeforth and Frances Lee Hawthorne; Jane Smith will assist the chairman in the program itself. Mary Moore McCorkie and Gertrude Wright will be in charge of tickets.

Junior dance is being given this year in place of the usual junior production. Most of the committees that were set up to plan the production are being used now for the dance preparation. Last year's junior class initiated the idea of a junior dance

Ellett Reports Near Completion of Plans

Arrangements for May Day will be completed at a meeting tomorrow, Thursday night, Anne Ellett, general manager for the program, revealed last night. The chairmen for the committees will meet with Miss Emily Kauzlarich, of the Physical Education department, and Miss Leola Wheeler, professor of speech, and dramatic director.

At the meeting definite plans as to the entire theme will be formulated, as will the costume plans. The May Day program will not be as elaborate as last year, Anne said, due to the shortage of various necessities, and expenses of the war.

Rosalie Rogers is assisting Anne as business manager. Other committee chairmen are Winifred Wright, transportation; Charlotte Greely, costumes; Susie Moore, staging; and Betty Sexton, dance.

The theme for May Day will center around the Mississippi River

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Jane Cabell Sanford — Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers — Managing Editor
Elva Andrews — Business Manager

Associate Editors

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... News Editor
Marilyn Bell ..... Feature Editor
Shirley Pierce ..... Sports Editor
Jane Smith ..... Social Editor
Lilly Bee Gray ..... Copy Editor
Sara Jeffreys ..... Photographic Editor

Assistant Business Managers

Mary Keith Bingham ..... Advertising Manager
Mary St. Clair Burr ..... Circulation Manager

VOICE of VICTORY

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 20, 1943

In charge of this issue: Ella Banks Weathers

Education—Our Privilege And Responsibility

It is appalling to realize that college girls have been weak-minded enough to allow the war to enter into their minds, and to play havoc with all the convictions that once lodged there, and with all the thoughts that grew and developed and became character.

Today, just because our nation is at war, education has suddenly become unimportant, a mere trifle. A war job that anyone with average brains and a high school diploma could hold, but that pours forth "big money', is preferred to an educational background that no war-returnee can steal, and that no post-war depression can undermine. Is this the opinion of smart young miss modern? How can she hope to understand her country's problems and to see the vital core of peace and the way to reach it if her only thought now is earning more money? Money, she will find, will be a sad replacement for a cultivated brain that is used to coping with important matters

We Were Given Brains—Why?

With the coming of January 17 and War Day, comes a renewed realization that it is our nation that is at war, and that we, personally and as a group, can give ourselves to helping our nation in this war. We can cease thinking of the war as the mean old thing that kept us home from the dance and took our favorite escort away, too, and begin to think seriously about why our nation is at war, how we can help bring a real peace, what peace will involve, and how it can be made a lasting one.

It is a disturbing thought that our own selfishness and love of possessions and material wealth had no small amount to do with bringing this war on. It may not, to some people, be so pleasing a thought that until all have learned to give up our luxuries and careless way of life this war may not end. It is a pang of reluctance that accompanies the thought that never, probably, will we return to the same life, to the same standards and ideals, that we once knew. But if these thoughts come, and if we act upon them in acceptance, it is to our credit. If we realize that we do not wish to return to the old standards, but to new and better ones, this war may not have been in vain. And as to the lasting peace, it cannot come immediately upon the heels of the last shot to be fired. It must wait until hatred has given place to love, until the entire world's population has been firmly convinced the selfish luxury is a thing of the past—and rightly so.

But what has this to do with War Day? On that day classes will be excused, and everyone will be given the privilege of considering problems about her country. Will the minds of S. T. C. girls be resting soundly upon dormitory pillows, or turned hard at work on war-time discussions?

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

"Griping' is a good old American custom. One that has been one of the foundations of our very nation. If we didn't like what the government was doing we "griped." If the mayor of our town didn't follow the policies we thought he should, we "gripe." We had that right to complain, to find fault and to criticize. Many of us abused that privilege. We tore down and made no provision for constructive criticism.

Now we are fighting for that right of free speech and for the many other freedoms that go to make up our way of life. We feel that the democratic system is the best form of government. To protect that system we have learned that we must make sacrifices, for every freedom demands corresponding duties. The men are sacrificing their lives, we at home have only to give up a little food (we were eating too much anyway), walk a little more (probably the only exercise we would get), stay at home instead of going elsewhere for amusement, and other smaller restrictions. It is irritating, there is no doubt of that, but then it is better to ration food now than to have Hitler take it all from us later.

But still the "griping" went on.

"Oh, these awful meals. What am I paying my board for? Cattle feed?" Well, there are plenty of people in Europe who would be glad to get cattle feed. Those in charge here at Farmville have spent countless hours trying to purchase the food to feed us. Contracts that were made in July are of no value when the government finds that it is necessary to ration a new foodstuff. We aren't the only ones who are facing this shortage. Thousands of other institutions are in the same plight. I certainly hope there isn't as much complaint there as I have heard here.

There is a phrase "Loose talk loses lives". It has been the observation of many that the loose talk that will lose lives is the complaints, the criticism, the petty quarreling that is disuniting our country. You may not be able to serve your country by being a WAVE or a WAAC but you can do a lot by just being a SPORT.

The Ladies That We Are

Farmville State Teachers College, being located only thirty miles from an army camp, is placed in a very peculiar position. The problems that are arising from the proximity are becoming more and more difficult to the college authorities. It is only through whole-hearted cooperation from the entire student body that the reputation of Farmville girls being not only the most attractive but also the most refined can be maintained.

There are numerous soldiers, and we feel it our patriotic duty to help make life more pleasant for them. We cannot do this by screaming from our dormitory windows and by flirting with them on the streets.

The majority of the students have received permission from their parents to attend the U. S. O. dances. We want to do this and to feel privileged to be able to entertain those boys who are going out to fight for us. Most of us attend the dances with the idea of doing our duty and of treating these soldiers as if they were our own brothers or friends. If we do this and act the ladies that we are it will not be hard for us to maintain the reputation of our Alma Mater.

—M. G. M.

Teh! Teh!

Martha (the Picket pickette) Hite is currently being seen with the tall, dark and oh so good looking Jake. 'Tis rumored that the dashing young man has serious intentions but Martha declares she wouldn't know about that . . . Little Peggy Alphin, though her heart is safe within VMI walls, still receives birthday candy from Bill Lacy of the monastery seven miles from this institution . . . Horace (Date-'em-all) Adams squired D. Childress to the game and dance but just whom he was squiring Sunday night is not certain. The ladies do maintain such an interest in Mr. Adams. It is said that he has not missed an S. T. C. dance in years. How one does run on, however — Kendall (The most-asked-for-girl-at-number 533) Nottingham now gets her calls from Baltimore as "Bootie" has been transferred there . . . Betty Pat Lewis (The good looking) is dating Mr. T. C. Bales at this point. No one knows how long this will last nor do the people in question . . . Jeff Hawley has declared all fall that he has not seen a girl worth dating within the vicinity of Farmville. At last the gentleman has found "the" girl to suit his taste—and she is none other than Miss Peggy Becker. Things will probably go on from their date on Saturday night . . . Lois Baughman is wearing a pair of silver wings, Frank sent them on Saturday . . . Scott Albright returned to the campus to date Betty Wright. What's he doing—making the rounds of the bunch? . . . and flash flash! Jimmy Overton dined alone in the Tea Room on Saturday evening. Teh! Teh! Is it possible? . . . Sackcloth and ashes and the ire of Farmville womanhood to Lewis Brandon for standing up one of our finest . . . May we ask just why Charlotte Phillips trucked up to Lynchburg this week-end? . . . Libby Heath's John came down while we're on the subject of week-ends . . . . Which brings up a point, "Sugar" Scott went to that fair city to visit her Jack . . . Brookie Benton's man was here for a time, too—Frances Craddock ditto . . . Also Betty B. . . . Lillian Spain went all the way to Florida!

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

Sometime this week Freshmen will sign up for "Y" committees. The Committee chairmen are inspired by the addition of new members so you Freshmen be sure to sign up for a committee.

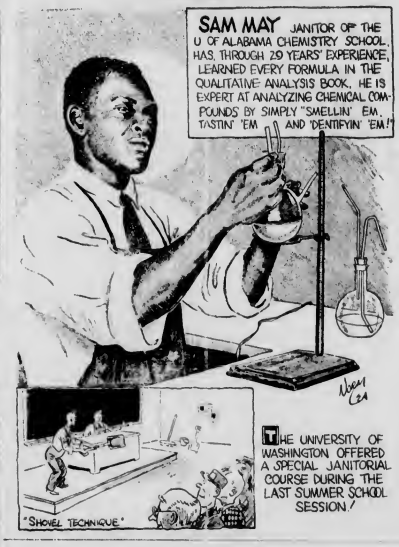
For a bit of previous publicity—the annual Sunday School Contest is going to be held during the month of February. The contest will be based on the percentage of the number of girls of each denomination in school. The three losing Sunday School classes will give a party for the winning one so you can see you aren't excused if you haven't been going to Sunday School. Instead you almost owe your church your attendance. So you'd better try getting up a little earlier on Sunday just to get the feel of it. A fine Sunday to start will be the fifth Sunday in January when there will be union Sunday School at the Presbyterian Church.

The Prayers Committee wants to contribute something more to your daily devotions. In connection with the topics and talks for Prayers they want to help you with Daily Readings for Prayers.

Monday—The heart of Him who truly loves is a paradise on earth, He has God in himself for God is love.

Tuesday—

"'Are ye able said The Master,
'To be crucified with me?'
'Yea, The Sturdy Dreamer answered,
'To The Death We Follow Thee'"



Wednesday—A beautiful literature springs from the depth and fullness of intellectual and moral life, from an energy of thought and feeling, to which nothing, as we believe, ministers so largely as enlightened religion.—Channing.

Thursday—The great standard of literature, as to purity and exactness of style, is the Bible.—Blair.

Friday—And Jesus went about

Continued on Page 4

Campus Camera

Letters to the Editor . . .

Dear Editor:

The suppers now being served at Longwood every Sunday night for girls and their dates are the best additions to our college life in a long while. We have long been in need of an inexpensive, different, nice place to eat where we could take our dates Sunday nights. And now Longwood.

This past week-end proved how successful and popular the new idea is. One not ony had a good time but one got in a good two miles hike, thus cooperating with the college physical fitness program. Most important to the continuation of the idea, rules about idea is. One not only had a good abused. The whole idea was highly satisfactory and, in short, "a good time was had by all." Let us cooperate to continue this good practice.

Sincerely,
Fay Johnson

Dear Editor,

Why do the girls at Prayers always sit on the outer edges of the auditorium instead of going to the logical place in the center? If girls sit on the end seats it means that everyone else that sits in that row has to climb over them with a clatter that contributes to destroying the reverence of Prayers. If everyone would simply keep on over to the center so that the successive ones could take their seats quietly, a great deal of confusion would be avoided. Prayers is one of the finest customs we have here and I hate to see such a little thing as seating arrangement destroy any of its beauty. Each individual could contribute his part to something that means a lot to all of us by remembering this detail.

Sincerely,
J. E. S.

Fun, Sweaters Make Bright Knit Results

If you've ever read a story where there's a stoney silence involved, you'll usually find absolute silence, except for the "click of knitting needles". One certainly can't find any stoney silences in or around S. T. C. . . . but just look at the knitting needles.

Although khaki wool is in circulation on our campus, most of this year's knitting seems to be done to keep up the morale of the college girl, and the brightly colored yarn that peeps forth from knitting bag or pillow-slip lends a cheery touch to an otherwise drab routine of plaids and neutrals For the half-done sweaters and toe-less socks that dangle from bone or steel needles seem most abundant in pinks and yellows and vivid greens.

It is inspiring, to say the least, all this excess energy floating around. Proud wearers' eyes light up at a compliment when she can say, "Thanks . . . I knitted it." And all around in the various rooms where the fad has hit, the studies in facial expression grow more varied as the knitting grows more complicated, and beginners add new words to their vocabularies as the days go on. Every now and then the conversation will be accented by a bewildered wail aimed at the nearest veteran, and the usual cry is "Whadda I do now?" This is occasionally flavored with "What'd I do wrong?" from the conscientious type, or, from some innocent soul, "How'd this happen?"

The veterans, orchids to 'em, smile through it all, and lend their invaluable assistance without a murmur. Many's the repaired "split-stitch", the picked-up dropped one, or the nicely-turned heel that may be attributed to an earnest old-timer.

And the results are unequalled. The socks are warmer and better-lasting, the sweaters prettier, and the pride that's worked into the intricate designs cannot be topped.

It takes time, yes, but in this day it's well-worth it. And despite the fact that sometimes a lavander sweater is smuggled into chapel, or a pair of baby-blue socks appear in class, no one seems to mind especially.

When K-Katie picks up her K-Knitting, the whole school sits up and takes notice . . . and the glow of achievement shines merrily forth as Katie says, "Thanks . . . I dood it!"

Colonnade Features Contest Winners

The winter issue of the Colonnade will be released early next week, Winifred Wright, editor, revealed last night. The second prize winning story in the short story contest. "In A True Light" by Jane Lee Sink will appear in the issue. Also in the issue will be Jane Smith's third place story, "The Amber Earrings", a fictional story based on historical fact.

Featured in this issue will be "After Dunkirk", written by a soldier in a letter to Elizabeth Goodwin. New to the college magazine is a debate by Virginia Kent Sedgley and Jane Cabell Sanford on the question of increasing escape literature.

Entertaining is "Shades of Love", by Jane Knapton, and also an unique essay by Elizabeth Goodwin, "To A Newborn Colt".

In the line of poetry are Lois Alphin's "Though Dark the Night" and "Meditation", "A Little Girl's Promise", by Carolyn Rouse and Mary Kelsey Harman's "Ode To Man".

Book reviews in the forthcoming issue include Virginia Is A State Of Mind by Virginia Moore, Look to the Mountain, by LeGrande Cannon, Jr., and Thorofare, by Christopher Morley.

16 Make Up 1943 S. T. C. Varsity Hard Court Team; 5 Seniors To See Action With Cagers

Sub-Varsity Boasts 9 From Ranks Of Freshman Class

Sixteen girls have been chosen for the 1943 varsity basketball team. They are Margaret Bear, Jean Carr, Ella Carrington, Patsy Connelly, Mildred Droste, Ruth Dugger, Ann Ellett, Hallie Hillsman, Edith Lovins, Frances Parham, Shirley Pierce, Ann Price, Dottie Sue Simmons, Barbara Scott, Eleanor Wade, and Mary Walker Watts.

Varsity practices are scheduled each Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoons at 6 p. m. Sarah Wade Owen, manager, will announce this season's schedule at a future date.

A sub-varsity team, composed of freshman, include Jane Anderson, Lillian Elliot, Rosa Hill, Rosalie Jones, Ora Kernodle, Catherine Lambert, Margaret Orange, Billy Wald, and Mildred Mease.

General basketball practice is scheduled for Tuesday at 5 p. m., Thursday at 6 p. m. and Friday at 6 p. m. Bobbie Scott is manager of general basketball. Practices are open at this time for any girl in school who wishes to get in her practices for class team.

Sarah Wade Owen, who is manager of varsity basketball this year.

Eight practices are required in order to be on a team.

Dugger Enrolls 16 In Red Cross Senior

Ruth Dugger, instructor of a class in American Red Cross Senior Life Saving and Water Safety, reports an enrollment of sixteen girls. They are Gloria Allen, Martha Davis, Ruth Garrison, Phyllis Watts, Betty Agnew, Barbara Scott, Helen Wilson, Dodie Jones, Betty Little, Frances Lee, Harriette Moore, Kitty Renneker, Janet Sallenburg, Frances Wentzel, and Jean Smith.

Requirements for this class include a preliminary test which indicates the ability of the girl. The course consists of an eight-en hour period of water work. In reference to the war program of physical fitness in the college, this class enables one to obtain a better knowledge of safety and swimming.

Classes are held on Monday night at 9 P. M. and Wednesday afternoon at 5 P. M.

Sports Schedule Winter

Basketball

Varsity:
Wed., Thurs., Fri. .... 6 P. M.

General:
Tuesday ..... 5 P. M.
Thursday, Friday .... 6 P. M.

Volley Ball

Wednesday ..... 5 P. M.
Thursday, Friday 7:45 P. M.

Swimming

Tuesday ..... 5:30 P. M.
Thursday, Friday ..... 9 P. M.

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
5-10-25c STORES
Everyone Appreciates a Valentine
See our complete assortment

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

Rooms
Reserve a room for your family, friend or dance date with Mrs. A. H. Irby 210 High St., opposite college. Phone 189

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Death Valley Scores . . .

The sharp-shooting Hampden-Sydney Tigers chalked a score of 44-41 over their Roanoke College opponents Saturday night on the H.-S. court. Leslie Pugh, shooting from all angles, tallied 20 points for the Tigers while the Maroons headed by Captain Leonard Hale and Bill Williams place a strong offensive, but not enough to overwhelm the Red and Gray. Both Hampden-Sydney and Roanoke Colleg. expect to carry on their season's schedule as long as possible, using trains and buses for transportation.

Volley Ball Scheduled . . .

Elizabeth Walls, manager of volleyball, has announced the schedule of practices which will begin this week and continue durng the quarter. Courts will be ready in the gym each Thursday and Friday nights from 7:45 P. M. until 8:30 P. M. for class and general practice. Each girl must have at least eight practices in order to be elegible for her class team. Volley ball is also on the schedule for Saturday nights during the Pay Night period.

Ping Pong Tourney

Games scheduled to be played in the ping pong tournament have been posted on the A. A. bulletin board. These matches must be played off in the next few weeks and then winning players from each of buildings, Julor and Senior; Annex and Student; and Library and Main will be in the semi-finals and finals. Winner of the tournamet will award her colors five points toward the color cup. Matches already played score J. Crump winner over M. Mease and B. Buchanan defeating J. Crump. In the first round P. Watts defeated N. Livey and J. Brown . . . R. Jones scored over O. Whittle. This leaves three more rounds to be played off immediately, Dottie Sue Simmons, manager of ping pong is in charge of the tournamet.

Swimming in January

Although the winter weather keeps one bundled out of doors, quite a number find the pool a most desirable pasttime on Saturday nights. With the large number of activities offered each week in the Play Night period the pool draws the largest crowd. Lifeguards are on duty to insure the swimmers of safety while in the water and pool equipments makes the swim period enjoyabe. The poo is opened each week during the afternoon and from 8 P. M. to 9:30 P. M. on Saturday for recreational swimming.

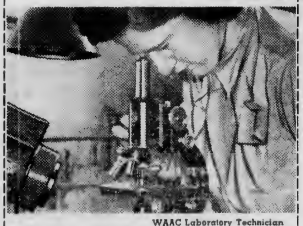
Swimmers Try Out For Varsity Team

Varsity swimming tryouts will begin tomorrow night, Thursday, in the college pool from 9 p. m. to 10 p. m.

Mildred Droste, manager of varsity swimming, asks that all try-outs report on time so that they may be timed for speed. Girls with diving ability are needed.

A state meet will be run off this month as previously scheduled. The date will be announced later, but those who wish to enter should practice every week in preparation. S. T. C. records are compared with records of other colleges in the state.

U. S. Army Announcement



To College Women in their Senior Year

WAAC learning line testing

WAAC Draftsman

WAAC Laboratory Technician

WAAC PAY SCALE

Officers	Equiv. Rank	Base Monthly Pay
Director	Colonel	$333.33
Asst. Director	Lt. Colonel	291.67
Field Director	Major	250.00
1st Officer	Captain	200.00
2nd Officer	1st Lieutenant	166.67
3rd Officer	2nd Lieutenant	150.00
Enrolled Members
Chief Leader	Master Sergeant	$138.00
1st Leader	First Sergeant	138.00
Tech. Leader	Tech. Sergeant	114.00
Staff Leader	Staff Sergeant	96.00
Technician, 3rd Grade	Technician, 3rd Grade	96.00
Leader	Sergeant	78.00
Technician, 4th Grade	Technician, 4th Grade	78.00
Jr. Leader	Corporal	66.00
Technician, 5th Grade	Technician, 5th Grade	66.00
Auxiliary, 1st Class	Private, 1st Class	54.00
Auxiliary	Private	50.00

* To the above are added certain allowances for quarters and subsistence where authorized.

YOUR Army has scores of jobs in the WAAC for alert college women . . . jobs vital to the war . . . jobs that will train you for interesting new careers in the post-war world. And here is good news indeed—you may enroll now in the fast-growing WAAC and be placed on inactive duty until the school year ends. Then you will be subject to call for duty with this splendid women's corps and be launched upon an adventure such as no previous generation has known.

New horizons . . . new places and people . . . interesting, practical experience with good pay . . . and, above all, a real opportunity to help your country by doing essential military work for the U. S. Army that frees a soldier for combat duty. These are among many reasons why thousands of American women are responding to the Army's need.

You will receive valuable training which may fit you for many of the new careers which are opening to women, and full Army pay while doing so. And by joining now you will have excellent chances for quick advancement for, as the WAAC expands, many more officers are needed. Every member—regardless of race, color or creed—has equal opportunity and is encouraged to compete for selection to Officer Candidate School. If qualified, you may obtain a commission in 12 weeks after beginning basic training.

Go to your WAAC Faculty Adviser for further information on the list of openings, pay, and promotions. Or inquire at any U. S. Army Recruiting and Induction Station.

U. S. ARMY KEEP 'EM FLYING!
RECRUITING AND INDUCTION SERVICE

WOMEN'S ARMY AUXILIARY CORPS

Pianist Louise Meiszner

Youthful Pianist Reveals Personal "Adores and Deplores" in Interview

By JANE WARING RUFFIN

"Oh, I like the South very much," Louise Meiszner, 18 year old pianist said in an interview after her concert here last Wednesday. "It seems that I go on a concert to get a rest, for after the hustle of New York, time just seems to stand still here." she continued. This was Miss Meiszner's second visit to Farmville, her first having been on Founder's Day last year.

When questioned as to her reaction to the movies, the pianist replied that she had very little time for them. "I see one or two a year—I really do not care for for them," she explained. Quiz programs and Philharmonic orchestra programs compose Miss Meiszner's favorite radio programs and reading is her favorite past time. "I like biography," she said, "and philosophy and psychoanalysis", giving a deeper insight into her charming personality.

The young pianist often endangers her valuable hands by taking them into the kitchen, where she likes to "mess around." "And I eat anything as long as it is food," but her slender figure belied the fact that she eats very heartily.

"No, I don't particularly like to dress up," Miss Meiszner told us, "and I do not like plaid skirts."

Sipping cokes very informally Miss Meiszner told something of her life. She began playing the piano at three and a half and if she had any particular trouble, she doesn't remember. "But then", she said, "I was so young." At six Miss Meiszner entered a music academy in Budapest because her youth prevented entrance into any of the good music schools in the United States. She remained in Hungary until four years ago, where she spoke German, French, and Hungarian. "But I can't now", she said, "one has to use a language. Four years ago, I didn't know a word of English," she continued, yet she spoke in words clear and only slightly accented.

Miss Meiszner returned to New York from Farmville, where she will remain several months before beginning her tour of the mid-west. "I like car travel best," she told us. "Then it doesn't matter if you are two minutes late and you can stop where and when you like. No, I don't dislike schedules, just other people."

Hindu Author

Continued from Page 1

ude and fine presentation of the ife irs of the people of India to gain independence on a basis that would help the whole world.

The lecturer's clear presentation f the differences in the philosophies of the youth of India and of other countries was noted by another educator.

While H. E. Morris, president of Steubenville Educational Association of Steubenville, Ohio, speaks of Mr. Krishnayya as a thoughtful and realistic interpreter of contemporary India whose attitude is that of a native and not a foreign observer.

Mardi Gras

Continued from Page 1

the most original one. The floor show will follow the climax of Mardi Gras, the crowning of the queen.

Quiz Contest

Continued from Page 1

Last year the S. T. C. quiz team met and were defeated by a similar team from Hampden-Sydney. Veterans from last year's team still in school are Dawn Shanklin and Violet Woddall.

The "Y"

Continued from Page 1

all the cities and villages teaching in the synagogues, and preaching the gospel of the kingdom, and healing every sickness and every disease among the people.—St. Matthew 9:35.

Religious Emphasis

Continued from Page 1

D. degree from Norfolk College and a D. D. degree from Emory University. He has served as pastor of Methodist churches in Danville and Norfolk, Virginia. He is a member of the Delta Tau Delta Theta Chi, and Sigma Theta fraternities.

Dr. Rustin was here several years ago during Religious Emphasis Week. He is being secured through the Y. W. C. A.

Just Looking, Thanks

Imagine riding to Death Valley on a bus—Well it just goes to show you that neither gas rationing nor travel restrictions can keep S. T. C.'ers from their appointed rounds of fun.

More than forty girls journeyed (and we mean that literally) to Hampden-Sydney for the Monogram Club dance Saturday night. Among the fortunate were Peggy Becker, Martha Walsh, Fay Johnson, Will Hall, Marie Hedgecock, Betty Ellis, Twitch Ellett, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Ann Page Francis, Jane Crump, Helen Smith, Helen Stites, Mildred Mease, Mary Walker Watts, Hannah Lee Crawford, Jayne Williamson, Kitty Davis, Anne Covington, Sara Wayne France, Leona Moomaw and Nancy Hutter.

Also Dodie Jones, Mary Watkins, Eloise Boswell, Betsy Caldwell, Anne Carmines, Dot Childress, Ruth Dugger, Mary Virginia Evans, Jane Ford, Margaret Orange, Jeannette Garrison, Spotswood Hunnicutt, Grace Hutcheson, Wilhelmena Knapp, Betty Rogers, Jane McFall, Isabell Sampson, Gwen Sampson, Margaret Thomas, and Nancy Watts.

The constant stimuli of brothers (?) leaving and brothers (?) returning for furlough keep all the S. T. C. sisters busy traveling homeward. The long list included Theresa Fletcher, Nettie Ann Peytas, Elizabeth McLean, Jane Paulette, Catherine Williams, Eleanor Bisese, Imogene Claytor, Barbara White, Christine Eddins, Dorothy Anderson, Betty T. Andrews, Rebecca Blanton, Jenny Clardy, Mae Dunnavant, Harriette Dowdy, Ann Darnell, Ellen Ebel, Eloise Galladay, Dorothy Hollaman, Myrtle Lee Holt, Martha Ellen Jones, Inez Jones, Mary Moore McCorkle, Eleanor Morgan, Ernestine Morgan, Julianna Norfleet, Margaret Park, Frances Rainey, Shirley Richardson, Sally Robertson, Elizabeth Scott, Shirley Stovall, and Lois Steidtman.

Music minded Virginia Sedgley, Iris Ferguson, Anne Brooks, Evelyn Mae Chenault and Nancy Jean Powell went to Richmond last week end to hear Hans Kindler and National Symphony Orchestra at the Mosque.

On Saturday night—before that game—Miss Ruth Gleaves entertained the members of Alpha Kappa Gamma at supper at her town apartment. Miss Elizabeth Burger was also present.

And on Sunday afternoon Dr. and Mrs. Francis B. Simkins entertained at tea at their home. Their guests included the students in Dr. Simkin's history classes.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

Just Received new shipment of Steer Rayon Hose
Look like sheerest of silk at 98c PR.

Lovely new Spring
SUITS
Dressmaker and man tailored styles
$12.95 TO $18.95

Pretty Plaid SKIRTS
NEW PASTEL COLORS ..... $2.95 to $7.95
THE HUB DEPT. STORE
Charge Accounts Available

"Full Fashioned Rayon Hose"
Roses Store

We welcome you at ay time
Come in and select presents for all occasions
Martin the Jeweler

MAKE—
Your Headquarters This Year
Shannon's

RECORDS
Decca Victor
Columbia Okeh
Bluebird
We purchase worn out and broken solid records
WILSON'S FIRESTONE STORE
311 West Third Street

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

Roll Films
Developed and Printed
8 Exposures 25c
Southside Drug Store

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

SALE OF COATS DRESSES
1-3 to ½ Off
Shoes Reduced
Values $1.97 to $5
All sizes
New Shipment of Hose
JUST REDUCED 78c
LOVELY NEW
Spring Suits and Coats
Arriving Daily—Also sweaters and Skirts
DOROTHY MAY STORE
Where most S. T. C. students shop

GIRLS

Now is the time to Buy Your New Skirts and Sweaters All New Spring Colors to select from.
DAVIDSON'S
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

Attend All War Day Discussion Groups On Wednesday

The Rotunda

Vote for May Court Next Wednesday Night

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VA., TUESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1943 No. 13

Wheeler Gives Spring Pl... Tid...

'Taming ... Selected by C...

Miss Leola Wheeler, direct... the Dramatic Club, revealed ... week that for the second time ... Club, in cooperation with ... Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs w... produce a Shakespearean pla... this time "The Taming of the Shrew." The play is to be the spring production and will be presented on Friday and Saturday nights, March 5 and 6.

"The Taming of the Shrew" has been a favorite of actors for many years, and the edition to be used by the Dramatic Club and the Jongleurs has been prepared by Samuel French in England. The story is that of the early English custom of a girl not being allowed to precede her older sister in marriage, a situation rather hard on the younger girl when her older sister is of such a nature as Katherina. Tranquillity reigns only when Katherina, famed as the Shrew, meets her match in the man who accepts the challenge and marries her.

The cast for the play has not yet been completed and will be published in the Rotunda at an early date.

The play will be directed by Miss Wheeler, assisted by Susan Durrett, in charge of staging; Nelle White, lighting; Jane Smith, costumes; Lucille Lewis, make-up; and Sally Robertson, properties.

Officers in the Dramatic Club are, Elsie Stossel, president; Hannah Lee Crawford, vice-president; Helen DeLong, treasurer, and Jean Arrington, secretary.

Polio Drive Closes Here on January 30

Amy Read, president of the Y. W. C. A., is chairman of "The March of Dimes" program here in the college which opened January 15 and will close on the President's Birthday, January 30. The college will work with town and county in this drive to raise money to fight infantile paralysis.

Half of the funds raised will be sent to the national headquarters for further infantile research. The other half will remain in the counties where it is collected, to be used for the treatment of any child smitten with infantile.

The drive in the college is being sponsored by the Freshman Commission.

A. Edwin Cralle, Jr., Prince Edward County chairman, has issued a statement of fact regarding infantile paralysis and an appeal for contributions to the fund. This appeal is applicable to the people of Cumberland, Buckingham, Powhatan, Charlotte, and other counties, as every county in the state is making a drive for the same worthy cause.

Cralle stated that "war has been declared on infantile paralysis."

Emphasis Week

Governor Darden and Dabney Lancaster ... ll Be Among The Feat... ers On War Emphasis Day Progr... omorrow

ysical Fitness Be Stressed

roups Discuss To Keep Fit

...V. Graves, of Rich... e one of the guest ...he campus Wednes... speak on Physical ... general assembly ...um Wednesday ... o'clock.

...eech by Major ... be eight dis... various phases ...tion. These ... juniors and ...ially inter... f college ...

...ion are: ...es have ...ans to ...ey or ...Farm... ...idele ...tics, ...rts, ...ley ...;

COLGATE W. DARDEN, JR.

Consumer Education Is Bernard's Topic Tomorrow Morning

Following a talk on Consum... Education by Miss Louise Ber... of the Distributive Educatio... partment tomorrow morni... 11:30 o'clock, the studen... participate in group discus... problems suggested by ... The discussions are div... general topics, th... te, a weary ward... ative living, sche... l life, and the ... as and rubber ... he first gro... e dinner ... defense" ... ebert, L... h Fra... Cha... sion... ha...

...dges Named ... Poetry Contest

...ang as judges for the Col... ...ge poetry contest which ter... ...tes on February 22, will be ...nne Stricks, representing the ...dent body at large; Miss Lu... ...le Jennings, of the Advisory ...Board of the Colonnade; Miss Mary Clay Hiner, and Mr. Boyd Coyner, of the faculty and Lois ...olyn Rouse, poetry ...olonnade. ...culation as ... of the entr... ...of the stud... ...ers of the C... ...eligible. All e... ...by Monday, Fe... ...es of $3, $2 and $1 will be given in War Savings stamps for the best poems and the winners will be published in the Colonnade.

Major E... Will Al...

Governor C... Superintendent ... ers on the car... the auspices o... Emphasis Da...

Louise Bernard ...dresses During Day

...r Dr. Dabney Lancaster, State ...on, will be among the guest speak... ...ednesday, January 27, which under ... Council, has been set aside as War

Moral... ...on To F... ...ech

F... ...ve M... ...ps

...morrow afternoon ...gate Darden ... student body ...discussions on ...will follow his ...r Darden will ...ic "Building Mor...

...t is serving as gen... ...n of the morale dis... ...p, and it is divided ...jor heads. ...p will hold discussions ...ion. Under this gen... there will be discussions ...al Versus Technical Ed... led by Rosalie Rogers, ...War Production", led by ...Reid, "Pitfalls in Wartime ...tion", led by Nancye Allen ...Teachers as Morale Build... led by Agnes Patterson.

...nother group will discuss sub... ...is relating to Democracy. Vir... ...nia Sedgley will lead the discus... ...on on "Democracy as a Way of ...Life"; Winifred Wright's group will discuss "The Meaning of Democracy"; Ella Marsh Pilkinton will have charge of the discussion on "Vital Democracy on Campus"; and Helen Wiley Hardy's group will talk over "Democracy in the Future".

Under the general theme Christianity, Amy Read will lead a group which will discuss "Christian Faith in Wartime" and Ella Banks Weathers with her group will discuss "Christianity's Roles in the Future".

Headed by Ann Randolph, other groups will discuss subjects relating to the Post War World. "Implications of the Atlantic Charter" is the topic of a discussion to be led by Marilyn Bell; "The Four Freedoms" is the topic for Myrtle Jenkins' group; Alice Nichols will discuss with her group "The Problem of Germany"; and Brookie Benton will lead a discussion on "Planning for Today from Tomorrow".

"Propaganda and What to Believe" is another of the general topics. This group of discussions is being led by Jane Cabell Sanford. Discussions related to this big head will be, "Strengthening Morale for Victory", led by Frances Lee Hawthorne and Louise Bell, "Morale on the Battle Front and at Home", led by Susie Moore, and "The Nazi Regime in Germany", led by Miggie Mish.

It is necessary to keep a sane view on war conditions. Thinkers, not talkers, are greatly needed. The American student, in her

Continued from Page 3

Johnson Promoted ...ure

...Ariel John... ...was promo... ...feature editor ...

...upon the ... ...Bell. Fay is a member of the sophomore class, and is also a member of the Virginian staff and the Contributor's Board of the Colonnade.

The program will begin promptly at 9:30 o'clock tomorrow morning with a short talk by Agnes Patterson, president of the Student Government Association and chairman of the College War Council. Following the introduction, the College Choir will present "America-Thy Name," a new patriotic song written by Alfred Strick, professor of music at STC. Eleanor Folk will read the text prior to the singing.

Dr. J. Elliott Walmsley, professor of History and Social Science will then introduce Dr. Dabney Lancaster, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, who will deliver the first talk. Dr. Lancaster's talk, "Virginia's Wartime Program of Education", will center around the principles and ideals for which we are fightin, the importance of preparation for rendering maximum service and the means to attain this, and preparation for the reconstruction of society after the war.

Hallie Hillsman, president of the Athletic Association will introduce Major E. V. Graves, of the Physical Education Department of the State Board of Education. Major Graves will speak on some phase of Physical Fitness as it affects college women. Following Major Graves' talk the group will break up into smaller units for discussion. These discussions will be led by students and no faculty members will be allowed to attend.

At 11:30 the students will reassemble in the large auditorium for a talk on Consumer Education by Miss Louise Bernard, of the Distributive Education Department. Miss Bernard will be introduced by Charlotte Greely, chairman of the committee on Consumer Education on the College War Council. Following Miss Bernard's talk the students will participate in another group of discussions, conducted as before by students.

In the afternoon at 2:30 o'clock Dr. J. L. Jarman will introduce the Governor, who will speak to the student body on "Building Morale". The students will then separate for the final set of discussion groups.

Tomorrow night at 8 o'clock the group will reassemble for the concluding session, opening with

Continued from Page 3

Schedule for War Emphasis Day

9.30—Assembly in the large auditorium.
"Virginia's Wartime Education Program"—Dr. Dabney Lancaster.
Physical Fitness—Major E. V. Graves
Discussion Groups

11.30—Assembly in large auditorium
Consumer Education—Miss Louise Bernard
Discussion Groups

2:30—Assembly in large auditorium
Building Morale—Governor Colgate Darden
Discussion Groups

8:00—Assembly in large auditorium
Group singing
Reports of findings
Selections by College Choir

College Choir Plan... Alumnae Associati... For Music Promotio...

Mr. Alfred H. Strick, head ... the Music Department, has re... cently stated the possibility and desirability of forming a choir alumnae association. All former graduates who were members of the choir will be eligible for membership.

The purposes of this organization will be to foster music throughout the state and elsewhere, and to give information to students who are planning to come to Farmville in the future. A music bulletin will be one of the major objectives of the association for 1943. This bulletin will be sent to prospective students in Virginia, North Carolina, South Carolina, Maryland and West Virginia. A bulletin, similar to the one being prepared now, was distributed last year to many high school seniors with excellent results.

Virginia Barksdale, a graduate of '42, who was a very outstanding girl in the field of music, as well as other extra-curricular activities during her four years at Farmville, is being spoken of as the president of the choir alumnae association. Over 100 students who were interested in the music department of the college are expected to become members of the association.

Mr. Strick, as well as others

Continued on Page 3

Indian Lecturer Explains Position of Women, Marvels at Spirit and Hope of Americans

By KATHERINE HUTCHINSON

"Leave it to the men to teach. I would confine women to the home if I were dictator."

These words of wisdom flowed smoothly from the lips of Dr. P. G. Krishnayya, Ph. D., lecturer, editor, and possessor of numerous other accomplishments.

In further discussing the most interesting subject of women Dr. Krishnayya objected to the waste of beauty as shown at some dances where wall flowers—poor things, line the wall.

"In India every woman marries, goes to live with her mother-in-law, and raises her children.

"Mothers are by far the most ... Not wives," ... deep throated ... brown hand ... they are ... leave town; ... ing his wife, ... is a different ... ould take any ... hout first con... sulting ... der. You know, we have an old saying that a man can pick up a wife anywhere, but there is only one mother." Dr. Krishnayya intrigued his audience by his ready command of the language, his British-Indian accent, all the blue turb... ...d jauntily over ... everyone ha... do you say i... ...ve that some... ...mething big... But in India, ... unhappy because he is poor and the rich man gets no pleasure from his wealth because he knows it is only tem-

Continued on Page 4

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

VOICE of VICTORY

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Jane Cabell Sanford — Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers — Managing Editor
Elva Andrews — Business Manager

Associate Editors

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... News Editor
Fay Byrd Johnson ..... Feature Editor
Shirley Pierce ..... Sports Editor
Jane Smith ..... Social Editor
Lilly Bec Gray ..... Copy Editor
Sara Jeffreys ..... Photographic Editor

Assistant Business Managers

Mary Keith Bingham ..... Advertising Manager
Mary St. Clair Burr ..... Circulation Manager

TUESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1943

In charge of this issue: Jane Waring Ruffin

To Find Our Place—

Tomorrow we of Farmville shall have a unique opportunity—an opportunity to find out definitely what is our part as college women in this war and in the world that is to follow. Those in authority have given us an entire day and the advantage of the best informed and most outstanding men in the state today to help us find our places in this war torn world. But those men will give only the facts, the needs. It will be up to us to decide for ourselves in the discussion groups what we are to do, which road we are to take. There will be no faculty members taking part in these discussions—they are ours. And without the cooperation of the entire student body, every one of the eight hundred girls, this program will not be the success it should be.

Somehow, it seems an actual duty—yes, a duty that cannot be shirked—to attend the lectures and to participate in the discussions. Recently a story was told that illustrates how we shall feel about those who bypass the opportunities of War Emphasis Day. A certain football star dropped a punt, causing the loss of a big game. Thenceforth, perhaps unjustly, he was in disgrace, known as "the boy who dropped the punt", and when his younger brother entered the same school, the ostracism passed on to him. In a bigger, more important way, those who do not attend the meetings tomorrow will have "dropped a punt" and the puishment should be the same.

Men and women all over our country are giving up pleasures and past times and are "all out for the war." Are we college women, the future of our country and the world, going to do less, going to refuse to open the door when opportunity knocks and announces her presence?

Against Stagnation . . .

The women of a nation play an important part in the morale of their country both in war and in peace time. In the past the feminine has found as its principal occupation being the "playmate" of the masculine—a person to whom he could take his troubles, a person with whom he could laugh and joke and be gay, a person in whom he could confide, the person on whom he could shower his natural protective instincts. He sought her companionship as a relief from the weighy problems of the day, as a relaxation to his perhaps deeper vein of thought. The girl and woman of the "Roaring Twenties" met those needs—and met them well. She was coping with the kind of life that is normal because the so-called "best part of her life' 'was devolped under comparatively normal world conditions.

Today, the youth—yes, the teen age youngsters and those approaching their thirties—are the ones fighting this inferno of machines, blood, and heartaches. It is their life which is being molested, their dances, parties, fun—the thrills of their first big permanent job which is being postponed. The young men have accepted this new way of life courageously. Their future is blurred—far away. What they will be doing in one year, two years, five years, is as unsure and as chaotic in their minds as the propinquity of a transatlantic bridge.

But the young women? The boy whom they cheered at the football game, the boy whom they congratulated on his new job, the boy with whom they danced at last summer's prom—he it is who is fighting today. He it is who is undergoing untold hardships, suffering overwhelming pangs of loneliness and homesickness. He is it who will come again from the bloody battlefront having seen pain—tragedy—death—savage torture to the body and mind. Will they still desire the conversation and pasttime that only yesterday furnished the sparkle and glamor of life?

No! They will have seen such brutality—such stark reality—that the former way of life will seem trivial—vain—disgusting. That is why the girls must prepare themselves now to receive the boys at the end of this horrible struggle on a basis that will be acceptable to them, that will prove to them that the girls have not sat leisurely at home while they themselves have been through purgatory.

The girls of today—the wives and mothers of tomorrow—must be deep, understanding, capable, intelligent. They must realize that the happy-go-lucky boy of westerday is not the same today, and that they cannot be either. Will we, as college women recognize and accept this challenge, fulfilling to the nth degree?—B. K.

To the Students . . .

(N. B.—The following is a message to the students of the State Teachers College at Farmville from Dr. Dabney Lancaster, Superintendent of Public Instruction.)

I congratulate the students of Farmville State Teachers College upon their decision to set aside a day to be known as War Emphasis Day. There has never been a time when it was more important for each one of us to make an earnest effort to understand world conditions, and to make plans for rendering the maximum possible individual service to the country. I am looking forward with satisfaction to having some part in your program.

OURS . . . . . .

Fundamentally, this is a young man's war. But in many important ways this is also a young woman's war—young women in uniform and young women in overalls; young women in field and factory, in office and hospital.

You as young college women have a definite part to play in this crisis. For even in the classroom, today's Total War is not merely academic. It is actual.

Young women students, everywhere, are keenly aware of the fact of the war; they must also be alert to the way in which those facts affect them as women and as students. They must recognize the unpleasant fact that a Totalitarian triumph would destroy their very freedom to attend the college of their choice.

They have a tremendous stake in the war; for if we were to lose it, they would lost their future, and youth deeply deserves a future. They also have a service to perform and they are performing it with their characteristic enthusiasm and determination.

One thing you can all do is buy War Bonds and Stamps. Perhaps you cannot invest vast sums of money. But you can invest an appropriate share of all you receive or earn. And as you invest this money you will also be investing your own sacrifice and self-respect. In a practical and patriotic way, you will be uniting scholarship and citizenship.

You will also be investing in the future. Youth has always depended on the future. Today the future depends on Youth.—From a statement by Henry Morgenthau, Jr.

Mail Is Mail, Says College Girl Letter a Day Keeps Blues Away

By BETTY COCK

Life is one thing after another . . . morale is a lot of mail for the Boys in Service. Agreed . . . those boys are all away from home, many of 'em for the first time, and they're fightin' for us and missin' us more'n we miss them maybe, and expecting to hear from home and bein' awful disappointed when the mail's called out and they don't get even a postcard. It's horribly demoralizing. And everybody at home should remember that, and learn a lesson from it and put that lesson to use.

But now . . . how 'bout the college girl? Morale is just as important to a homesick collegiate as it is to a boy in khaki, and the ways of keeping it up are the very same. If all the families and friends of a gal away at school could see that gal's face when she sees that empty post-office box, they'd thereby resolve to write her a letter a day and maybe another each night!

It's the same thing over, two or three times a day: a crowd of excited girls milling around the post office expecting anger even before they get to their boxes, here a shriek, "It's from Johnny!"—there another, "Mother's letter feels like money!"—and the usual, "You've got a package slip", "I got another letter from that drip—but at least it's mail (or male!)", "Hey, roommate he can come!" And so on, far into the night. Out there amidst of it all, one dejected figure, still staring into that empty box, hoping to see it fill before her eyes—and then—her spontaneous rush from the scene, morale at the lowest ebb, off to her room for—what?

She won't cry—she won't! But she can study—hasn't heard from home in days, 'spose someone is sick? It is virtually impossible to concentrate on any assignment while wondering how you have offended your best friend—you must have since she hasn't written for years. And you can't write letters yourself without even a hope of getting an answer. Or if you do your homesickness creeps into your writing and makes an unhappy note—and that isn't good advertising for the school. It's so futile'.

Just as a soldier can't fight when he is feeling blue and low; neither can a college girl put her best into her work without mail! All the news is appreciated—the new puppies, the dance, the night before, who's been seeing Sister when, what's new at the office, the sugariess dessert recipes, the meddling old maid across the street, snap shots—anything—just so it is mail.

And so the moral to all homefolks (and take it from us who know) is this: A line a day keeps the blues away. No matter how little you write, It's mail in the box that counts. And with all due respect to our armed forces, we say—don't forget the girl back at school . . . she has a job to do, too!

Late Reposers Share No Mercy By Unkind But Diligent Friends

"We hate to get up, we hate to get up, we hate to get up in the morning." Isn't it the truth?

We are snoozing away steadfastly, (and why not, we evaded the Mish until three!) with not a thought except about strange elves and monsters, probably due to the fact that we had three packs of nabs just before the lights were out. Anyway, we are sound asleep, blissful, restful. The most clanging, growling roar breaks the stillness and our repose. But we are hardened to it and we merely turn over, the horrid noise continues to beat down upon our ear drums.

Relief comes when roomie dear gets enough courage to gropingly turn the thing off, murmuring at the same time, "The sleep will do us more good than any old breakfast. Let's skip it." The same having been thought by us for some few minutes now. Sleep.

Later, much later, one of those rare creatures who regularly makes the morning trip to the dining hall, drops in to say "Good-morning." (It isn't so—she just wants to gloat because we are still so lazily in bed and she has been up and to breakfast.) We wake up half-heartedly—right where the villain is stealing up with a knife—and tell her to go away. Sleep. (It's now 8:55).

Roomie, who always proves to have more fortitude than have we, gets up and fussily gets dressed, telling us all the while just how lazy we are. We decide to get up at 9:00 so don't bother about her.

9:00. Roomie leaves for class, having pulled back our covers, which is maddening to say the least. Great resentment wells up in our heart. In the midst of this sleep overtakes us. Ah, sleep. Sleep, the joy of a poor man's life—restful sleep.

"Elizabeth Ann Smith! Get up out of that bed—you have just slept through two classes."

—Fay Johnson

OVER THE TOP
FOR VICTORY with UNITED STATES WAR
BONDS-STAMPS

Campus Camera

LETTER:

May Court Nominations To Be Made Next Monday, February 1

Dear Editor,

Many girls have been inquiring about the real plans for May Day this year. Plans are being made for the annual festival, because it seems to be a real part of all of us at Farmville. Of course, it cannot be as elaborate as last year's celebration, since transportation is a great problem and buying materials for costumes will be difficult. The May Day Committee is asking that the members of the student body keep the above in mind, and cooperate to the fullest.

Nominations for May Queen and the court will be held Monday, February 1, at the table in the hall. Each girl will nominate two girls for queen and ten girls for the court. From the list of nominations, candidates will be selected to be voted upon at a meeting of the entire student body on the following night, February 2.

Let us be thinking about whom you want to have in the May Court. Why not make this May Day even lovelier than ever before in spite of the barriers to be crossed?

Sincerely,
Anne Ellett
May Day Chairman

Confidentally . . .

Rat Barbara Surface started out with quite a choice as to a dance date, but there's a crowd, and they all said "no". No, Barbara didn't go either . . . The Adams-Ellis affair has been torn asunder, we understand. Jack's getting up in the world; it's been Ella Marsh for the past week or so . . . That must be some attraction in Charlottesville this week end . . . It got Jayne Williamson out of bed for a 6:00 a. m. bus . . oh, yes . . she was accompanied by Nancy Quinn . . . Looking over the un-expecteds this week end, we found Ginny Caviness' "W. B." here for the ordeal . . . And Ann Darnell has "Something to remember him by" sitting on her dresser. Ann, why didn't you take Charlie to the Rec? . . . And while we're questioning, what's a lab got that Farmville girls haven't? Johnny Owen seems to prefer his lab. Too bad, girls . . . Pagie? Did you go stag? . . . Pat Gibson and Janice Wells at least had new hair-do's to sport this week end . . . Romelia Sayre was sure one happy - looking individual when Cosby arrived Saturday . . . We heard a rumor that Betty Doggett likes Marines . . . Maybe Giggy and Marilyn and Anne can add Annapolis to their collections before long. The postal system is a great thing, isn't it? . . . The things one doesn't see when the lights go on again all over the Rec! . . . Incidentally, Dodie better watch her (?) Rick; Lula has the lead this time! . . . Seems there was an over-dose of stags at the big shindig Saturday night . . and plenty of snaking. Remember, gals, the only way to keep your youth is to keep him away from other women!

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

As a very special privilege for the Sunday School classes, Miss Moran will teach the union class this Sunday at the Presbyterian churrh using the topir for the International LeLsson.

The Baptist Young People are having one of their famous Fellowship Suppers Sunday night. Incidentally, they are returning an invitation of the Episcopalions by having them as guests. The Presbyterians, not to be outdone, are having Mr. Joseph E. Garrison, head of the student work of the Southern Presbyterian church, with them for a council meeting Saturday.

Are you getting ready for the Sunday School Contest? Next Monday marks the beginning of February. Try to persuade your fellow church members to patronize their Sunday School.

The "Y" is cooperating with War Emphasis Day tomorrow. Be sure you give all you can in attention, ideas, and attendance!

Student Journalists

Fay Johnson, Jane Smith, and Jane Waring Ruffin begin early for the next issue of the Rotunda.

Feminine Style Permeates Newspaper As Women Invade Journalistic Field

Today as in other fields of masculine majority, women are proving their efficiency. Heretofore men have been the only courageous ones to invade the realm of journalism. The typical editor's cry, "Faster, faster! Get those copies rolling! Speed!" has been the keynote and epitome of newspaper work before today. Tough? Sure, hard as nails, but nails can be bent, and women have proved that they can measure up to the mental ability and alertness of men in this fast moving profession.

One can hardly visualize a loud - voiced woman, working briskly in a smoke-hazy newspaper office, rushing about like mad, letting her vanity go hang. No! And one must erase any such ideas as these. We have seen in our foremost newspaper women outstanding qualities of literary ability as well as expected dignity and grace. Are not Clare Booth Luce, Luella Parsons and Dorothy Parker women columnists of whom we can be justly proud?

There are college girls today who have great ability for this type of writing, but go no further than writing for their small school paper. Leading editors have expressed the opinion that college girls with newspaper ability and interest should prepare now for a journalistic career.

The journalistic field is not only the newspaper; it includes the magazine. It is more than the writing of scandals, fires, thefts, "advice to the lovelorn", battles of war, elections, ambassadors' speeches and the like. It is the incentive for thinking, an outlet for self-expression, a means of binding all people by the natural tie-emotion.

We, the women, now place our opinions, thoughts, and feelings beside and among those of men. Today we must take up the pen as well as the tool for the winning of this war.

Sibyl Henry Will Receive Doctor's Degree from U. N. C.

Miss Sibyl Henry, principal of the Farmville Elementary Training School, completed her work for the Ph. D. degree during the Christmas holidays, it was announced this week.

Miss Henry, a native of Lenora, N. C. attended Davenport Junior College there. She received her Bachelor of Arts degree at the University of North Carolina and took her Master's degree at Duke University. Miss Henry taught in the public school system in North Carolina for several years and came to Farmville in 1932 as a primary grade supervisor in the Training School. Upon the resignation of Miss Carolyn Cogbill last fall, Miss Henry was promoted to the principalship of the Training School.

Miss Henry has taken summer courses at Duke University and completed requirements for the Doctor's degree at the University of North Carolina.

Men are dying for the Four Freedoms. The least we can do here at home is to buy War Bonds—10% for War Bonds, every pay day.

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

SPRING
Comes to
BALDWIN'S"
DRESSES
COATS
SUITS
SKIRTS
SWEATERS
New things bought for the College Girl
"Now on display"
BALDWIN'S

Jeffers Publishes Magazine Article On Academy Work

Dr. George W. Jeffers, professor of biology and head of the biology department of the college, recently wrote an article entitled "A State Academy Charts Its Course". This article was published in the January issue of the Scientific Monthly.

Dr. Jeffers, president of the Virginia Academy of Science, brought out in his article the fact that the paternal and fostering attitude of the American Association for the Advancement of Science was one reason for the rapid spread of academics. He states further that an academy can initiate and carry through projects that other organizations of science cannot undertake.

The work of the academies in Virginia is discussed with major reference to the James River basin. This is to be accomplished by a survey and compilation of what is known with scientific improvement of the conditions that already exist. This river, known as Old Man River, may be used for scientific, sociological and historical research.

According to the author, there are two types of scientists in the world—those interested in what really happens, and those who are interested in the application of these processes. In closing Dr. Jeffers brings out the point that "The human value of science lies in the moral quality of the human purpose directing it."

Dr. Jeffers, whose home is in Farmville, has been a member of the college faculty for 15 years. He is active in local affairs and is past president of the Rotary Club of Farmville. He received his B. S. and M. A. degrees from the Boston University, and his Ph. D. from the University of Toronto.

War Emphasis Week

Continued from Page 1

group singing of patriotic songs. The reports of the findings of each set of discussion groups will be presented by the chairmen of the groups. The choir will close the program with several numbers.

Morale Discussion

Continued from Page 1

"ivory tower" is among the few left to think and plan. Her strength of morale, so greatly needed now will be equally demanded in post war relations. She must now obtain a firm grip on its full meaning and understanding.

Choir Plans

Continued from Page 1

who are interested in the promotion of better music, feels that the organizing of this plan will bring worthwhile and beneficial results.

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
5-10-25c STORES
Larger and More Complete Line of Toilet Articles now stocked in our store

Popular Records
Blue Bird Columbia
Victory Decca
Just received
Roses Store

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

Attaetive Costume Jewelry!
At Low Prices
Martin the Jeweler

India Seeks Peace States Krishnayya

Talk Clarifies Post War Puzzles

"The whole of India wants this war to be won by the Allies. Everything else is subordinate to this desire." So spoke Pasupuleti Gopala Krishnayya, seeking to clarify India's position in the present world situation. "In the last war India's contributions to Great Britain in men, money and materials exceeded those of the rest of the empire put together." In this war India is equalizing her efforts. Indian soldiers have fought in all the theaters of the war.

To explain the "commotion" in India which has been the subject of much discussion here and abroad, Krishnayya declared, "India is with the United Nations one hundred percent, but she is equally determined that she shall be a free nation, that she shall have her independence!" The Indian National Congress, one of the political parties in that vast and rich country, has become the dominant party because it symbolizes freedom in the eyes of the Indian. "If given freedom", the Indian lecturer said, "the leaders of the Congress, who are the men of great vision, will form the government."

Because the Indian National Congress did not cooperate as the British has hoped does not mean that it is pro-Axis. Krishnayya cited many instances to prove the contrary. In the persecution of the Jews in Germany, in the aggressive action of Japan in Manchuria, in Germany and Italy's part in the war in Spain, India sought Britain to intervene for the sake of the right to freedom.

The movement for Indian independence is not new, Krishnayya emphasized. The present crisis has only served to give it added momentum. The question of India is of great importance to the United Nations today because isolation is gone forever. There can be no "India for the Indians" just as there can be no "America for the Americans". The problems and welfare of each is important to the other.

Krishnayya acknowledged Indian's debt to Britain, who opened the doors of Occidental civilization to India. "The idea of independence is not an Indian concept", Krishnayya said. "It comes from the Magna Charter, the Bill of Rights. And Britain should do for India what she does for herself." On this belief the Indians base their fight for independence.

Krishnayya gave a word of warning to the British and the Americans that they should discard their one-sided picture of India. They must take into account the feelings and inspirations of the Indian people and their attitude toward the United States and Britain, because, as Krishnayya predicted, "India is going to loom very large in the affairs of Asia and of the world."

To those fortunate enough to have the advantages of learning should go the higher places in the new political life of the world, Krishnayya stated. "The great tragedy is that we who are capable sit and wait while a bunch of screwballs take control of the governments in other countries as well as in our own."

Just Looking, Thanks

The Junior class celebrated this week end with its benefit dance for the USO. The jive was furnished by the Medical College Orchestra and dates were furnished by Virginia Polytechnic Institute, the United States Army, Navy and Air Forces, by Hampden-Sydney College and by any other available source. The decorations carried out the patriotic note with red, white and blue streamers and stars and stripes and a "V . . . —" insignia. Cokes and nabs were sold at intermission for the benefit of the USO. The flourish of new dresses donated by Santa Claus on his recent visit, of orchids and gardenias and seuinns, the Rotunda full of dates—all that go together to make the fun that means a dance week end for all of us—typified the week end.

Those attending dances elsewhere were Agnes Patterson, Lillian Goddin, Gertrude Wright, Betty Pat Lewis, Betty Ellis, Ann Covington, and Virginia Terrell who went to the Fancy Dress dance at Washington and Lee, and Jayne Williamson, who travelled to Charlottesville for the dance there.

Ann Geison went home to be maid-of-honor in her sister's wedding. Betty King spent the week end in Williamsburg and the usual migration went home including Eleanor Bisese, Mary Brinson Walker, Helen Smith, Jane Dabney, Anne Lee Blanton and Jean Garland.

Nancy Kerse nas been Mrs. R. W. D. Guthrie since Saturday. She was married in Richmond and present at her ceremony were Ellen Hudgins, Jane Lee Sink, Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, Lenora Bishop, Elizabeth Anne Jones, Dot Marrow, Phyllis Butler, Ella Hutchinson, and Ada Clark Nuckles.

Perhaps it's a bit ahead of time, but there is to be a luncheon in the tearoom tomorrow for the guest speakers of the day and those three girls who are in charge of the three groups of discussions.

Congratulations to the former Marie Eason, now Mrs. Walter Reverly, on the birth of a son. Marie was president of Student Government when she was a senior here a few years back.

Coming up this week end are the midwinter dances and we can expect more than the usual "trek to Tech" since it will be the last dance for the juniors and seniors there. It's also the date for the dances at Richmond.

STAR CLEANERS
CLEANING AND PRESSING

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
Phone 139

New Spring Merchandise Arriving Daily
Visit Us For The Best Values In Town
Davidson's, Inc.
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

All-Out for War . . .

Three-fourths of the sports equipment now being produced is going to the nation's fighting men and a hefty share of the remainder is b.in gallotted to defense workers. The war production board reports for the benefit of all sport enthusiasts that the present tennis balls haven't the old time bounce; the new footballs and basketballs won't wear as well, and the war-time golf balls are little better than the poorest of pre-war grades. Manufacturers are having trouble getting an adequate amount of material needed in the production of sports equipment. Bladders for footballs, basketballs, squash, soccer, and volleyballs are new made of scrap or reclaimed rubber which lacks resiliency. Wood for baseball bats is scarce because lumbermen have a more profitable market with tool handle manufacturers. Some bat companies are using their supplies of wood to make gun stocks for the army.

Shortage of Needed Tools . .

Steel that once went into golf clubs is now being used in vital war industries . . . There isn't any rubber for bathing suits, caps, or water-balls and rope soles are replacing rubber on tennis shoes . . . All skiis and snow-hoes, as well as ski clothes, go to the ski troops . . . Skates, both ice and roller-vareity, havin long been war casualties . . . Tennis will continue in its past glory because there's still plenty of wood for tennis rackets and plenty of guts for string . . . and if you want to go bicycle riding, you can go—if you have the bicycle!

Students Play Ball . . .

Volleyball is the main attraction on Wednesday afternoons at 5 p. m. and Thursday and Friday nights after dinner. At this time practice games gain the attention of a large number of girls who are practicing for class teams and the pure fun of playng. Nets are ready for use at all times and balls available. Each girl must have at least eight practices in order to be elegible for her class team. Last year games were played off between the various halls in school and class teams were organized. Support your team, your leaders, and your colors by doing some bit of recreation during the week.

Prepare for Summer . . .

With the millions of jobs open to students in the summer vacation perod little emphasis is placed on previous preparation which will enable a better prepared worker. In respect to the summer camps, which will call for many instructors in the field of sports training, preparation may be obtained for such positions now. Our college offers courses in swimming which leads to an American Red Cross certificate in Senior Life Saving. Most all camps require such training before selecting one for services. Ability to play the head games and recreational activity is a vital necessity to one in camp life. If you intend to held your country in leadership of sports begin now to be a good leader.

Tournament's First Round Is Ending

Ping Pong's Final Date Is February 1

Monday, February 1, has been set as the final date for the completion of the first round of the ping - pong tournament. Dottie Sue Simmons, manager of the tournament, announced that contestants have not been playing their scheduled games, and that in order to complete the series of games a dead line will be set for ach of the rounds. Any games not played by the deadline will eliminate the players of that set.

Tables for playing are located in the Junior-Senior rec. the rec of Main, and in the recreation center of the locker rooms. Any one of these places may be used and equipment may be secured from Bobbie Scott on Annex, or from the tournament manager.

Last year two tournaments were played, the fall tournament, a victory for Green and White and the spring tournament also giving the green team another five points to add to the color cup score. Only one tournament will be played this year, however, and points will be awarded according to the set-up proposed by the Athletic Association Constitution.

Debaters to Meet S.T.C. January 28

Also To Engage U. of Va., Richmond

Courtesy Hampden-Sydney Tiger

The Hampden-Sydney debate team will engage the State Teachers College in Farmville, Thursday, January 28, for its first match of the year.

Two debates will be held at this meeting; one in which a Hampden-Sydney team will uphold the affirmative side and one in which the Tigers will have the negative.

The question for debate is "Resolved: That the United Nations should establish a permanent union with power to tax and regulate international commerce, to maintain a police force, to settle international disputes and to enforce all settlements, and to provide admission of other nations which accept the principles of the union."

The debate team also has other engagements scheduled with University of Richmond, in Richmond Tuesday, February 2, and with University of Virginia in Charlottesville, Wednesday, February 10.

Hampden-Sydney will be represented by Preston Watt and Cary Suter in the University of Richmond debate, and will uphold the affirmative side. In the contest with University of Virginia, the Hampden-Sydney side will be represented by Cary Suter and Tommy Johns, who will also present the negative side of the question.

According to previous plans the debate team was to have a northern trip beginning with the Richmond debate February 2, and terminating with the engagement at Charlottesville, February 10. Difficulties in transportation made it unlikely that this tour could be carried out as planned, but efforts are still being made to this effect.

Orchesis Heads . . .

Ellen Ebel, Betty Sexton, and Alice Secbert, Orchesis officers talk over plans for the year.

Orchesis Initiates 6 New Members

Two juniors and four sophomores were initiated into Orchesis Dance Club last Thursday, January 21. Mildred Droste and Jeanne Strick, were the juniors and Jane Brown, Lillian Goddin, Madeline Sprinkle, and Betty Jane Hunt, the sophomores.

A period of apprenticeship was served by these girls and they worked with the club on the Christmas program and on May Day last year.

Orchesis is now working on its annual recital which will take place in March, Betty Sexton, president announced.

Ten per cent of your income in War Bonds will help to build the planes and tanks that will insure defeat of Hitler and his Axis partners.

New White Horse Is Club Name-Sake

6 Jumpers Now In Riding Club

Pegasus Riding club now has a name-sake. The white horse is no longer a fiction but really exists. Pegasus will be classed with the jumping horses owned by Miss Stella Fox, riding instructor, and makes six jumpers available for riders.

Located at the stable are two five-gaited horses which are also used for instruction. This quarter more girls have signed for riding instruction than in previous years, indicating that the interest is spreading throughout the student body. Classes are organized so girls may advance in raining as they acquire ability. Plans will begin soon for a Spring horse show which promises to be one of the season's largest attractions.

Attention, new girls! Remember excuses must be in the riding box in Joyce Cheatwood's room, 141 Main, before your appointment. If these excuses are not in you are subject to one week's campus for a class cut.

Any new girls taking riding this quarter are welcomed into Pegasus Club and are invited to the first meeting of the year at 7:30 p. m. February 2 in the Riding Club room.

Sports Schedule Winter

Basketball

Varsity:
Wed., Thurs., Fri. .... 6 P. M.
General:
Tuesday ..... 5 P. M
Thursday, Friday .... 6 P. M.

Volley Ball

Wednesday ..... 5 P. M.
Thursday, Friday 7:45 P. M.

Swimming

Tuesday ..... 5:30 P. M.
Thursday, Friday ..... 9 P. M.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service

to

KLEANWELL CLEANERS

OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

JUST RECEIVED—

Large Stock of PRINTS 25c & 35c YD.

Celanese Seersucker Dresses—Stripes and Checks.—
Red, Blue and Rose
Torso styles

$4.95

THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

Charges made now payable March 10th

Bengals Win 55-23 Over Seminary "5"

Second Stringers Star In Victory

Courtesy Hampden-Sydney Tiger

Hampden-Sydney's Tigers broke into the win side of the column again last Friday night with a one-sided victory over the fighting but out-classed Union Theological Seminary of Richmond. The final count was 55 to 23, and the Bengals were going fast at the finish.

Coach Frank Summers started his second string against the Seminary, and his strategy was immediately apparent as the subs, with George Bales and John Catlett leading the way, ran up a 14-4 margin at the quarter. Then the Hampden-Sydney first team, led by Ace Livick and Leslie Pugh, stellar center and forward respectively, came in to do its share of scoring.

McBath Tops Losers

Center Bob McBath, of Union, kept his tiring team in the game with timely baskets, but his efforts were for naught as the Tigers led at the half, 26-12.

The second half was somewhat of a replica of the first, as a steady stream of Tiger replacements continued to wear down the reserveless Parsons. Bales, Catlett, Livick, and Pugh consistently hit the net for points, and almost all the players had a hand in running up the score on the hapless Theology.

H-S Offense Clicks

The Bengals' figure-eight offense seemed to be functioning much more smoothly than has been observed in recent contests, and this may prophesy an early emergence from the cagers' present slump.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Careful Management
Courteous Service

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Indian Lecturer

Continued from Page 1

porary. In India we are all very miserable."

"I have an uncle who is a maharajah. He could buy out ten Rockfellers in a day. But he is unhappy because he knows all this must go."

Then he brightens up.

"But we are contended and do not shoot ourselves when a fortune is lost."

Dr. Krishnayya, standing easily before an admiring group, told how he persuaded his mother to let him go to school in London. His sense of humor was revealed as he gestured.

"You know how it is with these mothers. They will do anything for you."

Ghandi, the Indian whose name is best known to the world, received this comment: "He is a master politician. Ithink your president is one of the best but Ghandi is the master."

The writer admired Ghandi but is not a follower of his.

The husky voiced lecturer had to terminate this fascinating conversation to catch a train.

"Now that 'petrol', gas you know, is rationed, I must run on schedule — not mine but the train's."

So he was gone, taking his intriguing turban with him.

College Shoppe

Try our delicious

SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S

The Complete Drug Store

CLEAN FOUNTAIN

Stationery, Candy

Prescriptions are our specialty

PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

Building Materials

MAKE—
Your Headquarters This Year

Shannon's

RECORDS

Decca Victor
Columbia Okeh
Bluebird

We purchase worn out and broken solid records

WILSON'S FIRESTONE STORE
311 West Third Street

NEW SHIPMENT OF . . .

EVENING DRESSES

$8.50 - $16.95

Alluring new

SPRING CLOTHES ARRIVING EACH DAY

Come in and see them

DOROTHY MAY

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY COCA-COLA BOTTLING WORKS (Farmville, Virginia)

Library
2 copies

Religious Emphasis Week Will Be Observed at S. T. C. February 9 Through February 12

The Rotunda

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 3, 1943 No. 14

Religious Emphasis Week Principals

DR. JOHN W. RUSTIN

REV. JOHN H. MARION

Y. W. C. A. To Emphasize "Christian Student and World Scene" Next Week

The Y. W. C. A. of the College will sponsor the annual Religious Emphasis Week February 9 to February 12. The general topic for the week is "The Christian Student and the World Scene."

For Editorial Comment See p. 2

Rev. John H. Marion, Jr., pastor of the Grace Covenant Presbyterian Church of Richmond, and Dr. John W. Rustin, pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, Washington, D. C., will be the guest speakers during the week. Rev. Marion will be on the campus Tuesday and Wednesday and will speak in chapel on "The College Student", and "What Are We Facing". Dr. Rustin will be on the campus on Thursday and Friday. His chapel topics will be "Social Reconstruction", and "Post-War World".

Tuesday and Thursday afternoons at 5 o'clock in the Y lounge, the speakers will lead discussions following up their chapel talks. They will also lead Prayers on the above nights.

The college faculty and the Y. W. C. A. cabinet will entertain Mr. Marion at a reception at 8:15 o'clock in the Student lounge on Tuesday night. Thursday night Dr. Rustin will lead a faculty discussion group in the Y lounge. The town ministers will be invited to attend the reception and the faculty discussion.

Continued on Page 4

Schedule for Religious Emphasis Week

Tuesday, February 9
12:00 Noon—Chapel—Rev. John H. Marion, "The Christian Student."
5:00 p. m.—Discusion group in the "Y" Lounge.
7:30 p. m.—Prayers led by Rev. Marion
10:15 p. m.—Bull sessions
Wednesday, February 10
12:00 Noon—Chapel—Rev. Marion, "What Are We Facing"
3:00-4:00 p. m.—Personal conferences with Rev. Marion.
Thursday, February 11
12:00 p. m.—Chapel—Dr. John W. Rustin, "Social Reconstruction"
5:00 p. m.—Discussion group in the "Y" Lounge
7:30 p. m.—Prayers led by Dr. Rustin
10:15 p. m.—Bull sessions
Friday, February 12
12:00 Noon—Chapel—Dr. Rustin, "The Post War World"
3:00-4:30 p. m.—Personal conferences with Dr. Rustin

Rotunda To Sponsor Campus Bond Queen Contest at S. T. C.

In cooperation with the Associated Collegiate Press in an effort to promote the sale of War Bonds and Stamps, the Rotunda sponsors a Campus Bond Queen contest on this campus beginning on February 15 and continuing through March 19. This is part of a national contest and the Campus Bond Queen State Teachers College chosen from her students will compete in a national contest with the winners in similar collegiate drives throughout the nation. The winner of the national contest will be selected by a group of professional photographers and her picture will appear on the cover of an issue of the Collegiate Digest.

As many students may enter the contest on this campus as see fit, but each student must have at least 1,875 initial votes. That is, before anyone may become a candidate, she must have received 1,875 votes. Candidates may nominate themselves but they cannot be nominated by organized groups or factions.

Each cent spent for War Bonds or War Stamps entitles the purchaser to one vote in the contest. The Campus Bond Queen will be the one receiving greatest number

Continued on Page 4

Got a High I. Q.?

Bring It With You To Quiz Try-Out

Tomorrow night, Thursday, the preliminary examination for the quiz team will be given by Dawn Shanklin in Dr. J. E. Walmsley's classroom. All who have signed up should be on time; however, the examination will be given at a later time if enough demands are made.

Anyone who is interested, regardless of class status, is urged to try out for the quiz team.

Future Servicemen Cede Play to Girls

Cornwell Leaves For Army in March

Due to the fact that Richard Cornwell, of Hampden-Sydney, who had the male lead in "The Taming of the Shrew", has been called into Army Air Corps, and other members of the cast from Hampden-Sydney have also received orders to report to the army early next month, the Shakespearean play has been called off Miss Leola Wheeler, director of the Dramatic Club revealed this week.

Members of the Dramatic Club are at present working on a play to be presented as the spring production in place of "The Taming of the Shrew" on Founders Day, March 6. It will be presented by an all girl cast, as had been the custom here until recently when the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs joined in the productions. Plays for the duration are expected to be given with all girl casts, Elsie Stossel, president of the Dramatic Club announced, but the boys from Hampden-Sydney will work again with the Farmville Thespians as soon as war conditions and restrictions make it possible.

The boys from Hampden-Sydney will leave college immediately after examinations next month. Richard Cornwell has appeared in Dramatic Club productions for several years and had the male lead in the fall play, "The Male Animal". Bus Etheridge, who was also to be in "The Taming of the Shrew", is business manager of the Jongleurs and has taken parts in several plays here. Other boys who were in the cast are new to the Farmville stage.

Try-outs are being held for the all girl play, the title of which has not yet been announced.

Old Groundhog May Be Product of Elastic Imagination But Winter Weather Sez Different

By BETTY COCK

Should one dare to turn on the radio any time before breakfast (or for an hour or so thereafter), ten-to-one a song would come bursting forth with words referring to getting up and meeting the sun half-way. Cheerful thought . . . who doesn't want to see the sun first thing in the morning? But yesterday . . . ah, ha! That beaming balloon of brightness wasn't quite so welcome.

Have you ever seen a Ground-Hog? Neither have a lot of other people, but we've all heard plenty about 'em. Or rather, about one in particular. In the elasticity of one's imagination, a groundhog can be most anything from a piggy to a porky-pine, but nearly everyone agrees that he's a most peculiar little animal. Contrary? Goodness! He's scared of his own shadow!

Snow and sleet are lovely weather . . . for Alaska or the Arctics, and they're even a nice change for Central Virginia, but there's such a thing as too much of one subject. Which fact brings in the Ground-Hog, the sun, and yesterday. This is a democracy: do we hafta put up with six more weeks of drifts and puddles and icy sidewalks just because some arrogant little quadruped who has been hibernatin' all winter, has the nerve to poke his head out his front door and get chased back in by his shadow? If he had any sense, he'd realize the sun means warmer weather anyhow, but oh, no! This pugnacious little prophet turns his back on the warm spring breezes, and saucily predicts another month-and-a-half of blows and blizzards. Fooie. He can afford to sport a fur coat . . . not everybody cares to.

This impish rodent is decidedly a pessimist. He's perfectly willing to scamper about all spring and all summer, and eat and play and frolic at leisure, but the minute the first cold snap comes . . . zowie! He crawls into a hole, pulls the hole in after him, and is through with the world 'til February second. And then . . . cautiously, fearfully, he ascends to the surface . . . ventures forth his nose, his eyes . . . brrrr! If it's a cold, cloudy day, the little sap comes on out and perversly pronounces Spring on her way, but with a beautiful day like yesterday, he peers out, blinks, then pops back in again, purposely unconvinced, and there we are, still stuck with Ol' Man Winter, and slave to a Wood-Chuck!

That brazen wee beastie sure has an over-dose of audacity,

Continued on Page 4

Freddie Lee To Supply Swing At Mardi Gras Ball Saturday

Mardi Gras Court . . .

Mardi Gras Queen Jac Hardy is seen in the top photo with Shirley Turner, Frances MaLory, and Mary Evelyn Pearsall (left to right). Seen in the lower photo (left to right in front) are Virginia Mac Ellett, Kitty Shelburne and (in back) Sara Hardy and Dot Childress. Frances Lee was not present when photo was made.

Jac Hardy, Court To Furnish Beauty For Celebration

Freddie Lee's orchestra from Lynchburg will furnish the music for the Annual Mardi Gras dance on Saturday night. Jac Hardy, senior from McKenny, will reign as queen at the costumed ball which will begin at 8:30 o'clock in the College Gym.

In the receiving line will be Miss Mary E. Peck and Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, sponsors of Pi Gamma Mu; the officers of the social science fraternity, Helen Wiley Hardy, president; Jane Sanford, vice-president; Virginia Sedgley, secretary-treasurer; and Brookie Benton, general chairman of Mardi Gras.

Escorts Dress Formally

Girls will wear costumes as usual, but their escorts will dress formally. Both must wear masks. The committee for costume approval is composed of Miss Ruth Gleaves, Dr. Francis B. Simkins, Helen DeLong and Iris Ferguson Costume rules state that no dress shall be above the knees, dresses need not to be elaborate, and that all dresses must meet the approval of the committee.

Prizes, which are now on display in the windows of Martin, the Jeweler, will be awarded for the prettiest and second prettiest costumes and for the most original and second most original ones.

Floor Show Festival

The floor show will follow the climax of Mardi Gras, the crowning of the queen. A floor committee consists of Ann Randolph, Sarah Massie Good, Betty Reid and Sara Wayne France.

Tickets and masques are being sold this week by the members of Pi Gamma Mu. Spectator tickets will be sold at the door.

Benton Is Chairman

Brookie Benton, general chairman, is being assisted by committees composed of Pi Gamma Mu members. The committee members are Virginia Sedgley, business manager; Warwick Mitchell, tickets and advertising; Anne Eliett, orchestra arrangement; Estelle Smith, costumes; Jane Sanford, prizes; and Charlotte Phillips, decorations.

Chaperones are Mrs. McCoy, Mrs. Warren, Mrs. Lang, Miss Moran, and Mr. and Mrs. Holton.

Forensic Teams Meet Virginia, H.-S. In Non-Decision Bouts

An affirmative debate team from the University of Virginia met a negative debate team consisting of Virginia Sedgley and Alice Nichols, members of the local Debate Club, last night in the small auditorium. They debated the question, "Resolved: That the United Nations Should Establish and Maintain a Permanent Federal Union with Power to Tax and to Regulate Commerce and to Establish a Police Force to Set-

Continued on Page 3

Club '45 To Open On February 16

Betty Kiger Is Production Head

Club '45, the sophomore production, will open on February 16 at 8:30 o'clock in the Rec. Betty Kiger, general chairman of the production announced last night. The present senior class willed to the sophomores their night club, Club '43, and the idea is to be presented this year in an English pub house.

Definite plans are now being worked out for the program, including a floor show, and they will be announced later. Chairmen for the production are Lois Baughman and Betsy Birchfield, refreshments and menus; Peggy Becker, decorations; Harriette Moore, properties; and Josephine Shaffner, music. Betty Kiger who is general chairman, was also director for the sophomore circus stunt and served on the theme committee of the Water Carnival last year.

Last year the present sophomores presented as their production a two act skit, "Meet Me At Shannons".

Annual Play Contest Ended For Duration

Due to the transportation problem the annual play contest will not be held this year. Twenty-two schools had been previously consulted to attend, but they found it impossible to find means of transportation.

The contest will be discontinued for the duration it was announced

Governor, Educator Emphasize War Duty Of College Women

Emphasizing that Virginia needs trained teachers now as never before and requesting the students seriously to consider teaching as a profession and to remain in the field of teaching if they prepare for the work, Governor Colgate W. Darden, Jr., last Wednesday afternoon addressed the students here in observance of "War Emphasis Day." In the morning the student body was addressed by Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, State superintendent of public instruction; Major E. V. Graves, State director of physical and health education; and Miss Louise Bernard, State director of distributive education.

"When the history of the present war is written, it will be stated that Germany lost the war on the morning of June 22, 1941, when Hitler gave the orders to his army to march into Russia" said Governor Darden in his resume of the background of war since 1916. The role of education in the defense of the home front was described by the Governor. The

Continued on Page 4

Just Looking, Thanks

Statistically speaking, one hundred and sixty-tight S. T. C'ers departed this week-end for hither and yon—well, anyway, mostly to Tech to those Midwinter dances we contributed 46 participants who, according to reports, all had what they call "lovely times." Whether German or Cotillion, Will Osbourne or Frankie Masters it was the same story from Betty Agnew, Dot Childress, Evelyn Christian, Grace Hutcheson, Emily Carper, Imogene Clayton, Alice Courter, Shirley Easterly, Dorothy Gelston, Rebecca Graham, Lilly Bee Gray, Sue Harper, Nancy Harrell, June Herndon, Rosa Hill, Mary Ellen Hoge, Anne Jacob, Sarah Johnson, Betty Jones, Margaret Lawrence, Betty Pat Lewis, Jeanne MacCreits, Jacquelin McCoy, Lucie Ellen McKenry, Lucy Manson, Clair Moses, Marie Nichols, Faye Nimmo, Margaret Harvie, and Carlotta Norfleet.

Also Margaret Page, Kitty Parish, Martha Patterson, Anne Pettis, Charles Anna Price, Peggy Ross, Jean Shadle, Lois Sheppard, Peggy Suiter, Barbara Surface, Sarah Taliaferro, Mary Watkins, Anne Watts, Clare Parker Westbrook, Bette Wood, Sara Woodward, Betty Wright, and Betty Youngberg complete the list.

University of Richmond celebrated the Midwinter dances in a true midwinter setting with decorations by Jack Frost. They say that lanterns furnished the light for the dances which must certainly have added an unusual note. Kendall Nottingham, Stella Scott and Lucille Lewis defied old man winter and journeyed down for the occasion.

William and Mary Mid-winter graduation claimed Faith Weeks, Rosa Lee Bell, Hannah Lee Crawford and Carol Diggs, who spent a nice long British week-end there.

And last, but never least, among the ones who went home to keep the home fires burning were Nancye Allen, Pauline Barnes, Marilyn Bell, Libby Bernard, Eleanor Bisese, Lucy Bowling, Anne Carmines, Mary Sue Clark, Frances Cleaton, Geneva Coleman, Jane Danby, Martha Davis, Alice Duncan, Natalie Duncan, Christine Eddins, Mary Foster, Sara Wayne France, Cleo Frick, Martha Holman, Ann Jones, Nancy Myers, Jane Paulette, Etta Pool, Shirley Richardson, Anne Shelor, Ester Sevick, Jerry Titmus, Margie Hewlett, and Eleanor Wade.

"Y" Notes

Continued from Page 2

copal Young People's Group is just beginning a study of "A Just and Durable Peace". They will consider all sides of the question with special emphasis on the part the church must play in rebuilding the world. Everyone is invited to attend the discussions in the Rectory every Sunday night at 7:30.

Tiger Quint Wins

Continued from Page 3

Shumaker, c	2	1	5
Moses, g	3	2	8
Legg, g	0	1	1
Vial, g	0	0	0
Crawford, g	0	0	0
Alexander, g	0	0	0
Totals	13	8	34

Score at half: Hampden-Sydney 24; Medical College 15.

Free throws missed: Hampden-Sydney, Pugh 3, Livick 1.

Medical College: Jones 5, Shumaker 1, M. Robinson 1.

Officials: Barnum and Smith.

Chappell's
Fountain Service
Visit us for the best
PHONE 93

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

For Exercise . .
BOWL at . . .
NEWMAN'S
BOWLING ALLEY
Downstairs in Shannon's
OLLIE G. PILLOW
Manager

War Emphasis Day

Continued from Page 1

speaker pointed out that many mistakes had been made both by us and our allies but that we are going to win the war, and that we shall need to understand the background of the war in order to defend ourselves against future wars. The ideals of Woodrow Wilson were strongly urged by the speaker.

Governor Darden was applauded at length when he described the situation of Britain after the fall of France and the magnificent utterance of Prime Minister Churchill at that time. The speaker closed his address by urging the students to think seriously of teaching as a profession and to remember that Farmville has a long history in the training of teachers for the Commonwealth of Virginia.

Dr. Lancaster in his address emphasized the idea that education as usual, just as business as usual, is at present a thing of the past. "Some people," he stated, "seem to think that winning the war is the entire matter, but", the speaker poined out, "unless we maintain a high standard of education the war cannot be won." Time and again he stated: "We must not neglect education." He outlined the type of education the schools must now provide and showed how the schools should meet the demands of the times.

Major Graves outlined the physical fitness program demanded of the schools of the United States and stated the facts of physical fitness as they apply to the schools of Virginia.

Miss Bernard spoke on consumer education, showing how such education is now imperative and showing some of the difficulties presented by the many regulations now in force. She commented on the lack of panic shown by the consumers of the United States while the rationing program is being developed. She impressed upon the students, particularly those in home economics education, the important role they will play in the matter of consumer education both now and after the war.

After each division of the day's program the student body divided into smaller groups and discussed phases of the problems presented. The day's program was brought to a close in the evening when reports were made by the many discussion groups.

At the programs in the auditorium, during the day Agnes Patterson, of Kenbridge, president of the student body of Farmville State Teachers College, presided. Dr. Lancaster was introduced by Dr. James E. Walmsley, head of the department of history and social science and also faculty adviser to the college war council. Major Graves was introduced by Hallie Hillsman, Farmville, president of the athletic association of the college and chairman of the physical fitness division of the college war council. Miss Bernard was introduced by Charlotte Greeley, Roanoke, chairman of the consumer education division of the college war council. The afternoon session was presided over by Eleanor C. Folk, of Salem, chairman of the morale division of the war council. Governor Darden was introduced by Dr. Walmsley.

Men are dying for the Four Freedoms. The least we can do here at home is to buy War Bonds—10% for War Bonds, every pay day.

PATRONIZE
PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S
DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Mardi Gras Costume Problem Solved As Reporter Dissects Odd Fashions

"I'd just love to go—only what can I dig up for a costume, mumbled plaintively by the freshman when girls mention the enticing subject of Mardi Gras. "We've got a date, we've got the necessary financial means, but where do we get the costume?"

In the old and glorious days one just wrote to mother. "Whip me up a little something." "I shall be a princess or a fairy queen or perhaps a gypsy with golden earrings (from the 5c & 10c)."

There is always the school of thought that a costume, no matter how grotesque, should disguise. These misled folks come forth in weird regalia. We heard that once, not at Farmville, oh my goodness no, but once there was a brave girl who decided to be Joan of Arc in full armour. The story goes that for once the tables were turned and the gentlemen present knew whose feet had been stepped on.

The subject we were discussing though is that of costumes, costumes for the only costume ball put on at S. T. C.

The chairman of the annual festival has said that elaborate and fancy costumes are not necessary, which will be welcome news, no doubt. The first essential is a mask, which may be obtained when you buy your ticket.

The second is a skirt strictly off the record and confidentially a long full skirt is the most flattering and intriguing unless you are one of these rare creatures with a perfect figure.

Hula skirts have been mentioned and some folks hint that being of a Sultan's harem might not be so bad. Of course, this would show that you don't mind sharing. Gals with men please take note. Even in wartime there is no future in sharing your man.

You might go as grandmother or great grandmother. For this purpose take grandmother's best date dress (carefully preserved we hope) add a few yards of material for a bustle and set out in style. Or if you care to go back further put a few barrel staves in bottom of your skirt and zoop off with a hoop.

Have a gay and glorious time, amigas.

Charlotte Greely, Eleanor Folk, Hallie Hillsman and Agnes Patterson presneted a study in contrasting moods as they reviewed reports of group discussions which were held during War Day.

May Day Plans Changed!

The student body voted in chapel this morning to cancel original plans for May Day. Instead a simplified May Day celebration will be held on the campus.

"It Takes Both"

It takes an Isbell and a Hutson . . . a Sammy Baugh and a Dick Todd to form a forward pass combination. It takes both . . . War Bonds and Taxes to provide the necessary finances to win this war—a war for freedom and humanity. Are you doing your part?

U. S. Treasury Department

FOR BETTER VALUES
Shop at
Roses Store
"Farmville's Most Popular Store"

MARTINS—
See us for finest quality stationery
Martin the Jeweler

MAKE—
Your Headquarters
This Year
Shannon's

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

Groundhog

Continued from Page 1

anyhow. If he doesn't look out, the F.B.I. will get him sure. See what he gets for staying uninformed all winter? Why doesn't somebody tell him the Weather is a Military Secret?

Rotunda Sponsors

Continued from Page 1

of votes, and in case of a tie the staff of the Rotunda will select the candidate for the national contest.

Local candidates will be chosen on the basis of beauty alone, and those nominated may belong to any class in college.

Only bonds and stamps purchased on or after February 15 and up to and including March 19 may be voted in the contest. Votes must be cast at the time of purchase and the college stamp booth will be the only authorized agency at which students may vote.

Wilson's Firestone Store

Here's What You've Always Wanted—Guide Books to the Lives and Recorded Music of the Great Composers: Tchaikowsky, Mozart, Bach, Wagner, Beethoven, Brahms
ONLY EACH 25c

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
5-10-25c STORES
Our new spring merchandise is arriving
Spring Skirts
Spring Anklets
Spring Blouses

History repeated itself during the past week when Old Man Winter reproduced a reasonable facsimile of the above picture taken in front of the Farmville Methodist Church in 1921. Modern improvements have removed some of the scenery.

Religious Emphasis

Continued from Page 1

In connection with Religious Emphasis week, special "bull sessions" will be held on Tuesday and Thursday nights at 10:15 o'clock. They are to be informal "get togethers" at which time students will bring problems which they should like to have discussed. The leaders for the bull sessions include the guest speakers, the town ministers, Rev. O. Worth May, Johns Memorial Episcopal Church; Rev. Phillip Roberts, Farmville Presbyterian Church; Rev. H. Lee Scott, Farmville First Baptist Church; and Rev. Conrad Blackwell, Farmville Methodist Church, and Miss Sarah Poole, Baptist Student Secretary. Seniors will hold their group discussions in the senior "Rec"; juniors will meet in the junior building parlor; sophomores will meet in the Y lounge and freshmen in the student lounge on Tuesday and Thursday nights.

A special committee of the Y. W. C. A. cabinet composed of Eleanor Folk, Frances Lee Hawthorne, and Louise Bell is in charge of the program.

Printed folders will serve as a guide for Religious Emphasis week.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

LOAFERS
BROWN ANTIQUED

$3.95
SIZES 4 1-2 TO 9
WIDTHS AA TO C
BALDWIN'S

Student Body Will Elect May Court Tonight

The Rotunda

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, FEBRUARY 10, 1943 No. 15

War Council Sponsors Choir Concert Saturday

Pickett Soldiers To Assist Group In Morale Program

Sponsored by the College War Council, the music organizations of the college will present a concert Saturday night, February 13, at 8:30 o'clock in the auditorium. Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, sponsor of the War Council and Mr. Alfred Strick, head of the music department announced this morning. The music organizations will be assisted by soloists from Camp Pickett if transportation can be secured.

This is the second of the series of War and Education Programs to be sponsored by the College War Council for building morale and developing the right spirit concerning the war. The first of the programs was an illustrated lecture, "The England We Have Known", by Mr. Phillip Noble on January 14.

Other programs scheduled for the year include another concert by the Camp Pickett Glee Club and the Farmville Choir on February 20, a lecture on "The History of the National Anthems of the Allies" by Dr. James Elliott Walmsley on March 13. The date for the program, "Building Morale Through Music", to be led by Chaplain Harlow Campbell of Camp Pickett has not yet been definitely set.

In connection with the students and the war the College War Council sponsored War Emphasis Day on January 27, at which time all classes were excused for discussion groups and guest speakers on the campus included Governor Colgate W. Darden, State Superintendent of Public Instruction Dabney Lancaster, Miss Louise Bernard of the Distributive Education Department, and Major E. V. Graves of the Physical Education Department.

Results of Rushing Indicate 97 Pledges Of Eight Sororities

At the end of the Winter season of rushing last week, the following girls pledged eight sororities. They are:

Sigma Sigma Sigma: Jane Bentley, Freddie Ann Butt, Emily Carper, Jane Crump, Natalie Carroll, Frances Craddock, Minnie Rose Hawthorne, Lillian Goddin, Beatrice Jones, Frances Lee, Patsy McCullock, Kitty Maddox, Jane McFall, Carlotta Norfleet, Dorothy Overcash, Glenn Ann Patterson, Jane Philhower, Jeanne White, Charles Anna Price: Peggy Ross, Frances Satterfield, Helen Stites, Claire Parker Westbrook, Agnes Stokes, Ann Hardy Williams.

Alpha Sigma Alpha: Gloria Allen, Ruth Brooks, Nancye Belle Bruce, Lillian Elliott, Betsy Owen, Ann Shelor, Kitty Shelbourne, Jean Riddick, Billy Moore Waid, Ruth Williams, Sara Woodward; Alpha Sigma Tau: Anna Lee Elanton, Carolyn Bobbitt, Jane Danby, Mildred Droste, Mary Virginia Evans, Cleo Frick, Ruth Garrison, Lucille Jones Leah Jordan, Martha Jean Woodward.

Also Gamma Theta: Betty Brothers, Mary Crank, Minnie Lee Crumper, Louisa Dawson, Rosemary Elam, Lucy Harvie, Margaret Harvie, Margie Hewlett, Ann Jones tin, Martha Lee White;

Mu Omega: Betty Adams, Eleanor Bisese, Aloise Boswell, Shirley for a team after getting in the Cruser, Rosa Hill, Nancy Ingle, Catherine Prebble, Jacqueline Showalter Janet Sollenberger Betty Jean Nixon, Rosalie Jones, Jacqueline Pardon, Isabel Willson,

Continued from Page 3

Cotillion Issues 77 Bids Tonight

New Members Are Frosh, Transfers

Seventy seven freshmen and new girls were extended bids to the Cotillion Club this evening.

They are Mary Crank, Jane Crump, Minnie Lee Crumpler, Nancy Courter, Alice Courter, Shirley Cruser, Frances Craddock, Freddie Ann Butt, Jane Bentley, Jane Bargamin, Eleanor Bisese, Betty Brothers, Gloria Allen, Betty Ellis, Jo Eades, Louisa Dawson, Ann Darnell, Minnie Rose Hawthorne, Spottswood Hunnicutt, Margaret Harvie, Lucy Harvie, Ann Geison, Ruth Garrison, Frances Ferguson, Betty King,

Also Beatrice Jones, Elizabeth A. Jordan, Rosalie Jones, Sally Johnson, Betty Jones, Ann Jones, Julie Hunt, Elise Hume, Libby Heath, Bobby Livesay, Betty Little, Betty Pat Lewis, Frances Lee, Helen McGuire, Patsy McCullock, Kitty Maddox, Clara Whitney Moses, Jane Philhower, Margaret Orange, Dorothy Overcash, Carlotta Norfleet, Jane McFall, Jeanne MacChreits, Ann Martin,

Also Nancy Pitts, Glenn A. Patterson, Jeanne Richardson, Peggy Ross, Shirley Richardson, Frances Shackleford, Virginia Shackleford, Kitty Shelbourne, Helen Lee Smith, Agnes Stokes, Frances Satterfield, Helen Stites, Betty Lee Scott, Nancy Lee Weeks, Phyliss Watts, Isabel Willson, Jean White, Lucille Winston, Sara Woodward, Ruth Williams, Billy Moore Waid, Claire Westbrook, Shirley Easterly, Jean Riddick, Giggy Smith, and Marjorie Vaughan.

15 Wizardettes Vie For Coveted Spot On Local Quiz Team

Oral eliminations are being given this week for the quiz team, sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma. The preliminary written test was given last week to approximately 30 girls and 15 have been selected from this group to take the oral tests.

Those who took the written test are Dawn Shanklin, Elizabeth McCoy, Nell R. Lee Scott, Fay Johnson, Jane Waring Ruffin, Violet Woodall, Mary Elizabeth Harvey, Lucy Davis, Susie Moore, Anne Ware Smith, Rosalie Rogers, Helen DeLong, Imogene Claytor and Blanche Steele.

Also Nancy Louise Ransome, Mildred Altice, Phyllis Watts, Warwick A. Mitchell, Ella Marsh Pilkington, Kyle, Aimsworth, Nell Shanklin, Nancy Hall, Elva Andrews, Martha Hammock, Martha Anderson, Elizabeth Butzner, Sarah Johnson, Carol Pugh, Alice Belote and Margaret Finney.

Plans are now under way for a contest between the S.T.C. team and a team from Hampden-Sydney. The contestants from Hampden-Sydney were eliminated with the same test the S.T.C. girls took, which was compiled by Jane Cabell Sanford, president of Alpha Kappa Gamma, from questions contributed by members of the faculty, and others.

A similar contest between S.T.C. and Hampden-Sydney was broadcast over a Richmond station last year at which time the Tigers avenged their loss of the previous year. Veterans from the S.T.C. quiz team of last year are Violet Woodall and Dawn Shanklin.

Sherwood Eddy, Noted Speaker, Here Next Week

Dr. Sherwood Eddy, well known author, lecturer, and world traveler, will come to State Teachers College next Tuesday and Wednesday, February 16 and 17.

Dr. Eddy is touring the South at present. He is lecturing and speaking chiefly in the army camps and colleges.

For many years before the outbreak of the present war, Dr. Eddy visited the principal countries of Europe studying existing conditions. He has met and been associated with the leading persons of Europe and Asia today. Among them are various prime ministers of Great Britain, premiers of France, the viceroys of India and such men as Mahatma Gandhi and Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek. He saw and heard Hitler on June 30, 1940, make his addresses to the Reichstag after his "blood bath". In Berlin in 1933 he challenged the Nazis for their treatment of the Jews, liberals and radicals. Dr. Eddy has first hand knowledge of many of the battlefields and leaders of the two World Wars.

Sherwood Eddy is also the author of more than 20 volumes on international, economic, social and religious questions.

STC Bandage Brigade Reaches 1000 Mark In Four Nights Work

Approximately 1000 Red Cross bandages have been rolled by the students of the College during the four nights they have worked according to Nancy Allen, head of the Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A., which sponsors this work.

The girls work in two shifts on Wednesday nights. One group works from eight to nine, and another from nine to ten. Recently the workers have been given a large place to work, therefore there is room enough to accommodate more girls. The only requirements are that workers must wear washable dresses and bring scissors. Each week the girls check the list on the Y. W. C. A. Bulletin Board of the girls selected to roll bandages for that week.

It is difficult for the town of Farmville to meet its quota of bandages and it is only through the cooperation of the girls here at school that this can be done. It is up to us.

The superintendents of the work have been pleased and have complimented highly the work of the girls so far. All of the meetings have been very successful, and the girls who roll have been very cooperative and have enjoyed the work. The leaders feel that we can do a good job and a big job here if we will.

Club '45 To Open February 16

English Pub House Offers Setting

Club '45, the sophomore production set this year in an English Pub House, will open in the Rec at 8:30 on February 16.

Featured in the floor show will be Pat Maddox singing several numbers and Jane Brown and Lillian Goddin leading a group of costumed can-can girls. Also included in the floor show will be a chancy reading and a skit as well as typical English songs by the Sophomore Chorus. Another feature of the floor show has not yet been revealed and will be kept a surprise, Betty Kiger, general manager, announced this week.

The class of '43, the present senior class, "willed" their night club to the sophomores and the scene this year will be in a present day Pub House in England. The menus, which will have a definite English accent, will offer to the public various refreshments to be served at tables by the English waitresses. The entire program will be presented on the ration basis of present-day England.

Gwen Sampson will ast as master of ceremonies for the production. Chairmen for the program are Betty Kiger, general chairman; Lois Baughman and Betsy

Continued on Page 3

Beorc Eh Thorn, English Society, Initiates 12 Girls

At a meeting of Beorc Eh Thorn, honor society in English, Feb. 4, twelve new members were initiated. They are Betty Mae Buchanan, of Lynchburg; Elizabeth Anne Jordan, of Waynsboro; Helen Shaw, of Hampton; Bernice Copenhaver, of Marion; Mary Elizabeth Harvey, of Roseland; Frances Quillen, of Bristol; Lucille Lewis, of Culpeper; Frances Lee Hawthorne, of South Boston; Alyce Fulton, of Danville; Martina Willis, of Farmville; Laura O. Chapin, of Blackstone; and Gladys Wilson, of Bremo Bluff.

A program composed of reports of the lives, writings, and predictions of some of the leading present day newspaper columnists concluded the meeting.

Physical Activity Required at S. T.C.

As a result of War Emphasis Day discussions on physical fitness, compulsory classes in physical activities have been added to the State Teachers College curricula. Three hours of physical activity are now required for each student, and classes in various sports were begun Monday.

For story, see page 4

Marion Replaced By Osman, Roberts

Rustin Continues Y Week's Program

Rev. John Osman, of the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, spoke in chapel this morning on "What We as Christian Students Are Facing". He is the second speaker on the Religious Emphasis Week program, which will end on Friday. The general theme for the week is "The Christian Student and the War". This afternoon Mr. Osman led a discussion group on the problems arising from his talk.

Due to sudden illness, Rev. John H. Marion, of Grace Covenant Church, was unable to be on this campus yesterday and today to begin the Religious Emphasis Week program. Taking his place was Rev. Phil Roberts of the Farmville Presbyterian Church, who spoke in chapel yesterday. His topic was "The Christian Student".

Tomorrow, Thursday, Dr. J. W. Rustin of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church will speak in Chapel on "Social Reconstruction". In the afternoon he will lead a discussion group and he will also lead prayers tomorrow night. The local ministers, Rev. O. Worth May, of Johns Memorial Church; Rev. H. Conrad Blackwell of the Methodist church; Rev. H. Lee Scott of the Baptist Church, and Rev. Phil Roberts will lead the bull session for the classes.

Following a talk in Chapel on Friday by Dr. Rustin on the "Post War World", the program will be concluded with personal conferences with Dr. Rustin and an evaluation of the week's happenings.

46 Girls Nominated, 19 Will Be Selected To Be In May Court

Tonight, immediately following the student body meeting in the large auditorium, 19 students will be elected as members of the 1943 May Day Court. One student will be elected queen and 18 will be elected to make up her court.

Forty-six girls were named in the nominations held last week. Those nominated for queen are all seniors: Dot Childress, Helen Wiley Hardy, Frances Parham, and Agnes Patterson. Those nominated for the May Court are: seniors, Nancye Allen, Betty Boutchard, Carol Costello, Anne Eilett, Ann Garnett, Sarah Massie Goode, Jacqueline Hardy, Frances Mallory, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Ann Price, Amy Read, Betty Reid, Shirley Turner, Barbara White, and Winfred Wright. Jean Arington, Betty Bridgforth, Mildred Corvin, Frances Craddock, Hannah Lee Crawford, Julia Eason, Virginia Mae Ellett, Jennette Garrison, Sara Hardy, Jane McFall, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, and Sarah Trigg are the juniors nominated, and Peggy Becker, Betty Burns, Betsy Caldwell, Fannie Will Hall, Marie Hedgcock, Martha Higgins, Myrtle Lee Holt, Rebecca Lacy, Lucy Manson, Mary Watkins and Virginia Evans are the sophomore representatives. The freshman candidates are: Jane Bentley, Jane Crump, Frances Lee, and Betty Pat Lewis.

Dressed formally these girls will walk across the stage tonight as the student body votes by secret ballot. The one student receiving the greatest number of votes in the group making up the nominees for queen will automatically become May Queen, and the 18 students receiving the largest number of votes among those who are contesting for May Court will make up the queen's court.

The results will be published in next week's Rotunda.

Pi Gamma Mu Bids 8 Upperclassmen

Virginia Sedgley, secretary-treasurer of Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, has recently announced the election of eight new members to the society. They are Bernice Copenhaver, Marion; Frances Craddock, Blackstone; Marie Davis, Smithfield; Helen DeLong, Buchanon; Sara Wayne France, Charlottesville; Frances Quillen, Bristol; Elsie Stossel, Front Royal; and Sarah Trigg, Hopewell.

These students were selected on the basis of outstanding scholarship and interest in the social sciences. Each student must develop a piece of original work in one of the social sciences.

Hey, Girls, That Man's Here Again Lugging Same Old Bow 'n' Arrow, But New Valentine

Hearts To Travel All Over Globe

Hang on to your hats, girls, here he comes again! Who? That fiend of the bow and arrow, that immodest little urchin, that devilish young matchmaker—CUPID! Yup, Valentine's Day is right around the corner again, and many a maiden's heart will be full swept away before she can gasp, "I will" to the perpetual plea of "Be my Valentine".

Young Dan is going to have a hard job this year, though, with so many of his twosomes so widely separated. 'Twill be difficult to shoot an arrow from S.T.C. Farmville, and have it make connections in Australia, Africa, or Alaska. The lace frilled hearts of last year will be Khaki or blue this month and probably more appreciated than ever when they arrive by mail.

But then there will prob'ly be plenty of the sugar-coated stanzas headed for H.-S. C. too. And the dazed individuals receiving them will moon around for hours composing a fitting reply. Boys are that way, you know. The fun will come when Joe College accompanies his date to our private P. O. only to watch her extract several other of the ruffly treasures from her numerous other admirers.

And speaking of the P. O., the packages have already begun piling in. Heart-shaped satin boxes, no doubt . . . Watch those calories, gals!

There will be mix-ups, too . . . consternation will reign when Sally sends Dave a Valentine meant for Tom, and vice versa when Susie receives one addressed to somebody's "Darling Jane". To say nothing of the green-eyed time ahead when Peg and Patty can compare their favorites from Phil and find them identical.

Oh, yes, the other version. How many S.T.C. faculty members will sit at their desks and remain placid on Saturday morning remains to be seen. The old faithfuls, the comic Valentines, have turned up again, and teacher always gets the rough end of those. How would you like to sit down before your class only to find a gaudy scarecrow lying before you with an impudent look on its characteristic face? Distracting, to say the least, but teacher needn't worry. If his (or her) students didn't like him (or her) they wouldn't bother to waste the time selecting which scarecrow to represent who.

Yes, they're here again. They'll come in the mail, they'll drift under doors. They'll appear beneath plates and float out of textbooks. They'll be comic and mushy and funny and gay, and be laughed at or sighed over according to who the sender may be. It'll be give and take for the rest of the week, and youthful as it may seem, we'll all do it. Home made or printed, elaborate or plain, they'll brighten our days and fill up our mailboxes and no matter what you say 'bout your dignity or self reserve.

"Roses are red,
Violets are blue.
We like Valentines,
And so do you!"

Cupid Must Be Good Shot in '43

Judge for Beauty; Not for Brains

Tonight we are to vote on the girls who will comprise the May Court this year. Deciding whom to vote for is usually difficult. Remember when you are voting that grace and beauty are the prime requisites, not being a good sport, nor getting good grades, nor being a good friend of yours.

Outsiders will see the court which is supposed to be made up of the best looking girls here and judge the college by it. Don't let prejudice, or not knowing a person very well keep you from voting for her.

We all have individual conceptions of what makes up beauty which of course vary with the individual's taste. But we all go by the same general rules of hair, skin, eyes, and above all the way a person walks. Remember strangers would notice that first in what is supposed to be a very dignified and courtly group.

Let's put aside our personal likes and dislikes and choose the girls who are the most beautiful here. Friendship, we know is a nice thing but in this, let's put our school ahead of that.

This year it is of extreme importance that the court be lovelier than ever since the program is to be simplified because of the shortages of gas and costume material. In past years the courts have been beautiful and the May Day celebration here a thing of which Farmville girls can rightfully be proud. But in other years there have been many gaily dressed groups to supplement the grace and beauty of the court. This year, with our country in the midst of a great war, it has become necessary to plan a program less elaborate than before and consequently the court must be selected entirely on a basis of beauty if we are to have a successful and beautiful May Day.

The Mardi Gras court, you will recall, was chosen on the basis of personality as well as beauty, but when voting for the girls tonight to compose your May Day Court, consider only the outward points that go to make up a beautiful girl—posture, poise, grace, and general good looks.

To Fit Us

Monday marked the beginning of compulsory physical education on the campus. For months we have heard rumors of such a measure. Madison College started one before Christmas. But the order for ours came from the Student Body and not from the administration. Every one of us had our chance to discuss the pro and con of the situation on War Emphasis Day and the majority decided that such a program is needed here. Immediately committees went to work to plan a program that would be convenient for all of us. And now it is our duty to cooperate in making this program a success. Whether it succeeds or fails depends on every individual here, not just on a few who have made physical education their major.

College girls have been criticized because they seem too much inclined to sit back and enjoy life and let the world, war and all go on its way. We have talked over that attitude and decided we can change it by changing our lives to fit the changing time. Keeping physically fit is a very important part of our duty.

So, let's remember when we climb in bed for the afternoon nap which means skipping the volleyball or basketball or folk dance class; that by doing so, we are defeating our own plan. No project can be a success without cooperation so let's give this one our whole hearted support!

Is It Ethical?

Last week an article appeared in this paper listing the periodicals received in our library. It was stated that the magazines and newspapers are shelved in such places as to be accessible to the students whenever the library is open. However, there was no mention made to the effect that the students are privileged to take the magazines from the library. Yet it seems that we have betrayed this trust given to us. The twelve magazines placed in the Browsing Room are seldom found there, and those girls who wish to browse through a magazine there are denied the privilege because some one has the issue in her dormitory room. Those magazines are designated for the Browsing Room and are not intended to be taken out. Let us hope that it has been through misunderstanding of the regulations that they have been removed and that henceforth the magazines may be found in the Periodical and Browsing Rooms where they belong.

For More Thorough Learning

The educational program for Virginia's older scholars has been re-appraised and re-designed, in part, to meet the world's changing needs, so it is not surprising to find that a revised course of study for elementary pupils will be distributed shortly to Virginia school authorities.

Revisions in the elementary grades are not being made for precisely the same reasons that brought about changes in high school curricula—which are affected by wartime considerations—but rather are the result of the State's progressive habit of seeking to improve, at regular infervals, its elementary instruction.

Virginia is attempting to progress as far as possible from the extreme old-fashioned "Hitler-type" education, in which largely predigested material is crammed into students with the accompaniment, to dullards, of physical force. To the carrying out of the idea that instruction approaches the real meaning of education which it draws out, and stimulates, the student, the revised course of study is devoted.

In some manner, when the elementary program was revised in 1936, many teachers received the erroneous impression that the changes embodied recommendations for a lowering of the standards of achievement. This year's program attempts to correct that misunderstanding, and establishes definite criteria for accomplishment and for the development of skills.

With the generally broader approach to education in recent years, there has come a tendency to accept less exact, and less thorough, classroom methods. Virginia's educators, fortunately, are awake to this shortcoming, and are attempting to instill, into its pupils, the desire to be thorough, and to think things through.

The value of the state's policy, of revising periodically its educational program, canont be accurately measured, but the wisdom of that policy is plain.

—Richmond Times-Dispatch

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 10, 1943

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

VOICE for VICTORY

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Jane Cabell Sanford — Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers — Managing Editor
Elva Andrews — Business Manager

Associate Editors

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... News Editor
Fay Byrd Johnson ..... Feature Editor
Shirley Pierce ..... Sports Editor
Jane Smith ..... Social Editor
Lilly Bec Gray ..... Copy Editor
Sara Jeffreys ..... Photographic Editor

Reporters

Gladys Wilson, Fay Johnson, Martha Patterson, Margaret Mish, Bridget Gentile, Nell Holloway, Louise Bell, Kathryn Hutchinson, Virginia Trenkle, Clare Moses.

What Have You Done For Freedom Today?

In charge of this issue: Jane Smith

Campus Camera

Question of the Week

What Do You Think of the May Day Decision?

The traditional Longwood May Day has been discontinued. The student body has decided that a simplified version of this annual occasion on the campus will replace the Longwood setting. What do you think? Opinions range from complete satisfaction with the decision to the belief that no May Day at all would be better than a May Day inferior to the high standard which Farmville has been noted for.

The Junior Class has been represented in the ball by Betty Van Arsdale who says:

"I think the least we can do is give up May Day because of the war. I think money should be used for War Bonds, USO, etc."

Roommates may differ in opinion. For "Melie" Romelia Sayre says:

"I think the simplified May Day is in keeping with the war program of the college.

Then again we have a nay:

"It would be better not to have May Day at all this year," says Caroline Caldwell.

But Mildred Wilson replies:

"I think it is good that we are having a simplified May Day. The regular Longwood affair is only one of the many things we will have to give up before the war is over."

From the Freshman Class, however, there is almost unanimous assent to the decision of the student body.

Alice and Anna Murray are twins who think alike. They say:

"We're agreed! We believe it is best that the Longwood May Day has been dropped; but are all for the simplified version."

"Gee", said Martha Lee, "I'm all out for the simplified May Day."

The Freshman Class continues with one mind. Beadie Manner says, "I agree that there should be some sort of May Day to keep up the tradition."

"I'm for it too, I mean the simplified version, because with conditions as they are today it would be unpatriotic and impractical to have it at Longwood."

The Sophomores are thinking about shoe leather, "Budgie" Butzner expresses the common opinion of all that one pair of shoes until June means we don't tramp as much as we used to.

"I think May Day on campus is an excellent idea, because it saves tires, and something new has been added—leather."

Nell Holloway reasons it out this way:

"Since it is impractical to attempt to carry out plans for May Day as usual, I like the idea of a simplified one."

This is the Seniors' last one here at Farmville. What do they think?

"I'd hate to miss having May Day, but I believe, considering the circumstances, it would be better to give the whole idea up for the present." This is from Jean Guy.

After discussing the pros and cons of the matter Baylis Kuntz has this to say:

"It would seem awful not to have May Day our senior year, but it does seem foolish to spend so much money on something that wouldn't live up to the traditional S. T. C. May Day."

A concluding opinion from Irma Page is:

"Why is May Day so important to hold onto in time of War? To me it seems the least important tradition we possess particularly at this time."

To the Editors . . .

(Ed. Note: The following was received by Katherine Hutchinson and passed on for publication.)

Feb. 5, 1943

Dear Miss Hutchinson,

Professor Walmsley sent me a clipping of your very admirable report of my speech and the chat I had after in your club rooms. As one who has dabbled in newspaper work, I want to congratulate you and just say it a job well done.

If ever you can add a postscript to my talk, you might state the following facts or to be explicit, observations:

I hope I did not leave your college maidens with the impression that mothers have all the good time in India and the wives suffer. Though the worship of one's own mother is a Hindu ideal, there are many wives in India who somehow contrive to dominate their poor husbands, just as they do in this country.

As for our girls who go to British schools and colleges, their attitudes become similar to yours—even to the extent of having a crush on Robert Taylor.

In the University of Madras, where I taught, my advice to all our young men was to avoid marrying college girls. Since I am a bachelor (the rarest species in all India) I took upon myself the responsibility of giving advice in all marital matters.

Our Hindu maidens, I fear, are slowly being led astray by the ways of their occidental sisters. This in man made, man ruled India, we the men, look upon as a major catastrophe.

Yours sincerely,
P. G. Krishnayya

Snoop Sisters Say—

And did you hear about the original young freshman who went to Mardi Gras in boots, raincoat and hat as an S. T. C. drip? Drool, drool, fool! Sarah Lee East declares that that Med Student in Richmond wasn't really very cute but just the same that is all the Annex is hearing since her return - - Little Baughman saw her Frank for a few days - - - Attention, Margaret Verell: That man from Tech was a hit all right, all right - - -

That institution of so called learning seven miles from here is breaking all records in date-breaking and other petty crimes. One Mr. Coleman is the latest definition of punctuality - - - Sure, he showed up but in such a condition and at such a late hour. Then there are the gentlemen (?) who give you a ring (on the very moment they should be waiting patiently in the Rotunda) to say they are so sorry, etc., but they can't quite make it and can they come another time. Please, is there no remedy?

Evelyn Christian's date was smooth but where did she spend all her time? - - - Evelyn Ruggles has returned to her old flame again - - - And flash! Betsy Caldwell and Eleanor Wade fell head over heels with some guys in Petersburg. Poor K. Patrick and her Percy—there are so many roads - - - Rosalie Jones did all right at Mardi Gras - - - Mildred Mease had a time keeping the snakes from biting Hoag—Maybe he was bitten after all - - - Carbon paper brunettes seem to get around despite our ridicule. Maybe there's something to such things, after all. What was Jack Adams' reason for keeping Betty Ellis' picture? Something about toothpaste - - - ?

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

This is the middle of Religious Emphasis Week. We sincerely hope you have gotten a great deal from the speakers and discussions and are doing a good bit of thinking on the subject so that you will be ready for the informal discussions Thursday night. Tomorrow Dr. Rustin will arrive to be here with us for two days. You will want to be ready to receive him because he is going to tell you some things you haven't heard before—some ways of thinking that had never entered your mind.

The speaker for the beginning of the week, Mr. J. H. Marion, Jr., was unable to be here because of ill health. Mr. Roberts and Rev. John Osman have very ably given us a full interpretation of the topics for those days. For your benefit, there has been a display of religious books placed just inside the door of the Library. There are some fine books in the collection. As long as it's Religious Emphasis Week why not take a look at them on your way in or out?

Last Sunday's results of the Sunday School contest are on the poster in the hall. If you've noticed it you were blinded by the fact the Baptists were ahead. You Presbyterians and Methodists were somewhere else, weren't you?, If you have wondered why there was no place provided for the Episcopalians in the contest, it is because they have no class of their own.

Prayers Committee is renewing its practice of giving you quotations for your daily devotions.

Wednesday

The religion of Christ reaches and changes the heart, which no other religion does.

Thursday

The Christian life is not merely knowing or hearing, but doing the will of Christ.

Friday

True religion sows its influence in every part of our conduct; it is like the sap of a living tree, which penetrated the most distant boughs.

Monday

Be swift to hear, slow to speak, slow to wrath. James 1:19.

Tuesday

Speak every man truth with his neighbor. Ephes. 4:26.

Just Looking, Thanks

Mardi Gras started the month of February off with the usual gusto, but didn't provide incentive enough for many of those globe trotters to unpack their bags.

The double wedding of Liggie Ellett and Joe Smith and "Sugar" Baker and Walter Ellett in Roanoke on Saturday night was attended by several S.T.C. students. Among the guests were Betsy Birchfield, Anne Ellett, Marilyn Johnson, Betty Burns, Margie Mish, Frances Parham, and Pat Maddox. Liggie and "Sugar" both attended S.T.C.

Haydee Carbonell visited friends in New York City during the week-end, and Catherine Lynch attended Nancy Quinn's marriage in Lynchburg.

Home-bound over the week end were Kitty Patrick, Eloise Golladay, Vivian Gwaltney, Lillian Goddin, Julia Glenn, Eleanor Hall, Elizabeth Heath, Beatrice Jones, Elizabeth Ann Jordan, Inez Jones, Baylis Kunz, Emily Mahood, Lois Meekins, Bettie Lee Scott, Gene Seymour, Bobbie Scott, Janice Wells and Sara Bird Williams.

Also Naomi Wilson, Nannie Lee Stembridge, Mary Ella Smith, Betty Albright, Jean Akers, Kyle Ainsworth, Margaret Barksdale, Keith Bingham, Mary Billups, Rebecca Blanton, Phyllis Butler, Katherine Buford, Ruth Dugger, Janet Davis, Julia Eason, Christine Eddins, Kitty East, Theresa Fletcher and Eleanor Folk.

Anne Cocks, also an S.T.C. alumna, was married to Lt. Bob Vaughan on Monday afternoon at her home in Farmville. Among the wedding and reception guests were Betty Overcash, Winifred Wright, Louise McCorkle, and Jane Sanford.

Following rushing, each of the eight social sororities on campus handed out swish refreshments from the Student Building kitchen to those hungry pledges.

Taking over the Old Club '43, the Sophomore Class has renovated the "Rec" and is preparing to rig up quite an original floor show for the christening of Club '45 next Tuesday night.

French Circle Meets Next Tuesday at 5

The French Circle will hold its regular monthly meeting next Tuesday, February 16, at 5 o'clock. The subject of the program will be art, and Miss Marjorie Booten will be the guest speaker. Games will be played, and songs will be sung in French.

Anyone, who is interested is invited to attend.

Rotunda Says, 'Use Your Cents", Vote For Bond Queen

The Rotunda working in cooperation with the War Finance Committee of the War Council has adopted as the slogan for the Campus Bond Queen contest, "Use Your Cents, Use 'Em Wisely". The contest will begin next Monday and will continue through March 19. During this period the student body will select a candidate to compete with representatives from other colleges throughout the nation in a national contest being sponsored by the Associated Collegiate Press. The basis for selection of the local candidate will be beauty alone.

The winner of the national contest will be selected by a group of professional photographers, and her picture will be printed on the cover of an issue of the Collegiate Digest.

As stated in last week's Rotunda, as many students may enter the contest on this campus as see fit, but each student must have at least 1,875 initial votes. That is, before anyone may become a candidate, she must have received 1,875 votes. Candidates may nominate themselves but they cannot be nominated by organized groups or faction.

Each cent spent for War Bonds or War Stamps entitles the purchaser to one vote in the contest. The Campus Bond Queen will be the one receiving greatest number of votes, and in case of a tie the staff of the Rotunda will select the candidate for the national contest.

Local candidates may belong to any class in college.

Only bonds and stamps purchased on or after February 15 and up to and including March 19 may be voted in the contest. Votes must be cast at the time of purchase and the college stamp booth will be the only authorized agency at which students may vote.

Helen Hardy, chairman of the War Finance Committee, has agreed to have some person at the College Stamp Booth for this purpose.

Club '45

Continued from Page 1

Birchfield, menus and refreshments; Peggy Becker, decorations; Harriette Moore, properties; Josephine Shaffner, music, and Fay Johnson and Helen Wilson, tickets.

Lee's Orchestra Beats Out Smoothie Swing at Mardi Gras

Underneath patriotic trimmings of red, white, and blue, Freddie Lee and his Lynchburg orchestra swung out in a completely renovated smooth style at Mardi Gras on Saturday night. Amusing featured vocalist was Bea Cline, and her interpretation of "Strip Polka".

Following the crowning of Mardi Gras Queen, Jac Hardy, the popular trio, Beth Johnson, and Lucy and Julia Clay Messick, sang a medley of Army, Navy, and Marine songs, plus several encores.

Prizes for the prettiest costumes were awarded Jacqueline Parden, as a Spanish senorita in black net and lace, and Pamela Starling, dressed as a red and white valentine. Lucy Davis, complete with blacked face, pigtails and patches won first prize for originality and Jo Cooper, dressed as the "Auntie Aircraft" was awarded second prize for originality. The judges were Mrs. C. F. Wilson, Mrs. F. B. Gilbert, and Willard Hart, all of Farmville.

Mardi Gras is sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu and is the only costume ball held annually on this campus.

"It Takes Both"

It takes both . . . two fingers to give the Victory sign. It takes both . . . War Bonds and Taxes to make that Victory come true. Continue your purchase of War Bonds, at least ten percent of your income. Pay your Victory Tax and your income tax cheerfully and gladly. Both are in lieu of an Occupation Tax to Hitler. U. S. Treasury Department

Chapel Speaker

Rev. Philip A. Roberts, who spoke in chapel yesterday.

Rushing

Continued from Page 1

Frances Shackleford, Emily Humphries.

Pi Kappa Sigma: Mary Foster, Catherine Lynch, Connie Ozlin, Jeanne Richardson, Virginia Shackleford, Nancy Lee Weeks.

Theta Sigma Upsilon: Lucy Bowling, Evelyn Faw, Alice Green, Naomi Major, Hazel Phillips, Catherine Williams

Phi Zeta Sigma: Helen Carpenter, Evelyn Grizzard, Lelia Holloway, Isabell Key, Margaret Lawrence, Kitty Taylor, Polly Moore, Virginia Radogna, Mary Sue Spradlin, Viola Turner, Virginia Wells, Faith Weeks.

John Owen Leads In Quiz Tryouts

Courtesy Hampden-Sydney Tiger

With a score of 103, John Owen led the contestants in the first elimination for the 1943 Hampden-Sydney Quiz Team, which was held last Thursday afternoon.

Oral eliminations to choose the final five brain busters will be held in McIlwaine Hall March 2 at 8:30. "Coach" Graves H. Thompson announced this morning.

Others who stood high were Jimmy Timberlake, Roy Cabell, O. W. Van Petten, John Waring, Louis Graham, Billy Hines, Joe Lee Nelson, John Ruff, Braxton Elwang, Joe Coxe, Cary Suter, and Clinton Bales, in the order named.

These men will compete in the eliminations to choose a team to defend the cup on which determined S. T. C. team is reported to have evil designs.

For Your 5 Cents

Liggett and Myers Sends Cigs Overseas

In cooperation with S. A. Whitehead, Jr., local representative, Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company has agreed to send one package of Chesterfield cigarettes to servicemen in army, navy, or marine outposts for each five cents donated by the State Teachers College student body.

A large box or similar container will be placed on the table in the hall sometime this week for this purpose, and students are urged to contribute to this cause.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

Wilson's Firestone Store
Here's What You've Always Wanted—Guide Books to the Lives and Recorded Music of the Great Composers:
Tchaikowsky, Mozart, Bach, Wagner, Beethoven, Brahms
ONLY EACH 25c

Come To . . .
DOROTHY MAY
New Pick-Up Dresses
AT POPULAR PRICES
Also New Shipments in . . .
SKIRTS AND HOSIERY

Visit Rose's in the Center of the Shopping District
Rose's 5-10-25c Store

J J. NEWBERRY CO.
5-10-25c STORES
New Shipment Spring Colors Knitting Wool
For Sweaters, Socks! Gloves, Turbans, etc.

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

LOVELY SCHOOL DRESSES
Prints you'll adore!
JR. AND MISSES SIZES 9 to 15—10 to 20
Two Piece and One Piece
Newest Cotton Materials
$2.95 to $6.00
YOU'LL WANT SEVERAL
Charge them if you like
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Appreciates Your Patronage

New Spring Coats Arriving Daily

Fine In Quality
Low In Price
Lovely
Pastel Colors
In College Styles
Davidson's, Inc.
The House of Quality

Physical Education Becomes Compulsory As A Result Of War Emphasis Day

Exercise Required 3 Hours Per Week For All Students

Compulsory physical education has been added to the State Teachers College schedule as a result of suggestions and discussions held during War Emphasis Day. Since Monday of this week, students are now required to take part in at least three hours of physical activity each week.

Various activities are being offered to the students, including military tactics and gymnastics, swimming, volleyball, basketball, modern dance and folk dance. Each student not engaged in three classes of physical education is required to sign up for one of these activities, the choice being left to the individual student.

Hallie Hillsman, president of the Athletic Association, has announced that the entire student body has responded almost unanimously to the new ruling and states that the program should be thoroughly successful.

Physical Education Schedule

Military Tractics and Gymnastics—6:00 p. m. Monday, Wednesday, Friday
Volley Ball—8:00 p. m. Tuesday, Thursday, Saturday
Swimming—5:30 p. m. Monday, Wednesday, Friday.
Folk Dance Group—8:00 p. m. Monday
Modern Dance Group—See Miss Kauzlarich
Basketball—6:00 p. m. Tuesday, Thursday; 5:00 p. m. Wednesday
Restricted group—6:00 p. m. Monday

Classes in the various sports listed above began Monday and will continue throughout this quarter. A wider selection of sports will be offered during the Spring quarter.

1943 Swimming Meet Set for February 19

This year's interclass swimming meet has been set for next Thursday night, February 19, at 8:30 o'clock. At this time classes will compete for color cup points. Anyone may try out for her class team but to be eligible eight and one-half hour practices are required.

Ellen Ebel is in charge of the senior team and Harriette Moore heads the sophoinore team for the Green and White. Mildred Droste heading the Juniors, and Martha Jean Levitte, in charge of the freshman group, comprise the Red and White leaders.

The swimming meet events will include the 40 yard breast stroke, 40 yard back stroke, and 40 yard free style. A 75 yard medley and a diving contest will also be run off.

Class teams will be chosen from those participating in the various sports, and anyone who participates in these classes may be chosen required number of practices. However, each student is responsible for the class which she schedules and unexcused absences will be given those who cut without a legitimate excuse.

State Teachers College in adding compulsory physical education to her curricula is following the example set by several women's other colleges throughout the State, and although physical education has been required among students in freshman and sophomore classes for sometime, compulsory classes in physical activity for juniors and seniors are entirely new.

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

S. T. C. and Physical Education

Something has been added to our college schedule, namely, physical fitness classes. Now it won't be the same few girls in each sport, but the entire student body taking at least three hours per week in some type of exercise. Such a program was born and built in those discussion groups on War Emphasis Day when suggestions and improvements were offered by the students. This is our program, developed by and operated for our benefit. When we think about it seriously, we realize that physical activity has been seriously lacking here. We have had the opportunities and the needed materials, but somehow, we never got around to getting the much needed exercise.

All this is past history now, for each and every student is cooperating in the new program wholeheartedly. With such cooperation of the students and leadership of the faculty the program could never be the success it should be, could never make us physically fit to serve our country in whatever capacity we may be called upon.

On the other hand, Miss Iler, Miss Barlow, and Miss Kauzlarich of the physical education department wish to express their appreciation to the students for their response to the new physical fitness program.

Already physical fitness programs are working in the elementary and secondary schools in our state, but because of the lack of interest in physical education while in college there are few available teachers for the new program. However, the situation will soon be relieved because physical education has been made compulsory in most of the colleges and will prepare future teachers of the subject.

Chappell's
Fountain Service
Visit us for the best
PHONE 93

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

MARTINS—
See us for finest quality stationery
Martin the Jeweler

MAKE—
Your Headquarters
This Year
Shannon's

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY LYNCHBURG COCA-COLA BOTTLING WORKS, INC.
(Farmville, Va.)

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE

Mary Muffet's "MAGNOLIA"
Lovely as a MAGNOLIA you'll be in this one-piece dirndl, so smart in gabardine (rayon). Favored in wild rice and blue, bamboo and rose, marina aqua and rose. Sizes 9-15.

THE CIGARETTE THAT GIVES SMOKERS WHAT THEY WANT

Chesterfields give you a MILDER BETTER TASTE

There are two good reasons why Chesterfield gives smokers everything they want in a cigarette.

FIRST, Chesterfields are made of the world's best cigarette tobaccos.

SECOND, Chesterfield blends these choice tobaccos in the one right combination to bring out the best smoking qualities of each tobacco.

That's why Chesterfields deliver the goods . . . their MILDNESS and BETTER TASTE really Satisfy.

Copyright 1943, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Join the Victory Parade; Vote for Bond Queen

The Rotunda

Use Your Cents; Use 'Em Wisely

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 17, 1943 No. 16

Childress, Hardy Will Reign Over May Day

May Queen . . .

DOROTHY CHILDRESS

Maid of Honor . . .

HELEN HARDY

Seniors Top Court With 8; 5 Sophs, Juniors, 2 Frosh Also Elected

Dot Childress, senior from Christiansburg, was elected by the student body last Wednesday night to reign as queen over the 1943 May Day celebration at State Teachers Colleg, Reigning with her as maid of honor will be Helen Wiley Hardy, also a senior, who is the first town student to hold this honor.

Representing the senior class as members of the Queen's Court will be Frances Parham, of Petersburg; Agnes Patterson, of Winston-Salem, N. C.; Betty Boutchard, of Newport News; Anne Ellett, of Jennings Ordinary; Sarah Massie Goode, of Dinwiddie; Jac Hardy, of McKenny; Shirley Turner, of Petersburg; and Winifred Wright, of Arlington.

Junior class representatives will be Jean Arrington, of Lynchburg; Frances Craddock, of Blackstone; Virginia Mae Ellett, of Crewe; Sara Hardy, of Farmville; anl Mary Evelyn Pearsall, of Roanoke. Sophomores elected are Betty Burns, of Hopewel; Betsy Caldwell, of Sweet Briar; Mary Virginia Evans, of Charlottesville; Marie Hedgecock, of Martinsville, and Martha Higgins, of Newport News, while Jane Bentley, and Frances Lee, both of Richmond, are the freshman class representatives.

The queen, Dot Childress, is president of the Cotillion Club and is cited in the 1943 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges." Helen Hardy is president of Pi Gamma Mu, is leader of the Cotillion Club, is chairman of the War Finance Committee of the College War Council, and is also cited in this year's "Who's Who."

* * *

May Day To Be Staged On College Library Lawn

May Day this year, under the direction of Anne Ellett, chairman, and Miss Emily Kauzlarich, adviser, will be held on the lawn in front of the College Library rather than at Longwood as before, and the theme will center around the life of Stephen Foster, the composer.

Those working on May Day will have the cooperation of practically every department in the college. The Music Department is providing for the first time an orchestra and also it is lending a chorus which will begin practices soon after the College Choir's trip to New York. The Department of Speech and Dramatics is assisting in staging, the Home Economic Departments with costumes, and the Department of Physical Education, with the dances.

Costumes for this year's celebration will be simplified. No men's costumes will be bought as those that are already on hand will be used. All dresses for the dancers will be designed so that they may be used, with slight alterations, for use other than May Day. Thus the expense for costumes will be greatly cut.

Frosh To Present Play Wednesday

Isobel Sampson General Chairman

On February 24 at 8:30 in the large auditorium, the freshman class will present its first production. The three-act play, "The Hope of Tomorrow" portrays the life of a typical college girl of today. The production is under the general direction of Isobel Sampson who wrote the script.

Committees for the production are: tickets, Cleo Frick and Aloise Boswell, co-chairmen; lighting, Lillian Elliott, chairman; advertising, Margaret Harvey, chairman; staging, M. J. Leavitt; make-up, Jane Bentley; wardrobe, Helen Stites, Jacqueline Pardon, and Billy Waid; and properties, Minnie Rose Hawthorne, Lucy McKenry, and Jane Adams.

Soph's English Pub Stars Newcomers On Opening Night

For the opening of Club '45, the sophomore production, last night the Rec was dressed as tavern in modern war torn England. The background was rustic and paneled with drawings of cigars, beer mugs, and derby hats.

As an introduction, Anne Payne as host to the sophomores expressed their appreciation to the seniors for their heritage, Club '43, now Club '45.

Gwen Sampson acted as master of ceremonies. Opening the program was Pat Maddox, representing a famous American singer touring army camps in Europe. Lula Moss then narrated selections from "The White Cliffs of Dover" and was followed by Pat Maddox singing "Black Magic", "Anchors Aweigh", "Marine Hymn", and the Army Air Corps Hymn.

Nancy Wilkinson then appeared as Donald Duck in a short interlude with the master of ceremonies. Kyle Ainsworth followed in a cockney skit, after which Ann Seay as "Mrs. Rose Guensberg" gave an amusing monologue. Then a chorus of Broadway girls bedecked in red and white heart costumes, Jane Brown, Lillian Goddin, Pamela Starling, and Mary Virginia Evans, broke through a red heart to present a unique tap dance.

In the middle of a faked blackout, Marilyn Bell appeared as the spirit of the United Nations, and "Rose Ann of Charing Cross" was

Continued on Page 4

Eddy Unable to Make Address As Planned

Sherwood Eddy was not able to be on this campus this week as announced due to a conflict in his schedule, Amy Read, Y. W. C. A. president announced yesterday.

Extensive plans are now being made for the War Welfare Campus Drive which will combine the World Student Service Fund and the Red Cross drive sometime in March. The date will be announced later by the War Finance committee of the College War Council and Public Affairs Committee of the Y. W. C. A. who will sponsor the drive.

Calling All Poets

Put Valentine Mood In Colonnade Poem

Now's the time for all good poets to come to the aid of the Colonnade — and incidentally themselves, says Winifred Wright, magazine editor. The Colonnade Poetry Contest will close next Monday, Feb. 22.

Capture that vague Valentine feeling and add a dash of rhyme, then drop the result in the Colonnade box before Monday.

Winners of the contest win $3, $2, and $1, respectively in War Stamps.

Vorth a try, we'd say.

Dramatic Club Stages "Prunella" on March 6

Terrell, Cooper Cast in Leads

On Saturday night, March 6, the Dramatic Club will present Laurence Housman and Granville Barker's "Prunella" under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler. The play is a costume fantasy in three acts and is being produced by an all girl cast.

Virginia Terrell, of Richmond, has been cast as Prunella, and Jo Cooper, of Farmville, will have the male lead as Pierette. Others in the cast are Elizabeth Heath, as Scaramel, Lula Moss, Frances Fergusin, and Fay Johnson as the old maid aunts, Martha Walsh, as Kendal, and Margaret Lommon, as Hawk.

Also cast in the play are Frances Wentzel, as Quaint, Mary Sue Clark as Queen, Will Hay, as Doll, Relia Rainey, as Mauth, Lucille Winston, as Ramp, Sally Johnson, as Tawdry, Pat Osborne, as Coquette, Frances Satterfield, as Callors, Lucy Manson as Love, and Catherine Lynch, Betty Cock and Helen McGuire as the gardens.

Because the army called most of the proposed cast from Hampden-Sydney, former plans to present Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew" in cooperation with the H.-S. Jongleurs had to be suspended.

Assisting Miss Wheeler with the productoin of "Prunella" will be Nelie White in charge of lighting; Erookie Benton, costumes; Sally Robinson, properties; Susan Durrett, staging and Lucille Lewis make-up.

Beale Is Speaker On KDP Program

Dr. R. C. Beale, professor of English at Hampden-Sydney, spoke last night at an open meeting of Kappa Delta Pi on the subject, "How the Philosophies of Browning and Tennyson Can Be Applied Today." His talk was in connection with the year's theme, "How Education May Help Us Sustain Our Spiritual Ideals and Help in Post War Reconstruction."

Frosh Pledge Active YWCA Membership In Committee Work

Two hundred and sixty freshmen were added to the eleven Y.W.C.A. committees recently, Amy Read, president, announced this week.

To the Prayers Committee, headed by Nancy Hall, Margaret Goodwyn, Virginia Treakle, Anna Crittenden, Louise Blane, Mary Jane Richards, Mildred Altice, Lucy Bowling, and Florence Smith have been added; Frances Ferguson, Rosalie Jones, Billy Waid, Packie Parden, Shirley Cruser, Eleanor Bisese, Phyllis Watts, Pat Osborn, Margaret Pattie and Clara Moses are the new members of the Public Affairs Committee, headed by Hannah Lee Crawford.

Alice Seebert, chairman of the Publicity Committee, has added Margaret Smith, Helen Anne Reese, Mildred Duck, Geneva Coleman and Martha Lee White.

To the Town Girls Committee, headed by Nancy Belle Bruce, were added Avouglin Chofin, Della Thompson, Jo Cooper, Dolly Wilkerson, Virginia Lee Price, Eugenia Scott and Elizabeth Fulcher. Anne Jones, Harriet Saunders, Nancy Fuqua, Isobel Sampson, Anne Watts, Margaret Horton, Christine Pate, Evelyn Grizzard and Kathryn Taylor are the new members of the Sing committee, chairman Charlotte Phillis, has announced, and Julia Eason, Library Committee chairman, has added Jean Bershswinger, Margaret Brannon, Rosa Hill, Marguerite Stephenson, Mary E. Taylor, and Susie Wise as her assistants.

Barbara Lee Hall, Helen Richard, Rosa Belle Lane, Jane Kathren East, Isobel Willson, Nancy Ingle, Emma Swann, Peggy Alphin, Rebecca Graham, Martha Holman, Evelyn Jones, Ruth Williams, Elizabeth Heath, Nannie Sours, Katherine Burford, Elizabeth West, Martha Cox, Cleo Frick, Dot Overcash, Margaret McIntyre, Martha Ann Davis,

Continued on Page 4

Founders Day Plans Simplified; Classes To Run For Half Day

On the first Saturday in March of this year, March 7, the college will observe as usual its day of homecoming for the alumnae. In past years elaborate celebrations have been held, but in 1943 because of the difficulty of transportation the Founders Day program will be greatly simplified, and classes will be held on that day until the chapel hour.

At 12 o'clock instead of the regular chapel exercises, an alumnae and student Founders Day program will take place. At that time gifts will be presented to the college by student organizations and the Alumnae Secretary.

Mr. M. E. Coyner is chairman of Founders Day program and Miss Mary E. Peck, president of the Association of Alumnae has charge of the morning program.

Thespians Bid 52 Underclassmen

Elsie Stossel, president of the Dramatic Club has announced that 52 new members were informally initiated into the S. T. C. Dramatic Club on Monday night. At that time the new girls presented skits. Formal initiation will take place tonight.

The new members, who have served an apprentice period of a quarter and a half under the heads of the various groups are: Nancy Wilkinson, Lillian Elliott, and Virginia Cabiness, who are working in the lighting group; Bertha Erceg, Florence Smith, Earline Kimmerling, Naomi Major, and Frances Shackleford, working with the Costuming group; Betty Ellis, Frances Ferguson, Betty Cock, Olive Brad-

Continued on Page 4

Foster's Times, Tunes Form Basis For May Day Celebration in Spring

Stephen Foster himself would feel at home in the May Day program for this year, for the theme portrays the beloved Foster songs taken home to their own setting. Let's allow the strains of "My Old Kentucky Home" to erase the dark print of time and leave us with Stephen Foster's melodies in the era in which they found life.

First we hear our own favorite spirituals as we live through the first scene of the program, Foster's Boyhood Recollections. There will be an orchestral prelude of Songs of the South followed by a chorus' version of several Foster strains. Orchesis and the fundamentals dance class concludes the first scene with three sets of dances: a plantation shout, a work song, and a good old fashioned revival meeting. Thus we share Stephen Foster's boyhood memories.

In scene two we share the true old Southern fun in a minstrel show. Again the orchestra sets the spirit of frolic with the true old fashioned minstrel walk around to the tune of "Dixie". The chorus follows with the "Ring de Banjo", "Swanee River", and "Oh, Suzannah!". The tap dancers and other dance groups catch the spirit of "Oh, Suzannah!" and give their interpretation in dance. The concluding number of this scene is Orchesis' presentation of the Juba dance, a stylization of the Negro folk dance with the ragtime element predominating.

As time turns the next page for us, we go to an old Southern plantation ball where dancers of the day promenade before our eyes, then begin a lovely cotillion, quadrelles, and waltzes in the style of the evening. Then with orchestral strains of "Come Where My Love Lies Dreaming", the May Day Court comes forth, followed by the queen herself accompanied by singing in the background of "Beautiful Dreamer" and "Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair".

The highlight of the evening's ball is the Grand March in which all dancers join with the queen and her court leading. The grand finale is a time of frolic for all, and leaves us with a re-newed enthusiasm for the songs of Foster, and the period in which they brought thrills to all who were young in heart. The Dreamer might well be proud of his ever-living, ever loved melodies.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

VOKE the VICTORY

Jane Cabell Sanford — Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers — Managing Editor
Elva Andrews — Business Manager

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 17, 1943

In charge of this issue: Mary St. Clair Bugg, Mary Keith Bingham

Cooperation Will Make May Day A Success

It is not always easy to carry through in action the things that sound desirable in words. Ideas are often left as such. But when the student body voted for a simplified May Day on this campus, it was pledging themselves to help carry it through to success. Dances require dancers; choruses necessitate voices; successful plans run into action; May Day must have cooperation!

We are all proud of the tradition that our school has acquired for beautiful May Days; our tradition cannot be maintained without sincere effort on the part of everyone to make a simplified May Day a successful and beautiful one. And it can be done!

If you voted for May Day, then work for it! Get behind it—and start pushing. It really is fun.

Wartime Marriages

Mrs. Alexander Thomson, president of Western College, Oxford, Ohio, warns college girls against looking upon married life merely as a meal ticket. "Marriage is one of the most normal, natural and desirable experiences that anyone, man or woman, can achieve," declares Mrs. Thomson, who is the mother of four grown sons, some of whom are married and have children. "Yet during wartime, marriage must face many perplexing problems, the solutions to which are not always indicated by precedent or clearly marked courses.

"First, marriage can no longer be regarded as a purely personal matter. The fact that so many war marriages are hasty ones will only add to the general instability of our country after the war is over.

"At that time there will be so many factors contributing to our general unrest and unhappiness that for any group to add to them is of almost national significance.

"At the very core of the national stability we are fighting for is the stability of the home. By jeopardizing the one, we are equally placing the other in jeopardy.

"Young women can no longer regard marriage as a meal ticket. In the new post-war economy, both men and women will have to work—marriage can no longer be a solution to the economic problems of making one's living. Young people should be advised to consider all these factors before making their choices and decisions.

"Marriage is not a status quo; it changes from day to day. People separated by time and space and experiences are running risks of growing apart rather than together in their married life.

"A successful war demands that man and women have unusual knowledge of each other, not only of themselves as they are but of their possibilities and capabilities so they can came back with the same understanding with which war duties may now separate them.

"Many very practical economic questions now enter into the picture. Is the girl fitted to support herself and possibly her children? Has her family agreed to the match and is it willing to assume added burdens? Is she herself fully aware of the complexities the war situation may develop?

There are many questions and important questions, but in spite of them and the serious implications they may hold, let me again reiterate my faith in the institution of marriage and the future of the home." —A. C. P.

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

Of course, the biggest and best news to break this week was the victorious Red offensive. Rostov and Voroshilovgrad have been recaptured and the drive continues. Much of the success of the battle can be directly attributed to the fighting spirit of the Red troops. However, experts are hoping that the failures of the German army can also be traced to a lowering of morale within the German nation. As one wag commented about the affair, "Probably the Germans couldn't pronounce the names of the cities they were capturing and retreated in confusion."

Domestic news is not as comforting. The weather man acted up and sent a cold wave which in turn caused S. T. C. girls to huddle around radiators.

In Washington Senator Johnson (D.-Colorado) said Sunday that unless Secretary of Agriculture Wickard acts in a more aggressive manner in his fight for more farm manpower and machinery, widespread hunger will be a common thing in the United States by the end of the year. The main solution seems to be to release farmers and farmhands who are in the armed forces to return to the country and serve on the home front. The man in overalls is just as much a soldier as the man in khaki.

Clare Booth Luce, the glamor girl of the House, made her first big break when she announced that she would like to be put on the Foreign Affairs Committee, a position which is generally reserved for members who have shown outstanding ability in the field of international relations. Last week she again opened her lovely mouth and again put her shapely foot into it. Vice-President Wallace replied that he did not think the Republican party opposed "either freedom of the seas or freedom of the air after the war was over." Mrs. Luce feared that the United States would lose supremacy of the air as England is now losing supremacy of the seas. What Mrs. Luce does not seem to recognize is that to achieve world peace we must not think of anyone having "supremacy" but rather that we accept the Four Freedoms and all try to live by them.

But really there is no need to worry about any of the world's problems. Just give Orphan Annie and her Junior Commando squad a free hand and all of our difficulties will be solved.

Campus Camera

Letters to the Editor . . .

Dear Editor:

Just why do we continue to have class productions? They were out of style, helped no one materially or mentally before the advent of the war. They were and are a lot of unnecessary trouble. Why do we still have to have them?

Originally they were meant to help train future teachers how to put on such programs. Their training has dwindled until the burden of one is solely on the shoulders of the chairman. Classmates aren't interested and never fully cooperate or get into the spirit of the thing until a few hours previous to its performance. The poor, heckled chairman worries along with it, taking valuable hours from her studies and losing many others through lack of sleep. And for what? A few jokes and nonsense with a 15c price tag tacked on. Time is wasted; money is wasted—not to mention perfectly good tempers.

May Day has been modified. Why not the class production? They belong to the days of the Friday afternoon recitations and lyceums. They no longer train us and only barely amuse us. From a more serious viewpoint, it is war time after all. All this money, time and energy is being wasted on such silly trifle. If we were being amused, if we cooperated at practices, if we were being trained—why they should be continued. But none of these things are being done. Could we not turn our talents to something more worthwhile?

Sincerely,
Jafon

Religious Emphasis Week Speakers Analyze Pertinent World Problems

Religious Emphasis week was introduced by Rev. Phil Roberts in chapel on Tuesday. He pointed out that in this day of struggle and strife "we must think clearly and act accordingly", and that we as Christian students "should have a visition of the future which will lead us to give of our best in thought, work, and deed in the struggle of the world today".

On Wednesday came Mr. John Osman of Richmond Theological Seminary who started deep thinking on the part of the students with his point-blank discussions on religion, philosophy, and world affairs. Mr. Osman asks that we know the philosophies of peoples through the ages, compare them and reach our own decisions rather than accept the first one we hear. Developing his topic, "What We Are Facing," he insisted that "we know other countries that we might better understand their actions, their thoughts, and their ideas."

In the discussion groups on Wednesday afternoon, Mr. Osman gave some interesting accounts of Russian life, books, music, and people. "Read the books of Dostoiensky, Tolstoy, and others. Listen to Tschaikowsky, Shostakovich's Seventh Symphony. Live with them through their arts. Study and learn about Russia, China, and India. Know the people, their leaders, their government, and their religion", Mr. Osman urged the students.

When Dr. Rustin arrived Thursday morning, the student body was immediately struck by a "man who could very easily start a revolution." His friendliness, broad mindedness, impetuous energy, and frank ideas found kindred spirits among the students here.

In his chapel talk Dr. Rustin, pastor of the Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church in Washington, D. C., despaired the selfishness and pessimism of American people. He also questioned the privileges that the Negro has, but pointed out that today he has more than formerly.

"In 1916 around 2000 Negroes were in college; today, more than 50,000 are in college. The Negro has progressed, and yet he is still held back. After war and even now this is a big problem of understanding. Since the Negro is super-sensitive, we should study and know him."

Another everyday problem of ours was brought up on the Bull Sessions Thursday evening. The Seniors and Juniors who discussed, "Love, Courtship, and Marriage" found someone who gave them very practical advice on the above mentioned and on war-time marriages. Dr. Rustin suggested that you should "know the boy you plan to marry. There must be a physical attraction, but the spiritual, mental, cultural attraction must also be there."

According to Dr. Rustin in his Friday's address on "The Post War World", religion is not a negative, but a positive thing. It cannot be seperated from life.

"A religion that is like a bay window tacked on to a modern home is like the window—out of place."

Dr. Rustin lastily challenged us as Christian students to go, do, and be in the world today and the Post War World."

We, the students of the world today, can say truly that these speakers have given us something to think deeply about and have enriched our lives so that we may be able to cope more fully with Social Reconstruction and the Post War World.

From Capitol to Campus

EDUCATION IN ARMS—

WASHINGTON—(ACP)—As college administrators wait with crossed fingers, guesses on the date for selection of schools for the Army-Navy college training program have been moved a notch to March 1.

A nine-man board representing Army, Navy, and War Manpower is plowing through questionnaires describing facilities of nearly every college in the country. Secretary of War Stimson has warned schools it will do no good to try lobbying for their institutions. Colleges are taking the hint.

Meanwhile, Brig.-Gen. Joe N. Dalton, the Army's assistant chief of staff for personnel, has made a point of clarifying the status of men who will eventually enter the specialized training courses.

"The trainee is not a college boy in uniform," says General Dalton. "He's a doughboy in a military unit located at a college. This program is not designed to offer a nice, soft spot for young men who have been inducted into the service."

GOVERNMENT—

The lot of a white collar girl in Washington is not exactly a happy one. Her folks at home fondly think she's getting a heavy tan from sharing the spotlight with big shots, growing giddy in the whirl along embassy row, and making big money. Those who don't know her think she's primping on taxpayer's money. Congressional growlers picture her as a cross between a reliefer and a shiftless squatter.

Actually, she's a hard worker who has a tough time looking trim on $1,440. She gets homesick more often than she'll admit. Her morale may not be much—but it's all she has to keep her going.

And now her morale has had three quick lifts. Congress raised her pay by giving her time and a quarter for overtime she's worked unpaid for months.

—by Bob Marshall

Mice Give "Gatepost" Run-Around, Take Over Dirt Diggin

Dear Mortimer,

College is just one experience after another. It takes all my time to keep up with these dizzy dames. Spent Saturday in the Home Office closet looking over the boxes of candy and the orchids—Almost turned the place into a florist shop with all those "Be My Valentine" offerings.

Heard the funniest thing the other day. The cahoot's "Feets" is leaving—no way to get around much any more. And speaking of eaves dripping - - - heard that Hebe had a fine time with her lieutenant - - - that A. P. is taking a little vacation to go to see Stan - - - also overheard some remarks about a case between Anne Williams and the good Cuddie - - - that Mildred Corvin is awfully anxious to get to Tech . . Will someone kindly explain why she doesn't approve of the Hampden-Sydney "kids"?

By the way, the most exciting thing happened to me t'other day. I tumped right into a real live diamond . . . seems the owner found it again later though . . .

Had a lovely time in Ann Blair's candy, but gosh, I nearly ruined myself on the thorns on those roses - - - Overheard Nimmo talking to her Jack in the telephone booth the other night. It seems he's made O.D.K. and was elected figure leader of German Club. How some people do get around! The telephone booth is an endless source of information. Kat Chiles got a long distance call from somewhere up north but the pity of it all was that she was at University Mid-winters and didn't get it after all.

Got a "special" today from Cousin Lucifer at Death Valley - - Seems there were big doings out that way Saturday night. He gave me the lowdown on some of my protegees that went. He said he missed seeing Kitty Shelbourne and P. T. at the dance . . . guess they prefer fireside chats . . . Dot Childress blind dated a William and Mary man for the dance at Hampden-Sydney . . . I wonder if she liked dear old H-S with an outsider better.

Well, guess I've said about enough—Please write sometime and let me know what is going on at Tech.

Lotions of Love,
Mineva

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

With added time now given over to the making of Red Cross bandages there is an even greater need for people who will make the bandages on Wednesday night. To meet the quota over 1500 must be made in the next two weeks. If you have an hour or two tonight why not slip into a wash dress, grab a scarf to tie around your head and come up to room A or B on second floor main to help?

The B.S.U. sent one representative and Miss Sarah Poole, their student secretary, to a State officers meeting at Roanoke last week end. As a result of the discussion of various problems they have some new methods and ideas to put into effect in the near future.

At the Virginia Methodist Student Conference in Harrisonburg, there seemed to be a quite a few attractions—the speaker, Dr. W. A. Smart of Emory University—a much sought after speaker.

A representative from nearly all the colleges in Virginia, the Valley of Virginia with its scenery and chilly weather, and the fellowship with a Japanese relocation student and a Chinese who witnessed much of the Japanese bombing before her arrival in the United States.

The Sunday School Contest is half over and the Baptists are still ahead despite the decided jump in the Methodist attendance this week. Your presence will count for the Sunday School which you attend so be sure to help your church whether or not your name is on roll.

Not everybody with a dollar to spare can shoot a gun straight—but everybody can shoot straight to the bank and buy War Bonds. Buy your 10% every pay day.

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Physical Fitness Emphasized

After a week of compulsory education throughout the student body of S. T. C., groups are well underway in their forms of activity. The new addition to the school program, which added three classes of physical education to all schedules, became effective on February 8, as a result of improvements suggested on War Emphasis Day at the College. For the first time State Teachers College is requiring all girls to engage in some form of activity and not just members of the freshman and sophomore classes. This well organized program will continue throughout the quarter and additional sports will be added spring quarter. Unexcused absences will be given to those missing their required class of activity.

Column Right . . .

Arms, upward, raise! Commandos from the classes of gymnastics and military tactics sound something like this. Miss Barlow, instructor, has divided the class into seven squads of twelve each and they are working on many forms of exercise and military drills. This is a lively group and many return from their lessons with the thought of "reducing" and "I feel like a different person already!"

Volleyball Rates High

The entire gym becomes alive when the volleyball groups meet on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday nights for a big game. Three nets and courts are in use and challenge games are played within the groups. Everyone really gets into the ball spirit and many persons have reported in order to get in practices for class teams. Eight practices are required and anyone may join the volleyball class and receive credit for practice.

Basketball Scores a Goal

Also active in the physical fitness program are those signed for basketball—meeting on Tuesdays and Wednesdays at 5:00 P. M. and Thursdays at 6:00 P. M. Forwards and guards join togethr in a team to practice and enjoy a period of recreation. Practices at this time are also good for class practice, and anyone may join the games.

Physical Education Schedule

Military Tactics and Gymnastics: 6:00 P. M. Monday, Wednesday, Friday.

Volleyball—

8:00 P. M. Tuesday, Thursday, Friday.

Swimming—

5:30 P. M. Monday, Wednesday, Friday.

Folk Dance Group—

8:00 P. M. Monday
5:00 P. M. Thursday, Friday

Basketball—

5:00 P. M. Tuesday, Wednesday; 6:00 P. M. Thursday.

Restricted Group—

6:00 P. M. Monday.

Men are dying for the Four Freedoms. The least we can do here at home is to buy War Bonds—10% for War Bonds, every pay day.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service

to

KLEANWELL CLEANERS

OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

Rooms

Reserve a room for your family, friend or dance date with MRS. A. H. IRBY, 210 High Street. Opposite College.

Phone 189

Wake up and take notice of your clothes

Do they look as good as they used to. If not have them cleaned and made to look like new at

DeLUXE CLEANERS

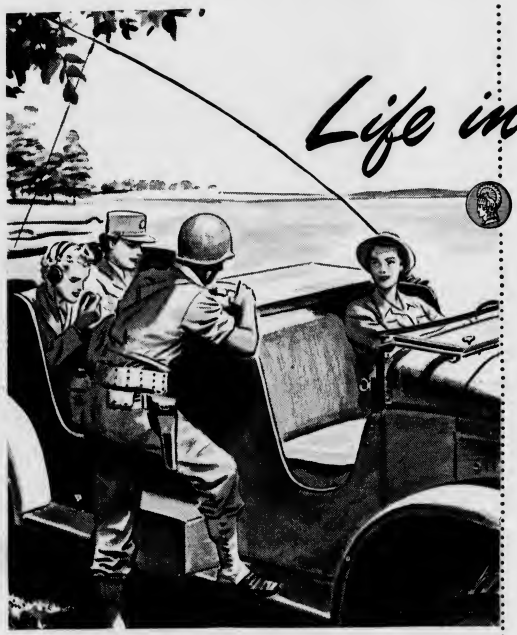
PHONE 77

Rival Colors Mix In H2O Tomorrow

Swimmers Meet At 8:30 O'clock

Interclass swimming competition will begin tomorrow night, February 19, at 8:30 o'clock. Red and White will again meet their rivals, Green and White, at the College Pool where swimming events will be staged between the classes.

Entered in the contest will be any girl on a class team who has at least eight one-half hour practices. Points for the color cup will be awarded the winning color in the race.



Ellen Ebel, senior, is head of her class team while Mildred Droste is captain of the junior class team. For the sophomores, Harriette Moore, and Martha Jean Levitt for the freshmen are in charge of their teams.

Swimming events include the 40 yard breast stroke, 40 yard back stroke, 50 yard free style, and 75 yard medley. Also fancy diving will be run in competition.

S. T. C.'s 1943 Cagers . . .

Left to right—1st row: Bobbie Scott, Eleanor Wade, Anne Elliett, Hallie Hillsman, Frances Parham, Patsy Conelly, Dottie Sue Simmons, Anne Price, Jean Carr; 2nd row: Rosalie Jones, Ruth Dugger, Mary Walker Watts, Margaret Bear, Shirley Pierce, Mildred Droste, Ella Carrington, Mildred Mease; 3rd row: Sarah Wade Owen, manager, Rosa Hill, Jane Anderson, Ora Kernodle, Billie Waid, Lillian Elliot, Katherine Lambert, Margaret Orange.

Life in the WAAC

Some questions and answers of interest to every patriotic college woman

First of all, is the WAAC really needed?

Emphatically yes! Already the President has authorized the Corps to expand from 25,000 to 150,000. The Air Forces and Signal Corps have asked for thousands of WAAC members to help with vital duties. Both Ground Forces and Services of Supply are asking for thousands more. Members of the WAAC may be assigned to duty with the Army anywhere — some are already in Africa and England.

Can the WAAC really help win the war?

The whole idea of the WAAC is to replace trained soldiers needed at the front. If American women pitch in now to help our Army (as women in Britain, Russia and China do), we can hasten Victory — and peace.

What can my college education contribute?

College training is important equipment for many WAAC duties too long to list. Cryptography, drafting, meteorology, laboratory work, Link trainer and glider instructing, for example. If you are a senior you may enroll at once and be placed on inactive duty until the school year ends. See your WAAC faculty adviser for more details.

But can I live comfortably on WAAC pay?

There are few civilian jobs in which you could earn clear income, as WAAC enrolled members do, of $50 to $138 a month — with all equipment from your toothbrush to clothing, food, quarters, medical and dental care provided. WAAC officers earn from $150 to $333.33 a month.

The drilling sounds so strenuous—?

Nonsense! The most beautiful women in America today are the girls in khaki! Some calisthenics and drilling are vital to general good health, discipline and tuned-up reflexes. After a few weeks at Fort Des Moines, Daytona Beach or the new Fort Oglethorpe training center you'll feel better than ever in your life.

Maybe I wouldn't like the work?

People are happiest doing what they do well. Every effort is made to place you where your service will count most toward final Victory. You may have some latent talent that will fill a particular need for work interesting and new to women — such as repairing the famous secret bombsight, rigging parachutes, operating the fascinating new electronic devices — or driving an Army jeep over foreign terrain.

Then I have a chance to learn something new?

Yes, indeed. And the list of WAAC duties grows constantly. The training and experience you get in the WAAC may equip you for many stimulating new careers opening up for women.

What are my chances of promotion?

Excellent. The Corps is expanding rapidly and needs new officers, both commissioned and noncommissioned. Those who join now have the best chances. All new officers now come up through the ranks. If qualified, you may obtain a commission in 12 weeks after beginning basic training.

What is the age range and other requirements?

Very simple. You may join if you are a U. S. citizen, aged 21 to 44, inclusive, at least 5 feet tall and not over 6 feet, in good health — regardless of race, color or creed. But the Army needs you now — don't delay. Total War won't wait!

Linguists needed. If you speak and write Spanish, Portuguese, Chinese, Japanese, Russian, French, German or Italian, see your local Army recruiting office now! You are needed for interpreting, cryptography, communications.

Women's Army Auxiliary Corps

"KEEP 'EM FLYING!"

For further information see your nearest U. S. ARMY RECRUITING AND INDUCTION STATION

Just Looking, Thanks

As Uncle Sam continues to call his nephews, Death Valley's population decreases. But the spotlight turns this week to that historical spot seven miles from here called Hampden - Sydney where Saturday night some of the boys held final flings before joining the ranks.

At the Monogram Club dance on Saturday night were Gloria Allen with Phil Cheatham; Ruth Dugger with Jack Cross; Mary Crank, Wingfield Foley; Virginia Mae Ellett, Bob Irby; Jane Ford, Jimmy Tarry; Joscelyn Gillum, Wright Gouldin; Rebecca Graham, George Burford; Nina Lee Hall, Bobby Scott; Jac Hardy, Tom T. Atkinson; Grace Hutcheson, Allan Fox; Jane Johnson, Dickie Vass; Betty Pat Lewis, Harold Johnson, Mildred Mease, Ernest Gates, Dot Childress, Allen Brown; Anne Covington, Bill Hoge; Catherine Lambert, Dave Lucas; Sally Johnson, Andy Robson; Delia Rainey Eyes Harris; Lucy Messick, Dick Traylor; Pat Osborne, J. T. Kelly; Charlotte Phillips, Tommy Combellick; Carroll Pugh, Joe Eddins; Kitty Rennecker, Charles Pearson; Peggy Ross, Wayne Mears; Anne Shelor, Bill Hoy; Helen Smith, Bill Fitzgerald; Elizabeth Tennent, Watt Shields; Margaret Thomas, T. C. Laramore; Nancy Weeks, Hal Treakle; Barbara White, Junie Chitwood, and Betty Wright, Allen Phillips.

Intermission parties were held at four fraternity houses. Mrs. Frank Summers chaperoned at the Kappa Alpha house; Dr. and Mrs. Ray Moore, at the Sigma Chi house; Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Simpson, at the Pi K. A. house and Mr. William Lashley at the Kappa Sig house.

The Theta Chi banquet at Longwood attracted S.T.C.'ers Betty Cock with John Owen; Peggy Suiter with Fred Young; Jane Knapton, Richard Merritt; Betty Waid, Charlie Fox Graham; Spotswood Hunnicutt, John De Hardett; Amy Read, Bill Garrett; Delia Gregory, E. Etheridge; Betty Tom Andrews, Brooks Hunnicutt; Ruth Garrison, Billy Lambert; Charlotte Moger, Braxton Elwang; Jane Adams, Roy Runson, and Shirley Pierce, Perry Myde.

The Gamma Theta's held their pledge banquet on Wednesday night in the college tea room. In addition to the members and pledges, Miss Grace E. Mix, Mrs. Boyd Coyner and Miss Florence Stubbs also attended. The decorations carried out a Valentine's Day theme.

Frances Parham attended the dances at the University of North Carolina.

V. P. I. attracted Marilyn Bell, Will Hall, and Peggy Becker.

University claimed several S. T. C.'ers this week-end at its mid-winter dances. Some of those attending were Aline Boss, Virginia Corbin, Anne Leatherbury, Betty Rogers, Pamela Starling, Jayne Williamson and Nancy Wessels.

Catherine May, Anne Hamlin, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard and Louise Bell attended a Methodist conference in Harrisonburg this week-end.

And last but not least, the girls who spent the week-end at home. Some of them were Frances Satterfield, Marion Orange, Shirley Stonnell, Ruth Fraughnough, Martha Lee White, Lucy Harvie, Elizabeth Walker, Eleanor Wade, Betsy Caldwell, Sarah Trigg, Ann Lyons, Edna Brown, Kathryn Hutchinson, Alice Parkhurst, Jane Bargamin, Louisa Dawson, Martha Davis, Mariam Hudson, Hazel Phillips, Louise Andrews, Betty Wood, Lillian Goodin, Polly Commack, Julia Eason, Evelyn Christian, Jennette Garrison, Anne Jacob, Betty Little, Miggie Mish, Kitty Maddox and Ella Marsh Pilkington.

Dr. and Mrs. Simkins entertained at tea at their home Sunday afternoon in honor of Mrs. W. D. Guthrie, the former Nancy Kerse. Among those present were Jane Lee Sink, Nancy Fuqua, Dorothy Marrow, Ellen Hudgins, and Elizabeth Ann Jones.

YWCA

Continued from Page 1

Gloria Allen, Nancy Robbins, Katherine Prebble, Janet Sollenberger, Leah Jordon, and Jean Woodward have been added to the Social Committee, headed by Sara Bird Williams.

New members on the Service Committee are: Jean Kins, Margaret Hickman, Nancy Broughman, Freddie Ann Butt, Margaret Harvie, Margie Pierce, Nancy Pitts, Carlotta Norfleet, Catherine Lambert, Dorothy Gelston, Virginia Cavinis, Rachel Hines, Louise Putney, Mary Crank, Katherine Tindall, Annie Woor, Rosa Lee Bell, Lillian Barnes, Glenn Ann Patterson, Minnie Rose Hawthorne, Linda Crowder and Betty Jones. Chairman of this committee is Nancye Allen.

To the Membership Committee, headed by Dot Childress; Peggy Ross, Helen Thompson, Betty Martin, Mary E. Foster, Spotswood Hunnicut, Bertha Ereey, Margaret Lemon, Sara Johnson, Betty Jane Doggett, Elizabeth Grille, Betty Wright, Ann Darnell, Rebecca Norfleet, Lois Shepherd, June Herndon, Jackie McCoy, Emily Humphries, Irene Pomeroy, Betty Woodward, Nancy Wessels, Jewell Hunt, Louise Lawson, Betty Brothers, Charlotta Moger, Earlene Kinmerling, Lorene Thomas, Carolyn Alphin, Faith Weeks, Lois Meekins, Nancy Taylor, Margaret Penne, Polly Moore, Emily Carper, Betty Ann Wimbish, Sarah Woodward, Viola Surring, Mary Ellen Hoge, Jane Paulette, Jeanne Richardson, Clare Parker Westbrook, Elizabeth Mountcastle, Ruth Brooks, India Joyner, Catherine Williams, and Lillian Elliott have been added.

New members on the Music Committee, whose chairman is Eleanor Feagans, are Julia Messick, Edith Bryant, Mildred Ellen Bailey, Martha Jones, Connie Ozlin, Alice Parkhurst, Margaret Verelle, Elizabeth Keiser, Dot Cummings and Elizabeth Ann Gordon. Added to the Church Cooperative Committee, headed by Louise Bell, are Mary Ellen Petty, Eugenia Dickenson, Virginia Shackleford, Jane Anderson, Marjorie Wills, Shields Raynell, Ruth Fleming, Janice Wells, and Pat Gibson.

First Robin, New Suits Co Hand In Hand In Heralding Arrival of Spring

by Jane Smith

Spring is such a lovely season and new suits like the first robin are always a sure sign that it is on its way. One look around and we know that we don't need any fashion magazine to tell us what is favorite here. Pastel suits, pink, blue, and green are the old favorites and this year we'll be seeing more bright purple ones and strictly stylish grey ones.

Frilly blouses are already beginning to be worn to add a crisp note to winter and fall suits. But probably more than blouses this year, we'll be wearing dickies made like a vest or waistcoat. Some are shown in bold striped taffeta, some made soft and sweet by lace and ruffles. All of them designed for wear-ability and to provide numerous changes for suits and dresses that must be worn again and again.

And whenever the feminine world thinks of spring, they think of hats, those little so-called confection hats that are made up of flowers and leaves and feathers and veils and make absolutely no sense. Right now we see hats of ribbon and fabrics which will be followed by their gayer straw cousins in time for the Easter Parade. The hat trend seems to be up and they are constructed so there will be no mashing of ladies' curls and swirls.

But no mention of clothes is complete without some hints on how to save clothes and most important of all—shoes. The clothes discussions on War Emphasis Day brought out numerous ideas of how to save clothes. Here are a few of them. Empty pockets every night. What nots left in pockets leave bulges that ruin the lines and shape. Check your clothes regularly for split seams and fingernail snags. Remember a stitch in time, saves nine. Check for loose buttons. Wash your clothes or have them cleaned before they get very dirty. The more dirt, the harder the washing has to be, hence, the harder the wear and tear. Shine your shoes. Shoe polish preserves the leather and so lengthens the life of the shoe. Now that rationing has come, what we have will have to last.

2 Tri Sigma Alphas Win National Awards For Straight A's

Mrs. Burton Blanton Hanbury and Mrs. Paul Gourdon, members of Alpha chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, have recently received national recognition from this sorority on the basis of their scholastic records in 1942 while they were at State Teachers College. Because they both had all A records, each has been awarded a sorority crested ring by Sigma Sigma Sigma.

Each year Tri-Sigma makes such an award to its member having the highest scholastic record, and this year three members of the sorority tied for the award.

Mrs. Hanbury, of Norfolk, is the former Jane Lee Hutcheson, who was a second honor graduate in the class of '42, and Mrs. Gourdon, who now lives in Danville is the former Mary Hunter Edmunds and was the first honor graduate in the same class.

Dramatic Club

Continued from Page 1

shaw. Peggy Suiter, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Alice Green, Agnes Stokes, Lula Moss, Nancy Fuqua, Margaret Verell, Margaret Smith and Bernice Copenhaver, Virginia Shackleford, Jo Cooper, Dolly Wilkerson, Frances Satterfield, Elizabeth Fulcher, and Clara Mese, in the acting group.

New members in the properties group are Kitty Maddox, Margaret Betty Little, and Rosa Hill. Betty Agnew, Anne Trotter, Ruth Brooks, Rosalie Jones, Katheryn Lynch, Kendall Nottingham, Nancy Pitts, Blanche Steele, Sarah Tallaferro, Betty Waid, and Carlotta Norfleet are the new members working in the make-up group; and Helen Carpenter, Lelia Holloway, Phylis Watts, Dody Jones, Lucille Cheatham, Dorothy Overcash, Virginia Radogna, Lyde Thompson and Annie Ellis are the additions to the staging group.

Sophomore Play

Continued from Page 1

sung by Jo Shaffner.

England's national anthem, "God Save the King", and "The Star Spangled Banner" were sung by the combined choruses and audience closed the program.

Dancing followed until 11 o'clock, and refreshments were served by Budgie Butzner and a corps of sophomore waitresses.

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

BUY SHOES . . .
From the
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
We've a complete stock on hand. Bring your No. 17 Coupon.
Largest showing of Dress Matrial in Farmville.
SMART NEW MATERIALS
25c TO 98c YD.
Charge Accounts Available

Buy War Bonds
Every Pay Day
* * *
Let's Double Our Quota

SPECIAL
Ladies' Sweaters
$2.98
ROSE'S

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Craile

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

For Exercise . .
BOWL at . . .
BOWLING ALLEY
NEWMAN'S
Downstairs in Shannon's
OLLIE G. PILLOW
Manager

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
New spring anklets
ESPECIALLY WHITE
—Also—
New Pastel Colors
SEE OUR ASSORTMENT

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Car.ful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

Wilson's Firestone Store
Here's What You've Always Wanted—Guide Books to the Lives and Recorded Music of the Great Composers:
Tchaikowsky, Mozart, Bach, Wagner, Beethoven, Brahms
ONLY EACH 25c

MARTINS—
See us for finest quality stationery
Martin the Jeweler

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

MAKE—
Your Headquarters
This Year
Shannon's

TWO DAYS SPECIAL
—ON—
NEW EVENING DRESSES
IN ALL THE POPULAR SHADES
AT $10
DOROTHY MAY SHOP

BALDWIN'S
Cordially invites you to visit our SUIT and COAT DEPARTMENT. New ones arriving daily. Be sure to see the MARY MUFFET DRESSES also.

DORIS DODSON JUNIOR DRESSES
Chic styles for the "Junior Miss". New Spring Fabrics: Printed Jersey, Faille Silk, Spun Rayon, Cotton
All the new Pastel shades, including Navy and Summer Brown
DAVIDSON'S

Join the Victory Parade; Vote for Bond Queen

The Rotunda

Use Your Cents; Use 'Em Wisely

VOL. XXII | Farmville, Virginia, Wednesday, February 24, 1943 | No. 17

Message To The Students

It goes without saying that I am heartily in favor of the drive being put on by the students for war relief. We all realize the necessity of accepting at least part of the financial burden of the war.

I would be greatly pleased to know that the Farmville girls have supported this drive 100 per cent.

Sincerely,
J. L. Jarman

Frosh To Present 3-Act Play Tonight

Curtain Rises On Comedy at 8:30 In Auditorium

Tonight at 8:30 o'clock in the large auditorium the freshmen will present their class production, a three act play entitled "The Hope of Tomorrow". The play will depict the life of a typical college girl. Placing her in any institute of higher learning, Acts 1 and 2 will show the side of college life that is pure comedy, the comic incidents in the life of a college student.

Cast in the comedy are Frances Lee and Margie Hewlett who portray the typical college girls. Jane Fhilhower enacts the part of the hero of the satire and the typ cal college girl's best beau. Viola Turner, Ruth Garrison, Rosalie Jones and Mike Shifflet are the typical college girl's family. "The Proctors". Cleo Frick, Ann Jones, Evelyn Jones, Margaret Verrell, and Virginia Wells take the parts of other college girls who lead to the enchantment of the "beautiful life called a college career." Margart Orange, as Thomas, will add another comedy note.

Others n the cast are Kitty Renneker, Mary Brinson Walker, Reba Graham, Margaret McIntyre, Virginia Shackelford, Glenn Ann Patterson, Eleanor Bisese, Vicky Edmunds, "Spot" Hunnicutt, Mary Crank, Shirley Cruiser, Phil Watts, Louise Blane and Betty Ellis.

Isobel Sampson, who wrote the script, is general chairman for the production. Assisting her on various committees are Kitty Renneker, Cleo Frick, Margie Pierce, Aloise Boswell, and Linda Crowder, in charge of tickets; Lillian Elliott, lighting; make-up, Jane Bentley, Helen Stites, Jackie Pardon, and Billy Waid; properties, Minnie Rose Hawthorne, Lucie McKenry and Jane Adams; advertising, Margaret Havle, Rosalie Jones and Mary Crank; and staging, M. J. Leavitt and Erline Kimmerling.

Barker To Lecture Here In Chapel

Will Discuss Youth Problems

Dr. Charles E. Barker, noted lecturer, will speak to the student body at chapel on Friday, February 26. At 8:15 o'clock Friday night he will speak at a public program being held by the Farmville Rotary Club in the college auditorium.

Dr. Barker has been the health advisor of many famous personalities, among them being William Howard Taft during the period when he was president of the United States.

In his talk to the college students Friday morning Dr. Barker will discuss "How to Make the Most Out of Life". His address will deal with three questions concerning young people: What are they going to do with their minds; what are they going to do with their characters; and what are they going to do with their bodies? In his discussion he will show how control over these problems may be exercised.

Friday night Dr. Barker will speak on the same subject.

There is no admission to the lecture and the students are invited to attend.

Allen, Patterson Propose Federation Of World After War

Continuing the discussions on the theme of the year, "A New World Order", Nancye Allen and Agnes Patterson presented papers at the meeting of Pi Gamma Mu last night in which they discussed whether there should and will be a United Nations existing after the end of World War II.

Nancye Allen clearly stated that among other things the League of Nations failed in the post war years of World War I due to the fact that the League lacked "positive leadership" and "a world outlook", that it lacked force to carry out its proposals and it was not a unified body representative of all nations as it was dominated by a "perpetuate association of the victors in the war". She intimated that of the causes for its failure the fact that the nations hemselves which made up the League of Nations were not ready for such a plan is one of the chief causes.

Agnes Patterson in discussing

Continued on Page 3

Cotillion Chooses March 27 for Dance

At the regular meeting of the Cotillion Club last night, March 27 was set as the date for the spring tea and formal dances. The alternate date selected by the club is the following week-end, April 1.

The meeting held last night was the first attended by the club's new members. Their regular seats were assigned at the close of the meeting.

War Welfare Drive To Begin Today

Speakers To Make Appeals In Chapel

Starting today, February 24, the Finance Committee of the College War Council and the Public Affairs Committee of the Y.W.C.A. will begin the War Welfare Campus Chest drive on this campus. The drive is composed of the Red Cross and the World Student Service drives, which heretofore have been held seperately. It will continue through the week of March 1 to March 6.

Dr. George W. Jeffers, professor of biology, will make the first appeal for the War Chest Campus Drive Thursday morning in chapel. There will also be special chapel speakers Friday and Saturday mornings. The committees plan to have Miss Victoria Lee, a Chinese girl, from Blackstone College as the Saturday chapel speaker.

Direct appeals will be made to the faculty and to each of the campus organizations. The dormitory halls will be canvassed and the table in the hall will be open each day during the campaign. One dollar per person is the goal of this drive.

There will also be an appeal made for books of any kind and description at this time. These books will be turned over to students in other countries.

Helen Wiley Hardy is chairman of the Finance Committee of the War Council and Hannah Lee Crawford is chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Prayers for the week, emphasizing World Brotherhood will be under the general direction of Nancy Hall, chairman of the Prayers Committee of the YWCA.

Crandall To Arrive March 1, To Speak

The Reverend Paul Crandall, associate pastor of the First Baptist Church in Richmond will be on this campus from March 1 through March 5 as a guest speaker for the "Spiritual Life Week" sponsored by the Baptist Student Union. He has just returned from Chicago and St. Louis where he attended the National Council of Religious Education. Before coming to Richmond, Mr. Crandall was Baptist Student Secretary in Arkansas.

Mr. Crandall will speak each night in prayers on the theme "Winning the Battle Within". At 10 o'clock on Tuesday night he will lead an informal discussion at the Y.W.C.A. in the Student Center. He will also speak in chapel during the week. Each afternoon Mr. Crandall will hold personal conferences with the students.

Spring Production Is Costume Fantasy

Play To Be Given By All Girl Cast

With Virginia Terrell of Richmond as Prunella and Jo Cooper of Farmville as Pierrot, the Dramatic Club will present its spring production, a three act costume fantasy, on March 6. Because so many of the Hampden-Sydney Jongleurs have been called into the army Laurence Housman and Granville Barker's "Prunella" will be presented by an all girl cast.

The play is the story of a young girl, innocent and sheltered by three old maid aunts, who, in spite of drawn blinds and locked garden gate is spirited away by a group of wandering singers because of her love for their leader. Three years elapse and Pierrot has lost his love and finds her only when he returns to the garden of Prunella, now overgrown and unkempt, to re-enact the scene of their meeting.

The complicated staging of the garden scene is under the direction of Susan Durrett, head of the staging group of the Dramatic Club. Brookie Benton is costuming the play and Sally Robertson has charge of the properties. Pat Maddox heads the music and Eleanor Feagans is the accompanist. Lighting for the play is directed by Nelle White, and Lucille Lewis will make up the cast.

In the cast are Virginia Terrell as Prunella, Jo Cooper as Pierrot, Libby Heath as Scaramel, and Fay Johnson, Lula Moss, and Frances Ferguson as the old maid aunts. The mummers include Martha Walsh as Kendal, Margaret Lemon as Hawk, Will Hall as Doll, Delia Rainey as Mouth, Lucille Winston as Romp, Pat Osborne as Coquette, Sally Johnson as Tawdry, and Frances Satterfield as Callow. The gardeners are Betty Cock, Helen McGuire, and Catherine Lynch. Lucy Manson takes the part of the speaking statue Love, and Frances Wentzel and Mary Sue Clark portray the servants of the aunts, Queer and Quaint. The part of the Boy in the garden is taken by Olive Bradshaw.

The gay costumes, the light music, the garden setting and the soft lighting contribute to the musical lines and to the mood of the fantasy, "Prunella". The play is written almost entirely in poetry and the mood is that of gaity, sadness, and love as the plot develops.

The play is under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler, assisted by Elsie Stossel, president of the Dramatic Club.

A. K. G. Recognizes 6 Students In Chapel

6 Seniors, 2 Juniors Tapped In Ceremony This Morning

Four seniors, Margaret Kitchin, of Virginia Beach; Sarah Wade Owen, of South Boston; Betty Reid, of Staunton; and Virginia Sedgley, of Bristol; and two juniors, Pasty Connelly, of Lebanon; and Frances Lee Hawthorne, of South Boston, were recognized by Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership fraternity, in chapel this morning.

Betty Youngberg, vice-president of the fraternity, made an introductory talk to the student body before the tapping service began. In it she outlined the purpose of Alpha Kappa Gamma and emphasized that membership in this organization is not so much an honor as a challenge to service in the future as well as the present.

Margaret Kitchin transferred from St. Mary's College, Raleigh, N. C., in her junior year. She is president of Association of Childhood Education, is a member of the Athletic Council, and is recording secretary of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority. She is also a member of the H2O Club and the Cotillion Club and is chairman of the College U.S.O. committee.

Sarah Wade Owen is president of the Panhellenic Association, is a member of the Athletic Council, and is a member of the Cotillion Club and Pi Kappa Sigma sorority. Sarah Wade ruled over the circus as queen in the fall.

Betty Reid is this year dining room hostess and president of Mu Omega sorority. She is also a member of Pi Gamma Mu and the Cotillion Club, and is treasurer of Beorc Eh Thorn.

Virginia Sedgley heads the local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta and is secretary-treasurer of Pi Gamma Mu. She is the Gleanings columnist on the Rotunda staff and is a member of Boerc Eh Thorn and Kappa Delta Pi.

Patsy Connelly is secretary of the Athletic Association and is also a member of the varsity basketball team. She is treasurer of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, a member of the Cotillion Club, and Kappa Delta Pi.

Frances Lee Hawthorne is secretary of the Y.W.C.A., is a member of Kappa Delta Pi, the Cotillion Club, and Pi Kappa Sigma sorority, and is active in the S. T. C. Choir.

Founders Day Set For Sat., March 6

Modified Program Affects One Class

Founders Day, an annual celebration at the college, will be held this year on March 6. It is a day set aside each year to commemorate the signing of a bill in 1884 to establish the first teacher training institution in Virginia. The day designated is always the Saturday that falls nearest the seventh of March. Since 1932 the day has been celebrated often with elaborate programs, but this year, due to the war, the day will be observed as a part of our regular program.

On Friday, March 5, at 8:30 p. m. in the large auditorium, Prunella will be presented by the Dramtic Club of the College under the general direction of Miss Leola Wheeler.

The program Saturday morning will be opened by a senior processional. Following the scripture reading by Rev. O. Worth May the College Choir will offer the Lords' Prayer. Miss Mary E. Peck, president of the Alumnae Association will welcome the guests followed by presentations and reports of various chapters of the Alumnae Association. Classes, other than the one scheduled for 12:40, will continue as usual on Founder's Day.

For years the alumnae were bound together through an effort to build a home for student activities on the campus. Today the Student Building stands as a memorial to Dr. Jarman's vision and his belief in the alumnae the college students, and the friends of the college.

While home-coming on Founders Day commemorates the signing of a General Assembly bill, it does more. Each year alumnae from all over the country remember their alma mater through letters, telegrams, and gifts. These thoughts help to make this college a home, and not just an institution.

Reporter Horns In On "Prunella Rehearsals"

War Takes Men But Not Interest or Action; Gaiety Runs High In Manless Production

By BETTY COCK

"Hey, you know your lines?"

"Sure . . . I think!"

"I'll sure be glad when the scenery's up. Those girls are ruining that poor curtain pullin' 'leaves' off it."

"Yeah . . . and the-little-statue-that-isn't-there gets on my nerves!"

"How can it, if it isn't there? You just hafta stand there and gape at an empty stage!"

"Oh, skip it, and come line-me-in on the second act."

Typical topics in a backstage glimpse, the above snatch was brought to you through the courtesy of your peeping reporter, who has just horned in on an early evening rehearsal of the Spring play, "Prunella", which is swinging along in fine fashion under the able direction of Miss Leola Wheeler.

Working along valiantly despite the numerous sicknesses and other complications that have interfered with regular rehearsals, the large cast of twenty or so girls has progressed steadily during the last two-and-a-half weeks, and confidently predicts success for the final triumph March 5 and 6.

Being completely deficient in vitamins M-E-N hasn't seemed to affect the feeling of the play, and anyhow, something new has been added! Instead of another modern drama, the Dramatic club has chosen a fantasy of the old English type, and the all-girl cast will be dressed for the kill in everything from the standard costume of Pierrot, and satin knee-breeches for the "men" to prim high-necked dresses for the old maid aunts and short, flared skirts for the "ladies what have gowns too short for their legs!"

Among highlights of the rehearsals are the threatening little songs of Olive Bradshaw, who portrays the Gardener's Boy, and the tricky dances of the light-hearted mummers. Then, too, there was the night a prop-door fell over and startled the cast out of character. It's fun to watch a seasoned sophomore like Virginia Terrell carrying out the child-like innocence of Prunella, and waitil you hear Jo Cooper's "Cuckoo"!

Lightness isn't the only theme, however. The love story of the carefree Pierrot and his new Pierette has just the tender touch of pathos needed to bring quick tears

Continued on Page 4

Helen Hardy Leads In Bond Queen Race In Local Contest

Helen Wiley Hardy, senior from Farmville, is in the lead for the title of Campus Bond Queen, Jane Cabell Sanford, editor of the Rotunda, announced yesterday. Dorothy Childress, from Christiansburg, follows close behind Helen Wiley with four hundred fewer votes.

Others who have been nominated are Betty Pat Lewis, Peggy Becker, Judy Eason, Jean Arington, Frances Craddock, Estelle Smith, Jac Hardy, and Sara Hardy.

The contest for Campus Bond Queen is being sponsored by The Rotunda in cooperation with the Finance Committee of the College War Council. The contest began Monday, February 15 and will continue through March 16. During this period the student body will select a candidate to compete with representatives from other colleges throughout the nation in a national contest being sponsored by the Associated Collegiate Press. The basis for selection of the local candidate will be beauty alone.

The winner of the national contest will be selected by a group of professional photographers, and her picture will be printed on the cover of an issue of the Collegiate Digest.

As stated in a recent Rotunda,

Continued on Page 4

Give That They May Live

The War Welfare Campus Chest drive was inaugurated today in Chapel. This drive is really a combination of the annual Red Cross Roll Call and the World Student Service Fund, which we are putting on in cooperation with the town of Farmville. Certain questions and possible objections arise as to whether one should donate one's spare cash to this drive when we realize that many students here in the United States are not financially able to attend college, much less help other nation's unfortunates. We are already asked to buy war bonds, contribute to the U. S. O., et cetera ad infinitum—should we even consider this new demand? After all, we can't support them all. If we do subscribe, how do we know our friends will be used by the needy or even reach their destination? But let us consider a few of these questions.

Build Now A Better World of Tomorrow

The beginning of the W. S .S. F. drive was back in 1937 when money was raised for students in war-torn China. With the spread of the war to Europe, a European fund was organized which later in the same year merged with the Chinese organization. As the war has spread, the Fund has expanded its activity to meet needs in all parts of the world. With the immense call for relief this year, the Red Cross and W. S. S. F. have combined their drives since the latter does not administer any funds in its own name anyway.

Thus, not only has it been found necessary to raise money for destitute students of foreign nations but this fund meets many needs exclusively among our students who are prisoners of war, refugees and internees. War prisoners are supposedly fed and clothed by captor governments but their minds and spirits stagnate without our aid. Books, recreation, medicine, and "universities" must be sent to these students. (A prisoner in Europe, requesting books said pathetically, "It does not matter if the books are difficult, for we have time enough to spend a day on a page.) But we immediately think that our first obligation is to American youth here at home who have no funds. Loans, scholarships and job opportunities are available to them while prisoners interned for the duration are not so fortunate. Thus a special claim is made upon us who are not handicapped.

American students should buy both war bonds and give to significant and far-reaching enterprises like the Red Cross and W. S. S. F. This student war relief is preparing for the winning of the peace. A military victory will be meaningless if the foundations have not already been laid for the reconstruction of our world. Student relief is already sharing in this reconstruction by salvaging the human material which will furnish a share of the leadership in the postwar world. And will not this helping of our brothers of the United Nations knit us together, bringing about a greater understanding to foster a lasting peace.

Realists, practicalists or whatever the less dreamy and imaginative of us ask why we should be concerned about the future when our immediate problems are so great. Franklin D. Roosevelt said recently :

"In the process of our working and fighting for victory we must never permit ourselves to forget the goal that is beyond victory. The defeat of Hitlerism is necessary so that there may be freedom; but this, like the last war, will produce nothing but destruction unless we prepare for the future now. We plan now for the better world that we aim to build."

Money collected from this drive will not be thrown casually to the four winds, but every penny will be placed where it will do the most good not only to our own boys but to the peoples of the United Nations who are less fortunate.

At present the outlook for democracy and humanitarianism and plain sanity is a little brighter. The little donkey Hitler and his playmates seem about to get a terrific kick in the pants. But sitting back and looking on will do nothing to further a speedy peace. Every person, young and old, must do his part and our most immediate part is to make the War Welfare Campus Chest drive a success. Just measly little sacrifices such as giving up a few cokes, that nightly hamburger, or a couple of movies can mean so much. Why a ten-cent hamburger has more bread than a French student has a day, more meat than he has a week and more butter than he has in a whole year.

When you are asked to make a contribution, do so cheerfully with the knowledge that you're helping to give the axe to the Axis. Give generously—a dollar or as much as you can. The few sacrifices we might make will certainly appear insignificant beside the sacrifices made by our boys on Guadalcanal and all the other fighting fronts.

—F. B. J.

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

Monday was the twenty-fifth anniversary of the Red Army and in its honor Joseph Stalin made an interesting speech. He asserted that the "Red Army alone is bearing the whole weight of the war" in the absence of a second front. He went on to describe the fighting and to remind the people that Germany was not conquered yet despite the victory of the Reds in Russia.

The Africa news did not seem to bear out the statement that the "Red Army alone" was feeling the power of the Germans. In Tunisia, the Nazi tank forces have driven within four miles of Thala, an important communications post. However, we must remember that we have green troops who have never seen any fighting against the crack German troops who have been battling in Russia. Also, our supply lines are long and weak while the Germans have a better route. Of course, it may be that Rommel is sending out motorized divisions to harass our green troops while he prepares for a bigger offensive. At any rate, the President told us to expect casualties. That is one of the evils that war brings.

Mohandas Gandhi is getting weaker and weaker as he begins the fourteenth day of his 21 day fast. The British had imprisoned him because he had started the nonviolence campaign to force the British to grant India immediate independence. He was arrested on August 9. He was imprisoned in the Aga Khan's palace at Poona but he wanted complete independence. Gandhi is 73, an age when a diet of water and fruit juices is not always the most nourishing. Should he die, he would become a martyr and cause the breach between Britain and India to be even wider.

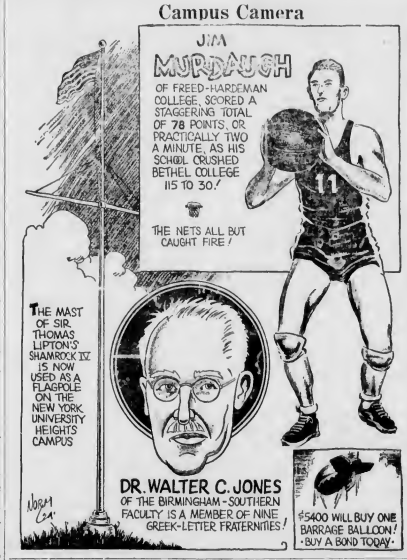
Since the WAAC representative visited here last week, the school has been buzzing with speculations about the opportunities and service rendered. The consensus of opinion seems to be that teachers are more needed now than ever before and that our duty and service lies in the classroom rather than the army. If we did all the things and joined all the groups that we are supposed to, we certainly would be wacky.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

VOICE OF VICTORY

Jane Cabell Sanford — Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers — Managing Editor
Elva Andrews — Business Manager



Associate Editors

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... News Editor
Fay Byrd Johnson ..... Feature Editor
Shirley Pierce ..... Sports Editor
Jane Smith ..... Social Editor
Lilly Bee Gray ..... Copy Editor
Sara Jeffreys ..... Photographic Editor

In Charge of This Issue: Fay Byrd Johnson

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 24, 1943

Campus Camera

Letters to the Editor . . .

Dear Editor:-

There is a condition about which we are all aware and about which we should surely be ashamed. We refer to the disgraceful manner in which we "scramble" out of the auditorium after chapel.

We, as seniors, are required to attend chapel only twice a week; however, we have come to dread these two occasions because we are stampeded by freshmen and sophomores as we attempt to march out of the auditorium. The marching is done to save time. It has been proved that the entire student body can evacuate the auditorium in much less than five minutes if done in an orderly manner but due to the mad rush which takes place after every chapel period it requires fully ten minutes. Not only does this waste time but to anyone sitting on the stage it looks like a "brawl". Only the back doors of the auditorium are supposed to be used as exits; however, few of the sophomores and almost no freshmen observe this rule. Dr. Jarman has requested that each girl stay in her place until her turn comes to march out.

We hope that you will take this in the right spirit and do your utmost to improve a disgusting condition.

BROOKIE BENTON
ANNE ROGERS
MARY F. BOWLES

Dear Editor.

The Public Affairs Committee of the Y. W. C. A. and the War Finance Committee of the War Council have cooperated to combine all drives on the campus into one which is to be called the "War Chest Campus Drive." The drive is arranged in this manner for our convenience. Under this plan we can give all that we possibly can at one time to many various funds. Other colleges have adopted this plan, and it operates very successfully. I am very glad that we are going to attempt the same project.

We have a great deal, and yet, we give very little. It is easy to give a nickel or a dime now and then, but you do not really feel the joy of giving unless you give until it hurts. Why do we not try it this time? We could sit down and count up how much those movies and cokes cost that only gave us pleasure for the moment, and, then plan to give the money that we would spend on personal pleasure to the War Chest Campus Drive. It is certain that we will be happier for having given bountifully and willingly.

The committee can count on us. When we hear a knock on our door this week, we will not frown and hand somebody a nickel or a dime; we will smile and give all that we can.

Sincerely,
Agnes Patterson

Sez Betty Cock:

There Are Such Things - - -

Valentines from Tech . . . people who respect Busy signs . . . extra special late lights . . . chocolate pies . . . sweet potatoes . . . hot water on the third floors . . . frozen cokes . . . frozen shoes . . . Mary Muffet Originals at Baldwin's . . . buns at Longwood . . . bananas . . . War Stamps to be bought . . . dates in the Rec . . . Hampden-Sydney wolves (Haw!) . . . clean sheets on Fridays . . . second helpings of ice-cream . . . V-Mail from Australia . . . double-class cuts . . . borrowed articles returned . . . toast and jelly at Midnight . . . call-downs . . . rubber shower caps . . Halo shampoo . . . carbon-paper brunettes . . . natural blondes . . . water-battles . . . Varga girls . . . discarded rat-caps . . . cold-cream and curlers . . . Greyhound busses running on schedules . . . nylon hose . . . crackers and cheese . . . ant-less window-sills . . . studying during study-hour . . . culprits in closets . . . stuffed animals . . . heat in the radiators . . . people who buy their own cigarettes . . . Bubble-baths . . . Lux-suds-specials . . . pie-beds . . . angora sox . . . long-distance-phone-calls . . . hot-fudge sundaes . . . wavey bangs . . . blind dates . . . little moron jokes . . . people who ask to ride King Cole . . . physical fitness . . . zero weather (Hey!—I know where that is!) . . . warning slips . . . room warnings . . . S-s-s-snakesss . . . cokes in the machines . . . unanswered mail . . . mail . . . triple-features (at the Lee) . . . week end visitors . . . skirts 'n' sweaters . . . dimouts in the Rec . . . love-sick Freshmen . . . engaged Seniors (don't forget the outraged ones!) . . . trench-coats 'n' boots . . . accurate laundry lists . . . yard-wide kerchiefs . . . short history assignments . . . Hershey-bars . . . people who keep diaries . . . two nickels for a dime . . . civilians . . . Soph'more productions . . . doctors there on time . . . excused tardies . . . sugar . . . blue fingernail polish . . . trash-can-substitutes . . . S. T. C. Specials at the Southside . . . war-widows . . . skirts with zippers . . . bobby-pins . . . asparagus and rice . . . touchy subjects . . . gullible people . . . Fire clubs . . . quilted house-coats . . . cold showers . . . Esquires . . . hall-presidents . . . people who knock . . . total abstainers . . . late sleepers . . . unexcused absences . . . 9:05 classes . . . noisy vics . . . unsliced bread . . . chocolate fudge . . . typewriters that work . . . sleepy feature writers . . . and . . Dead-lines to be met?

Information, Please . . .

Don't like to be inquisitive, but . . . can you tell me

Why B. Bridgeforth suddenly changed her plans about the long talked about Washington trip . . . Who the long pants were with Frances Lee Hawthorne at church Sunday . . . How Becky Lacy is going to get along without Glenn Campbell whom she has dated, gossip has it, every day for the past three weeks? . . . Are Lucille Lewis and her Tom really getting serious? . . . Why Charlotte suddenly turned traitor to the Kappa Sigs for Tommy Combellick? . . .

Who the freshman is who is dating E. Campbell? Seems he has a one track mind! . . . Who those people were who tried to wake up every body in Junior Building at nine o'clock Sunday morning? . . . Why Felly's letters have taken on an aggravating tone? . . . Why five lieutenants were lounging under Pagie's window Sunday afternoon? . . . If after Tuesday, Scotty will be carrying the torch. Here's hoping it doesn't "blink" out . . . What Peggy T. was doing in the Rec with Allan Fox Saturday afternoon? . . . What happened to Randy Trice and B. Wright? . . . Who was the attractive young man with Mary W. W. all week end? . . . If party girl Fauntleroy had a good time at the Institute?

Which of the Harvie gals was the happiest, Lucy with her rat ring or Margaret with Key-ard? . . Why Pie wasnt hooked? Army is right bad competition, isn't it, Twitch? . . . Was the meeting of Dodie and Rick in Fredericksburg a coincidence or rendezvous? . . . What was the Ellett Chile doing with the good "Goo" Saturday afternoon.

How Sarah Wade (Bed-bug) Owen is getting her basic training for her life work here? Has anyone disappeared lately?

What that commotion was in front of Junior building Monday night about 10:45? The three "cute" seniors (gues who?) seemed to be giving their H.-S. friends a grand send-off!

What a long week-end would be if A. P. took a short one?

Did Miggie ever get to V. P. I.?

Please put the correct answers to all questions on the Home Office Mantle or if there is anything you'd like to know, you may address your questions to the Snoop Sisters, care of the Rotunda.

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

It is most necessary that you know about the War Welfare Campus Chest Drive which begins tomorrow. And knowing you will want to dig down deep into your pocketbook so that the students in war zones and occupied territory, and the Red Cross may use that money as you couldn't possibly conceived of its being used! Last year we raised $250 for the World Student Service Fund alone. But this year you will be giving to the Red Cross at the same time. Half of what you give will go to each fund. You will want to give generously wits vision of your money being turned into books and bandages for those who need them badly.

The Freshman Commission is worthy of much praise for the way they have been buying bonds and sponsoring the campaign for nickels for soldiers cigarettes.

Prayer thoughts for the week are:

Wednesday—Whoever in prayer can say, 'Our Father," acknowledges and should feel the brotherhood of the whole race of mankind.

—Tryon Edwards

Thursday—To live is not to live for one's self alone; let us help one another.

—Menander

Friday—The crest and crowning of all good, life's final star, is brotherhood.

—Edwin Markham

Monday—Christianity is not a theory or speculation, but a life; not a philosophy of life, but a life and a living process.

—Coleridge

Tuesday—The steady discipline of intimate friendship with Jesus results in men becoming like Him.

—Dr. Harry Emerson Fosdick

Just Looking, Thanks

An epidemic of spring fever spread over S.T.C. this week end bringing with it crazy doings from sunbathings to taking pictures. That is, of course, it affected those of us who were left here to enjoy it.

Final flings were held at Tech before the Juniors and Seniors leave next week end with German Club Privates and the Seabbard and Blade dance. The S.T.C.'ers attending were Betty Sexton, Anne Seay, Marilyn Bell, Mildred Corvin, Vera Fifer, Margie Hewlett, Jeanne Richardson, Miggie Mish, Jackie McCoy, Martha Patterson, Charlotte Greeley, Faye Nimmo, and Betty Youngberger.

Anne Brooks and Nancy Powell went to hear the National Symphony orchestra under the direction of Hans Kindler at the Mosque in Richmond.

And speaking of Richmond Patsy Connelly and Nancy Revely attended the Medical College dance there this week end. Warwick Mitchell and Claire Parker Westbrook journeyed to Ashland for the dances at Randolph-Macon and Evelyn Renfro attended the fraternity parties at Washington and Lee.

V.M.I. midwinters claimed Ann Giesen, Jean White, Nancy Weeks, Polly Cammack, Mary Ann Biggs, Betsy Caldwell and Dearing Fauntleroy.

A good many departed homeward this week end . . . some to go Easter shopping . . . some to see brothers off to war . . . and some to just plain visit. A few of those who departed thence were Marjorie Vaughan, Kitty Vaughan, Betty Jackson, Charles Anna Price, Helen Wilson, Dorothy Holleman, Ruth Fleming, Lucy Manson, Jackie Farden, Freddie Ann Butt, Betty Pat Lewis, Helen Smith, Louise Andrews, Jerry Titmus, Joscelyn Gillum, Bridget Gentile, Frances Mallory, Barbara White, Ann Wiseman, Nell and Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, and Betty Kiger.

Dr. and Mrs. Thomas Griffin Hardy, of Farmville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Sara Matthews, to Aviation Cadet Charles Armistead Blanton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Wyndham B. Blanton, of Richmond.

Sara is a member of the Junior class at Farmville State Teachers College and is manager of varsity hockey. She has been a member of the May Court and Mardi Gras Court for the past three years.

Charlie is now stationed at the United States Air Station in Corpus Christie, Texas.

No date has been set for the wedding.

Buy War Bonds
Every Pay Day
★ ★ ★
Let's Double
Our Quota

PEOPLES
NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
New spring anklets
ESPECIALLY WHITE
—Also—
New Pastel Colors
SEE OUR ASSORTMENT

PATRONIZE
PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
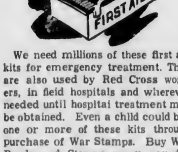
PATTERSON'S
DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Government Seeks Scientific Aids

Women are now being sought to fill positions as technical and scientific aids in the Federal Government. They are needed to do research and testing in the following fields: chemistry, geology, geophysics, mathematics, metallurgy, meterology, physics, and radio. The positions pay $1,620 to $2,600, plus overtime.

Applicants may qualify through experience or education. For the assistant grade, applications will be accepted from persons who have completed one year of paid experience or a war training course approved by the U. S. Office of Education. One year of college study, including one course in the option applied for, is also qualifying. Persons now enrolled in war training or college courses may apply, subject to completion of the course. For the higher grades successively greater amounts of education or experience are required.

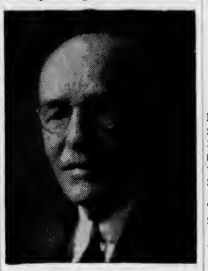
The majority of positions are in Washington, D. C., but some will be filled in other parts of the United States. There are no age limits, and no written test is required. Applications and complete information may be obtained from first- and second-class post offices, from civil service regional offices, and from the Commission in Washington, D. C. Applications will be accepted at the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., until the needs at the service have been met.



Trainee positions in technical and scientific work will be filled in Washington, D. C., and vicinity. The salary is $1,440 a year plus overtime, and the only educational requirement is that the applicant must have completed one high school credit of physics, chemistry, mathematics, biology, or general science. There are no options.

Creighton Addresses Home Economics Club

Miss Martha Creighton, Supervisor of Home Economics Education in Virginia, will speak to the Home Economics Club in the small auditorium, Monday evening, March 1, at eight o'clock.



All new members will be initiated into full membership of the club at this time.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS
Essential in the equipment of every Soldier, Sailor, Marine or Flyer is a first aid kit, consisting of bandages and antiseptics for instantaneous use. These materials are packed into a compact box and cost about $1.50 each.

We need millions of these first aid kits for emergency treatment. They are also used by Red Cross workers, in field hospitals and wherever needed until hospital treatment may be obtained. Even a child could buy one or more of these kits through purchase of War Stamps. Buy War Bonds and Stamps every pay day and invest at least ten percent of your income in these government securities. U. S. Treasury Department

Chapel Speaker . . .

DR. CHARLES E. BARKER

Specialists Needed To Assist In Keeping Government Records

Historical specialists for work in connection with the preservation of significant records for the Nation, are sought for Federal employment, the U. S. Civil Service Commission announced today. Salaries are $2.6000 to $6.5000 a year.

The duties include determining what records should be preserved and methods for preserving them, preparing chronological accounts of the origins, authorizations, administrative structures, developments and other events of possible historical significance of particular agencies, recording and describing noteworthy inter-agency relationships.

Applicants must have completed all requirements for a bachelor's degree in a college or university of recognized standing. Courses totalling 30 semester hours must have been completed in the following subjects: history, geography, economics, political science, sociology, statistics, and social anthropology, at which at least 12 semester hours must have been in history.

Research experience or college teaching in a social science field in which the historical and evolutionary approach was emphasized, is required. In general, for the assistant grade at $2,600 a year, one year of such experience is needed. Six months of this must have been in American historical research involving the use of government or business documents or administrative records, which resulted in the production of one or more reports demonstrating a thorough knowledge of historical research methods. Graduate study may in some cases be substituted for experience. Additional experience of higher quality is required for positions which involve increased responsibility.

Appointments will be to positions in Washington, D. C., and other cities in the United States. There are no age limits and no written examination will be given. Applications will be accepted at the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C., until further notice, but qualified persons are asked to apply immediately. Applications and complete information may be obtained at first- and second-class post offices, from civil service regional offices, and from the Civil Service Commission at Washington, D. C.

Alpha Phi Sigma Has Miss Mix as Speaker

Miss Grace E. Mix spoke to the members of the Delta Chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity at their regular meeting last week on "Religion in This Changing World". She used as her central theme the never changing things in the ever changing world.

"The basic things of life", Miss Mix said, "never change. They are God, ourselves, and our Meditator, that is, that which helps us find God and God find us."

At the same meeting Mrs. Boyd Coyner, Executive secretary of the Alumnae Association spoke on what "We as College Can Do For Our College". She urged the student sto help the Alumnae office keep up to date with the whereabouts of the 6000 graduates of Farmville. She also spoke of personal advertising of the college to prospective students, and asked members of Alpha Phi Sigma to play host to any high school students who visit on the campus.

Quiz Enthusiasts Answer and How!

Funnies, News Reel, Spiders; Pickett Knowledge Required for Correct Reply

by Gladys Wilson

"Around what year was the last heir born to the Netherlands royal family?" Quiz mistress Jane Sanford looks expectantly at the group of contestants whose answers will determine whether or not they will have places on the 1943 version of the Quiz Team. The silence is sterile in its blankness.

Now the tall guessing begins. "Oh, it must have been around 17- or 18-."

Finally, a small voice from the rear pipes up, "1851". Yesterday's news reel has saved the day.

"What's all this?" you ask. Questions are in the air, and we are taking you behind the scenes to expose the "Brain Trust" at S. T. C. Last week we felt almost awe-struck whenever we chanced to meet in the hall one of those "intellectuals" who had passed the preliminary try-outs for the Quiz Team. Curiosity came to take the place of our solemn wonder. Circuitous rumors concerning the questions on Red (written and oral) led us to do a little investigating. We didn't carry a "big stick", but we did "step softly". We made some interesting discoveries and came to the conclusion that there is no room for "specialization" where this quiz business is concerned. You've just got to know everything about everything.

Although this is not an expose in the strict sense of the word we, according to all rules of the game, shall present the ludicrous side of the matter to you first.

One of the most laugh—provoking answers was given to the question: "What important historical event is connected with Plymouth, Vermont? Back came the innocent reply, "The landing of the Pilgrims". We bet you didn't know the right answer. (Hint: It has something to do with an American president).

It has become almost a proverb that to digest the day's news one must first read the funnies. That S.T.C.'ers usually take this precaution was demonstrated when there was an inquiry concerning the cause of Minnie-Ha-Ha's death. The ready reply — "Drafty Peepees".

As Red to name various parts of the body associated with songs one musically inclined student gave "The Touch of Your Hand"; "I've Got You Under My Skin"; faltered, and then got the inspiration, "Nobody Knows the Trouble I've Seen."

Hard as it was for everyone to visualize the spider in the role of patriot they decided that if he was used in conjunction with the war effort then it must be in the making of parachutes. (Bomb sights is his specialty really). Others who allowed their scientific knowledge to be colored by favortism named Mr. Charlie "Hop" French as the famous scientist who began his education in Farmville. We are sure that Dr. Walter Reed would appreciate the compliment.

The Camp Pickett influence was brought into the light when it was revealed that not a single person missed out on giving George Pickett as the man for whom the camp is named. But many insisted on giving a major general five stars instead of the two that belong to him. No one was caught on the question, "What famous institution of learning is located on the Appomattox River?

In the results of the try-outs Hampden-Sydney can match Farmville in the realm of the ridiculous. Confronted on the written exam with the sports terms: hoop artists, leather pushers, and egg beaters one boy grightly wrote, "doople drips, fripple flops, and droozle flips" when he should have put basketball, boxing, and motorboat racing. "A couple of dames" were given as the co-authors of "When Our Hearts Were Young and Gay" (Cornelia Otis Skinner and Emily Kimbrough). And we could go on.

Seriously, though, many questions that have stumped the experts on "Information, Please" were answered with unexpected glibness by our contestants. And on our official investigation report we record this, S. T. C. "Brain Trust" — "Desirable Monopoly", Able to Withstand All Attacks from Tigers.

C. E. Chappell Co.
Fountain Service
Visit us for the BEST
PHONE 63

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL
CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

Crumpler Says "15 Down, 10 to Go" In Cigarette Fund

Minnie Lee Cdumpler, treasurer of the Freshman Commission, announced last night that to date the student body has contributed 15 dollars toward the fund to send cigarettes to servicemen in outposts overseas.

The Freshman Commission is working in cooperation with S. A. Whitehead, Jr., local representative of the Liggett and Myers Tobacco Company, who have agreed to send one package of Chesterfield cigarettes overseas for every five cents contributed.

The goal set by the Commission for the fund is 25 dollars and jar has been placed on the table in the hall for further contributions.

Propose Federation

Continued from Page 1

how far imperialism will be justified in "The New World Order" stated that there should be no toleration of imperialistic ambitions after the present war. She also proposed that a Federation of Nations be set up as a result of "internationalization", and that to insure against imperialism, colonies should be eliminated through a process to be supervised by a council representing the Federation of Nations.

A panel discussion on these topics will be held at the next program meeting of the group.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

For Exercise . .
BOWL at . . .
BOWLING ALLEY
NEWMAN'S
Downstairs in Shannon's
OLLIE G. PILLOW
Manager

VISIT US
DAILY
FOR ALL YOUR SPRING
NEEDS
Davidson's, Inc.

Red and White Chalks Up 3 Point Margin To Win Meet

Juniors Star In Class Contest On Thursday

Red and White splashed a narrow 19 to 16 margin over the Green and White team in the annual swimming meet last Thursday night at the College pool.

Four events were run off in the contest including the 40 yard crawl, 40 yard breast stroke, 40 yard back stroke, and a 75 yard relay. Diving was not counted in the competition.

In the 40 yard crawl, Frances Parham placed first for Green and White, and Martha Jean Leavett and Ruth Dugger, second and third respectively, for the red team.

Competing for the 40 yard breast stroke title were Frances Lee, Gloria Pollard, and M. Davis for the Red and White and Ellen Ebel and Jean Smith for the opponents. Pollard placed first, Lee was disqualified, Ebel placed second, and Smith third.

Jennette Garrison timed a 33.5 seconds for a first place rating in the back stroke event, Frances Parham was second, and Betty Little third. Also in the event was M. Hudson.

Gloria Pollard, Ruth Dugger, and Martha Jean Leavett placed a first in the 75 yard medley relay for the red team in 46.0. Frances Parham, Jean Smith and A. Hume swam for the Green and White team.

This year's meet, chalking a victory for the Red and White team, was a close race and brought many spectators to cheer for the colors. Representatives on the class teams are: M. J. Leavett, E. Humphreys, Frances Lee, M. Davis, M. Hudson, and P. Watts, freshmen; Betty Little, Jean Smith, and A. Hume, sophomores; J. Garrison, R. Dugger, Gloria Pollard, and M. Droste, juniors; and F. Parham and E. Ebel, seniors.

Officials were Miss Elizabeth Burger, Miss Olive T. Iler, Jean Carr, and Shirley Pierce. Mildred Droste and Ellen Ebel, managers of swimming, were in charge of the meet.

Local G. Callens . . .

Swimming meet directors Ellen Ebel and Mildred Droste shown as they supervise a practice at the college pool.

3 S.T.C. Swimmers Rank High in Meet

Mary Washington Wins First Honor

State Teachers College swimmers have just received a scoring on the results of the December Telegraphic meet which ranked three of our swimmers in high scoring.

Two events were scored in the meet, the 100-yard breast stroke and the 40-yard crawl. In the 100-yard breast stroke Ellen Ebel placed fifth place with a timing of 2:11.3. The first place winner in this event was Meta Epsberg of Mary Washington College with a timing of 1:41.

In the 40-yard free-style Martha Jean Leavitt, freshman from Florida, placed second with a timing of 24.9, and Ruth Dugger, junior from Denbigh, Virginia placed third. Her timing was 26.30. First place time was won in 24.7 by Ellen Trimble, Mary Washington College.

The telegraphic meet is run off by the colleges in the state each month and records sent by each college to Mary Washington College in Fredericksburg, in charge of the State meet. Results are totaled and a rating sent to each of the colleges. Results from the January and February meets have not been received yet.

Mildred Droste, manager of varsity swimming is in charge of the meets.

Prunella Rehearsal

Continued from Page 1

to the eyes of the watchers, and to keep suspense running high throughout the three enchanting acts. The charm of the out-door garden, and the jolly gruffness of the three rustic gardners, lend an air of reality to the poetic setting, and the backstage sound effects foretell infatuating fun and frolic.

Bewitchingly presented, the epic selected for this spring's performance promises to please faculty, student body, alumnae, and visitors, regardless of age or interest, and is being awaited with eager anticipation, not only by the prospective audience, but by the zealous players themselves.

Bond Queen

Continued from Page 1

as many students may enter the contest on this campus as see fit, but each student must have at least 1,875 initial votes. That is, before anyone may become a candidate, she must have received 1,875 votes. Candidates may nominate themselves but they cannot be nominated by organized groups or faction.

Each cent spent for War Bonds of War Stamps entitles the purchaser to one vote in the contest. The Campus Bond Queen will be the one receiving greatest number of votes, and in case of a tie the staff of the Rotunda will select the candidate for the national contest.

Local candidates may belong to any class in college.

Only bonds and stamps purchased on or after February 15 and up to and including March 16 may be voted in the contest. Votes must be cast at the time of purchase and the college stamp booth will be the only authorized agency at which students may vote.

Helen Hardy, chairman of the War Finance Committee, has agreed to have some person at the College Stamp Booth for this purpose.

In addition to the votes recorded several people have brought War Defense Stamps and Bonds who have not yet received their votes. There are still some 5000 votes of this type to be cast.

Ping Pong Tourney Nears First Round To Determine Winner

This year's ping pong tournament, under the management of Dottie Sue Simmons, has reached the final round for all contestants. The tournament will continue for another week or two and at that time a final match will determine the winner.

A new system was used this season which allowed the contest to be played by three groups, those living in Cunningham Hall, as one group, another from Library—Main; and a third from White House and Student Building. In each of these groups players were matched and a series of games have been played. From the junior and senior group F. Hawthorne defeated D. Simmons; R. Dugger defeated R. Rogers, and other matches must be played off this week or a default will be called.

From Library-Main section the entire matches have been completed and C. Lambert finished in first place in the finals. The group will now wait until the other halls have completed their matches and then challenge games will be played. In this group, C. Lambert defeated M. Mease, B. Buchanan won over J. Crump and then Lambert defeated B. Buchanan.

Still running off matches are the contestants from White House and Student. R. Jones defeated O. Whittle, P. Watts scored over N. Lively, and P. Watts won the match with Jones. B. B. Scott and J. McCoy called a default and P. Watts defeated R. Jones. This section will complete their games as soon as a few finish their matches.

The three winners will play and the final winner will score color cup points for her class colors.

Physical Fitness Program

BASKETBALL—Tuesday, Wednesday, 5:00 P. M.; Thursday, 6:00 P. M.

VOLLEYBALL — Tuesday, Thursday, Friday, 8:00 P. M. Saturday, (make-up)

SWIMMING—Wednesday, Friday, 5:30 P.M.; Thursday, 9:00 P. M.; Saturday, 8:00 P. M. (make-up)

FOLK DANCE—Monday, 8:00 P. M.; Thursday, Friday, 5:00 P. M.

MILITARY AND GYMNASTICS—Monday, Wednesday, Friday, 6:00 P. M.

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Gymnastics and Military Tactics

These exercises for physical fitness regularly engaged in are helpful in preventing and correcting postural defects and developing good body mechanics, through maintaining the suppleness of the joints and elasticity of the muscles. The well arranged drills will produce a marked increase in circulation and respiration and have a wholesome influence on the metabolic process. The goal of systematic practice of these exercises is an erect, well-balanced body, with developed musculature, as well as increased strength and endurance. Girls enrolled in this class are directed by Miss Mary Barlow, head of the Department of Physical Education. Both light and medium exercises are being used. The class has been divided up into a number of squads under squad leaders. Anyone who wishes may exercise with the class at any time.

A Goal in Basketball . . .

Class games will be played off soon and a large number are now "out for practice". Each class has elected a basketball captain and organized games which are now being played. Others who wish to play on their class team may do so, but eight practices are necessary. Basketball practices on Tuesday and Wednesday afternoons at 5 o'clock p. m. and on Thursday at 6 o'clock p. m. Remember your playing on a class team will bring a score for your color in the color cup race.

A schedule of games will be posted in the near future. As yet no varsity basketball games have been secured, however, Sara Wade Owen, manager of varsity basketball is trying to contact several schools. Due to the transportation situation games as previously arranged were discontinued.

Farmville High School vs. Frosh

Several weeks ago the freshman basketball squad, coached by Jean Carr played the Farmville High School team on the S. T. C. court and won over their opponents. The old saying, "Turn about is fair play" still holds true, anyway it happened when the high school team defeated the freshman team last Friday night. The game was a fast one, but the score was close and neither team stayed in the lead by a large margin. The high school team is coached by Miss Agnes Bondurant and Anne Ellett. The freshman team has always played several stilts with near-by schools, but this year it's the same old story; transportation has cut the program.

Merry Maids Make Their Mark

Racing to a finish the Red and White team scored over the Green and White swimmers last Thursday when all the classes clashed for the swim title. This annual event is one which always brings a large group of spectators to praise their class contestants in the interclass meet. Each girl in her class team had at least eight practices and thus scored points for her color by being a member of the team. Mildred Droste and Ellen Ebel were in charge of the meet.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
PHONE 139

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

EVERYTHING . . .
. . . YOU WANT . . .
. . . FOR SPRING
—AT—
DOROTHY MAY

Just Received . . .
NEW SHIPMENT OF
KNITTING WOOL
7 NEW PASTEL COLORS
SE-LING SHEER . . .
Rayon and Nylon Mixture Hose
SPECIAL $1 15
LOVELY NEW PASTEL . . .
SKIRTS AND SWEATERS
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Appreciates Your Patronage

Wilson's Firestone Store
Here's What You've Always Wanted—Guide Books to the Lives and Recorded Music of the Great Composers:
Tchaikowsky, Mozart, Bach, Wagner, Beethoven, Brahms
ONLY EACH 25c
FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

THE BEST IN TOWN
Can't be beat for doing your clothes to — perfection.
DeLUXE CLEANERS
PHONE 77

STARDUST BLOUSES
$1.25
ROSE'S

MARTINS—
See us for finest quality stationery
Martin the Jeweler

MAKE—
Your Headquarters
This Year
Shannon's

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY LYNCHBURG COCA-COLA BOTTLING WORKS, INC.
(Farmville, Va.)

Join the Victory Parade; Vote for Bond Queen

The Rotunda

Use Your Cents; Support War Chest

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1943 No. 18

Five-Man Brain Trust To Battle H.-S. Soon

Shanklin Sole Veteran of '42 Team; Date of Quiz-a-Roo Still Unknown

On a date in the near future yet to be set, Dawn Shanklin, Ann Ware Smith, Virginia Kent Sedgley, Elizabeth McCoy, and Jane Waring Ruffin will challenge a team from Hampden-Sydney College in the annual Quiz-a-Roo, sponsored on this campus by Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary leadership fraternity. The S. T. C. team was selected by written and oral eliminations lasting over a period of several weeks. The written test was prepared from questions submitted by members of the faculty and oral eliminations were based on selected questions from various sources.

Four of the girls on the team are seniors and the fifth a sophomore. From Lynchburg comes Dawn Shanklin, a veteran from last year's quiz team and a senior home economics major. Anne Ware Smith from Beckley, W. Va. is a comemrcial student and has been active on Government and on the House Council and is business manager of the 1943 Virginian.

Virginia Kent Sedgley, a transfer from Illinois State Teachers College, is a senior major in English, and has been active in Pi Gamma Mu, Kappa Delta Pi, Beore Eh Thorn, Pi Kappa Delta and was recently bid by Alpha Kappa Gamma. She is also on the staff of the Colonnade and the Rotunda. Elizabeth McCoy, from Monterey, is majoring in social science, and is a member of the staff of the Virginian and the Dramatic Club.

Jane Waring Ruffin, the lone underclassman, is a sophomore major in English. She is from Charles City County and is on the staff of the Rotunda, the Virginian, and Colonnade, and is a member of Beore Eh Thorn, Alpha Phi Sigma, and the Dramatic Club.

Definite plans are under way for the contest between Hampden-Sydney Tigers and the team from Farmville, though no date has yet been set for the event. Last year the Tigers defeated the Five Smart Girls from S. T. C., and this year's five are wound up to avenge the loss. The winner of the contest will receive the loving cup presented by Pi Delta Epsilon at Hampden - Sydney College. The team who first wins the contest for three successive years will be privileged to retain the cup.

The Hampden-Sydney team was scheduled to be selected yesterday and the results have not yet been revealed.

Ann Snyder Cops Top Poetry Honors

Cock, Harvie Also Contest Winners

The judges of the annual Colonnade poetry contest which closed on February 22, have announced that Ann Snyder's "Native Again" captured first honors. She will be awarded three dollars in War Stamps. Ann is a transfer from Averett College. She is a member of the junior class and is from Newport News.

Second prize goes to Betty Cock for her poem "The Greatest Art". Betty is a freshman also from Newport News and is active in extra-curricular activities. She will be awarded two dollars in War Stamps.

Margaret Harvie will be awarded one dollar in War Stamps for her "Song of the Sea" which captured third place in the contest.

The judges also decided that Julia Messick's "Seasons" and Katherine Tindall's "A Little Old Lady" should receive honorable mention.

Every member of the student body except members of the Colonnade staff were eligible. There were no specified qualifiacations for entries and no limit to the number of entries. The winning poems will be published in the next issue of the Colonnade.

Judges for the contest were Miss Lucille Jennings and Miss Mary Clay Hiner of the English department; Mr. M. Boyd Coyner, head of the psychology department; Jeanne Strick, representing the student body at large; and Lois Alphin and Carolyn Rouse, poetry editors of the Colonnade.

College To Honor Founders In Celebration On Saturday

Dramatists To Present "Prunella" As Conclusion To Day's Program

Climaxing and concluding the Founders Day program, the State Teachers College Dramatic Club will present a three act costume fantasy, "Prunella" by Laurence Housman and Granville Barker in the college auditorium at 8 o'clock on the night of Saturday, March 6. Cast as Prunella is Virginia Terrell of Richmond and in the male lead as Pierrot is Jo Cooper, of Farmville.

Tickets for both students and outsiders will go on reserve at 9 o'clock Friday morning, March 5, at Patterson's Drug Store. The play is being presented to the student body of the college as one of the series of scheduled Lyceums.

Presented by an all star girl cast the play will include Virginia Terrell as Prunella, Jo Cooper as Pierrot, Libby Heath as Scaramel, and Fay Johnson, Lula Moss, and Frances Ferguson as the old maid aunts. The mummers include Martha Walsh as Kendal, Margaret Lemmon as Hawk, Will Hall as Dull, Della Rainey as Mouth, Lucille Winston as Romp, Pat Osborne as Coquette, Sally Johnson as Tawdry, and Frances Satterfield as Callow. The gardeners are Betty Cock, Helen McGuire, and Catherine Lynch. Lucy Manson takes the part of the speaking statue Love, and Frances Wentzel and Mary Sue Clark portray the servants of the aunts, Queer and Quaint. The part of the Boy in the garden is taken by Olive Bradshaw.

The play itself is concerned with an innocent child who is lured and lost by Pierrot, a wandering singer. The prim old maid aunts and the stiff gardeners add comedy to the fantasy and the singing troupe lend gaiety and lightness. The colorful costumes, the light music, the garden setting and the soft lighting add to the musical lines and the mood of the play.

The play is under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler assisted by Elsie Stossel, president of the Dramatic Club.

Founders Day will officially begin at 12 o'clock noon on Saturday, March 6, with the exercises in the auditorium, Miss Mary E. Peck, president of the Alumnae Association announced this week. The senior class will open the program with a processional to the Alma Mater followed by the scripture reading by the Rev. O. Worth May, rector of Johns Memorial Episcopal Church. The A'Capella Choir will then offer the Lord's Prayer in song.

Agnes Patterson, president of the Student Government, will preside over the part of the program devoted to the students, at which time the various student organizations will make their gifts to the college. A trio of girls, Beth Johnson, Lucy Messick and Julia Messick will render a group of war songs.

FOUNDERS DAY EVENTS

12:00 Noon—Exercises in the auditorium
- Processional—Senior Class—Alma Mater
- Scripture Reading—Rev. O. Worth May
- The Lord's Prayer—ACapella Choir
- Student Program
  - Gifts to the College from student organizations
  - Agnes Patterson, president of student body, presiding
  - War Songs—Beth Johnson, Julia Messick, Lucy Messick
- Alumnae Program
  - Greetings from Alumnae President Miss Mary E. Peck
  - Presentation of Portraits Miss C. B. Taliaferro Miss Virginia Bedford
  - Reports from Alumnae—Mrs. M. B. Coyner
  - Appreciations—Chairman of Founders Day Committee—M. B. Coyner
  - Response—Dr. J. L. Jarman
  - Recessional — Kipling's "God of Our Fathers" (Audience standing as students leave the auditorium)

1:30 P. M.—Alumnae Luncheon in the Tea Room

6:00 P. M.—Dinner Music by the College Orchestra, Miss Lisabeth Purdom conductng

8:00 P. M.—"Prunella"—Dramatic Club play

The Alumnae program will be opened by Miss Peck with a welcome to all visitors. Misses Carrie B. Taliaferro and Virginia Bedford will present several portraits to the college and Mrs. Boyd Coyner, executive Secretary of the Alumnae Association will give the reports from the different chapters. Mr. Boyd Coyner, chairman of the Founders aDy committeee, will express the gratitude of that committee for all assistance in making possible the program, and Dr. J. L. Jarman will lmake the response. The music groups will sing Kipling's "Recessional" as the student body leaves the auditorium.

The afternoon will be devoted to class reunions and to tours of the college and the town. Members of Alpha Phi Sigma will act as guides to all visitors, and there will be special exhibits in the library commemorating Founders Day.

Following the dinner in the dining hall at 6 o'clock the Dramatic Club will present "Prunella", a three act musical fantasy in the college auditorium.

Due to the shortage of gasoline

Continued on Page 3

Campus Debaters Attend Tourney

2 Forensic Teams Represent S. T. C.

The Debate Club is sending two teams to the eleventh annual South Atlantic Forensic Tournament sponsored by Lenoir Rhyne College in Hickory, N. C. The debaters left today, March 3, and will return on Saturday, March 6. Marilyn Bell and Betty Adams will uphold the affirmative side, and Virginia Kent Sedgley and Alice Nichols, the negative.

Ann Randolph and Virginia Sedgley were to have gone to Knoxville, Tenn., from March 10-13 to the Pi Kappa Delta tournament, but the trip has been cancelled because the tournament has been postponed for the duration.

The Debate Club plans to send teams to the Grand Eastern Tournament to be held in April in Charlotte, N. C., and other contests have been scheduled with various Virginia colleges.

Freshman Production Makes Hit at S. T. C. On Wednesday Night

Written by Isabel Sampson and produced by the freshman class, "The Hope of Tomorrow", depicted college life during wartime and was climaxed by a trial of the powers of the world, represented by Hitler and Uncle Sam. The play was presented last week as the production of the class of '46.

(Editorial Comment Page 2)

In the first two acts Frances Lee as a typical freshman arrives at college after the excitement, stress and strain of leaving her family and her best boy friend. Finding college life most pleasant she meets and knows many of the girls who present a concise picture of the types at school. There are classes, bull sessions, dates, and all the other trimmings of college life which moves very serenely until she receives word that her Max is joining the Air Corps.

The mood of the production changed with the opening of the curtain on the third act. Seated in a courtroom were Uncle Sam representing Democracy and Hitler, upholding his creed of Nazism. As the diobolical Hitler, Eleanor Bisese, presented the case of Nazism—greed, hatred fear, jealousy, and ignorance, who upon cross examination had nothing against Democracy save that it was good. Kitty Rennecker, as Uncle Sam presented the case for Democracy. His essential witnesses included education, love, understanding, hope, and Christianity. The jury returned the verdict "Not guilty", and the defendant, Uncle Sam, called forth the spirit of Liberty. Carrying the torch of freedom, Betty Ellis, as Liberty, led the group in the National Anthem, as Hitler and his cronies died a death of shame.

Seniors Elect 10

The Rotunda will again feature brief biographic sketches of ten senior personalities in the Spring issues of the paper. The personalities were elected by the senior class at their meeting last night, and the results will not be revealed until the sketches of the seniors elected are published.

Business Department Adjusts Curricula To Meet War Needs

As a result of demands for more and better trained office workers, the Business Department of the college is increasing its standards and has asked the students for full cooperation. In meeting these standards, several curricular changes have been made in both the two and four year courses in order to secure more balanced courses of study. Considerably more attention will be given to the training of general clerical workers and machine operators and less attention to the accounting phase of office work.

Professors in this department have said, "We believe, however, that this is not enough; that our duties during this war emergency involve more than the training of clerical workers. In this community there are many organizations and individuals who are hampered in their work by the lack of adequate equipment and trained workers."

"The Business Education Department, we feel" they continued, "is well equipped as to teaching staff, student personnel, equipment and experience to make an important contribution to the war efforts of the organizations and individuals. In order to secure the advantages of business experience for the students and to assist these organizations in discharging their war duties, the Commercial Club is sponsoring a Community War Service Office."

"This department will do the

Continued on Page 4

Dancers Needed For May Day Program To Depict Life and Time of Foster

May Day this year under the direction of Anne Eilett, chairman, and Miss Emily Kauzlarich, adviser, will center around the life of Stephen Foster, the composer. It is entitled "The Era of a Dreamer".

May Day dances will be divided into three different groups. Folks at Home, the spiritual group, will consist of "Revival Meetin'" by members of Orchesis Dance Club and "Plantation Workers" by members of both the fundamentals dance class and Orchesis Dance club. Music of the Heels, a minstrel show, is composed of four dances: "O, Susannah", presented by 16 members of the dance club, and "Swanee River", a soft shoe tap which will need from nine to 15 persons. Anyone who has had some tap experience either here or prior to entering college may sign up for this dance. "Pickaninnies' Dance", a character tap will also need 15 persons. Twenty members of the dance club will dance in "Juba Dance".

The third dance group is the Cotillion, or Music of the Heart. For this two pages are needed. In this section the quadrilles predominate. Each group will do two square dances. Group A, composed of 32 dancers from Orchesis Dance group, will dance the Waltz Quadrille and Lancers. Group B needs 40 freshmen who will dance the polka and schottische. Group C will be made up of 40 upperclassmen who will dance the Reel and one quadrille. Group D will dance two quadrilles, and 40 freshmen are needed for this dance.

Anyone wishing to take part in any of the above dances is asked to see at once either Anne Ellet, Betty Sexton, Ruth Dugger, or Shirley Pierce. All dancers should be placed before exams start so that practice on the dances may begin at the beginning of next quarter. Students who do sign for dances should remember that they are pledged to remain in

Continued on Page 3

Bobbitt, Ozlin Head Alpha Phi Sigma

Carolyn Bobbitt, freshman from South Hill, was elected president of the Delta Chapter of Alpha Phi Sigma in a secret ballot vote last night. Connie Ozlin will assist her as vice-president, and Lucy Bowling was elected recording secretary. Rosa Hill will serve as corresponding secretary and Dot Overcash, of Hampden-Sydney, was chosen secretary. Lelia Holloway, of Purdy, was elected to be reporter for the honorary scholastic fraternity.

Sara Bird Williams is the retiring president of Alpha Phi Sigma. The new officers will be installed at the next meeting of the local chapter.

'Tis True "Them Gremlins" Haunt Pilots, But They're Not Confined To Stratosphere Alone

"Now, who turned cold water into my bathtub?"

When you hear a remark like that, you know "them gremlins" have been at work again, those sly-footed mischievous imps who are ever ready to cause trouble. Perhaps you didn't know we had them around here; you associated them with airplanes. Nevertheless, their pranks are not exclusive to aeronautics. "Them gremlins" also get around on earth and you'll find them especially numerous at S. T. C.

Their tricks in the stratosphere are the dread of all pilots, but on land they seem to have reduced their fun to little annoying pranks doing anything to agitate or cause hard feelings.

That morning when the alarm clock didn't ring and you missed that 9:05 class—you may be sure it was a gremlin who turned it off. Their special delight is causing overtime sleeping. They'll play havoc with your personal belongings, too, misplace one of your slippers and cut the clothes line. Remember that wonderful box of food from home that was overrun by ants? Well, none other than a gremlin opened the top and led them in. They mix your laundry and when no one is looking, hide the book that's due at the library.

And so they go, exercising their impish brains on one thing, then another.

They can always be found around the dining room helping to close the doors as you dash up. And while you stand there hot with fury, if you listen closely, you might hear a gleeful little laugh. Then from the dining room to kitchen they go to clog the salt shakers, to lump the sugar, and to give Mrs. Shelton a few more headaches.

In fact, they are just headaches to everybody including "Charlie". Charlie got wise, however, and locked them out. Now they can't ring the bell anymore and third floor gym won't be blamed.

The post office is another favorite gremlin haunt and hiding letters another favorite pastime. The letter you didn't get is probably one of the many they have snitched from the various boxes.

Besides causing static on the radio, removing cokes from the coke machine, making your chapel seat appear empty, and making pie beds, they have an extra special enjoyment. When your room is at its worst, they proudly lead Mrs. Laing to the door and present her to all its shortcomings.

How is it known they do all this? Because scientific experiments reveal that there are gremlins, and if reading daily funnies, one sets 'em quite plainly. Gremlins run all over Smilin' Jack's column, and he's perfected a potent anti-gremlin julce.

Local femmes, however, have a more effective anti-gremlin agent; their own smiles. A gremlin cannot remain long in a pleasant atmosphere, so let a smile — your smile—and a happy thought scare "them gremlins" away.

—A. N.

The Spirit of Founders Day:

What Is It?

(Editor's Note: The following editorial is reprinted from the Founders Day edition of The Rotunda, Saturday, March 6, 1926 on the request of Miss Mary E. Peck, present president of the Alumnae Association. At that time Lucy Halle Overbey was editor-in-chief of the college paper.)

The Spirit of Founders Day (which is in reality the Spirit of Alma Mater) cannot would seem to imply something external, a kind of atmosphere that can be entered from without.

The Spirit of Founders Day (which is in reality the Spirit of Alma Mater) cannot be defined thus, for it is a vital, compelling force that comes from within, that radiates from the very heart of the college and reaches out to her children.

This spirit permeates the institution at all times but reaches the utmost height of its expression as Founders Day draws near—the celebration, as it were of Alma Mater's birthday; it is the spirit of unselfishness, the spirit of loyalty, the spirit of love and appreciation. To the young hearts and minds within her walls this may seem to be an exaggeration of what Alma Mater means to them; to their care-free youth, it appears as visionary and extravagant, but to those who look back on their school days from a distance, it is the true definition.

An institution is like a human being—it may possess physical beauty, it may be surrounded by luxuries and by all things lovely, but if the right spirit is lacking, it is not fulfilling the purpose for which it was intended, and its beauty is as that of a rare blossom without perfume.

Alma Mater lives: she not only lives with those who are at present in her care but she is very close to all who have had the privilege of a sojourn with her in other days, and her spirit is the same that it was in years that have long ago slipped into the past. Her physical growth has been wonderful, but it has not changed her heart the vital force that we speak of as the Spirit of Founders Day was born with her and she has implanted it just as strongly in the hearts of her children of 1886 as in those of 1926. The only difference is that her marvelous expansion has enabled her to reach out and come in contact with numbers that, in the days of her youth, would have been deemed impossible.

As the time of Founders Day draws near the hearts of thousands are "returning home"; Alma Mater broadcasts this spirit of hers throughout the land until it reaches hearts old and young. Her children are "listening in" in old Virginia, in many distant states of the Union and even foreign lands, and these hearts throb anew with love and gratitude when they learn once more that they are not forgotten by her. And so generously does she disseminate this spirit that hundreds are fired, with their old-time, school girl enthusiasm which expresses itself in countless letters that find their way to her; and without exception they bear, not only greetings from her absent children, but with expression of warm love, of interest in her welfare and (above all) of a longing desire on the part of the writer to "come home" once more. And in no better way can Alma Mater give expression to her own feeling for them than in the hearty and loving welcome which she always accords them when they can return to her halls.

The spirit of Founders Day! May it live through the years and fill the heart of every daughter of Alma Mater!

EDITORIAL REMINDERS

Voting for Bond Queen Helps Uncle Sam

The National Bond Queen Campaign, sponsored by Associated Collegiate Press, Collegiate Digest, and on this campus by the Rotunda, is well underway in colleges throughout the country. As announced in an earlier edition of this paper, the basis for selecting the State Teachers College Bond Queen is beauty alone. The winner of the local contest will compete with winners from colleges all over the United States. Each one cent you spend for War Stamps or Bonds at the college stamp booth entitles you to one vote. So exercise your right to elect a Bond Queen you'd like to represent State Teachers College. This is one time you don't have to wait till you're 21!

However, the contest is secondary to the main job, that of actually selling more War Bonds and Stamps on this campus. The total amount spent in stamps and bond purchases betwee nFebruary 15 and March 19 will be compared with that spent by other students in the colleges competing in the contest. So remember every bond or stamp you buy helps elect a Bond Queen, helps boost S. T. C.'s standing, and best of all—helps Uncle Sam.

War Chest Drive Needs More Support

"Give That They May Live and Learn" is the slogan appearing on the Campus War Chest Drive poster now being displayed in the main hall. It speaks for itself. However, contributions of money and books to the drive should be enlarged. This is one time students can prove they're thinking about other things than themselves.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

VOICE of VICTORY

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Jane Cabell Sanford — Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers — Managing Editor
Elva Andrews — Business Manager

Associate Editors

Jane Waring Ruffin ..... News Editor
Fay Byrd Johnson ..... Feature Editor
Shirley Pierce ..... Sports Editor
Jane Smith ..... Social Editor
Lilly Bee Gray ..... Copy Editor
Sara Jeffreys ..... Photographic Editor

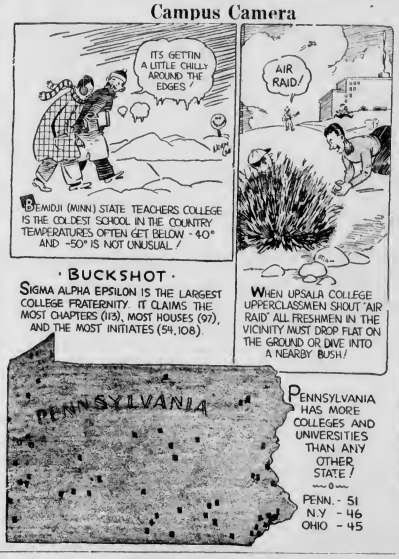
Assistant Business Managers

Mary Keith Bingham ..... Advertising Manager
Mary St. Clair Bugg ..... Circulation Manager

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 3, 1943

Freshmen Prove They're Up at the Thinking Front

The freshmen adequately expressed it in their production when in a mock trial of the powers of the world they put Democracy on the defensive. Surely there could be no more apt way of describing the situation of today's world, thrown into the horrors of war because of the challenge of Naziism.



Those characteristics given to Naziism—greed, jealousy, fear, ignorance, hatred—those characteristics in our own people will, if we are defeated in this battle for life, be the cause of our downfall. Those characteristics of democracy—education, love, understanding, hope, religion—those characteristics, if as the freshmen predicted, Democracy triumphs finally over the powers of Naziism, will be our mainstay in the time of peace.

Moreover, the class of '46 placed the responsibility of tomorrow where it belongs—on the youth of today. We have been slow to see our place, to accept our duty—the responsibility of tomorrow's world. But now that we are awake, let us see that Democracy does triumph, not only on the battlefronts of the war, but also in the peace that is to follow.

Congratulations to the freshmen and to Isabel Sampson!

—J. W. R.

Campus Camera

From Capital to Campus

(ACP's Correspondent Reports from Washington)

SCIENCE AND CIVILIAN WAR

WASHINGTON—Not often do the scientific research establishments of the nation's colleges and universities figure in a major political tussle on Capitol Hill.

But today they are among the innocent bystanders caught in a tug-of-war that pulls a dozen directions instead of the conventional two—the battle over the highly controversial Pepper-Tolan-Kilgore bill for a War Mobilization Board as a civilian super-control over the entire war effort.

Research institutions, of course, aren't the heart of the issue. They are concerned only in a part of the bill calling for an Office of Technological Mobilization to gather techno-scientific skills, processes and ideas and put them to work speeding production and developing new weapons.

Colleges undoubtedly would welcome any plan for heightening their contribution to victory via the laboratory. But the proposed office would also force licensing of patents and secret processes. And that isn't the good news some corporate patent holders are waiting to hear.

* * *

In broader scope, the War Mobilization Board seeks to bring all phases of the war effort—economic stabilization, manpower, military production, civilian production and all the rest—into a tightly integrated organization with civilians in control at all key points.

Army and Navy oppose civilian control of their production programs and are fighting the bill. Business is cool, too. It says such reorganization would only formalize existing ways of doing things.

But backers of the bill say it would spread production decisions down the line to local and regional levels, boost labor-management cooperation, force the military program to fit an over-all strategy put an end to turning out planes without propellers and inducting men with irreplaceable skills.

* * *

Administration stalwarts wrote measure, basing it on revelations of the Tolan committee's probe into labor utilization, the Truman committee's investigation of production practice, the House and Senate small business committees' findings and other recent inquiries.

They got the shock of their lives when the Administration brought subtle pressure to bear to sidetrack the proposal—and used Republicans and anti-New Dealers to do it!

Temporarily at least, the Pepper-Tolan-Kilgore bill is interred in the Senate Military Affairs committee after a sleeper play snatched it from the favorable Education and Labor committee.

Supporters of the act are searching for a way to free the bill for action.

SPEED-UP FOR WOMEN

Accelerated war-time education has received another boost, this time for women. In a policy statement for guidance of liberal arts colleges, the American Council on Education's committee on college women and the war plans for hastening graduation of good students to help fill emergency needs for trained personnel.

To provide year-round schooling for women students at colleges unable to maintain summer sessions, the report suggests pooling staffs and student bodies. Three southern colleges, it points out are planning to offer a combined summer term on a single campus.

Women's colleges and co-educational institutions are essential now, the committee believes, because they can provide technical and professional workers. Notable examples are chemists, mathematicians, physicists, statisticians, economics research workers, administrative assistants, psychologists and bacteriologists.

Although stressing war training, the report urges continuation of foundation courses for professional schools and combinations of arts and technical courses such as social work, home economics, and physical education.

WAR-TIME WASHINGTON

It's getting so no nice young girl in Washington is safe—from job offers. So acute is the office help shortage that popping the question now means asking: "Can you type?" Many a high-paid executive doesn't know where his next stenographer is coming from. And a War Department bureau is experimenting with training boys and girls to be typists. The experiment is directed by Dr. Maye Hyton of Columbia University, who says she can make a typist of an average-intelligence girl in three weeks. Stenographers take a little longer. Trainees get $1440 a year plus $312 overtime.

Congresswoman Clare Boothe Luce has been hailed in some quarters as a profound political thinker on the strength of her "globaloney" wisecrack. But for months this Timewise expression has been a pet of those who dislike talking about the war along anything but "sound business lines."

Speaking of gas, another prankster has made his mark in a WPB publication called "Official Directory of Product Assignments." The book guides businessmen to the proper WPB branches holding jurisdiction over their products. One section reads:

"Strip cork . . . Cork branch.

Strip steel . . . Steel branch

Strip tease . . . WAACS"

The perpetrator of this mischief is judged to outclass the press release writer who embellished a long statement on cotton duck with a tale about Donald Duck—and almost got away with it.

The Gatepost

(Who Hears An Awful Lot)

Incidental Notes . . .

Onions to the ingenious people moke made a private booth in the Rec Sunday night with blackout shades.

New combinations: Anne Ediett and 'Goo', Jos and Bob Irby, Twitch and lieutenant in Richmond . . . this eternal merry-go-round.

The Gatepost hereby bids a fond farewell to Casanova Langley Wood . . . which brings to mind the question of the week: will the U. S. Navy survive?

Seen around and about: Rosemary Elam and Eleanor Feagans and two tall ensigny ensigns.

Novel date of the week department: Co-eds hereabouts who moan about the same old thing, what to do on a Farmville date, may profit by the example set by Frances Wentzel, and her Henry B., from the institution seven miles off point how. Recently Henry mysteriously asked that F. buy a kite and two balls of string. Climax: all Sunday afternoon they had the time of their lives flying that kite.

Who is the young gentleman who comes to see Amy Read every single week-end? . . . Keep the old eyes peeled for the T. D. and H. - brute Betty Blackwell is having down this week-end.

The Walsh seems all tied up with lieutenants at Lee . . . telegrams and stuff every day or two . . . Libby Heath keeps in touch with her interest at Roanoke College every week-end . . somehow the two seem to be together.

Wedding bells will be ringing soon for Keithie and her Don, so 'tis rumored . . .

Parting is such . . . department: Scrub Newbill of the local force left yesterday for Washington to join the Naval Air Corps . . . . Among the broken hearts left behin might be Kitty Ricks . . . . Buddy Hubard left last week for Army ditto . . . Such absence just about causes the collapse of the Every Day Club, according to the prexy, Big Barbara . . . Also in the current 'hate to see you go' quota is Louise Mac . . . Jimmy O. leaves sometime this week.

Gracie Hutch is to lead figure at Tech this week-end when she goes up to Sophomore Prom.

Found . . . One letter in halls of S. T. C. addressed to "Icky" D . . . ." sealed with Pond's Lips . . . . Owner may receive mail by contacting the old dead letter box.

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

With the beginning of March comes the beginning of Go To Church Month. All during the month special emphasis will be placed on church attendance. So remind yourself, "I can manage to go to church Sunday of course". With a little conscious effort you'll get there. The Farmville ministers are promising an interesting sermon for each Sunday and their topics will be on the bulletin board on Saturday nights.

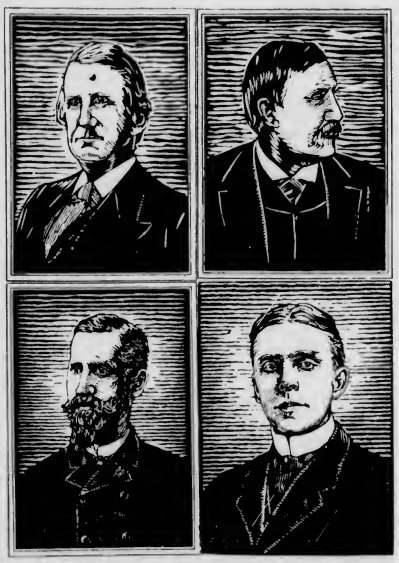
Last Sunday marked the end of the Sunday School Contest this year. The Methodists and Baptists were so close that the only possible decision to be made was to call it a tie. Plans are now being made for a party in the near future.

This week and the following three weeks of prayers are to be conducted by the church groups. This week the Baptists have a speaker with them to lead the services.

Prayers quotations for Daily Devotions this week are:

Wednesday, "The Lord is my rock and my fortress." Ps. 18:2.

Thursday, "Thou wilt show me the path of life." Ps. 16:11.



Friday, "I am the good shepherd and know my sheep." John 10:4.

Saturday, "Shew me thy ways, O Lord, teach me thy paths." Ps. 25:4.

Sunday, "Lead me in thy truth and teach me." Ps. 25:5.

Monday, "If any man serve me, let him follow me." John 12:26.

Tuesday, "The Lord is merciful and gracious." Ps. 103:8.

Top: Dr. W. H. Ruffner. Dr. John A. Cunningham; below: Dr. Robert Fraser. Dr. J. L. Jarman.

College Progresses Rapidly From 1884 Under Leadership of 4 Presidents

The history of the college remains quite hazy in the minds of many students on campus, so it seems fitting that a review of the events in her life be given here as Founders Day approaches once again. The Founders Day issue of the Rotunda in 1926, published by the senior class at that time gave the following report:

"Dr. J. L. M. Curry it was who inaugurated the establishment of normal schools in the South and the Virginia School was among the first. He originally drafted its bill, and was president of its Board of Trustees.

"On September 17, 1884, the State Board of Trustees of Virginia's Public School System, only established in 1870, ordered the principal, Dr. William Henry Ruffner, to open the State Normal School at Farmville in six weeks. And on October 30 began the first session of our Alma Mater.

"While Dr. John Cunningham was president, the school grew steadily, though not rapidly. In the ten years of his administration there was an increase from 93 students the first year to 250 the last. His motto was 'to teach truth and honor by trust, and to punish severely when this trust was betrayed'.

"Twenty-eight years have passed since Dr. Cunningham last walked down our halls and lest we forget the man who established its present 'conspicuous success', it is well to look back upon him who 'saw in its small beginnings, and him who bore the burdens and heat of the day, who toiled for it and died in its service.—John A. Cunningham.

"Dr. Robert Fraser became president of the State Normal School in February, 1898 and for four hard years he worked with an earnestness and zeal and a conscientious devotion to his duty that characterized him throughout his life. 'His aim in the conduct of school affairs was, first, to provide the best possible advantages for the students; second, to offer those advantages to students at the lowest cost so that the benefits might reach the largest number'.

"Then in 1902 came our own beloved Dr. Joseph L. Jarman. There is no need to say anything more because we all know about Dr. Jarman and his administration so far; how in 1902 he had only 13 members in his faculty and that now there are nearly 50 of those august members presiding over our already crowded classrooms, for the student body has grown in far greater proportions than the faculty. Our library has been enriched, we now have a Tea Room of which we are inordinately proud and the most imposing of Student Buildings. Other wonders have been performed and we are expecting more miracles to unfold any day—for what cannot our J. L. J. do? Nothing. Long may he administer the affairs of our S. T. C."

Add approximately 800 students and a faculty of about 65, the Junior and Senior Buildings, the college pool, the College Library, and the athletic fields to all this and you have the present product: Farmville State Teachers College as it is today, still under the administration of Dr. J. L. Jarman.

MAKE—
Your Headquarters
This Year
Shannon's

MARTINS—
See us for finest quality stationery
Martin the Jeweler

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Blouse Fad Stealing Limelight In Campus Girl's New Clothes

By JANE SMITH

Some people collect stamps or butterflies 'n silver bracelets or old books or most anything available. A new fad is about to arise from the war shortages of materials. Have you ever thought about becoming a blouse collector? With a collection of these very interesting articles, a weary winter wardrobe can be transformed into a spring one. The fun is to see how many ways you can change the same suit by changing blouses.

Nearly everyone has a couple of the favorite white blouses, which are somehow as symbolic of college girls as are long sweaters and saddle shoes. A clean white tailored shirt goes everywhere but if you want a little variety, you might try pinning the collar down on your coat lapels with some kind of scarfy gadgets which are different when used in pairs. Or if you don't go in for costume jewelry, try colored stitching or some baby Irish lace around the edge of your collar and down the front.

And next, the collarless blouses, which are rapidly becoming favorites everywhere, and can be endlessly changed with necklaces and pins of any shape or variety.

Ruffles are coming into their own again and one of their best advances has been in the field of blouses. Most of us are feminine enough to like frills and furbelows occasionally. The spirit of the gay nineties seems to have returned. Not only are we beruffled up to our chins but also have frills at the wrists.

The important part is to use the materials which are not needed in any way for defense and can be produced in the good old USA, meaning of course, rayon and cotton. Blouse designers have used what they could find from rayon faille and jersey to seersucker and pique.

The very latest idea is to team your blouse and hat and gloves. They don't have to be the same fabric but just in colors that harmonize. So instead of breaking your neck to get here 'n there to buy a pile of spring clothing, why not plan to change what you have with some clever shirts and blouses?

Founders Day

Continued from Page 1

and the restrictions on traveling the Founders Day program has been simplified and will last only half a day. Classes will be held as usual in the morning until the chapel hour.

Just Looking, Thanks

It was so quiet around here last week-end; those of us who stayed here decided that just about everyone has left. After looking over who went where list, it seems that conclusion is almost true with trips home or shopping. With spring in the air and clothes rationing propaganda popping out all around us, clothes hunting has become a favorite sport.

A few of those who journeyed hither and yon homeward were: Lucie Harvie, Matha Lee White, Elizabeth Walker, Eleanor Boothe, Estelle Smith, Sara Wayne France, Jane Morris, Myrtle Lee Holt, Agnes Mitchell, Jean Kent, Sara Jeffreys, Ernestine Morgan, Betty Saxon, Leona Moomaw, Ann Watts, Virginia Wells, Jean Akers, Coristine Eddins, Julia Glenn, Ann Payne, Ann Moore, Shirley Stonnell, Aloise Boswell, Martha Higgins, and Carlotta Norfleet.

Nancy Courter and Mrs. Nancy Kerse Guthrie traveled to Columbus in the Peach State; the former, to see a lieutenant, the latter to see her husband.

Others that went home to shop or to just plain 'see the folks" were Mildred Mease, Eleanor Bisese, Jane Crump, Blanch Steele, Kitty East, Marilyn Bell, Ann Potts, Naomi Major, Ann Blair, Katherine Burford, Edna Brown, Shirley Cruiser, Anne Covington, Natalie Carroll, Imogen Claytor, Kitty Davis, Barbara Dickinson, Shirley Easterly, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Faye Nimmo, Frances Parham, Evelyn Ruggles, Nancy Wesesls, and Ella Banks Weathers and about eleventy dozen others.

The engagement of Louise Parcell and Lieut. George Ware Watts, Army of the United States, of Rupert, W. Va., and Camp Lee, was announced Monday. The wedding will take place March 26 in Roanoke.

The members and pledges of Mu Omega were entertained Sunday afternoon at a tea in the chapter room by Marion Orange and Alice Wooding.

Dancers Needed

Continued from Page 1

that dance or have their vacancy filled. Group B and D are to be made up chiefly by freshmen, but upperclassmen may join these groups if they wish.

A poster will be displayed in the hall next week with designs of the May Day costumes. Costumes for this year's celebration will be simplified. No men's costumes will be bought as those already on hand will be rented from the Dramatic Club. All dresses for the dancers will be designed so that they may be used with slight alterations, for other use than May Day. Thus the expense for costumes will be greatly cut.

Weary Wardrobers: Clothes Clinic Has What Doctor Orders

Have you longed for a place in which you could stitch up one little seam, or even a place where you could learn how to sew that first time? Well, your dream has at last come true, for as a follow-up to War Emphasis Day and the discussion, "Do You Have a Weary Wardrobe?" the Home Ec. Club is now sponsoring a clothes clinic.

Home Economics majors will conduct the clinic which is being held in the Home Ec. sewing lab. Announcements as to the time and other detailed information will be made at an early date. Students are urged to watch for these.

Home Ec. students promise to assist students in choosing a wardrobe with emphasis on color and line, in learning the rudiments of good sewing, and particularly to remodel and revise the proverbial weary wardrobe.

"Take inventory of that weary wardrobe," one Home Ec. student advises, "and make it over into one that will surprise and please even yourself. The clothes clinic is being formed to help you do just that."

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Crailie

For Exercise . .
BOWL at . . .
BOWLING ALLEY
NEWMAN'S
Downstairs in Shannon's
OLLIE G. PILLOW
Manager

YOU SHOULD BUY
YOUR SPRING
NEEDS NOW

New Goods Arriving Daily

DAVIDSON'S
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY FARMVILLE, VA.

Hall Ping Pongers Fight For Colors

Spirited Tourney Nears End of Week

This season's ping-pong tournament, under the management of Dottie Sue Simmons, will close the latter part of this week for all hall games. Contestants were divided according to their location in school into three groups: Cunningham Hall, Library-Main, and Whitehouse and Student Building. These games have been scheduled for quite some time and all but one section has completed all matches.

In the group from Cunningham Hall ,Frances Hawthorne defeated Dorothy Sue Simmons; Ruth Dugger defeated Rosalie Rogers; Mildred Droste defeated Dearing Fauntleroy. One more match between Shirley Pierce and Jerry Titmus will be played before the finals for this hall are ended.

From Library-Main group the final winner is Catherine Lambert. In the contest she defeated Mildred Mease, Betty Buchanan won over Jane Crump, Catherine Lambert defeated Betty Buchanan.

Contestants from Whitehouse and Student section have also completed all games. Jean Bershwinger and Ruby Stewart called a default. Lucille Jones defeated Ophelia Whittle, then defeated Hallie Hillsman. Phyllis Watts won over Nancy Lively and Jane Brown. Bettie Scott and Jackie McCoy called a default. In the final for this hall, Lucille Jones defeated Phyllis Watts, thus becoming the winner for this section.

The winners from each of the three halls will play in the contest games next week to determine the school and the color winner. Last year's ping-pong tournament was won by the green and white team.

Orchesis Recital To Be on March 30

"Murder of Lidice" Will Be Featured

Orchesis Danee recital previously scheduled for March 9 will be changed to March 3. Highlight of the program will be the dance interpretation of Edna St. Vincent Millay's poem, "Murder of Lidice". The dance club will use a realistic and symbolic element showing by an approach through the emotions what murder did to two lovers. Characters include: the priest, Edith Lovins; the lovers, Ruth Dugger and Madeline Sprinkle; mother, Polly Cammack; children, Shirley Pierce, Betty Ellis, Lillian Geddin, and Jane Brown; and two gestapo agents, Alice Seebert and Jane Hunt.

Also on the program will be the club's "Opening Dance" and a repeat of last year's "Oh Susanna". Betty Sexton, club president will repeat her composition entitled "Lamentations". Virginia Ellett will drop into the sophisticated with "Blackout Blues" and Ruth Dugger and Jane Brown will enlighten with "Travel Rush".

Another new number will be "Revival Meeting", a new experiment of the club. The cast consists of: preacher, Gloria Pollard; mother and child, Ellen Ebel and Shirley Pierce; Edith Lovins, "zoot suiter"; Jean Smith, old man; Jeanne Strick, Gwen Sampson, and Mildred Droste, mourners; "Mr. Five by Five", Ophelia Whittle.

Elizabeth Ann Jordon is club accompanist. Orchesis Dance Group puts on a recital each year for the entertainment of the student body.

Colleges Will Face Enormous Enrollment Predicts Dr. Good

ANN ARBOR, MICH—(ACP)—Colleges face the prospect of an enormous increase in enrollments after the war, according to Dr. Warren R. Good of the University of Michigan school of education.

"The federal government is already planning to subsidize the further education of men in service after the war, as it did after the first World war," Dr. Good asserts in an article appearing in the School of Education Bulletin. This means that hundreds of thousands of young men will be fed into the colleges every year for several years, Dr. Good says, and the rise in enrollments will be further accentuated by the greater prosperity of millions of workers who will have the means, as well as the ambition, to send their children to college.

Dr. Good warns that the colleges are at present in no condition to meet this prospective boom either with adequate facilities for classwork, organizational demands and student housing, or with the needed faculty members and other personnel.

"It is a crucial necessity, therefore, that the higher institutions now maintain the personnel and facilities they have as a nucleus for meeting the impending expansion," Dr. Good says. "They need, furthermore, to locate sites and make plans for inevitable plant expansion. But they need most of all to identify and develop the thousands of young people who are to be the new teachers of this coming horde of college students."

Women To Be Given Engineering Courses

CHICAGO, ILL.—(ACP) — A "war engineering education for women" program, to give women an opportunity to train for engineering positions, a program believed to be the first of its kind in the nation, has been introduced at Illinois Institute of Technology. President Henry T. Heald announces.

The women will go to school full time, about 40 hours a week, because of the urgent demand for engineers. Courses will be offered in "blocks", each complete in itself, so that at the end of each of three units the women enrolled will be prepared to take an engineering post, but, by continuing their studies, be able to study for a more advanced position.

Any high school graduate will be admitted. The program will be designed so that college credit can be given for the work.

Each of the three semesters will be 16 weeks in length.

The courses have been drafted so that even a young woman who has had no high school work in mathematics of the physical sciences, customary prerequisites for admission in an engineering college, will be able to enroll.

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE

12.95

Mary Muffet's "EVENING STAR"

His eyes will always "be following you" when you smartly shine in Mary Muffet's Evening Star. This one-piece dress of soft Tiara sheer (royon) in tourmaline, topaz, star ruby, cat's eye, sapphire. Sizes 9-15.

Opportunity Knocks In Radio Field For College Students

Opportunities for a career as trained radio technicians are being offered co-eds according to an announcement made by RCA Victor Division of Radio Corporation of America.

About May 1, the first girls' training course of its kind in the electronics field will be inaugurated at Purdue University, Lafayette, Indiana. It will be the first step in a comprehensive training program undertaken by RVA Victor, to turn out women radio technicians.

F. H. Kirkpatrick, director of personnel planning and research for RCA Victor, has announced that from 80 to 100 girls between the ages of 18 and 22 will be selected from the company's own plants and from colleges and universities for this initial class. Preference will be given to those who have had at least two years of college, he said. Competence in mathematics, good health and an interest in technical radio work are listed as essential.

The course of study provides for two semesters of 22 weeks each. Girls selected for the course will be considered "employees-in-training" and as such will be paid a nominal salary while attending school. University expenses will also be paid by RCA Victor, according to Mr. Kirkpatrick, and their status on campus will be the same as that of other undergraduates. The Cadettes will live on the Purdue campus and will be encouraged to participate in the University's social life, in sports and other extra-curricular activities.

Interested candidates may write to F. H. Kirkpatrick, RCA Victor Division, Radio Corporation of America, Camden, N. J.

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.

The entrance requirements are intelligence, character, and for the duration of the War, one quarter or one semester of College. Classes will be admitted April 1, 1943 and January 27, 1944. The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years.

The annual tuition of $100.00 covers cost of maintenance and uniforms. Loan funds covering the annual tuition are available.

Catalogue, application form, and information about the B. S. degree requirements may be obtained by writing to:

The Dean
Duke School of Nursing
Durham, North Carolina

U. S. Seeks 500,000 Students To Work On Farms In Summer

About 500,000 college and high school students must be recruited to work on farms in the summer and fall if the country's record food production goals are to be met, Department of Agriculture officials reported recently.

Dubbed Victory Farm Volunteers, these workers will be signed up by colleges, high school, and every available youth organization. Although local communities used student labor last year, this is the first time youth has been organized nationally as a farm labor force, agriculture officials report.

The Office of Education, the Extension Service of Agriculture and the War Manpower Commission are cooperating in directing the program, and YMCA's, YWCA's, 4-H Clubs, Future Farmers of America, and many other youth groups are offering their facilities in carrying it out. The American Youth Hostlers, for instance, have waived their rule which prohibits anyone from living for more than three days in a hostel, to accommodate students working on local farms.

New York State has amended its education laws to allow high school boys to miss 30 school days during the year when they are doing farm work, and other states are making similar adjustments.

Boys and girls from 14 years up will be recruited, and set to work for periods varying from a few days to four months on harvesting jobs, general farm work, and in food processing plants.

Prevailing wages will be paid, agriculture officials report, with certain allowances made for the workers' inexperience when they begin. The volunteers will live at home when possible, or in the camps or schools. Older workers will often live on the farms where they are working.

By June 1, when most students are out of school and the first paying falls due, the program will be underway, it was reported.

The Children's Bureau has already worked out certain physical standards which the colleges and schools will be asked to observe in signing up volunteers. Department of Agriculture is at work gathering statistics locally on just what the labor needs of each community, are, and the Extension Service is doing the recruiting job, aided by the Office of Civilian Defense and the United States Employment Service in the larger cities.

Adjusts Curricula

Continued from Page 1

following types of work: (1) duplicating (2) filing (3) stenographic (4) typing (5) tabulating of survey data, and (6) machine calculating."

They added that this program will prove beneficial to the commercial students in that they will require a better knowledge of the business work and conditions, and they will become more skilled along these lines.

RECORDS
Decca Victor
Columbia Okeh
Bluebird
We purchase worn out and broken solid records
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

SPRING SHOES ARE IN
Also Smart Two Piece
SPUN LINENS at
5.95 to 9.95
High Shades
EVENING DRESSES
On Special Sale
DOROTHY MAY STORE

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Physical Fitness

If enough students are interested in enrolling in a social dance class next quarter, the class can be arranged and counted as physical fitness credit. The time for the social dance class will be on Mondays at 8:00 P. M. and Thursdays and Fridays at 5:00 P. M. The dance class will be limited to upperclassmen and only a limited number may enroll. In case of a crowded group try-outs will be made. This class will work in a way that one evening each week is opened to dance with Camp Pickett boys.

Class Games to Begin . . .

Class games in the many sports will begin next week. In basketball captains have been chosen for each class and practice games have been played during the physical fitness program. Games in basketball will be played with freshmen vs. sophomores; juniors vs. seniors and the winners of the two groups playing. Volley ball, which meets on Tuesday, Thursday, and Friday at 8:00 P. M. is divided into three courts of games. During the period games are played within the groups. Many persons not enrolled in the volley ball class have entered to receive practices for class participation. At least eight practices qualify one for a class team. Games in volley ball will be played off next week.

Remember Recreation Night . . .

Saturday night, in the past, has always been a time of movie-going or "going out of town", but things have changed greatly these past few months and such extravaganees have been abolished. In order to promote a wide-spread program of activities in our college the Athletic Association sponsors a play night each Saturday. During this period of recreation, students may go to the pool from 8 P. M. to 9:30 P. M. where life guards are on duty at the pool. The gymnasium is open to volley-ball or basketball. Ping-pong tables are available in the shower rooms and equipment is furnished by the council. With such activities available on Saturday nights, a program of recreation will benefit all who wish to join. Make-up classes for physical fitness may also be made at this time.

Buy War Bonds Every Pay Day
★ ★ ★
Let's Double Our Quota

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

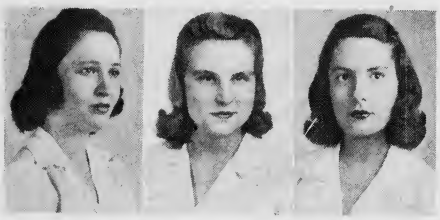
Leave Your Old Silk or Nylon HOSE at
ROSE'S
FOR UNCLE SAM

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
See our new Spring
Shirts and Blouses
Accessories
Dickies Brooches
Collars Necklaces
Flowers Purses

"You always enjoy it when you connect with a Coke no matter where. There's something about it that's special. All the difference between something really refreshing and just something to drink. Yes, indeed. The only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself. Bet you've found that out already."

5¢

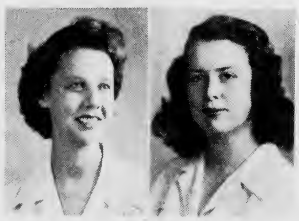
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, (Farmville, Va.)



You've Done Your Bit—
Now Do Your Best

The Rotunda

Buy War Stamps.
Vote for Bond Queen



VOL. XXII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1943 | No. 19

They'll Write 'Em . . .

New editors of 1944 publications will be Ella Banks Weathers, Rotunda; Sara Wayne France, Virginian; and Elizabeth Tennent, Colonnade.

They'll Manage 'Em . . .

Virginian managing editor will be Harriet Moore, while Jane Waring Ruffin will be managing editor of the Rotunda.

They'll Sell 'Em . . .

Business Managers will be Mildred Corvin, Colonnade; Mary St. Clair Bugg, Rotunda; and Mary Moore McCorkle, Virginian.

Weathers, France, Tennent To Be '44 Editors

Virginia Sedgley's

Gleanings

On the News Front

Post-War Problems Loom on Horizon

Minnesota's 35-year-old Governor Stossen has advanced what promises to be one of the most controversial post-war questions. He is advocating a world-wide government. The plan is not exactly new in any degree. Many sociologists and economists have formulated like plans. In fact, the intercollegiate debate questions for the last two years have pertained to this same thing. However, this is the first time a leader in politics has been so outspoken. Perhaps Harold E. Stossen will turn out to be the Woodrow Wilson of World War II.

From Where Do All the Germans Come?

Eight thousand Germans killed by Red troops. Three questions loom as the Russians push back the Germans. First, are the Germans really retreating in flight or are they being moved into Africa to prepare for a large-scale assault? Second, will the Russians keep on fighting after the Germans are pushed back from the borders, or will they cease fighting? And third, if the reports of casualties are true—where are all the people coming from? There have been more Germans reported killed than ever were imagined to have populated Europe.

The man who can answer these questions will, in a measure, be able to control and rule the world.

Even Senior Students Dread Income Tax Day

As income tax day grows closer, tempers grow shorter. There are some rich girls here at school who have earned enough during the summer to pay an income tax. Seniors started making budgets for next year and found that they will be able to live all twelve months if they learn not to eat during the summer.

Thumbs Healing As Sliced Bread Reappears

Milady's thumb is now safe from the dangers involved in slicing her own bread since Wickard lifted the ban against sliced bread. It seems that there were un-

Continued on Page 3

Cotillion Contracts Thurston for Dances

Hal Thurston and his orchestra from Georgia will supply the swing at Spring Cotillion on Saturday, March 27, Frances Parham, business manager of the club, announced last night. Thurston recently played at Randolph-Macon College and is currently showing in Norfolk. He directs a ten-man orchestra which includes a feminine vocalist.

The Spring set of dances will be composed of a tea dance in the afternoon and a formal Saturday night.

War Chest Proceeds Climb to $1000 To Double $500 Quota Originally Set

Faculty Members Contribute $325

"Double or nothing" might well have been the theme for the Campus War Chest drive, for the quota of $500 was not only reached, but doubled. When the plans for the drive were instigated, the sum of $500 was set optimistically as the goal for the school. The $1000 that marked the completion of the drive was composed solely of the girl's contributions, exclusive of the $325 given by the faculty.

In the fall it was decided to combine all the annual drives into one War Chest drive. Instead of soliciting the students for contributions to the Red Cross, then to the World Student Service Fund, the proceeds of the one big drive is to be divided between the two.

Dr. J. L. Jarman cooperated with the Y. W. C. A. and the War Council in asking that the students and organizations cut down on other contributions, if that were necessary, and give wholeheartedly to the War Chest. The sum of $1325 will be sent in from the school with the funds raised by the town.

Hannah Lee Crawford, public affairs chairman of the Y.W.C.A., and Helen Wiley Hardy, chairman of the War Finance committee of the War Council directed the plans for the drive.

War Service Bureau Established To Aid In Local Business

A War Service Bureau has been organized at the college, Mr. R. G. Hallisy, head of the Business Education Department, announced this week. The Bureau is to assist in social and business institutions in and around Farmville during the shortage of workers duc to the war.

The following letter was received by the department this week in connection with the project from the Farmville War Manpower Commission.

Dear Mr. Hallisy:

This refers to your letter dated February 27, 1943.

Please permit us to use this means of thanking you for the generous offer to provide clerical assistance as a community service. We commend you and your department for this timely suggestion and for the manifestation of an excellent attitude.

With your permission we shall consult you within the next few days concerning an important service you may render the War Manpower Commission.

Yours very truly,
ROY C. CHILDS,
Manager

Students May Enter Discussion Contest To Be Held Soon

A discussion contest will be held on this campus sometime before April 1 to select two entrants in the National Discussion Contest on Inter-American Affairs, Dr. James Elliott Walmsley announced at a Pi Gamma Mu meeting last week. Any student on campus may enter the local contest. The topic for discussion will be "How the American Republics Are Cooperating in Winning the War", and the two winners will prepare speeches on the same subject to be sent to the national director of the contest, W. Hayes Yeager, of Washington, D. C., before April 10.

A board of three judges will then select the best eight speech manuscripts from each of the the winning writers will be invited eight regions in the country and to participate in the various regional contests. The regional contest for Virginia college winners will be held at Duke University on April 27. The first-place winners in the regional contest will have all of their travel expenses paid to and from New York for the national finals on May 20 and either they will be conducted on a tour of Mexico in the summer of this year with all expenses paid, or they will receive a study award of $500 each.

Students on this campus who are interested in entering the local contest should watch for announcements for time and place. A list of contest rules and also of reference materials recommended by the national director are posted on the Pi Gamma Mu shelf in the Browsing Room of the library.

The contests are being sponsored by the Office of Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs and are being conducted so that students may become better informed about inter-American relations.

Elementary Grades To Play In Chapel

On Monday, March 15, at 12 o'clock, the Farmville Chapter of the Association for Childhood Education will sponsor a musical program, given by the children of the Elementary School in the large auditorium of the college. The First Grade Rhythm Band will play, the Kindergarten will give rhythmic games, the second, fourth, fifth and sixth grades will contribute groups of songs and the third grade will present a short musical play.

A silver offering will be taken at the door and the proceeds will be used toward a gift to the Elementary School.

Betty Reid Leads In Bond Contest For Campus Beauty

Hardy, Childress Run Second, Third

As the Campus Bond Queen contest enters its final week, Betty Reid, senior from Staunton, is leading with 4,605 votes, followed by Helen Wiley Hardy, senior of Farmville, with 2,365 votes. They are the only two candidates, for to be eligible for Bond Queen honors, each student must have at least 1,875 votes. Following Betty Reid and Helen Wiley Hardy, is Dot Childress, of Christiansburg with 550 votes.

The contest will close next Tuesday, March 16. Votes cast through that day will count.

The Rotunda staff and the members of the War Finance Committee of the War Council, who are sponsoring the contest, urge each student to buy War Stamps and Bonds this week at the College Stamp Booth, for the record of stamp sales in this college will be compared with those in other colleges throughout the country in the National Bond Queen contest.

At present the freshman class has 1,000 votes that have not been cast. In order to count in the finals these must be placed on a candidate before next Tuesday.

"Long Distance" Is Synonym For Confusion at Nickel Eater

It's a confusin' process, this long-distance problem; one never knows just how it's gonna turn out. And it's something that concerns us all, 'cause we've all gone through with it more than once since we were exiled to Farmville S. T. C. How many times can you recall waiting anxiously in the Home Office, or freezing to death down on Annex while trying to get a call through?

Usually it all begins with a note on the mantle . . . a gal's name, a town, and an operator's number . . . and then comes the rush. An up stairs phone rings gallantly above the opposing vics and girls' voices, and a mad dash is made by all. The right girl is never there, though, and shouts for her re-echo throughout the buildings. When the lady in question is finally located, she rolls up her pajamas, leaps into a trench-coat, and heads for the Home Office. Here she stays long enough to find out where the call is from, and to see whether she wants to stay. If the call's from Hobo's Hollow, or some such place, she'll probly remain there for the conversation, but let the note say "Christiansburg" and swish! We find our heroine one of plenty, draped about the lower end of second-floor Annex. This is a rather futile step to take, for that particular station is, on the whole, monopolized by hat inappeasable institution seven miles hence, but where there's life there's hope, and there's plenty of life on Annex.

One's sympathy goes out to the local long-distance operators. They must lead a hectic life. The well-meaning girls here, after placing their calls, try to sit calmly by while waiting for their call to come back, but let any one person talk over two or three minutes, and every girl there, no matter how "calm", will dash back to the phone again, and the rounds are made, each asking in turn, "Has my call gotten through yet? I mean, the line's been busy for a long time, and if you tried to call me I didn't get it, and I was just wondering . . ." It helps to pass the time away, but it's hard on the Hello-girls.

You can meet up with all kinds of things at a Phone-booth. There is the tearful gal begging her family to let her go to Charlottesville for the week end and she'll never flunk Math again. There's the flighty character who has a call to put through that she just knows is from Bob, but s'pose it's Dick' and if it's Johnny, she'll just

Continued on Page 3

Business Managers Are Bugg, Corvin, McCorkle; Ruffin, Moore, Managers

Ella Banks Weathers, Sara Wayne France, and Elizabeth Tennent will be editors-in-chief of the college publications, the Rotunda, the Virginian, and the Colonnade, respectively for 1943, the Board of Publications revealed this week. Mildred Corvin will be business manager of the Colonnade, Mary Moore McCorkle will be the Virginian business manager, and Mary St. Clair Bugg will hold the same position on the Rotunda staff. Harriet Moore and Jane Waring Ruffin will be managing editors of the Virginian and the Rotunda respectively.

Each of the editors- in-chief elect and business managers-elect are members of the junior class and the two managing editors are sophomores.

Ella Banks Weathers, of Lexington, holds the position of managing editor of the college paper at present, and for two years held the position of news editor.

Sara Wayne France, of Charlottesville, is managing editor of the 1943 Virginian and worked on the photographic staff last year.

Elizabeth Tennent, of Hopewell, has worked on the art staff of the college magazine for three years and held the position of art editor this year.

Mildred Corvin, of Crewe, has worked on the business staff of the Colonnade for three years, acting as an assistant business manager this year.

Mary Moore McCorkle, of Lexington, was a member of the typing staff of the Virginian for two years and this year is assistant business manager.

Mary St. Clair Bugg, of Farmville, heads the Rotunda circulation staff at present and has been a member of this staff for two years.

Harriet Moore, of Gastonia, N. C., has worked on the Virginian literary staff for two years. Jane Waring Ruffin, from Charles City County, is the Rotunda news editor this year and as a freshman worked on the feature staff.

The new Rotunda staff will publish the first issue in the spring quarter and the Colonnade staff will take over the spring edition of the magazine. The Virginian staff will begin work on the '44 annual later in the spring.

Choir to Reappear On NBC Broadcast

Plans Completed For New York Tour

The College Choir, under the direction of Mr. Alfred H. Strick and Miss Virginia Richards will make its second annual New York tour from April 16 to April 19. Complete arrangements have been made for transportation by train from Richmond, Mr. Strick announced recently.

On Saturday afternoon, April 17, the choir, along with the choir of St. Thomas Church, the Duke University Glee Club, and members of Harvard Glee Club, will broadcast the "Requiem" by Brahms, on a nation-wide hook-up over NBC. On Palm Sunday, April 18, at 5 o'clock the choir, and the same groups will present the "Requiem" at St. Thomas

Continued on Page 4

Mrs. Waller Elected To Serve As Alumnae President For Term

Mrs. S. Gardner Waller, formerly Louise Ford, of Richmond, was elected president of the Alumnae Association at the luncheon on Founders Day, Saturday, March 6, to succeed Miss Mary E. Peck of Farmville. Miss Carrie Sutherlin, president of Chevy Chase Junior College in Washington, D. C., was appointed as a director of the Association. Other officers who were elected this year are Mrs. Jane Royall Phlegar of Norfolk, first vice-president; Miss Caralie Nelson of Virginia Intermont College, second vice-president; and Mrs. Carrie Rennie Eason, of Richmond, director.

During the Founders Day program portraits of Mrs. Portia Lee Morrison, former head of the

Continued on Page 3

We Did It Before, Let's Do It Again–Now

The student body on campus may well deserve a pat on the back. It should swell its collective chest a little, for it certainly succeeded in expanding the War Chest to unprecedented proportions during the recent drive. It has made a contribution of which it may well be proud.

A letter from the American Red Cross headquarters, however, reminds us that we can do something which "will help" even more tangibly than did our contributions to the War Chest. This is something that can be done anytime and not only during a special drive. The letter referred to the voluntary donation of blood. Collected at the request of the Army and Navy, these donations are processed into plasma and serum albumins and used on the world's battlefields to help give our wounded a better chance at life.

There is no question that donations of blood can work miracles. The best witnesses are those men who have fought on Guadalcanal and North Africa. Less than one per cent of those Navy men injured in battle in the Solomons died because of the effectiveness of blood plasma. Such information was recently made public by Rear Admiral Ross T. McIntire, surgeon general of the Navy. According to Surgeon General James C. Magee. of the Army, blood plasma also gets the credit to a large extent for little loss of life in the North African campaign. After a recent inspection tour of North Africa, he cited as an example of the effectiveness of blood plasma a case in which 400 men were badly burned on a ship during one of the landings.

"They treated men with primitive field equipment," General Magee said, "but between midnight and 8 o'clock next morning everyone had been properly cared for and only six of them died. Blood plasma gets the credit largely."

The Red Cross has been requested to furnish 4,000,000 donations in 1943. Like the 1,000,000 donations collected last year, they will be used with telling effect along battle lines, on ships at sea, and in military hospitals.

This Red Cross service leads to but one conclusion: The Red Cross is your Red Cross. It is doing your work and helping your people. Now it needs your support again. Give it.

Dissertation of a Rare Animal – But Definitely

Men are what women marry. They have two feet, two hands, and sometimes two wives, but never more than one dollar or one idea at a time.

Like Turkish cigarettes men are made of the same material—the only difference is that some are a little better disguised than others.

Generally speaking, they may be divided into two classes: husbands and bachelors. An eligible bachelor is a man of obstinacy entirely surrounded by suspicion. Husbands are of three varieties: prizes, surprises, and consolation prizes. Making a husband out of a man is one of the most delicate plastic arts known to civilization. It requires science, sculpture, common sense, faith, hope, charity (especially charity) and patience! . . . . .

If you flatter a man, it frightens him to death; if you don't flatter him, you bore him to death. If you permit him to make love to you, he gets tired of you in the end —and if you don't? Well, he gets tired of you in the beginning. If you believe him in everything, you soon cease to interest him, and if you argue with him in everything, you soon cease to charm him. If you believe all he tells you, he thinks you are foolish; if you don't, he thinks you are a cynic.

If you wear gay colors, rouge, and a startling hat, he hesitates to take you out. If you wear a little brown beret and a tailored suit, he takes you out reluctantly and stares at the woman in the gay colors, rouge, and startling hat.

Man is a worm of the dust: he struggles along, wiggles about for a while, and finally some chicken gets him.

—Reprinted in part from THE HIGH HAT —W. and M., Norfolk Division—with some changes.

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

VOICE of VICTORY

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Jane Cabell Sanford — Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers — Managing Editor
Elva Andrews — Business Manager

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 10, 1943

History of College Still Challenges

By James M. Grainger

Almost three score years ago our Founders set up at Farmville an institution dedicated to the proposition that every child in Virginia has a right to be taught by a qualified teacher. The new school came to life as a result of the War Between the States. Devastation, defeat, and reconstruction which did not reconstruct, had left Virginia poverty stricken, bitter, helpless. A rising generation was growing up in ignorance. A newly established public school system was failing for the want of educated teachers and the young women who might have become teachers had no way to fit themselves for the task. Virginia stood liable to lose the peace as well as the war. The young institution at Farmville born to serve these needs was herself a child of war. And in the condition caused by that war and in every subsequent war she has served valiantly and grown accordingly.

The Spanish American War broadened state needs in education into national needs and the school took its place among the dozen leading institutions for the education of teachers in the United States—an institution of national standing with its services nation-wide.

The first world war brought another wave of expansion and growth to the field of education and in response to the old two-year Normal School became the four-year State Teachers College we know today, always expanding the sphere of its influence and seeking new ways t serve the state, the nation, and the world in time of war. What new growth will come under the stimulus of the new demands now laid upon teachers remains to be seen.

We are now engaged in another world war which has brought upon a large portion of the world conditions comparable to which Virginia after the Civil War was only a preview.—Conditions such as can be remedied only after a long time and through the devoted ministration of thousands of conscientious, carefully educated, and professionally trained teachers.

"I think there is no better way," said Dr. Jarman in a recent letter to the alumnae, "for a specialized college like Farmville to contribute to the war effort than in doing what it can to train the best teachers possible . . . Qualified teachers cannot be made overnight . . . We are fighting for education in a free world."

It is for us the students, faculty, and the alumnae of Farmville to realize that the world needs qualified teachers now even more than did Virginia after the War Between the States, and to dedicate ourselves to the task.

Scribblings

Anne Darnell's flight homeward was prompted by more than a mere rumor that Bob would be there—she was pretty sure!

Another loss to the Naval Air Corps: Polly Anna's Nelson. Could be her reason for the droops this week . . .

What attraction did H.-S. C. have for Dizzy's Staunton visitors this week end? We thought the lads came to see her.

Ed's picture has been the doctor that brought the glow back to Betty Van Arsdale's cheeks—she fairly beams now.

Have faith, girls, have faith—a long separation from HIM does not mean that he has forgotten. Be consoled by Marilyn Bell's little episode. After a seemingly hopeless absence of mail and other contacts from Chuck, a deluge of letters and telegrams descended upon her unsuspecting head. The ways of a man are devious but patience and a few flirtations always bring him to heel.

Miggie Mish's little brother, Bobby will bring gray to her hair yet—but he does manage to get around!

Dugger's latest is a 70 year old who considers her "more attractive than any star in Hollywood" —his letters are most appealing.

While we are on Prunella, one of the old maids, still an old maid, was talking animately in Rotunda after play. And Hampden-Sydney was the only attraction.

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

A day of World Prayer has been set aside by the United Council of Church Women. The day chosen is Friday, March 12. The Episcopal Church will be open from 10 o'clock until that night for individual meditation, and prayer. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon there will be a special service in that church. The small auditorium in the college will be open all afternoon for prayer and quiet devotions.

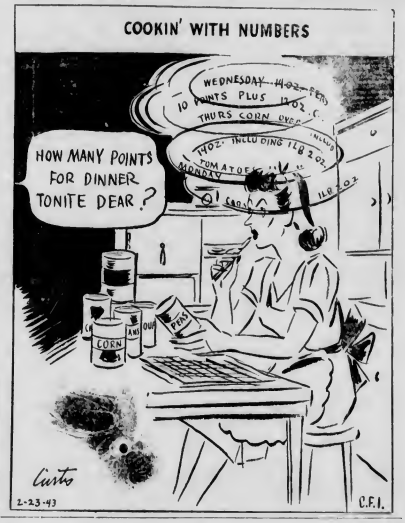
The world needs so much praying today that each individual needs to offer her prayers. Friday will bring the creation of a bond between you and your next door neighbor, your colored brother in Africa, your Chinese, Japanese, British, German, and Australian brother—your Christian brother, far across oceans, and on battle fronts, he too will be praying. The Daily Prayer for 1943 has been posted on the "Y" bulletin board.

"Farmville "S. T. C.-ers" did themselves proud when they so generously contributed to the War Chest fund and found the chest to consist of $1000—$500 for the Red Cross, and $500 for the World Student Service fund.

Sunday night the Church Cooperative committee of the "Y" is having its quarterly Union young people's Vesper Service in the Student Lounge at 6:45 p. m. College girls are especially urged to attend these devotional services. After this service the Presbyterian student group is in charge of the church services at their church.

Since March is Go To Church Month the old phrase has been wisely put "Your church — any church, but go" is fitting and proper.

Daily devotions topic for the week—"A Rule of Life".



1st. The Bible is the only course of all Christian truth; the only rule for the Christian life; the only book that unfolds to us the realities of eternity.

2nd. Prayer is a sincere, sensible, affectionate pouring out of the soul to God, through Christ, in the strength and assistance of the Spirit, for such things as God has promised.—Bunyan.

3rd. A church-going people are apt to be a law-abiding people. —E. A. Park.

4th. Love is an image of God, and not a lifeless image, but the living essence of the divine nature which beams full of all goodness.—Luther.

5th. Strength is born in the deep silence of long-suffering hearts; not amidst joy.—Mrs. Hemans.

Yankee Soldier Relates Story Of His Initiation to Rebel History

Those students who have taken Government 333, History 470, or History 443 during this quarter have heard the professor of these classes refer several times to what 'my Camp Pickett boy' said or did. The following dissertation of said professor and one particular class he taught is the product of said Army man's rather vitriolic pen. It is entitled "My Rebel Professor".

"It was not until my country called me to the colors and sent me South of the Mason Dixon line that I realized fortune had not made me an American, but rather a Yankee—sometimes with d—— for a prefix.

"The realization was akin to learning that old Uncle Ezra had willed you nothing more than his favorite portrait of himself.

"From toddling days to college days a Yankee, in New England, had been associated with a name given to a dwindling group of Americans who trace their ancestry back to that over-loaded boat. They are present day descendants of God-fearing, church going, hard workers, who frowned on dances, cards, and other human frailties as works of Satan. The word sin—which they used frequently—was their equivalent for Nazi.

"Time being relative with a soldier—at the moment it was dragging—I decided to make use of it by attending a few private lectures on "The American Civil War" given once a week by a very generous State Teachers College professor. Our classroom was opposite a Civil War monument in the small Virginia town of Farmville on the banks of the muddy Appomattox.

"Week after week, for several months, the gray-haired professor would review that titantic struggle —how the Yankees "rallied 'round the flag" and the Southerners followed Lee to the bitter end. What had once been only another incident in American history to me now took on a new meaning. Buchannan, Davis, Stonewall Jackson, and Robert E. Lee became more than just names of men who once rebelled against their country's flag.

"As our lectures progressed to the climax, I could see that my cheerful "rebel" professor had started a rebellion all over again. According to him one was not born free, one could be faced with the problem of loyalty to the family or the abstract nation, but most important, nationalism is not something we are all given instinctively.

"Long after my good professor has ceased to spin tales about the American War Between the States, his problems will still be facing us.

"Shall we be a Lee or a Fargagut?"

Letters to the Editor . . .

Dear Editor:

There is a condition here at school that should be remedied without further delay. I am speaking of the undue noise on the halls during Prayers. Because of this noise, it is practically impossible for those who do go each evening to enjoy it.

Prayers is a time set aside for the spiritual side of one's development. Those people who do not go merely take part of their three-fold make-up—mental, physical, and spiritual.

We are not living in normal times. Prayer has always been an essential; now even more than ever. A future resolution to be more quiet is a direct need.

Each evening, in the dimness of the candlelight, quiet meditation from worldly cares can be so beneficial.

Sincerely,
Loline Warner

Dear Editor,

Three cheers to those who planned and executed Founders Day! It was a program in keeping with war conditions, yet none the less interesting to students as well as returning alumnae.

Hearing the reports of the commendable work being done by alumnae chapters and seeing the excellent portraits done by one of our graduates helps those of us still in college to realize what it means to be a student at Farmville State Teachers College and what we have to live up to.

And let's have more of the Coyner wit.

Sincerely,
W. R.

Dear Editor:

We should like to take this opportunity to thank the student body, both the individuals and the organizations for their wonderful cooperation in the War Drive. We are sure that they will always be glad and thankful for this opportunity of serving their country. So many contributed money so willingly and generously, that it would be impossible to ever thank them all separately for their support. Their enthusiasm and interest also played a vital part. Without that the Drive could not have been a real success. So a million thanks to all who helped "go over the top"—and double our goal. Farmville S. T. C. has again proved herself worthy of a high and noble heritage!

Sincerely,
Helen Wiley Hardy
Hannah Lee Crawford

Just Looking, Thanks

Founder's Day found most of the Farmville girls remaining at school to entertain the alumnae and friends of the college who returned for the occasion. However, Margaret Harvie, Martha Lee White, Grace Hutcheson, Gussie Hines, Jackie McCoy, June Berndon and Nancy Watts were among those who attended the Sophomore Prom and hop at V. P. I. on last Friday and Saturday nights.

Elizabeth Bernard and Eleanor Folk went to the dances at Roanoke College in Salem while Kate Thompson traveled to Durham, N. C., to a Pre-Flight School dance.

This afternoon the Dramatic Club entertained its new members at a formal tea in Student Building Lounge.

Pan Hellenic Dance Set for May Day

Pan-Hellenic dances have been set for Saturday, May 1. No orchestra has been selected as yet, but Helen Wiley Hardy, who is in charge of the music, has announced that an orchestra will be scheduled at an early date.

Other committees are decorations, Anne Price; tickets, Estelle Smith.

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

MAKE—
Your Headquarters
This Year
Shannon's

RECORDS
Decca Victor
Columbia Okeh
Bluebird
We purchase worn out and broken solid records
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Leave Your Old HOSE At ROSE'S For Uncle Sam

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY PRICE SERVICE STORE

In case you can't afford a new spring suit. Try our next b e s t — matching skirts and sweaters.

Many colors and the best quality.

Prunella Combines Excellent Acting, Staging, Directing

Saturday night, March 6, the three act costume play, "Prunella" by Laurence Housman and Granville Barker was presented to a capacity audience in the college auditorium. It might be easily said, "Miss Wheeler has done it again". She, entire cast and Elsie Stossel, president of the Dramatic Club, worked against tremendous odds to find a play suitable enough for an all-girl cast. It may be said "Prunella" lived up to and passed everyone's expectations. From the moment the curtain was raised for the first time through the final act and scene, there was no doubt that the acting, costuming, make-up, lighting, and scenery were the best.

However, there has been some comment as to the plot of the story. It is true that the play was hard to present for the lack of plot, but then it is to be remembered that a fantasy could hold little more than that which would delight the imagination.

Jo Cooper had the male lead and took the part of Pierrot, a wandering singer who lures Prunella away with him. Virginia Terrell played the part of Prunella and handled her part quite well, and delighted the audience with her charm and naivete. Particularly effective were Fay Johnson, Lula Moss, and Frances Ferguson as the old maid aunts, Prim, Privacy and Pride.

Libby Heath as Scaramel, Pierrot's handy-man was extremely entertaining with her delightfully dull humor. Olive Bradshaw as the Boy in the Garden, stole every scene she appeared in by her innocence and eagerness. Martha Walsh as Kendal, Margaret Lemmon as Hawk, Will Hall as Doll, eDlia Rainey as Mouth, Lucille Winston as Romp, Pat Osborne as Coquette, Sally Johnson as Tawdry, and Frances Satterfield as Callow, the mummers of Pierrot's troupe added to the gaiety of the play. The gardeners, Betty Cock, Helen McGuire, and Catherine Lynch, were gruff and well characterized.

The hardest and most tedious part of the play was taken by Lucy Manson. The entire audience was overwhelmed by her performance as the talking statue, Love. To stand, with the exception of brief intervals, for two and a half hours was tiring and required much poise and calmness.

Alumnae President

Continued from Page 1

home and Miss Martha W. Coulling, former head of the department of art, were presented to the college. The portraits were painted by Julia Mahood, of Lynchburg, a Farmville alumna. The A'Capella Choirs rendered The Lord's Prayer and gifts to the college from student organizations and Alumnae groups were presented.

At the Alumnae luncheon in the tea room Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college, spoke to the group on what they have and can do for their Alma Mater. Present at the luncheon was one member of the Class of 1893, Fanny Bidgood, of Petersburg, celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of her class.

In the afternoon the guests were presented with a swimming demonstration and were guided over the campus to points of interest. Music for the banquet in the dining hall Saturday night, was furnished by the College orchestra, directed by Miss Lisabeth Purdom. The program was concluded with the three act fantasy, "Prunella" under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler.

Buy War Bonds Every Pay Day
★ ★ ★
Let's Double Our Quota

2 Veterans Named To H.-S. Brain Trust; Competition Is Keen

Courtesy H.-S. Tiger

Confident of a second consecutive victory over S. T. C.'s self-termed "Desirable Monopoly" in the near future, Hampden-Sydney's 1943 Brain Trust emerged from the final eliminations last Tuesday night with two veterans, Roy Cabell and John Owen, and three newcomers, Jimmy Timberlake, Louis Graham, and Billy Hines.

Others competing in the oral contest in McIlwaine were Joe Nelson, Braxton Elwang, John Ruff, and Clinton Bales. Cary Suter also ranked in the top ten, but was unable to attend.

Presiding over the question sheets was Dr. Graves H. Thompson, godfather of the Brain Trust, who kept the contest going from 8:30 to 12 with only a few interruptions. Mr. Stuart and Mr. Lashley acted as judges and scorekeepers.

Adding to the general excitement of the eliminations was the deadlock tie for fifth place between Billy Hines and Joe Nelson. By 11:15, Cabell, Owen, and Timberlake were definitely out in the front, and Elwang and Bales having been eliminated, the contest resolved into a four-way race for fourth and fifth places with Graham, Hines, Nelson, and Ruff as the contenders. Graham soon led the other contenders and he and Ruff stepped down; the Hines Nelson deadlock continued without any advantages gained on either side through a full half hour of questions. Final eliminations between the two were held in Dr. Thompson's office Friday morning.

Dr. Thompson says that the date for the Battle of Wits is still unknown, but will be announced very shortly, as soon as it can be arranged.

S. T. C.'s Quiz Team, announced last week, consists of Dawn Shanklin, Ann Ware Smith, Virginia Kent Sedgley, Elizabeth McCoy, and Jane Waring Ruffin.

Long Distance

Continued from Page 1

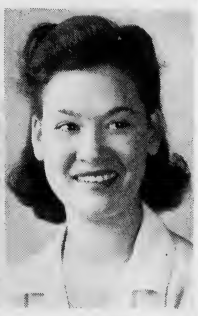
have fits! And how "bout the exasperating, gum-chewing individual who wastes nickel after nickel on calls of her own to various places located on the H. S. campus, always starting out "Guess who this is?" and invariably ending (hours later) with "Do call me again, sometime"! That's the type one could excusably murder, especially when there's an important message expected.

Whether it's a homesick freshman weeping into the mouthpiece, or a seasoned Senior trying to appear nonchalant, there's one "phrase" of college life that can affect anybody equally. It's the one phrase that's fullest of anticipation and expectany, the one little phrase that leads to so much . . . and the phrase is, "Long Distance, please . . ."

Gleanings

Continued from Page 1

expected disadvantages connected. The housewives who complained so bitterly should be happy that they have bread at all. There are people in Europe who haven't seen food for many a long day.



Navy to Answer Local Man Problem

The man-power shortage has really been bothering S. T. C. since Camp Pickett's personnel has been changed and the Hampden-Sydney enrollment has dropped. However, if the Navy does definitely decide to use Hampden-Sydney, the situation will be improved a lot. Nothing would be nicer than to see about 300 preflight students brighten up our campus. This reporter already has three man-traps set at strategic points on the campus.

DOROTHY MAY
Special Showing on Evening Dresses prices that will surprise you and we don't mean maybe. There will be no more evening Dresses manufactured for the duration. Get yours now.

VIRGINIA TERRELL

JO COOPER

Actresses' Pictures Prompt Soldiers To Write "Lonely-Hearts" Fan Mail

The first came via Air Mail from a sailor stationed in Williamsburg. Then one from a private in Alabama. Fan mail—that's what. Fan mail to the leading lady and gentleman in "Prunella", Virginia Terrell and Jo Cooper. All as a result of their pictures in the paper.

"Dear Miss Jo", began the Texas sailor in Williamsburg to Jo. "I'm not writing this letter to start a love affair, but to have come one to write to and maybe someday I'll meet you."

"This is the first time that I have wrote to anyone that I have not met", he wrote, "but I saw your picture in the paper and just wanted to write". Irresistable, that's what.

The private from Fort McClellan, Alabama, started his letter with a mere "Dear Pal", and went on to say "Well, I guess you will be surprise to here from me. As your never here of me. Well I'm a boy in the army. A mother boy and me saw your and Jo Cooper picture in the paper so we are going to write to you".

'Boys here like to write to girls," because he explained, "it help them a lot to get letter. It keep them from get blue and lonesome."

In describing himself, the boy in the army wrote, "I am first a private in the Army. I have been in since Jan. 7, 1942. I am 5 ft. 11 in. tall. I have blue eyes, brown hair, I weigh 198 lbs. And I not but first build pettery good."

The sailor offered to send Jo a picture if she so desires, though his description of himself more than equalled the army's—blue eyes and brown hair, six feet, two inches and 165 pounds—and 24 years old, too.

Perhaps it's indicative of the branch of the service for the sailor felt rather sure of an answer, writing, "I hope to hear from you in a few days" whereas the soldier drew near his ending with, "Well, I guess this is enought for this time as I my not get answer. I would like for you to write me if it won't be too much touble for you".

Soldiers and sailors—only the marine corps slipped up and passed our actresses by. In addition to the navy man, Jo Cooper's picture was seen by an old friend from Richmond who took the opportunity to renew the friendship.

Fan mail—that's what it was—and none of the fans even saw the play or certainly they would have sent flowers as well and asked for autographed photographs!

(Ed. Note: Any misspelling can not be blamed on the typists or the type setter, but must be attributed to the difficulty of interpretation).

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

COLLEGE JEWELRY
At
Martin the Jeweler

$25 Goal Reached For Soldiers' Cigs

Agnes Patterson, president of the student body announced last night that the goal of $25 for cigarettes to send the boys overseas has been reached. The drive was sponsored by the Presiman Commission in cooperation with Ligget and Myers Tobacco Company. As agreed, a case of Chesterfield cigarettes, 500 packages, will be sent to our boys overseas from Farmville State Teachers College.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA COLA COMPANY BY
COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, Farmville, Va.

S. T. C. Cagers Gird For W. and M. Clash

Varsity To Leave For Williamsburg Contest Tomorrow

S. T. C. cagers will journey to Richmond tomorrow afternoon where they will meet William and Mary Extension in basketball on the W. and M. courts. Leaving about 1:30 o'clock P. M. the group will travel by car and arrive in time to play an afternoon game.

Miss Olive T. Iler, coach, will accompany the group which consists of eight members selected from the varsity squad. Girls who will make the trip include: Anne Ellett, Ann Price, Jean Carr, Hallie Hillsman, Patsy Connelly, Dottie Sue Simmons, Frances Parham, and Eleanor Wade. Sarah Wade Owen, manager, will also accompany the group.

This is the first game scheduled for this year. Due to transportation difficulties the usual basketball trips were cancelled.

The group will return Thursday night.

Physical Ed Group Suspends Annual Meeting for Year

The Virginia Association for Physical Education and Recreation will not hold its annual meeting in 1944 due to transportation difficulties. The association believes it can serve the State more adequately by holding teacher training institutions in various parts of the State.

Meeting at the State Teachers College last week-end March 6, the institute met as a working conference based on the war-time emphasis on physical fitness. It gave elementary, high school, and college teachers an opportunity to better interpret the program as emphasized by national and state departments of physical fitness.

Chairman of the institute was Miss Mary Barlow, head of the physical education department of this college. Miss Dorothy LaSalle, from the State Department of Physical Education, was a guest on the campus and also attended the conference.

During the morning session there were preliminary discussions of pertinent problems. For the high school group Miss LaSalle spoke on the interpretation of the manual, "Physical Fitness through Physical Education". Mr. Lester Kebler of the state department of education spoke on the "Organization of the Physical Education Period."

In the meeting of the elementary group were discussions on the "Organization of the Physical Education Period" and "Interpretation of Physical Education Manual 'Health Guidance and Health Instruction', and Rainy Day Problems."

Demonstration of activities for both high school and elementary grades took place in the gymnasium with Mr. Kebler presiding. These activities consisted of conditioning exercises, games, and stunts, rhythmic activities, and classroom activities which were performed by the students of S. T. C. as adapted from their physical fitness classes. Farmville High girls and boys demonstrated various achievements and skills. This was followed by a discussion of "How to Keep Records."

During the afternoon period the groups met for informal discussions and during this time Mrs. Judith Powell spoke on "Health Instructions, Meeting the Thirty-Six Hour Requirement."

Debate Results Show Defeats, Victory For Both Teams

Reports from the two debate teams from the college, who traveled to Lenoir-Rhyne College in Hickory, N. C., to take part in the conference last week, state that each team debated four times, and that each team won one debate and lost three. Alice Nichols and Virginia Sedgley upheld the negative and defeated Lenoir-Rhyne men. They lost to Lenoir-Rhyne women, Winthrop College, and University of Florida. Betty Adams and Marilyn Bell, the affirmative team, defeated Mitchell College women and lost to Maryville College women, Appalachian College women, and Mars Hill College men. The judges stated that all the debates were very close.

Marilyn Bell competed in poetry reading and radio poetry reading contests and placed first in radio poetry reading. There were five other contestants.

Virginia Sedgley placed second in the radio broadcast contest. She competed against four others.

The Debate Club is making plans to send teams to Charlotte, N. C., from April 7 to 10 to compete in the Grand Eastern Forensic Tourney, sponsored by Winthrop College in Rock Hill, N. C.

Choir

Continued from Page 1

Church. This will mark the thirtieth anniversary of Dr. T. Tertius Noble as organist and master of the choir.

Soloists during both concerts will be Arthur Kent, baritone, and Mrs. Florence Manning, soprano. Miss Manning appeared in numerous recitals throughout Pennsylvania, singing at the University of Pennsylvania, at Susquehanna University, and at the Franklin Institute. She has also appeared on the Gulf radio program, on the General Motors hour, and took a leading role in N. B. C. Music Hall presentation of "Die Valkyrie."

A student in New York of Clytie Hine Mundy, Marshall Bryant, and coaching with Rosalie Snyder, Miss Manning is herself a teacher, and head of the Voice Department of the Clarke Conservatory of Music in Philadelphia. In addition to her radio and concert work Miss Manning is soloist at the First Church of Christian Scientist, Hempstead, N. Y., and has recently appeared with the New York Philharmonic.

Alphin To Serve As PSA President

Lois Alphin, of Lexington, was selected president of the Presbyterian Student Association yesterday, to succeed Ella Banks Weathers. Agnes Stokes was elected vice president and Sara Bird Williams will serve as secretary-treasurer.

Lois, a junior, has been an active member of the Presbyterian Student Council and is on the staff of the Colonnade. Agnes is a freshman and is a member of the Freshman Commission. Sara Bird is a member of the sophomore class and is the retiring president of Alpha Phi Sigma and is on the staff of the Virginian.

The group will be in charge of a program at the Presbyterian church on Sunday night in cooperation with members of the student body of Hampden-Sydney College.

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Physical Fitness Emphasized

Miss Dorothy LaSalle, specialist instructor in physical fitness of the state department of physical education, spoke to the student body during the chapel period last Friday on the Emphasis of Physical Fitness Today. "As teachers you will have no right to be unfit because the common good forbids it. You will need endurance and as teachers you will need to be shining examples to your pupils. As teachers you will be responsible for the physical education and health education program of the pupils building urged "eight hours of sleep still remains if you are to be physically fit. Give up the many soft drinks and overloading of foods, and your self sacrifice is worth it for the United States. Immediate defects, bad teeth, tonsils, should be corrected at once for if they remain in a bad state the entire body suffers from the defect." The pupils you teach are the ones that will re-build America in the post war days. Think of the many children in the foreign countries and the knowledge you must have in the psychology of teaching." "I hope each one of you will be resolved to make 'total war' by being physically fit for all that faces you, and each resolve to live to a routine . . . it all depends on you."

Students Demonstrate

For the program set up for the Physical Education Institute, students gave various demonstrations for the teachers attending the conference. Numerous classroom activities including games, exercises, and dancing were demonstrated. One goal basketball, volleyball stunts, and exercising all were engaged in at the same time in the three sections of the gymnasium.

DUKE UNIVERSITY School of Nursing

DURHAM, N. C.

The entrance requirements are intelligence, character, and for the duration of the War, one quarter or one semester of College. Classes will be admitted April 1, 1943 and January 27, 1944. The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years.

The annual tuition of $100.00 covers cost of maintenance and uniforms. Loan funds covering the annual tuition are available.

Catalogue, application form, and information about the B. S. degree requirements may be obtained by writing to:

The Dean
Duke School of Nursing
Durham, North Carolina

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
For Good Books
To Read in Your Spare Time
SEE OUR BOOK DEPT.

NEW Spring Anklets and Socks
WHITE AND PASTELS
HOSIERY DEPARTMENT
FIRST FLOOR
Davidson's
The House of Quality

CONGRATULATIONS TO MAJOR OFFICERS

The Rotunda

WATCH FOR QUIZ-A-ROO DATE

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 17, 1943 No. 20

Pearsall, Hawthorne, Connelly, Eason Elected

Singers, Pianists Here Tuesday

Quartet Members All Named Louise

On Tuesday night, March 23, at 8 o'clock "The Four Louises" continuing the Lyceum series, will present a concert in the college auditorium.

The Four Louises are young ladies who all happen to have Louise for a first name and the ability to sing and play the piano together extremely well. This ensemble consists of three singers and two pianists, which adds up to five rather than four . . . but closer inspection reveals that Louise Stanley is both singer and pianist. She used to sing with the Brahms Quartette and also played piano in New York. The other pianist of the ensemble is Louise Haydon who is also the coach of the team and is responsible for its truly fine blending of voice and piano. A graduate of the New England Conservatory of Music, she is well known as a concert pianist and an outstanding accompanist. Louise Richardson takes care of the soprano work. Besides her concert appearances she has been often heard on the radio. She is a member of the American Opera Company and a pupil of the late Esther Osborne who was prima donna of the Royal Opera at Stockholm.

The deeper tones of the contralto are supplied by Louise Hillyer, who made her debut at New York's Town Hall a few years ago and has since sung with both the Chicago and American Opera companies. As a further distinction she was a winner of the famous Naumberg competitions, held annually to discover musical talent.

The program to be given here consists of compositions by Chopin, Gluck, Dvorak, Brahms, Tschaikowsky, Debussy and other outstanding composers. It is varied to suit the tastes of all classes of music lovers. The group has been termed "a unique concert group—an ensemble of rare charm". Their program offers songs and piano music, duets and solo groups, four hands at one piano and duets with four hand accompaniments.

War Savings Staff Sponsors Nationwide Playwriting Contest

The human drama behind the purchase of War Bonds is the theme that will be stressed in the nation-wide college playwriting contest which has recently been inaugurated by the Women's Section of the War Savings Staff of the United States Treasury.

The reasons for this contest are two fold, the Treasury points out First, there is a widespread call on the War Savings Staff for short dramatic scripts which stress the War Savings theme. Second, participation in such a playwriting venture will, it is believed, make the individual contestants more keenly aware of their personal responsibility to the war effort.

Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Chief of the Special Activities Unit of the Women's Section, and one of the judges of the contest emphasises the "personal participation" value, when she says: "I believe that any college student who takes part in this contest will, in a very real way, be rendering her country a definite patriotic service."

Judges for the contest are nationally known figures in the non-commercial theatree world. The panel is headed by Margo Jones, head of the dramatic department of the University of Texas; and it

Continued on Page 4

Best Looking, Say Bond Buyers

HELEN WILEY HARDY

Hardy Goes Over Top With 20,975 Votes To Win Campus Bond Queen Title

Local Stamp Sales $4,566 In Month

Voting for senior Helen Wiley Hardy, of Farmville, soared during the past week to place her at the head of the State Teachers College Bond Queen list and win for her the title of Campus Bond Queen. Of the 45,660 votes cast during the contest period, February 15 to March 16, she received 20,975.

Running close behind Helen Hardy was Betty Reid who netted 13,075 votes and following third was Dot Childress with 5,705 votes. All candidates were voted on the basis of beauty alone and each cent spent for bonds or stamps was equivalent to one vote.

A photograph of the winning candidate will be sent to the Associated Collegiate Press headquarters during the next week where it will be entered in a contest to select the National Bond Queen. Judges in the national contest will be professional photographers and the winner will be selected on the

Continued on Page 4

Hal Thurston's 10 To Grace Bandstand For Spring Cotillion

Hal Thurston's ten piece band and vocalist from Georgia will play for the spring Cotillion dances March 27. These dances will consist of a dansant in the afternoon from 4 o'clock until 6 and a formal from 8 o'clock to 12 that night.

At the formal dance, Helen Wiley Hardy and escort will lead the figure assisted by the officers of the club and their dates. Other members of the club; with the exception of this year's goats, will participate in the figure.

In charge of the floor committee is Frances Parham. Betty Burns, Brookie Benton, Betty Boutchard, Margaret Bolling, Hannah Lee Crawford, Dearing Fauntleroy, Bridget Gentile, Lilly Bee Gray, Libby Bernard will serve on the committee.

Betty Sexton will head the decorations committee with Imogen

Continued on Page 4

Clock Watchers:

Here Come Those 8:05's Again

Beginning next Monday, the college will re-adopt the old time schedule used early in the Fall. Breakfast will be served at 7:15 o'clock and the first class will be at 8 o'clock. Lunch will be served at 12:45 and dinner at 6 o'clock as done on the old schedule. All meeting and classes will meet one hour earlier than at present and all regulations will go into effect in accordance with the new schedule.

The Elementary Training School and the Farmville High School will return to the same schedule on Monday morning also.

May Day Practices To Begin Tuesday

Dancers Urged To Be On Time

May Day practices will begin Tuesday after exams are over. The girls have been selected for the various dances and a complete schedule for next week's practices will be found on page 3.

The dances for May Day this spring consist of a "Plantation Folk Dance" in which 34 freshmen will dance. These girls are Harriet Saunders, Louisa Dawson, Betty Cock, Mildred Shifflett, Ruth Brooks, Alice Murray, Anna Murray, Dorothy Cummings, Margaret Horton, Martha Cox, Virginia Shackelford, Nancy Blair, Helen Richards, Kitty East, Isabelle Ransome, Katheryne Tindall, Caroline Moon, Margaret Hickman, Mary B. Walker, Barbara Surface, Nancy Lee Huddle, Laura Farmer, Carolyn Hammond, Elsie Dowdy, Sarah Taliaferro, Dorothy Overstreet, Rebecca Norfleet, Peggy Ross, Jane Crump, Janice Hawkins, Rachel Hines, Pat Gibson, Ann Cawthorne. This dance will be taught by three upperclassmen of the dance fundamentals class. The Plantation Folk Dance is the introductory dance of the program.

Following this dance, Orchesis, under the direction of Miss Emily Kauziarich, will dance several numbers including "A Revival" and "O Susannah."

Two tap dances made up of freshmen and upperclassmen follow these and are the "Swanee River", which is a soft shoe tap and the "Pickaninny". Swanee River will be danced by Frances

Continued from Page 3

Student Body Selects Major Officers In Spring Elections on Tuesday

In the student elections held yesterday Mary Evelyn Pearsall, of Roanoke, was elected president of the student body; Frances Lee Hawthorne, of South Boston, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Patsy Connelly, of Lebanon, president of the Athletic Association; and Julia Eason, of Richmond, president of the House Council. Each of these students is a member of the present junior class.

Mary Evelyn Pearsall has been a member of the Student Council for three years. She was a class representative her freshman year, Chairman of the Campus League in her sophomore year, and this year is secretary of the Council.

Frances Lee Hawthorne is secretary of the Y. W. C. A. this year and was chairman of the Prayers Committee last year, and as a first year student was a member of the Freshman Commission.

Patsy Connelly has been a member of the Athletic Council for three years and is secretary of the Athletic Association. She is a member of the varsity basketball team and is captain of the junior class basketball team.

Julia Eason has been a member of the House Council for one year, acting as hall president this year.

Voting for students to fill the minor offices took place today.

Quiz-a-Roo May Be On Campus April 7

Local Team Sends Challenge to H.-S.

At present the tentative date of the annual Quiz-a-Roo between the Hampden-Sydney Quiz Team and the Five Smart Girls of State Teachers College is Wednesday, April 7. A formal challenge was sent the mental marvels of Death Valley by the local five-woman brain trust today, and if the nearby wizards accept, the contest will be staged that night at 8:15 o'clock in the college auditorium.

No details have been worked out as yet, but committees made up of Alpha Kappa Gamma members, who will sponsor the battle of I. Q.'s, will be appointed tonight to begin work on the final plans.

As announced last week the team from Hampden-Sydney is composed of John Owen, Roy Cabell, Jimmy Timberlake, Billy Hines, and Louis Graham, son of S. L. Graham, business manager of State Teachers College. Battling against them will be Quizettes Dawn Shanklin, Anne Ware Smith, Virginia Bedgley, Elizabeth McCoy, and Jane Waring Ruffin, of Farmville fame.

Each year the winner of the Quiz-a-Roo will receive the silver loving cup presented by Pi Delta Epsilon, journalistic fraternity at Hampden-Sydney. The cup will belong permanently to the team first winning the contest for three successive years.

Civil Service Posts Of Special Interest To College People

Jobs openings announced by the Civil Service Commission in the last two weeks of particular interest to college men and women include:

Junior Professional Assistant positions—$2,000 a year plus overtime—applicants to be chosen on the basis of written tests, which will be given in the next few months. The jobs consist of performing professional, and technical work in connection with various government agencies. College graduates and seniors in any major field are eligible. Women are particularly wanted for these jobs.

Junior Marketing Specialists—$2,000 a year plus overtime—Many jobs open to both men and women. Duties consist of investigating marketing problems. A minimum of three years college training in marketing agricultural products is required, and applicants must have lived or worked on a farm some time. Knowledge of foreign languages should be stated in applying for these jobs. No test will be given.

Technical and Scientific Aids—$1,620 and $2,000 a year plus overtime—two to four years college experience in agricultural required. Duties consist of semi-technical work in either the laboratory or the field. No examination will be given, and both men and women are wanted.

Further information on all these positions may be obtained from the Civil Service Commission in Washington, D. C., or from any first or second class post office.

Alumnae Announce $835 Total Gift

Founders Day gifts from students, faculty, administration, and home department amounted to $835, according to Miss Mary E. Peck, retiring President of Alumnae Association. The college organizations contributing were Sigma Sigma Sigma, $25; The Virginia, $10; Alpha Sigma Alpha, $5; Phi Zeta Sigma, $105; Beore Eh Thorn, 2.50; Mu Omega, $5; Kappa Delta Pi, $2.50; Alpha Phi Sigma, $10; Theta Sigma Upsilon, $15; Athletic Association, $100; Gamma Psi, $2.50; Pan-Hel, $20; Cotillion Club, $25; Colonnade, $5; Y. W. C. A., $50, Sigma Pi Rho, $2.50; Dramatic Club, $25; sophomore class, $10; Baptist Student Union, $1; Granddaughters Club, $2.50; choral organizations, $10; freshmen class, $75; Rotunda, $10; and the Town Girls Club. $2. The faculty donations amounted to $55, while the gifts from the Administration and Home Department amounted to $40. The Woman's Club of Farmville made a contribution of $20.

Loan funds already established in the college were increased by the following amounts: Alpha Sigma Tau, $100; Dramatic Club, $200; Gamma Theta, $10; J. L. Jarman Loan Fund, $35; and Mu Omega, $1. Contributions to the alumnae fund from alumnae amounted to approximately $500. This does not include gifts for Morrison and Coulling portrait funds.

The Alumnae Association presented a pendant to Miss Mary White Cox in appreciation of her hospitality to returning alumnae and for the help she always gives the officers of the Alumnae Association in all of their undertak-

Continued on Page 4

Mish Announces Examination Rules

Margaret Mish, president of the House Council, has announced the House Council rules that will be in effect beginning Thursday night, March 18 and continuing during the periods of examinations through Monday night, March 22.

Study hour will be observed from 8 P. M. until 11 P. M. Quiet will begin again promptly at 11:30 P. M. Special late light permissions will be granted by the hall presidents.

Anyone who receives a call down during this period will be subject to one week on campus.

24 Hours Dwindle Rapidly Under Pressuse Of Sleeping, H.-S, Movie-Going, Primping

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

Twenty-four hours a day! And of those 24, eight should be spent in sleeping. That leaves us 16 hours in which to do just anything we want to do.

Let's us consider an S. T. C. girl of today. She, by use of a great deal of will-power, gets out of bed by 8:15 o'clock and goes to breakfast. Breakfast over at 8:50, she rushes frantically to that 9:05 class where she catches up on a little back sleep. By the time second period has started she is wide-awake and raring to go, but by the time she has finished handwriting she is sound asleep again, (or a nervous wreck). Then on to more classes right up through lunch. The precious hours are fleeting by. When is she going to wash her hair, her clothes? When is she going to write that Rotunda article? When is she going to study an hour for each class on the following day? When is she going to answer those seven letters which gaze reproachfully at her every time she adds another to their number? When is she going to press her formal for the banquet that night. When is she going to get in that hour of exercise? When is she going to go to town and see that movie everyone has been raving about?

She has 16 hours. Six of these are gone by the time she has made the daily round of classes. One more is spent eating. Nine coming up. An hour for hair washing and curling, hour for clothes—cleaning and pressing, at least an hour for the Rotunda article. Heavens, just six hours left!

Then the movie, that's two right there, and the seven letters, another two hours. Her sixteen are all gone. When is she going to write her shorthand, study for the Spanish test, exercise an hour, relax and enjoy life for a space of time? The days are just not long enough. Where can a few extra hours be stolen?

Late into the night her lights burn. It is 12 o'clock, one, two. She has stolen two hours from those meant for sleep. Those modern girls. Should slow down. Back to the good old days when people took things easy.

Take grandmother for instance. Why, when she was at S. T. C. she had a schedule like this:

Get up at second bell (no im-

Continued on Page 4

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Jane Cabell Sanford ..... Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers ..... Managing Editor
Elva Andrews ..... Business Manager

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 17, 1943

A Thought In Time Means Efficient Leadership

In a talk preceding the tapping of new Omricon Delta Kappa members at Hampden-Sydney College last Friday, Dr. Edgar G. Gammon stated that now more than ever before colleges must place emphasis on leadership among students. His justification for this statement, that colleges must train leaders who will assist in carrying out the work of the government, whether on the battle front or on the home front, should be an obvious one. Yet few colleges today are emphasizing student leadership.

Dr. Gammon said that on the campus of Hampden-Sydney there are few outstanding leaders at present. He added that even though in the opinion of the students at large there may be potential leaders among themselves, few in a final analysis would measure up to the standards of a true leader. That is, few would have the personality or forcefulness of an efficient leader.

What the president of Hampden-Sydney has said about that college also applies to Farmville College. There are few prominent leaders on this campus. With many elections of officers for the following year now being held, the student voter should think more than usual about the value of efficient leadership, and particularly about those students who can adhere to the standards of good leaders.

War Stamps May Offer Solution to "Rec" Problem

A letter to the editor this week cites the need for a reformation in the regulation of the "Rec". A recent release from the Women's Section of the War Savings Bureau in Washington makes the suggestion that a price in War Stamps be put on crowded college reception roms used for entertaining dates.

To avoid future stampedes on the local date room highest stamp bidders should oust the first comer.

"It might break up some beautiful friendships, the release continues, "but it ought to net a tidy sum in stamp sales record of the college."

War Finance Committee please note: the Riding Club room should rake in enough stamps to finance a collective tour of Tokio.

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

Any time this week prepare to spend some of your time in darkness. The Virginia State Office of Civilian Defense has announced a surprise black-out some time this week. The first signal which is called the the blue signal blows again, visible lights the siren means that all lights must be extinguished. The second, or red signal—a wavering two-minute blast—means that all traffic must stop for a total blackout. When the blue signal blows agian, visible lights must still be out and no lights can be seen until the street lights are turned on.

The Japanese fleet is also facing a black-out in the New Guinea area. Two ships out of the eight ship convoy were hit. In the Aleutian Islands the Japanese have again been raided by the U. S. fighter planes.

Post-war peace plans are being given much consideration in the U. S. today. Anthony Eden has come to Washington to talk over peace plans and probably to talk over extended aid to Britain. Senator Connally of Texas and five of his colleagues have made up a peace plan which they have presented to the President and intend to give to Congress later.

Berlin claims that the Russian city of Kharkov has been recaptured. From all reports there is not much left of it. The Germans captured it October 24, 1941 and held it until February 16 of this year. When the Russians recaptured the town, which was nothing but a mass of rubble. Now again it is in German hands. Though there is nothing there of value, yet it marks a strategic spot on the Donnets River.

The most beautiful harbor in the world was the scene of a raid Saturday night when United States Liberator bombers attacked the historic city of Naples Italy. As there were heavy clouds the results were not known. Many of the historic and scenic spots in Europe will no longer have their attraction for the American tourist after the war. Like London, they have felt the block-busters.

The French underground and patriots are bravely battling the Italian and German soldiers who are attempting to send them to Nazi war factories. Resistance of this type is especially gratifying because it shows that the French people have not submitted to the Nazi yoke but are still fighting for freedom.

Are you doing your bit in the world-wide fight for freedom? After all it is better to buy bonds now than to support bunds and be bombed later.

From Capitol to Campus

WAACS May Get Academic Credit For Military Education

Credits In Uniform

Educators are studying a plan for giving academic credit to soldiers, WAACS, marines, sailors, for education acquired in service. The plan was developed by the American Council on Education in cooperation with the Joint Army and Navy Committee on Welfare and Recreation.

With the same goal in view, Army Air forces recently wrote college and university presidents asking commitments to give credits for the proposed basic Air Force training program. But work in this program is part of the over-all record and measurement program developed by the U. S. Armed Forces Institute, formerly the Army Institute. Since the Institute is part of the Council's plan, the Air Forces agreed to withdraw their request until the broader plan could be acted upon.

The Marines Have a Word

Probably no news story in the history of war has been refuted more times than the yarn about how union seamen refused to unload a ship a Guadaicanal because it was Sunday.

Soon after the report was published, it was denited by Joe Curran, president of the National Maritime Union, who pointed out none of his union's agreements prohibit work on Sunday. Other denials came from Lt. Col. Lewis B. Fuller, Marine veteran of Guadalcanal; Maj. Gen. Alexander Vandergrift, commander at Guadalcanal, and Admiral William F. Halsey. Finally a House naval subcommittee probed the charge and found it faise.

So far the refutations have had much less effect than the original baseless story. Many still think union seamen refused to unload a vessel at Guadaicanal because it was Sunday.

Ballyhoo For Bonds

With selective service draining men from the nation's campuses, the Treasury is turning its big bond selling guns on the coeds and the women's colleges.

A survey of 300 schools netted a huge collection of bright ideas for boosting bond sales. There are such appeals for saving as "Cut on Cokes" and "Get Along without that cashmere cardigan." At Vassar, the girls called off their class rings and a prom in favor of war savings. At Goucher college in Baltimore, they're giving mock driver's licenses to every student purchasing an interest in the jeep the school is buying with bonds. Sophomores at Mundelein college in Chicago invested proceeds from a cotillion in bonds. Exchange booths for accessories—a cast-off lapel pin for a war saving stamp —are favorite devices elsewhere. At Hood college, Maryland, a rolling booth prowls the campus, preceded by buglers and a chorus.

All of which may remind you to put some of that loose change into war savings stamps today.

Letter to Editor

Student Urges Change Be Made In "Rec" Situation

Dear Editor,

Something should most certainly be done about the dating facilities here at school! Girls read in the annual catalogue of the "beautiful hall - - - (where they) have good times in many ways". This is supposed to be describing the "Rec" which is in fact a wreck where girls are to entertain their dates. The broken furniture, dreary walls and glaring lights are not exactly one's idea of a comfortable dating parlor ! ! ! Not only is this recreation hall unbeautiful but it is not even large enough for the great number of girls and their dates. After the last straight-backed chair and broken down sofa has been occupied, girls sit on the stair steps.

This past Sunday night eight or ten couples sat in the Rotunda to entertain their dates! Why? After all the girls of three out of four classes here have to use the one "Rec" and the Junior Parlor. It is impossible for everyone to sit down much less comfortably.

We are not mentioning the fact that maybe one would like to have pride in one's school, nor the fact that one should date in more dignified surroundings—only that there aren't even enough so-sit.

The saddest part of this sad story is that something could be done immediately to relieve the situation. Those little-used par-sitl might offer a solution to the lors in Student could certainly be ever present date problem).

used to great advantage. What objections are there to using them as dating parlors? There is the browsing room of the library for use on Sunday afternoons. And indeed why could not sorority chapter rooms be used? If worst comes to worst couldn't an upholsterer do something to those broken-down affairs in the rec?

Surely dating cannot be thought so pointless, so unnecessary as for the present situation to continue. It is a normal part of a young person's social life and should be so treated here at school. As it is we are turned loose in the "Rec" and forgotten—to spend a "pleasant" evening. Just how is it possible under the present circumstances to even live through an evening? You can't even enjoy the Sunday night service thinking of the mad dash to get a seat. And then there's the inevitable argument of who got there first and who gets what seat!

Can't somebody—anybody — do something?

Sincerely,
One Who Lost the Argument

(Ed. Note: It was suggested in a letter published in an issue of the 1942 Rotunda, then under the management of Sara Cline, that the little used reception room in the Junior Building be used by students to entertain dates. This

The Gatepost

(Who Hears An Awful Lot)

Motto of the Week: "Never say no to the USO." Randy didn't and sleep was too much competition for her the next morning—Hence no dinner date for the Lieuy . . . As for Ann Jones, she did all right by the one from Carolina.

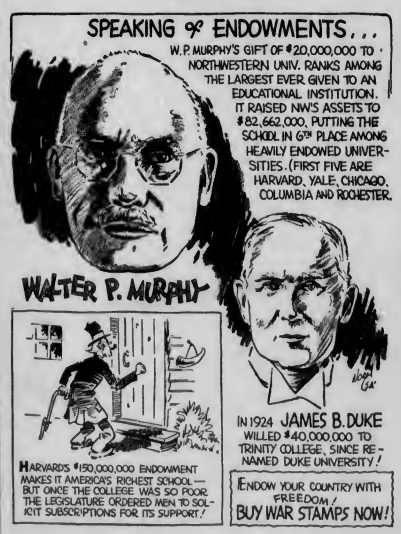
Meeting of the Week: All the ole alumnae from H.-S. meeting Tuesday night at Camp Lee, the Sergeant permitting . . . Then there are always those meetings in Roanoke of B. Blackwell and that gentleman from the South, who hails from Emory and Henry . . . But the one that takes the cake is Mildred C. meeting the Navy representative at 8 o'clock in the morning in junior building entrance.

Business of the Week: Trousseau hunting . . . Pat McCromick, Garrison, and "my hearts pants for thee" Moss.

Scandal of the Week: The Walsh goes to H.-S. with the Eddie and meets the Cuddy and gets that old feeling and everything ends rosy. Parting is such sweet sorrow.

Scenes of the Week: Lucille with the new co-ed Tom . . . Lilly with Dick, and the arrival of M. Watkins back to school with the OAO Chapman . . . Snake Terrell with the VMI lad . . . Margaret Lawrenoe sporting the Techman . . . Nancy Bruce with Her Man . . . and last but not least the Techman in and about the campus even in the middle of the week.

Headline of the Week: The invasion from the Institute for the dance March 27 . . . also the arrival of the soldier boy belonging to none other than Droste who will be on our campus for a brief sit.



Byline of the Week: There will be legitimate snaking at Cotillion for the ones who can't talk Uncle Same out of spring leaves. In other words, Goats, lend your dates gladiy for the figure and consider yourself lucky that you still have a pair of long pants on this continent.

Question of the Week: Where is Sara Smith?

Joke of the Week: Brookie Benton hanging on to avoirdupois, doing her part for the war effort.

Disappointment of the Week: We gotta go.

Campus Camera

Isolationism To Have No Part After War Says Bryson of OWI

An opportunity to build a new world civilization will confront the American people in the postwar period, declares Prof. Lyman Bryson of Columbia University, chief of the bureau of special services of the Office of War Information.

Professor Bryson told 829 candidates for degrees at the University of Michigan that they face a great immediate test, but declared it is necessary to insist that "what you have to go through will be worth any necessary sacrifice because the world that comes after the war will be one in which those who believe in freedom will be allowed to live by it, and those who believe in violence will be restrained."

The postwar period should not be regarded merely as an opportunity to repair damage done by the war, Bryson said. Instead he foresees a period in which all the engineering ability the United States can produce will be put to good use, and he predicts that the time immediately after the war ought to see greater scientific advance than any in the past. Also he hopes we will be scientific about human beings. All these possibilities are declared by Bryson to be evidence "that the people of America will have the means with which to build a new world civilization." No other generation of men has had an opportunity like this, he asserted.

Pointing out that we did not enter this war with the crusading spirit so evident in World War I, Bryson declared that on the whole this was a great advantage because if we can fight and win a war in a mood of grim realism we may be more ready to take the grimily realistic measures that will be necessary afterward.

Americans are just beginning to learn the hard lesson that we will have to resort to power until we have created a world in which violence and injustice are impossible, he said, and such a world is not now in view. "Men are going to be dangerous to each other for a long time to come," Bryson predicted. "The countries of Europe are going to be cut up by civil wars, by bloody quarrels among their leaders and be hot with the fevers of revenge."

Bryson warned that Americans cannot withdraw into a shell of isolation as long as Europe and Asia are in long drawn-out guerrilla warfare.

"We shall have to help combat anarchy as we have fought against aggression," he asserted. "Unless peace and order can be established everywhere we will have to choose between anarchy at home or a degree of military preparation and control that will be almost intolerable. What this amounts to is to say that your generation carries an enormous weight of responsibility put upon it by the long series of failures to which my generation contributed so much. You have not only a war to fight and win. You have also a world to straighten out."

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

It is still March, so it's still Go to Church Month—examinations or no examinations so try to go to church once Sunday won't you? Studying will be much easier if you can find time to relax with divine worship.

Bandages are still needed and girls are still needed to roll them. Every Wednesday night from 8 o'clock until 10 you will be welcomed in Rooms A and B Main.

Prayers this week are being led by the Presbyterian girls. For the past two weeks the Baptist and Episcopalians have had charge. The Methodist will lead the services next week.

Daily Devotions for the week:

Wednesday—Keep words of Evil from our minds and tongues.

Thursday—"We should let his character show in Ours".

Friday—We can confess Him through Regular Church attendance and through personal witness.

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

First Aid—A Need

Thousands of men and women all over America have joined that army who make up the "prepared" home front. Most important in the eyes of every citizen is the knowledge of what to do in case of certain emergencies. Through study and practice these Americans are learning the real weapon to fight with—the knowledge of First Aid. From its definition, " . . . the immediate temporary treatment given in case of sudden illness before the service of a physician can be secured", we can see how beneficial its purpose is.

We, as students, have a small part in this war our country is fighting, but now is the time when we must take advantage of helpful courses which will help us to aid others. First aid courses are offered to us and will accomodate as many who wish to enroll; two college credits may be received. As future teachers, as camp assistants, as Americans, you will reap innumerable benefits from this knowledge.

Swimmers On the Go

Judgers ready, timers ready . . . BANG . . . With the sound of the gun the races begin and S. T. C. swimmers are off to chalk up new time records to send away for the Telegraphic meet which took place the first of this week were the 100 yard relay, 75 yard medley, 40 yard backstroke, 40 yard breast stroke, 40 yard freestyle. Swimmers included Frances Parham, Ruth Dugger, Gloria Pollard, and Frances Lee. Mildred Droste, manager of varsity swimming was in charge and was assisted by Miss Elizabeth Burger, M. J. Levitte and Sara Jeffries. Results of time will be sent in and returns published later in the year.

Varsity Scores

Congratulations to S. T. C.'s undefeated cagers who won over Westhampton last Thursday 19-15 when both teams met on the Richmond team's court in our first and only basketball game this season. Playing the usual hard game were Frances Parham, captain; Ann Ellett, Jean Carr, Ann Price, Hallie Hillsman, Patsy Connelly, Dottie Sue Simmons, and Eleanor Wade.

MAKE—

Your Headquarters

This Year

Shannon's

RECORDS

Decca Victor

Columbia Okeh

Bluebird

We purchase worn out and broken solid records

Wilson's Firestone Store

311 West Third Street

May Day Practices

Continued from Page 1

Satterfield, Carlotta Norfleet, Jean MacCriets, Helen Smith, Betty Nixon, Nancy Broughman, Emily Carper, Mary Walker, Louise Mills, Nancy Wilkinson, Edith Lovins, Faye Johnson, Mary Watkins, Dotty Gilmer, Dora Jones. Margaret Lovins will be in charge of this group.

Girls selected for the Pickaninny tap are Lib West, Dot Werner, Ruth Garrison, Jane Davis, Dolly Wilkerson, Wilhelmina Knapp, Patricia Osborne, Christine Eddins, M. J. Leavitt, Aloise Boswell, Helen Carpenter, Mary E. Crak, Viola Turner, Suzanne Wingo, Martha Watson, and Alice Nichols. Virginia Mae Ellett will instruct this group.

The fourth part of the program is called a Cotillion and consists mainly of four groups of dancers A, B, C, and D. The first number is entitled "Lancers", or A group and is made up entirely of Orchesis. B group, made up of freshmen, will do a "Schottische" and "The Little Brown Jug". This dance will be taught by Shirley Pierce. Those in B group are Helen Stites, Mildred Mease, Betty Wright, Jac Parden, Kim Kimmerling, Shirley Stonnell, Harriette Dowdy, Annie Ellis, Lucie McKenry, Margaret McIntyre, Glenn Ann Patterson, Agnes Stokes, Kitty Maddox, Caroline Marshall, Lucille Jones, Catherine Lambert, Margaret Lemmon, Margaret Verell, Margaret Alvis, Virginia Caviness, Margaret Park, Janet Solienberger, Libby Grille, Libby Heath, Rosa Hill, Carolyn Bobbitt, Nancy Ingle, Jane Williamson, Virginia Lee Price, Martha Ellen Jones, Dorothy Southall, Jane Danby, Katherine Wright, Minnie R. Hawthorne, Jackie Showalter, Shirley Cruser, Billy Waid, Jeanne White, Nancy Lee Weeks, and Jane Paulette.

Mostly upperclassmen will make up the C group, which will dance a "Reel" and the "Poke Nine." This dance will be headed by Betsy Birchfield, and is composed of Susan Durette, Mary Lou Dondley, Jenny Clardy, Ernestine Morgan, Evelyn Chenault, Gene Seymore, Della Gregory, Jocelyn Gilliam, Kitty Davis, Myrtle Lee Holt, Nancy Watts, Eleanor Feagans, Betty Laird, Virginia Firesheets, Katherine Childs, Nuttie Johns, Estelle Smith, Betsy Birchfield, Baylis Kunz, Sara L. East, Mary Anne Jarrett, Iris Ferguson, Aline Boss, Marion Orange, Rachel Joyner, Betty Van Arsdale, Lyde Tompson, Cecile Parr, Nancy Dickerson, Jean Akers, Tanny Norfleet, Margaret Finney, Alice Belote, Betty Reid, Lilly Bec Gray, Edith Sanford, Jane Hobson, Louise McCorkle and Mary Frances Bowles.

Group D will dance a "Polka and, Star by Right". This group will be instructed by Elizabeth Goodwin. The dancers in Group D are Jean Guy, Alyce Fulton, Brookie Benton, Anne Moore, Dearing Fauntleroy, Margaret Kitchen, Nancy Allen, Sally Robertson, Elizabeth McCoy, Sara Byrd Williams, Nancy Harrell, Roberta Davis, Sarah Wood, Charlie Price, Lois Baughman, Virginia Hitchings, Nancy Kearse Guthrie, Nell Scott, Audrey Mayes, Betty Doggett, Mary Ellen Hoge, Mary Sue Clark, Margaret Smith, Geneva Coleman, Lucy Bowling, Emily Humphries, Jane Bargamin, Shirley Richardson, Anne Carmines, Isabel Sampson, Viola Turner, Nancy Crymes, Jean Parry, Cay Lynch, Frances Ferguson, Pat Osborne, Nancy Fuqua, Rosalie Jones, Martha Davis, an Anna Lee Blanton.

Costume materials have been delivered and they will be distributed in several weeks.

Would You Like to make an old dress like new

?

Brighten it with a lovely lace collar and cuffs.

Baldwin's

Local Basketeers Drub Westhampton

S. T. C.'s Court Team Chalks Up 19-16 Win In Richmond

S. T. C.'ers cagers drubbed Westhampton's basketeers 19-16 in a closely contested game on Thursday afternoon on the Richmond team's court.

Both teams were in full action during the entire game and a tight score of 2-2 marked the end of the first quarter, and at the half 6-6. Pushing forth in the third period Farmville gathered a 9 point lead over their opponents, but with a mighty effort the Westhampton sextet scored fast and furiously during the fourth period bringing the score to 19-16 as the final whistle ended the game.

This was the first and so far only scheduled game of the season, and in the words of the recently elected captain, Frances Parham, "We remain undefeated."

Eight members of the varsity basketball squad who made the trip were Frances Parham, Jean Carr, Hallie Hillsman, Anne Ellett, Ann Price, Patsy Connelly, Dottie Sue Simmons, and Eleanor Wade. Sarah Wade Owen, manager, and Miss Olive T. Iler, coach, accompanied the group.

Due to a misinterpretation, the Rotunda story run in last week's issue stated that the S. T. C. team was to play William and Mary in Williamsburg.

College Offers 3 Red Cross Classes In Spring Quarter

Three classes will be offered in the American Red Cross First Aid course for the spring quarter. All persons interested in taking such a course may sign on the sheets of paper which are placed on the A. A. bulletin board. Both the standard and advanced classes will be offered.

The time which the classes will meet will be decided by the group, rather than the time indicated on the bulletin board. This will allow persons who wish to enroll but unable to meet at the time already scheduled; to set an hour when they can. A large number have already signed but arrangements can be made to give the course to as many as desire it.

College Shoppe

Try our delicious

SANDWICHES

And Plate Lunches

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S

The Complete Drug Store

CLEAN FOUNTAIN

Stationery, Candy

Prescriptions are our specialty

PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.

238 Main St.

Cage Captain

FRANCES PARHAM, senior of Petersburg, was elected captain of the 1943 basketball team of the college last week. She has been a star forward on the college team for four years.

All girls whose names are listed should be at practices this next week on time.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop

"From old to new with any shoe"

Only First Class material used

All work guaranteed

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK

Farmville, Va.

Careful Management

Courteous Service

Interest paid on Savings Deposits

MAY DAY SCHEDULE
Week of March 22

Hour—Place	Tues.	Wed.	Thurs.
11:00—Gym	Pickaninny	Swanee River	Pickaninny
3:50—Gym		Court
5:00—Gym			Court
7:00—Gym	Polka (D)	Orchesis	Plantation Folk
—Rec	Plantation Folk
8:00—Gym	Schottische (B)	Orchesis	Polka (D)
—Rec	Reel (C)
9:00—Gym	Swanee	Orchesis
—Gym	Pickaninny

*Note—This schedule is made out on old time for spring quarter.

PLAY SHOES

FOR SPRING AND SUMMER

YOU WILL NOT NEED A RATION TICKET TO BUY THESE

$1.95 to $3.95

FIRST FLOOR

Davidson's

Chairmen Select Costume Samples For May Court

Miss Emily Kaularich, with the costume chairman, Charlotte Greeley and her advisors, selected material for May Day costumes in Richmond last week. Miss Cora Lee Sheppard from Thalhimers visited this campus on Wednesday, March 10 to bring samples and suggestions for the May Court dresses. She also made suggestions for the queen and her maid of honor.

May Day this year will depict the life and time of Stephen Foster, the composer. It is entitled "The Era of a Dreamer".

Hal Thurston

Continued from Page 1

Claytor and Winifred Wright as assistants. The freshmen and new girls elected to the club this spring will also work on the decorations. Inez Jones will be in charge of the refreshments to be served at intermission in Student Lounge.

Alumnae tickets will be sold at the door.

Campus Bond Queen

Continued from Page 1

basis of photgenic qualities. The photograph of the winner will be featured in a later issue of the Collegiate Digest.

During the local contest the student body spent $4,566 in War Bonds and Stamps. These figures show that each student might have spent approximately $5.71 on the average. Only those purchases made at the College Stamp booth were counted.

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

Georgia Peach? . . .

Hal Thurston whose orchestra from the Peach State will swing out at Cotillion on March 27.

Just Looking, Thanks

Seems like S. T. C.'ers believe in little jaunts before exams—Like Nancye Allen, Margaret Alvis, Eugenia Burke, Mary Billup, Rebecca Blanton, Betsy Birchfield, Betty Boutchard, Geneva Coleman, Dorothy Cummings, Betty Cock, Martha Cox, Linda Crowder, Lucille Cheatham, Alice Duncan, Louisa Dawson, Christine Eddins, Eloise Golladay, Ann Geison, Ruth Garrison, Libby Heath, Myrtle Lee Holt, Betty King, Caroline Marshall, Kitty Maddox, Carol Pugh, Amy Reid, Ann Shaw, Eleanor Wade, Winifred Wright, Elsie Stossel and Lilly Bec Gray who traveled homeward last week end.

The glamour gals, Pagie Francis, Gracie Hutcheson, Jane McFall, Charlotte Phillips and Hannah Lee Crawford journeyed to Lynchburg to the PiKA party at Oakridge Country Club. Martha Patterson and Beatrice Jones attended a dance at Randolph-Macon, and Betty Sexton and Ann Covington went to Richmond to see the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo.

In honor of Miss Mary's birthday, the student body was entertained at a formal banquet Friday night in the dining room. Several members of the faculty and Dr. Jarman attended.

Camp Pickett arrived (apparently) this week end and for the first time since Christmas S. T. C.-ers went to the Farmville Armory to trip the "Light Fantastic" with Uncle Sam's nephews. The brightlight of the evening was the "Polish Stomp" which is a very attractive arrangement of the Polka steps . . . Loads of fun.

The members of the Colonnade Staff and a number of others entertained Sunday afternoon at the Recreation Center. Coffee and doughnuts were served and games from dominoes and horse shoes to gin rummy were enjoyed by all.

Comes Spring—and—we always say. Ex-chief-reporter of the Rotunda Sara Cline and Bob Dabney will be married in Roanoke on April 17 the grape vine has it. And Mary Jane Ritchie, also class of '42 will be married to Lt. Johann early in the Spring according to Sunday's State press.

24 Hours Dwindle

Continued from Page 1

provement on the modern girl so far)

Study French until breakfast.

After dinner: Study French, sleep or take a walk until six. (We gather she didn't have any afternoon classes).

German exercises before supper.

After supper: Study German til 8 o'clock. Study History til 9:30, Algebra 'til 11 o'clock.

This schedule of grandmother's adds that on Wednesday and Friday she stays up until 12:30 A. M. and "employs herself profitably.". Maybe that's when she washes her hair. Even then she does not retire for that necessary rest; she studies "what I do not know" until 1:30 A. M.

Saturday night she reviews her week's work. That's when our modern Susie sees the Hampden-Sydney lad. Maybe there was no H.-S. in grandmother's day. Poor grandmother. She worked hard, got circles under her eyes, and for recreation "took walks". That is, if you can believe what the little schedule says.

Also, it seems quite evident that grandmother's twenty-four hours didn't last any longer than ours do. Time was just twenty-four hours a day then, too. No change.

Sponsor Playwriting

Continued from Page 1

includes, besides Mrs. Morgenthau, Hallie Flanagan Davis, dean of Smith College and Barrett H. Clark of the Dramatist's Play

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

Alumnae Announce

Continued from Page 1

ings.

Mrs. Fannie Bidgood Price, of Petersburg, made a response for the class of 7893 at the alumnae luncheon on Saturday. She was awarded a pendast for attendance at her fiftieth anniversary after graduation. The class of 1903 was represented by Miss Mary E. Peck, Alumnae President, who reported letters from a number of her classmates and a generous contribution for framing Mrs. Morrison's portrait which was hung on that day.

Of the 106 members of the class of 1913, 14 were present. Eleven are deceased. Present were: Ada Bierbower, Blackstone; Thelma Blanton Rockwell, Norfolk; Margaret Boatwright McIntyre, Marion, S. C.; Florence Buford, University; Virgilia Bugg, Farmville; Antoinette Davis Scraefer, Lynchburg; Jennie Earnest Mayo, Lexington; Ruth Harding Coyner, Farmville; Sallie Hargrove Short, Petersburg; Winnie V. Hiner, Farmville; Nena Lockridge Sexton, Raleigh, N. C.; Gertrude Martin Welch, Roanoke; Ruth Percivall Whittle, Petersburg; Mildred Potts Albright, Chase City. This class had the largest representation on Founders day.

Since the president of this class had died, the vice-president, Thelma Blanton Rockwell, responded. Some interesting facts were reported. This was the last class to sit on the rostrum for graduation exercises. A gift of $30 for each of the thirty years since graduation was given to subscribe to magazines for the infirmary. The class gift at graduation was a book case full of books for the infirmary. Eleven members of the class of 1913 have sent their daughters back here to college.

Mrs. Katherine Anderson Maddox of Lynchburg spoke for the 1918 class who were celebrating their twenty-fifth anniversary. Other members of that class who were present were Kitty Watkins and Mary Lancaster Wall.

Anne Meredith Jeffers responded for the degree class of 1923. Mary Nichols and Elizabeth Moring Smith also represented this class.

Service, New York.

Students of any university or college in the United States are eligible to enter their plays in the contest which closes April 1, 1943. Scripts should be between 10 and 30 minutes of playing time. It is preferable to have them as short as possible.

This contest is open to the students of some 1600 college drama departments. Scripts will be judged locally by heads of these departments the winning entries will then be sent to Mrs. Morgenthau, Treasury Department, Washington, D. C. They must reach Washington not later than April 10.

Winning scripts will be made available to non-commercial theatre groups, and to college theatres upon request. The student authors of winning plays will receive the Treasury Special Award of Merit for distinguished service to the War Savings program.

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
MANY LARGE ECONOMICAL SIZES ADDED TO OUR Toilet Article Department
SEE OUR DISPLAY

LADIES' BEAUTIFUL RAYON HOSE
FULL FASHION
98c
ROSE'S

Put in your order for RYTEX STATIONERY
On March 17, 18, 19 and 20
at
Martin the Jeweler

Fashion Experts See Legs Disappearing Under Longer Skirts In Post War Era

By JANE SMITH

A startling sentence appeared in a recent article on post war fashion predictions stating that skirts will go down to the ankles. Of course, no one can say positively that they will or won't but considering that the skirts we wear today couldn't get any shorter and that hose are getting increasingly difficult to get, it seems at least within the range of possibility. Some think the answer to the stocking question is slacks but because so many of us weren't apparently made to wear slacks and because good looking slacks have to be very carefully tailored, it seems that their place will be for the working gal only.

Another prediction is that there will be more draping and ruffles and sequins. In other words, women will go lavishly feminine as they did after the last war.

The experts believe that women will take clothes more seriously, when the women who have been in the Waacs and Waves come back they will naturally organize their wardrobes as their uniforms were organized. They will consider total effects and not wear flowers in the hair with slacks.

Shoes will probably follow the conservative trend they are taking now because of the rationing. We won't go back immediately to frivilous and uncomfortable sandals and play shoes after we have been wearing the conservative shoes through war days.

Since this prediction business is based mostly on guesswork we'll have to wait until the lights go on again to see what strange garbs they will have worked up by them.

There were ten members of the class of 1933 present. Among them were Harriet Moomaw Leek, Roanoke; Mildred V. Lancaster, Richmond; Sarah S. Rowell, Surry; Duvall B. Ridgway, Roanoke; Jennie Wheeler Singer, Hopewell; Rachel McDaniel Biscoe, Hampton; Carolyn Ford, Virgilina; and Martha B. Gunter, Lynchburg. Miss Oliver Iler was the honorary classman of this class.

Betty Boutchard represented the Senior Class of 1943 at the luncheon on Founders Day, and she reported a plan by which her class hopes to be inducted into alumnae work this spring.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

For Exercise . .
BOWL at . . .
BOWLING ALLEY
NEWMAN'S
Downstairs in Shannon's
OLLIE G. PILLOW
Manager

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.
The entrance requirements are intelligence, character, and for the duration of the War, one quarter or one semester of College. Classes will be admitted April 1, 1943 and January 27, 1944. The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years.
The annual tuition of $100.00 covers cost of maintenance and uniforms. Loan funds covering the annual tuition are available.
Catalogue, application form, and information about the B. S. degree requirements may be obtained by writing to:
The Dean
Duke School of Nursing
Durham, North Carolina

THE HUB
New Spring Chambrey and two piece Seersucker
DRESSES
$2.95
—to—
$5.95

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, (Farmville, Va.)

SUPERMINDS BATTLE IT OUT APRIL 13

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS ALL NEW OFFICERS

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31, 1943 No. 21

Nimmo Is Reelected '44 Class President

Holt, Bisese Lead Juniors, Sophs

Faye Nimmo, of Suffolk, was unanimously reelected president of the present Junior class at a meeting Monday night, March 29. Betty Bridgforth, Kenbridge, and Jane Smith, Franklin, will represent their class on the student government council. Serving as vice-president will be Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville. Frances Craddock, Blackstone, will be the new secretary, and Ruth Dugger, Denbigh, will take over the duties of treasurer.

Student Standards representatives are Mildred Droste, Ronceverte, W. Va., who will serve for her second term; Mildred Corvin, Crewe, and Betty Watts, Portsmouth, who will go on this council for the first time.

Miss Elizabeth Burger was unanimously reelected classman for the coming year.

Members of the present junior class will officially become seniors when they march under the arch at Senior Chapel later in the spring.

Class of '45

Myrtle Lee Holt, Richmond, was re-elected president of the class of '45 last Tuesday night, March 23. Taking over the position of vice-president is Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville. Mary Walker Watts, of Amherst, is the incoming secretary and Helen Wilson, Petersburg, will be treasurer.

Serving on the student government council will be Barbara Scott, Franklin and Ophelia Whittle, Petersburg. Student Standards representatives for the coming year are Betty Agnew, Burkeville, and Fay Johnson, Vinton. Mr. "Charlie" French will resume his duties as classman.

Class of '46

Eleanor Bisese, Norfolk, won the position as president of next year's Sophomore class at the election Tuesday night, March 23. Margie Hewlett, Richmond, will begin her duties as vice-president. Lillian Elliott, Farmville, will take over as secretary, and Shirley Cruser, Norfolk, is the new treasurer. All of these officers are new in their

Continued on Page 4

May Day Leaders Chose Assistants

Managers, Teachers Plan Celebration

May Day assistants were selected last week by the various chairmen. Winifred Wright, chairman of transportation, has Patsy Connelly as her assistant; Susie Moore, head of staging selected Mary Moore McCorkle as her helper; and Mildred Corvin is assistant business manager to Rosalie Rogers. Teachers for the various dances working under Betty Sexton are Jeanne Strick and Ophelia Whittle, (Revival); Ruth Dugger (O Susannah); Edith Lovins (Swanee tap); Virginia Mae Ellett (Pickaninny tap); Gloria Pollard, Gwen Sampson, (Juba); Shirley Pierce (B); Betty Birchfield (C); and Elizabeth Goodwin (D).

Those girls assisting Ada Claire Snyder and Libby Jordan with the music are Jo Shaffner, Audrey Mayes, Margie Hewlett, and Carolyn Bobbitt.

Charlotte Greeley has selected as her assistants Ellen Hudgins and Marie Nichols — Plantation Group, Alice Seebert and Virginia Campfield, Revival; Dot Childress and Grace Hutcheson, Pickaninny; Frances Strohecker, Juba; Dora Jones, Lucy Manson, Lancers; Virginia Firesheets, B; Mary E. Pearsall, C; Ellen Ebel and Nell Pritchett, D.

Choirs Will Sing For K. Cheatham While in New York

Miss Kitty Cheatham, internationally known artist who has sung in all of the leading cities of Europe and America, will attend the concert to be given by the College Choir, the A'Cappella groups, and the Madrigal singers for the Farmville alumnae of New York City and guests of the Great Northern Hotel Sunday evening, April 18 at 7:30 o'clock. Miss Cheatham will address the students on Music as a Morale Builder.

Included in the guests will be Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Stillman-Kelley. Mrs. Kelley is one of the leading figures in National Federation of Music Lovers, and Dr. Stillman-Kelley is one of the outstanding American composers of this generation. Others who will attend are Baroness de Meeos; Robert Kitain, violinist; faculty members of the New York University, and Sonisa Ewsin, distinguished American contralto.

The concert, which will be composed of four selections by the Madrigal singers, three selections by the Senior and Junior A'Cappela groups, and two selections by the College Choir, will be given in the Crystal Room of the Great Northern Hotel.

H.-S. C. Quiz Team Accepts Challenge Of S. T. C. Brain Trust

Roy Cabell, spokesman of the Hampden-Sydney Quiz Team, announced Monday night that the Hampden-Sydney Brain Trust has accepted the challenge of the local team. Instead of April 7, the date originally suggested, the zero hour for the I. Q. fest will be 8 o'clock Tuesday night, April 13. Scene of the battle will be the State Teachers College auditorium.

As the Rotunda went to press, no definite arrangements had been made about the master of ceremonies, but it is hoped that the contest will again be broadcast over WRNL, as done for the past two years, with Mallory Freeman, educational director of the Richmond radio station, as MC.

Alpha Kappa Gamma will sponsor the contest and the proceeds will go to the Red Cross fund.

Government Girls To Be Installed

Mr. Conrad Blackwell of the Methodist Church will offer the invocation at the installation of members of student government tonight.

Five new girls will be installed. They are Frances Lee Hawthorne, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Patsy Connelly, president of the A. A.; Jane Smith, representative of the class of '44; Ophelia Whittle, from next year's junior class, and Carolyn Bobbitt, from the class of '46.

Rotunda Advisor Undergoes Operation

Samuel M. Holton, director of personnel at Farmville State Teachers College and advisor for the Rotunda, is convalescing from a recent appendectomy at the Southside Community Hospital. He is rapidly recovering and expects to be back at his work sometime within the next week.

Mrs. Holton is also recovering from a recent operation in Duke Hospital in Durham, N. C.

DR. LEROY MERRITT

Librarian To Work Part Time for OWI

Merritt Selected To Represent ALA

Dr. Leroy Charles Merritt, head librarian at Farmville State Teachers College leaves tomorrow for Washington, D. C., where he will work three days a week with the Office of War Information as a representative of the American Library Association. The work is a follow-up of his trip to Chicago last fall where he helped prepare memoranda concerning government publications. The report of the work done in Chicago has been published and parts of it are already in operation by the OWI.

While in Washington, Dr. Merritt will work with John M. Cory, chief of the library liaison of the Office of War Information. They will work out new procedures for the equitible distribution of government publications to libraries.

Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college, has granted Dr. Merritt the proper leave of absence for his work in Washington three days a week. He plans to leave Farmville on Thursday morning of each week and to return Saturday evening. In his absence his class in Library Science will be taught by Miss Carmen Clark, assistant librarian.

Dr. Merritt has been selected to represent the American Library Association in Washington because of his research on "The United States Government as Publisher", the subject he chose for his dissertation prior to receiving his doctorate in Library Science at the University of Chicago, and because of the special study he did in Chicago last fall.

For the special work regarding government publications, Dr. Merritt has been lent to the OWI by the American Library Association.

Home Ec Girls Seed, Weed Victory Gardens

A victory garden located on a vacant lot near the library has recently been started by the senior Home Economics Majors as a project of the Home Economics Club. The garden covers two-thirds of an acre of land recently purchased by the school.

Mr. Samuel Graham has had the ground plowed, and the Home Economics seniors will do the work on it. This work will be their part in the physical fitness program this quarter. They will work on a regular schedule of three hours a week per student.

Any products which are ready for use before the end of the quarter will be used by the Home Management House. The later products will be preserved this summer for use in the Home Management House next year.

The Home Economics Majors are also making a study of the garden in a class. Miss Ruth Gleaves, a member of the Home Economics faculty is teaching the

Continued on Page 3

Crawford, Bell, Droste, Pierce Win Vice-Presidency Positions

Colonnade Head Announces Editors

Change Eliminates Managing Editor

Four new members have been added to the 1944 staff of the Colonnade, Elizabeth Tennent, incoming editor recently announced. Carolyn Bobbitt of South Hill will be the book review editor; Betty Wood of Hopewell has been added to the art editors; Helen McGuire, of Grundy, will take over the Propwash page, and Katherine Prebble, of Lynchburg, has been added to the typing staff.

The 1944 Colonnade includes Jane Smith, Jane Waring Ruffin, Jane Knapton, and Mary William Calvert, literary editors, Lois Alphin, poetry editor, and Jean Arrington, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Lou Dondley, and Sarah Trigg, art editors. Assisting Mildred Corvin, business manager will be Mary Ann Reid as typist, and Anne Payne and Betty Agnew, business assistants.

The Board of Contributors for the Colonnade include Elizabeth Goodwin, chairman, Warwick Mitchell, Peggy Becker, Fay Johnson, Lelia Holloway, and Betty Cock.

The office of Managing Editor has been absorbed by the various other editors.

The new staff will publish the spring issue of the magazine which is traditionally dedicated to the seniors and will appear in the late spring.

7 Upperclassmen Graduated in Winter

Seven students were graduated from Farmville State Teachers College at close of winter quarter. Miss Virgilia I. Bugg, registrar, announced this week. They are Haydee Carbonell, Puerto Rico; Maxine Compton, Tiny; Emma Frances Elam, Prospect; Nina Lee Hall, Wachapreague; eBtty Jackson, Amelia; Dorothy Marrow, Clarksville, and Nelle White, of Salem.

Nine Lee Hall, Maxine Compton, Betty Jackson, and Nelle White took their degrees in Commercial; Dorothy Marrow and Emma Frances Elam were Home Economics Majors.

Weathers Appoints '44 Rotunda Staff

Few Changes Made In Personnel Set-up

Ella Banks Weathers, editor of the 1944 Rotunda has announced the staff of the college weekly for the coming year.

Associate editors include Virginia Treakle of Toano, who will serve as news editor, succeeding Jane Waring Ruffin, recently promoted to the position of managing editor; Fay Byrd Johnson, sophomore, who will continue as feature editor; and Shirley Pierce, sports editor for the fourth year.

Assistant business managers are Mary Sterrett, Brownsburg, advertising manager, and Ruth Brooks, Farmville, circulation manager. Jane Ford, Martinsville, will serve as head typist. Mary will replace Keith Bingham. Ruth takes over the position formerly held by Mary St. Clair Bugg, and Jane will succeed Nell Pritchett.

Assistant editors are Sara Jeffreys, photographic editor, and Alice Wooding, copy editor. Assistants on the sports staff include Margaret Orange and Martha Jean Leavell, freshmen, who will work with Shirley Pierce on the sports news.

Heads of the college publication staffs are appointed by the publication committee which is composed of the retiring heads of the publications, the advisers and one member of the student body at large. The staffs are selected from members of the staffs by the incoming editor.

Cock Replaces Clary As Youth President In Southern Virginia

Betty Duel Cock, freshman from Hampton, was selected president of the Episcopal Youth Division of the Diocese of Southern Virginia to replace Grayson Clary, who has been recently called into the service, at a meeting of the youth council in Suffolk last week.

Betty has been an active member of the council for several years and is president of the local Canterbury Club.

Minor Officers Chosen For '44

Minor officers for the 1943-'44 school year were elected Tuesday, March 16. Student Government officers elected were Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville, vice-president, succeeding Ella Marsh Pilkinton; Harriette Moore, Gastonia, N. C., secretary, succeeding Mary Evelyn Pearsall; Lucy Messick, Front Royal, treasurer, succeeding Hannah Lee Crawford, and Glenn Ann Patterson, Kenbridge, campus league chairman, succeeding Ann Blair. Jean Arrington was elected head dining room hostess to replace Betty Reid.

Minor officers of the Y. W. C. A. are Louise Bell, Berryville, vice-president, succeeding Eleanor Folk; Nancy Hall, Norton, secretry, succeeding Frances Lee Hawthorne; Sara Byrd Williams, Woodstock, treasurer, succeeding Ann Ellett; Minnie Lee Crumpler, Suffolk, freshman counselor, succeeding Ella Banks Weathers; and Dr. G. W. Jeffers, faculty advisor, succeeding Miss Mary Clay Hiner.

Shirley Pierce, of Roanoke, was elected vice-president of the Athletic Association, succeeding Shirley Turner. Other officers of the A. A. are Sara Jeffries, Goldsboro, N. C., secretary, succeeding Patsy Connelly; and Helen Wilson, treasurer, succeeding Ruth Dugger.

Vice-president of the House Council for the coming year will be Mildred Droste, Ronceverte, W. Va., succeeding Ann Ware Smith; secretary will be Martha Higgins, Portsmouth, succeeding Jane Smith who was both secretary and treasurer this year; and Sally Robertson, Lynchburg, treasurer.

Heads of the organizations, as previously announced are, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Roanoke, pres-

Continued from Page 3

White Gets Position In Farmville High

Nelle White, of Salem, who was graduated from this college in March has accepted a position as part time commercial teachers in the Farmville High School.

Nelle transferred to Farmville from Virginia Intermont in Bristol her sophomore year. While in college she was active in Pegasus Riding Club, the Commercial Club, and in the Dramatic Club, for which she served as head of the lighting group for two years.

American Army "Hollow To Its Toes" Says Alumna; Razes Food, Hunger Aforethought

Milk Bars Rated Tops "Down Under"

From Australia to Virgilia I. Bugg came a letter last week from Phyllis Pedigo, an alumna of Farmville. Miss Pedigo is an assistant director of a Red Cross center "somewhere in Australia."

"Life here, thus far," she wrote, "has been most interesting. I shall never forget, however, the depressed feeling I had when first I appeared on the scene and realized the job that lay ahead, but at long last this old broken down and abandoned hotel looks passable."

"Our milk bar is quite popular", Miss Pedigo went on to say, "as are the "Wimpy hamburgers" I've at last taught the Philippino cooks to master. It took me only a short while to discover that the American army is hollow to its toes—and nothing delights our boys more than a dish that really tastes USA, like chicken pot pie or lemon pie. They raid the ice box at night blissfully unaware that we are forearmed and have stacked so they can raid."

In telling of her duties, the former Farmville student writes, "my day generally runs from 6 till midnight and includes items from mixing cement (if you can obtain it) to sewing on buttons, writing letters home, fixing special dishes and feeding various and sundry pets that have become members of our household. These pets range from baby wallabys, goats, birds, and snakes to horses. My newest pet is a baby kangaroo, which I have named Joy because she hops so merrily and takes the American teasing so good naturedly. In fact, the pets often become so numerous that I have to "pay" someone to "steal" them.

She relates interesting experiences in her letter among the most exciting of which was with a python. "We were driving at night," she wrote, "and suddenly the car lights showed what looked like a log across the road. We hastily rolled up the glasses and crept close enough for a time exposure. Then after a serious consultation we decided to risk proceeding. With windows tightly rolled up, we put the car in low gear and stepped on the gas. We made it with a huge lump, and decided Mr. Python was either lazy from just having swallowed a large dinner of kangaroo or we took him by surprise. It worked, luckily, because one of those fellows can easily upset a car."

In describing her wardrobe she said, "I use the regular dungarees the soldiers use to work in because they fasten high around the neck, down to the wrist and ankles. Then you plaster your face and hands with Barbasol shaving cream, sprinkle generously with citronella and then pray that the mosquito just won't care for your particular blood type!"

Miss Pedigo, turning philosopher, observed that the saving grace of the American army is its sense of humor and its ability to get the most out of everything.

Australia Thrill Center of Pacific

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Jane Cabell Sanford ..... Editor-in-chief
Ella Banks Weathers ..... Managing Editor
Elva Andrews ..... Business Manager

WEDNESDAY, MARCH 31, 1943

Freedom of Worship

(Ed. Note: The following is an excerpt from one of the posters featuring Norman Rockwell's paintings of "The Four Freedoms" with texts by well-known writers. The series is sponsored by the OWI and the Saturday Evening Post and a set of the posters has been sent to our office. Each week we will publish as much of the text as space allows and the posters will be exhibited in a conspicuous place on the campus.)

Down in the valley below the hill where I spend my summers is a little white church whose steeple has been my guiding goal in many a pleasant walk.

Often, as I passed the door on week days when all was silent there, I wished that I might enter, sit quietly in one of the empty pews, and feel more deeply the wonder and the longing that had built such chapels—temples and mosques and great cathedrals—everywhere on the earth.

These men of the fields from afar in the uncomfortable finery of a Sabbath morn, greeting one another with bluff cordiality, entering to worship their God in their own fashion—I think, sometimes, that they know more than I shall ever find in all my books. They have no words to tell me what they know, but that is because religion, like music, lives in a world beyond words, or thoughts, or things.

The poetry of their ritual redeems the prose of their daily toil: the prayers they pray are sacred summonses to their better selves; the songs they sing are shouts of joy in their refreshened strength.

This little church is the first and final symbol of America. For men came across the sea not merely to find new soil for their plows, but to win freedom for their souls, to think and speak and worship as they would. This is the freedom men value most of all; for this they have borne countless persecutions and fought more bravely than for food or gold. These men coming out of their chapel—what is the finest thing about them, next to their undiscourageable life? It is that they do not demand that others should worship as they do, or even that others should worship at all. In that waving valley are some who have not come to this service. It is not held against them; mutely these worshippers understand that faith takes many forms, and that men name with diverse words the hope that in their hearts is one.—Will Durant.

To Thine Own Self Be True

There are certain practices that are forbidden, not only by any school authorities, but by common decency and by the laws of courtesy. When, several Sunday nights ago, a group of S. T. C. students, with their dates, forget those laws of refinement and put aside their desire to be ladies by leaving the Methodist Church before the sermon had even started, they harmed not themselves but the school.

These girls obeyed the letter of the law: they went to church with their dates as requested. But they failed to keep faith with themselves—they failed to live up to the standards that our school would like to enjoy. Perhaps these girls left the church before the end of the service in a moment of impulse, without thinking of what they were doing. But their actions in so doing chalked up a mark against their intelligence and good taste; it also gave the school a black mark in the eyes of all who saw them.

This is not a finishing school, but it is a place of higher education where cultural standards should be high, and where the students should forego the rude, ill bred actions in order to allow more worthy characteristics to become instilled in their personalities.

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

Field Marshall Rommel has sand in his eyes now as his army is being rapidly pushed back toward Tunis. However, Rommel doesn't have his name of fox for nothing. There may be a trick or two up his sleeve yet. Sad to say, Rommel is one of the most clever generals that this war has produced on either side of the fighting.

The Rising Sun is being dimmed in the Aleutian area. American vessels have at least diverted a large Jap fleet headed toward Alaska. In the South Atlantic, the Japs took the offensive and bombed Canton, an island seaplane base. Little damage at the time, but it signals the fact that the Japs feel that they are strong enough to start at least a little offensive. And with the Japs, nothing is too little for the Emperor and the state.

Here in the United States, the food problems are causing headaches in more than one home. Gone are the days of the ten pound ham. Instead the housewife must be content with fresh cuts if there are any to be had. Gone, also, is the simple married life. It takes a real brain to do the shopping these days. One shopping trip for the family meal would cure any girl who had ideas of embarking on a hasty wedding.

Food is a headache to Secretary of Agriculture Wickard. Having been given the old one-two in the President's shake-up, he is slated for a traveling job in which he would study ways and means of increasing production all over the world. A forecast of the post-war problems of diversification of agriculture and industry.

Giraud and De Gaulle are coming to a closer understanding with each other it appears. Their liaison officer, General Catroux, is conferring with both sides in an effort to mend the gap between the two French leaders. The unity, which is now sadly lacking, would do much to lift the morale of the French people and indeed all peoples in occupied countries.

Buying bonds and stamps is another good way of keeping up morale. Did you know that the students of Farmville High School have bought $1,500 worth of bonds and stamps while S. T. C. has bought only $700? What has happened to us?

World Student Service Fund

Those who contributed so generously to the World Student Service Fund have been asking for just what purpose their money will be used. On the basis of the $300,000 national goal, the percentages are here given:

33 1-3%	(or $100,000) to work in China, National Student Relief Committee, in Chungking;
33 1-3%	(or $100,000)—to work in Europe, European Student Relief Fund, Geneva, Switzerland; for work on the continent and for European students in Canada North Africa, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, India; and to students in Russia;
25%	(or $75,000)—to work in other parts of the world, including student refugees in the U. S., National Japanese American Student Relocation Council, U. S. prisoners of war in the Far East, and emergency needs;
8.4%	(or $25,000)—to administrative budget.
100%	$300,000

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

Some call it glamour. By some it's dubbed charm. Others simply label it "oomph". Whatever the current nomenclature may be, Betty Boutchard has it! There are countless adjectives which would describe Betty, but when one tries to sum it up in a few words none of them seem to fit.

As president of the class of '43, she's been loved and respected partly because she's been the one who has so faithfully and loyally served the class and partly because she possesses that distinct and rare quality of complete likeableness for which we all strive.

She'll be remembered next year for a great many things. She has been quite active during her years at Farmville, holding offices in several organizations as well as membership in several others.

But she'll be missed mostly for the little things . . . the way she always walks hurriedly . . . the way she can insult and tease you to all extremes and make you love it . . . the ability she has to laugh at herself . . . her change of moods—being completel serious for a while and, then, suddenly changing her tempo by her witty remarks . . . her sly manner of squinting her eyes and licking her lips when she speaks . . . and how she always has a very special song favorite—(right now it's "Can It eB Wrong?").

So here's a salute to Betty, dark, poised and well-dressed, sometimes sophisticated, sometimes "little girlish," but always sparkling and good fun.

"Snoop" Snoops

As snoop, your snappy reporter, was nosing around, she chanced to ask a Home Ec gal of any possible "dirt". "Sure," came the prompt repartee, 'we've got lots of it in our garden!" . . . which reminds us to give you a hint to be on hand for the grand opening of the 'You seed 'em, we'll weed 'em" gardens . . . One eight o'clock early bird has warned us that the Bloomer Girls had nothing compared to her gardening get-up.

"Come wind, come weather" but the S. T. C. girls will still step out of a Saturday night to bolster the morale of Pickett men . . . and of themselves. The Ingle-Knapton combination seemed to be drawing a high note of interest from some of the choicest stock on the market . . . Barrels of bricks to the misguided child who felt the urge to offer her services as vocalist . . . A little less limelight, please—the glare's terrific.

'Twas good to see so many old girls back . . . among them the former 'Y' president Rosebro, causing the Garrett grin to widen once again.

Moonlight Mood . . . Stella making the most of the last moments with Tom before Uncle Sam takes over.

I ask you . . . What do you think of your fellow classmate who is bemoaning the fact that during the 23 day leave of her fiance, she won't be able to date anyone else . . . not even the Picket playboy . . (and it's not as the former were not t, d, and h!)

Yorktown New Yorkers—Gwen and Mary Sue scintillating at the Officers Club.

And in this lovely spring weather we always find those who like to stroll in the woods . . . No, don't get me wrong . . . There need be two, and cadets are always welcome, eh, Jane Smith?

We have been told something about Jackie Parden and the uniform—but we don't have the story straight. What's the dope?

"In spring, a young man's fancy turns—" Ah, but to what?

Orchids To Orchesis Overdue Says Reporter After Recital

by Elizabeth McCoy

"On with the dance!"—and on with the excellent work of Orchesis. After having thrilled to the stirring interpretation of "The Murder of Lidice", Edna St. Vincent Millay's graphic poetic protest against the inhuman reprisals taken by the Nazis upon the innocent, GGod-fearing little village, we feel that Orchesis has expressed itself as more than a dance group. It revealed itself as an intrument of drama and as a means of reflecting the feeling of the college and the nation as regards the resentment and anger burning toward the Nazis.

In addition to "the Murder of Lidice" at the recital given by Orchesis last night, two outstanding solos were presented by Betty Sexton and Virginia Mae Ellett. The remainder of the program was made up of splendid group work.

Orchesis did not attempt to use its program as a money making effort, thereby making it possible for the entire student body to learn of the excellent work that is being done on the campus in the line of dance. However a silver offering was taken for the Red Cross Relief Fund.

The praise that Orchesis so highly deserves is long over-due. The girls who belong to the group have gained membership through their ability in the art of modern dance. With membership however comes the requirements which are probably unequalled by any organization on campus. They must rehearse loyally, following an exacting schedule, and must persist in their practices until a high degree of timing and precision has been reached.

As part of the physical fitness program, as a means of entertainment, as an opportunity for creative expression through dance, as a symbol of cooperation, we salute Orchesis.

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

The month of March is over. Did you do your part in making Go to Church Month a success? Now that the month is over don't let it slip your mind that the thing to do on Sunday is to go to church. In many of our classes and our thinking about world fellowship the Japanese student has been brought to our minds. If you would like to try your hand at writing a letter to one of them, the following addresses may bring interesting results.

Miss Alice Suzuki, Y. W. C. A., Granada, WRA, Amache, Colorado.

Miss Emi Kimura, 29-16-C, Heart Mt., Wyoming.

Kimi Nao, Topaz, Delta, Utah.

Asa Fiyie, Topaz, Delta, Utah.

Min Yoshidu, Topaz, Delta, Utah.

Daily devotions for Prayers:

Wednesday—Jesus Christ, the condensation of divinity, the exhaltation of humanity.

—Philip Brooks

Thursday — "Whatsoever we would that men do unto you, do ye likewise unto them."

Friday—"Lo, I am with you always, even to the end of the world."

Monday — Between two evils, choose neither; between two goods, choose both.

—Tryon Edwards

Tuesday—God offers to every mind the choice between truth and repose.

Seniors Accepted As WAVE Candidates

Women college seniors may now be accepted as officer candidates in the WAVES and the SPARS—Coast Guard Women's Reserve—the Navy Department announced last week. As in the case of the WAACs — which have already started recruiting officers among college seniors—seniors who enter the naval forces will not be called to active duty until they have been graduated.

In applying for an appointment, a college senior must present a certificate from the dean of her college stating that she will be graduated on a certain date, and an endorsement from a special faculty endorsing committee which the Navy has already asked each college to set up. This committee will recommend students on the basis of "outstanding scholastic achievement, leadership in extracurricula activities, and personal qualifications for officer status", according to a Navy Department release.

Successful applicants will be sworn in as Apprentice Seaman in the V-9 or W-9 class and put on inactive duty for the rest of their college courses. As soon as they are graduated, they must submit a transcript of their college records to the nearest Office of Naval Officer Procurement. They will be sent then, or shortly afterwards, to the Naval Reserve Midshipmen's School, Northampton, Mass., for training like all other WAVE and SPAR officer candidates.

As recruiting women on college campuses is not permitted, a student who wishes to enter the service under this program must apply at the nearest Officer Procurement office with the required endorsement and letter from the dean.

Campus Camera

Green and White Rings Victory Goal As Seniors Score All Wins In The Game

Frances Parham is captain of the senior green and white team. Also on the team are Frances Quillen, Elva Andrews, Anne Elett, Jean Carr, Anne Garnett, Hallie Hillsman, Ann Price, and Edna Brown. With Patsy Connelly, captain of the junior team, played Mildred Droste, Dottie Sue Simmons, Shirley Pierce, Ruth Dugger, Mary Keith Bingham, Sara Wayne France, and Ann Snyder.

Sophomores and freshmen clashed with close scores, each determined to defeat its opponent. Short fast playing, long straight shots into the goal describes the playing of both teams in their contests. Sophomore players included Margaret Bear, Mary Walker Watts, Caroline Burwell, Florence Pettit, Eleanor Wade, Helen Wilson, Bobby Scott, Edith Lovins, Nancy Hall, Ella Carrington, and Shirley Easterly. Bobby Scott is captain of the team.

Freshman players were Rosa Hill, captain, Lillian Elliott, Louise Blane, Billy Waid, Rosalie Jones, Jane Anderson, Lucy Bowling, and Catherine Lambert.

Green and White seniors placed three wins, no ties, no defeats in the class basketball games played last week marking them winners over the other classes in the contest tilts.

Numerous games were played between the classes. In the series, the seniors defeated the juniors 38-10 and the freshmen tied the sophomores 18-18. The juniors lost to the sophomores 11-13 and the seniors won over the freshmen 28-22. Again the seniors placed a win when they met the sophomores, scoring 14-10, and the freshmen defeated the juniors 24-10.

	Win	Tie	Lost
Seniors	3	0	0
Juniors	0	0	3
Sophomores	1	1	1
Freshmen	1	1	1

Jean Carr, high scorer in the interclass basketball contest, and Frances Parham, captain of the winning team, are both members of varsity basketball.

MAY DAY PRACTICE SCHEDULE

April 5-8

Time—Place	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thurs.
11:00—gym	Picaninny	Swannee	Picaninny	Swanee
4:00—gym			Plantation
5:00—gym			Court
7:00—gym	C	Plantation
7:00—rec.			B
8:00—gym
8:00—rec
9:00—gym	D	Plantation Swannee
9:00—rec.	B		C

Draft Blows Hard at Local USO Center As Draftees, Students Talk, Dance

"Come on up girls, and please close the door, the draft, you know."

There was a cold wind every time the lower hall door was left open, and we're not trying to be punny. (Excuse please).

"So this is spring in Virginia. Well, Alabama was never like this. " (That was the time it just snowed and snowed on the 21st of March.)

The USO recreation center in Farmville, for the use of soldiers, sailors, and marines present at their own risk, is located on our main street about two doors up from the theatre. You climb aforementioned steps. At the top can be found several rooms comfortably furnished with chairs, tables, magazines, and men. The men dressed in olive drab are lazily engaged in doing nothing much. One sits at the little corner table energetically staring at a blank sheet of paper and chewing his pencil. Another is engrossed by the new Esquire (What is Esky doing now?) Still another snores gently on the sofa, an open magazine slowly slipping off his knees. The only thing missing is a "Do Not Disturb" sign.

This on Sunday afternoon right after dinner.

Then the tranquility is broken by a phonograph's needle's scratch and "Don't Get Around Much Anymore" fills the adjoining room. The jitterbugs come out of their shells and the spell is over.

"If you dare to trump my ace."

That's the bridge game, now in full swing. The dance floor is ringed by tables, groups playing ping-pong, shuffleboard, and Chinese checkers. Occasionally you hear wild shrieks from the addicts of three-handed solitaire. You should try it sometime if you're physically fit and have sound nerves.

"Right here it is. I'll give a quarter to anyone who can find that piece, lay it on the line"

It's the jig-saw puzzle. There's a man on a horse and a caravan and a woman. We can't find the horses' head. What can be done? Hours are consumed looking for the longed for scrap of cardboard. You guessed it; that's the one that was lost in the shuffle.

"What can I say now?" He's still writing that letter.

"Oh, tell her about it snowing on the first day of spring. Would you like coffee and doughnuts to bring inspiration?"

"Then what can you do?" His boyish face is covered with a look of incredible wonder as you explain that you cannot go to the movies on Sunday; neither can you buzz out to Shannon's for a short beer.

"What do they call that place anyway, "State Teachers Prison?"

All the time a couple at the piano sing softly to themselves. 'Taint music, but it could be fun.

"Hey, what time is it?"

"4:30".

"Looks like I missed that bus again".

"Mud, mud that's all there is in Virginia-red mud."

The same old arguments go on—we fight "the Civil War" and argue over the respective merits of Virginia and Connecticut landscape until finally it is time to go.

"I've enjoyed talking to you"—"Can I see you again?"—"How can I find you in all those girls"—"Goodbye".

Class Elections

Continued from Page 1

ident of Student Government, succeeding Agnes Patterson; Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston, president of the Y. W. C. A., succeeding Amy Read; Patsy Connelly, Lebanon, president of Athletic Association, succeeding Hallie Hillsman; and Julia Eason Richmond, president of the House Council.

Home Ec Girls

Continued from Page 1

class. Other members of the Home Economics faculty are assisting the girls in every possible way.

Fifth WAAC Center To Open In Ruston

Plans for the opening of a fifth WAAC training center has been announced by the War Department. The new center will have headquarters and one section at Ruston, La. The other two sections will be located at Camp Polk, La., and Monticello, Ark. A large part of the administrative specialist training—now being given at Fort Des Moines—will be transferred to this center.

Orchesis Presents Spring Recital

"Murder of Lidice" Featured by Club

Orchesis Dance Group under the direction of Miss Emily Kauzlarich, presented its annual dance recital last night at 8 p. m. in the auditorium. The club was assisted by members of the Dramatic Club, music department, and the fundamentals dance class.

Highlights of the program was Edna St. Vincent Millay's poem "Murder of Lidice". The voice, that of Elizabeth Heath, combined with emotion and realistic and symbolic elements showed what murder did to two lovers, and the effect it had on the small village of Lidice.

Also on the program was "Opening Dance" and a repeat of Betty Sexton's composition "Lamentations". Virginia Elliott dropped into the sophisticated with "Blackout Blues" and Ruth Dugger and Jane Brown enlightened with their version of "Travel Rush."

Another new number, "Revival Meeting" was a very successful touch of character in dance. "Oh, Susannah," to the well known music added much to the conclusion of the annual recital.

Libby Ann Jordon, club accompanist, was in charge of the music. Brookie Benton, costumes, and Nelle White and Mary St. Clair Bugg, lighting, were the other chairmen

Annual Horse Show Presented by Pegasus Scheduled May 15

Pegasus riding club will present its annual spring horse show to be held at Longwood on May 15. The Riding students will be classed according to ability and experience, with no rider competing with one more advanced than she. Every one is invited to compete in this annual show, the one big event of the year.

Local citizens are entering in horsemanship classes and there will be many events to show horses. S. T. C. girls may show horses with the town people. There will be three and five-gaited horses, jumping, Old Virginia riding, and the big costume class as the final close. Particlpation in the show is not limited only to those who take lessons; rather, other girls are urged to enter. Those who have no experience will be put in a special group.

Those interested may contact Miss Stella Fox, riding instructor or Joyce Cheatwood, president the Riding Club room Tuesday to make arrangements. They are all asked to attend a meeting in night, April 6 at 8:30 P. M.

PHYSICAL FITNESS SCHEDULE
Spring 1943
Tennis:

Beginners—
9:05 Monday, Wednesday, Friday
10:05 Monday, Wednesday, Friday
4:50 Tuesday, Wednesday, Thurs.

Advanced—
1:50 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday (Any three days).
2:50 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday. (Any three days.)
3:50 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday. (Any three days.)
4:50 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday. (Any three days.)

Archery:
5:00 Monday, Tuesday, Thursday

Swimming:
4:50 Monday, Wednesday, Friday

Badminton
5:00 Monday, Tuesday, Thursday. (or any three days.)

Golf:
5:00 Monday, Tuesday, Thursday. (or any three days.)

Softball:
7:00 to 7:30 Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday.

Please report to group in which you are interested on first day of scheduled practice.

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Come Spring . . . And Sports

Although snow covered everything in sight the first day of spring, flowers, leaves, and new buds revived and now are blooming in the beautiful weather outside. And, with all the sunshine and warm spring weather one turns to outside activities. The new spring calendar of sports is beginning and students must sign up for the activity she wants this quarter. Numerous sports are offered including swimming, tennis, baseball, archery and May Day along with others noted on the A. A. bulletin board. Everyone must take part in some activity as designated last quarter in reference to the physical fitness program we have.

Swimming—

Classes in swimming should be large this term because soon summer will be here and everyone wants to be a good swimmer and enjoy the fun and exercise during the summer holidays. Also, numerous ones will be called to camps as counselors and for this a knowledge of swimming is most important. If any wish to enroll in a Senior Life Saving class, please notify Miss Barlow and one will be arranged.

Tennis—

Already the tennis classes for physical fitness are the largest and continues to grow each day. The courts have not been fixed from the result of winter, but will be ready for playing next week. This season we want to take good care of the courts, remembering the important rule of "tennis shoes" when on the courts. Classes will be arranged and other free time when the courts will be opened noted on the bulletin board for people to sign for courts. The most popular period for recreation last year was in the evenings after dinner. All activities will be active at this time this year.

Baseball—

Baseball will be offered in the evenings on the athetic field. Time of schedule will be posted. The baseball games between the classes always is a big event in the color cup clash and class games will begin and be played this season.

Archery—

Archery in the spring . . . After being discontinued during the cold months, archery again comes back into view, and is another popular activity. The archery stands are located just behind the senior buildings and target, bows, and arrows are available. Instructors are in charge and willing to help you "hit the bulls eye." In previous years we have had two archery tournaments during the year, a fall tournament and a spring tournament. Be prepared to score high for your class and your color!

May Day—

If you are in May Day this year, your practices will count as physical fitness and you sign on the May Day orchesis paper in the A. A. bulletin board.

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
PHONE 139

MAKE—
Your Headquarters
This Year
Shannon's

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Craile

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

Cotillion "Goats" Endured Heckling Monday, Tuesday

Those odd-looking creatures which you saw running through the halls on Monday and Tuesday with that distracted and in a way pitiful expression on their faces are the new members of the Cotillion Club and that get-up was a part of their initiation.

Monday as Waacy Day, found the goats in plain dark skirts and white shirts buttoning up the back with a tie or "reasonable facsimile", in the reserve position of that worn in natural society. Of course, no-make up was permitted but jewelry of any description was required. Their coiffures were neither the latest style nor the most becoming as the hair was caught in a knot on top. One green and one yellow stocking were worn on both days and tennis shoes composed the footgear.

The "goats" as Baby Dumplings with bonnets, rattles, and books of nursery rhymes to complete their infantile costume of short cotton dresses and wide sashes. Their original four-line songs in praise of the Cotillion Club brought on a great deal of comment, rarely complimentary. Each was at the command of any Cotillion member to do as was bid, and undoubtedly talent in entertainement as well as housemaids was uncovered.

The "goat courts" taking place fifteen minutes before lunch on both days and at 10 o'clock on Tuesday night should not be forgotten for they were the scenes of much hilarity.

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

Rose's 5-10-25c Store
Ladies Sweaters
JUST RECEIVED
2.98

C. E. Chappell Co.
Fountain Service
Visit us for the BEST
PHONE 63

REMEMBER—
To be deluxe it must be super so bring the cleaning that must be super to—
DeLuxe Cleaners

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

Here's what you've always wanted. Guide books to the lives and Recorded Music of Great Composers—
TCHAIKOWSKY
WAGNER
MOZART
BEETHOVEN
BACH
BRAHMS
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
New Shipments Arriving Daily of New Spring Skirts and Blouses
SEE OUR DISPLAY

Kitty Cheatham

Miss Kitty Cheatham, well known singer, who will speak to the music groups in New York. For story, see page 1.

STC Nickels Resound Wherever Soldiers Welcome Cigs

All is stillness; not a sound can be heard; no obvious cause for action . . . and then, suddenly, out of nowhere, comes the shattering shriek, "Put a nickel in it!"

This phrase, resounding from every side, has become the by-line of every occasion, not only at S. T. C., but throughout the whole nation. Indeed, by now, it's probably Universal. When the gang assembles for a jam-session around the Juke-box, somebody hollers, "Put a nickel in it!" When one of the crew beats brutally on the uncooperative Coke-machine, somebody gleefully yells, "Put a nickel in it!" And now-a-days when a car breaks down, instead of "Git a hoss!", the passers-by wave and croak, "Put a nickel in it!"

All this leads up to a more recent receptacle for our over-worked five-centers. The Student Government Association (in cahoots with the Chesterfield company) campaigned our halls several weeks ago collecting our Buffalos and reminding us that each nickel we contributed sent a whole carton of cigarettes to some soldier on his way across. Nor was it a fantastic Patriotic false alarm, either. Answers came back to the Student Government Association on cards from Miami Springs, and those messages are authentic . . . and straight from the heart!

"Thanks a million for the cigarettes," writes a Lieutenant, "from myself and for my boys. We appreciate little thoughts like that". And a Sergeant, on the same mail, says, "My deepest thanks for the Chesterfields . . . they're my favorite brand."

Answers are varied and amusing . . . and don't feel slighted, ladies, but while several are opened with "Dear Friends", even more begin with "Gentlemen:", or "Dear Sirs"! Rank is no obstacle. Sergeants, Staff-sergeants, shavetails, Lieut.-Colonels, and Colonels all sent word of appreciation, but perhaps the sincerest thought of all comes from the Non-com who says, "Many thanks for the smokes . . . Where we are going we can sure use them."

And girls, if you're adventure-minded, we can indulge upon request the complete address of a "Louisiana youngster" who made it a point to print said address only too clearly. He's optimistic-minded, this Chesterfield smoker. He believes in mail, but yes! And, too, his confidence is contagious, for he signs off gayly . . . "See ya later, Doc! So long".

Stolen Bell Returns Mysteriously to H.-S.

(Ed. note: Several months there was some trouble about the bell rope at S. T. C., but the brainy people quickly solved the problem of "them gremlins" and now the bell and rope are secured safely under lock and key. What's wrong at Hampden - Sydney? Where are all those wizards that are going to defeat the S. T. C. "smart ones" in the forth coming quiz contest?)

Hampden-Sydney students who usually snore blissfully through the first period jumped out of bed Saturday at 8 A. M. and fell to the floor screaming. "What was that silence?" they gibbered, quivering convulsively, "What was that silence?"

Buster might have answered that question as he stood somberly in the bell tower and fatalistically pulled a rope that brought forth no sound whatever. He knew—and presently all Hampden-Sydney knew the frightful story—the clapper was gone!

All Saturday and all Sunday the bell was silent, while the police forces of the world turned their questioning eyes to a peaceful little Virginia village where crime—crime in its most horrible and malevolent form—ruled over a campus filled with unspeakable terror.

Could it have been a scheming student, plotting a diabolical scheme to rid himself of a first period? Could it have been a harried professor, desperately trying with the only means in his power to escape his responsibilities as a teacher? Or could it have been those satanic Scraggs, searching for an implement with which to remove the priceless platinum dome of lovable J. Sweetbody Goodpants? Who knows?

At any rate, the clapper is back, and the police are no wiser than they were before. You may talk o' gin and beer, but Buster talks only of djinns. "She just came walking back," he mutters, "came walking back and hung herself up in the bell again."

Buy your . . .
SPRING BLOUSES AND SKIRTS
at the
HUB DEPARTMENT STORE
Either cotton or rayon and in many different colors

Just Looking, Thanks

With exams a thing of the past, a brand new quarter begun, with all the opportunities and hope new quarters bring . . . with this beautiful spring weather . . . well, it all adds up to a very nice time to journey forth . . . and so they did.

Rome went Mildred Ames, Louise Andrews, Katherine Burford, Jane Danby, Roberta Davis, Julia Eason, Ellen Ebel, Bridget Gentile, Charlotte Greeley, Nelda Rose Hunter, Anne Seay, Jacqueline Showalter, Mary Brinson Walker, Annie Wiseman, Jane Johnson, Sue Harper, Virginia Lee Abernathy, Lucille Cheatham, Mary Ann Dove, Margaret Horton, Katherine Johnson, Gene Seymour, Betty Adams, Marilyn Bell, Edna Brown, Betty Brothers, Mildred Duck, Vivian Edmunds, Jane Ford, Edith Jones, Frances Moon.

Taking advantage of a new set of cuts were those who went shopping last week to Richmond, Lynchburg, etc., Alice Parkhurst, Frances Craddock, Gloria Morgan, Carolyn Rouse, Barbara Scott Betty Agnew, Betty Edwards, Betty Jane Hunt, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Joscelyn Gillum, Sara Wayne France, Jane Smith, and Lelia Dowell.

In spring S. T. C. fancies turn to thoughts of Spring Cotillion. In spite of March winds and pre-April showers, that still holds true starting with a tea dance Saturday afternoon beneath the attractive yellow and green and white decorations and the music of Hal Thurston and his orchestra, and ending with the stirring note of the Star Spangled Banner at midnight. Once more S. T. C. blossomed forth in formals, flowers and fun after being snowed under with exams and last minute term papers. Dates varied—Marines, Picketteers, Death Valley dates, lads from the Institute, Techmen and well—you name your own. The ladies and gentlemen who attended were: Virginia Campfield, Larry Dougan; Libby Bernard, Bob Saul; Spotswood Hunnicutt, Brooks Hunnicutt; Frances Ferguson, Jack Dugger; Jane Brown Bobby Moore; Lillian Goddin, Richmond Hamilton; Eleanor Folk, Fred Smith; Leona Moomaw, Walter Buchanan, Helen W. Hardy, Hennie Winston; Dot Childress, Roland Hill.

Eleanor Wade, Ray Russum; Helen Wilson, Richard Wilson; Martha Upshur, Sgt. Jim McCusker; Louise Bell, Frank Johnson; Beck Lacy, Robert Cage; Kitty Patrick, George Cooper; Baylis Kunz, Lt. Boyd Lucas; Gwen Sampson, Frank Rennie; Betty Pat Lewis, William Dance; Ann Page Francis, Jeff Hawley; Margaret Orange, Raymond Duke; Marilyn Johnson, W. T. Tinsley; Martha Higgins, R. D. Anderson; Marie Hedgcock, Wayne Mears; Lucy Manson, Eldon Winsiow; Joscelyn Gillum, Marvin Gillum; Jane Smith, Jack Montague; Sara Jeffreys, Austin Martinstien; Sara Wayne France, Minor Wilson; Clara Whitney Moses, C. T. Moses.

Sue Harper, Dick Gwathmey; Beth Johnson, Charles Llewellyn; Lilly Bee Gray, Roy Burton; Betty Reid, Les Cundiff; Carol Diggs, Horace Adams; Betty Bridgeforth, Cpl. J. L. Loomis; Lucy Davis, Fred Kilmon; Shirley Kersey, Buddy King; Jane Johnson, Sonny Childress; Will Hall, Clemmer Peck; Kitty Vaughan, Lt. Bob Henderson; Grace Hutcheson, Bill Wyson; Betty Ellis, Eddie Schmidt; Kitty Davis, Bobby Hunter; Stella Scott, Tom Bosworth; Jean Garland, William Barclay; Brookie Benton, David Cushwa; Frances Mallory, Blake Putney.

Virginia Ellett, Bob Irby; Margaret Mish, Phillip White; Ophelia Whittie, Frank Whittie; Jennette Garrison, Boyd Beall; Imogen Claytor, Griffin Callahan; Virginia Terrell, Billy Hastelberg; Betsy Caldwell, Sumpter Priddy; Betsy Birchfield, Charles Mears; Martha Patterson, Bobby Mish; Marie Nichols, Billy Baldwin; Jane Scott, J. C. Turleton; Ann Covington aWtt Shields; Ann Pettis, Bill Hoge; Margie Hewlett, Walter Newman; Anne Williams, Allen Fox; Marilyn Bell, Stumpy Thompson; Margaret Bowling, Dave Long; Charlotte Phillips, Ranny Trice; Nancy Courter, Lt. R. Bosserman; Betty Bradley, Lt. William Hines; Beatrice Jones, Charles Barger; and Alice Courter, Jimmy Courter.

Noted Speaker Addresses H.-S. C. In College Church

Spring services of the S. C. A. began yesterday morning when Rev. H. Kerr Taylor of Nashville, Tenn., preached the first of the six sermons he is to give in College Church this week. Elbert Williamson, vice-president of the S. C. A., introduced Dr. Taylor in the absence of Dick Stephenson.

Dr. Taylor will speak on missions in chapel Monday and Wednesday, will hold dormitory prayer meetings twice a night Monday through Thursday, and will be available for personal discussions in Dr. Williams office in Morton Hall every day at fourth period.

In his evening service, Dr. Taylor spoke on Johns 4:22, in the story of Jesus' conversation with the woman at the well in Sychar. It was a sermon on worship, in which he discussed the animism of the African savage, the polythesim of the Hindus, the quinquennial sacrifices to heaven of the Chinese, and the shrine worship of Japan. All of these people, he said, did not know what they were worshipping, but the Christian does know. He condemned all idolatry by saying that the worship of a finite idol means the limitation of one's conception of life to the size of that idol.

Minor Officers

Continued from Page 1

respective positions.

Betty Brothers, Suffolk, and Carolyn Bobbitt, South Hill, are the government representatives for the coming year.

Miss Rachel Royall will continue as classman.

For Exercise . .
BOWL at . . .
BOWLING ALLEY
NEWMAN'S
Downstairs in Shannon's
OLLIE G. PILLOW
Manager

Buy Costume Jewelery
To Match the New Spring Colors
at
Martin the Jeweler

DUKE UNIVERSITY
School of Nursing
DURHAM, N. C.
The entrance requirements are intelligence, character, and for the duration of the War, one quarter or one semester of College. Classes will be admitted April 1, 1943 and January 27, 1944. The Diploma of Graduate Nurse is awarded after three years.
The annual tuition of $100.00 covers cost of maintenance and uniforms. Loan funds covering the annual tuition are available.
Catalogue, application form, and information about the B. S. degree requirements may be obtained by writing to:
The Dean
Duke School of Nursing
Durham, North Carolina

ASK THE WAR CORRESPONDENT

"You probably read that in your newspaper a while ago. That war correspondent found how our fighting men everywhere want Coca-Cola. It must have something special to be the favorite of the fighting forces. There's taste you don't find anywhere this side of Coca-Cola, itself. And there's that welcome feel of refreshment that goes into energy. Take it from me, Coke is good."

5¢

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, (Farmville, Va.)

Library

The Rotunda

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1943 No. 22

Tiger Wise Men . . .

Quiz Queens

Lashley To Fire Fatal Questions At Quiz Contest Tuesday Night

Bill Lashley, instructor of English at Hampden-Sydney College, will supervise the third annual Quiz Contest in the capacity of quiz-master when the Tiger quintet from Death Valley match I. Q.'s with the local Five Smart Women next Tuesday night. Lashley will start the queries rolling at 8:15 o'clock in the college auditorium. The questions will be selected from those contributed by members of the two college faculties.

Seniors Dawn Shanklin, Virginia Sedgley, Anne Ware Smith, Elizabeth McCoy, and Sophomore Jane Waring Ruffin are those S. T. C. Quizettes who survived the grueling preliminary writtenand oral examinations to run the question block Tuesday night. Opposing them will be the sole survivors of similar tests at Hampden-Sydney: Seniors Roy Cabell, Billy Hines, Juniors Jimmy Timberlake, John Owen, and Freshman Louis Graham.

Prey for the brain battling is the silver cup awarded each year by Pi Delta Epsilon at Hampden-Sydney. The team winning the cup three consecutive times automatically becomes permanent owner. So far each team has chalked up one bid each for the cup. The odds at present, however, are in the Tigers' favor as they will be defending their year-old title of "Supreme Intelligentsia" after defeating the S. T. C. team by 18 points last year.

The contest this year is again being sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma. Proceeds will go to the Red Cross War Relief Fund.

In addition to the actual quizzing, added features will be offered by talent from the Hampden-Sydney campus and from S. T. C.

(Continued on page 3

Quizzical Opinione . . .

S. T. C.

The alleged intelligentia at Hampden-Sydney, the five fugitives from a brain storm, are chortling in "fiendish glee" at the prospect of a meeting with Farmville's finest. The poor misguided boys just don't get the idea. It's to be a mental wrestling match with no holds barred, and they really aren't equipped to stand the strain. They, it pains me to mention, just think on every other Wednesday. But the quizettes are a different matter, a strict regime of three deep thoughts in front of an open window every morning has them in fighting condition.

Did you realize that in your midst there flourishes a bevy of brainey lasses? Pearls of wisdom grow thick as weeds, to mix a metaphors. (You must come up and mix metaphors with us sometime).

And that, in a round-about way, brings us to the quiz program. To pursue the treat's, we offer a double feature of brains and charm. As fine a selection of Machavellis as ever pushed a brain cell around. Of course regrettably both brains and charm are on one team for who other than S. T. C.'s bright ones have both?

The momentous event fails on Tuesday the 13th. We offered them a nice Wednesday, but no, Wednesday is prayer meeting night. We were unaware that

Continued on Page 4

H.-S. C.

(John Ruff)

"Our noble Five look forward to its encounter with the S. T. C. "Smart Five" with the usual anticipation of an evening spent in town, when we sally forth to see how the other half lives."

Speaking a la wire, Mr. Ruff continued, "Quite a trite thing. The chances are fifty-fifty. Considering the fact that the S. T. C. girls have suddenly acquired the habit of spending their spare time engrossed in the Encyclopedia Britannica, newspapers, and periodicals, Hampden-Sydney will probably lose. (Ed. Note: Was he rationalizing, and how could the H.S. team discover that the encyclopedias were studied save that they wanted them themselves and found them already in use for class and reference work?) S.T.C. ought to win!"

Again in answer to an article appearing in last week's Rotunda concerning their recently disappeared bell clapper at Hampden-Sydney, Mr. Ruff remarked, "And the wizards! Why, do not you know that all Hampden-Sydney students concern themselves not with silly and wild searches for bell-clapper, but rather with the reading and deep contemplation of Plato, the enjoyment of Beethoven or Stravinsky, or to relieve the tedium of too much enjoyment—the enjoyment resultant from our contemplation of the natural phenonena of our world?"

New Y President Announces Cabinet For Coming Year

Installation Held Tonight at Prayers

Frances Lee Hawthorne, newly elected president of the Y.W.C.A. has announced her cabinet for the coming year who will be installed tonight after dinner.

Ann Snyder will replace Louise Bell as chairman of the Church Cooperative committee on the 1943-44 cabinet; Ann Martin succeeds Catherine May as head of the Library committee; Hannah Lee Crawford will take over the duties of Dorothy Childress as chairman of the Membership committee, and Constance Ozlin will replace Eleanor Feagans on the Music committee.

Mary Ann Jarrett will succeed Hannah Lee Crawford as chairman of the Public Affairs committee; Eleanor Corell replaces Alice Seebert as head of the Publicity committee; Agnes Stokes will take over the duties of Prayers chairman, succeeding Nancy Hall, and Virginia Treakle will succeed Nancye Allen as head of the Service committee.

Isabel Sampson will assume the duties of Sing chairman, replacing Charlotte Phillips; Vivian Edmunds will replace Sara Bird Williams on the Social committee and Pat Garth succeeds Nancy Belle Bruce as chairman of the Town Girls committee.

Ex-officio members of the cabinet are Mary Evelyn Pearsall, president of Student Government and Kate Thompson, chairman of Student chapel.

Officers of the 'Y' as elected in a recent election are: Frances Lee Hawthorne, president; Louise Bell, vice-president; Nancy Hall, secretary; Sara Bird Williams, treasurer, and Minnie Lee Crumpler, freshman counseller.

Methodist Council Elects Watts Prexy

Betty Watts, Portsmouth, was recently elected president of the 1944 Wesley Foundation council to succeed Catherine May. Other officers elected were Louise Bell, vice-president; Lorraine Raiford, secretary; and Elizabeth Mast, treasurer. Ann Hamlin was elected worship chairman, Mary E. Grizzard, social chairman, and Ruth Brooks, community service chairman.

Carolyn Bobbit will lead the world friendship committee, and Anna Crittenden will serve as chairman of the membership committee. Dorothy Cummings will be pianist, and Nancy Hall will serve as chairman to Motive Subscriptions.

Honor Organizations Elect McCorkle, Smith Presidents

Student Standards Choses Corvin Chairman For '44

Mildred Corvin, junior from Crewe has recently been elected chairman of Student Standards, Rosalie Rogers, outgoing chairman, announced today. Betty Watts, of Portsmouth, junior representative, replaces Frances Parham as secretary.

Chairman of the Year's Calendar will be Fay Johnson, sophomore from Vinton, while Betty Agnew, also a sophomore, from Burkeville, will be chairman of the point system for next year. Fay replaces Mary Evelyn Pearsall, and Betty succeeds Julia Eason.

Other members of the committee are Mildred Droste, from the junior class, Jackie Parden and Frances Lee from the freshman class, the major officers including publication heads, president of the senior class, chairman of campus league, the dining room chairman, a member of the home department, a town girl representative, and six members of the faculty.

Sororities Elect Heads of Chapters At Recent Meetings

At recent meetings of the eight sororities, the officers of the various chapters were elected.

Heading Alpha Sigma Alpha will be Myrtle Lee Holt, president, with Mary S. Clair Bugg, vice-head; Dorothy Sue Simmons, secretary; Sue Harper, treasurer; Lois Baughman, registrar; and Julia Eason, Pan-hellenic representative.

Alpha Sigma Tau members elected Jean Arrington, president; Sally Robertson, vice-president; Nancy Langhorne, recording secretary; Frances Rainey, treasurer; Elizabeth McLean, corresponding secretary, and Jane Ford, Pan-hellenic representative.

Officers of Gamma Theta for the coming year are Hannah Lee Crawford, Head; Ophelia Whittie, vice-head; Fay Nimmo, secretary; Sara Jeffreys, treasurer; Carol Diggs, Pan-hellenic representative; Ella Banks Weathers, chaplain; Lucy Harvie, alumnae secretary; and Lucille Lewis, sergeant-at-arms.

Eleanor Wade, president; Marilyn Bell, vice-president; Jane Smith, treasurer; Helen Cobbs,

Continued on Page 4

Beore Eh Thorn, Kappa Delta Pi, Join in Securing Dr. Edwin Mims

Mary Moore McCorkle, a junior from Lexington, was elected president of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education at its regular meeting last night. She will succeed Eleanor Folk in this position.

Jane Smith, from Franklin, was elected vice-president to succeed Rosalie Rogers, and Betty Watts, Portsmouth, will take over the office of secretary, succeeding Brookie Benton. Caroline Caldwell, Newcastle, will serve as treasurer succeeding Alice Seebert.

To be eligible for membership in Kappa Delta Pi, a student must be at least a junior in college who is interested in the activities of the teaching profession. She must rank in the upper fourth of the student body in her scholarship record.

The general topic of Kappa Delta Pi for the year was, "How We Preserve Our Spiritual and Social Heritage to Sustain Us and Aid in Past War Reconstruction." Among the programs for the year have been a lecture by Dr. Robert Cecil Beale, English professor at Hampden-Sydney; an art exhibit by Miss Booten, and a movie on physical fitness. All of these programs have been planned in connection with the general theme.

Dr. Edgar G. Gammon, president of Hampden-Sydney, was made honorary member of Kappa Delta Pi this year.

At a meeting of Beore Eh Thorn, English honor society, held on April 1, Jane Smith, junior from Franklin, was elected to serve as president for the coming year. She succeeds Rosalie Rogers. Other officers elected were Jeanne Strick, junior from Farmville, vice-president, succeeding Bettty Youngberg; Lucille Lewis, junior from Culpeper, secretary, succeeding Jeanne Strick; Mary Franklin Woodward, sophomore from Barnhamsville, treasurer, succeeding Betty Reid; Bernice Copenhaver, junior from Marion, corresponding secretary, succeeding Marie Davie; and Virginia Lee Abernathy, sophomore from Lawrenceville, historian, succeeding Virginia Sedgley.

The president announced that Dr. Edwin Mims, professor emeritus at Vanderbilt University, will be here to lecture on southern literature on April 20 and 21. He is being sponsored by four organizations, Beorc Eh Thorn, Alpha Phi Sigma, Kappa Delta Pi, and Y. W. C. A. Dr. Mims comes to the Virginia colleges under the sponsorship of Phi Beta Kappa.

Randolph, Bell To Attend Tourney

Virginia Sedgley and Betty Adams upholding the affirmitive side and Anne Randolph and Marilyn Bell, the negative side, met the members of the Hampden-Sydney debate team March 31, to debate the question. "Resolved: That the United Nations Should Establish and Maintain a Permanent Federal Union with Power to Tax and to Regulate Commerce and to Establish a Police Force to Settle the International Disputes and to Enforce that Settlement and to Provide for the Admission of Other Nations into the Union." The boys debating were Roy Cabell and Billy Coxe, affirmative, and John Owen and James Robertson, negative.

Cary Suter, manager of the debate team, has arranged for other debates in the near future.

Anne Randolph, Marilyn Bell, Roy Cabell, and Cary Suter will attend the Grand Eastern Tournament which will be held in Charlotte, N. C., April 7-10.

Choir Gives Initial Concert at Academy

The College Choir gave its initial concert at Fork Union Military Academy Thursday evening, April 1, before the entire student body, faculty and townspeople. The J. J. Wicker building was filled to capacity with many people standing.

The concert, which was sponsored by the newly formed Glee Club of Fork Union, was a great success from every standpoint. Groups who appeared were the Madrigal Singers, Senior A'Cappella, Junior A'Cappella, the College Choir, and the Fork Union Glee Club. Soloists were Esther Shevich, soprano; Earlene Kimmerling, soprano; and Patricia Maddox, contralto. At the request of Dr. Wicker, Mr. Alfred Strick played a piano solo on the

Continued on Page 4

Pool Becomes Head Of Baptist Union

Ella Pool, junior, was elected president of the Baptist Student Union for the year 1943-44. Ella has served in the council for the last two years, as secretary and enlistment vice-president.

Other officers elected were Virginia Treakle, first vice-president; Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, second vice-president; Mary Ellen Petty, third vice-president; Mae Dunnavant, Sunday school president; Gertrude Moore, Young Woman's Auxiliary president; Louise Mills, secretary; Rachel Joyner, recording secretary; Louise Putney, treasurer; Eleanor Corell, reporter; Lois Shepherd, publicity chairman; Ellen Bowles, music director; Margaret Smith, representing the town girls; and Frances Lee Hawthorne, ex-officio member.

Home Economics Club Elects Jones Head

Dora Walker Jones, sophomore from Radford, was elected president of the Home Economics club at a regular meeting last night. She will succeed Virginia Fire-sheets.

Other officers elected were Martha Hite, vice-president, succeeding Louise McCorkle; Lucy Manson, secretary, succeeding Sue Harper; Louise McCorkle, treasurer, succeeding Ada Clarke Nuckols. Louise Cheatham was elected reporter to succeed Ella Poole.

"Stay Away From Journalism Schools" Nason Warns Prospective Newspaper Women

Advises Experience With Small Paper

"Stay away from journalism schools if you want to go into newspaper work," Mrs. Harry Nason, former woman's editor of the Philadelphia Ledger, warned the class in Advanced Writing yesterday. "Begin work on a small newspaper to get experience before you try for a place on a large metropolitan paper," she advised. "And save your clippings to show the best to the editor when you do apply for to a large paper," she added.

Mrs. Nason, wife of the acting manager of the Philadelphia Record, and graduate of Farmville, has worked on papers in Philadelphia, in Wilmington and in New York, and is known as the only woman to have interviewed Al Capone. The former Elizabeth Malcolm was known in newspaper circles as Vivian Shirley.

In telling of the actual working of a metropolitan paper, Mrs. Nason divided newspaper material in three groups, foreign news, local news, and syndicated columns. Further dividing the foreign, she described newsflashes, which is "hot news" and of great importance at the time and news features which are of great human interest and are so called "timeless".

"Foreign news is rated tops in newspaper material," the Farmville graduate remarked. She further explained that local news is garnered through district representatives, "leg men", and interested outsiders. The district men contact the police and cover small stories. The "leg men" are sent out from the office to cover larger stories, get the facts, and phone them in to the rewrite men.

Syndicate news, or canned news, includes fashion, diet, and love-lorn columns as well as columns from the capital as "Washington, Day by Day". Mrs. Nason said. However, the former are often local, for she herself wrote a love-lorn column for a short time. When asked if such columns are authentic, she emphatically replied, "Yes. But," she added, "sometimes when such a column is being started the letters are written by the staff, and they all have to be condensed and edited."

When she married her editor,

Continued from Page 3

STC Alumna Rates Foreign News Tops

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-In-Chief

Associate Editors

JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
ALICE WOODING ..... Proof Editor

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Martha Patterson, Clara Moses, Margaret Orange, M. J. Leavitt, Pat Maddox, Margaret Mish, Gladys Wilson, eBtty Cock, Kathryn Hutchinson, Louise Bell, Virginia Sedgley

The Voice of Victory

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 7, 1943

Freedom From Fear

WHAT do we mean when we say "freedom from fear"? It isn't just a formula or a set of words. It's a look in the eyes and a feeling in the heart and a thing to be won against odds. It goes to the roots of life—to a man and a woman and their children and the home they can make and keep.

Fear has walked a man's heels through many ages—fear of wild beats and wilder nature, fear of the inexplicable gods of thunder and lightning, fear of his neighbor man.

Now, again in our time, we know Fear—armed Fear, droning through the sky. It's a different sound from the war whoop and the shot in the lonesome clearing, and yet it is much the same for all of us. It is quiet in the house tonight and the children are asleep. But innocence, good will, distance, peaceable intent will not keep those children safe from the fear in the sky. No one man can keep his house safe in a shrunken world. No one man can make his own clearing and say "This is mine. Keep out." And yet, if the world is to go on, if man is survive and prosper, the house of man must be kept safe.

So, what do we mean by "freedom from fear"?

We do not mean freedom from responsibility—freedom from struggle and toil from hardship and danger. We do not intend to breed a race wrapped in cotton wool, too delicate to stand rough weather. In any world of man that we can imagine, fear and coquest of fear must play a part.

But we have the chance, if we have the brains and the courage, to destroy the worst fears that harry man today—the fear of starving to death, the fear of being a slave, the fear of being stamped into the dust because he is one kind of man and not another, the fear of unprovoked attack and ghastly death for himself and for his children because of the greed and power of willful and evil men and deluded nations.

It will not be easy to destroy those fears. No one man can do it alone. No one nation can do it alone. It must be att men.

It is not enough to say, "Here, in our country, we are strong. Let the rest of the world sink or swim. We can take care of ourselves." That may have been true at one time, but it is no longer true.

Now, in concert with other free nations, we say that those children you see and other children like them all over the world shall grow to manhood and womanhood free from fear. We say that neither their minds nor their bodies shall be cramped or distorted or broken by tyranny and oppression. We say they shall have a chance, and an equal chace, to grow and develop and lead the lives they choose to lead, not lives mapped out for them by a master. And we say that freedom for ourselves involves freedom for others—that it is a universal right, neither lightly given by providence nor to be maintained by words alone, but by acts and deeds and living.

We who are alive today did not make our free institutions. We got them from the men of the past and we hold them in trust for the future. Should we put ease and selfishness above them, that trust will fail and we shall lose all, not a portion or a degree of liberty, but all that has been built for us and all that we hope to build. Real peace will not be won with one victory. It can be won only by long determination, firm resolve and a wish to share and work with other men, who matter what their race or creed or condition. And yet, we do have the choice. We can have freedom from fear.

Ed. Note: This is the second in the series of Four Freedoms, sponsored by the Saturday Evening Post. The "Freedom from Fear" which appeares in part this week is written by Stephen Vincent Benet.)

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

According to the German radio, Europe is so completely armed that it is invincible to Allied invasion. The war of nerves which the Brish are waging have evidently brought results. King Boris of Bulgaria has just returned from a visit to Mr. Hilter. While in Germany he inspected the fortifications and evidently found them satisfactory. There are reputed to be 1,625 miles for fortress, requiring half a million men to build it. The British call it "the greatest monument to the art of publicity ever erected."

The trick that Rommel had up his sleeve turned out to be the heavily mined land that he left in retreat. The Allies have been slowed down as they take time to discover and detonate these traps—many of which are new, even to the British. The African battle isn't over by a long shot.

From Camp Pickett comes the news that WAACS are there. In fact, they have been there for two weeks, though carefully restricted. They will probably be a familiar sight in Farmville soon. As one girl said, "Maybe they'll go and drool at Hampden-Sydney like the soldiers do here at S. T. C." That should be worth watching for.

The Black Market is working, even at S. T .C. The plan is to have girls apply for their whikey ration books and then, through a middle-man, sell liquor at a profit to boys under twenty-one. Don't get pulled in on that racket. There is a stiff fine and a prison sentence if you are caught—and several people have been caught in Richmond.

There is also a stiff fine and a prison stenence for wearing service men's stripes and officer's bars. They are not to be worn as jewelry. An M. P. can arrest you and will. One girl here at school was embarrassed when a M. P. told her to take off her bars and quickly.

How About Our Part?

Five have been chosen to represent us—but are we to rest behind and upon their laurels? With the quiz contest fast becoming a tradition, emphasis on grey matter and current knowledge is being stressed more and more. Hampden-Sydney boys and S. T. C. girls banter back and forth concerning the merit of each school's quiz team. Yet what is the average girl doing to prove the high-speed brain machinery of the S. T .C. girls?

Proud of our team we are indeed, and standing behind them every inch of the way. But somehow the point would be more nearly proved could the average grade here at Farmville be raised for all time. Just a little more effort, fewer gossip sections, a touch of concentration, and some good old every day observations of the daily goings-on in our world, could put each Farmville girl a high-ranker on a team of brain-bubs.

"Snoop" Snoops

Today is the day for the big carnival and as we go through the gate, naturally the first thing that catches our eye is the gypsy tent. Let's see what she can tell us about the incidents that have taken place and maybe a few of those to come. We're in the little tent now and the snaggle toothed old woman gazes into the crystal ball and begins to tell all!

"I see in the mountains surrounding the township of Staunton a little group of the select Farmville seniors . . . The scene swings to the bus station down south in Raleigh and there is Sexton sending her O. A. O. off to the war. And the queer thing is that they both have on lipstick . . .

"What's this, oh, I see, a group from S. T. C. wanted a little variation in the color of uniforms and so they changed from the olive drab to the gray by going on a little trip to F. U. M. A. That wasn't so bad, but when the student body from the latter walks in and takes over the Rotunda, the place takes on a the look of a premature USO center . . .

"Something new, and extremely odd. There is a girl in Christiansburg, the initials D. C., and the funny thing is that her heart is not there but in Richmond. How the parts will ever get together will only be evident after the duration . . . Now the jumbled blur takes shape and I see S. T. C. . . . Hark, there is a lot of interest here. There is N. Myers in alll the confusion of going to the Citadel. For what? Ask her.

"The the post office now, and a package for M. Corvin, from the West Coast. Inside are four tooth brushes. This modern romance is all Greek to me. Hampden-Sydney shares the light with B. King and M. Easham as the newest couple. The scene is fading now with a final picture of E. Marsh at the service center being wind blown by the cute blonde vocal-chord-less wonder from Pickett.

"That's all I can see. A blue misty cloud envelopes the ball. I might be able to tell you more for say, the price of three defense stamps."

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

Tonight, Wednesday, the new cabinet of the Y. W. C. A. will be installed at the usual time Prayers are held. They are your officers and if you can be there it will be an inspiration and help for them in their new year of work for you.

Congratulations to the new officers of the various church groups. We are all wishing you a successful year.

This past week end and Interracial Leadership Institute was held in Richmond for campus leaders in Y. M. C. A.'s and Y. W. C. A.'s. The theme of the meeting was the "Responsibility of the Student Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. in Wartime". Vital issues were discussed and those issues will serve as a guide for the program for next year.

Sunday night the college choir is to give a concert at the Methodist Church. The two soloist and the chaplain from Camp Pickett who are to have a part on the program are to be guests of the Wesley Foundation at a Supper meeting. All Methodist girls are invited and most especially those who are in the Choir and Choral Club.

Question of the Week

What Changes Can You Suggest To Improve the Dating System Here?

Mariiyn Bell—Use the sorority rooms to date in since they are used so seldom.

Spotswood Hunnicutt — Why can't the lounge in Student Building be used?

Libby Ann Jordon—I think we should use the Junior Parlor in the Junior Building.

Nultie Johns—I think the Student Lounge should be used and also the parlor in Junior Building.

Gwen Sampson—I want to use Student Lounge and the chapter rooms.

Judy Eason—We could use the parlor in Junior Building

Olive Bradshaw—I don't see why we can't use the lounges in Student Building and the Junior parlor.

Bette Wood—Let us go to the movies on Sundays. It should be left up to the individuals' discretion and not the administration.

Peggy Suiter—If we can't date any place except the rec, why can't that furniture be mended?

Rosalie Rogers—New furniture certainly needed in Junior Parlor and the Rec but I guess we have to make the best of what we have due to the war. Some sort of improvement should be made

Helen McGuire—If the administration doesn't have the money for improvements maybe some of the organizations would make contribu tions as it directly influences all the students.

Shirely Cruiser—Why can't that rec furniture be fixed?

Nell Shanklin—Why can't we date on the campus later at night?

Vivian Gwaltney—The furniture definitely needs to be repaired or new furniture bought. If the administration does not have the money why can't the Founder's Day fund pay part of the expenses? This would help 10 per cent and maybe more girls will be luckier enough to have cuter dates.

Jane Ford—At least we ought to have cushions in the seats. When one is lucky enough to have a date, she's so uncomfortable in the old broken-down chairs that he thinks she's bored and he won't come back. That's why (one reason, anyway) so many of us study all Saturday and Sunday nights!

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

As AKG bids each quarter, the official tappings in chapel will soon be observed. As stated in the college catalog the fraternity's "purpose (is) to foster high ideals and standards of leadership." This statement is sometimes a subject of wonder.

The criticism of recent tappings has not been directed so much against the girls selected but against the fact that such deserving, competent girls have been obviously omitted. There are many girls who hold the little, mean, unglamorous positions—the ones who really run our college—who never are acclaimed. Their work is with the individual, the small group and not up before the whole student body pleading for a conservative cause with witty jokes. And who therefore becomes a leader, a member of AKG. It is the little committee member who is the real leader—not the person in the limelight.

It would seem that AKG often taps just because a girl has obtained an important office—her works going unnoticed until she becomes a well-established leader and "in the limelight". It also would seem that AKG often taps a girl who holds a particular office just because the person in that office is always in AKG—be she leader or otherwise. It is traditional, however, therefore. . .

Alpha Kappa Gamma, the leadership fraternity, "the highest honor on campus" would do well to consider carefully their spring tappings lest those who merely have a pleasing personality before the public be deemed "leaders". It should above all be careful not to lose its rightful prestige and exclusiveness entirely.

Sincerely,
Disgusted but Hopeful

Parham, Dugger, Pollard, Lee Stroke Fourth Place For S. T. C. In Telegraphic Swim Meet

Mary Washington Rates Prize First

Farmville State Teachers College placed fourth in the Southern Region Final Results and Points of the Intercollegiate Telegraphic meet for 1943. Other schools placing were first, Mary Washington College with a total number of points of 53½; second, Florida State College for Women with a total number of points of 31; third, University of North Carolina with a total number of points of 18½; fourth, Farmville State Teachers College with a total number points of 10 and fifth, Carson Newman College with a total number of points of 5.

The Farmville girls that participated in the meet were Frances Parham, Ruth Dugger, Gloria Pollard and Frances Lee. The placed events that were outstanding were 40 yard crawl which Frances Parham placed 4th with a time of 24.2; 40 yard back crawl which Gloria Pollard placed 7th with a time of 35.5; 75 yard medley relay made up of Gloria Pollard, Ruth Dugger, and Frances Lee placed second with a time of 59.2; 100 yard relay made up of all four girls placed second with a time of 1.04.

Minor results of the meet were 40 yard crawl which Frances Parham placed 2nd. with a time of 24.2; 40 yard back crawl which Gloria Pollard placed 3rd with a time of 35.5; 75 yard medley relay made up of Gloria Pollard, Frances Lee, and Ruth Dugger placed first with a time of 59.2, and 100 yard free style team relay made up of Gloria Pollard, Frances Lee, Ruth Dugger, and Frances Parham placed first with a time of 1.04.

In the Southern Region Final Minor Results in Points were first, University of North Carolina with a total number of points of 41; second, Carson Newman College with a total number of points of 19; third, Farmville State Teachers College with a total number of points of 17.

Nason Visits School

Continued from Page 1

Vivian Shirley was lost. She could not obtain a position on a rival paper and her husband could not hire her. So Mrs. Nason turned to radio work. She stopped by Farmville on her way home from Texas where she had a daily 45 minute radio program for women.

"I tried to show the women that they are needed in the nation and in the world," explained the versatile Farmville alumna" and that thinking about and planning for the post war world must be done now." In keeping her feminine audience interested, Mrs. Nason often used such lures as recipes for an eggless, sugarless cake and for meatless meals.

"Just something to lure them with," she laughingly explained and turning serious again, she continued, "I want to see a woman at the peace conference table. There needs to be both the masculine and feminine point of view in the world as in the nation and in the home".

College Shoppe

Try our delicious

SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

Here's what you've always wanted. Guide books to the lives and Recorded Music of Great Composers—

TCHAIKOWSKY
WAGNER
MOZART
BEETHOVEN
BACH
BRAHMS

Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Plant a VICTORY GARDEN
For Yourself.
SEEDS—5c & 10c package
Rose's 5-10-25c Store

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Mildred Droste, incoming H20 head, and Ellen Ebel, outgoing president.

Droste Heads Club For Coming Year

H20 Officers Chosen Thursday

Mildred Droste, junior, from Ronceverte, West Virginia, was elected president of the H2O Club for the coming year at the regular meeting Thursday night April 1. Harriet Moore, sophomore, from Gastonia, North Carolina, will hold the office of Secretary-treasurer. Mildred succeeds Ellen Ebel, and Harriet holds the position that Mildred vacates.

Girls recently elected into the club are Gloria Allen, Jean Smith, Martha Jean Leavitt, Ruth Garrison, Janet Sallenburger, Frances Lee, Phyllis Watts, Martha Davis, and Betty Little.

Initiation for new girls and for four old members, Jean Carr, Pat Maddox, Jane Moseley, and Jeannette Garrison, will take place Thursday night at 8 p. m. at the pool.

Juniors, Sophs Tie In Volleyball Clash

8 Practices Needed For Team Members

Juniors and sophomores tied as a final result of the volleyball games played between the classes. Practices were obtained through physical fitness classes and class teams chosen from those who had enough practices to qualify for a team.

Members of the freshman class team are C. Flores, E. Garcia, L. Jones, Frances Lee, Frances Satterfield, Phyllis Watts, and K. Wright. From the sophomore team come Margaret Bear, Betty Blackwell, Helen Cobbs, Dorothy Cox, Resa Hutt, Hersey Hutt, Anne Pettis, L. Warner, and Marie Hedgecock, substitute.

Junior team players include Mildred Droste, Ruth Dugger, Julia Eason, Mary E. Grizzard, Sara Jeffreys, M. L. Pittard, and Betty Watts. Seniors are Jean Carr, Alice Duncan, Bridget Gentile, Susie Moore, Opal Nelson, Elizabeth Walls, Barbara White, Betty Youngberg, and Lillian Silen and Jane Lee Sink, substitutes.

Scores in the various games played between the classes were:

Juniors 30	Freshmen 27
Sophomores 24	Freshmen 23
Juniors 29	Sophomores 9
Sophomores 20	Seniors 19
Seniors 20	Juniors 16

MAY DAY PRACTICE SCHEDULE

April 12-15

Time—Place	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thurs.
11:00—gym	Picaninny	Swannee	Picaninny Swanee
4:00—gym			Plantation
5:00—gym			Court
7:00—gym	C	Plantation
7:00—rec		B
8:00—gym
8:00—rec
9:00—gym	D	Plantation
		Swannee
9:00—rec.	B.		C

Port Security Force Is Opened To Women

One more war service was opened up to women last week, when the Navy announced that women would be admitted to the Volunteer Port Security Force of the U. S. Coast Guard. This security force—hard at work in port cities all over the country—serves as a waterfront guard before and after working hours. The Navy Department intends to recruit women to drive and feed men volunteers, and do clerical work.

Like the men, women members of the force will rate uniforms, paid for by the Navy if they put in twelve or more hours per week at the job, and bought at their own expense if they work less than that. The uniform has not yet been designed.

Also like their male colleagues, women will be subject to military discipline while on duty.

Coast Guard officials report that quotas have not yet been set for all cities, but approximately one woman per every ten men is needed. In Philadelphia, for instance, where the Vountary Port Security force has about 2,000 members 200 women volunteers will be recruited.

Women living in port cities who are interested in joining the Volunteer Port Security force should watch for announcements in their local papers, Coat Guard officials advise.

Quiz Contest

Continued from Page 1

Admission will be 25c per person. Tickets will go on sale tomorrow at the table in the hall or may be bought from any member of Alpha Kappa Gamma.

Plan now to send . . .
EASTER GREETINGS
Our Assortment is Complete
SPECIAL CARDS FOR SOLDIERS, SAILORS AND MARINES
J. J. Newberry Co. 5-10-25c Stores

MAKE—
Your Headquarters
This Year
Shannon's

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Physical Fitness . . .

With the arrival of spring quarter reports are turned from inside basketball and volleyball courts to the outside area where numerous facilities provide a large program of activities. Tennis, archery, badminton, golf, softball, and other sports may be selected as your physical fitness for the spring quarter.

A New System . . .

In order to allow girls to enter activities of three periods a week regular classes in some cases cannot be obtained because a conflict in their class schedules. Therefore, a box will be placed on th A. A. Field House door where you will indicate your name, activity, and day. Every night these slips will be checked and three periods of physical fitness may be obtained in this way. A list of names will be posted in the A. A. Field House and a record kept of practices. In this way everyone can take part in three activities each week according to her schedule and receive credit. Remember anyone may be out and participate in any sport. Your physical fitness is a part of your schedule.

SPORTS . . .

The TENNIS courts are undergoing treatment after the winter weather which loosened the ground. After several good rains they will continue to harden, but they are being sprinkled and rolled each day. Remember the importance of tennis shoes while on the courts. This is a requirement for all who play. Whenever classes are not using the courts you may play and every evening after supper the courts are open.

SOFTBALL again opens its season for S. T. C. ball lovers. Time for play every evening after supper on the athletic field and class teams will again vie for the winner. Practices may be obtained through the physical fitness classes and eight are necessary for participation on a class team. The days are light for quite some time so join the gang in a game of ball.

Remember the ARCHERY day, both upperclasmen and especially freshmen. Classes are each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons at 4 o'clock on the athletic field.

Junior-Sophomore Hockey . . .

The big game between the junior red and whites and the sophomore green and whites will be played off one day next week. In the fall the final game was not played and postponed until now. Practices, in order to allow each team to brush up a bit on the stick and ball, will be announced—so listen for time. The athletic field has just been cut, the days are not to warm, and both teams are ready to go.

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Carefui Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

Do your clothes need freshening up for Spring?
Bring them to us
and have us make them like new
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

TRUDY HALL, Jr.
and
JOAN MILLER
$8.95
See the lovely cotton dresses which can be used for many different occasion.
BALDWIN'S

Sweaters & Suits for College Girls
(Slipovers)
SWEATERS, 100 per cent wool, pastel colors
$3.98-$7.98
SKIRTS, Solid Colors and Plaids
$3.98-$7.98
SWEATERS & SKIRTS dyed to match
Yellow, Nile Green, Coral, Blue-Beige
$13.95
BALDWIN'S

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

Just Looking, Thanks

To the "Y" Conference in Richmond went Louise Bell, Frances Lee Hawthorne, and Sara Byrd Williams. New York claimed Catherine May, and Anne Hamlin, while at Betty Reid's House Party in Staunton, were Betty Boutchard, Lilly Bee Gray, Sara Wade Owen, Agnes Patterson, Frances Parham, Shirley Turner, Winifred Wright, and Amy Read. Waynesboro lured Jane Crump, who visited Betty Wright, and Shirley Kersey who went home with Libby Jordon. The thrill of distance is for Sally Robertson, who treked to Little Rock, Arkansas, to see the soldier whose Uncle Sam refuses to allow him to come to Farmville to see her!

Poems or songs or pictures can be found an illustrate the fact home, no matter where, is the most beloved spot of all. Here we need no strains of Home Sweet Home to prove that home is where the heart lies, for every week-end sees these gals packing their belongings and heading home for a bit of fun or shopping, and as usual here is the list of homeward bounders.

Mildred Altice, Betty Tom Andrews, Betty Agnew, Virginia Lee Abernathy, Jean Akers, Margaret Bowling, Betty Bridgeforth, Jane Bentley, Jane Bargamin, Budgie Butzner, Rosa Lee Bell, Eileen Bowles, Elaine Bray, and Olive Bradshaw.

Marilyn Ball, Emma Broyles, Anne Brooks, Jenny May Clardy, Mildred Corvin, Dot Childress, Evelyn Chenault, Linda Crowder, Natalie Carroll, Doris Dennis, and Harriette Dowdy.

Lelia Dowell, Julia Eason, Theresa Edwards, Mo Eades, Sara Escham, Virginia Ellett, Christine Eddins, Margaret Fleming, Mary Foster, and Pagie Francis.

Nell Ray Fleming, Nancy Guthrie, Pat Gibson, Lillian Goddin, Martha Holman, Nancy Harrell, Lucy Harvie, Marie Hedgecock, Spotswood Hunnicutt, and Libby Heath.

Mary Elizabeth Harvey, Martha Hite, Minnie Rose Hawthorne, Myrtle Lee Holt, Nancy Ingle, Doris Jones, Mary Anne Jarratt, Libby Jordan, Marilyn Johnson, and Fay Johnson.

Inez Jones, Baylis Kunz, Lucille Lewis, Frances Mallory, Alice Murray, Anna Murray, Eleanor Morgan, Lela Manner, Miggie Mish and Anne Mapp.

Patsy McCulloch, Elisabeth Mast, Clara Moses, Kendall Nottingham, Betty Nixon, Marion Orange, Margaret Orange, Anne Pettis, Kitty Patrick, and Anna Peery.

Kitty Renneker, Amy Read, Delia Rainey, Shirley Richardson, Jeanne Richardson, Nelle Richards, Jean Riddick, Betty Reid, Betty Lee Scott, and Gwen Sampson.

Frances Satterfield, Barbara Scott, Alice Seebert, Barbara Surface, Agnes Stokes, Jane Smith, Virginia Terrell, Anne Trotter, and Kate Thompson.

Katherine Trower, Nancy Taylor, Lucille Winston, Betty Wright, Billy Waid, Isabel Wilson, Mary Watkins, Nancy Wilkinson, Eleanor Wade, and Barbara White.

Buy Costume Jewelery
To Match the New Spring Colors
at
Martin the Jeweler

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

For Exercise . .
BOWL at . . .
BOWLING ALLEY
NEWMAN'S
Downstairs in Shannon's
OLLIE G. PILLOW
Manager

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

HALLIE HILLSMAN

That Hallie has received, if only in part, the recognition here in school that she deserves, is evidence of the fact that "the value of quiet leadership" is appreciated by the students and faculty. Her outstanding work in the field of athletics won her the presidency of the Athletic Association—a job with a great deal of hard work attached to the glory—and the A. A. has become more and more a vital part of our campus life under her skillful and steady hand.

It should not be unusual to say of a girl that every thing she does is for the good of the school but this quality, all too rare, is typical of all that Hallie does. Her work as an ex-officio member of the Student Council though unknown and unappreciated by most, is the best indicator of her insight, tolerance, and sympathetic understanding of human nature, and her quiet yet unmistakable grasp of a situation has lent dignity and force to the work of that organization.

If ever you want a difficult job effectively done with a minimum of "tumult and shouting" see Hallie Hillsman for she possess that enviable ability to "get things done" in abundance. Along with the serious side is her keen, tongue-in-her-cheek-sense of humor —her eyes are often twinkling over something that she alone, perhaps, can appreciate — that adds a whimsical flavor to her personality.

Nor must her cool, level-headed performance on the hockey field or basketball floor go unmentioned for they too give yet another picture of the dependable efficient, friendly, and unassuming girl known as Hallie Hillsman. She had contributed much and given generously of herself and her time to S. T. C. and all that it stands for.

Sororities Entertain

The Mu Omega new girls entertained the old members at a "Faculty and Student" party in the Rec last Wednesday night. A faculty and student party turned out to be a reverse of the usual classroom procedure. The old girls dressed as faculty members, were instructed by the students on the rules of the Handbook really useful to suit modern student needs. Sounds sort of complicated but with lots of food added, you get good old combination called fun.

The new members of Gamma Theta sorority entertained the entire chapter at a tea at 4:30 Sunday afternoon in the chapter room.

Sorority Heads

Continued from Page 1

secretary; Marion Orange, alumnae secretary; and Shirley Cruser, Pan-hellenic representative, are the Mu Omega officers.

Leading Pi Kappa Sigma will be Virginia Mae Ellett, president; Martha Higgins, vice-president; Theresa Fletcher, secretary; Mildred Corvin, treasurer; Ruth Corger, corresponding secretary; and Frances Lee Hawthorne, Panhellenic representative.

New officers for Phi Zeta Sigma are Lucille Cheatham, president; Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, vice-president; Alice Feitig, secretary; Roberta Davis, treasurer; Alice Nichols, Panhellenic representative; Mary Sterrett, historian; Margaret Bear, corresponding secretary; and Margaret Lawrence, social chairman.

Quiz Opinions

Continued from Page 1

H.-S. inmates were so devout but reliable sources have dispelled that illusion. Seems to be an old custom.

Although H. S. is hopelessly outclassed, you shouldn't miss the show. The triumph of beauty over the beast is always an enthralling spectacle.

Choir

Continued from Page 1

Mason and Hamlin piano recently bought for Fork Union. Mr. Strick and Miss Virginia Richards directed the concert, and Captain Walter J. Payne directed the Fork Union Glee Club.

An invitation to sing next year was extended to the choral groups of S. T. C.

Buy Several . . . .
NEW SPRING DRESSES
At All Prices
and Different Materials . . . .
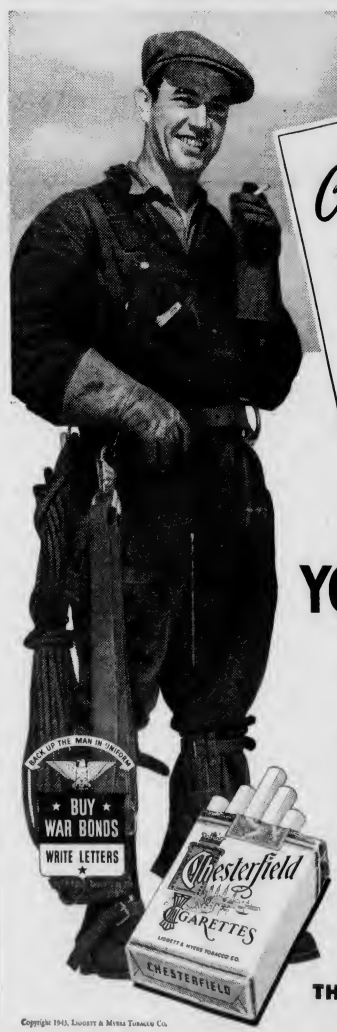
THE HUB DEPARTMENT STORE

ASK THE STOKER



"Letters come from war plant managers telling how a pause for Coca-Cola is welcomed by workers. If you had to stand up to a hot furnace, you'd see the word refreshment in a new light. And as for refreshment, that's what ice-cold Coca-Cola is. No wonder everybody agrees that the only thing like Coca-Cola is Coca-Cola, itself."

5¢

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, (Farmville, Va.)

Come Rain or Shine

YOU CAN DEPEND ON THE 400,000 TELEPHONE PEOPLE who all work together to put through messages that may save a life or even a city. It is a tradition with the men and women of the telephone companies, from linemen to operators, to stick to their posts no matter what happens. The millions of us who use the telephone know how much that means.

Come Rain or Shine

YOU CAN DEPEND ON CHESTERFIELD'S

Right Combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos to give you a MILDER BETTER TASTE

More and more smokers are swinging along with Chesterfield because they know they can always depend on this MILDER, BETTER-TASTING cigarette to give them more smoking pleasure.

Because it is made of the right combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos, Chesterfield is known the world over as the cigarette that SATISFIES. You can't buy a better cigarette.

THE CIGARETTE THAT GIVES SMOKERS WHAT THEY WANT

Copyright 1943, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

Library
2 copies

CONGRATULATIONS, TO THE CHOIR: AND GOOD LUCK

The Rotunda

ATTENTION, STUDENTS! ENTER POST OFFICE THROUGH RIGHT DOOR

VOL. XXII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14, 1943 | No. 23

All Plans Complete For New York Tour By College Choir

Group To Sing With Duke, St. Thomas Choirs Under Noble

Friday morning at 9 o'clock members of the College Choir will entrain for New York to sing with members of the choir from Duke University and the St. Thomas choir.

Friday's program includes a visit to Radio City. Saturday morning the group will rehearse for their broadcast under the direction of the distinguished organist and choirmaster, Dr. T. Tertius Noble. Saturday afternoon, the choir will meet the Duke University Glee Club in the Brooklyn Museum in combined rehearsal prior to the broadcast at 3:30 Saturday afternoon. These organizations, consisting of 150 voices, will broadcast from Brooklyn Museum, the great oratorio, "The Requiem" by Johannes Brahms. Dr. Noble will conduct.

To Attend Play

Saturday evening reserved seats have been obtained for the choir to see Tallulah Bankhead and Frederic March in the play "The Skin of Our Teeth". Sunday morning the entire group will attend service at St. Thomas' Church at 4 p. m. The choir will rehearse in St. Thomas' Church and one hour later the three choirs will again sing the immortal Requiem. Sunday evening at 7:30 p. m. the S. T. C. choir will present a program in the Crystal Room of the Great Northern Hotel for the New York Chapter of S. T. C. Alumnae. Included in the audience will be many distinguished guests now prominent in the musical world. Miss Kitty Cheatham, internation-

Continued on Page 3

Florence Manning, soprano, and Robert Nicholson, baritone, soloists in the broadcast of Brahm's "Requiem".

Bell, Randolph Win Four Decisions At Debate Tourney

Marilyn Bell and Ann Randolph journeyed to Charlotte, N. C., last week-end to attend the Grand Eastern Strawberry Leaf debate tourney and the meeting of Pi Kappa Delta's national honorary debate tourney.

They upheld both negative and affirmative sides of the question, Resolved, that the United States should establish a permanent federal union with the powers to tax, regulate commerce, settle international disputes, maintain a police force, and provide for admission of other nations which accept the principles involved. The team won decisions over Tennessee Tech, Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Agnes Scott College and Catawba College.

Approximately twenty-five colleges, including the Universities of Alabama, Duke, North Carolina, Virginia, American and Randolph-Macon Woman's College, Agnes Scott, Lenore Rhyne, Clemson, Mans Hill, Virginia Intermont, Wake Forest, and Cincinnati sent participants to the tourney.

The Winthrop Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta at Rock Hill, S. C., sponsored the tournament.

While there the group was entertained at an officers club dance Friday night sponsored by the Charlotte Woman's Club, and a dance given for the convention members Saturday night.

Miss Mary Nichols and Dr. Floyd Swertfeger are the advisers for the local chapter of Pi Kappa Delta, and Virginia Sedgley is president

Gates Replaces Bugg As Town Girls Prexy

At a recent meeting of the Town Girls Club, Elizabeth Gates was elected to succeed Mary St. Clair Bugg as president. Rae Chick will take over the position of vice-president formerly held by Hallie Hillsman. Mary Wood House will replace Carol Diggs as secretary, and Virginia Lee Price will succeed Emma Frances Elam as treasurer.

Miss Grace B. Moran will continue as advisor by unanimous vote and Hannah Lee Crawford will remain an honorary member of the club. Amy Reed was also an honorary member this past year.

At the meetng, the out-going president reviewed the activities of the club this year. She reported that the club members had filled five "Buddy-Bags" for the Red Cross, had knitted an afghan for the hospital at Camp Pickett, had given five books to the Victory Book campaign, and also had given five dollars to the war chest.

On Wednesday, April 21, the town girls will present a patriotic program in chapel, in cooperation with the Stamp and Bond drive.

Arington Elected To Head Gamma Psi

At a recent meeting of Gamma Psi, honorary art fraternity, Jean Arington, from Lynchburg was elected president for the coming year to succeed Imogen Claytor. Other officers elected were Mary Moore McCorkle from Lexington, vice-president, succeeding Elizabeth Gates from Guinea Mills; Jane Knapton, Covington, secretary, succeeding Betty Sexton; Mary Lou Dondley, Covington, treasurer, succeeding Mary Moore McCorkle; and Sara Byrd Williams from Woodstock, poster chairman, succeeding Jean Arington.

The new officers were installed last Thursday night.

Campus League Head Appoints Committee

Glenn Ann Patterson, chairman of the Campus League for the ensuing year, has appointed her committee from the various classes. From the sophomore class are Virginia Shackelford, Gloucester, and Ann Martin, Suffolk; junior class, Lois Baughman, Charleston, W. Va., and Dora Walker Jones, Radford; and the senior class, Louise Bell, Berryville, and Mary Lee Pittard, Buffalo Junction. Dora Jones and Louise Bell were members of the committee last year.

President Announces Hardy and Moore First and Second Honor Graduates

Mims To Lecture At S. T. C. April 20

Southern Literature Subject of Talk

Dr. Edward Mims, head of the English department and chairman of the Humanities division of Vanderbilt University, will lecture here on Tuesday night, April 20, in the college auditorium, on Southern literature.

Dr. Mims is an eminent lecture and an authority on Southern literature, having written several books on the subject, including a life of Sidney Lanier, "The Advancing South", and "Adventuous America".

At the present time Dr. Mims is on a tour through Virginia, speaking at various college under the auspices of Phi Beta Kappa, national honorary scholastic fraternity. He is sponsored on this campus by Kappa Delta Pi, Alpha Phi Sigma, and Boerc Eh Thorn, honorary fraternities, and the Y. W. C. A.

Dr. Mims will make several talks to special groups while he is on the campus including a lecture in chapel and talks to the English classes.

The visiting lecturer holds five degrees, an A. B. and a M. A. from Vanderbilt, and a Ph. D. from Cornell in addition to honorary LL. D. and Litt. D. degrees. Dr. Mims has been a Carnegie visiting professor to Ireland, Wales, and England, and as an elector of the Hall of Fame, he is former chairmen of the Committee on American Culture of the American Council of Learned Societies.

In addition to his books on Southern literature, Dr. Mims is joint editor of the South Atlantic Quarterly and advisory editor of the Golden Book. He has contributed to the "Dictionary of American Biography", "Encyclopedia Britannica", "Encyclopedia of Americana", and to the "Cambridge History of American Literature",

NOTICE

Anyone who wishes to try out for the Rotunda staff will please meet in the publication office immediately after supper tonight.

TO HEADS OF ALL ORGANIZATIONS

Please turn in the following information by April 19:

I.—No. of times you wish to meet per month of week.

II.—Time desired (1st and 2nd choice)

III.—Complete alphabetical list of membership and officers for next year.

If officers have not been elected, turn in your list as soon as possible.

FAY JOHNSON
Chairman of Year's Calendar

HELEN WILEY HARDY

SUSIE MOORE

Freddie Lee Returns To Liven Toes For Pan-Hels April 20

Freddie Lee and his orchestra from Lynchburg will furnish the music for the annual Pan-hellenic dance to be held in the S. T. C. gym on Saturday night, April 17, from 8:30 o'clock till 12 midnight. The orchestra has appeared at this college in the past for several dances including the recent Cotilion set.

Committees for the dance include Helen Wiley Hardy, Music; Estelle Smith, tickets; and Ann Price, decorations. On the floor committee are Jane Scott, chairman; Marilyn Bell, Myrtle Lee Holt, Ann Covington, Barbara White, Jane Ford, Jane Hobson, and Ann Lyons. The theme of the decorations has not yet been announced.

In the receiving line for the dance will be Miss Mary White Cox, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Ruth Gleaves, advisor of the Pan-heli council, Sarah Wade Owen, president, and the faculty advisor of each sorority.

Plans are being made for each sorority to have a special no-break number sometime during the course of the dance. Intermission will be at 10:30 o'clock, at which time the sorority girls will entertain their guests in their chapter rooms.

Dean's List Includes 68 Upperclassmen

Sixty-eight juniors and seniors are listed on the Dean's List for the spring quarter, Miss Virgilia Bugg, registrar, announced recently. Twenty-seven of these students have been listed the entire session. To be eligible for the Dean's List, a student must have a record of A's and B's for the preceding quarter, and must be at least a junior in college.

Girls meeting these requirements for the spring quarter are Lois Alphin, Lexington, Va.; Martha Anderson, Pedro, Va.; Elva Andrews, Farmville, Va.; Carolyn Beard, Newport News, Va.; Geraldine Beckner, Troutville, Va.; Eleanor Boothe, Wakefield, Va.; Betty Boutchard, Newport News, Va.; Olive Bradshaw, Rice, Va.; Anne Brooks, Prince George, Va.; Margaret Caroline Caldwell, New Castle, Va.; Laura Chapin, Blackstone, Va.; Lucile Cheatham, Midlothian, Va.; Imogen Claytor, Bedford, Va.; Willie Grace Coilins, Drakes Branch, Va.; Patsy Conneily, Lebanon, Va.; Mildred Corvin, Crewe, Va.; Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville, Va., and Marie Davis, Smithefield, Va.

Continued on Page 3

Honor Roll Shows 192 Girls Have Required Average

192 girls grace the honor roll for the winter quarter of this year. In order to be on the honor roll a girl must have an average of B and must have neither class or chapel unexcused cuts. The girls who have this record are Virginia Lee Abernathy, Elizabeth Viannah Adams, Nancye Alfriend Ailen, Lois Webster Alphin, Mildred Hunt Altice, Dorothy Elizabeth Anderson, Jane Guthrie Anderson, Martha Waller Anderson, Elva Kathryn Andrews and Margaret Edmunds Barksdale.

Carolyn E. Beard, Nora Beauchamp, Edith Geraline Beckner, Louise Irene Bell, Nellie Brooke Benton, Anne Lee Blanton, Carolyn Alexander Bobbitt, Eleanor Leah Boothe, Mary Aline Boss and

Continued on Page 3

14 Winter Records Show Straight A's

Fourteen students from the entire student body made straight "A" records for the winter quarter. They were Geraldine Beckner, junior from Troutville; Carolyn Bobbitt, freshman from South Hill; Eleanor Boothe, senior from Wakefield; Olive Bradshaw, junior from Rice; Marie Davis, senior from Smithfield.

Also Helen Wiley Hardy, senior from Farmville; Frances Lee Hawthorne, junior from South Boston; Mary Anne Jarratt, sophomore from Jarratt; Mary Moore McCorkie, junor from Lexington; Alma Porter, senior from Fine Creek Mills; Jeanne Strick, junior from Farmville; Sarah Trigg, junior from Hopewell; Elizabeth Walls, senior from Lanexa; and Faith Weeks, freshman from Emporia.

These girls were recognized at the regular chapel service on April 10.

Both Outstanding In Extra Curricula Class Work

Helen Wiley Hardy, of Farmville, was named first honor graduate of the class of '43, according to an announcement made by Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college in chapel on Thursday, April 8. Helen Wiley will deliver the valedictory address at Comemncement Exercises on June 1.

Susie Moore, of Richmond, named second honor graduate at the same time, will deliver the salutatory address.

Helen Wiley has been prominent in extra curricula activities during her four years at Farmville, holding the presidency of Pi Gamma Mu this year as well as membership in Kappa Delta Pi. As chairman of the Finance Comitee, she is a member of the College War Council. Helen Wiley was selected by the students as College Bond Queen, she has been a member of May Court for several years and was leader of the Cotillion Club this year.

Susie was editor of the 1943 Virginian, and holds membership in Kappa Delta Pi. She was head of the staging group of the Dramatic Club and is a member of F. T. A.

A. K. G. To Sponsor War Bond Drive

Helen Wiley Hardy, chairman of the War Finance Committee, has announced that Alpha Kappa Gamma members will assist in sponsoring the War Bond drive which began on this campus Monday. The drive coincides with the national drive which began on the same day. Both will continue through May 12. The quota set by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau for the nation is 13 billion dollars which is equivalent to $100 per person.

Alpha Kappa Gamma members will be in charge of the skit to be presented during chapel periods during the month. Betty Reid and Margaret Kitchin are chairmen of this committee.

The War Finance Committee has adopted as its slogan for the drive "Help Outfit the Outfit" and urges each student in the college to cooperate in making local bond sales top these of previous months this year.

Pearsall Introduces Affiliated Members

The affiliated members of the Student Government Association were recently installed and will be introduced at a student body meeting after dinner tonight.

Sue Harper, junior from Richmond, was made Fire Chief for tre coming year to succeed Elizabeth Bernard, and Jean Arington, junior from Lynchburg, was recentiy elected head Dining Hall Hostess to succeed Betty Reid. Dora Walker Jones, sophomore from Radford, will lead the Recreation Hall committee, succeeding Dottie Sue Simmons, while Peggy Alphin, freshman from Lexington, will lead the Lost and Found committee, succeeding Kitty Parrish.

Present Religious Drama Next Sunday

"Follow Thou Me", a religious drama in four acts, will be presented at the Baptist Church on April 18 at 8 o'clock. The play is under the direction of Mrs. H. Lee Scott.

Those taking part in the play are: Hugh Fitzpatrick, Daniel, a scribe; Ella Pool as Beatrice, niece

Continued on Page 3

We Stand Defeated

. . . In Fact . . . But Not In Wit

Well, the Edgar Gammon State Champion ship - holding Five Famous Fact and Figure Fiends withstood the assault against their sidputed title of Royal High Collective Intercollegiate Brain by some forty-nine points when they met the Quiz team from S. T. C. in the third annual Witz Blitz last night.

Bill Lashly, Dashing Hampden-Sydney professor acted as master of ceremonies, general chairman of wisecracks, and chief explainer of the whereabouts of the lost Pi Delta Epsilon loving cup which was supposed to be presented to the winning team. References to the shortage of copper, missing bell clappers were made, but a reasonable facsimile was produced in the form of one of the many Chi Phi trophies.

According to their own admission, the witz-whizzers of Hampden-Sydney have been entirely absent from the scene during the past week due to indigestion following the consumption of num-

Continued on Page 4

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief

Associate Editors

JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
ALICE WOODING ..... Proof Editor

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Lillian Elliot, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Margie Pierce.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Martha Patterson, Clara Moses, Margaret Orange, M. J. Leavitt, Pat Maddox, Margaret Mish, Gladys Wilson, eBtty Cock, Kathryn Hutchinson, Louise Bell, Virginia Sedgley

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 14, 1943

Freedom From Want

By Carlos Bulosan

If you want to know what we are, look upon the farms or upon the hard pavements of the city. You usually see us working or waiting for work, and you think you know us, but our outward guise is more deceptive than our history.

We do not take democracy for granted. We feel it grow in our working together—many millions of us working toward a common purpose. If it took us several decades of sacrifices to arrive at this faith, it is because it took us that long to know what part of America is ours.

The totalitarian nations hate democracy They hate us, because we ask for a definite guaranty of freedom of religion, freedom of expression and freedom from fear and want. Our challenge to tyranny is the depth of our faith in a demoiracy worth defending. Although they spread lies about us, the way of life we cherish is not dead. The American dream is only hidden away, and it will push its way up and grow again.

But sometimes we wonder if we are really a part of America. We recognize the mainsprings of American democracy in our right to form unions and bargain through them collectively, our opportunity to sell our products at reasonable prices, and the privilege of our children to attend schools where they learn the truth about the world in which they live. We also recognize the forces which have been trying to falsify American history—the foirces which drive many Americans to a corner of compromise with those who would distort the ideals of men that died for freedom.

Everywhere we are on the march, passing through darkness into a sphere of economic peace. When we have the freedom to think and discuss things without fear, when peace and security are assured, when the futures of our children are ensured—then we have resurrected and cultivated the early beginnings of democracy. And America lives and becomes a growing part of our aspirations again.

We have been marching for the last one hundred and fifty years. We sacrifice our individual liberties, and sometimes we fail and suffer. Sometimes we divide into separate groups and our methods conflict, though we all aim at one common goal. The significant thing is that we march on without turning back. What we want is peace, not violence. We know that we thrive and prosper only in peace.

We are the sufferers who suffer for natural love of man for another man, who commemorate the humanities of every man. We are the creators of abundance.

We are the desires of anonymous men. We are subways of suffering, the well of dignities. We are the living testament of a flowering race.

But our march to freedom is not complete unless want is annihilated. The America we hope to see is not merely a physical but also a spiritual and an intellectual world. We are the mirror of what America is. If America wants us to be living and free, then we must be living and free. If we fail, then America fails.

What do we want? We want complete security and peace. We want to share the promises and fruits of American life. We want to be free from fear and hunger.

If you want to know what we are—We are Marching!

Gleanings

By Virginia Kenl Sedgley

War conferences aren't limited to the Allies alone, even though the Allies must carry on theirs in more dangerous zones. Hitler and Mussolini have just concluded a four-day parley in which they are reported to have discussed the danger of an Allied invasion through Italy. "Complete agreement was reached" the radio reports from Berlin—which probably meant that Hitler was completely satisfied and that Mussolini was forced to agree. The Axis peace aims sound very much like ours. What they want is "the right of nations for free development and collaboration, and a peace that would allow the cooperation of all people on the basis of their common interests and the just repartionof the economic goods of the world." Where they differ from the Four Freedoms is in the clause that insures personal freedom. After all we don't want a peace at any price. Peace would be useless if we were shackled.

Though Rommel is retreating in haste in the African battlefield, yet he is retreating in order. Rommel probably isn't even in Africa, he would be too good a prize to let fall into Allied hands. Allied bombers have inflicted serious damage to the industrial cities of Germany and occupied Europe. Even Russia has bombed Koenigsberg in East Prussia. American flyers sank an Italian cruiser and damaged another one in La Maddalena Harbor, Sarendia. Two Virginians participated in the battle.

The President allowed the repeal of salary limit law. He didn't sign it and he didn't veto it because, as she said "of present circumstances." The general opinion is that the threat of inflation will again loom. Why Congress repealed this law when all economic experts advised that it was needed is a question that only your congressman can answer. A new tax bill will probably result—if there is anything left to tax.

Hey! What's Wrong With this School....

That students here cannot be trusted? They take (the correct word is s-t-e-a-l books and magazines from the Browsing and Reserve rooms of the library, and often forget to return them. Quite often they remember to bring them back several weeks later. The same goes for books taken from Miss Moran's, Miss Stubbs', and Miss Wheeler's class rooms. Have Farmville girls lost their sense of honor?

That students here have to wait as much as an hour and a quarter in the Tea Room for their dinner? It's bad enough when a group of girls have to wait, for the Tea Room is supposed to be for their benefit, but embarrassment is even greater when there is a date present. Mighty hard to show him the good points of S. T. C. when he has to wait that long for his food!

That girls do not think enough of the beauty of their campus to walk on the cement walks, and allow the poor down-trodden grass to get a new start in life. Those numerous brown grassless spots are most conspicuous.

Getting a . . .

Slant on Things

Scene on Campus . . .

—Rotunda taking on atmosphere of Bob's Buttery with addition of bold black NO SMOKING decree plastered on center of first balcony . . . To some, luminous letters may form an appropriate halo for Joan of Arc . . . Not so to the guest entering the door . . .

—Trampling impatients and blackened saddle toes among the 10 o'clock mob damming up post office passageway . . . At 10:04 long awaited ultimatum: "Doors Open!" Blackened saddle toes rush forward—relieved.

—Tackeyalleyites living up to name . . . drapin Monday's wash across windows facing street . . . Library dwellers hanging noisily out of third floor windows gaping at driver of red convertible . . . While far below sit dates in corner or corner 'neath English classroom shutters . . .

Scene on Main Street . . .

Two thoroghbred Ely Street inhabitants, of the younger set, stand engrossed in an enlightening conversation on a downtown street corner.

Says the taller of the two, "I'se five year old. How 'bout you?"

"Oh ain't so shure," the smaller replies. "Eithah fo' or five."

"Does wimmen bothah ya?" the first persists.

"Naw."

"Then, boy—yo's fo."

—J. C. S.

"Snoop" Snoops

Snooper 13 reporting . . . The racket on second floor Junior Building the other night was due to a great telephone call announcing that Nimmo's "Jack" has been stationed at Fort Eustis which is just a nice distance away. The mention of Fort Eustis brought the gleam to Dot's eyes too 'cause that's where Roland is.

This week's special . . . The arrival of Susie's "Chicago Ed" and the departure of Olin of Toledo who has been visiting one E. Banks Weathers.

Ann Ware Smith and B. Youngberg are leaving at three Saturday morning for Wilmington . . . We wonder why.

Something new has been added. Latest Sweetbriar fad is changing your name to suit the occasion—must prove rather confusing at times.

Anchors Aweigh for Ding and Gwen's Frank. We'll miss them.

Another dance week end coming up and the good "Goo" changes hands again. This time no other than C. Phillips who according to all reports did pretty well for herself at the Officer's Club at Pickett Saturday night.

And speaking of the Officer's Club, the joke of the evening was Louise Bell and that tall, tall lieutenant who literally swept her off her feet.

Has been said that Peggy T. and her little fox had a slight mix up this week end—Oh! The pity of it all.

Hun Carper—off to the Citadel this week end . . . Nancy Lee Weeks and Boo Geison, off to W. and L. after fine times at VMI

Pan Hels will feature Pickett pickups apparently and we don't mean privates.

S. T. C. choir and company leave tomorrow for a big week end in New York. Here's hoping they have the best of times.

Letters To The Editor

We, the Executive Committee of the College Choir, wish to express to our great and understanding President, Dr. J. Jarman, our sincere thanks for his splendid cooperation in making possible this, our second trip to New York.

To Professor Alfred H. Strick, head of the Music Department, our gratitude for his genius and inspirational leadership in making possible this ever to be remembered occasion.

We venture the opinion that no college in the South has been given such an opportunity to meet nationally famous musicians and choirs. The presentation of the "Holy City", "Messiah" "Requiem" etc., will stand out as truly great moments in our college life.

To Miss Virginia Richards, who working under Professor Strick, has been a tower of strength in the arduous task of preparing the Brahams "Requiem."

And lastly to those professors, both men and women, who have by word and deed shown sympathy in our undertaking and expressed in classroom and privately their appreciation of our efforts, our humble thanks.

To our great President, to Mr. Strick and the entire faculty, we say, the College Choir will uphold the worthy tradition of our college.

We have received several letters of encouragement and cooperation from the parents of our girls who will make the trip to New York.

We wish to thank Miss Mary Peck, too, for her most appreciated letter to the choir.

"Last Friday on my way to chapel to hear you sing, I found a letter in my mail box from Nancy Lewis, President of the New York Chapter of Farmville Alumnae, and I felt as I read the letter, a terrific pull for New York. Well, I took my seat in chapel still thinking I could not afford the trip, at this time, but you revolutionized my thinking as you sang the Alma Mater. Said I to myself: 'I will not fail those alumnae in New York who are expecting me to be with the girls, and I cannot afford to deny myself the opportunity of being with these girls as they render a beautiful service to my Alma Mater.' So, I'm going with you—not as your guest or chaperone, but just to enjoy again the teamwork you have proved yourself so capable of doing. Your determined effort to do well what you undertake in music is an inspiration to me, and I think it is to all of our girls, too. Certainly the world needs just such effort now to bring the harmony that you are expressing so artistically through music."

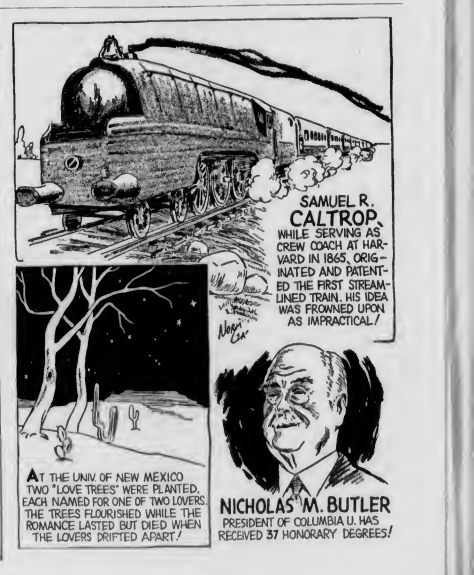
The cooperation of the parents and members of the faculty mean much to those of us who make the trip, and to those who make the trip possible.

Signed:

Fidele Haymes
Amy Read
Carolyn Rouse
Eleanor Feagons
Margaret Lovins

Executive Comimttee of the College Choir

To the Editor,



May I tell you of my feeling about Music in War Times?

Personal letters from those who are fighting our war in the far-flung parts of this troubled world almost invariably reflect one deep desire: to finish this war, thoroughly, and to get back to the home and the life that heroes love. Two outstanding duties then call for our service on the home front, to aid them in their fight against evil and to keep the home land what they love. The home that comes into their dreams has its family, its creature comforts, and its music.

Nowhere can you find more fully revealed what a people really is than in its music, its folk songs, its national anthems, its great works of artistry that uplift and enable. One of the most valuable contributions we at Farmville rave made to lofty morale is in our choral work. The college that is known for its Messiah and its Requiem stands out as a public benefactor in keeping America worthy of the life and blood of its brave soldiers.

For as ye sing so are ye.

James Elliott Walmsley

New A. A. Council Assumes Duty After Chapel Installation April 7

Wednesday, April 7, the new A. A. Council was installed during chapel by Hallie Hillsman, outgoing president.

Included on the Council for the coming year are the managers of the various sports, Dorothy Sue Simmons, basketball; Bobbie Scott, volleyball; Martha Jean Leavitt, swimming; Eleanor Wade, badminton; Ruth Dugger, tennis and ping pong; Ophelia Whittle, hockey; Margaret Orange, softball, and Lucy Manson, social.

Officers for the year are Patsy Connelly, president; Shirley Pierce vice-president; Sara Jeffreys, secretary, and Helen Wilson, treasurer.

On Friday night, April 16, the new Council will entertain the old Council in the senior rec.

Honor Roll

Continued from Page 1

Virginia Aloise Boswell.

Betty Boutchard, Lucy Bowling, Olive Ayers Bradshaw, Anne Holmes Brooks, Betty Lee Brothers, Mary St. Clair Bugg, Caroline Terry Burwell, Phyllis Ann Butler, Mary William Calvert, and Helen Marie Carpenter.

Emily Claiborne Carper, Mary Jean Carr, Virginia Amanda Caviness, Laura O. Chapin, Lucille Cheatham, Helen Joyce Cheatwood, Evelyn Mae Chenault, Imogen Gordon Clayton, Willie Grace Collins and Dora Maxine Compton.

Mildred Juanita Corvin, Mary Eugenia Crank, Hannah Lee Crawford, Linda Hortense Crowder, Margie Lee Culley, Lucy Otey Davis, Marie Davis, Martha Ann Davis, Louisa Fontaine W. Dawson, and Helen Elizabeth DeLong.

Mary Anne Dove, Lelia M. Dowell, Mildred Anne Droste, Alice White Duncan, Vivian Earle Edmunds, Rosemary Virginia Elam, Anne Hubbard Ellett, Annie Marjorie Ellis, Iris Overbey Ferguson, Margaret Anne Finney and Virginia Greenwood Firesheets.

Nell Ray Fleming, Eleanor Camper Folk,Mary Ealia Foster, Cleo Marie Frick, Alyce Lee Fulton, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Nancy Leftwich Fuqua, Patricia S. Garth, Elizabeth C. Gates and Ann Elizabeth Gleason.

D. Elizabeth Goodwin, Lilly Rebecca Gray, Charlotte Louise Greeley, Delia Bryan Gregory, Evelyn Matthews Grizzard, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Jean Harte Guy, Nancy Jane Hall, Nina Lee Hall and Martha Rebecca Hammock.

Helen Wiley Hardy, Nancy Randolph Harrell, Lucy McGavock Harvie, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Mary Fidele Haymes, Margaret Randolph Hickman, Rosa V. Hill, Hallie M. Hillsman, Jessica Rachel Hines, and Lelia Alice Holloway.

Nell Glynne Holloway, Ellen Rebecca Hudgins, Mildred Ragsdale Jackson, Mary Anne Jarratt, Myrtle Frances Jenkins, Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, Ann Sherwood Jones, Dora Walker Jones, Rosalie Fontaine Jones, and Earlene Hawbert Kimmerling.

Lucie Scott Lancaster, Margaret Lee Lawrence, Maude Lucile Lewis, Edith Winn Lovins, Margaret Godsey Lovins, Mary Catherine Lynch, M. Anne Lyons, Mary Moore McCorkle, Mildred Louise McCorkle and Elizabeth Price McCoy.

Patsy R. McCulloch, Margaret Amelia McIntyre, Lucie Ellen McKenry, Katherine Maddox, Lucy Farrell Manson, Dorothy Ella Marrow, Ann Beaman Martin, Catherine Elizabeth May, Julia Clay Messick, and Warwick Archer Mitchell.

Leona Moomaw, Polly Anne Moore, Susie Lyle Moore, Virginia Anne Moore, Alice Odell Nichols, Ada Clarke Nuckols, Alice Elizabeth Overcash, Virginia Constance Ozlin, Martha Cathirine Parrish and Agnes Meredith Patterson.

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
Choice of Many
Students in S. T. C.

Brooklawn Stationery
10c package
Write home often or to friends in the service

Spring Horse Show Slated For May 15

Tentative plans for the coming Horse Show at Longwood were discussed last night at a meeting of Pegasus Riding club, and committees that were appointed will be released next week by Miss Stella Fox, riding instructor.

Date for the Horse-Show, which is also open to town people, has been set this year for Saturday, May 15, and there will be equitation classes open to all S. T. C. students and to Farmville owners and riders, respectively. These classes will be judged on the riders' general ability and skill in handling their mounts. Several hunting classes are also on schedule, and anticipated extra will be the Costume Event, open to all entries.

Trophies and ribbons will be awarded to first prize winners in each of the approximated thirteen events, and ribbons will be given to those placing second, third, and fourth.

There will be a small entrance fee for each class, but no general admission for the public.

Margaret H. Pattie, Hazel Franklin Phillips, Margie Hall Pierce, Shirley Hunter Pierce, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Mary Lee Pittard, Gloria Urle Pollard, Mary Ella Pool, Alma Wren Porter and Jean L. Prosise.

Mary Frances Quillen, Virginia Katherine Radogna, Mildred Lorraine Raiford, Amy Ray Read, Helen Ann Reese, Betty E. Reid, Sally Mildred Robertson, Carolyn Towe Rouse, Edith S. Sanford and Nellie Melba Scott.

Stella Crockett Scott, Virginia K. Sedgley, Alice McFaddin Seebert, Mary Virginia Seward, Josephine Ayers Shaffner, Helen V. Shaw, Jacqueline K. Showalter, Lillian Silen, Dorothy Sue Simmons and Ann Ware Smith.

Estelle Walton Smith, Florence Louise Smith, Margaret Etta Smith, Ann L. Snyder, Marguerite O. Stephenson, Mary T. Sterrett, Joice H. Stoakes, Agnes B. Stokes, Elsie C. Stossel and Jeanne Claire Strick.

Helen M. Thompson, Virginia E. Treakle, Shirley Moore Turner, Margaret V. Verell, Eleanor H. Wade, Annie Belle Walker, Elizabeth V. Walls, Anne Parsons Watts, Betty Louise Watts and Nannie Ophelia Webb.

Clara P. Westbrook, Ann Hardy Williams, Sara Bird Williams, Martina Alice Willis, Mildred Louise Willson, Helen Garland Wilson, Mary Gladys Wilson, Betty Ann Wimbish, Violet Mae Woodall, Betty Wyatt Woodward, Mary Franklin Woodward and Betty Mae Youngberg.

Dean's List

Continued from Page 1

Helen DeLong, Buchanan, Va.; Ruth Dugger, Denhigh, Va.; Anne Ellett, Jennings Ordinary, Va.; Eleanor Feagans, Concord, Va.; Margaret Anne Finney, Onancock, Va.; Virginia Firesheets, Crewe, Va.; Eleanor Folk, Salem, Va.; Alyce Fulton, Danville, Va.; Elizabeth Gates, Guinea Mills, Va.; Delia Gregory, South Boston, Va.; Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Drewryville, Va.; Martha Hammock, Blackstone, Va.; Helen Wiley Hardy, Farmville Va.; Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston, Va.; Myrtle Frances Jenkins, Culpeper, Va.; Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, Franklin, Va.; Baylis Kunz, Lynchburg, Va.; Margaret Lawrence, Windsor, Va.; Margaret Lovins, Cumberland, Va.; Mary Moore McCorkle, Rt. 2, Lexington, Va., and Elizabeth McCoy, Farmville, Va.

Also Warwick Mitchell, Louisa, Va.; Susie Moore, Rt. 7, Richmond, Va.; Virginia Ann Moore, Suffolk, Va.; Frances Parham, Petersburg, Va.; Catherine Parrish, Richmond, Va.; Mary Lee Pittard, Buffalo Junction, Va.; Alma Wren Porter, Pine Creek Mills, Va.; Frances Quillen, Bristol, Va.; Amy Read, Hampton, Va.; Carolyn Rouse, Newport News, Va.; Jane Cabell Sanford, Farmville, Va.; Ellen Kendall Scott, Eastville, Va.; Virginia Sedgley, Bristol, Va.; Helen Shaw, Hampton, Va.; Alice Seebert, Tazewell, Va., and Mrs. Ann Ware Smith, Beckley, W. Va.

Also Estelle Smith, Victoria, Va.; Ada Claire Snyder, Altavista, Va.; Lois Steidtmann, Lexington, Va.; Joice Stoakes, Portsmouth, Va.; Elsie Stossell, Front Royal, Va.; Jeanne Strick, Farmville, Va.; Elizabeth Tennent, Hopewell, Va.; Sarah Trigg, Hopewell, Va.; Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville, Va.; Elizabeth Walls, Lanexa, Va.; Betty Watts, Portsmouth, Va.; Mildred Willson, Amelia, Va.; and Violet Woddall, Norfolk, Va.

Here's what you've always wanted. Guide books to the lives and Recorded Music of Great Composers—
TCHAIKOWSKY
WAGNER
MOZART
BEETHOVEN
BACH
BRAHMS
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

More Cigarettes To Be Sent Overseas

Beginning Thursday, April 15 and continuing through April 22, Alpha Kappa Gamma will canvass the student body for funds to send more cigarettes to the boys in the service. The plan is being carried out in cooperation with J. C. Gaither and R. J. Reynolds Tobacco Company, whereby for every nickel contributed, a package of Camel cigarettes will be sent to the service men.

The project is similar to the one that was recently carried out by the Liggett and Meyers Tobacco Company and the Freshman Commission.

Recent correspondence between Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Student Government president, and J. C. Gaither indicates that other colleges in the state are also iniating this project.

Arrangements have been made with all branches of the Service (Army, Navy, Marines, Coast Guard and Merchant Marine) whereby Camel Cigarettes can be shipped to Special Service Officers at various ports of embarkation; these officers then arrange for the free distribution of the Camel Cigarettes to the fighting men on the high seas and overseas.

Since this entire program of free distribution of cigarettes is being carried out through the War Department there is no profit or overhead charges, therefore each 5c donated will send one package of 20 Camel cigarettes overseas. Cigarettes are greatly in demand and the War Department states that there is nothing that is a greater morale builder among men.

A suggestive plan includes provisions for a sticker to be placed on every package of Camels if the donation is as much as $50. A folding card will be placed in every carton of Camels with a message written on one side and the address written on the detachable card so that the student body will have the opportunity of receiving message from the front, if the donation is as much as $125. In each case of 500 cigarettes, a letter can be written to the service officer requesting reply upon receipt of the cigarettes. The students can designate to which war zone they desire the cigarettes, or they may leave the distribution to the War Department for use where they are most needed.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

New York Trip

Continued from Page 1

ally known singer, will address the group on music and morale.

Will Return Monday

Monday at 10:30 a. m. the choir will leave New York for Farmville. Word has been received from New York that a large audience will be on hand to see and hear the combined choirs and several millions are expected to hear the broadcast in various parts of the country.

As a prelude to the Requiem, the entire group will sing a prayer entitled "God Save Our Men" written and composed by a distinguished composer, Mrs. Grace Twyman, of Marshall, Texas.

The solo part will be sung by Sonia Essen, the distinguished contralto, who appeared in Farmville last year.

Accompanying the choir will be Mrs. J. P. Wynne, Miss Mamie Nichols, Miss Virginia Richards, Miss Mary E. Peck, Mrs. William Gillis, Mrs. W. E. Anderson, and Mrs. Alfred Strick. Mr. Alfred H. Strick, head of the music department, will direct the activities of the group.

"Thus our alma mater is contributing in a very distinguished manner to bring to the nation, and especially to the boys in our armed forces, a moral lift through music, and in so doing proving worthy of its tradition."

Religious Drama

Continued from Page 1

of Claudia; Bobby Lauck Crawford, Lucius a Roman centurian; Virginia Treakle, Claudia, wife of Pilate.

Also Eileen Bowles as Sara, a lame girl; Mary Elizabeth Fuqua as Princess Anna, mother of Sara, Rachel Joyner and Mae Dunnavant will play the parts of attendants in Pilate's household. There will be 16 maiden under the direction of Vivian Edmunds.

Marie Davis is serving as chairman of the costume committee while Eleanor Boothe is serving as the chairman of the property committee. Others are helping with the production of the play.

The play depicts the effect of the crucifixion and resurrection of Christ on the household of Pilate.

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Tennis In Season . . .

The annual interclass tennis tournament will begin next week, Ruth Dugger, manager, has announced. Both singles and doubles will be played and winners will chalk up points for the color cup. Last year twenty-three girls played in the singles and sixteen in the doubles. Ruth Dugger, red and white, captured first place honors in the singles and Mildred Droste and Ruth Dugger placed first in the doubles tournament. Sugar Baker and Anne Payne were close runner ups.

Everyone interested in entering this season's games will sign on the paper on the athletic association bulletin board. For doubles, write your name and partner. The courts have had rain this week which will help harden them for playing. You may use the courts at any time providing a class is not scheduled for that time.

Freshmen Come Out . . .

You are now in the final quarter of your first college year at S. T. C. The fall sports showed you how our girls went into the game and played for their class colors; in the winter came basketball and indoor sports which you did enter to support your class; but now is the final period of your first year and a number of opportunities are open for you. Remember the physical fitness program and all the sports offered. The tennis courts, the athletic fields; archery, ping pong, softball, and swimming . . . all for your convenience and recreation. Make use of those things which you have today.

Wednesday, April 7, the new A. A. council was installed during chapel. Hallie Hillsman, past president, spoke to the students thanking them for their cooperation in the physical fitness program. Dr. Jarman added that the physical education department had always been active at Farmville and the students show cooperation with the request for fitness. They represent your council, gals, so let's all support them.

Wednesday Deadline For Ping Pong Games

Dottie Sue Simmons, manager of ping pong, has set Wednesday as the deadline for the play-offs. If they are not played by then, the player will be disqualified.

Those games to be played are Lucille Jones vs. Cathy Lambert and Ruth Dugger vs. Shirley Pierce. The winners of the two games will compete in the finals.

The equipment will be out for those who want to play during the day.

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Buy Costume Jewelery To Match the New Spring Colors at
Martin the Jeweler

EASTER
APRIL 25
●
Buy Your Easter Needs Now For Best Selections
New Goods Arriving Daily
●
Davidson's
The House of Quality

Just Looking, Thanks

Attention is divided this week between Easters at the Institute and the Officers Club at Camp Pickett.

Prom trotters Nancy Lee Weeks, Peggy Alphin, Betty Boutchard, Alice Courter, Anne Covington, Betty Wood, Dearing Fauntleroy, Sara Wayne France, Lilly Bec Gray, Joscelyn Gillum, Ann Gelson, Clara Moses, Carol Diggs, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Jane Page and Shirley Turner journeyed to Lexington to V. M. I. Easters.

U. S. Oers Louise Andrews, Jean Arington, Louise Bell, Margaret Bowling, Virginia Campfield, Jo Cooper, Mildred Corvin, Hannah Lee Crawford, Pagie Francis, Elizabeth Fulcher, Patricia Garth, Vivian Gwaltney, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Nancy Hutter, Sara Jeffreys, Inez Jones, Elizabeth Ann Jordan, Betty King, Margaret Kitchin, Frances Mallory, Louise McCorkle, Jane McFall, Leona Moomaw, Charlotte Phillips, Gloria Follard, Frances Rainey, Jane Sanford, Betty Sexton, Jane Smith, Ada Claire Snyder, Elsie Stossel, Frances Strohecker and Margaret Thomas, donned their prettiest duds and took off to one of the officers clubs at Camp Pickett and well—you get them to tell the rest.

To Charlotte, N. C. went Marilyn Bell and Anne Randolph for a debate. Mary Anne Jarrett and Rosemary Elam took in a fraternity dance at University of Richmond and then the following went home—Gloria Allen, Nancye Allen, Peggy Becker, Anna Lee Blanton, Jane Crump, Dorothy Holleman, Anne Seay, Doris Fergusin, Jane Anderson, Rebecca Blanton, Jane Bentley, Betsy Caldwell, Emily Carper, Mary Wilson Carper, Imogene Claytor, Mary Crank, and Helen Cobbs.

Also to home went Ruth Dugger, Kitty Davis, Helen DeLong, Mildred Droste, Charlotte Greeley, Nelda Rose Hunter, Lucille Hall, Libby Heath, Gussie Himes, Myrtle Lee Holt, Alise Hume, Anne Hamlin, Dodie Jones, Nancy Langhorne, Betty Martin, Betsy Owen, and Louise Parcell Watts.

DeLuxe Cleaners

Do you need some clothes Freshened for Spring?
Bring them to us!

Quiz Teams Are Entertained

The members of the S. T. C. and Hamden-Sydney quiz teams were entertained at a dinner at Longwood on Tuesday night before the Quiz contest. Other guests included Bill Lashley of Hampden-Sydney, and Mr. Holton.

The alumnae of Mu Omega were entertained at a banquet at Longwood on Saturday night. In addition to the old and new members, guests included Dr. Jarman, Miss Wheeler and Miss Gleaves.

Langhorne, Hutt Added To Staff

Mildred Corvin, business manager of the Colonnade, announces that Nancy Langhorne, junior from Irvington, will serve as exchange editor for the coming year. Hersey Hutt, sophomore from Neenah, will replace Anne Payne, sophomore, who will not return to school next year.

Walmsley Leaves For Washington

Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, head of the History Department will leave Friday for Washington, D. C., where he will take part in the conferences meeting there. Four groups will meet there this week end, the National Council of Special Studies, the Middle States Council of Social Studies, the Academy of World Economics, and the national honorary fraternity in social studies, Pi Gamma Mu.

Dr. Walmsley will attend these conferences as president of the Virginia Council of Social Studies, as vice chancellor of the South Atlantic Region of Pi Gamma Mu, as a member of the Academy of World Economics, and as faculty advisor of the S. T. C. War Council.

BUY . . .

Kotex—89c
54 count
and save
Rose's 5-10-25c Store

Reporter Reveals Library Statistics After Deep Delving

The time—the morning of November 1, 1942. The place—the College Library. A few enterprising souls have sacrificed that extra hour's sleep to tackle long overdue history parallel: Mr. Merritt breezes in, every movement an expression of pent-up energy. Fighting the battle of Gettysburg again the reading students can not be blamed for failing to notice the added twinkle in Mr. Merritt's eyes this morning. And they are certainly unaware that they are being made the subjects of a scientific survey.

In April, 1943, the Rotunda published the first authentic compilation of the findings of Mr Merritt in his study, "Student Use of Farmville State Teachers College Library". The survey has not been complet.d yet; statistics for a whole year must be obtained before any definite conclusions can be reached. But certain trends are already recogn.zable.

No more than 4 per cent of the student body ever uses the reading rooms at any one time! This discovery, made as a result of intensive study during the month of November, should react like a bombshell upon the complacent attitude taken by most students toward the library. A vista of unlimited potential.ties—this opens before our eyes in the wise use of the library. But we are content to leave it as such. We go "researching" in this world of ideas only when we are given a definite assignment that requires us to do so.

Did you ever count the chairs in the two reading rooms of the library? Well, there are 212. This is about the right number to meet the standard of a seating capacity for one-fourth of the student body. It is hardly likely that the occas.on will ever arise in which a student will have to sit on the floor because of inadequate seating facilities in the S. T. C. library.

Quiz Contest

Continued from Page 1

erous volumn of encyclopedias, dictionaries, and what have you.

Methods of various radio quizzes were used in different parts of the Witz Blitz. The initial round where the qquestion was thrown open to the entire team minus consultation, proved to be the fastest moving and also the most sidesplitting one. Virginia Sedgley's reference of certain questions about China to H.-S. C.'s future foreign missionaries landed between the eyes. Aided by Mr. Lashly, Dawn Shanklin in the second round, where each team member was questioned on a category of his (or her) own choosing, succeeded in becoming very confused and answering her questions in at least five CORRECT ways as if explaining to a five-year-older. Somewhere there was a category on sports which the intellectuals refused to touch and a similar one on the army and navy which also was distasteful to the contestants. Someone from Death Valley—your reporter did not catch the name—made himself quite famous in the eyes of his colleagues by remembering, "The Three Little Pigs."

Intermission fun was provided by a group of volunteers from S. T. C. and H.-S. C. who were in turn squirted with a water pistol and lemon juice forced to throw some of H.-S.'s perfectly good hot air to the winds by popping a balloon in his own face, and by means of a popular song made her love-life public. Also there were soloes by Esther Shevick and Pat Maddox.

Though their efforts were foiled by the so called Supreme Intellegentsia, the five maidens, (Miss Mary's Mental Marvels from the Farmville College for Normal Virginia girls — unquoate) upheld their reputati o ofnqruickness and wit, for even the venerable Mr. Lashly.

MAKE—
Shannon's
Your Headquarters
This Year

★ SENIOR ★ PERSONALITY ★

ELLA HUTCHINSON

To one of the most genuine girls among us we pay tribute. Ella with her gentle manners and her talent for making loyal friends among the faculty as well as the student body, has won us all completely to her these four years she has been a part of our college life.

Professors will miss her quiet attentive presence in the classes and girls who have been enriched by her friendship will sadly feel the lack of her participation in the many college activities. She will be remembered for her sterling qualities of character, her conscientiousness at all times and her winning grace and sunny disposition but above all for her sturdy valiant spirit that is ever a vivid part of her.

Next year Ella will enroll in the University of North Carolina where she will major in "Social Studies". Upon the completion of her studies there she will enter the field of social work for the blind. In this her chosen work she will continue to brighten and make more worthwhile the lives with whom she comes in contact.

We Salute you, Ella Hutchinson as a true and lovely example of what Farmville seeks to uphold in each and every one of us.

Dramatic Club Heads To Be Elected Soon

Officers for the Dramatic Club will be elected at the regular meeting of the club on next Wednesday, April 21, Elsie Stossel, president announced this week.

At the same time there will be a double program meeting with skits given by the staging, properties, and acting groups and by the lighting, costume, and make-up groups.

No-Rationed Shoes Mean No Bare-Feet If Care Is Exercised in Decision

Is the shoe situation bothering you? Do you look at those old faithful moccasins or saddles every morning with black hopes? Do you pore over the morning paper vainly searching for no-rationed play shoes which are the answer to your prayer? If you answer all these questions in the affirmative you are in the same boat with most of the rest of us. The time has come when we must face facts. One little square of paper with the number seventeen on it stands between us and barefeet excepting of course last year's stand-bys. So we must weigh the possibility of shoes carefully before we dive head long into purchasing them because—well after them we have to wait until the fifteenth day of June.

The first usuable detour of rationing is play shoes which are not rationed. But notice it because many of them are made from paper which you realize does not take to water as a duck does—If play shoes it must be, the fabric ones or leather saddles seem the best bet. Happy hunting!

Irene, Hollywood designer, published recently what she thought the best shoes to buy for the year around on these ration coupons. First she suggested a pair of plain black suede pumps with toes and heels in which could be varied with clips or bows for afternoon or evening wear. The powers that we don't permit evening sandals, you know.

Secondly a pair of medium heeled black sport shoes for street wear. Here perhaps a college girl should substitute a pair of saddles or brown brogues since street shoes are not as essential as sport shoes.

The third was a pair of the stand by spectator pumps for summer wear for street or dress. Shoe needs depend on individual needs so just think what you will be doing before you buy, for afterward you may be not only sorry but barefoot also.

Care saves wear so get out your paraphenalia and play shine boy once a week—shoe polish preserves leather and so lengthens wearability time. Though you may not need those old shoes now, maybe before next year this time you will. Take shoes to the shop where there is still enough left to mend.

Whether you choose to follow Irene's advice or shine your old ones regularly or search for play shoes, let's do it with no complaints for we wear our shoes on nice comfortable American soil, not on the hot desert sands or jungle paths where other American feet now tread.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

C. E. Chappell Co.
Fountain Service
Visit us for the BEST
PHONE 63

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, (Farmville, Va.)

Unrationed Shoes

Blue and White Suede $5.50

SANDALS
White, Red, Blue and Tan
$2.50 - $2.95

BALDWIN'S

CAMPUS LEAGUE REQUEST:
DO NOT CUT CAMPUS!

The Rotunda

UNCLE SAM'S REQUEST
BUY BONDS FOR VICTORY!

VOL. XXII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 1943 | No. 24

Discover All of America Mims Tells College Group

Lecturer Spoke Yesterday, Today

"Have you discovered America?" Dr. Edwin Mims, lecturer and author, answered this question in a number of ways in his talk last night in the auditorium. He elaborated on the discovery, first of the land, then the government, the literature, the physical aspects, and finally the fine arts. He told the interested audience many different aids for a more complete discovery of America.

"We can discover America by the aid of symbols", Dr. Mims pointed out. "Our flag which can mean so much to our soldiers fighting in Guadalcanal should symbolize as much to us here at home."

"Uncle Sam, that kindly old gentleman, who has represented the wealth and generosity of the United States, now represents our grimness and determination to win this great war in which we are now engaged," the well-known speaker on college campuses continued. He also pointed to the Stature of Liberty as a symbol not only to the citizens of this country, but to all the world, of the hope which America offers. Paraphrasing Whitman, whom he knows so well, Dr. Mims stated

Continued on Page 3

Bell, Nichols, Head PDK, Debate Club For New Term

At a recent meeting of Pi Kappa Delta, honorary fraternity for debaters, Marilyn Bell, sophomore from Richmond was elected president for the coming year to replace Virginia Sedgley. Marilyn has been an active member of the Debate Club for two years besides being a member of Pi Kappa Delta. She is also active in other extra curricular activities.

The new officers of the Debate Club recently elected are Alice Nichols, sophomore from Lynchburg, succeeding Virginia Sedgley as president; Betty Cock, freshman, from Hampton, vice-president, succeeding Mildred Altice; Betty Adams, freshman from Richmond, secretary, succeeding Alice Nichols and Marilyn Bell, secretary and treasurer respectively last year; and Virginia Via, sophomore from Critz, historian, succeeding Myrtle Jenkins. Miss Mary E. Peck was accepted as counselor.

Crawford Will Lead A. K. G.

Hawthorne Elected Vice-President

Hannah Lee Crawford, recently elected vice-president of Student Government from Farmville, was elected president of the Joan Circle of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national honorary fraternity for women in leadership, at the regular meeting on Wednesday night, April 14. She will succeed Jane Sanford in this position.

Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston, was elected vice-president to succeed Betty Younberg, while Ella Banks Weathers, Lexington, was elected secretary to succeed Agnes Patterson. Patsy Conneily Lebanon, will take over the duties as treasurer, succeeding Betty Boutchard.

The purpose of Alpha Kappa Gamma is four-fold: to foster high ideals and to set up high standards for those women who have proven themselves most eminent in constructive leadership; to promote coordination of various college activities; to preserve the ideals and traditions of the school; and to bring the faculty and students together on a basis of mutual interest.

Results Beginning To Show In Seniors' Search for Careers

Out of the 138 members of the senior class, seven have definitely made arrangements for thir future work.

Margaret Louise Bowling, Roanoke; Mary Fiddie Haymes, Irvington; Susie Moore, Richmond; and Anne Price, Rice are going as chemists to the DuPont plant in Richmond. The work in the plant is divided between laboratorians, who do the routine work by shifts, and analyists, who work by the day. The girls are planning to be analyists, and their work will be to analyze materials to keep them up to standards in order that the products which are produced will be up to standard.

Marjorie Feits, Ivor, will teach English and history in South Norfolk High School, while Myrtle Jenkins, Culpeper, is planning to teach in Culpeper County.

Ella Hutchison, Newport, will do post graduate work at the University of North Carolina.

Bell, Whittle, Lead U. S. O. Activities On College Campus

Five Students Added To Local Committee

Marilyn Bell, sophomore from Richmond, was selected last weekend to head the College USO committee for next spring succeeding Margaret Kitchin, who will graduate in June. Ophelia Whittle, of Petersburg, was chosen vice chairman to replace Margaret Bowling who will also graduate.

Marilyn has been extremely active in campus affairs during her two years here, having been on the Debate team, and on the Panhellenic Council, as well as an officer in her class. Ophelia, also a sophomore, is a class representative on government and played on the class hockey team.

Five new members have recently been added to the College U. S. O. committee, Margaret Kitchin, retiring chairman, revealed this week. They are Jac Parden, Pat Garth, Martha Higgins, Emily Carper, and Lucy Harvie.

The U. S. O. committee was organized on the campus last year as part of the College War Council, but this year because of increased activities is working as a separate unit. It serves as a sort of clearing house organization for all student contributions toward the building of morale of the servicemen.

Through the U. S. O. committee dances are being held for the servicemen in the Farmville Armory whenever possible. In addition refreshments are served to the men at the Farmville U. S. O. Center on Sunday afternoon and on Saturday nights when there is

Continued on Page 4

Hawthorne Becomes Sigma Pi Rho Prexy

On Monday afternoon, April 19 at 5 o'clock, at a call meeting of Sigma Pi Rho, Latin honor society, the officers for the ensuing year were elected. Frances Lee Hawthorne, junior from South Boston, was elected president to succeed Violet Woodall; Mary St. Clair Bugg, junior of Farmville, succeeds Eleanor Boothe, as vice-president; Margie Lee Culley, junior from Newport News, succeeds Martha Anderson, as secretary and treasurer; Mary Wood House, junior from Prospect, succeeds Anne Price, as reporter.

Sigma Pi Rho is a national Latin fraternity, and the Virginia Alpha Chapter has been active in its activities for many years.

Miss Minnie V. Rice is the faculty advisor for the chapter.

Governor Darden Will Deliver Commencement Address June 1

Prexy of Student Body Announces Appointed Council

New Members Assume Duties

Mary Evelyn Pearsall, president of the Student Government Association, recently announced the appointment of the College War Council.

Sue Harper, junior from Richmond who was recently appointed Fire Chief, will serve on the Air Raid committee to succeed Elizabeth Bernard. The work of this group is to assist in taking charge of fire protection and evacuation.

Patsy Conneily, junior from Lebanon who was recently elected president of the Athletic Association, will lead the Physical Fitness committee, succeeding Hallie Hillsman.

Ella Banks Weathers, junior from Lexington who is editor of The Rotunda, will serve as chairman of the Publicity committee, succeeding Jane Sanford. She will direct the publicity pertaining to the college defense program.

Louise Bell, junior from Berryville, will serve as chairman of the Morale committee, succeeding Eleanor Folk. The work of this committee is to establish and maintain a high standard of morale among the students.

Frances Strohecker, junior from Boydton, will head the Consumer Education group, succeeding Charlotte Greeley. Nell Holloway, sophomore from Purdy, will serve as chairman of the First Aid group, succeeding Shirley Turner.

Virginia Treakle, freshman from Toano, will lead the Red Cross Cooperation group, succeeding Nancye Allen. The main purpose of this group is to work in collaboration with the Red Cross chapter in helping to roll bandages for men in the armed services.

Continued from Page 3

College Orchestra Presents Program

The College Orchestra under the direction of Miss Lisabeth Purdom, gave a second concert in chapel on Friday, April 16. The program included "Tone Poem", "Hungarian Dance No. 5" and "The Sleeping Beauty Waltz" by the entire orchestra. Mr. Steward of the Hampden-Sydney faculty offered a cello solo "The Swan", and "Nadine Waltz" was played by Ash Wiley on the saxophone.

Playing in the orchestra are Boyd Coyner, clarinet; Ash Wiley, clarinet; Mr. Stewart, cello; Don Foley, base trombone; Bill Lacy, cornet; Patricia Ann Osborne, xylophone; James Grainger, flute; Annette Grainger, flute; Ada Claire Snyder, piano; Ann Brooks, violin; and Lucy Lancaster, violin.

Watts Elected Head Of ACE for '44 Term

Betty Watts, of Portsmouth, was elected president of the Association for Childhood Education at the club's meeting last Wednesday.

Other officers elected are Mildred Wilson, vice-president; Margaret Pattie, secretary; Jocelyn Gillum, treasurer; and Margaret Thomas, head of the ways and Means committee.

Miss Gessie Jeter spoke at the meeting on the subject, "Food and Nutrition for the Child in War Times.

Right Reverend William A. Brown To Give Baccalaureate Sermon May 30

COLGATE W. DARDEN, JR.

Colgate Whitehead Darden, Jr., governor of Virginia, will make the Commencement address at Farmville on Tuesday, June 1, Mr. T. A. McCorkle, program chairman announced this week. The Baccalaureate sermon on Sunday, May 30, will be delivered by the Right Reverend William A. Brown, Bishop of the Diocese of Southern Virginia.

Governor Darden, a native of Norfolk, was on this campus January 27, when the students observed War Emphasis Day. He is a graduate of the University of Virginia and has also degrees from Columbia.

Bishop Brown received his D. D. degree at Virginia Seminary, and his LL. D. from Roanoke College. He was ordained bishop of Southern Virginia in 1937.

Class Day exercises are scheduled for Monday, May 31, at which time Winifred Wright, historian of the class of '43, will give a brief history of the class, and Nancye Allen, giftorian, will present the members of the class with mementos of their college days. Other parts of the Class Day program include the traditional daisy chain formed by the seniors and their little sisters following the morning program in the auditorium, and the customary lantern parade with the same group at night.

Helen Wiley Hardy, of Farmville, will deliver the valedictory address on Commencement Day, June 1. Helen Wiley was selected first honor graduate on the basis of her scholastic record which is the highest in the class. Second honor graduate is Susie Moore, of Richmond, who will deliver the salutatory address to open the Commencement program.

Further plans for the program have not yet been announced.

May Day Practices Combined Previous To Mass Rehearsal

This week the May Day practices are being combined in the gym before mass rehearsals out of doors next week.

Anne Ellett, general chairman of May Day, has commended the cooperation of the girls teaching the dances and the pianists; however, there are always those few who fail to show up when the practice time rolls around.

The costume heads have distributed all dresses, according to an announcement made recently by Anne Ellett. All money for costumes must be paid to Rosalie Rogers or Mildred Corvin by the end of this week. Those girls who have not made their costumes should go to the sewing clinic on second floor library hall on Tuesday and Thursday from three to five o'clock. The Home Economic girls will be there to assist in making the costumes.

On Monday and Tuesday, April 26 and 27, there will be mass rehearsal of everyone in May Day from 4 to 6 p. m. in front of the library. At the mass rehearsal on Wednesday, April 28, the orchestra and chorus will also practice, and practice will begin at 3:30 and extend until 6 p. m. The lab professors have agreed that all girls having lab come as early as possible so that they may get out in time for practice.

Continued on Page 4

Students Owe Sum Of $44.44 To Library

A recent check of the library records indicates $44.44 is outstanding in fines incurred by the college students on overdue and rental books. In the past weeks these students have been sent written notices by the library staff and a goodly number of the fines have been paid. Too many of them remain unpaid and as the assumption that the students would take it upon themseives to pay these fines without undue pressure has apparently been unwarranted, the Library has initiated a new and somewhat unprecedented procedure for bringing the outstanding fines to the students' attention.

A second notice will be sent to all students who owe fines tomorrow, April 22. In cooperation with the librarian, the Rotunda will publish next week the names of all girls who have not paid these fines by Monday, April 26.

Of course most of the students pay their fines in the normal

Continued on Page 3

Ford Assumes Duties As Pan-Hel Prexy

Jane Ford, junior from Martinsville, incoming president of the Panhellenic Council as the representative of Alpha Sigma Tau, announces the members of the Association for next year. Jane succeeds Sarah Wade Owen. Evelyn Paw, the Theta Sigma Upsilon representative, will serve as vice-president of the council.

Alice Nichols of Phi Zeta Sigma, has been appointed secretary, and Frances Craddock, representing Sigma Sigma Sigma, will take over the duties of treasurer. Carol Diggs, Gamma Theta, will serve as chairman of publicity, and Julia Eason, Alpha Sigma Alpha, as Keeper of Records. Shirley Cruser, Mu Omega, will assume the duties of Program Chairman, and Frances Lee Hawthorne of Pi Kappa Sigma, has been appointed Rushing Chairman.

Miss Janet Cameron To Demonstate Talk

Miss Janet Cameron, state food and nutrition specialist at V.P.I. will speak Wednesday April 21 at 8:00 p. m. in the large auditorium.

Miss Cameron is sponsored by the Home Economics Club and the consumer education group of the war council. Her talk will be based on the physical fitness program's slogan, "Sound Body and Sound Mind". She will demonstrate how food makes a difference in the above slogan.

'Putting Out The Virginian' Is Fun, But

Where Is That?

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

The Virginian goes to press. Packed and jammed with the doings of S. T. C'ers for one year, 1942-43, it is at last off to the printers. Was that a sigh of relief you hear from Susie Moore, editor-in-chief and woman of all work? Could be.

Have you ever editéd an annual? There's supposed to be a deadline. All material should be in by such and such a date. But what happens? When that last week end rolls around there is still a lot to be done; Write-ups to be lengthened, write-ups to be shortened, pictures captions to be written, pictures to be indexed and identified . . . Then everything must be proof-read and stamped and typed and checked for length.

Saturday afternoon over in the Physics lab is a scene of confusion. Proofs, dummy pages, snapshots, write-ups, people are spread in hap hazard manner covering tables, chairs and floor. The bell didn't come into the China shop—but a whirlwind got loose with the supply.

There are anguished screams for help and deliverance.

"Somebody help me!—I don't think of anything but—sweet and lovable—!"

"How about - - selfish and unlovable?"

"You're a great help I must say. Why don't you make yourself useful and hand me that ruler over there?"

"What would be good for the Northern Neck Club?"

"How about the Northern Neckers?"

"What's that I smell! This room is not big enough to hold that—Throw her out!"

"What shall I do now!"

"You might start indexing pictures."

"Ouch!"

Of course, this is the week end that half the staff has decided to go home. Everyone who was still here to lend a hand did anything and everything. The business staff exerted its orderly brain writing captions for snapshots and measuring space. (A ruler is the essential instrument in getting out any publication—everything must be measured to the nth part of an inch.) The literary staff pounded the type writer while the typists read proof.

Can Anyone Tell?

Every once in a while Mr. Mac would appear, suggest and joke. Then there was that angel, Mr. French, who when everyone was in the depths of despair and paper and hunger appeared with an angel food cake.

And then there were errands to run—to the business department to use a typewriter—and to Susie's room to find this or that—to be registrar's office to look up elusive data—(Who is that girl—I never heard of her!)—to the publication's office—and so on in a vicious circle.

When it was finally done, when each page had been checked and rechecked, the staff went silently and thankfully home to rest until

Continued on Page 4

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 21, 1943

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
ALICE WOODING ..... Proof Editor

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Lillian Elliot, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Margie Pierce.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Martha Patterson, Clara Moses, Margaret Orange, M. J. Leavitt, Pat Maddox, Margaret Mish, Gladys Wilson, Betty Cock, Kathryn Hutchinson, Louise Bell, Virginia Sedgley, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Loline Warner, Bobbie Scott.

Freedom of Speech

Parable by Booth Tarkington

In a small chalet on the mountain road from Verona to Innsbruck, two furtive tourists sat, pretending not to study each other. Outdoors, the great hills rose in peace that summer evening in 1912; indoors the two remaining patrons, both young, both dusty from the road, sat across the room from each other, each supping at his own small table.

(Here in the secluded chalet the two strangers sat talking, sharing their ideas, many of which were singularly alike.)

"Imagine a map." The painter ate a grape. "Put yourself in England, for instance, and put me and my dazzling ideas into that polyglot zoo, the United States of America. You in England can bellow attacks on the government till you wear out your larynx, and some people will agree with you and some won't, and that is all that would happen. In America I could do the same. Do you not agree?"

"Certainly," the journalist said. "In those countries the people create their own governments. They make them what they please, and so the people really are the governments. They let anybody stand up and say what he thinks. If they believe he's said something sensible, they vote to do what he suggests. If they think he is foolish they vote no. Those countries are poor fields for such as you and me, because why conspire in a wine cellar to change laws that permit themselves to be changed openly?"

"Exactly." The water-color painter smiled his faint strange smile. "Speech is the expression of thought and will. Therefore, freedom of speech means freedom of the people. If you prevent them from expressing their will in speech, you have them enchained, an absolute monarchy. Of course, nowadays he who chains the people is called a dictator."

"My friend!" the dark young man exclaimed. "We understand each other. But where men cannot speak out, they will whisper. You and I will have to talk out of the sides of our mouths until we have established the revolutions we contemplate. For a moment, suppose us successful. We are dictators, let us say. Then in our turn do we permit no freedom of speech? If we don't, men will talk out of the sides of their mouths against us. So they may overthrow us in turn. You see the problem?"

"Yes, my friend. Like everything else, it is simple. In America or England, so long as governments actually exist by means of freedom of speech, you and I could not even get started; and when we shall have become masters of our own countries, we shall not be able to last a day unless we destroy freedom of speech. The answer is this: we do destroy it."

"But how?"

"By means of a purge."

"Purge?" The word seemed new to the journalist. "What is that?"

Once more was seen the water-color painter's peculiarly icy smile. "My friend, if I had a brother who talked against me, either out of the side of his mouth or the front of it, and lives to run away, he might have to leave his wife and child behind him. A purge as a form of carbolic acid would include the wife and child."

"I see." The dark youth looked admiring, but shivered slightly. "On the one hand, then, there is freedom of speech and on the other this fatal acid you call a purge. The two cannot exist together in the same country. The people of the earth can take their choice, but you and I can succeed only where we persuade them to choose the purge. They would be brainless to make such a choice—utterly brainless!"

The painter spoke to the landlord: "That fellow seems to be some sort of shady character, rather a weak one. Do you know him?"

"Yes and no," the landlord replied. He's an and out, mainly after dark. One meets all sorts of people in the Brenner Pass. You might run across him here again, yourself, someday. I don't know his whole name, but I have heard him called 'Benito,' my dear young Herr Hitler."

(Ed. Note: This is the fourth and last in the series of Five Freedoms, written by famous writers, and contributed by The Saturday Evening Post.

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

The first year's anniversary seems to be popular with Uncle Sam. A year after Pearl Harbor the real extent of the damage done there was made public. Now, a year after the bombing of Tokyo, Shangri-la is revealed as an airplane carrier or carriers. From a standpoint of planes lost and damage done, the rail was not particularly successful. Several planes came down in China and were captured, one, at least, was interned by the Russians. However, from the viewpoint of morale lifting of the Americans and morale shattering of the Japs, the raid was a complete success. We wouldn't mind seeing more Tokyo raids, but not at the loss of American life as was suffered last year.

The English woman can now see our screen idol in the flesh. Captain Clark Gable is "somewhere in England" and will probably function as a gunnery instructor.

Yesterday, Tuesday, April 20, was Herr Hitler's 54th birthday. The United States people are sending greetings with bonds, bombs, and bullets. "Happy Birthday, Adolf, we hope that next year this time we can give you the traditional birthday spankings ourselves."

Rommel seems to be receiving Hitler's birthday spankings in Africa. Perhaps I should say Von Arnim as it is pretty well recognized that Rommel is no longer in Africa but is directing the battle from Europe.

This column has been criticized for making a crack at the WAACs. I think the comment was that we wondered if they would haunt Hampden-Sydney like the Pickett men flock around S. T. C. No personal offense was meant. I'm sure that everyone recognizes the fact that the WAACs are doing a fine work. However, it is one of our privileges as Americans to have a little fun at their expense without becoming malicious No one recognizes this more than the WAACs themselves.

Getting a . . .

Slant on Things

Scene on Campus . . .

The United States Senators remain deep in the throes of post-war arguments. The object of their verbal javelins at present is the World After: whether or not it should have the protection of a police force. There should be no argument here. It is obvious that the earth has not become a neighborhood in which men can greet each other on the Main Street corner each morning and stop for a confidential chat. Those who say that the world has shrunk to a convenient size for sugar borrowing across the back fence are deceiving themselves. The old distances between places and minds remain the same. No United States senator can superimpose that with arguments of any sort.

Yet that is what they who do not advocate a post-war police force atempt to do. They evidently fail to realize that some discipline will be needed in the world which follows this was as it has been needed in those which followed all others. It is consoling to know that the head of the History Department on this campus advocates this doctrine of post-war discipline, for in a plan for a post-war federation of nations which he recently submitted to an organization on campus one of the ten essentials he listed was that of a police force, which would have power to inflict punishment when necessary.

—J. C. S.

"Snoop" Snoops

Listen to the Mockingbird who mocks people who are so possessive that they wouldn't let O. P. share their 4-F's at Pan Hels . . . Blue Orchids to Rosemary for that attractive date of her's . . . Can It Be Wrong for third finger left handers to date attractive lieutenants from Pickett? . . . The Some Old Story of B. Read snaking. This time it was the groom.

Send Me One Dozen Roses—to Mary Lou Dondley, but only recently did she discover who her secreta admirer is—but she liked the roses! . . . Oh Promise Me will soon be the words of Kitty and P. T. Best wishes, too . . . I Must Have One More Kiss Kiss Kiss—even if the Rec does not afford one the greatest privacy, Kitty and Charlie don't seem to mind.

There's Something About a Soldier, and Lelia Dowell, Marilyn Bell, and Betty Blackwell agree! Just ask them about "Ronald Reagan" and his friends . . . Betty B. and Hannah Lee might know something about these uniformed boys, too—then there was Sara Wade with six more . . . They Say that Frances Wentzel, overlooking Brook's recent fire-chief escape, was more than consoled by the weighty gardenia corsage he sent her Saturday night.

As Times Goes By, you'd think that Lady's USO line, "Now tell me about your fine city" would wear out . . . Dawn has Gobs of Love for the Navy these days—and Addison is looking mighty fine

Continued on Page 3

the "Y"

By LOUISE BELL

Tonight at 9 o'clock the new Y. W. committees will meet for the first time with the new committee heads. The places of the various meetings will be posted on the Y bulletin board. Freshmen have signed up for the committee some time ago and the upperclassmen indicated their desires yesterday.

There will be an Easter Sunrise service at Longwood on Sunday morning planned by the Freshman Committee. The students will meet in the Rotunda at 6 a. m.

Dr. Mims was the guest speaker today at the first open Association meeting. The YWCA was one of the organizations which helped sponsor Dr. Mims on the campus.

The Canterbury Club is continuing discussions each Sunday night at the Episcopal Rectory. Last week the discussion was led by Dick Anderson of Hampden-Sydney, and centered around plans for a Christian future.

Letter To The Editor

April 13, 1943

Dear Editor:

From my several visits to Farmville, my many acquaintances there, and from reading your school's publications I was tremendously impressed by the appreciation of and interest in religion at the State Teachers College. The Editorial in the March 31st Rotunda, "To Thine Own Self Be True", jolted me, made me wonder if my opinion was superficial, too hastily formed. I thought maybe religion at Farmville had disintegrated into Salvation by keeping the letter of the law; by strict church attendance; that morality had superceded Christianity at State Teachers College, (as it has done in most of the Protestant South.)

The editorial is too much concerned with the effect of the girl's and date's departure from church upon the good name of the school. Realizing it breaks one of your many rules I should say the sin, if any was committed, was indifference or disrespect to the worship of God. It was better that they should leave before the sermon began than in the middle of it!

Which would bring a question to my mind: "Is it sound modern Christian Education to insist that a girl drag her date to church on a Sunday evening?" Drag is a spontaneous appropriate colloquialism! People cast the church over in college and in later life because going to service was always a duty, always a chore, the thing to do in the eyes of our neighbors. People grow by doing, by participating. The church should offer such a program that would stimulate interest, so that one would wish to go, to participate in the thrilling experience of being a Christian.

I realize that there is not much entertainment in Farmville on a Sunday evening. Church is the best place to be, if you are there because of your own volition and not just "to obey the letter of the law". You students are in attendance at a great educational institution, and it's your job to put your theory into practice, to cooperate with your local religious education authorities and plan such an appealing program that no one will leave before the sermon is over.

St. Paul's great fight (Jesus' also) was with people trying to win salvation by keeping the letter of the law, by men trying to lift themselves up to heaven by their own bootstraps. "Justification is by faith and by faith in Christ evoked through the grace of our Lord Jesus Christ."

Please forgive my boldness. I think you are on the "right track but wrong tack."

Yours truly,
Murray Kenney
Virginia Theological Seminary
Alexandria, Virginia

We Abhor	We Adore
Janice Wells: Two-faced people	Just Farmville
Pat Gibson: Rats, and bath-tubs without stoppers.	Horseback riding
Janet Sollenberger: The Rec	Going to Charlottesville
Katherine Tindall: Meals in the dining hall	Going home week-ends
Bobby Buchannon: Snakes girl-snakes	Getting away from here
M. J. Leavitt: "I like you least	. . . and me best"!!
Catherine Lambert: Cabbage	Chicken dinners
Gwen Sleght: Girls hollering out in the halls; English themes	History
Margaret Goodwin: Flirtin' and sleeping on the floor	Goin' home!
Lillian Barnes: Sleeping on curlers	Mail in the box
Isabelle Ransone: Being on campus	Sleeping through the classes
Jane Bentley: Rec, classes, and the 10:30 bell	Week-ends
Jean MacChreits: First period classes and the infirmary	Free periods and the Tea Room
Ginny Radogna: Room inspection	Week-ends
Faith Weeks: Dating facilities	The sports up here
Nancy Wessels: The food and disappointing phone calls	Mrs. McCoy
Faye Johnson: House Council rules	Taking a bath . . . and J. R.
Virginia Treakle: Rules	Mail . . . males
Ruth Garrison: Catty girls and alarms going off.	Ice cream on Sundays, and letters from Bill
Betty Ellis: The inconsideration of dates; they're treated as convicts	Library Hall and stuffed animals
Dot Gelston: Saturday classes	Getting the whole hall up for breakfast and my allowance
Mary Allen Hoge: Distance between week-ends	Midnight snacks
Joan Carter: Getting up before 5 p. m.	Eatin' and sleepin'
Budgie Butzner: Silk stockings hanging on the line	Bull sessions

Campus Camera

Jones Clashes to Red and White Victory In Annual Ping Pong Contest; Pierce Runnerup

Red and White triumphed a first place victory in the annual ping-pong tournament between the colors when Lucille Jones, freshman from Staunton, Virginia clashed her way to a top place. The tournament, under the management of Dottie Sue Simmons, has been in program for many weeks and the deadline closed last Wednesday, April 14.

Contestants were arranged according to halls and three groups were scheduled to play in three areas; Cunninghan Hall, Library-Main, and Whitehouse, Student buildings. As the contest progressed, winner of Cunningham Hall was Shirley Pierce, from Whitehouse; Student, Lucile Jones placed first, and Catherine Lambert defeated all representing Library-Main. These three top players played matches; Jones defeating Lambert in the semifinals and Pierce in the finals 21-16, 16-21, 21-17.

This marks a change from previous years of color leads in ping-pong. Last season Bernice LaForce, freshman from Charlottesville claiming victory for green and white, held the ping pong title with Helen McIlwaine, a four-year winner.

Red and White will receive 10 points toward the color cup points for a top win in the event for this season. Two contests were not scheduled this year, a fall and a spring, but one large tournament awarding 10 points.

War Council

Continued from Page 1

Glen Anne Patterson, freshman from Winston-Salem, N. C. who was recently elected Campus League chairman, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Y president, and Myrtle Lee Holt, president of the class of '45, will also serve on the War Council.

The Ritual group will be led by Hannah Lee Crawford, junior from Farmville, succeeding Ella Marsh Pilkinton.

The War Finance committee chairman has not been appointed. This position was held by Helen Wiley Hardy this year.

The newly appointed members will not officially take over the War Council duties until next fall, but will serve on the council in the capacity of assistants for the remainder of the year.

Green-White Leads In Color Cup Roll 35 to Red's 30

The traditional color cup which now displays red and white ribbons will soon have another year added to its record at S. T. C. For many years the sports program at Farmville has been arranged so as to give competition between the classes according to their colors. Each year has brought a streamer of either Red and White ribbons or Green and White colors to represent the winners for the season.

This year of events has shown a year of action from all classes with many participants representing the many activities offered at Farmville. Despite the fact that Red and White now holds the colors on the cup, keen competition from the Green and White may break the past several years record and new colors may don the cup!

At present Green and White leads 35 to 30 in the color cup race! Three sports are left in the running and these will decide the fate of the shiny cup placed so carefully on the mantle in the Rotunda. They are archery, tennis, and softball. If your activity is in any of these particular sports, here's your chance to make a goal.

Points received so far are:

Red and White	Pts.
Hockey	5
Class Swimming	10
Varsity	5
Class Volleyball (tie)	5
Ping Pong	5
Total	30

Green and White	Pts.
Hockey	5
Honorary Varsity	5
Class Basketball	5
Varsity	10
Volleyball (tie)	5
Total	35

Thus, this 21st day of April, six weeks until the end of classes, the color cup stands awaiting its colors for the next season. Which will they be—Red and White—or Green and White?

Courts Open to All Who Wish to Enter Tennis Tourney

Ruth Dugger, manager of tennis, has not yet set the date for tennis tournament. There is a paper in the bulletin board for girls who are interested.

Some of the girls who have signed up are Anne Garnett (senior), Frances Quillen (senior), Frances Parham (senior), Anne Payne (soph), Helen Wilson (soph), Bobbie Scott (soph), and Cathy Lambert (freshman).

Most of the courts are being used for Physical Fitness classes until six o'clock. Therefore, they will not be able to be used until that time, unless there is a free court. One hour is the playing limit.

'Discover America'

Continued from Page 1

that the "ship of state still sails on—a fitting symbol of a great nation at war".

To know America, one must know the song of America, the head of the English department at Vanderbilt University stated. He regreted that the song selected as our national anthem is so difficult for most people to sing, and that neither the words nor the music can be classed as great. And were it not for its northern origin, making it unacceptable to so many southerners, Dr. Mims believes that Julia Ward Howe's "Battle Hymn of the Republic", would make a fitting composition for our national anthem. "It has," he stated, "the happiest combination of words and music of any of our patriotic songs."

"By studying American history," he continued, "we are able to discover America to even a greater extent." Through such a study we become familar with the forces that have assisted the growth of sectionalism and with those that have been helpful in maintaining a spirit of nationalism. He enumerated a list of the causes of sectionalism, ranging from the clashing religious beliefs of the settlers in various colonies in the 17th century to the infiltration of foreigners in the present day. In contrast he offered the aids to nationalism, including a common language from the first and a list of the great men who have been not Southerners or Northerners or Westerners but Americans.

Concluding with the field with which he in most familar, Dr. Mims told the audience how to discover the real America through her literature. Through literature, he stated, we become acquainted with all the aspects of a nation—her physical background, her songs, her history, her national ideals, her people. Three great nationalists were selected by the lecturer to represent the entire nation in their various works, James Russell Lowell, from the North, Sidney Lanier, the South, and Walt Whitman, the nation as a whole.

Dr. Mims ended his talk with a spirit of hopefulness for the future of this country, quoting an obscure poet in saying that regardless of what Fate has in store for America, it will be great, because she has built herself on a strong foundation.

Dr. Mims continued his talks to the student body today in chapel and in the afternoon. He is sponsored on this campus by Boerc Eh Thorn, Alpha Phi Sigma, Kappa Delta Pi, and the Y. W. C. A.

Juniors, Sophs Meet In Hockey Clash; Each Scores Once

Tie Points 5 For Both Colors

Concluding the final game of the hockey clash between the classes, the Red and White juniors met the Green and White sophomores last Thursday afternoon for the final game. Both teams, ready for action, traveled down the field all eager to have their team score and secure a goal. The junior reds plunged into the green backfield and scored a first goal against their opponents.

Ready for a return blow, the greens went fast into action and turned attention on the opposite goal and within a few minutes had a goal which evened the score.

Beginning of the half new effort was forced by both groups but the ball remained from the goal box which was closely guarded by the full backs and goal keeper. The game ended with no further score by either team.

Although the hockey season officially ends with the close of the Fall quarter, the top-rate hockey team among the classes could not be decided at that time due to inclement weather and a slushy athletic field. When the freshmen bowed to the sophomores on Thanksgiving and the seniors lost to the junior team the following week, a final match was on the books for the juniors and sophomores.

A final winner is not the junior class or the sophomore class, but with the final game last week the score tied 1-1. Red and white thus score 5 points for the color cup and Green and White 5 points.

Students Owe Library

Continued from Page 1

course of events as they return overdue books, and the Library Staff has no quarrel with this substantial majority of the student body. But a number of students have been returning overdue books with apparently no intention of paying the fine they have incurred. It should be noted that the library fine is not so much a penalty for keeping the book longer than the two week period allowed, as it as administrative device for getting the books back on the shelves where other students may use them. Books can always be renewed for another two weeks for an indefinite number of times if there is no other demand for the book.

Drastic steps such as these have never before been resorted to but the failure of so many students to pay the fines they have incurred makes it necessary to publish personal names to be held up before all the school as those who have deprived their fellow students of their fair and rightful chance to use library books and materials.

Snoop, Snoop

Continued from Page 2

in his blues . . . When Johnny Comes Marching Home Libby J. will be one happy gal . . . What's New—Joscelyn and the pretty Bob—a new twosome this week-end . . . Nancye Belle is gonna have the "Mad About Him, Sad Without Him, Blues" while hubby Winston is away . . . Let's Get Lost—in New York, on a fine night, with a Duke man—O. K. Hutter? . . . Who Do You Think You Are?, you H-SC wolves who delight in disturbing the hard-won peace of the Rec by so-called renditions on the piano. Please Be Kind and go 'way if you aren't cute enough to get a date.

Sportspourri

By MARGARET ORANGE And M. J. LEAVITT

May Day—

Congratulations to the student body for attending May Day practices so regularly. Miss Kauzlarich and the May Day committee are working hard to make it a success. Keep it up, girls, and you will come out on top.

Physical Fitness—

During rainy days the girls taking physical fitness out of doors may make up by swimming. There will be slips to sign at the pool. These are to be given to Miss Iler, who will put them on a chart so there will be no confusion at the end of the year.

Life Saving—

A course of Senior Life-Saving is now given to those girls who are advanced swimmers. Classes are held every Monday, Wednesday, and Thursday night. Everyone is working earnestly and hard to complete it before exams.

Softball—

Every night after supper softball is offered as a part of the physical fitness program. You may take this to make up for some other class you have missed. If you don't want to take it for physical fitness come on out and join the fun.

Ping Pong—

The final games were played off last Thursday night. Lucille Jones, red and white, captured first place, giving five points to the color cup for her colors. Shirley Pierce was runner up. This is the first time in several years that red and white has won a ping pong tournament.

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS ABOUT THE WAVES AND SPARS

Q. How long will my training period be?
A. The training period will average about four months.

Q. Can an enlisted woman request training in a particular field—for instance, radio—even if she has had no previous training in that field?
A. Yes. But it cannot be guaranteed that the request will be granted.

Q. When do I get my uniform?
A. After you arrive at training school. However, you should bring enough civilian clothing for a week or two.

Q. What will my hours be at training school?
A. The hours will depend on the school you attend. However, they will be on a military basis. Reveille, taps, etc.

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
Choice of Many
Students in S. T. C.

Brooklawn Stationery
10c package
Write home often
or to friends in the service

PATRONIZE
PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Buy Costume Jewelery
To Match the New Spring Colors
at
Martin the Jeweler

MAY DAY PRACTICE SCHEDULE

April 26—May 1

Monday, April 26	Time	Place
Mass Rehearsal	4-6	In front of library
Tuesday, April 27
Mass Rehearsal	4-6	In front of library
Wednesday, April 28
Mass Rehearsal with orchestra and chorus	3:30-6	In front of library
Thursday, April 29
Mass Dress Rehearsal with orchestra and chorus	2:50-6	In front of library
Friday, April 30
Mass Dress Rehearsal	2:50-6	In front of library
Saturday, May 1—	MAY DAY

(Everyone must be dressed by 4)

(Note—In case of rain, practices will be held in the gym. All classes will be excused on Thursday and Friday afternoons.)

EASTER STYLES

VISIT OUR STORE NOW — — —
See the new things that have the look you like:

HATS, SHOES, DRESSES
COAT, And SUITS

And the CORRECT Accessories

BALDWIN'S

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

Here's what you've always wanted. Guide books to the lives and Recorded Music of Great Composers—
TCHAIKOWSKY
WAGNER
MOZART
BEETHOVEN
BACH
BRAHMS
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

Easter Bonnets Don Ruffles For War-time Fashion Parade

They May Be Old . . . But There Is No Style Sacrificed

For the first time most of us will be spending Easter at school, to attend church in our spring finery here rather than at home. That won't we hope, dim the Easter parade for us. But the purpose of this is to suggest some new ideas for Easter bonneteers who have not yet secured that alluring and essential part of a woman's costume.

The prime essential of an Easter bonnet seems to be that it is new. This year we are learning that things don't have to be new to be good, and goodlooking. There are such things as old finery that still looks like a million. And that's what we are trying to put across—how to make that old finery into something that puts spring in your step and the smile on your face that should accompany the wearing of new clothes.

First of all, climb up on a chair and pull down from your closet sheif all the hats that you possess regardless of color or variety. Pick the color that goes with your Easter ensemble and remove all the feathers and fuss. And here's where you become creative. Remember, all Lilly Dache has is a couple of year's more experience!

Shape is one important thing about hats that varies little with seasons so you can easily use the original shape. If, however, you are the adventureous type, take a pair of scissors and snip and felts hats can always be reshaped with a little water and a warm iron. Try making a small pillbox from the crown of an old hat. After you have cut the brim off, bind the edges with a gay ribbon. There are, you know, a dozen ways to decorate a pillbox—with flowers ov.er your ears in the oriential fashion, with a wispy veil, with jeweled clips, and so on far into the night.

Or if you possess a sailor, try putting a piece of pleated ruffling around the brim. Lt freshens up that drabness and make it springtimey enough for any occasion. Or you might try binding the brim with a bright ribbon of material to match your Easter frock. You have even seen hats with buttons sewed around the brim.

Vogue featured for this spring cotton hats, small, simple, and easy to make. If time allows and you have nimble fingers, why not try one of these? You can buy a pattern, use your originality, and presto, a new Easter bonnet. If you are still ambitious you might whip up a bag or gloves to match.

And it all goes to show that because you were patriotic in buying war stamps and had no "filthy lucre" left for a new hat, there is still no excuse for your not joining the S. T. C. Easter parade.

U. S Treasury Asks Women's Colleges To Promote Drive

Washington, D. C.—The United States Treasury through the Women's Section of the War Savings Staff is calling on the combined efforts of the students in women's colleges to promote extra bond and stamp buying during the Second War Loan drive, which opens April 12.

Every War Stamp and Bond bought or sold by college students will help "Outfit the Outfit" which is the program for women in this drive.

"College women today, continuing their education in a world at war, have a great responsibility toward the men forced to leave the campus for the battlefield," Miss Harriet Elliott, associate field director of the Women's Section, War Savings Staff, points out. "It doesn't matter how little you can do, do the most you can. And when the men you have helped to equip have won the peace, you in turn will have personal peace because you have sacrificed and contributed. Join this battle of dollars; help make the Second War Loan drive a financial victory."

Students are joining with other women in their "Outfit the Outfit" program in meeting the 300 million dollar goal—their quota in the drive—to oufit 2 million fighting men. Outfitting one soldier costs $154.95, a sailor $96.40, and a marine $155.94. For every dollar invested in War Bonds a steel helmet can be bought for a soldier. For quarters converted into War Stamps, fighting men can be supplied with first-aid kits which may well save a life.

Like the cast-off nylon stockings that come down in the sky as parachutes, spring sweater-and-skirt money will turn up on the fighting fronts as field jackets, mess kits and Marine haversacks. "Our American girls are not bystanders in this war," says Miss Elliott. "During this drive their brothers and their friends in the armed forces will know that they are doing their share."

May Day Practices

Continued from Page 1

The last practices will be held on Thursday and Friday afternoons from 2:50 to 6 p. m. This will be rehearsal and all costumes must be ready by Thursday. Dr. Jarman has announced that all classes after 2:50 p. m. will be excused on Thursday and Friday. All those participating in May Day are asked to report at 4 p. m. on Saturday. The Plantation group Swanee Tap, Pickaninny Tap, and B, C, and D, Square Dance Groups will dress in the Browsing Room. The May Court, A Group, Club, and Fundamentals will dress in the Audio-Visual Room. In case of rain, the above practices will be held in the gym instead of out of doors.

The streets will be roped off in front of the library for spectators, and two hundred fifty seats have been reserved for parents and faculty members.

Girls are asked to please be on time for all practices. There will be one person to check girls present at each dance. If it is absolutely necessary for anyone to be absent, see Winifred Wright or Patsy Connelley, who will be there to check rolls. If it is necessary for a girl to drop out at this late date, she must be responsible for seeing that someone will take her place. This is her responsibility, and not that of the chairman.

Those assisting Anne Ellett on the May Day committee are Rosalie Rogers, business manager; Winifred Wright, transportation; Charlotte Greeley, costumes; Susie Moore, staging and properties; and Betty Sexton, chairman of the dance committee. Miss Emily Kauzlarich of the Physical Education Department is the faculty adviser for May Day.

USO Activities

Continued from Page 1

no dance for them in Farmville. Various organizations have sent girls and refreshments on these occasions.

No girl is allowed to participate in U. S. O. activities unless she has on file a complete and written permission from her parents or guardian.

Many organizations on the campus have contributed to the general fund of the college U. S. O. committee. Among them are the Athletic Association, $10; Dramatic Club, $10; Junior Class, $50; H20 Club, $10; Cotillion Club, $15; Pan-hellenic Council $15; Alpha Sigma Tau, $5; Phi Zeta Sigma, $5; Theta Sigma Upsilon, $5; Mu Omega, $10; Pi Kappa Sigma, $5; Alpha Sigha Alpha, $10; and Sigma Sigma Sigma, $15.

Since there is no fund to provide them, the College Recreation Committee supplies sugar, cream, coffee, ping-pong balls, cards, victrola records, soap, and necessities for the center.

Other contributions inciude a card table from the Cotillion Club, a radio from Alpha Kappa Gamma, sofa and chair from Dramatic Club, posters, maps, and a shuffleboard court from Gamma Psi, and cards, kitchen utensils, and miscellaneous items from other organizations.

On the committee are Margaret Kitchen, Margaret Bowling, Elsie Stossell, Ada Clair Snyder, Lily Bee Gray, Patsy Connelly, eBtty Sexton, Jane Waring Ruffin, Sara Jeffreys, Lucy Manson, Mildred Droste, Jac Parden, Emily Carper, Martha Higgins, Pat Garth, Marilyn Bell, Ophelia Whittle, and Lucy Harvie. Miss Leola Wheeler serves as advisor for the group.

★ SENIOR ★ PERSONALITY ★

MARGARET MISH
Past President of the House Council

A minute form hustles down the darkened hall and all is well . . . "Miggie" is abroad and it is "Lights Out" time. Her footsteps do not bring fear, however, but a welcome visitor with a characteristic charm and friendliness.

Miggie has shown her ability in all the tasks she has undertaken since her Freshman year when she found expression for her musical interest in Choral Club and A'Capella Choir. She was Hall President and treasurer of the House Council her Sophomore year and secretary her Junior year. She has been active on the Rotunda staff and is a member of the Cotillion Club and Gamma Theta Sorority. In her Junior year she was recognized by Alpha Kappa Gamma for qualities of leadership and service which she typifies. She was cited in "Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges" this year.

We remember Miggie valiently trying to keep peace and quiet on "Ritzy Row" . . . selling candy and nabs . . . peddling doughnuts . . . washing sweaters . . . setting hair . . . loving to eat and cook food . . . covering her feelings with friendly sarcasm . . . covering her pessimism by laughs, looking so well-groomed . . . helping the sick and wounded . . . getting ready to study . . . leaving a place as Farmville and in our hearts that will be hard to fill.

She will be found next year . . . Teaching in Rockbridge county? . . . Working in V. M. I. library? . . . Defending our country in the Waves? . . . House-mothering a W. & L. Fraternity ? ? ?

McCorkle, Jones Lead Sigma Sorority

Louise McCorkle, of Farmville, was selected to head the local chapter of Sigma Sigma Sigma at a recent meeting to replace Jac Hardy. Dora Jones will serve as vice-president, replacing Shirley Turner. Betty Bridgeforth was selected corresponding secretary, and Louise Bell will assume the duties of recording secretary. Lucy Manson was elected treasurer, and Frances Craddock, Panhellenic representative.

Virginian

Continued from Page 1

the proof came. Then more headaches. But now—at long last—rest, peace for the staff and when the finished product returns even the lowliest member of the staff will swell with pride—"I wrote that caption"—"That's my work"

SHANNON'S
Happy Easter Greetings

Rose's For Easter
AND NOVELTIES—SEE GIFT, TOYS, CARDS
Rose's 5-10-25c Store

Sara Hardy, Ensign Married at Longwood Tuesday Night

The marriage of Sara Matthews Hardy, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. T. G. Hardy, of Farmville, and granddaughter of Dr. J.L. Jarman, president of the college, and Ensign Charles Armistead Blanton, son of Dr. and Mrs. Wyndham Blanton, of Richmond, took place last night at 7:30 o'clock at Longwood. The Rev. H. Conrad Blackwell performed the ceremony.

Miss Hardy, who is a member of the junior class at the college, was given in marriage by her father. She wore an ivory satin gown with fitted bodice and full skirt with tiers of satin embroidered ruffles. Her veil fell from a satin tiara and she carried a bouquet of gardenias. and swansonia.

Helen Wiley Hardy was her sister's maid of honor. Mary Blanton, the groom's sister, was the only other attendant. They wore blue taffeta gowns with fitted bodices and bouffant skirts and carried arm bouquets of red tulips and roses.

Fran McFaden Blanton, of the University of Virginia, and brother of the groom, was best man.

Following the ceremony a reception was held for the guests after which Ensign and Mrs. Blanton left for a short wedding trip. After April 25 they will make their home at Fort Lauderdale, near Miami, Fla., where Ensign Blanton will be stationed with the Naval Air Corps.

James Polls First As Orchestra Leader

In a recent popularity poll conducted among the student body by the Rotunda, it was found that Harry James is the most popular orchestra leader on campus. Running a close second was Glenn Miller with Tommy Dorsey coming into third place. Most students claimed that Harry James had the best-round style, thus giving him the honored first place.

The student body preferred Frank Sinatra to all other male vocalists while Helen O'Conner was the favorite girl singer. Second and third places respectively went to Bob and Ray Eberly and to Dinah Shore and Ginny Simms.

Current campus taste preferred sweet music, then jitterbug and lastly Latin-American. Their favorite "sweet" orchestra batonwaver is Harry James and Glenn Miller. T. Dorsey and Gene Krupa are the favorites of the jitterbuggers. No one had any preference as to a Latin-American orchestra.

It was found that Freddie Lee has proved the most popular band leader who has appeared here at the college for a dance. Freddie Lee has appeared at more of the college dances than any other local orchestra.

In answer to a few general questions it was found that various college organizations spend approximately $100 per band. Little noticeable difference has been shown in the character of the dances here since the advent of the war. However, the patriotic songs are more frequently played.

DeLuxe Cleaners
Do you need some clothes Freshened for Spring? Bring them to us!

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

Just Looking, Thanks

The Tri Sigs, the Pi Kaps, the Gamma Thetas, the ASA's, the AST's, the Mu's, the Phi Zet's, and the Theta Sigs and guests had their annual formal Saturday night with music by Freddie Lee and decorations by the pledges. Intermission featured parties in all the chapter rooms.

Dates came from far and wide. Some of them were Joscelyn Gillum, Bob Irby; Charlotte Phillips, Wright Gouldin; Ruth Garrison, Billy Lambert; Inez Jones, Lt. M. W. E. Vento; Brookie Benton, Brian Bowen; Mary Sue Palmer, Douglas Bunn; Olive Bradshaw, Steve Martin; Virginia Ellett, Bob Wilson; Marilyn Johnson, Charles Crewes; Anne Pettis, Lynwood Vaughn; and Betty Blackwell, Capt. Edward Gramer.

Also Nancy Watts, Bill Hanbury; Evelyn Grizzard, C. E. Taylor; Amy Read, Bill Garrett; Caroline Burwell, Lonnie Dickens; Mary E. Grizzard, M. D. Grizzard, Jr.; Lucille Lewis, Tom Armstrong; Virginia Terrell, Howard Moore; Susan Durrett, Elmer Schwalb; Nancy Langhorne, Lt. Tom Langhorne; Catherine May, Jack Mathers; Lucille Cheatam, Ed Mosely; and Jane Ford, Harold Johnson.

Also Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Jimmy Dischinger; Kendall Nothingham, Wayne Mears; Dot Childress, Jimmy Topley; Shirley Turner, John VanLandingham; Elaine Bray, A. B. Vaughn, Jr.; Rosemary Elam, Carlton Wright; Pagie Francis, Lt. Burke; Leona Moomaw, Walter Buchanan; Frances Shackleford, Eddy Nielsen; Mildred Corvin, "Les" Andrews; Ann Jones, Bill McClur; Billy Wald, "Ike" Proffitt, and Sue Harper, Charles Harper.

In spite of all the gay times to be had here some of the girls left to take in the sites, etc., elsewhere. Betty Pat Lewis to the dances at Randolph Macon . . . Gertrude Wright, Louise Bell, Ann Darnell, Ann Geison, W. and L. prom trotting . . . Nancy Myers and Emily Carper, globe trotting to Charleston to the Citadel . . . and not to forget dear ole U. Va. which claimed Betty Ellis and Jane Williamson.

The marriage of Sara Cline to Bob Dabney took place in Roanoke on Saturday night. Sadie was editor of the Rotunda her senior year here and Bob attended Hampden - Sydney. Those S.T.C.'ers who attended the wedding were Eleanor Wade, Lily Bec Gray, Betty Reid, Sara Escham and Mary Evelyn Pearsall.

And for a pre-Easter vacation at home went Martha Higgins, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Betty Jones, Marjorie Vaughn, Sarah Massie Goode, Elise Hume, Nancy Wilkinson, Isobel Wilson, Lucille Winston, Sara Trigg, Gwen Thompson, Jo Shaffner, Betty Adams, Louise Blane, Libby Bernard, Lucy Manson, Margaret Kitchen, Ellen Ebel and Anne Ellett.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

C. E. Chappell Co.
Fountain Service
Visit us for the BEST
PHONE 63

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Library

CONGRATULATIONS
NEW AKG MEMBERS

The Rotunda

ATTEND
MAY DAY EXERCISES

VOL. XXII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28, 1943 | No. 25

May Day Will Be Celebrated on Campus Saturday

. . . . . .

AKG Taps Hardy, Bugg, France, Pearsall

Society Recognizes Leadership Ability Each Quarter

Helen Wiley Hardy, senior from Farmville; Mary St. Clair Bugg, Farmville junior; Sara Wayne France, Charlottesville, junior; and Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Roanoke, junior, were tapped by Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary leadership fraternity, last Thursday morning, April 22, in chapel.

Helen Wiley was president of Pi Gamma Mu, leader of Cotillion Club, and chairman of the Finance Committee of the War Council this year. As first honor graduate of her class, she will deliver the valedictory address at the graduation exercises this year. She is a member of Kappa Delta Pi and Sigma Sigma Sigma which she represented on the Panhellenic Council.

Mary St. Clair is the business manager of the Rotunda for the coming year. Her ability this year was shown through her work as president of the Town Girls' Club and as chairman of the lighting department of the Dramatic Club.

Sara Wayne is the editor-in-chief of the 1944 "Virginian" and managing editor of this year's annual. She is a member of Pi Gamma Mu and Kappa Delta Pi and was vice-president of the Mu Omega sorority this year.

Mary Evelyn is president of the student government association for the coming year, and was secretary this year. Her freshman year she represented her class on government, and her sophomore year she served as chairman of the Campus League. She is also a member of Mu Omega and served as treasurer of that sorority this year.

Mrs. S. Gardner Waller

Alumnae Board Meets At Longwood May 1

On Saturday, May 1, the Board of Directors of the Farmville Alumnae Association will hold a luncheon meeting at Longwood. Presiding will be Mrs. S. Gardner Waller, of Richmond, who was elected president of the Association on Founder's Day. A graduate of the class of 1911, Mrs. Waller is the former Louise Ford, and while in college she served as president of student government and as president of her senior class.

Others on the Board include Mrs. Jane Royall Phlegar, of Norfolk, first vice-president; Miss Caralle Nelson, Virginia Intermont College, second vice-president; Mrs. Carrie Sutherlin, Chevy Chase, and Mrs. Carrie Rennie Eason, Richmond, directors, and Mrs. M. B. Coyner, Farmville, Executive secretary.

Manson Selected To Lead Thespians

Garth, Arington, Johnson Chosen

Lucy Manson, junior from Virginia Beach, was elected president of the Dramatic Club for the coming year on Wednesday night, April 21. She will succeed Elsie Stossel in this position.

Pat Garth, Farmville, was elected vice-president to succeed Hannah Lee Crawford. Jean Arington was re-elected secretary and Fay Johnson, Vinton, was elected treasurer to suceed Helen Delong.

Lula Moss was chosen head of the acting group; Mary St. Clair Bugg was made head of the lighting committee; Carol Diggs was named chairman of the staging group. Sally Robertson and Lucile Lewis were named to retain the chairmanships of the properties and make-up groups, respectively.

Frances Shakleford was made chairman of the costume group while Anne Blair will head the music committee. The scrap book group will be led by Olive Bradshaw. Marion Orange was parliamentarian, and Ruth Brooks will head the town girls group. Catherine Lynch will head the social committee.

Miss Leola Wheeler is faculty adviser of the Dramatic Club.

Grizzard Will Lead Granddaughters Club

At the regular monthly meeting of the Granddaughters Club which was held on April 21, the officers for the coming year were elected.

Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, junior from Drewyville, will succeed Lucy Davis as president; Mary Anne Jarrett, sophomore from Jarrett replaces Sara Jeffreys as vice-president; Lucie McKenry, freshman from Marion succeeds Mary Ann Jarrett as secretary; and Nannie Webb, sophomore from Gloucester takes over the duties of treasurer. Mary Franklin Woodward was elected reporter for the club, and Miss Rachel Royall was unanimously elected to remain adviser.

To be eligible for membership in the Granddaughters Club, a student's mother or grandmother must have attended Farmville.

Dorothy Childress, Queen, and Helen Wiley Hardy, Maid of Honor at May Day celebration.

Senior Chapel Set For Friday, May 14 In Auditorium

At a recent meeting of the Senior class it was decided to have Senior chapel on Friday morning, May 14.

Charlotte Greeley was elected chairman of the Senior banquet which will be given at Longwood on Friday, May 28. At this time each member of the class will be presented with a small gift.

The class voted to hold class day exercises in Joan Court, weather permitting. Class day exercises will be held on Monday, May 31.

NOTICE

The Student Standards committee wishes to remind all organizations that May 15 is the deadline for any picnics. After that date, no organization may go on any jaunts of any kind.

War Finance Leaders Attend Conference In Charlottesville

Helen Wiley Hardy, retiring chairman of the Finance Committee of the College War Council, Frances Craddock, chairman-elect of the committee, and Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, adviser for the Council will journey to Charlottesville on Friday, April 30, as representatives of the college at a one-day conference on the War Savings program in institutions of higher learning in Virginia.

The morning session of the conference will be devoted to a discussion of the part that colleges can play in developing understanding of problems of financing the war. The afternoon session will be made up of round-table discussions.

Mr. Charles K. Morse, College and University Consultant of the Treasury Department, will be present at the meeting to serve as moderator.

Era of a Dreamer . . .

By WINIFRED WRIGHT

The music of Stephen Collins Foster is probably most loved by Southerners, as he was able to capture the moving, graceful, lyric qualities which were the heartbeats of the sentimental South of the 1850's. Although he was a native of Pittsburgh and spent a good deal of his rather depressing life above the Mason-Dixon Line, he had a deep, abiding affection for the Old South. His idealized fascination for the Southern plantation and his enchantment for the spontaneity and the rolling, restless rhythms of the negro folk songs were the source of his musical genius.

During Foster's life he received little or no recognition for his music, even though his songs were played and sung by thousands. People spoke of him as a dreamer which he truly was. He would spend hours happily relaxed in his dreams. Thus this dreamer represents an era in Southern history as it was during his life-time, that of the carefree, easy-going South as we like to think of it—its people, lovable, sentimental, content in their dreams.

His music was his life. He needed little encouragement and got none, to set his melodies down on paper. His music is simple, void of the intricacies of a musically well-trained composer, and yet he was unusually exacting and precise. Foster is the author of the true American folk song. He alone was able to capture the real folk spirit which we value so highly.

Today three groups of Foster's music are presented. Each group or type is vital in obtaining a complete perspective of the music of this great artist. As we hear the lilting melodies offered in their familiar, natural setting, we experience a certain nostalgia and drift back in heart and mind to the days when dreamers reigned supreme—the era of a dreamer.

In the first scene, we have the Folks at Home. Foster's plantation music is unique in that it embodies the intrinsic under rhythms and moods of the negro. In it we find the whole soul of the negro choruses and songs. He was so accustomed to seeing the lazy, swaying movements of the field workers and plantation slaves, hearing the spontaneous songs and feeling their complete happiness that his music actually reflects the pattern of their lives—their work, their worship, their brotherliness.

Second is the Music of the Heels. We cannot remember Foster without remembering his minstrel music. It was produced for the accompaniment of the old "Walk Arounds" and shuffles

Continued on Page 3

Childress Will Reign Over Southern Ball

Festival Based on Music of Foster; Library Lawn Furnishes Background

Dorothy Childress will reign as queen of the southern ball, the climax of the May Day festival which will be held on the lawn of the college library on Saturday, May 1, at 5 o'clock P. M.

Divided Into Three Parts

The festivities will be centered around the music and times of Stephen Collins Foster and will be divided into three parts based on his types of music. The first part will picture the Negro in his various phases of endeavor and will be introduced by an orchestial prelude of the songs of the south, arranged by Miss Lisabeth Purdom. The dancers will picture folks on a plantation and a revival meeting. The plantation group will depict cotton pickers, levee workers, mammies and children. Included in the revival meeting will be mourners, congregation, and a preacher portrayed by Gloria Pollard. Also in the first group will be a rendition of My Old Kentucky Home by a chorus.

"Music of the Heels"

The second part of the festival is based on Foster's "Music of the Heels". Dancers include "Walk Around", to "Dixie", a soft shoe tap to 'Swannee River", a Pickaninny tap, "O, Suzannah", and "Juba". The chorus will offer "Ring de Banjo", "O, Suzannah", and 'Swanee River" in the second part.

Foster's "music of the heart" will form the background for the third part, a southern ball. On the steps of the mansion on the plantation, will reign the hostess—Queen Dorothy Childress. She will enter the dias formed by steps through the library door.

Members of the court, Helen Wiley Hardy, maid-of-honor, and Agnes Patterson, Winifred Wright, Frances Parham, Ann Eliett, Shirley Turner, Mary Virginia Evans, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Jean Arrington, Betsy Caldwell, Virginia Mae Eliett, Jac Hardy, Marie Hedgecock, Frances Lee, Jane Bentley, Betty Boutchard, Sarah Massie Goode, Betty Burns, Amy Read, Martha Higgins, Frances

Continued on Page 4

Sophomores Secure V.M.I. Commanders For May Day Dance

Concluding the annual May Day celebration here Saturday, May 1, the V.M.I. Commanders from Lexington will furnish the music for the May Day dance to be held in the S. T. C. gymnasium beginning at 8:30 o'clock. This orchestra was here last year to play for a dance and proved very popular amcng the students.

Marie Hedgecock is general chairman of the dance committee. Other committee heads are Publicity, Marilyn Bell; tickets, Faye Byrd Johnson; decorations, Virginia Terrell, floor committee, Lois Baughan. The theme of the decorations will be patriotic with silhouettes of soldiers, sailors, air cadets, and marines around the bandstand.

In the receiving line will be Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college; Mr. Raymond French, sophomore classman; Miss Olive Ilier, senior classman; Myrtle Lee Holt, president of the class of '45; Eleanor Wade, vice-president; Mary Walker Watts, secretary; and Helen Wilson, treasurer.

Town Girls Prompt Buying of Stamps

A total of $225 in War Saving Stamps and Bonds was the result of a program sponsored by the Town Girls Club in chapel last Friday.

The program centered around the part that the town girls are doing in the war effort. Rosemary Elam, acting as master of ceremonies, introduced girls who were knitting, rolling bandages, and farming in the all-out war effort. Other projects portrayed were the nurses' aides, the physical fitness program, and morale building group, the choir.

The entire program was filled with music of the various armed forces by the audience. In conclusion, Rosemary started the rousing "Any Bonds Today?" to start the selling of the stamps and bonds. The town girls, who are buying War Savings Stamps in lieu of dues, made the first purchases, followed by many of the audience.

Funeral Services Held Today For Mrs. S. M. Holton

Funeral services were held this afternoon at 4 o'clock at the Farmville Methodist Church for Mrs. S. M. Holton, Jr., wife of S. M. Holton, Jr., member of the college faculty and director of college publicity, who died Monday at Duke University Hospital after an illness of several months.

Mrs. Holton was the daughter of Mr. Joseph W. Littie, of Farmville and Simpsonville, S. C., and the late Janie Goldsmith Littie. Besides her husband and father, she is survived by two daughters, Mary Marie and Quenton Holton, and a sister, Mrs. J. C. Boykin, of Bluefield, W. Va.

Northern Neck Club Choses Hutt Prexy

At the regular meeting of the Northern Neck Club last Monday night Hersey Hutt, sophomore from Neenah, was re-elected president for the coming year. Other officers elected were Emma Swann, freshman from Heathsville, vice-president, succeeding Ruth Ellen Harvey; Theresa Hutt, sophomore from Neenah, secretary, and Eleanor Hall, sophomore from Nomini Grove, treasurer. Theresa and Eleanor served as secretary and treasurer, respectively, this year.

Mrs. Pearl Turnbull was unanimously re-elected sponsor, and Mr. Raymond French will serve as adviser again next year.

June Click Features Farmville Herald

The June issue of CLICK carries a feature on the Farmville Herald and its editor, Mr. Barrye Wall, describing the paper as one of the best weeklies in the state and the editor as "a good reporter, a businessman, a successful country editor".

Among the pictures used in the article is one showing the Rotunda as its goes to press with former editor and business manager Jane Cabell Sanford and Elva Andrews doing the last minute proofing.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, APRIL 28, 1943

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
ALICE WOODING ..... Proof Editor

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Lillian Elliot, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Margie Pierce.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Martha Patterson, Clara Moses, Margaret Orange, M. J. Leavitt, Pat Maddox, Margaret Mish, Gladys Wilson, Betty Cock, Kathryn Hutchinson, Louise Bell, Virginia Sedgley, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Loline Warner, Bobbie Scott

Tribute to Loyalty

With the advent of May 1 our annual May Day celebration will take place once again. The hours of planning, the weeks of practice and hard work will be over. The show will go on.

There have been many difficulties to overcome this year. To begin with, Miss Kauzlarich, Ann Ellett, chairman, and the committee had to make a complete about face. With the changing of plans concerning the place where the celebration would take place, necessarily came a radical change in program plans. The Longwood arena for which they had been planning their program lent itself to an entirely different type program than that which the library setting, which was now to be used, would demand. So the old plans were abandoned, and new ideas came forth to develop into the plans which are now about to culminate into our 1943 May Day celebration.

Then there was the question of interest. Now that there were no trips to Longwood; now that the common library that the girls see every day was to be used, would the interest hold? Would they show the same enthusiasm, or would that, too, be cut with the program? The committee feared indifference. But once again the S. T. C. girls rallied, and with loyalty and cooperation they gave of their time and effort to show everyone that a changed program need not be a less attractive one.

So they came to practice; they made costumes, when those in charge were wondering how the costume problem was to be solved; they typed schedules; they played the piano for dances; they arranged for all the minor details; and when their department was in order, they offered to help with other features that might add to the improvement of the celebration.

There is a war going on. There are adjustments to be made. All those connected with May Day accepted these facts and made the best of their opportunities. What the result of their work will be, only Saturday's celebration wil reveal. Yet whatever happens then, the girls proved their ability to meet whatever comes, and to "stick it out". And they have developed qualities that will go far toward helping their country realize its aim. Sincere appreciation is due the committee in charge and to the girls who stuck by them.

We're Back Again

We don't like to seem to harp on any one subject, but at this time of the year, especially, we like to look at a pretty campus. And don't make any mistake: it could be pretty, if we would all observe a few self-imposed rules.

Of course, you've heard this one before; but listen just this once. Grass is green, and beautiful. Bare beaten soil is brown, and not especially pleasing to the eye. There are cement walks placed on the campus for the express purpose of walking on them. Now, if all the girls could walk on these cement walks, and leave that poor beaten lawn for a while, (O. K.! O. K.!) it is possible that within a given period of time our campus lawn would be green and once again beautiful.

And yet another mar to the beauty; bits of paper thrown hither and yon. We admit there's a certain attraction in that careless, lived-in look, but the campus isn't the place for trash. (Don't get us wrong—we're not asking you to say away). If we could all save our bits of paper for the trash cans, our campus will smile its approval and everyone will be happy. —The Editors

The staff of the Rotunda joins the members of the student body in expressing sincere sympathy to their friend and adviser, Mr. S. M. Holton, Jr.

What $18.75 Will Buy

What will $18.75 buy?

A week-end at home for the college student? A smart Easter hat for the co-ed?

In peace-time a hard-saved $18.75 might have gone for just such luxuries. In war-time, $18.75 buys a complete summer outfit for one of our fighting men.

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

Rommel, Rommel, where is Rommel? Berlin says in Africa. The Allies claim that he has left for Europe. We are inclined to believe the Allies. Berlin is too smart to leave their best general where he might get caught. The battle is the bloodiest that the American's have engaged in so far. Casualties will be great, we know.

The Russians have stopped the German drive again. Now that the German weather or summer has set in, we can expect the Germans to do much better in the Russian theatre. However, the Russians claim that they are holding their own.

The Finnish-United States relations are extremely grave. Never have they been too strong since Russia entered the war on the side of the Allies. Finland has been playing both sides of this war game, not as much through choice as through circumstances. Russia has been very positive in saying that she expects to keep a goodly slice of Finland after the war. In the eyes of Finland which ever way she goes she is bound to lose. It is the lesser of two evils. It is, indeed, a pity that the only nation that has paid its debts to the United States should now have to be in such an embarrassing plight.

The fact that the American flyers who were in the Tokyo raid have been killed shouldn't be such a surprise to the American people. Pearl Harbor was supposed to be an example of the Japanese underhand method of fighting. It certainly takes a lot to wake us up.

Easter reminded us that Christ died so that we might live. Our men in the armed forces are dying so that we might live in freedom. What have you done for God, and for your country?

The Kid in Upper 4

It is 3:42 A. M. on a troop train.

Men wrapped in blankets are breathing heavily.
Two in every lower berth. One in every upper.
This is no ordinary trip. It may be the last in the United States of America
Until the end of the war.
Tomorrow they will be on the high seas.

One is wide awake listening, staring into the blackness.
It is the kid in upper 4.

Tonight he knows he is leaving behind a lot of little things—and big ones.
The taste of hamburgers and pop . . . The feel of driving a roadster
Over a 6 lane highway . . . A dog named Shucks or Spot or Barnacle Bill.
The pretty girl who writes so often . . . That gray haired man so proud
And awkward at the station . . .
The mother who knit the socks he will wear soon.
Tonight he is thinking them over.

There is a lump in his throat.
Maybe then a tear fills his eye.
It doesn't Matter, nobody will see. It is too dark.

A couple of thousand miles away where he is going they do not know him very well.
But people all over the world are waiting, praying for him to come.
And he will come, This kid in upper 4.

With new hope, peace and freedom for a tired, bleeding world.

Next time you are on the train, remember the kid in upper 4.
If you have to stand enroute - - it is so he may have a seat.
If there is no berth for you - - it is so that he may sleep.
If you have to wait for a seat in the diner - - it is so he - - and thousands
Like him - - may have a meal they won't forget in the days to come.

For to treat him as our most honored guest is the least we can do to pay a mighty debt of gratitude.

the "Y"

By Ann Snyder

More girls are needed to roll bandages for the Red Cross on Wednesday nights from 7 to 9. The new plan is to have a different organization responsible for this each week, but this is not restrictive. All are urged to help.

Sing will be held each Saturday night from now on.

The Freshman Commission has charge of prayers this week. Come and bring your friends.

SERVICE (TO OTHERS)

Wednesday—
"For, brethren, ye have been called with liberty; only use not liberty for an occasion to the flesh but by love serve one another."—Bible.

Thursday—
"I beseech you therefore, brethren, by the mercies of God, that ye present your bodies a living sacrifice, holy, acceptable unto God, which is your reasonable service."—Bible.

Friday—
"A poor man served by thee
shall make thee rich;
A sick man helped by thee shall make thee strong;
Thou shalt be served thyself by every sense
Of service which thou renderest."
—Elizabeth Barrett Browning

Monday—
"All service ranks the same with God:
With God, whose uppets, best and worst,
Ar ewe; thence is no last now first."
—Robert Browning

Tuesday—
"Sometimes give your services for nothing, calling to mind a previous benefaction or present satisfaction. And if there be an opportunity of serving one who is a stranger give full assistance to all such. For where there is love of man, there is also love of the art."
—Hippocrates

Getting a . . .

SLANT ON THINGS

Pity Miss Post. Public officials edged in on her monopoly of pat ent etiquette recently when they began to suggest topics for conversation with the soldier or sailor when he comes home to stay. Reason given the gullible public is that the soldier will have changed and in turn will expect others to have changed with him.

Pity the public. They too thoroughly accept the thinking of others. One feminine citizen remarked that as soon as she greeted a Navyman recently, he mentioned that he had just returned from Africa. This statement was the cue for a storm of editorials and news stories to burst into her mind. She stumbled among these in an attempt to recall something appropriate to say, to avoid the things which she had read would arouse harsh memories for that Navyman. She could remember nothing. Finally in desperation she managed to fumble: "Did you have a nice trip?"; then embarrassed by her rather stupid remark, backed away. Thus the effect on one. Others have similar experiences.

Perhaps changes must be made among the Americans before the soldier comes home. Not many. In conversation or other things. The American at the front is not fighting for changes to be made in American life, but fighting to keep it much as it was. He fights for the day when he can turn homeward, home to his country, to his town and find things just as American as he left them.

Common sense remains the American's best weapon. Why risk dulling its effectiveness with nonsense about what to talk about and what not when the war is over. —J. C. S.

Letters To The Editor

Dear Editor:

Easter orchids to A.K.G.'s partial re-awakening. Another such just tapping this quarter would restore it entirely in our sight.

Sincerely,
An Underclassman

Dear Editor,

The theme which has been chosen for May Day this year is quite apropos to present times though it may not seem so at first. It centers upon the music of Stephen Collins Foster and this music embodies the true folk spirit of America. The folk songs of any country present a vivid picture of what that country stands for—its beliefs, its moods, and especially its people. After all, is that not what we are fighting for—to preserve the things which we cherish and hold dear?

Foster is recognized as the composer of the true American folk song. His music was his life. Though not a Southerner by birth, his fascinitation for the Southern plantations and his enchantment by the sponteneity of the deep, restless rhythms of the Negro song and choruses were the sources of his musical genius.

The May Day program will be divided into three groups of his music. The first will include his Negro plantation music, offering in pantomine the lazy, swaying movements which it expresses. The second part is alive with the quick spontaneous music of the

Continued on Page 3

"Snoop" Snoops

The best corsage story of this Easter comes from Kyle Ainsworth. Her flowers were ordered last January, since the boy knew he was to be sent to Africa. The flowers were here on Easter all right—also a box of candy and a note from the boy who is in reality in North Africa . . .

The Blair child proudly possessed the only truly white orchid. It was indeed gorgeous . . . Brok sent Wentzel an Easter rabbit . . . The handsome young man of the Weathers was here for a time . . . Note: Dick Anderson was seen alone at church Sunday. . .

It must be the real thing, Bill Lacy was present at the sunrise service at Longwood . . . Who gave Jeffreys her orchid? (And who gave Jean Arington and Ann Ellett two of them?) . . . Fay spent a lonely week end, John was in Norfolk . . . One Courter twin finally has a distinction and what a distinction! A beautiful sparkler from Julian . . . Betty Ellis needed only a call from Chapel Hill to put that gleam in her eye . . . Jean Parry is at loose ends with all her men in the service . . . Libby Jordan did all right by herself with an orchid plus a dozen roses and all from the same "Red" . . .

Susie's Ed gets our vote for the No. 1 man—when he left for Corpus Christi, he left instructions for an Easter Corsage, and a birthday party with all the trimmings for Susie . . . Louise Bell seems to favor W. & L. . . . Ask Amy whether it will be Tom, Dick, or Harry—or maybe Bill? . . . Warrick Mitchell has attractive cousins, eh, Droste? . . . Sure is good to see M. Wright back . . . Carolyn Hammond is the lucky one, has a young man waiting in his car outside the library each night (she lives in town!)

MISS STELLA FOX, Riding Instructor

Riding Club Plans Near Completion For Annual Horse Show May 15

Committee Given By Cheatwood

Joyce Cheatwood, president of Pegasus Riding Club, and general chairman, has released committee heads among further plans for the Horse Show May 15. Slated to be in charge of the desk is Pat McCormick. Chairman of the food committee is Elizabeth Goodwin. In charge of grounds and parking is Betty Ellis; ring, Pat Gibson; posters, Julia Glenn; programs, Mildred Corvin; ads, Joyce Cheatwood; ribbons and trophies, Jean Smith; publicity, Betty Cock; and supervision of horses, Joyce Cheatwood.

Besides the usual competition between town riders and S. T. C. girls in classes comprised of 3-galted and 5-galted horses, pairs of riders, Old Virginia Riders, jumping, horsemanship, and costume event, plans are under way for outside entertainment for the spectators. Although there is a small entry fee for each class, there is no general admission for the public.

Ribbons and trophies will be awarded to first prize winners in each event, and ribbons will be given to those placing second, third and fourth.

Entry blanks and information may be secured by phoning 142-R or writing P. O. box 365. Entry fees are requested in advance in order that ribbons and trophies may be arranged for and other expenses met.

Era of a Dreamer

Continued from Page 1

which were executed originally in impromptu performances by the negroes when they felt the urge to let some of their inherent rhythm out. The utter relaxation and complete freedom of movement with which they danced was the incentive to Foster for the true minstrel "Music of the Heels", which is in reality a combination of spiritual music and rag-time.

And thirld we have his Music of the Heart. It is Foster's sentimental songs which are most sung today. They bring to mind a vision of the formal Southern ball where the presence of beautiful ladies was the inspiration for the dreamy, moving songs and music. In dance we find the familiar waltz quadrilles and reels. The Southern ball is a climax to the memories of the dreamy, sentimental, serene Southern way of life which is so often renewed for us in our hearts by Foster's music.

Letters to Editor

Continued from Page 2

minstrel show which Foster loved. It is the real "music of the heels". The last and final group consists of Foster's sentimental music of the heart which is so familiar to all of us. These lifting melodies will be the background for a typical Southern ball.

Foster's life, as we look back upon it, was complete in an era when the easy-going, lovable, carefree South was at its prime—an era of the dreamer.

Sincerely,
Winifred Wright

College Orchestra Provides Music For Dancers of Various Groups

May Day festivities will begin on the library lawn at 5 o'clock Saturday afternoon with an orchestral prelude by the college orchestra. Members of the orchestra include Boyd Coyner, clarinet; Ash Wiley, clarinet; E. L. Stuart, cello; Tom Foley, bass trombone; Lill Lacy, trumpet; Carolyn Rouse, xylophone; James Grainger, Sr., flute; Annette Grainger, flute; Ann Brooks, violin; Lucie Lancaster, violin, and Connie Ozlin and Eleanor Feagans, piano

Following the musical prelude will be a dance of the Plantation Folk. Those in the dance are, cotton pickers, Martha Jean Leavitt, Lucille Jones, Jane Mosely, Peggy Kass, Mary Wood House, Isabell Ransome, Virginia Terrell, Jacqueline McCoy, Gwen Sleight, Lela Marner, Margaret Hickman, and Margaret Verell; levee workers, Kitty Rennecker, Mary W. Watts, Margaret Orange, Helen Gray McIndoe, Louisa Dawson, Alice Murray, Anna Murray, Pat Gibson, Laura Farmer, Carolyn Hammond, Nancy Fuqua, Lucy Harvie, and Martha Cox; mammies, Betty Cock, and Phyllis Watts; and children, Margaret Harvie and Shirley Pierce.

Revival Meeting Portrayed

Those in the Revival Meeting which follows a rendition of Foster's "My Old Kentucky Home", by the chorus, are mourners, Gwen Sampson, Jeanne Strick, Kitty Renneker, Jane Mosley, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Ann Page Francis, and Mildred Droste; congregation, Betsy Caldwell, Patricia Garth, Margaret Verell, Jean Smith, Lucy Harvie, Ophelia Whittle, Shirley Pierce, Betty A. Taggett, Ellen Ebel, Elizabeth Goodwin, Virginia Ellett, Phyllis Watts, Margaret Harvie, Spotswood Hunnicutt, Betty Jane Hunt, Lucille Jones, Margaret Orange, Jacqueline McCoy, Virginia Terrell, and Gloria Allen. Gloria Pollard will enact the part of the preacher.

Negro Dance

To the music of the college orchestra in "O, Suzannah", Ruth Dugger, Edith Lovins, Gloria Pollard, Betty Sexton, Ophelia Whittle, Ellen Ebel, Alice Seebert, Jeanne Strick, Lillian Goddin, and Betty Jane Hunt will present a rapid negro dance.

After the singing of "Swanee River" by the chorus, there will be a soft shoe tap by Frances Satterfield, Carolotta Norfleet, Jeanne McCrietis, Helen Smith, Emily Carper, Mary Walker, Dotty Gilmer, Dora Jones, Louise Mills, Nancy Wilkerson, Edith Lovins, Fay Byrd Johnson, Mary Watkins, and Jane Williamson.

In the Picaninny Dance, which follows, are Dot Werner, Ruth Garrison, Patricia Osborne, Aloise Boswell, Mary E. Crank, Martha Watson, Alice Nichols, Betty Nixon, Marjorie Vaughn, Carolyn Burwell, Hallie Hillsman, Janet Davis, Dolly Wilkerson, and Christine Eddins.

"Juba", which concludes the second part of the program will be done by Gloria Pollard, Ann Jones, Gwen Sampson, Ann Page Francis, Jane Brown, Elizabeth Goodwin, Ruth Dugger, Jean Smith, Betty Sexton, Betty Ellis, Margaret Orange, Kitty Renneker, Lula Moss, Edith Lovins, and Virginia Mae Ellett.

Social Life on Plantation

The last part of the program will symbolize the social life on a southern plantation and will be in the form of an evening ball on the lawn before the "big house", represented by the library. The May Queen, Dorothy Childress, will act as hostess at the ball and the invited guests include the court, Helen Wiley Hardy, maid-of-honor, and Agnes Patterson, Winifred Wright, Frances Parham, Ann Ellett, Shirley Turner, Mary Virginia Evans, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Jean Arrington, Betsy Caldwell, Virginia Mae Ellett, Jac Hardy, Marie Hedgcock, Frances Lee, Jane Bentley, Betty Boutchard, Sarah Massie Goode, Betty Burns, Army Read, Martha Higgins, and Frances Craddock. Pages who will announce the queen are Alice and Nancy Courter.

For the queen and her party a group of dancers will do a number of reels and quadrilles. Each group will do two pieces. In the waltz quadrille and the lancers dance are Jane Brown, Mildred Droste, Ruth Dugger, Ellen Ebel, Betty Ellis, Lillian Goddin, Betty Jane Hunt, Edith Lovins, Shirley Pierce, Gwen Sampson, Alice Seebert, Betty Sexton, Jean Smith, Jeanne Strick, Ophella Whittle, Patricia Garth, Elizabeth Goodwin, Ann Page Francis, Lucy Harvie, Margaret Harvie, Spotswood Hunnicutt, Ann Jones, Catherine Lambert, Martha Jean Leavitt, Jane Mosely, Lula Moss, Jackie McCoy, Margaret Orange, Kitty Renneker, Margaret Verell, and Phyllis Watts.

Schottische and Little Brown Jug

Doing the Schottische and "The Little Brown Jug" are Annie Ellis, Dorothy Southall, Martha Jones, Harriet Saunders, Margaret Horton, Margaret Alvis, Virginia Shackleford, Libby Heath, Glenn Ann Patterson, Agnes Stokes, Kitty Maddox, Margaret Lemmon, Louise McHenry, Catherine, Helen Stites, Jac Parden, Betty Wright, Erline Kimmerling, Shirley Cruser, Billy Waid, Margaret McIntyre, Mildred Mease, Carolyn Marshall, Nancy Blair, Martha Davis, Jackie Showalter, Jane Paulette, Carolyn Bobbitt, Jane Dabney, Lucille Jones, Virginia Caviness, Margaret Park, Janet Sollenberger, Mildred Shifflett, Shirley Stonnell, Harriet Dowdy, Katherine Wright, and Betty Deuel Cock.

Those in the reel and "The Pokey Nine" are Delia Gregory, Gene Seymour, Jinny Clardy, Lyde Thomson, Margie Lee Culley, Romella Sayre, Betsy Owen, Baylis Kunz, Rachel Joyner, Edith Sanford, Ernestine Morgan, Evelyn Chenault, Katherine Childs, Nancy Fuqua, Myrtle Lee Holt, Kitty Davis, Joscelyn Gillum, Sara Wayne France, Betsy Birchfield, Louise McCorkle, Lilly Bec Gray, Betty Reid, Marion Orange, Mary Frances Bowles, Mary Ann Jarrett, Sarah Lee East, Nancy Watts, Nancy Hutter, Nancy Dickerson, Cecile Parr, Jean Akers, Betty Van Arsdale, Alice Belote, Margaret Finney, Aline Boss, Iris Ferguson, Nultie Johns, Jean Carr, Susan Durrett, and Mary Lou Dondley.

Polka Included

The group presenting the Polkas and "Star by the Right" include Nancye Allen, Margaret Kitchen, Nancy Harrell, Sara Bird Williams, Charles Anna Price, Jane Smith, Lois Baughman, Elizabeth

Continued on Page 4

Sportspourri

By MARGARET ORANGE And BETTY ELLIS

Play Night a Success

Sponsored by the Recreational Activities Committee, the play night on Friday, April 23, proved to be a success. Not only the contestants, but the audience enjoyed it thoroughly. Divided into color names the teams participated in many various contests.

The first contest was a modified "Grand Central Station" scramble. The teams were provided with suitcases in which were several articles of clothing. Dressed in the apparel, the teams ran a relay, each time exchanging clothes and suitcases with a new contestant.

Circle games with newspapers and sticks brought chuckles from the audience and fun for the girls who played. Another relay with each girl holding her ankle and running for first place put them into grotesque positions and cramped those little-used muscles. All this was cheered on by the Judges and officials.

The grand finale came with a treasure hunt covering ground from the athletic field to Senior Building. Notes placed under flower boxes and on door sills were the clues on this mad chase. Down the Colonnade, through the Rotunda, and past the Science Building went the screaming hordes. Winners by a nose were the Red team, which brought an end to one of the best times had on campus. Let's have more play nights!

Swimming Is Fun

Springing through the air with the greatest of ease will be S. T. C. swimmers from now on. A new diving board has taken its place at the far end of the pool. Here is your chance girls to try those one and a halfs, swan dives, jack knifes or the plain old 'belly flop."

Don't be afraid to show your aquatic talents. Swimming is a color sport, and with these hot summer days coming on it will feel good to hit the smooth surface of that H20. Next chance you have, gather up the gang and come down to the old swimming hole, we promise a rippling good time.

Those Sad Courts

Would you like to have your face stepped on? The tennis courts wouldn't like it either. If in your evening stroll you've chanced to pass by the athletic field, surely you've seen the dilapidated state of the courts.

Tennis fiends want a chance to play on solid ground, but this can't happen without cooperation from the student body. A warning to inconsiderate souls who play tennis in spiked heels; it isn't a good policy.

This has all been in fun, but seriously let's give the courts a rest. The next time Mother Nature decides to wash her face, let's not go out for a tennis game the minute Old Sol peeks from behind the dark cloud. Experts, amateurs and novices take a walk, and the next day keep that tennis appointment.

J. J. Newberry Co. 5-10-25c Stores

Our Store Offers

Many May Day Necessities

White Anklets, Ribbons, Turbans, Jewelry and Lingerie

So you want to be the BELLE OF THE BALL? Have your formals for May Day Dance cleaned at

DeLuxe Cleaners

KODAK FILMS
In All Sizes

Rose's 5-10-25c Store

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S

The Complete Drug Store

CLEAN FOUNTAIN

Stationery, Candy

Prescriptions are our specialty

PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.

238 Main St.

Buy Costume Jewelery To Match the New Spring Colors at

Martin the Jeweler

Buy Now...

No More Loafers of this Type To Be Made After May 25th

White and Brown

LOAFERS

$3.95

BAREFOOT SANDALS

WHITE, RED, GREEN AND TAN ..... 2.50 & 2.98

BALDWIN'S

College Shoppe

Try our delicious

SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED

25c Per Role

Southside Drug Store

Meet Me

at

SHANNON'S

Wilson's Firestone Store

Tennis Rackets from $2.29 to $12.00

Tennis Balls 3 for $1.59

111A WEST THIRD ST.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service

to

KLEANWELL CLEANERS

OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

MAY COURT

Just Looking, Thanks

In spite of the fact that Easter was a closed week-end, the girls travelled far and wide and the only thing closed were many tables in the dining hall.

To Richmond to the wedding of Mary Keith Bingham and Lt. Donald Haig Hinshewood went Julia Eason, who was maid-of-honor in the ceremony and Gwen Sampson. Also attending wedding were Kitty Davis, Shirley Richardson, and Imogene Claytor. Nancy Kerse Guthrie took a long trek to Columbus, Georgia, to spend the holidays with her husband.

Jane Smith and Hannah Lee Crawford went to Charlottesville to visit Sara Wayne France.

Home for the holidays for one reason or another went Jane Bentley, Betty Burns, Jo Eades, Theresa Fletcher, Betsy Caldwell, Elizabeth Goodwin, Jeanette Garrison, Marianne Hudson, Lucille Jones, Inez Jones, Helen Gray McIndoe, Julia Glenn, Ann Payne, Ophelia Whittle, Kitty Parrish, Helen Wilson, Evelyn Ruggles, Jerry Titnus, Anne Pettis, Evelyn Christian, Martha Patterson, Martha Hite, Mary Watkins, Nancy Harerll, Frances Parham, Nell Holloway and Ann Seay.

Also at home were Rebecca Lacy, Joe Shaffner, Betty Agnew, Jane Moseley, Ada Clair Snyder, Virginia Terrell, Lillian Goddin, Ann Jones, Barbara Hall, Mildred Corvin, Eleanor Folk, Catherine Gosney, Gloria Pollard, Elsie Stossel, Shirley Kersey, Margaret Alvis, Ella Hutcheson, Ada Clark Nuckols, Mildred Ames, Betty Tom Andrew, Jean Arrington, Jane Bargamin, Peggy Becker, Betty Blackwell, Margaret Bowling, Erline Kimmerling, and Betty Bridgeforth.

Visiting Shirley Cruser and Eleanor Bisese this week-end were Dot Darden, Jane Toler, and Ailce Ware from Norfolk, and Sue Davis from Lynchburg, spent several days with her sister, Lucy.

Tuesday's Times Dispatch carried the announcement of the engagement of Mary Lou Shannon, class of '42, to Lieut. E. L. Dealney. The wedding will take place sometime in June. Mary Lou was May Queen last year.

Also anonunced recently was the marraige of Claudia Hardaway to J. O. Hadel, of Long Island, New York, which was performed last May.

May Day

Continued from Page 1

Craddock will be the invited guests at the ball. The court will offer a dedication dance figure.

Other figures at the ball include dancers in an honorary quadrelle; Sottische, a round figure; a reel; "Star by the Right", a quadrelle; "Little Brown Jug", a quadrelle; Pokey Nine", a quadrelle; a two step Polka, and a waltz.

The Courter twins, Nancy and Alice will act as pages for the queen.

Ann Ellett is serving as general chairman of May Day. Rosalie Rogers is business manager, assisted by Mildred Corvin.

Charlotte Greeley is in charge of the costumes for the various groups assisted by Ada Clark Nuckles, "Plantation Folk"; Ellen Hudgins, "Revival Meeting"; Ellen Ebel, "O, Suzannah"; Grace Hutcheson, "Swanee River"; Dorothy Childress, "Pickaninnies"; Frances Strohecker, "Juba"; Dodie Jones, Lancers; Virginia Firesheets, Schottische; Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Reel; and Nell Pritchett, "Star by the Right".

In charge of the dances is Betty Sexton, aided by Ruth Dugger, Shirley Pierce, Elizabeth Goodwin, Edith Lovins, Virginia Mae Ellett, and Betsy Birchfield.

Elizabeth Ann Jordan is chairman of the music committee. Margie Hewlett, Audrey Mayes, Caroline Caldwell, Carolyn Bobbitt, and Connie Ozlin are her assistants.

Susie Moore, in charge of staging and properties is assisted by Susan Durrett and Mary Moore McCorkle. Winifred Wright is in charge of transportation. Miss Emily Kaudarich is the general faculty advisor for the celebration. Miss Leola Wheeler is in charge of the dramatics, Miss Mary Barlow is assisting with the transportation and the seating, and Miss Katherine Tupper and Miss Ruth Gleaves are working with the costumes. Miss Lisabeth Purdon is conducting the orchestra which will play throughout the program.

Adm. Sheldon, '03, To Address H.-S. C. At Commencement

Rear-Admiral Luther Sheldon, Jr., highest-ranking Hampden-Sydney alumnus in the service will deliver the graduation address to the June graduates of the Class of 1943 in College Church May 25. The Rev. James Sprunt of Westminister Presbyterian Church, Lynchburg, will preach the baccalaureate sermon Sunday, May 23.

Admiral Sheldon, who was a member of the Class of 1903, is at present Assistant Chief of Bureau in the Bureau of Medicine and Surgery in Washington. He entered the Naval Medical Corps after graduating from the University of Michigan in medicine in 1909, and served with the fleet during World War I.

He has done service on the hospital ship 'Solace', as well as on a number of battleships. For a while following the last war, he was stationed at the Naval hospital at Pearl Harbor. He has also been editor of the Naval Medical Bulletin.

Mr. Sprunt, who is a graduate of Davidson and of the Union Theological Seminary, is pastor of the Westminister Presbyterian Church of Lynchburg, one of the outstanding churches of that denomination in the State. He has shown an active interest in young people and young peoples' work, having attended a number of the summer conferences here on the campus.

Full plans for the commencement program are not yet complete, Dr. Gammon stated Saturday, but will be announced as soon as they are made. The college will award the honorary degree of Doctor of Divinity to the Rev. John N. Thomas, professor of theology at the Union Theological Seminary, and to the Rev. W. R. Moody, pastor of Christ Church, Episcopal, Baltimore.

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

SUSIE MOORE

Editor of the Virginian

Quiet leadership and a subtle sense of humor are the characteristics, dependability and intelligence the long suits, as this week's senior spotlight is focused on Susie Moore, editor of the 1943 Virginian.

In her four years Susie has managed to win the hearts of all who have come to know her, the respect of all she has worked with. Though far from a bookworm, she has attained a scholastic record which makes her second honor graduate in her class, and yet has found time to do—and do well—much extra curricular work.

In describing her, her friend, adviser, and boss, Mr. "Mac", used the following expressions:

"Hard worker . . . Plenty to do, but always plenty of time to do other things . . . dependable, easy to get along with . . . Has run commencement for two years!"

And those who have been with her on convention trips speak of how much fun Susie is. She possesses a dynamic force that makes others work for and with her willingly. When Susie realizes that one course is the right one, no power can change her path toward that goal.

A study in contrasts, Susie is sweet, but not "sweety-sweet", good, yet never "goody-goody", quiet, but with none of the essence of dullness about her, studious, but possessed of a love of play, also. She's a wonder, that Susie!

College Orchestra

Continued from Page 3

McCoy, Ann Covington, Barbara Surface, Sarah Echan, Emily Humphries, Nell Scott, Betty Edwards, Nancy Ingle, Mary Sue Clark, Geneva Coleman, Jean Gury, Frances Ferguson, Jane Bargamin, Shirley Richardson, Ann Covington, Sarah Wade Owen, Isabelle Sampson, Viola Turner, Lucy Bowling, Margaret Smith, Jean Parry, Katherine Lynch, Anna Lee Blanton, Sally Robertson, Ann Moore, Ailce Fulton, Rosalie Jones, Roberta Davis, Brookie Benton, Dearing Fauntleroy, Nancy Crymes, and Kitty East.

Jane Ford will call the figures for the reels.

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

C. E. Chappell Co.
Fountain Service
Visit us for the BEST
PHONE 63

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, (Farmville, Va.)

• It looks just like it always did—that Greyhound you see loading up at the terminal in your town—but it's bound on a "military mission", just as surely as if it were rolling in a convoy down a mountain road in Tunisia.

Tools of war have to be built before battles are won—and workers have to be transported to the war plants that are supplying our growing armies. That's a big part of Greyhound's wartime duties — getting workers to work, often many miles from their homes.

Then, there are soldiers to carry to and from training camps or other military centers—on duty and on leave. And there are many others whose travel is essential to full war effort.

If on some occasion Greyhound service isn't quite as convenient or comfortable as in the past, please remember that the war effort comes first—that the job of whipping the Axis has to be done at home as well as abroad. With Victory will come fine service than ever.

GREYHOUND BUS STATION
Continental Hotel Phone 78

SERVE AMERICA NOW SO YOU CAN SEE AMERICA LATER
GREYHOUND LINES

Cooperate With War Savings Program
To Prevent Inflation

The Rotunda

Congratulations
New Officers, Members
Of Honor Groups

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1943 No. 26

Trigg Appointed Member Executive Committee for War Savings Program At Conference In Charlottesville

Plans Suggested For Fall Meeting

Sarah Trigg, who with Dr. James Elliott Walmsley and Jane Cabell Sanford represented this college at a meeting of the delegates from the War Saving Committees in Virginia Colleges at the University of Virginia last Friday, was appointed to the Executive Committee to coordinate the War Saving activities of the colleges throughout the state

Conference Leaders Direct

Directing the conference were Dr. Francis Pendleton Gaines, president of Washington and Lee University and chairman of the War Savings Staff of the State; Dr. Robert F. Nelson, State Administrator; Dr. R. N. Anderson, of the College Section of the War Savings Staff of the United States Treasury Department, and Mr. Charles K. Morse, College and University Consultant of the Treasury Department.

Keynote of the conference was sounded by Dr. Anderson in his address to the delegates in their morning meeting when he pointed out that the War Savings program is a means of preventing inflation and that a systematic purchase plan for War bonds and stamps is essential if War Savings activities are to be successful and inflation averted.

Virginia Plan Best

Dr. Anderson reported that college of Virginia have established best program for execution of the War Savings program and that the work of these colleges will be cited as a model to other committees in other states.

Following the opening meeting the delegates met in groups for round-table discussions of the various phases of the War Savings program. Reports of these discussions were given at the closing meeting at which time the State Central Committee was set up.

Suggested plans were offered for a similar meeting to follow up

Proceeds from Dance Go To U S. O., Rec

Approximately $103 was cleared on the Sophomore May Day dance last Saturday night. Myrtle Lee Holt, president of the class announced yesterday. Half of this money will go to the College U. S. O. for the general fund and for the town recreation center. The remainder will be turned over to college for refurnishing the recreation room in the Main building of the school.

Monday Marks End Of K.D.P. Personal Library Contest

Project Has Run Since October

The Personal Library contest, which is being sponsored by Kappa Delta Pi, honorary education fraternity, will come to a close on Monday, May 10, with a display from 5 to 6 o'clock in the Honors Room.

To be eligible for the contest, the student must pledge that the books entered have been collected during the time limits set. Contests of this nature usually run for four years, but the first part, this year, includes only acquirements of eight months.

Similar contests have been successfully conducted at both Westhampton College and Randolph-Macon Woman's College. The latter collections were observed by members of Kappa Delta Pi last spring.

There is no limit to the type of books in the collection; however, they must be the property of the contestants. They should mean something to the owner and not be a mere amassment of books.

Invitations will be issued to the honor societies on the campus and to the faculty to attend the exhibit.

Debate Conference To Discuss World Federation at H.-S. C

The members of Pi Kappa Delta, along with members of the debate team will meet May 7-8 at a conference at Hampden-Sydney College, with Tau Kappa Alpha honorary fraternity, as host. Their topic of discussion will be International World Federation. Students from Lynchburg College will also be present.

Virginia Sedgley and Virginia Terrell upholding the affiirmative side and Cary Suter and Roy Cabell, of Hampden-Sydney College upholding the negative, met in a debate on Wednesday, April 28 to debate on the question of International World Federation.

Marilyn Bell and Ann Randolph members of the debate team, spoke before the Farmville Lions Club Friday, April 30 on the problems facing World Federation.

College Choir May Tour Good-Will To Canadian Cities

Group Will Visit Canada's Schools By Invitation

Following the very successful spring trip to New York in April, word has been received that the College Choir has been extended an invitation to sing in Canada next spring.

Commentary on this, Professor Alfred H. Strick, head of the Music Department, said, "It is more than likely that our College Choir will make a goodwill tour next spring to various cities in Canada. The tour will consist of six concerts to be given with a nationally famous group and will be sponsored by the Canadian clubs and receive official sanction. Time out will be allowed to make a study of the various universities and colleges, thus providing an unusual opportunity at first-hand to observe the methods employed in teaching and to meet outstanding teachers in the Canadian schools. This opportunity is one that should receive the fullest cooperation because it embraces first-hand knowledge of a country which is really our neighbor. Members who are selected from the College Choir will go as guests of the Canadian clubs thus eliminating expense."

Five chaperones will be appointed, if the trip is to be made, to accompany the group under the same provision. As one choir member aptly put it "Singing our way to Canada and nothing whatever to pay except perhaps a tribute to a country who has by word and deed shown a neighborliness that makes for better understanding between two great democracies."

Librarian Announces Unpaid Book Fines

As announced in a recent Rotunda, published forthwith are the names of the college students who owe fines to the library. These students have been sent notices by the library staff and in an effort to collect the fines that the students persist in leaving unpaid, the Rotunda is cooperating with the librarian in publishing this list. Due to the fact that last week's issue of the Rotunda was devoted to May Day and the space for other news was limited.

Those students with unpaid fines as of Monday, May 3 are Margaret Anne Alphin, .02; Jean Altiere, $2.58; Margaret Alvis, .10; Carolyn Beard, .20; Nora Beauchamp, .02; Lucy Bowling, .02; Elaine Bray, .08; Jack Pickien Brown, .02; Betty Burns, .10; Mary Jane Campbell, .06; Rae Chick, .06; Carroll Costello, .54; and Anne Covington, .36.

Also aJne Crump, .50; H. Crute, 14; Frances Dowdy, .18; C. Eddins, .48; Mary Virginia Evans, .18; Laura Bell Farrar, .78; Frances Ferguson, .06; Carmen Flores, .02; Margaret Anne Finney, .16; Anne Page Francis, .12; Edith Garcia, .02; Anne Garnett, .64; Ruth Garrison, .08; Bridget Gentile, 14; Anne Gleesn, .02; Elizabeth Goodwin, .52; and Helen Wiley Hardy .02.

Also Margaret Harvie, .26; Elizabeth Heath, .31; Virginia Hitchings, .38; Nancy Ingle, .02; Grace Hutcheson, $4.36; Myrtle Jenkins, .04; Fay Byrd Johnson, $1.84; Betty Jones, .90; Evelyn Jones, .07; Marie Kelly, .04; Betty Kiger. $1.30; Erlene Kimering, .98; Rosa Belle Lane, .28; Martha Jean Leavitt, .04; Margaret Lemmon. $1.82; Nancy Lively, .69; Bobby Livesay, .02; Elizabeth McCoy, .66; Helen McGuire, .04; Mildred Mease .24; Margaret Mish, .18; Sara Wade Owen, .02; and Betsy Owen. .24.

Also Irma Page, .66; Louise Parcell, .16; Catherine Parrish,

Continued from Page 3

Merritt Publishes Study In Library Science As Thesis

The first copies of "The United States Government as Publisher", by Dr. Leroy Charles Merritt, librarian at Farmville S. T. C., came off the press yesterday, May 4. The book was written by Dr. Merritt as his doctor's dissertation from the University of Chicago and is published by the University of Chicago Press. In the words of the author the book is "an attempt to draw a general picture of the material to be found in the United States public documents."

One of the University of Chicago studies in library science, Dr. Merritt's book treats the history and growth of government publications, department, subject, and type analyses, and the problems of distribution of the publications.

It was on the basis of this study that Dr. Merritt was selected to represent the American Library Association with the OWI in Washington to work out a fair means of distribution of government publications to libraries.

Dr. Merritt came to Farmville last July from the Graduate Library School at the University of Chicago where he obtained his doctor's degree in library science.

Thurston To Supply Music For Last Prom Saturday, May 29

The Junior Class has signed Hal Thurston and his orchestra of Rocky Mount, N. C., for the Junior-Seniors prom which will be held in the College gymnasium on Saturday night, May 29. The dance will begin at 8:30 o'clock and last until midnight. This orchestra was on this campus for the Cotillion dance and has proved to be very popular among the students.

Elizabeth Ann Jordan and Jane Ford are the general chairmen for the dance with the following committees to assist them: decoration, Sara Wayne France, chairman, Charles Anna Price, Josceyin Gillum, and Mary Lee Pittard; publicity, Jean Arrington, chairman, Shirley, Pierce, and Dottie Sue Simmons; tickets, Sara Jeffreys, chairman, assisted by Caroline Caldwell and Betty Watts; music, Geroline Titmus; figure, Ruth Dugger and Vivian Gwaltney; floor, Mildred Droste, chairman, Louise Andrews, Margaret Thomas, and Katherine Vaughan and programs, Nancy Langhorne.

Spanish Club Elects Carper President

Emily Carper, freshman from Rocky Mount, was elected president of the Spanish Club at a meeting yesterday. She will succeed Lucille Hall in this position.

Other officers elected were Alice Parkhurst, freshman from Boydton, vice-president, succeeding Emily Carper; Freddie Anne Butt, freshman from Portsmouth, secretary, succeeding Eleanor Wade; and Anne Martin, freshman from Suffolk, treasurer, succeeding Alice Parkhurst.

Miss Emily Barksdale is faculty adviser of the club.

NOTICE

Mr. Reed has requested that no letters be placed in the late letter box on Sunday night as the Post Office is not open and he can not take the great number to the Hotel to be mailed.

Pi Gamma Mu Elects Craddock, Trigg, France, and Copenhaver

Social Science Fraternity Bids Seven Juniors, Seniors as Members

Frances Craddock, of Blackstone, will succeed Helen Wiley Hardy, of Farmville, as president of Pi Gamma Mu, national science fraternity. Jane Sanford, also of Farmville, and former vice-president will be replaced by Sarah Trigg, of Hopewell. The new secretary will be Bernice Copenhaver of Marion who will replace Virginia Kent Sedgley of Bristol. Sara Wayne France, of Charlottesville, will take over the duties of treasurer succeeding Virginia Sedgley.

Frances Craddock, a junior from Blackstone College, was recently made chairman of the Finance Committee of the College War Council. She is also secretary of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority, and of the junior class.

Sarah Trigg, a junior from Hopewell, is an associate art editor of the Colonnade.

Bernice Copenhaver, of Marion, and a transfer from Marion College, is a member of Beorc Eh Thorn, English honor society.

Sara Wayne France, Charlottesville is the newly elected editor-in-chief of the 1944 Virginian, managing editor of this year's annual and was recently tapped by Alpha Kappa Gamma. She was vice-president of Mu Omega sorority this year.

Mr. M. Boyd Coyner was elected to replace Miss Mary E. Peck as faculty adviser.

Seven Receive Bids

Helen Wiley Hardy, retiring president, has announced that bids will be issued to seven juniors and seniors of the student body to become members of Pi Gamma Mu.

Those receiving bids are Martha Anderson, of Pedra; Mildred Corvin, of Crewe; Margaret Finney, of Onancock, and Mary Moore McCorkle, of Lexington.

Also Alma Porta, of Fine Creek Mills; Lois Steldtmann of Lexington, and Gladys Wilson, of Bremo Bluff.

Pi Gamma Mu is a national honorary fraternity in social science. Its membership is made up of two classes of members: first, seniors, and juniors in social science, who have had academic standards, and have proofs of considering the social phase of education as their predominant interest; and second, members at large who are either

Continued on Page 3

Beorc Eh Thorn Bids Three To Membership

Nancy Guthrie, senior from Richmond, Elizabeth McCoy, senior from Monterey, and Ann Price, senior from Rice, have accepted bids to Beorc Eh Thorn, honorary English society. Rosalie Rogers, past president of the organization announced this week. The girls will be initiated at the regular meeting tomorrow night.

The newly elected officers will be in stalled at the same meeting. Officers elected are Jane Smith, Franklin, president; Jeanne Strick, Farmville, vice-president; Mary Franklin Woodward, Barhamsville, treasurer; Lucile Lewis, Culpeper, recording secretary; Bernice Copenhaver, Marion, corresponding secretary; and Virginia Lee Abernathy, Lawrenceville, historian.

Beorc Eh Thorn is a local honorary society in English and eligible for membership are sophomores, juniors, and seniors, majors and minors in English with a B average and 18 hours of English and a C average on all other work.

Woodward, Bradshaw To Lead Local FTA

At a recent meeting of the Future Teachers of America, Mary Franklin Woodward, sophomore from Barhamsville, was elected president for the coming year. She succeeds Eleanor Feagans, who graduates this year.

Other officers elected were Olive Bradshaw, sophomore from Rice, vice-president, succeeding Betty Watts; Gloria Sheppard, sophomore from Walkerton, secretary, succeeding Jane Ruffin; and Frances Griffin, sophomore from Whaleyville, treasurer, succeeding Mary Sterrett.

NOTICE

The Student Standards committee wishes to remind all organizations that May 15 is the deadline for any picnics. After that date, no organization may go on any jaunts of any kind.

New York In Retrospect

By Elizabeth McCoy

The staff of the "Hotel Great Northern" in a dither over the advent of fifty Farmville femmes, as they jammed elevators and stormed corridors . . . Blase New Yorkers giving way before the avalanche of choristers as they crowded into an already mobbed subway—or despairing of even catching a cab as a Southern accent hailed everyone in sight. Ah, yes, New York was really congested; the Metropolis will never be the same as it was before the visitation of the S.T.C. Choir.

Arriving at about 7:30 on Friday evening, a dash was made to the hotel where dinner was hastily guiped in order that everyone could get to the Radio City Music Hall in time for the stage show. This show featured "The Glory of Easter", a sacred pageant performed to the impressive "Kammenoi Ostrow" by Rubenstein. One of the most entertaining numbers was the ballet version of a Victory garden—parsely and potatoes, lines of frolicking tomatoes and onions, and a frisky bunny and scarecrow made a patriotic theme colorful and amusing. The Rockettes, as always, were a study in perfect rhythm, precision, and timing.

The important highlight of the trip came the following afternoon who, after a sardine-like subway excursion, the choir arrived en masse at the Brooklyn Museum. Here they met the Duke University Glee Club and the boys' choir of St. Thomas Church, in order to rehearse and then broadcast Brahm's immortal "Requiem". This composition, unusually lovely though it is, is also unusually long, and therefore, is not frequently presented. These choirs gave an outstanding rendition of which recordings were made.

After another subway session, following the broadcast, there were a couple of hours to be spent in sight-seeing. New York again felt the impact of the solid south as girls were whisked to the top of the Empire State, the world's

Continued on Page 3

Ever Notice the Lull In Life? Hear Post May Day Stillness?

If Malus (Jupiter to you) was anywhere around last Saturday, as he must have been, he would have been well-pleased with S. T. C.'s annual frolic in his honor, for despite the change in setting, May Day this year has been said to be quite as pretty and fully as successful, as any in the past. The Queen lacked a Crown and the dancing lacked a May-pole, but it's all over now, and a job well done.

But have you noticed the lull in things? For several weeks things have hummed with excitement and that pre-evental rush, and now one can literally hear the stillness! Remember the mad scrambie in the Home Ec lab; the congregations in various scrap-covered rooms; the bits of costumes dangling downward as a weary seamstress walked on down the hall intent upon her basting? Gone now are the yardsticks and tape measures, the needies and pins . . . and the worried frowns. Gone are the faithful crowds in front of the library . . . the tireless music from the Rec or the Gym. Less tired are our ladies of leisure, and more frequent again are the trips downtown or to a movie in late afternoon. No more announcements in the dining hall and no more schedules of rehearsals on the Home Office mantle. 'Tis a head, dull world.

The afternoon of the celebration itself is one never to be forgotten. Last minute alterations on costumes . . . a tuck here, a pin there . . . last minute glimpses in the mirror . . . quick changes in the Browsing room . . . quick exits through the audio-visual room window . . . hurried smiles for the relentless snap-shooters . . . sparkling smiles for fond mothers . . . and oh, those sighs of relief when a dance was over and not too badly done!

For regardless of the sleepless nights and hopeless declarations of incompleteness of costumes, all was ready in time, and faithful rehearsers gained well - earned praise when they finally put it over before a huge and appreciative audience.

Orchids to a beautiful Queen and her lovely court, and orchids to Miss K (and staff) for her gentle patience and competent efficiency . . . and more power to the dusty, bare-footed dancers who weren't too tired to "swing out" again in the gym on May Day night!

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, MAY 5, 1943

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
ALICE WOODING ..... Proof Editor

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Lillian Elliot, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Margie Pierce.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Martha Patterson, Clara Moses, Margaret Orange, M. J. Leavitt, Pat Maddox, Margaret Mish, Gladys Wilson, Betty Cock, Kathlyn Hutchinson, Louise Bell, Virginia Sedgley, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Loline Warner, Bobbie Scott.

To the Right Is Right

Some people are intelligent. They have to be told only once. Better yet, they see the good in something, and do that thing without having to be told even once.

But then there are some people who are ever-so-slightly dense. They have to be told over and over again, and then often they fail to see the value in what they are told. They take offense at being advised, and never awaken to the fact that what they are being told is for their own good.

We feel sorry for dense people—but we become a trifle annoyed with them at times, too. Now, you would think that the dimest poor soul would begin to realize by this time that it is to her good to enter the far door of the P. O., and come out the front door. The Campus League committee gets no special pleasure out of asking us to observe this simple little practice, but they have the mentality to realize that such a practice would obviate the post office jam every day. It really is easy—all you have to do is to go in the door marked IN and come out the door marked OUT. Simple, isn't it? Then everything runs smoothly, everyone gets her mail; there is no longer the overcrowded P. O.; no one loses a shoulder; everyone keeps her right arm. Everyone is happy.

Then there is another suggestion that might help, but since this is the first time it has been mentioned, it probably won't sink through our dense heads until next year som time. But here it is anyhow: park your men in the nice wide Rotunda while you go alone down the narrow little hall to the post office. Great big men take up space in the narrow quarters of the post office that could be used for other girls who have a desire to get their mail. So take your male to the Rotunda and impress him later with your mail.

As we were saying, some people are intelligent.

"They Burned the Books"

"I will have no intellectual training. Knowledge is ruin to my young men." —Adolph Hitler.

"Books cannot be killed by fire . . . . No man and no force can put thought in a concentration camp forever. No man and no force can take from the world the books that embody man's eternal fight against tyranny."—Franklin D. Roosevelt

May 10, 1943, marks the tenth anniversary of the burning and banning of books considered dangerous to the projection of Nazi thought. Beginning with the destruction of some 25,000 volumes in a giant fire in the square before the University of Berlin in 1933, the Nazis have endeavored to wipe out of Germany all knowledge of the literary achievements of thousands of writers. Many of the books were forbidden because of the author's race, some because of his nationality, others because of his philosophy.

This year in America the writings of Scholom Asch, John Dos Passos, Heinrich Heine, Ernest Heminway, Romaine Rolland and Voltaire—to mention but a few—are spread on college library shelves and bulge from the stacks of the library of Congress. In Nazi Germany, if these names are uttered at all, it is with a curse.

Many more Americans, Thomas Jefferson or Lincoln or Walt Whitman, might well have been on the list, but for the fact their works have not been generally known or read in Germany.

On April 24, the Library of Congress in Washington was 143 years old. On its 414 miles of bookshelves are seven million books touching every field of human thought—Office of War Information.

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

Between the battle front and the home front it is hard to say which one represents more fighting. However, the home front is by far the most serious.

The miners have gone back to work but they still insist on an increase in pay. As Dorothy Tompson pointed out, the miners are no longer under contract, that expired April 30. From a layman's point of view it seems that both sides are not exerting as much effort as they could. Perhaps if there could be compromise in a spirit of patriotism instead of the spirit of revenge and hatred existing on both sides, an agreement could be made.

General Eisenhower announced that American forces had captured Mateur, a key communications center, 18 miles from Bizerte. Other African news not so pleasant reports the relations between DeGaulle and Giraud have come to a head. DeGaulle is insisting on a meeting with Giraud but it must be in Algiers. Giraud wants to meet somewhere else. It is hoped that Fighting French will finally achieve unity.

Teeth seem to play an important part in the Pulitzer awards. Upton Sinclair won a prize from his "Dragon's Teeth" and Thornton Wilder for his play Skin of Our Teeth. Also cited were four times winner Robert Frost, Esther Forbes for her biography of Paul Revere, and Eliot Marison for his biography of Columbus. Each individual won $500.

In Alaska, Kiska is being constantly bombed. The fog makes operations particularly difficult, but it is known that damage was done. However, in the South Pacific theatre of war, the news is more complete and less comforting. The Allies have suffered heavy losses. The Japanese are using their crack forces, trained fighters who practiced in China against our untrained troops. Any military expert can tell you that trained troops with inferior weapons can do much better fighting than green troops with the best of equipment. The Allies are moving on the offensive nevertheless.

Teachers have been afraid to accept war jobs for the summer lest they be frozen in them and have to stay for the duration of the war. This problem is being considered in Washington now. If solved perhaps teachers can contribute more directly to the war effort by entering a war factory for the summer. How would you like to become a lady riveter?

"Snoop" Snoops

First prize story of the week goes to Martha Hite. A supposed unknown admirer sends flowers and asks for a dinner date. Hite is in such a dither she accepts Budgie's (who is at the bottom of the whole thing), invitation . . . . That airplane that has so rowdily awakened us was Peggy Becker's fiancy who has to get 5 hours of flying in per day . . . The dance proved the most successful of the year probably due to Charlie Hop and those ingenious sophs . . . . Nancy Pitts and Frances Ferguson found particular interest in the members of the orchestra . . . . Shirley Kersey was seen "Crewsing" around on Sunday last . . . Jackie Pardon's pop was voted cutest date by all and sundry. We pay tribute to Mr. Pardon who is one of those desirable parents whose heart is ever young and gay.

Since Mr. Rennie's farewell to civilian life was made effective this past week, Gwendolyn was squired to the dance by that gentleman's gentleman, Mr. Horace Adams . . . There was one bottle of Seagram's the G.girls didn't locate, it quite made the rounds. Clever. However, the joke's on them because the dead soldier was filled with coke but when you sipped you made a face and licked your lips as if it were the real stuff—just to keep 'em guessing. Oh, it was rare . . . Rat P. Lee has the wisdom of certain sophs. After a tender good-night and upon the arrival of intruders, she pretended the water from the hall fountain had splashed in her face . . . Most beautiful-shouldered seniors: Ann Randolph. Notice how that white dress set them off? . . . For all the uniforms at the dance, the civies seemed to have a slight edge . . . And that foxy old Fox dates one and then another—keeps 'em all guessing . . . Hedgecok's date was looking at her on the dance floor Saturday night as if it were the last time on this earth. Pure adoration.

And has everyone forgotten Johnny's frantic search for dates for some half a dozen friends of a friend? . . . Seen with Hampden-Sydney's "wise guy Cabell" was a lowly soph-sister of one of the S. T. C. Quizettes . . . What a shame riding in automobiles is such a sin! That was a lovely convertible, wasn't it, Boop?

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

The Presbyterians will have a hay ride Thursday night with a candlelight installation service at Longwood.

Next Sunday night the Methodist students have charge of the Mother's Day program at their church.

The spring retreat of the Baptists will be held at Longwood on Monday. Plans for the coming year will be made at that time.

Meditations for the Week

Wednesday:

A soft answer turneth away wrath; but grievous words stir up anger.—Proverbs 15:1.

Thursday:

A merry heart doeth good like a medicine: but a broken spirit drieth the bones.—Proverbs 17-20.

Friday:

In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy paths.—Proverbs 3:5.

Monday:

God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble —Psalm 46:1.

Tuesday:

The heavens declare the glory of God; and the firmament showeth His handiwork.—Psalm 10:1.

WHAT WOULD HAPPEN IF - - -

Margaret Harvie had small eyes and no "Cardwell".

Dr. Bell and "Cousin Tommie" were young again.

There was no such thing as going away on week ends.

Hannah Lee Crawford had black hair.

Girls didn't take second looks at second lieutenants.

Betty Youngberg hadn't met "Sonny".

Meals could be gotten promptly in the Tea Room.

Frances Craddock were a fat lady in a circus.

It didn't rain on dance week ends.

"Charlie Hop" were not every S.T.C.'ers sweetheart.

Getting a . . .

SLANT ON THINGS

Over at the University's Madison Hall Friday representatives from fourteen Virginia colleges heard Dr. Anderson of the War Savings Staff in Washington report that to date Virginia's colleges and universities have established the best system in the nation for promoting and executing the sale of War Bonds and Stamps. That was about 11 o'clock in the morning. Following his talk, the representatives went into huddles to discuss and analyze their progress and problems. By 4 o'clock that afternoon they had set up a State executive committee made up of three students and three faculty members representing six colleges to coordinate and continue this work begun by colleges in Virginia.

Dr. Anderson had outlined in his talk a system which should underly any successful war savings activity. This consisted of a program of education, a program of action, and finally, a program of personal participation. He had cited the program of education begun by colleges throughout the State. Here then was an initial action taken by some college representatives. The program of personal participation is one which rests largely in the hands of the college students. The successful execution of all three is their duty. No other point was more strongly emphasized at the conference.

It has become necessary for each student to act as a "one-man propaganda agent" as Ed Baggett of Hampden-Sydney said, one-man propagandist whose sole duty is to promulgate the practical lesson in economics which bond selling and buying is. It is his duty to realize that the war savings program is one way in which inflation may be avoided and then tell others about this. It is necessary that each student get an understanding of the economic and personal implications of bond buying, then see that others do the same. Finally, it is essential that each student set an example of patriotism through his systematic purchase of War Bonds, with stress laid on that word systematic.

—J. C. S.

These Things We-

LIKE . . . Tschaikowsky, especially his Symphony in B Flat Minor ("Tonight We Love") . . . Terry and the Pirates . . . hot water . . . Spring . . . the tennis courts after they've been re-lined and surfaced . . . May Days . . . The Hit Parade . . . our annual, The Virginian . . . "Coming In On a Wing and a Prayer" . . . Special Delivery letters . . . 'Sing" . . . Victory Gardens . . . Donald Duck . . . War Bonds and Stamps . . . "Bugs" Bunny . . . The Marines, the Army and its Air Corps, the Navy, Merchant Marines, and all Armed Forces of the United States, including WAACS, WAVES, SPARS, U. S. MARINE CORPS WOMEN'S RESERVE.

DISLIKE . . . Rommel and Company . . . Black Markets . . . John L. Lewis' attitude toward the winning of this war . . . Zoot suits (they're un-American) . . . static on our radios . . . getting up for breakfast . . . 8:05 classes . . . the Japanese' crooked war tactics . . . exams . . . "Bottlenecks" in our war effort . . . people who don't like music . . . good-byes (too much finality in them) . . . people who aren't the least bit sentimental . . . "gushy" people . . . squash . . . narrow-mindedness.

WE REMEMBER . . . James Cagney in "Yankee Doodle Dandy" . . . our African Campaign . . . Rat Week . . . the traditional hockey clash between Sophs and Freshmen . . . the Alma Mater . . . Dr. Jarman . . . Christmas holidays "Casablanca" . . . "Deep Purple" . . . the days when steaks were plentiful . . . football . . . using Dad's car before tire and gas rationing (we've dusted the bicycles again now) . . . rarely seeing a uniform . . . weather forcasts (now forbidden due to the war) . . . Fred Astaire and Ginger Rogers . . . . Robert Taylor in "Magnificent Obsession."

To The Editors . . .

Dear Editor,

Why can't something be done about rules that are not enforced? There are numbers of them in this school—rules of the student government, House Council rules, and library rules to which some of the students attend no more than to a March wind. And even when the students are apprehended nothing is done. Campus slips are ignored and even proudly exhibited as trophies.

In fact, this writer can think of very few regulations which are either abided by or enforced. Isn't there some rule somewhere about the noise in chapel, during study hour, and after 10:30 p. m.? One would never know! And it even seems that lost among all the frustrations of college students there is a regulation about cuting campus, and perhaps about entering the Post Office through the wrong door. It should not be necessary for such rules to exist; college students should have enough pride and respect to walk on the walks and to go through the right, and I said right, door into the post office. But since the rules are here, they should certainly be enforced. Are students expected to respect regulations when they mean absolutely nothing?

Disillusioned

Sportspourri

By M. J. LEAVITT

Freshman Swimming

The pool has been closed this week for cleaning. Next week the freshman test will be given. The set date is May 11 at 9 p. m. If there is any change made the freshman will be notified. All girls that are prepared to take, please report as there will be only one more date set for the test.

Softball

The A. A. Council has not yet set the date for the softball playoffs, but it will probably be the latter part of next week. There is still time for the girls interested to get in their eight practices. The green and white will play the red and white. The winning colors will add points for the color cup. So girls, please come out to support your color.

Tennis Tournament

Ruth Dugger, manager of tennis, stated that there will be some games played before Saturday. She hasn't made out the schedule for the games, but all the girls will be notified. The results of the tournament will also add points to the color cup. All girls interested in participating in the tournament see Ruth Dugger as soon as possible so that she will be able to make the schedule complete.

Horse Show

The horse show will be May 15 at Longwood. The girls are working very hard preparing for the show. Prizes will be given for all events. There will be no admission for the show but there is an entrance fee for the riders. Anyone may enter.

Pickett Show

Members of Orchesis and the fundamental class will present a series of dances for the soldiers at Camp Pickett on Mothers Day, May 9. Some of the dances that were given May Day will be used. Other entertainment will be furnished by the town people who plan to present their "Minstrel Show" again. Two performances will be given, one in the afternoon and the other in the evening.

CBS Symphony In 17th Season

The Columbia Broadcasting Symphony begins its 17th season on the CBS network Sunday, May 2, presenting the first in a series of Sunday afternoon concerts that are to feature a brilliant array of eminent soloists, novelties and first performances. The programs will be heard at 3 o'clock, EWT.

The orchestra is to be directed during the season by Howard Barlow, permanent conductor of the Columbia Broadcasting Symphony, and Bernard Herrmann, CBS composer and conductor.

The roster of soloists to be heard with the orchestra this season includes the names of Marjorie Lawrence and Eileen Farrell, sopranos; Rudolph Serkin, Robert Casadesus and Jesus Maria Sanroma, pianists; Gregor Piatigorsky, cellist and Alexander Kipnis, bass.

Barlow, one of the outstanding interpreters of American music, conducted the New York Philharmonic - Symphony for two weeks last season and has been re-engaged by the historim orchestra for another two weeks next year. He also has directed the Baltimore Symphony and Chicago Orchestra and a number of concerts at Lewisohn Stadium, New York.

Herrmann conducts the May 16 concert when he presents the first American performance of the First Symphony in G minor by Ernest John Moeran.

—Collegiate Broadcast Service

All Students Urged To Sign for Tourney

Sophomores and seniors led in the number of candidates signed up for the annual tennis tournament in singles. With a close second the freshmen have three signed to play and the juniors two.

From the large percentage of students who use the courts it seems that more would be interested in entering the contest which will begin soon. Anyone may enter and an announcement will be made as to rules and requirements for the tournament. Ruth Dugger, manager, is in charge of the contest and will have a chart posted with challenge games to be played. Being an entree in the tourney makes a greater opportunity for your color to be represented by the color cup.

Sign up now for the singles tournament and help your class. Freshmen signed include Catherine Lambert, Frances Lee, and Phyllis Watts. Sophomores entered are Anne Payne, Helen Wilson, Barbara Scott, Ophelia Whittle, and Spotswood Hunnicutt. Representing the juniors are Ruth Dugger and Mildred Droste. Seniors include Frances Parham, Fiddle Haymes, Frances Quillen, Anne Garnett, Hallie Hillsman, and Jean Carr.

Also a doubles set of matches will be scheduled and all classes are urged to have representatives to enter. To date few have signed for this event. From the seniors Anne Garnett and Frances Quillen will pair in doubles and Hallie Hillsman and Jean Carr. Other green and whites have not indicated as to whether they will play doubles, but they will sign up this week, if arrangements are made. No red and white players have signed up for doubles yet.

Last year's tournament proved a great success and all enjoyed the matches played. Ruth Dugger, red and white sophomore, won the tournament in singles; and Ruth Dugger and Mildred Droste won first place in doubles last year.

Cheatwood Elected Pegasus President

Joyce Cheatwood was re-elected president of Pegasus Riding Club at a meeting held last night in the Riding Club room. Joyce, who is from Richmond, is a member of the incoming Junior class, and this will be her second year in office. Other officers elected are Jean Carter Smith, vice-president; Martha Higgins, secretary, and Betty Little, treasurer.

The meeting was turned over to Miss Stella Fox, riding directress, who gave further instructions to girls entering the competition. Miss Fox also asked that girls who have rides to make up do so before May 12, as the horses will not be ridden on Thursday or Friday before the show.

Committee reports were given by the various chairmen, and posters were distributed for circulation. Booths are being planned and the ring at Longwood will be completely prepared next week.

Entrants are again urged to pay their entry fees as soon as possible, in order that smaller details of the event may be arranged.

Library Fines

Continued from Page 1

.54; Martha Patterson, .06; Anne Pettis, .04; Charlotte Phillips, .32; Nell Pitchett, .04; Jean Prosise, .02; Frances Quillen, .92; Della Rainey, .04; Anne Randolph, .04; Kathryn Renneker, .04; Rosalie Rogers, .22; and Mary Ellen Scott, .04.

Also Mary Jane Scott, .06; Nell R. L. Scott, .12; Anne Seay, $2.04; Virginia Shackleford, .02; Jean Shadle, .44; Dawn Shanklin, 12; Nell Shanklin, .72; Kitty Shelburne, $2.40; Willie R. Shields, .34; Ada Claire Snyder, .04; Dorothy Southall, .04; Helen Stites, $1.68; Elizabeth Tennent, .20; Mary Louise Thomas, .16; Kathryn Tindall, .40; Mari B. Walker, $2.36; Phyllis aWtts, .22; Willye Webb, .02; Dolly Wilkerson, $1.12; Nancy Wilkerson, .10; Jane Williamson, .28; Sarah Wood, .02; and Alice Wooding, .42.

In addition to fines due where the books have been returned there are some 36 books which are overdue in the library. The fines on the books has grown and will continue to increase at the rate of two cents a day until the book is returned. Students with overdue books as of Monday night, May 3, are: Betty Agnew, two books due April 27; Jean Altiere, one book due March 29; Bernice Barnette, one book due April 24; Carolyn Beard, one book due February 22; Rosa Lee Bell, one book due April 30; Betty Buchanan, one book due March 4; Jean Berschwinger, one book due April 10; Vivian Edmunds, one book due April 28; Virginia Mae Ellett, one book due April 29; Elizabeth Fulcher, one book due April 27; Alyce Lee Fulton, one book due March 1; Elizabeth Gates, one book due April 30; Margaret Goodwyn, one book due February 11; Lilly Bec Gray, one book due April 26; and Alice Green, two books due April 29.

Also Carolyn Hammond, two books due April 27; June Herndon, one book due March 2; Marianne Hudson, one book due April 13; Grace Hutcheson, one book due February 23; Jeanne McChreitis, one book due April 22; Pat McCormick, one book due April 28; Anne Mapp, one book due December 4; Evelyn Morrissette, one book due February 10; Pat Osborne, one book due April 27; Betsy Owen, one book due April 18; Louise Parcell, one book due April 22; Agnes Patterson, one book due April 29; Nell Shanklin, one book due March 24; and Blanche Steel, one book due April 24.

Betty Ellis and Margaret Lemmon on their way to becoming Soft Ball Queens.

Softball Counter To Be Played Soon

Red and White will meet Green and White next week in a final softball game of the season to gain points toward the color cup. The exact time and date have not been set, but if weather permits Wednesday, May 12 will be the likely date. Announcement concerning this will be made during the week.

In order to qualify for the softball team, eight practices are necessary. These can be secured any evening after supper on the athletic field where games are played. The color cup is almost ready to be presented to the winner of the most points in sports for the year. At present Green and White leads 30-25 against their opponents left in the race on tennis and archery.

In Restrospect

Continued from Page 1

tallest building, in less than three seconds . . . as they explored the Planetarium, seeing the entire solar system and its workings made simple before their eyes . . . as they shopped, window and otherwise, in the magic world of Lord and Taylor and Bonwit Teller . . . as they toured Riverside Drive in a top-heavy double-decker bus.

On the program for the evening was Thornton Wilder's new comedy "The Skin of Our Teeth", starring Tallulah Bankhead and Frederic March.

Even more comic to some was the bold warning found in a church bulletin the next morning: "May we remind those coming to the Altar for Holy Communion not to leave their purses in the pews."

With another splendid presentation of the "Requiem" at St. Thomas Church on Sunday afternoon, and another evening in Manhattan, the choristers wound up their schedule of events. 'Bout time, we'd say!

H20 Club Purchases New Diving Board

A new diving board has been purchased by the H2O club for the swimming pool. The old board which became warped and unsuitable for diving, has been removed.

In order to keep the new board in fit shape for those wishing to use it, several precautions are requested. First of all it will now be required that only one person stand on the board at a time. For much weight will again ruin the board and also another on the board with a diver breaks her diving spring. Care must be taken with the mat spread on the board and if such measures are carefully conformed to, this board should last for quite some time.

The swimming pool is being cleaned this week, thus no classes will be held, but beginning next week many physical classes and regular classes will use the pool. Remember the rules of the pool and keep all equipment in the best possible shape.

Pi Gamma Mu

Continued from Page 1

well-known scholars in public life or have given their time to practical social science.

Those girls accepting bids will be initiated at the next meeting of Pi Gamma Mu.

Women Faculty Members Increase, Men Decrease

As might be expected, the number of women faculty members in American universities, colleges and junior colleges has increased with the advance of the war. The number of men on college staffs has been reduced.

In all, an Office of Education survey discloses, the colleges have lost over 7,000 men from their faculties. They gained 470 women, giving a net decrease of 6,550 college faculty members. Teachers' colleges and normal schools have lost both men and women. During the year 1939-1940 there were 5,068 men and 4,059 women on the staffs of junior colleges alone. In the current year, 1942-43, on the basis of latest reports, there was only a one-man edge in the number of faculty members in junior colleges. Men numbered 4,372; women, 4,371.

It is no less noteworthy that the number of male students in colleges of all types has dropped in the three-year period by more than 22 per cent. In 1939-1940 there were approximately 900,000 men in all the colleges. Today the number is less by more than 200,000.

Latest in style—best in quality — brightest in color and freshest for spring.

JUNE ARDEN DRESSES

Sizes 10-20

$5.98

BALDWIN'S
QUALITY · PRICE · SERVICE STORE

C. E. Chappell Co.
Fountain Service
Visit us for the BEST
PHONE 63

Mothers Day Flowers
5 and 10 cents
Rose's 5-10-25c Store

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
For that in-between snack
Visit our Sanitary
Cookie Department

So you want to be the BELLE OF THE BALL? Have your formals for May Day Dance cleaned at
DeLuxe Cleaners

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
PHONE 139

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Buy Costume Jewelery To Match the New Spring Colors at
Martin the Jeweler

Meet Me
at
SHANNON'S

Wilson's Firestone Store
Tennis Rackets from $2.29 to $12.00
Tennis Balls 3 for $1.59
111A WEST THIRD ST.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

Sunburn, Percales, Chambray And Still Spring Lags Late

Though Spring has, it seems, been lost on the way as far as its warmth is concerned, it has not lost any of the signs and symbols that signify its coming at S. T. C. To us Spring is symbolized by chambray dresses and pinafores, George Washington coiffeurs, flowers in the hair, sandals and bare legs, hours on the roof and its product, sunburn, beautiful and otherwise.

This year let's keep these familiar old symbols but let's make them better. Take this business of what to do with your curls. No matter who advocates upswept hair, it takes someone who is very near an expert to make it work out so that there aren't little springs left over. So unless your system is fool proof, let well enough alone. Or if you believe in quick and permanent changes, have your long bob turned into a Lana Turner cut. Don't make the mistake of trying to cut it yourself or letting your roommate butcher it for you. Remember it is your wig and after it is cut, no matter how, you are stuck with it.

This bare leg business is a great institution. A privilege enjoyed by all. But in that as in all things there is a right and wrong. If you study instead of sunburn, invest next week's allowance in a good and easy to apply leg paint. Wear it until you have time to play in the sun and rid your appendages of their lily white complexion.

If on the other hand you are a lady of leisure and a roof dweller, remember you are still a member of the white race. There is a difference between a healthy tan and a mulatto. Please be kind to your skin and take it slowly and easy. Don't spend an entire day relaxing on the roof but scatter the hours of that day over the period of a week. That way you'll acquire a nice even tan without being a calamine covered Indian for two or three days. Don't go out for this spring sport in too large a way.

This spring make neatness your motto. Be comfortable without looking like you were thrown together in five minutes. After all, S. T. C. is not a scuth sea island.

STC Sun Worshippers Find Excitement On Dining Hall Roof

"Good grief, girl You look like a boiled lobster!"

"This? Oh, pooh . . . wait'll you see my back."

This crude comparison of an S. T. C. girl to a colorful crustacean of the deep is an every-day repetition in dialogue lately. Old Man Solar has been hard at work casting his gleaming beams 'pon the delicate bits of exposed anatomy of the would-be golden girls of the day, and his results are brightly obvious. Here and there one spots a rosy glow in an otherwise darkened corner, and instead of the first-used "Been out on the roof?", the question now flies forth, "How many hours were you out today?"

Far removed from the conventional Beach, the dining room roof has been the place of great attracton during this shining example of "How to Acquire Vitamin 'D' in the Raw." The flat, graveled surface has been literally peppered with human forms, sprawled immodestly on varl-colored blankets, and uncomfortable as this may be, 'tis undeniably effective. To an on-looker, it's a very reasonable facsimile of any of the better-known resorts, anyhow, and lots more convenient, for all it lacks is the ocean. Sun-tan lotion bottles gleam on every side; Cocacolas and Nabs disappear rapidly; movie magazines lie forgotten under the edges of pillows . . . and glistening backs burn steadily . . . and oh, so stealthily! Just for variety, card games are in full swing here and there, and when the wind dies down, stationery appears and letters grow by snatches. Text-books are in evidence, too, but somehow they all seem closed. A portable sounds off dreamily, and many of the nature-lovers snooze unconsciously, while the Sun glares on and completes his dazzling dirty-work. All is peace . . . until "That plane" zooms overhead again!

Oh, yes, there are interruptions. Anxious eyes turn skyward, not only toward buzzing motors, but to watch for treacherous storm clouds. There's a steady stream of girls going in and out when class-bells ring, and then there was the time a bewildered Male arrived, armed with tar-bucket and brush and did his blushing best to repair the leaks in the roof.

For the first few days people went around with scalded looks and blood-shot eyes, wincing under friendly back-claps and steering clear of wool skirts and scratchy sweaters, but now the vividness has faded into the desired golden-tan, which darkens instead of blistering, and gives a much healthier, happier appearance. And it's a mighty comforting thought to realize that you can be called "brown as a Berry" instead of "red as a lobster". Who knows? You might even gain the title of "Roof-Gal of '43"!

★ SENIOR ★ PERSONALITY ★

AGNES PATTERSON
Past President of the Student Body

To know Agnes, or A. P. as she is familiarly known, is to love her. Her quiet efficiency in performing her duties as student body president will long be remembered. To go to her for advice is a privilege.

Active in etxra-curracular activities throughout her college career, A. P. was Campus League chairman and secretary of her class during her sophomore year. Her junior year saw her as secretary of the student body and also secretary of her class. Alpha Kappa Gamma recognized her true qualities of character, leadership and scholarship by tapping her in her junior year. Her senior year found A. P. president of the student body and also president of the College War Council. Kappa Delta Pi, Beore Eh Thorn and Pi Gamma Mu recognized her high standards of scholarship. A. P. has been a member of May Court for two years and is a member of Cotillion Club.

We remember A. P. diligently keeping the records and minutes of various organizations of which she was secretary . . . listening to the symphony on Sunday afternoon . . . writing to the "General" . . . wearing a gorgeous engagement ring . . . preparing her assignments . . . graciously entertaining the soldiers at the U. S. O. center . . . attending movies . . . noticing and admiring small children . . . and for just being A. P.

A. P. will probably be found next year as the beloved teacher in a primary school—a position she will fill with ease—or if world conditions permit, she will become a blushing bride.

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

Just Looking, Thanks

A beautiful day in the merry, merry month of May plus . . . a beautiful May Queen and court plus . . . a beautiful background plus . . . colorful folk dances plus . . . the return of many alumnae and visiting mamas and papas and sisters and brothers and lots of etc., who made the dance sponsored by the Sophomores a great success . . . music by the V.M.I. Commanders . . . patriotic red, white and blue decorations . . . intermission parties in the chapter rooms . . . flowers and spring dresses all up to a perfect week end.

Those spring vacationing at home were Jane Morris, Shirley Stonell, Geneva Coleman, Theresa Edwards, Christine Eddins, Blanche Steele, Martha Hammock, Jeanne Richardson, Anne Ellett, Jean Arrington, Kyle Ainsworth, Lois Alphin, Dorothy Anderson, Rebecca Blanton, Lucy Bowling, Harriette Dowdy, Garnette Davis, Doris Dennis, Patricia Dodd, Alice Duncan, Iris Ferguson, Eloise Golladay, Martha Holman, Lucille Hall, Ellen Hudmorgan, Pat Maddox, Frances Satterfield, Anne Trotter and Eleanor Wade.

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, (Farmville, Va.)

ARE WE KEEPING UP WITH CURRENT AFFAIRS?

The Rotunda

WHAT IS YOUR PART IN THE WAR EFFORT?

VOL. XXII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, MAY 12, 1943 | No. 27

ACP Rates Rotunda "First Class" Judges Again Laud Sports Page

The Rotunda has again been rated a "First Class Excellent" newspaper by the Associated Collegiate Press in the regular critical service conducted by that organization for college papers. The issues judged were those for the fall of 1942. A First Class rating is second only to the highest award possible, that of All American Superior.

The sports section was especially praised this year as last, in the scorebook that was distributed this week to the colleges all over the nation by ACP. Emphasis was placed on the Sportspourri column, and all comments on the sports page were favorable.

The highest rating possible was given by the ACP judges to both the treatment and the style of the news with a suggestion that more news-feature material be used on the front page.

Comments of the judges on the editorial pages were all laudatory, with special mention to the "Question of the Week" and "Gleanings."

Several suggestions were made by the judges as to the makeup of the editorial page, namely, that the mast-head not be used across the top of the page, and that something be done to keep it from getting solid. Suggested too was a regular place for regular ads.

In criticizing the headline makeup the Rotunda was given credit for good use of an available type face, but the editors were advised to use more subheads and to make a more frequent use of Italics.

Last year the Rotunda received the same rating of First Class Excellent, and the year before was classed with the second class good papers. Last year also the Rotunda was rated first among college newspapers in the state by the judges at the Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association.

Ten Juniors Bid To Kappa Delta Pi For Honor Work

Kappa Delta Pi, national education fraternity, has issued bids to Louise Bell, Olive rBadshaw, Grace Collins, Frances Craddock, Ann Geisen, Elizabeth Ann Jordon, Catherine Johnson, Helen Shaw, Sara Trigg, and Eleanor Wade. All of these girls are members of the junior class.

In honor of the new members, the faculty, and students in the upper quartile of the freshman and soph classes, Kappa Delta Pi will entertain at a formal reception on Friday, May 14, from 8 o'clock till 10 o'clock. In the receiving line will be Miss Pauline Camper, adviser for Kappa Delta Pi, Eleanor Folk, retiring president; Mary Moore McCorkle, president-elect; and Rosalie Rogers, Alice Seebert, and Brookie Benton, old officers of the fraternity.

Thirty - seven freshmen and twenty sophomores have received invitations to the reception.

Freshmen receiving invitations are Elizabeth Adams, Mildred Altice, Jane Anderson, Ann Lee Blanton, Carolyn Bobbitt, Aloise Boswell, Lucy Bowling, Fredrika

Continued on Page 4

Two Teams Attend Debate Convention At Hampden-Sydney

Four girls from the local Debate Club attended the Tau Kappa Alpha statewide convention at Hampden-Sydney last week. Ann Randolph and Virginia Sedgley, holding up the affirmative debated Jimmy Robertson and Johnny Owen, Hampden-Sydney's negative team, and won. Alice Nichols and Shirley Easterly, Farmville's negative team met defeat from Perry Hyde and Billy Coxe of Hampden-Sydney.

Following this, the girls attended the Tau Kappa Alpha banquet after which the same girls debated Lynchburg College boys. Again the Farmville affirmative won and the negative lost to Lynchburg College.

The convention closed with a reception given by the Hampden-Sydney O.D.K.'s for the group.

The colleges represented were Bridgewater College, Bridgewater; Lynchburg College, Lynchburg; University of Richmond, Richmond; Hampden-Sydney College, Hampden-Sydney; and Farmville S. T. C.

On Tuesday night Virginia Sedgley and Ann Randolph attended a meeting of the local Rotary Club and conducted an open forum discussion on post war problems.

Tonight the Debate Club is having its annual picnic at Longwood.

France Announces New Staff Members

Section Editing Planned for '44

Sara Wayne France, editor of the 1944 Virginian, has announced the appointment of Sara Byrd Williams, of Woodstock, as photographic editor. She will succeed Louise McCorkle in this position. Helen Wilson, Petersburg; Sara Jeffreys, Goldsboro, N. C.; and Mary Elizabeth Harvey, Roseland, will be the assistants on the photographic staff.

Jane Smith, Franklin, will head the literary staff succeeding Elisabeth McCoy. Patricia Maddox, Roanoke, and Kathryn Hutchinson, Norfolk, will be the assistants on the literary staff.

Virginia Terrell, Richmond, and Eleanor Corell, Portsmouth, will be co-editors of the art staff.

Instead of the usual way of editing the annual as one unit, it will be edited by sections and then put together as a whole. Section editors will be Mildred Droste, Ronceverte, W. Va.; Louise McCorkle, Farmville; Marilyn Bell, Richmond; Helen Wilson, Petersburg; and Shirley Cruser, Norfolk.

Mr. T. A. McCorkle, professor of chemistry and physics; Miss

Continued on Page 4

PSA Changes Name At Recent Meeting

Following the installation of officers last week, the Presbyterian Student Association voted to change its name to the Westminster Fellowship, according to an announcement made by president Lois Alphin this week. The Westminster Fellowship, is the new name for the state organization, although all the college groups have not yet accepted it.

New officers for the group are Lois Alphin, president; Agnes Stokes, vice-president; and Sara Bird Williams, secretary.

Messick Elected Head of College Choir; Cotillion Members Name Ellett President

Arrington, Pierce, Bridgforth Chosen

All Participate In Campus Interests

Virginia Mae Ellett, junior from Crewe, won in the election for president of the Cotillion Club for the coming year at the regular meeting last night. Jean Arrington, junior from Lynchburg was chosen to lead the figure at next year's Fall Cotillion. Betty Bridgforth, from Kenbridge, will serve as the new secretary-treasurer, and Shirley Pierce, Roanoke, will be the business manager.

Virginia Mae, who is active in Orchesis and in the Choir, was in the May Court this year and has been a member of Cotillion for three years. She is president of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority.

Jean was also in May Court this year. She is president of Gamma Psi, are society, secretary of the Dramatic Club, and president of Alpha Sigma Tau sorority.

Betty serves as class, representative in student government, and was president of her class her freshman year. She was active on both the freshman and sophomore commissions, and is a member of Sigma Sigma Sigma sorority.

Shirley has worked as assistant to the business manager of the Cotillion Club for two years. She is sports editor of the Rotunda, and active on the Athletic Association. She was on both the freshman and sophomore commissions and is a member of Mu Omega sorority.

Retiring officers of the Cotillion Club are Dot Childress, president; Helen Wiley Hardy, leader; Leona Moomaw, secretary; and Frances Parham, business manager.

JEAN PROSISE, LUCY MESSICK, ANN BLAIR

Forthcoming Colonade To Contain "Big Surprise". Declares Editor

The last issue of the Colonnade, which has gone to press and will come out about the last week in May, is dedicated to the seniors. According to Elizabeth Tennent, the new editor of the magazine, the issue will contain a big surprise.

The seniors particularly were asked to make contributions to this, their copy. Among the interesting articles by the seniors is a clever piece of wit by Ann Ware Smith entitled "Dear Diary" in which Ann reviews school life. Helen Delong, another senior, has written a story caled "It Was Her Wish", and Virginia Sedgley also displays her ability in a story entitled "Gad, Said the Man in the Gray Hat."

Dr. Walmsley, head of the history department, has written an article in this issue to the seniors. He calls it 'What Are You Going To Do About It?"

Also included in the magazine is "Highlands of Scotland" by Margaret Pattie, who is a native of Scotland and a member of the freshman class here. Two poems which received honorable mention in the recent Colonnade poetry contest will appear in this copy, too. They are Julia Messick's "The Seasons" and Katherine Tindall's "Little Old Lady."

Beckner Triumphs In Kappa Delta Pi Library Contest

Gerry Beckner, junior from Troutville, was awarded first place in the Kappa Delta Pi personal library contest in chapel program this morning, Wednesday. Second place was given to Jeanne Strick, junior from Farmville, and third prize was awarded to the collection belonging to Helen Wiley Hardy, senior from Farmville.

The contest closed Monday of this week with a public displayal of the individual collections of the contestants in the Browsing Room of the library. Serving as judges were Dr. Leroy Charles Merritt, librarian, and Mrs. Allen Stokes, of Farmville.

The only comment of the judges about the book collections was that some selections were too much conditioned by the Book of the Month suggestions.

The contest was initiated last fall by the honorary fraternity to encourage students to build their own personal libraries for use in later life. The plan was similar to one carried out in Westhampton College and Randolph - Macon

Plans are being made to extend the contest over four years and have the individual collections be made of books received or purchased during their entire college life.

Sororities Pledge 32 Spring Quarter

Thirty-two girls pledged sororities at the end of spring rushing period last week.

The new pledges are, Sigma Sigma Sigma: Dottie Gilmer, Mary Ann Jarrett and Mildred Shifflet; Gamma Theta: Virginia Hitchings and Nancy Pitts; Alpha Sigma Alpha: Jane Adams, Pat Gibson, Jackie Ritchie, Margie Pierce, Florence Smith, Viola Surring, and Elsie Thompson.

Pi Kappa Sigma pledged Carolyn Caldwell, Ann Darnell, Barbara Dickenson, Betty Little, Nancy Hall, Lela Marner, Margaret McIntyre, Kitty Rennecker, Jean Smith, and Betty Ann Wimbish.

Girls pledging Alpha Sigma Tau are Mary Ellen Haag, Lucy McKenry, Dorothy Glaston, Margaret Thomas, and Mary Brinson Walker.

Carolyn Huddle and Margaret Verell are the new Theta Sigma Upsilon pledges, and Mary Lou Dondley, Nell Scott and Delia Gregory pledged Phi eZta Sigma.

Five New Members Added For Test

Blair, Prosise, Beard Are Officers

Lucy Messick, sophomore from Front Royal, was elected president of the college choir last Thursday night, May 6, to succeed Fiddle Haymes. Ann Blair, sophomore from Portsmouth, vice-president; Jean Prosise, sophomore from Wilson, secretary; and Carolyn Beard, junior from Newport News, treasurer, were elected at the same time.

Bugg, Strick, Librarians

Librarians for next year will be Mary St. Clair Bugg and Jeanne Strick, juniors from Farmville. The executive committee will consist of the four officers and Pat Maddox.

Six student directors and four accompanists have been announced for the coming year. The directors are Carolyn Beard, Virginia Hitchings, Pat Maddox, Mary St. Clair Bugg, Jeanne Strick, and Beth Johnson. The accompanists are Constance Ozlin, Margie Hewlett, Hazel Phillips, and Alice Parkhurst.

Five new members who have been added for a term of probation are Jane Knapton, Mary Williams Calvert, Virginia Shackelford, Betty Albright, and Ann Snyder.

Messicks Plan Tour

The choir, which consists of fifty-six members, recently made a tour to New York where they broadcast Brahm's Requieum. They are now making plans for a good will tour to Canada next year. Lucy and Julia Messick are working with Miss Virginia Richards and director Alfred Strick as the planning committee for this trip.

College President Announces Fund

Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of State Teachers College, has announced the establishing of a loan fund by Zeta Tau Alpha, social sorority founded at Farmville State Teachers College in 1898 and now confined to liberal arts colleges. The new loan fund is in honor of the memory of Mrs. Maud Jones Horner, one of the founders of the sorority.

The loan fund is in the sum of three hundred dollars, and is to be given at the rate of one hundred dollars a year to deserving seniors. The loan is to be made without interest for a period of two years when it is expected to be repaid in full. In this way it is hoped that the fund will become perpetual.

Announcement of the loan fund has been made to Dr. Jarman by Miss May E. Youngberg, of Evaston, Ill., grand secretary-treasurer of Zeta Tau Alpha.

Richmond Alumnae Award Scholarship

In Richmond on Saturday afternoon, May 8, 1943, at a tea given in honor of Mrs. S. Gardner Waller, President of the Association of Farmville Alumnae, the Richmond Chapter of Alumnae announced an award scholarship of $100 for a girl from John Marshall or Thomas Jefferson High School who wishes to begin her college training for teaching at Farmville during the session of 1943-'44. This award is to be made on scholarship and leadership aptitudes and achievement as recognized by the faculties of the two high schools. The final selection will be left with the Scholarship Award Committee of the Richmond Chapter of Farmville Alumnae.

Continued on Page 4

NOTICE

The Colonnade staff announces that the annual short story contest will run this year as usual through the summer months with the deadline set for October 15, 1943.

All material must be typed when entered and will become the property of the Colonnade. There is no limit to the number of stories a student may enter and entries will be judged on character, development, setting, plot and climax.

There will be prizes for the best three stories and two honorable mentions. The winning entries will be published in the Colonnade.

Cupid's Season Bounces In With Usual Glee As Even Reporters Take To Poetry Writing

by Betty Deuel Cock

We, the People, agree as is, that girls are delightfully frivilous enough in normal times, but with Spring . . . Comes the Revolution! The starry eyes gleam brighter; the cherry lips grow redder, skirts and hair get shorter; and the Fever is here in the worst epidemic for years. Reporters grow weary and waste their time; editors tear their hair and threaten to fire the reporters; the patient printer shows his teeth in a painful grin, and says, "Oh, well . . . it's Spring".

Why the magic of this innocent word? What strange signal does it send forth to unsuspecting victims? Whereinlies the powerful secret? No one knows. We notice only that the first warm breeze brings not only the fragrance of daffodils from the nearby gardens, but the abundance of Daffy pills from the nearby male habitation. And this year something new has been added . . . in the form of those Navy representatives so hopelessly stranded at H.-S. C. Too bad, boys . . . ladies prefer Khaki.

And Khaki is only too in evidence this season, as one may have noticed from the front campus on Sunday afternoon. Why

Continued on Page 4

A blade of Grass,
A rippling brook,
A robin on the Wing.
A restless class,
Neglected book . . .
Gals 'n' Guys . . and Spring!

Peace Our Goal; Patriotism Our Motto

We Plan For A New World

"It has apparently become part of our national mood to shove aside all real consideration of the political and economic set-up of the post-war world, especially concrete proposals, until that day in the indefinite future when the war is won. We just don't want to worry about it now. If serious and eager thought about America's future is to begin anywhere, it must be in our colleges and universities. The world we are forgetting now is the world in which the classes of '43 and '44 and '45 and '46 will be living soon."

The above excerpt from the Cardinal Forum of the Daily Cardinal of the University of Wisconsin, places the responsibility of post war planing in the present on the colege students of today, the future citizens of the nation and the proposed world federation of nations. Have we, the students of Farmville State Teachers College accepted this responsibility and are we fulfilling it? Or do we too put off until that theoretical "tomorrow" the planning thereof.

If we are to have and to hold those four freedoms, if we are to participate in a world government, if we are to make our democracy so attractive that the nations of the world will accept it as the best plan for themselves, if we are to be good citizens of tomorrow's world, we must begin to think now about that world. It is to be our world —why should the older generation, many of whom will not live to see their plans carried out, why should they plan for us?

Concrete plans have already been suggested. Let us right here in this school not be left out of the movement, let us become aware of our duty—it is our duty—and let us do it!—J. W. R.

We Determine To Carry On

This war is hard on college girls. No longer are there rides home any and every week-end; no longer can our parents drive down to see us on Sunday afternoon. Chocolate cake from home is an unheard of luxury of the past. Our dances are ruined because the favored young men cannot attend.

Of course we still have our school, but who wants to go to school? This being May, we remember Horace Mann, the father of public education, who, about one hundred years ago gave much time and effort toward initiating a program of education for everyone. He realized the importance of education for the masses if our country were to enjoy any success in the field of democracy. But what was that attitude we were hearing about the bores of the war for college girls? Perhaps we were hasty. We are college girls. We are proud to be college girls, proud to be learning, to be part of an institution that still believes in the freedom that is born of education.

We Serve By Dancing

A little over a year ago the USO committee was organized on this campus as part of the College War Council. In its first months of life the committee became an active one, doing vital war work in helping to keep up the morale of the men in the service.

With increased work the committee began last fall as a separate unit. From the very first, the girls on the committee have worked hard and faithfuly. They have given freely of their time and passed up many other opportunities in order to do their bit for the war effort.

It has not been an easy task that of the members of the College USO committeee. It has not been easy to find girls to go down to the center every Sunday afternoon and on alternate Saturday nights. It has not been easy to raise money for the general fund for the center nor to find organizations to supply refreshments.

However against frightful odds the girls on the committee have made their program a successful one. Almost without exception something has been done for the service men in Farmville every week-end this year and often during the week. In addition to the regular dance and groups at the center on week-ends the College USO committee has done much in helping to keep the center itself running and has taken programs to Camp Pickett.

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertisinr by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers
MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Associate Editors
VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors
SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
ALICE WOODING ..... Proof Editor

Business Assistants
Helen Cobbs, Lillian Elliot, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Margie Pierce.

Staff Assistants
Mary Franklin Woodward, Martha Patterson, Clara Moses, Margaret Orange, M. J. Leavitt, Pat Maddox, Margaret Mish, Gladys Wilson, Betty Cock, Kathryn Hutchinson, Louise Bell, Virginia Sedgley, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Loline Warner, Bobbie Scott.

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

Of course, the biggest and best news of the war is the Tunisian gossip. It is fairly conclusive that both Rommel and Von Arnim have left Africa. Italian General Messe is left holding the bag while Allied forces continue mopping up exercises. Fifty thousand prisoners have already been taken. Sicily has been bombed furiously to prevent the Axis from taking refuge there. The biggest question now concerns the invasion of Europe. Germany evidently expects something in the Balkans because Rommel has been sent there to consolidate positions.

Russian news is also good. Novorossisk is being attacked. American planes and fighters are participating in the fight. Joseph Davis, the ex-ambassador to Russia has returned to Moscow with Litvinoff. On the surface, the reason is supposed to be the Polish-Russian quarrel. In reality, a major reason is to try to convince the Russians to let us use one of their cities for a base from which to bomb Japan. Russia and Japan have a fishing pact now and Russia does not seem to want to antagonize Japan by letting the United States use any Russian bases.

Washington is indulging in another game of anagrams by creating an Office of Civilian Supply. This means that the WPB will lose some of its power. Between the OCS, the WPB, AAA, WMC, CIO, and the FCC, the only sure thing I know is that I'm going NUTS.

Mademoiselle Says - - -

The most exciting incident of the whole week end occurred on Sunday night down in the Rec—where as you know anything can happen. Our attentions were gradually, if reluctantly, drawn from our dates to two soldiers on that platform affair just as you come down the steps. They were performing for a slowly increasing audience. Flips, double flips, triple flips, somersaults, etc., were wearing Miss Mary's rug down to the bare floor. Along with their act, they had a steady stream of patter to accompany each move. The ten o'clock bell rang on and no one heeded its clangor. Miss Royal finally announced the deadline. Whoever they were, the orchids of the week go to them for their amusing entertainment . . . Myrtle Lee Holt journeys to Georgia this Thursday to visit her Dick . . . Lula (She's a good actress) Moss gets those letters she is continually losing from Pvt. Jerry Taylor. The Pvt. is soon to be changed to Lt . . . Chi, the Beavers, Nu and other smal-time secret organizations are currently wondering who in the heck are the Cops. 'Tis rumored that a delegation composed of a member of each of the above named class has been sent to the Black Hawk to engage its services in solving this perplexing next puzzle. We anxiously await new developments. Will Chi be replaced by a new scare society? Or will the Black Hawk come to make a gallant rescue of lost prestige? Ah, we do indeed await developments. Follow this column—by next week maybe all will be revealed . . . But turning to lighter themes, we throw the bouquet of baby orchids to E. Kyle Ainsworth, as representing the most beautiful, most glamorous, most graceful Queen of the May, as portrayed in the Saturday night sing . . . That man with the flying machine has but definitely stolen P. Becker's heart away . . . With the army taking over the campus this week end, three men of the sea managed to wangle their way into the Rotunda . . . And those who went to the Armory Saturday night all saw the rivalry between a certain two soldiers over our Student Body Prexy. One time they very nearly came to biffs when each tried to break at the same time . . . Jo Shaffner has that serenader to end all serenaders, saxophone and all. Their mutual interest is music, of course . . . Don't ask B. Cock why the sudden (?) interest in the set up of the Tiger: She might give a glazed stare and say, "Gridley . . ." We also hear that THE Roy Cabell had Jane Waring rolling in the Aisle on Monday. Traitors, these reporters . . . Overheard in the Rotunda office, the receiving end of a long distance call from Rhode Island, consisting mainly of varying tones of "Oooh, Wayne!!" And speaking of 'phone calls, ask Ann Darnell if hers was worth the call-down she got for shreiking "Bob!!!" the other night.

Pettis went down to see if Stuart had become bald because of his prolonged illness. He hadn't but he was handsomer than ever as indicated by the stare in her eyes upon returning .

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

This afternoon at the Y "set-up" Conference, which is traditionally held at Longwood, the plan for the Y. W. C. A. as a whole and each committee were discussed, enlarged upon and finally brought into one big topic for the year 1943-44—Christian Faith For Today and Tomorrow. New ideas were developed and the old ones improved upon with all sorts of promises for fail when work begins in earnest. To make it a successful year every member of the Y. W. C. A. will be needed for support and actual ideas.

The Union Young People's Vesper Service which is held once a quarter will be held as an outdoor service this coming Sunday. The services will be held shortly after supper with the late afternoon sun adding inspiration. The new Church Cooperative Committee will be in charge of the program.

Letter To The Editor

Dear Editor,

I am having great difficulty in writing this epistle because of an injury sustained while quietly, unsuspectingly I wandered through the hall toward my class last week. I am a student here—strong, healthy, and more or less the athletic type. If I were not I do not think I could have lasted through the bumps and falls forced upon me by thoughtless human beings, I suppose, though I have often wondered as I slide headlong down the corridor if some animal hasn't escaped from a near-by zoo. I do not plead for myself but for the sake of the weaker students and our teacher who are not immune to collisions caused by scurrying, careless feet. I entreat you to be careful when you walk in the hall. Please do not slide around the wall as you turn a corner, run through the halls or travel on the wrong side. A polite "excuse me" will not mend a broken arm and after all you might be the unfortunate victim.

Sincerely
Lula Moss

Sophs Steal Seniors' Privilege As They Reminisce Year's Events

Many are the memories of the seniors who will leave this institution in June. But their sister class, the sophs, have reached the midpoint in their college careers. They have come out from under underclass inhibitions (whatever they be!) and they are ready to assume great responsibilities — why just next year the major officers will be elected from our class!

But we like to look back to catch and hold those half forgotten incidents that spice our life here. Those long nights on the Row (Ritzy, of course — what other?) when the Mish swung open a definitely closed door and said "All right—call down. I was up here last night and you weren't in bed. Now Dimpy, go home, and Budgy, if I catch you one more time . . ." Oh, those classic phrases can never be forgot. She had a hard time with us but Margaret has our very best wishes. She was bewitchingly different . . . Then the afternoon treks to Shannon's with Martha the Beautiful, Lacy, Hitch, and all the rest . . . Those phone calls in the wee hours for Miss Wentzel . . . And the time it rained and Burns, Birchfield, and McGuire jumped in the fishpool for a swim. No stuff . . . The 10 o'clock dash for cokes, the ever constant demand for nickels for the phone at the end of the Row . . . E. Kyle selling doughnuts in that gosh awful fetching gown affair and her pitiful song about the poor kid who needed dough, etc. She was what we call a scream . . . Then the time Moss memorized nearly the whole of the "White Cliffs" for our production at a moment's notice . . . And Dimpy and the circus stunt and the production. We'll never forget the sight of her standing on the piano in the Rec directing the whole thing, smoking furiously and getting things done . . . That scream, second only

Continued on Page 4

Question of the Week

What would you do if you suddenly discovered you had exactly six weeks left to live?

Anne Pettis: I'd go to Hampton.

Lelia Dowell: Relax and travel and just play.

Lula Moss: I'd go to New York and present my story to a producer, and beg that I be given a lead in a play. It would be a big enough attraction by advertising the fact that I had but six more weeks of life.

Evelyn Christian: I'd write my will, destroy my diary, and renew all my Church and religious contacts.

Sally Johnson: Go to Tech and get married.

Betty Blackwell: I'd marry Beverly . . . P. D. Q.!

Betty Kiger: Fly to Fort Knox.

Budgie Buttner: D--- if I know!

Kyle Ainsworth: Get all my friends together and spend the time with them.

Marilyn Bell: I'd want to spend the whole time all at one place . . somewhere by the water. The first week I would spend by myself, just thinking life over, and the other five I would like to have someone I love.

Lucille Winston: Catch up on my correspondence.

Virginia Terrell: I'd like to do all the things I like to do best, and eat all my favorite foods, and be with all my favorite people.

Lillian Goddin: I'd just live life as I'm living now and not think about death.

Frances Wentzel: I'd leave school right away and go to New York to spend the time with John.

Sue Clark: Go to Africa to see "Scobie".

Libby Heath: I'd wanna marry Johnny right away.

Anonymous: Prob'ly spend the whole darned time, getting up one history assignment so it would be right.

Jane Moseley: I don't know; what would you do?

Fay Johnson (Feature Editor): I'd like to murder the Editor . . . and the president of the House Council!

Pegasus Still Engrossed In Plans For Annual Horse Show To Be Staged At Longwood Ring Saturday, May 15

Underlying plans are still being released for the annual local horse shows which will be held at the Longwood Riding ring at 2 p. m., Saturday. The show which is sponsored by the Pegasus Riding Club, is open to all S. T. C. and Hampden-Sydney students as well as to local citizens.

Program Includes 14 Classes

The program as released by Joyce Cheatwood, president of Pegasus and general chairman, includes 14 classes subject to a change or elimination at the discretion of the judges and those in charge.

The first group on the program is a junior beginner's class, open to S. T. C. students only. Riders will be judged on horsemanship, walk and trot.

The three-gaited class is an open class for all and the horses will be shown at walk, trot and canter and will be judged on confirmation, soundness, and performance.

The senior beginner's class open only to S. T. C. students, will be judged on horsemanship, walk, trot, canter, and left- lead.

Fourth Group Paired

The fourth group consists of pairs of riders with the judgment based half on each. The section is open and horses will be judged on uniformity and likeness of horses in appearance and actions.

The jumping class, too, is open to the public. The jumps will be raised in case of a tie.

The intermediate class is open to only S. T. C. students and judgment will be based on horsemanship, walk, trot, canter, right and left leads.

The five gaited class is open to all and the horses will be shown at walk, trot, canter, slow, gait, and rack.

The class for local adults is not open to S. T. C. students and the horses will be shown at walk, trot, and canter.

There will be a special class for children, and there will also be a class open to only S. T. C.

The traditional Old Virginia Riders class is open to all and judgment will be based on apparent ease and suitability of horse and rider. The advanced horsemanship class is open to S. T. C. students and the judge may request any phase of riding of the contestants. There will be a special class for local children of high school age and under with the horses to be shown at walk, trot and canter. The costume class the final on the program, is open to all. Any type of animal and costume may be used, suitability and skill will be judged.

JOYCE CHEATWOOD
President of Pegasus

Decisive Softball Game To Be Played For Colors Tonight

Green and White softball fans will join the Red and White sport lovers when the two color teams join in the seasons softball game tonight at 7 p. m. on the athletic field.

After many weeks of practice this quarter, the classes will divide off according to their color and clash for that ever seeking "win" for the color cup points. This is the big game, one which marks either a heavy lead for Green and White points or a rise for the Reds.

Eight practices are required for eligibility for the game, so any persons eager to join their teams may receive practice every evening after dinner on the athletic field. Slips must be filled and placed in the box on the A. A. field house so practices may be recorded.

Last year prior to the class softball game, a faculty-student game was scheduled which aroused much interest for the sport of the season. The color game will be the only one this year, so everyone is expected either to witness the affair or to be out there cheering!

Orchesis Elects Dugger Head; 7 To Be Apprentices

At the regular meeting of Orchesis, modern dance group, which was held on Wednesday, May 5, officers for the ensuing year were elected. Ruth Dugger, junior from Denbeigh, was elected president to succeed Betty Sexton. Other officers elected were Gwendolyn Sampson, sophomore from Richmond, and Ophelia Whittle, sophomore from Petersburg, who will replace Alice Seebert as secretary and treasurer, respectively, Virginia Ellett will succeed Ellen Ebel as costume chairman.

Apprentices for the coming year will be Ann Jones, Lucie Harvie, Margaret Harvie, Martha Jean Leavitt, Lulu Moss, Patricia Garth and Kitty Rennecker. Elizabeth Ann Jordan, club accompanist, was voted an honorary member. The new members and officers will be guests at a party given in their honor on Wednesday night.

Tennis Tournament Postponed by Rain

Due to rain the first round of the tennis tournament was not completed as previously scheduled. In competition for the singles contest of games to be played in the first round are Anne Payne vs. Catherine Lambert, Mildred Droste vs. Fiddle Haymes, Frances Parham vs. Spotswood Hunnicut, Bobbie Scott vs. Frances Lee, Frances Quillen vs. Hallie Hillsman, and Helen Wilson vs. Ruth Dugger. Matches already completed are Ann Garnet winner over Jean Carr 6-2, 7-5 and Phyllis Watts over Ophelia Whittle, 6-0, 6-1.

These games must be completed this week in order that the single winner might score points for the color cup which will be awarded Friday in chapel.

Doubles matches are also in the tournament with Phyllis Watts and Ruth Dugger scheduled to play Jean Carr and Hallie Hillsman. Dottie Gilmer and Betsy Birchfield vs. Frances Lee and Margaret Orange, Mildred Droste and Catherine Lambert vs. Anne Garnett and Frances Quillen, and Anne W. Smith and Betty Burns against Frances Parham and Anne Payne complete the matches.

Ruth Dugger, junior, is manager of tennis.

SARA JEFFRIES
Monogram Club Prexy

Goldsboro Junior Leads Monogram

New Members Are Sophs, Juniors

Sara Jeffreys, junior of Goldsboro, N. C., was elected president of the Monogram Club last Thursday night, May 6, to replace Jean Carr.

Other officers are Edith Lovins, sophomore, replacing Frances Parham as vice-president, and Eleanor Wade, sophomore, as secretary-treasurer to replace Sara Wade Owen.

New members who were initiated are Patsy Connelly, Ruth Dugger, Sara Jeffreys, and Dottie Sue Simmons, juniors; Edith Lovins, Bobbie Scott, Eleanor Wade, and Helen Wilson, sophomores.

The Monogram Club has been active this year and has aided in the physical fitness program in the college. Numerous hikes have been one of the chief objectives this year along with work on Color Rush and play nights.

Savings through War Bond purchases already accomplished are almost sufficient to provide four years of college education for every young man and young woman in America between the ages of 18 and 21.

Sportspourri

By MARGARET ORANGE and M. J. LEAVITT

Softball—

Tonight at 7:00 p. m. the softball game between Green and White and Red and White will be played. This gives five points to the color cup. Eight practices are required for each player. We have enough from both colors to make up a god team. Come out and support your colors.

Tennis—

The tennis tournament will be held this week. Everyone is asked to play her matches when they are scheduled as we must finish al lof the games before Friday.

The students can cooperate with the players by stopping their game when they are asked so that the match can be played. Then they can come back some other time and play their game of tennis.

Archery—

There seems to be a lack of interest in Archery. What's the matter? Is it that you don't want to play or is is that you are just too lazy? You don't know what you are missing. Come out and see the tournament and then you can see for yourself what it's like.

Horse Show—

Don't forget the horse show Saturday, May 15. There wil be no admission. Come on out and see who can ride and who can't.

Swimming

Now that the pool is clean, why aren't more girls out? Recreational swimming is offered four times a week: every Monday, Wednesday and Friday at 4:30 and every Saturday night at 8:00.

The H20 club bought a new diving board, so you see that the pool is in top condition. We would like to see more girls in the pool. There is a life-guard on duty all the time, who will be happy to help on any of the swimming techniques.

The Freshman test will be given every Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoon at 3:50 p. m. and next Tuesday at 9:00 p. m. This will be the last time the test will be given.

Liggett, Meyers Send Cigarettes Overseas

A regular package of 20 Chesterfields free to 50,000 men each week—a million free cigarettes a week for Victory—are being sent to our fighting men at the front.

With the slogan "It's Victory Tunes for the boys over here and Victory Smokes for the boys over there," Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company makes this announcement five nights a week over the regular Fred Waring "Pleasure Time" radio broadcast (Mondays through Fridays on the National coast-to-coast network)—and also three nights a week on the Harry James program (Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday, Columbia coast-to-coast network).

The sending of a million Chesterfields, week after week to 50,000 fighting men, in foreign bases where smokes are hard to get and supplies not too frequently delivered, is largely the result of the radio public's interest in Chesterfield's outstanding radio shows.

Since last November, Fred Waring has been devoting his entire 15-minute broadcast to "Victory Tunes," playing and singing songs selected by the men in our Service Camps and dedicating each program to one of the camps or posts. So enthusiastic has been the response to this feature that Waring has enough requests on file to continue his salutes for months to come.

To date, eight new service songs have been written and presented by Fred Waring and so far this year 110 different Camps have voted on what they wanted Waring to play and then tuned in to hear the result. The songs

Continued on Page 4

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
PHONE 139

Rose's 5-10-25c Store
5 and 10 cents
We always have either Candy—Cookies—Fresh Nuts or all. Shop at this department for the best

C. E. Chappell Co.
Fountain Service
Visit us for the BEST
PHONE 63

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

Buy Costume Jewelery To Match the New Spring Colors at
Martin the Jeweler

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
See our complete line of Slack and Play Suits for summer sport wear

Meet Me
at
SHANNON'S

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

SPECIAL!
LADIES HOSE
75c $1.00 $1.35
Also BEAUTIFUL GLOVES And BAGS in many colors
BAGS $1.00—$1.79—$2.00
GLOVES $1.00 and $1.50
BUY YOUR GRADUATION PRESENTS EARLY
BALDWIN'S

GIRLS IN HORSE SHOW
Have your riding clothes cleaned at
DeLuxe Cleaners

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

NEW WAVES-SPARS BOOKLET OFFERED BY ALL NAVY RECRUITING STATIONS

The same ratings, pay and opportunities for advancement which in the past have led thousands of men to "choose the Navy" are now open to enlisted women in the WAVES and SPARS. Women from 20 to 36 years of age are eligible for enlistment.

"Never in history," says Secretary of the Navy Knox, "have American women been offered such a chance to serve their country. Never has there been such an urgent need for their service."

Full information about training and opportunities for useful work is contained in the new booklet, "How to Serve Your Country in the WAVES or SPARS." It is obtainable at all Navy Recruiting Stations and Offices of Naval Officer Procurement.

Fashion Tricksters Say "Create Illusions"; American Femmes Adapt Frocks To Figures

By JANE SMITH

Cotton dresses bring out a much greater variety of shapes and styles than sweaters and skirts so the problem of fitting dress to figure rears its ugly head once more. With the great freedom of design that is exercised in American fashions, any style is available for everyone who desires it. Two hundred pounders can wear dirndls and slim Janes can wear sleek very skimpy skirts. We are left to our own discretion as to type, color and design.

So, in order to bring out our good points and cover up or at least not emphasize our bad ones, there are a few tricks of the trade that create illusions that work miracles.

Dirndls, that good old American favorite, are considered by many to cover up a multitude of fauits. This is not entirely true. Anyone who wears a gathered skirt should have height eough to balance the width of the skirt. If you and Mrs. Five-by-Five have something in common remember that you just weren't born to be an eternal baby. Tall, thin people can wear pinafores and their variations.

Tall thin ones can't on the other hand wear suits with long slimming jackets without acquiring that towering telephone pole look. Jackets are fashions gifts to the plump for if chosen in vertical stripes they create an illusion of height which makes the weight insignificant.

Stripes are perhaps the greatest tricksters of all for they can make anything look like what it isn't. Horizontal stripes make that twenty pounds you lack less apparent or hide that twenty pounds that are where they shouldn't be.

Not only do stripes create line illusions—There are dozens of other good ways. Choose your need a vertical or horizontal illusion and follow its live patterns in your clothes and accessories — Long earrings, long bobs, V-necks, long waists, shoulder ruffles, quarter sleeves, solid colors and an extra half-inch length — all are uses for the vertical line. Horizontal impressions can be created by gathered skirts, round necks, fancy belts, contrasting two piece dresses, curl cuts and dozens of other means.

When you are accumulating your summer clothes keep line in mind and make your clothes do the most for you.

Year's Events

Continued from Page 2

to THE Ainsworth, Marilyn Bell and her speeches on any and every subject at any and every time . . . Bobbie Scott known to intimates as "Peepsie", hating to be kissed as much as her sister classman, S. W. Owen . . . The constant search for the two ironing boards of the class, "Who's got the ironing board?" is as frequent as the well known salutation, "Hey" . . . Christian and Trotter harmonizing on the W. and M. Alma Mater until even the people on the street stop in wonder. No, they couldn't stand it either . . . The ever-present bridge game going on on Third floor annex. "Anybody want to play bridge?" brought a head from every door on the hall. "I do—until class time!" . . . The furious cleaning-up as Mrs. Laing is sighted on her tri-weekly inspection tour . . . Spring and the feather cuts fluttering . . . Little Higgins trying to get the girls quiet. Ditto with Birdie, and her nightly argument with Hitch . . . Those mysterious red roses of Mary Lou Dondley . . . Cheatwood and Smith switching down the street in those good-looking riding togs . . . Chapel time and Helen Wilson gathering coke bottle from every imaginable and unimaginable place . . . Lelia D. and Best-Imitator - of - the - class B. Blackwell were voted as having the cleanest room in the whole school . . . The Black Hawk (Rumored to be Butzner, alias the bar tender) . . . Olive Bradshaw as the Boy in "Prunella" . . . Ah, Prunella — Terrell coming down the ladder—she was so darn cute! . . . Mrs. Vernon Brooks, nee Ruth Parker, Nu, G-girl, good girl, cute girl, et cetera . . . Class pianist, Jo Shaffner . . . The all night escapades of J. Ruffin—

Hobson Suceeds Price In Sorority

Jane Hobson, junior from Farmville, was recently elected president of Theta Sigma Upsilon sorority to succeed Ann Rice who has led the sorority for the past two years.

Other officers elected were Jean Akers, vice-president; Romelia Sayre, secretary; Ann Leatherbury, treasurer; Naomi Major, social chairman; Alice Green, room chairman, and Jean Prosise, editor of the publication.

Nancy Saunders Weds Sgt. Roy Snyder

The wedding of Nancy Saunders, class of '41, and Sgt. William Roy Snyder, of Altavista, was performed on Saturday, May 8, in Warrenton. Ada Claire Snyder, sister of the groom was the brides maid of honor and only attendant.

Nancy graduated from Farmville in 1941 and was a member of Alpha Sigma Tau sorority.

Pi Kappa Sigma Has Annual Banquet

Pi Kappa Sigma sorority held its annual banquet at Longwood last Friday with both old and new members and pledges present. Dr. J. L. Jarman and Miss Ruth Gleaves, adviser for the Panhellenic Association were the guests of the sorority at the banquet.

Toastmistress for the night was Virginia Mae Ellett, and toasts were given by Martha Higgins, Martha Patterson, Katherine Lynch, Kitty Patrick, Virginia Mae Ellett, and Will Hall.

The national color scheme of the sorority was carried out in the place cards of blue and gold which were shaped in the shield symbol of the sorority.

Award Scholarships

Continued from Page 1

Mrs. T. J. Starke, President of the Richmond chapter, who was hostess at the Saturday afternoon tea, made this announcement. Dr. Jarman responded with an expression of his appreciation of the very excellent work done by the "Richmond girls" during the last year. He recognized the fact that this scholarship is unique, in that it stresses the very high esteem in which the Richmond group hoids the teaching profession. (The applicant for scholarship must express a desire to become a teacher.)

Miss Pauline Camper, Miss Mary Peck, and Mr. S. M. Graham were guests on this occasion.

"But coke bottles make such a pretty sound when rolled down the quiet hall at 3 a. m." . . . Poised, well-dressed, "Please cooperate" Myrtle Lee . . . Little, blonde, hard-working Pat Garth . . . Most thoughtful and appreciated deed of the year; Alice Nichols suggesting that half the proceeds from our May Day dance be used to refurnish the Rec . . .

But of all the reminiscences we shan't forget Mr. Raymond Holliday French, perhaps better known as "Charlie - Hop" So much could be said but the most used and best is "I declare, that man is undoubtedly and positively the sweetest man on earth!"

With all due respect to the seniors, we of the class of '45 with all our idosyncracies hope to step into your shoes!

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

College Girls Aid In Bandage Rally

Of the 21, 925 bandages rolled in Prince Edward County in April, the college girls rolled 2,625 of them, according to Virginia Treakle, chairman of the service committee of the Y. W. C. A. There was a total of 90 workers rolling 150½ hours.

The March quota for the county was 25,380 with the students rolling 3,124 bandages. There were 101 workers in March rolling 104½ hours.

All girls are invited to help with this work on Wednesday nights in rooms A & B from 7 to 8 p. m. or from 9 to 10 p. m. The pan-Heienic council is working in collaboration with the service committee on this work, and the eight sororities on campus are helping with this work. However, the student body at large is urged to come out and help roll bandages for injured service men.

Cupid's Season

Continued on Page 3

plant grass? It's Spring . . . and grass is grown to relax in and enjoy.

The slight unpleasantries rear their ugly heads among us, too, with snakes and bugs and ye olde spring cleaning. Why wash the windows now, when they're open all the time?

Love . . . we dare not neglect love, though it be Puppy love, Careless Love, True love, or Love at First Sight . . . It's there and it's to be put up with. It's part of Spring. Letters grow tenderer, phone calls grow longer, biushes grow prettier, and romances grow. The symptoms are all here, from the shining eyes and loss of appetite to the burning lights and lack of study. 'Tis well that Spring comes only once a year.

Spring flowers, spring dances, spring clothes, spring cleaning, spring fever . . . who can cover them all in such an inadequate manner? We've even neglected the faithful spring quotations, but in springtime one can be forgiven for almost anything.

Therefore we leave this thought with you . . . it's yours to spiurge or spurn as you see fit:

When balmy breezes sooth the Snakes,
And Wolves begin to sing,
Lay not on Cupid all the blame,
Lay most of it on Spring!

Kappa Delta Pi

Continued from Page 1

Butt, Helen Carpenter, Emily Carper, Shirley Cruser, Martha Ann Davis, Louise Dawson, Nancy Fuqua, Lucie Harvie, Margaret Hewlett, and Margaret Hickman.

Also, Rosa Hill, Rachel Hines, Leila Holloway, Kathryn Hutchinson, Nancy Ingle, Rosalie Jones, Kitty Maddox, Ann Martin, Julia Messick, Mary Rebecca Norfleet, and Patricia Ann Osborne.

Also Constance Ozlin, Katherine Prebble, Virginia Radogna, Jacqueline Showalter, Margaret Etta Smith, Agnes Stokes, Virginia Treakle, Faith Weeks, and Betty Wimbish.

Virginia Abernathy, Margaret Barksdale, Marlyn Bell, Phyllis Ann Butler, Mary William Calvert, Leila Dowell, Nancy Jane Hall, Nancy Harrell, Nell Glynne Holloway, Mary Ann Jarratt, Harriette Moore, Alice Nichols Jean Prosise, Sally Robertson, Jane Ruffin, Edith Sanford, Josephine Shaffner, Ophelia Whittle, Sara Bird Williams, and Mary Franklin Woodward are the sophomores who are in the upper quartile of this class.

Lucile Cheatham is general chairman for the reception which will be held in Student Lounge.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

AMY READ
Past President of Y. W. C. A.

It's rare as a day in June when an individual can be a leader and continue to have people thinking as much of her as they did when she took over her position as leader. It is that same sort of rarity that applies to Amy Read. She has lived that bumpy, lumpy, uncanny life of a Y. W. C. A. president this past year; she has been active on the War Council, a member of Alpha Kappa Gamma, national leadership fraternity and has had numerous other jobs with which she has dealt with patience and understanding.

Things go wrong for all of us some days—but the ability to meet upsets and setbacks with a grin and some such words as "It will turn out for the best" belongs to only a few—Amy among them.

You can walk in most any time of day and find the faithful old "vic" grinding out some super-jazz or a Beethoven Symphony all according to mood—her own or somebody else's.

There are always letters to be written there too. Some go to the Navy in New York and some to nearer corners . . . But we rather imagine N. Y. isn't neglected.

If you feel blue any of these days you might drop around to see Amy. Her infectious grin will get you every time.

Virginian Staff

Continued from Page 1

Virginia Bedford, associate professor of fine and applied arts; and Miss Nancy Foster, assistant professor of English, are the faculty advisers of the Virginian.

RECORDS
DECCA VICTOR
COLUMBIA OKEH
BLUEBIRD
We purchase worn out and broken solid records.
Wilson's Firestone Store

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

Spring has sprung! With the arrival of warmer weather many girls journeyed homeward in order to buy new cottons with which to replace their winter-year sweaters and skirts, to see about jobs for the summer, or just to see their families once more before the unhappy day when exams will arrive.

Among those who went home were Nancye Allen, Sara Wayne France, Linda Crowder, Olive Bradshaw, Brookie Benton, Libbie Bernard, Marilyn Bell, Edna Brown, Betty Bridgeforth, Mildred Corvin, and Minnie Lee Crumpler.

Also Nancy Courter, Alice Courter, Mary Crank, Sue Clark, Anne Covington, Frances Craddock, Evelyn Christian, Shirley Cruser, Louisa Dawson and Ruthie Dugger.

Also Virginia Ellett, Mary Foster, Cleo Frick, Dearing Fauntleroy, Vivian Gwaltney, Boo Gelsen, Leona Moomaw, Sara Massie Goode, Margaret Harvie, Beckie Lacy, Jac Hardy, Nancy Hutter, Margie Hewlett, and Minnie Rose Hawthorne.

Also Lucie Harvie, Betty Jones, Dodie Jones, Frances Lee, Kitty Maddox, Miggie Mish, Kitty Patrick, Betty Reid, Shirley Richardson, Jane Waring Ruffin, Betty Wright and Barbara White.

To Newport News to attend a horse show went Ann Payne and Julia Glenn, while to Emporia with Jane Moseley went Betty Agnew, Lucy Manson and Bobbie Scott.

Inez and Lucille Jones had a houseful of S. T. C.ers in Saunton, including M. K. Ingham, Margaret Bowling, Fiddie Haymes, and Mildred Droste, while Ann Blair, Jean Garland and Martha Higgins went to Petersburg to visit Jerry Titmus.

Betty Pat Lewis attended the dances in Ashland and Maggie Kitchin and Ellen Ebel went the other way to Virginia Beach.

Among those who made longer trips were Anne Ware Smith, who went to Wilmington, N C, to see her husband; Caroiyn Beard who went to Newton, N. C.; Kitty Renneker, who visited her mother in Baltimore, Md.; and Patsy McCullouch who attended her brother's wedding in Dayton, Ohio.

Federal Positions Offered To Women

College women have increasing opportunities for employment in government, and now practically 70 per cent of all new appointmentees are women.

The recruitment of several thousand college women under examinations for junior professional assistant has had a profound effect, in the view of Donald C. Stone, assistant director of the Budget Bureau. Rapid promotions in many cases led him to reflect: "My faith is that with the dearth of adequately trained persons, promotion of many of these young employees to high positions has come too rapidly. In any event, there is a desperate search going on by all agencies for persons qualified for administrative work of all grades from juniors to the heads of bureaus and divisions."

Of 1,900 war occupations, 1,468 are listed by the Social Security Board as suitable for women. An additional 276 are listed as partialy suitable.

Cigarettes Overseas

Continued from Page 3

for Naval Aviation; "Roll Tanks Roll" for the Armored Forces; "Look Out Below" for the Parachute Troops; "The Fight Quartermaster Corps;" "The Men of the Merchant Marines;" "Man to Man" for the marching soldiers of the Infantry; "In Navy Blue" for the Waves and "Hail to the Corps" for Marine Aviation.

Equally popular is Harry James' tribute to the men in the armed forces with his nightly feature called the "Chesterfield Special." Since Harry James' records are hard to get, he plays a "Chesterfield Special" every night over the air, so that the boys in the far-off spots can hear their favorites in the James arrangements, played through the mike exactly as the boys would hear them on their phonographs at camp.

James has recently been voted, in a popuiarity survey conducted by "Radio Life," Pacific Coast fan magazine, as the favorite recording artist, favorite sweet orchestra and favorite hot orchestra.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, (Farmville, Va.)

Library
2 copies

THINK NOW
FOR RECONSTRUCTION

The Rotunda

DON'T HANG OVER
THE ROTUNDA RAIL

VOL. XXII THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1943 No. 28

Juniors Select Agnes Patterson Honorary Member

Pilkinton Wins Senior Song Contest

Agnes Patterson, senior from Winston-Salem, N. C. and past president of Student Government, was selected to be honorary member of the class of 1944, Faye Nimmo, president of the class announced in the Senior Chapel exercises last Friday. Each year the junior class chooses a member of the graduating class as honorary member to return in the fall of the following year to assist in leading the figure at the Senior dance.

Senior Chapel exercises were begun as traditionally with the procession of the entire class to the Alma Mater. Seated in the auditorium directly behind the seniors were the members of the junior class all dressed in white.

AGNES PATTERSON

Devotions were led by Amy Read, past president of the Y. W. C. A., followed by an announcement by Betty Boutchard, president of the class to the effect that the senior songwriting contest was won by Ella Marsh Pilkinton, from Richmond. Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college, sang "Keep on Hoping", accompanied by Mr. Alfred Strick, head of the department of music. Betty Boutchard spoke a few words in appreciation to the faculty and administration and offered a challenge to the incoming senior class. The challenge was accepted by Faye Nimmo, president of the class of '44, at which time she made public the name of the honorary member of the class.

Then turning to the student body the seniors sang some dozen songs in farewell and in tribute, concluding with "Joys We Have Known". For the ressesional the senior class formed an arch with their caps, through which the junior class marched for the first time to the Alma Mater.

Freshmen Elect 4 Commission Members

At a freshman meeting last night, four girls were elected to replace members of the Freshman Commission who have resigned because of other offices or of inability to return to school next fall.

Girls elected were Lucy McHenry, Cumberland; Billy Waid, Fincastle; Virginia Shackleford, Gloucester Point; and Freddie Ann Butt, Portsmouth.

These girls will replace Minnie Lee Crumpler, recently chosen to the Y cabinet in the capacity of Freshman Counseller; Ann Martin, newly appointed chairman of the Library Committee of the Y. W. C. A.; Agnes Stokes, recently selected Prayers chairman; and Nancy Courter, who will not return to school in the fall.

"Do You Realize Responsibility As Women?" Asks Miss Moran

"This war and the post war period are the responsibility of today's youth," observed Miss Grace Moran in a Geography class meeting last week. "Particularly is it the responsibility of women; not the actual fighting and peace signing, of course, but the development of patience, understanding, and intelligent thinking which will act as an inspiration for those who are fighting and as an element of stabilization during the reconstruction."

"Women at home must be prepared to meet those returning from the fronts," she continued; "prepared with the realization that these will be changed, hardened men, men with a new outlook on life. Many will be men without jobs, disillusioned."

Miss Moran stated that for this reason education must not be neglected by women. It is their duty to remain in schools and colleges if possible, if not, then it is their duty to read and read widely. In this way only will women be able to share even partially the experience men who have fought have had. Only in this way will they be able to talk and think intelligently. She added that these—talking and thinking intelligently—will be women's specific duties.

Citing personal experiences followed World War I, Miss Moran stated that patience and sympathetic understanding must predominate if men's lives are to be reconstructed successfully.

Finally, she advised each student to ask herself frankly each morning, "What am I doing to shorten the war?" and thereupon each will want to do more to aid in the war effort.

Exhibit Sponsored By Art Department

Recognize Students For Special Talent

An exhibition of the work completed by the art students of the college during the past year was opened today in the recreation hall. Sponsored by the Department of Fine Arts, it will continue through Saturday, May 22.

The exhibit is grouped according to the accomplishments of specific courses as those offered for majors in Art, Home Economics, Elementary Education, and all elective courses. With the aid of an idealized character, 'Susie Q", the observer can follow the activities of an average student in laboratory and group work thus seeing how the various mediums have been adapted to the finished product.

The tempera mural, the center of the arrangement, was made and designed by Mary Lou Dondley, Eleanor Corell, Bette Wood, and Bobbie Livesay in a class in drawing and painting in various mediums. The idea of tools and materials as the language of the artist is depicted in the mural.

Outstanding student work is exhibited by Lucy Davis, Elizabeth Gates, Sarah Trigg, Elizabeth Tennent, Virginia Terrell, Nancy Lee Weeks, Helen Wiley Hardy, Lucille Winston, Mary Lou Dondley, Bobbie Livesay, Patricia Dodl, Bette Wood and Eleanor Corell.

Particularly impressive is the group of flower designs done in spray technique by several of the advanced art students. Of these the designs done by Elizabeth McCoy, Patricia Dodl, and Elizabeth Tennent are outstanding for the

Continued on Page 3

Eastern Shore Club Elects Trower Head

At a regular meeting of Eastern Shore Club held on last Friday night, May 14, Catherine Trower, sophomore from Eastville, was elected president for the coming year. Catherine is a commercial major and a member of the Pi Kappa Sigma sorority. She succeeds Ellen Scott who graduates this year.

The other newly elected officers of the club, Martha Ann Upshur, sophomore from Cheriton, vice-president, succeeding Petty T. Ross; Jewell Hunt, freshman from Eastville, succeeding Catherine Trower as secretary; Mary Fuqua, freshman from Cape Charles, treasurer, replacing Stella Scott; and Helen Savage from Franktown, reporter, replacing Ann Mapp.

The purpose of the Eastern Shore Club is to interest girls in coming to Farmville for their education.

Upperclasses Sign For Y Committees

Freshmen Continue In Same Position

Eighty - seven upperclassmen, who recently signed up for Y committees, have been announced by Francs Lee Hawthorne, president of the Y. W. C. A.

Patricia Garth will serve as head of the town girls committee. Upperclassmen on this comittee are Rosemary Elam, Elizabeth Gates, Jane Hobson, and Carolyn Huddle.

On the public affairs committee, headed by Mary Anne Jarrett, will be Nell Holloway, Catherine Trower, Nancy Harrell, Mary Watkins, Patricia Maddox, Lula Mocc, and Mildred Wilson.

Virginia Treakle, chairman of the service committee, will be assisted by Margaret Barksdale, Lucille Cheatham, Barbara Dickerson, Carolyn Early, Betty Overcash, Blanche Steel, Rachel Joyner, Elizabeth Scott, Evelyn Faw, Gertrude Moore, and Agnes Mitchell.

On sing committee, Mildred Droste, Elizabeth Goodwin, Evelyn Grizzard, Anne Hamlin, M. K. Ingham, Shirley Pierce, Gloria Pollard, Jean Prosise, Nell Shanklin, and Martha Watson will help chairman Isabel Sampson.

Chairman Agnes Stokes of the prayers committee will be aided by upperclassmen Margaret Goodwyn, Mary E. Grizzard, Mary Sue Palmer, Oliver Bradshaw, Mary Moore McCorkle, Roberta Davis, Alice Nichols, Marie Nichols, Shirley Easterly, and Virginia Terrell.

On the music committee, Elizabeth Ann Jordon, Mary Moore McCorkle, and Betty Blackwell will help chairman Connie Ozlin.

Anne Martin, chairman of the library committee, will have Jean Guy, Jeanne Strick, and Sarah Wood as upperclass assistants.

Virginia Lee Abernathy will aid chairman Eleanor Corell on the publicity committee.

The church cooperative committee headed by Ann Snyder is composed of upperclassmen, Sarah Lee East, Ella Pool, Mary Sterrett, Betty Watts, and Ella Banks Weathers.

Hannah Lee Crawford heads the membership committee and will be aided by Ann Blair, Carol Diggs, Helen Cobbs, Roberta Davis, Jane Ford, Martha Hite, Dora W. Jones, Margaret Lemon, Lucy Messick, Faye Nimmo, Mary Walker Watts, Eleanor Wade, Helen Wilson, Mary Franklin Woodward, and Helen McGuire.

Vivian Edmunds, chairman of the social committee, will be assisted by Joscelyn Gillum, Theresa Hutt, Hersey Hutt, Marion Orange, Elizabeth McLean, Beatrice Jones, Lillian Goddin, Lucille Lewis, Lucy Manson, Emily Ma-

Continued on Page 4

Walmsley to Speak At Senior Banquet May 28, Longwood

Darden to Deliver Graduation Address

The annual senior banquet to be held this year on Friday night, May 28, at Longwood at 6 o'clock, will open the series of events leading to graduation on June 21, Betty Boutchard, senior class president, revealed this week. Dr. James Elliot Walmsley, head of History department here will be the guest speaker at the banquet. Other guests include Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCorkle, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Graham, Miss Winnie Hiner, Miss Virgilia Bugg, Miss Maud K. Taliaferro, Mrs. Mary W. Watkins, and Miss Mary E. Peck.

On Saturday night, May 29, the Junior-Senior prom will take place in the gym at 8:30 o'clock. Hall Thurston and his orchestra from Rocky Mount, N. C., will furnish the music for the dance.

The Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered on Sunday night, May 30, at 8 o'clock by the Right Reverend William A. Brown, Bishop of the Diocese of Southern Virginia, from Portsmouth.

On Monday, May 31, at 10:30 a. m. the Senior class day exercises will be held in front of the library. At this time gifts will be presented to the school by Nancye Allen, class giftorian. The class historian, Winifred Wright, will give the history of the class. Following this program the traditional daisy chain exercise will take place.

At 8:30 o'clock Monday night there will be a reception for the Seniors and their guests in Student Building Lounge. Following this at 10:30 p. m. will be the traditional lantern parade through the Colonnade and around the Rotunda.

On Tuesday morning, June 1, at 10:30 the Graduation exercises will be held. Governor Colgate W. Darden will deliver the commencement address. At this time Heln Wiley Hardy, valedictorian, and Susie Moore, salutatorian, will deliver their addresses.

Local F. T. A. Bids, Initiates 6 Members

At the regular meeting of the J. L. Jarman chapter of Future Teachers of America, initiation of the new members was held. Mary Franklin Woodward, newly elected president, presided. The girls who were elected to membership at a recent meeting are Mary Jane Richards, freshman from Toano, cile Gray Parr, sophomore from Barhamsville, Alice Lee Davis, sophomore from Whaleyville, Cecile Gray Parr, freshman from

Continued on Page 3

Moore Dedicates 1943 Virginian To Iler, Senior Classman, Today; Annuals To Be Distributed Later

MISS OLIVE T. ILER

Bobbitt Will Cite Girls Receiving A.P.S. Promotion

Society Award For High Average Will Be Presented

At chapel exercises on Saturday, May 22, which will be Alpha Phi Sigma Day, those girls who have attained promotion in the society will be recognized by Carolyn Bobbitt, freshman from South Hill, who is president of the society.

At this time, also, an Alpha Phi Sigma key will be given by the national organization to the girl who has attained the highest average for the past three quarters.

Girls making a B average for the past two quarters are eligible for membership. Those who have received bids are Elizabeth Adams, Richmond; Mildred Aitlce, Rocky Mount; Aloise Boswell, Chase City; Freddie Butt, Portsmouth; Helen Carpenter, Richmond; Emily Carper, Rocky Mount; Shirley Cruser, Norfolk; Martha Anne Davis, Lynchburg; Louisa Dawson, Lynchburg; Lucy Harvie, Richmond; Margaret Hewlett, Richmond and Kathryn Hutchinson, Norfolk.

Also Nancy Ingle, Covington; Rosalie Jones, Richmond; Patsy McCullock, Buchanan; Katherine Maddox, Lynchburg; Ann Martin, Suffolk; Julia Messick, Front Royal; Rebecca Norfleet, Holland; Patricia Ann Osborne, Lynchburg; Katherine Prebble, Lynch-

Continued on Page 3

Cover Bears School Colors

Susie Moore, editor of the annual, dedicated the 1943 Virginian to Miss Olive Iler, classman of the class of '43 in chapel today. Miss Iler has been classman of the senior class since they were freshman, and she is a member of the Physical Education Department.

The annuals, in covers of blue and white leather, will be distributed to the student body at an early date. A sketch of the Rotunda is embossed on the upper right hand corner of the front of the annual, the editor revealed to the press today. In addition to being entitled the Virginian, Susie announced that the front cover bears the title "Farmville in 1943". The layout of the book is formal, but the writeups are informal, Susie continued.

The opening pages of the annual show various views and inside scenes of the buildings on the campus including Student Building, the Rotunda, the Library, Cunningham Hall and Longwood.

The second section of the book is devoted to the school including the faculty, administration, and home department and the classes arranged in seniority order.

Section three in the 1943 Virginian is concerned with the student organizations of the college, honor soceties, and the publications.

The social side of college is featured in the fourth section, which is given over to the sororities and other strictly social organizations.

Sports in the school are given the next section in the annual,

Continued on Page 3

Pi Gamma Mu Studies New World Order At Recent Meeting

In an open meeting of Pi Gamma Mu last night members of the organizations representing each of the major nations in the war presented the case of their country as regards the planning of a new world order. This was the concluding program of the study of A New World Order that the honorary social science fraternity has worked on for a year.

Ann Ellett introduced the students taking part on the program and gave a brief sketch of the conclusions drawn from the papers which have been presented throughout the year on a New World Order. Brookie Benton, representing Japan took the lead in telling what it seemed to her are the post war plans of the Land of the Rising Sun. As a citizen of Russia, Sarah Massie Goode presented the plans of Russia for the peace and the world to follow. Frances Craddock represented a citizen of China, Great Britain's plans were discussed by Helen Delong. Virginia Sedgley shared her ideas as to what the plans of Germany, and a summary of the post war plans of our own United States was presented by Ann Randolph.

The meeting, an open panel forum, was held in the Student Lounge with all faculty and members of honor organizations the invited guests.

Throughout the year papers have been presented on the pitfails of the Paris peace conference and the treaties following World War I, plans for the next peace, the justification of imperialism in the New World Order, and the attitude of the New World Order toward education and religion. Discussions have been held on each of these topics and also on the political and economic setup of the New World Order and an equitable distribution of the natural resources of the world.

Student Teaching Provides Experience, Agony, Hilarity

There comes a time in the life of almost every S. T. C. girl when she must try her hand at training the youth of the nation. Well, of Farmville and surrounding vicinity, then. With mind and heart set upon lofty ideals—and with the theories and methods absorbed in Education 335, 336, and 337 well in mind, she sets forth to inform and to reform.

Swiftly passes the brief period of observation, during which time the student teacher gazes with incredulity at "progressive methods" in action. Then, there arrives the day when she must rise upon watery knees and lead the class discussion.

The classroom door is ajar—let us engage in a bit of harmless eavesdropping. Ah, the lesson seems to be concerned with the different types of feeble-mindedness and insanity—

Student teacher: (with dignity) "A long time ago, they used to let the people who were mentally sick just wander at large. Later, they put them in jails where the townspeople came and ridiculed the poor lunatics. Today, we have more humane ways of dealing with these unfortunate people. Now, class, what are the three classes of feeble-mindedness?"

Fanny: "Idiots!"

Freda: "Morons!"

Joe: "Must come from a lack of vitamins. Morons don't know nutin'. Fanny's a moron!"

Student teacher: "It is not caused by a lack of vitamins; morons know something; and Fanny is not a moron! Anyway,

Continued on Page 3

Planning For Tomorrow - - -

We Accept A Challenge

Much has been written and said on this campus and elsewhere as to the place of college students in this war torn world. To know our place today, we must know something of what is to be our place tomorrow, for it is on the basis of tomorrow's world that the student of today must plan.

Regardless of the results of this barbarous warfare—and pray God that it be an Allied victory—the whole world will have to be re-educated to a new way of living, for tomorrow's world is not going to be like anything that we or anyone else has ever known. The ideals of the victor nations will clash around the peace conference table and the resultant set of ideals will form the basis for the new world, for the world federation of nations, perhaps for a lasting peace.

This re-education of the world will be up to us, the college students of today. It will be up to us to keep the torch of learning burning and to relight it all over the globe. It will be up to us to plant the seeds of the four freedoms in the hearts and souls of the Japanese and the Germans as deeply as they have been implanted in our make-up. When the end comes at last to this global war and the men come home to and from all parts of the world, there will be changes made. The mighty nations of the world will be economically, politically, and socially upset, many of them actually devastated by the battles. That is where we, the youth of today, come in. That will be the beginning of our world, and it will be up to us to rise from under the chaos and to raise the world to a level never known before.

—J. W. R.

We Specify Teaching

As another group of seniors prepares to graduate from a State Teachers College it is fitting that we here look at the situation of the profession which they have prepared for and will for the most part, enter—teaching.

In most schools throughout the state the teacher situation is a serious problem. Many of the men and women who have been on the teaching staff have answered their country's call to service in the armed forces or in essential work work. Thus is the field badly depleted. And at such a time when qualified teachers are of prime importance, when their influence in a community can be so great, when they are so badly needed to prepare the next generation for a new world, a world that no one can fathom, the lack of really prepared teachers is a major catastrophe.

To us who are enrolled in an institution specifically designed to prepare teachers, this is a great challenge, a challenge to influence high school graduates to enter teaching, a challenge to stick to teaching ourselves, a challenge to live up to what is expected and needed of teachers.

The position of teachers in the new world that will follow this chaotic war will be even more vital than they are today. The re-education of the world will not consist only of formal instruction in the school room, but that will be part of it. The teacher will be in contact with the young people of the country, will have the responsibility of training them in the ways of peace and justice. Her position will be even more honored and respected than in the present time.

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers
MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Associate Editors
VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors
SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
ALICE WOODING ..... Proof Editor

Business Assistants
Helen Cobbs, Lillian Elliot, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Margie Pierce.

Staff Assistants
Mary Franklin Woodward, Martha Patterson, Clara Moses, Margaret Orange, M. J. Leavitt, Pat Maddox, Margaret Mish, Gladys Wilson, Betty Cock, Kathryn Hutchinson, Louise Bell, Virginia Sedgley, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Loline Warner, Bobbie Scott.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 19, 1943

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

The feud between John L. Lewis and the WLB has broken out afresh. Lewis very neatly snubbed Ickes and only after a personal plea allowed the miners to continue working until May 31. The fight revolves around the fact that Lewis refuses to work with the WLB, the WLB doesn't want Ickes to step in the picture. What the miners want or need seems to be the least important factor in the fight. It seems to be a personal duel between Lewis and the government.

American forces have landed on Attu, the westernmost island in the Aleutian group. Heavy fogs prevent support of naval and air forces but the ground attack is fighting bravely on. The Americans are trying to drive all the Japs off Attu on Kiska where they then can affect a pincer movement and finally rout the Japs from the Alaska area.

Secrecy seems to be the keynote to the Hot Springs food parley. Over 200 foreign delegates plus technical experts will be present. This seems to be a foreshadow of a world peace table after the war. The newspaper men are excited about the fact that they are not allowed to listen in to the talks. This was an order issue by the President himself. One thing we do know, over 100 cases of wines and whiskeys have been ordered for the delegates, and everyone thought that food was to be the main topic of discussion.

Europe is being softened up for the coming invasion. The RAF wrecked some of the Ruhr dams Monday. Flood waters are pouring into two great industrial valleys in Germany, spreading death and ruin. Wellington bombers have dropped tons of bombs on Italy, even flying over Rome itself. The surprising thing is that anti-aircraft fire was not found either in Lido or Rome.

Churchill and Roosevelt have sent messages to Stalin and Chiang-Kai-shek telling them that invasion is near and that both Japan and Germany will be attacked.

Experts are saying that the war won't be over for two or three years. I doubt, in two or three years, if there will be many more men left to fight. Statistics prove that more Germans have already been killed, than there were Germans in the first place.

Mademoiselle Says - - -

Again the soldiers came out first in the dating situation this week end. Hampden-Sydney ran the usual close second with Fork Union failing into third place. From that institution came "the" man to delight little Ruth Garrison's heart . . . Marion Orange trekked home to see Grayson on furlough after a goodly absence . . . For the doings of Crump, we once more refer you to the H. S. Rounder . . . Surprise of the week comes from the Blair: Beverly surprised her with at least ¾ of the Hope diamond. It's gorgeous . . . Ask any girl who went to the second officers club at Pickett for information of that outing. It was the berries . . . Mix-up of the week includes Sally Johnson and Boy Friend No. I, who is one of Uncle Sam's boys now and Boy Friend No. 2 who is now pursuing the lamp of knowledge at Tech. During the week end, however, Uncle Sam's little boy was for once and for all and Tech remains triumphant. . . . Orchids of the week go to Miss Alma Porter—just on general principle for everybody would give a different reason as to why she should have them . . . Baby orchids of this week are showered upon black Nannie at Longwood because she's such a quick, efficient person and a sweet old thing into the bargain . . . And Custis, come out from hiding or is it that you and Fox can't share the same girl peaceable? . . . Hedgecock deserted H.-S. interests, turning to THE city of Hampton instead . . . Sunrise Shanklin may indeed be rising (to the altar soon) . . .

It must be the spring weather—so many girls are sporting new frat pins—Little Higgins with a Sigma Chi—and somewhere I saw a KA pin on a freshman.

Monday will be the day for three of those who were once in our midst to take the sacred oaths and be no longer free. V. M. I. wins with two of them, as Mary Jane Ritchie and Janet Jackson have the knots tied. Polly Cammack's "to be" will finish school this week, just in time for the long-awaited event Monday.

Nancy Watts has our deepest sympathy. After seeing Billy every day since September, she is suddenly left alone, as Billy leaves for camp . . . and we don't mean a summer resort!

Continued on Page 4

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

Everyone is urged to sign up for a Little Sister for next year. Sign on the poster on the Y. W. C. A. bulletin board. The new girls will need you in the fall.

Morning Watch will be held in the student lounge after breakfast every Sunday morning. You won't want to miss this opportunity.

This is the last week for rolling Red Cross bandages. Come out tonight and help. The boys need the bandages we roll.

The Seniors have charge of prayers this week. This may be your last chance to hear these students.

The place of Religion in a war torn world—Devotions for the week:

Monday—In the school or college:

Study to shew thyself approved unto God, a workman that needeth not to be ashamed, rightly dividing the word of truth. II Timothy 2:15.

Tuesday—In the home:

Let us not therefore judge one another anymore: but judge this rather that no man put a stumbling block or an occasion to fall in his brother's way. Romans 14:13.

Wednesday—

For by grace are ye saved through faith; and that not of yourselves: it is the gift of God:

Not of works, lest any man should boast. Ephesians 3:8.9.

Thursday — In the Business world:

But my God shall supply all your needs according to His riches in glory by Christ Jesus. Philippians 4:19.

Friday—With our service men:

I can do all things through Christ which strengtheneth me. Philippians 4:13.

FULL SPEED AHEAD

U. S. Treasury Dept. WSS 722D

Courtesy Miami Daily News

Question of the Week

What Are You Going to Do This Summer?

Martha Higgins — Rest my weary bones.

Betty Cock—Get a diamond and tour Virginia showing it off.

Shirley Kersey—Work, work, work.

Loline Warner—Work in the Securities Office—It's secure, anyway.

Isabel Sampson — Get famous as a reporter on the Skunkhollow Gazette.

Minnie Lee Crumpler—Work at the Norfolk Navy Yard.

"Ginny" Radogna — Since the Navy is coming to Hampden-Sydney, I guess I'll come to summer school here and look 'em over.

Helen Wiley Hardy—Going to Nassau—to visit my sister, NOT to see the Duchess!

Olive Bradshaw—It would take a volume to tell it now and an encyclopedia to tell it afterwards.

Ann Martin—Work for a dentist—and I hope he doesn't bite.

Rosa Hill—Stay at home and SLEEP!

Ann Blair—Bev and I both are going to school. The only snag is that his is in Annapolis and I'll be here.

Betty Overcash—Come to summer school for five weeks and then have a good time.

Jo Cooper—Take life easy for a change.

Margaret Lemmon — Come to summer school and have a jolly good time. Oh, yes, if I find time, I may study a little, too.

Mary Evelyn Pearsall—Go home and help Mother in the Victory Garden. There are rows to be hoed and chickens to be fed—and oh, yes, three little pigs.

Emily Kyle Ainsworth—Work in the Morale School in Lexington where they teach second lieutenants to play bean bag in seven languages.

"Tanny" Norfleet—Get lost in Washington. And wait for my hair to grow so I can be seen in public.

Pat Maddox—Keep house for Daddy.

Virginia Hitchings—No telling!

Vera Fifer—Langley Field for me.

Lula Moss—I'm going to be a plane caller at the Washingaon airport.

Shirley Easterly—Do social work in Richmond, I hope.

Jane Smith—I think I have a place on the newspaper at home writing socials.

Nella Rose Hunter—Go to Florida.

Edith Jones—Sleep a week, play a week, then go to work.

Jean Prosise—Rest my tongue, I won't have any roommate to

Continued on Page 3

Full Trunks Give Evidence: Homecoming Day Draws Nigh

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

They mark it in red on the calendar, they ring it with huge black circles, they speak of it in terms of awe and reverence—what, when? Why the 28th of May, the day when we will be going home, home to Norfolk and Richmond, Newcastle, Bowling Green, North Carolina, West Virginia, Florida and New York, Puerto Rico and Bolivia, Scotland, etc. No, all of us won't be going home, but even to those who aren't there'll be the end of another school year.

"Well, just finished packing!" "Isn't that wonderful? Makes it seem like it's really true—that we'll be home in ten days more or less." "It is true." "It is true." "I just can't believe it."

"What else can I pack?" "Please don't put the lamp in yet—we still have to see, you know."

"How in the world am I going to get Horace and Bedcheck and Sweet Darlin' in this trunk--" "Oh, you can't do that, the poor things."

But stuffed animals go the way of books and curtains, sweaters, packages of treasured mail—all into the old trunk. The trunk has really had a life since Charlie brought it up the elevator to 3rd. floor. It has barricaded numberless doors and been pushed madly down the hall piled high with crazy females. It is reached halfway to the attic, been the stepping stone for hardy creatures who dare to trial the dark above. Home now the to a safe and peaceful attic.

Just think—only 32 more meals in the dining hall. And subtract one feast in the tea room and a waffle at Cactus Inn—only 30 more meals and we might have angel food cake with chocolate sauce at one of them.

There is flurry and hurry. Dust rises from the corner of the closet—the one Mrs. Laing has never seen—thank heaven. The bookshelf is bare (and so it's the cupboard) Where we could hardly squeeze another thin volume in, now the poor textbooks rattle around so forlornly—there are not even enough to hold each other up.

These are the last days of school—so much to do, exams to be studied for, those trunks still yawning open. But the smell of spring is in the air and we usually end up walking to Butchers and consuming super chocolate milkshakes and planning the summer's reducing diet.

Resolutions float around—next year it is going to be different and we're certainly going to write endless letters so the mail box will always be full and maybe study occasionally and maybe, maybe, maybe, we'll get work done on time.

Juniors, Frosh Bat a 12-4 Game For Red and White in Softball To Give Colors a 5-Point Lead

Red and White again triumphed a victory over their Green and White opponents last night when both teams played the final softball game of the season in the clash for Color Cup points.

Beginning the game with a long hit into the center field, a three base run was made, followed by two more hits into right field chalking up two runs for the Reds. With a long and hard hit by Droste, three men returned home, thus scoring five runs at the end of the first inning for the Red and White team. Entering into bat, the greens faced a fast throwing pitcher, but were able to make hits to bases, but no score was made in the first inning.

Five more runs were made in the second inning for the Reds, who often had to slide for their base in order to remain safe. No score was made by either team in the third inning, but several flies, hit long and hard, showed that much strength, as well as determination, was with each player. The Greens, holding down the Juniors and Frosh did not score in the fourth, and only two runs were completed for the red team.

Bowles, knocking a long grounder through the red short stop and past left field, chalked a run for the Green, and then, with renewed determination, two more runs were scored. By the end of the fifth and last inning, Green and White had a score of four, and Red and White, 12.

Keeping the Red and White softball title for the second consecutive year, five more points will be added to their score for the Color Cup points . . . a five-point lead over the Greens.

Line-up:

Green-White	Pos.	Red-White
Bowles	C.	Leavitt
Parham	P.	Orange
Watts, M. W.	1st	Droste
Hillsman	SS	Dugger
Finnew	2nd	Mease
Bowling	SS	Pardon
Belote	3rd	Gwaltney
Owen	F.	Watts, P.
Wade	F.	Wright, K.
Carr	F.	Lee

Student Teacher

Continued from Page 1

some morons make very good citizens."

Filbert: "My father told me about a moron who thought he was the devil an'—"

Joe: "Aw, did ya' hear the one about the moron who ate firecrackers so that his hair would come out in bangs!"

Class: 'Ha. Ha."

Student teacher: (desperately) "I grant you that some of the funniest jokes are about these people." (With a glance at her scowling supervisor she restrains herself from telling a few of her favorite moron gags. Instead she tried a new slant—) "Did you know that a person who is insane is much stronger than other people because of the over-supply of adrenalin in his system?"

Filbert: "Then Superman sure must be off the beam!"

Student teacher: (Menacingly) "Filbert!—Now, they say that none of us are quite normal. Things that drive one person crazy won't bother someone else. The more convolutions in the brain—those little crevices that go in and out—"

Joe: "Like the ribbed part of Freda's sweater!"

Student teacher: (with finality) "All right, class! That's enough of your foolishness! You'll have a written lesson tomororw."

Class groans in unison . . .

Student teacher groans silently . . . . her ambitions are torn in shreds—she has lost faith in the Education department . . . in herself . . . in mankind. We, the Readers, groan in anticipation—or, if our practice teaching is a thing of the past, in relief and sympathetic understanding.

Buy Costume Jewelery To Match the New Spring Colors at

Martin the Jeweler

Grizzard, Jeffries Win for Red, White Archery Victory

Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, junior, gained a first place victory with 232 points in the annual archery tournament last Wednesday evening, May 14th, when Red and White colors again flashed a victory score.

Six contestants were entered in the contest to represent their colors, each having previously fulfiied the required number of practices to enter the tournament. Second place winner, Sara Jeffreys with 225 points, was also a red and white player. Irma Page, senior green and white, placed third with 201 points for her score.

Runners-up in the tournament were Marie Davis, senior; Eleanor Boothe, senior; and Mary Moore McCorkle, junior. The score for the contestants was larger this year than in previous tournaments, showing a greater skill and accuracy. hTe contest, which took place on the athletic field was in charge of Sara Jeffreys, manager. Five points will be added to the winner's score for the color cup clash, bringing the total to 35-35.

Dugger Announces Tennis Deadline

A final deadline has been set on contestants entered in the single and doubles tennis tournament, Ruth Rugger, manager, has announced. Due to rain the courts have been out of condition for playing, thus slowing up the process of the matches. However, the final date for scheduled games is tomorow, May 20, when the semi-finals and finals must be complete.

This rush in games is necessary in order to complete the games in time for the color cup award which will take place in chapel on Friday. Tennis remains the last issue of the color cup race for this season. The deadline must be met.

Games already played are Anne Barnett defeating Jean Carr 6-2, 7-5; Piddie Haymes defaulting to Mildred Droste; Phyllis Watts winner over Ophelia Whittle 6-0, 6-1; and Ruth Dugger triumphant over Helen Wilson 6-1, 6-1. Other matches have not reported results on the scoreboard. The second round shows Watts defeating Droste 6-0, 6-3.

All contestants must chalk up scores on the AA bulletin board after each match. Doubles must be completed by May 20. Entered in the doubles race are Phyllis Watts and Ruth Dugger against Jean Carr and Hallie Hillsman, Dottie Gilmer and Betsy Birchfield versus Frances Lee and Margaret Orange, Mildred Droste and Catherine Lambert against Ann Garnett and Frances Quillen, Anne Smith and Betty Burns versus Frances Parham and Anne Payne.

Art Department

Continued from Page 1

effect of light and dark plus their brilliant colors. Posters relating to war effort themes which were also done by the advanced students are excellent, as are the black and white drawings of student models done by the same group.

Rose's 5-10-25c Store

ANKLET—Full mercerized—turned down ribbed cuff; in light colors and white . . .

25c PAIR

Have your Clothes cleaned . .

. . . Before patching to take home

BEST SERVICE

DeLuxe Cleaners

Left Lead

Greetings to our readers from this new department, sponsored by the Riding Club, and bringing you the latest bits of Stable Chatter from Pegasus . . .

Turf Talk

The Horse Show was quite a success again, despite the cutting down on entries and audience. Bundles of hay to J. Cheatwood, Mary Sterrett and Gloria Poilard, who shone as usual . . . and unrationed amounts of sugar to the plucky beginners who posted themselves to victory in class number one. Credit, too, to the brazen S. T. C. riders who competed against the pounding townsmen in some of the pleasure classes. The costume event provided fun plus, not only for the riders and the spectators but for the judges and even the horses themselves.

Surprise Attack

Sumpter Priddy wasn't dressed for riding, but that didn't stop him from making a darned good show of himself anyhow. Kinda hard on his date, though, eh, Lynn?

It was fun to ride the town horses in preparation for and during the show, but next time we'll leave Mr. Reid's pony for "Junior" Smith . . . King instead of Try-me for Joyce . . . and Alice the Goon for any fool who wants him!

Something New, Etc.

The tiny patter of hoofprints we hear are not altogether those of Keep-a-way's colt, but of "Coffee", the new little black who arrived Monday. He's not much bigger than King Cole, but he seems to be a bit more even-tempered. More details on him next week.

It's a shame that the qustion of whether or not to campus girls who miss rides couldn't have been left up to the discretion of the Riding Club members. No one else is concerned, and no one else can quite understand all the angles to be considered. We just hope that the girls who ride won't take advantage of the new ruling and cause Miss Fox (or the horses) any unnecessary consternation.

'Bye Now

The delicate Princess has left the stables minus a favorite mount but comes the fall and once again her tiny hoof-beats will ring along the traji. We don't biame the guy who owns her, but we'll sure miss her here.

So as we told Princess . . . Stay on the bit, and good-bye for now.

Pegasus

The Virginian

Continued from Page 1

with special attention on the varied activities for the physical fitness program.

The final section of the 1943 Virginian is the feature section which includes informal snapshots of college life, the senior personalities, and May Day. Personalities featured are Betty Boutchard, president of the senior class; Dot Childress, president of the Cotillion Club; Hallie Hillsman, president of the Athletic Association; Margaret Mish, president of the House Council; Susie Moore, editor of the 1943 Virginian; Agnes Patterson, president of the Student Body; Amy Read, president of the Y. W. C. A.; and Winifred Wright, editor of the Colonnade.

Assisting Susie as Managing Editor of the 1943 Virginian was Sara Wayne Frances, recently selected editor of the 1944 annual.

College Shoppe

Try our delicious SANDWICHES

And Plate Lunches

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED

25c Per Role

Southside Drug Store

Cheatwood Tops Advanced Riders

Sterrett Earns Jumping Trophy

Pegasus riding club of S. T. C. presented the Farmville Annual Horse Show, with the aid of local horse owners and citizens, last Saturday, May 15, at Longwood riding ring. Judges for the show were Miss Elizabeth Burger, Farmville, and Mr. Herbert Wright, Roanoke, Virginia.

Entered in Class 1 for S. T. C. beginners, Janet Davis won first prize trophy, Gloria Allen placed second, Marie Kelly third, and Ann Darnell, fourth. Class 2 consisted of 3-gaited saddle horses shown at walk, trot, and canter. They were judged for conformation, soundness, and performance. Class 3 was made up of junior intermediates from S. T. C., judged on horsemanship, walk, trot, and canter. First prize trophy went to Julia Glenn; ribbons were awarded to Giggy Smith, second; Nancy Ingle, third; and Anne Payne, fourth.

The Hunter class was No. 4 in which first prize trophy was awarded to Mary Sterrett, S. T. C. riding Keepaway. Ribbons were won by Henry Newbill, Farmville, second place, riding Bill; F. B. Baldwin, third, riding Nickotie; and Gloria Poliard, S. T. C. fourth, riding Lindy. The Pair Riders classed horses shown at walk, trot, and canter, were judged on uniformity of style of riding and likeness of horses in action. First prize trophy went to Henry Newbill on Bill and F. G. Baldwin on Nickotie. Ribbons were presented to Martha Sydnor on Flicka and Betty Ellis on Midnite, second place; Pat Gibson on Pegasus, and Lucille Jones on Keepaway, third; and Mary Sterrett on Princess and Gloria Poilard on Skyrocket, fourth.

In the sixth class horses were shown at walk,trot, and canter, slow gait, and rack. F. H. Hanbury, Farmville, riding Kaiarama Boy, placed first. T. D. Smith, Farmville, riding Hi-Boy won second; Mary Sterrett, S. T. C., riding Princess, third; Mr. McCrae on King, fourth. Senior intermediates made up class 7 in which Martha Higgins won first prize trophy; Betty Little, second; Virginia Caviness, third; and Phyllis Watts, fourth.

Horses were shown at walk, trot, and canter in Class 8, Horsemanship, local adults: first prize trophy, F. H. Hanbury; second, Dance McCraw; third, Henry Newbill; and T. D. Smith, fourth. Children and beginners made up class 9, judged on horsemanship. Frances Sheppard, first place; Junior Smith, second; Lillie Sheppard, third; and Bessie Smith, fourth. Class 10 was made up of advanced S. T. C.: Joyce Cheatwood, first; Mary Sterrett, second; Elizabeth Goodwin, third; and Gloria Pollard, fourth.

In class 11 horses were judged on apparent comfort and suitability of horse to rider. Mr. Hanbury, first; Mr. Newbill, second; Mr. Smith, third; and Martha Sydnor, fourth. Open to students and local riders the next class was judged on horsemanship, walk, trot, canter. Martha Sydnor, first; Ann Taliaferro, second; and Jane Smith, third. The final class, the costume group was judged on costume and suitability of mount Ellis and Sterrett won first; Betty Cock, second; and Jean Altiere, third.

Meet Me at SHANNON'S

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to KLEANWELL CLEANERS

OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

Sportspourri

By M. J. LEAVITT

Rainy Weather

Last week the weather man was not so nice to S. T. C. The tennis tournament and the softball game were supposed to be played, but had to be postponed because of rain. Let's hope he will be good this week so that these games can be completed. The results of these activities will determine the winner of the color cup for this year.

Friday Chapel

In assembly this Friday the color cup will be presented to the winning colors. At the present time the points are tied, Green and White and Red and White even with 35 points. At the same program girls who have been outstanding in sports activities will be awarded white biazers. The senior girls outstanding in one or more sports will be awarded blue biazers. The program should be one of the best of the year, of course, all will want to be present to honor those girls who have stood for Farmville and to cheer for the winning color.

One Minute Sports Page

The New York Yankees haven't been out of first place since May 6, 1942.

Syracuse University, which couldn't dig up enough men for spring footbail practice, plans to organize an all girl band to play at football games next fall—Maybe the boys will be playing tackie instead of tubas.

Bob Wasserman, 19 year old sophomore at Ohio State and one of the ten tennis stars spends most of his time watching champions play. Now his coach believes he may become one himself.

Ann Ashley, 17 years oid, is one girl who doesn't scream when she gets a ducking. Ann is the first girl racing coxswain. She is a junior at Stanford University. Her crewe of husky six-footers say that Ann despite her scant 107 pounds is a hard taskmaster. She barks her orders, cailing the crew by their last names. It really looks as if this is a woman's world after all.

Bobbitt To Cite

Continued from Page 1

burg; Virginia Radogna, Purdy; Jacqueline Showalter, Norge; Faith Weeks, Purdy, and Betty Ann Wimbish, Rocky Mount.

Alpha Phi Sigma, a national scholarship honor society for freshmen and sophomores, was established on this campus in 1930 as a Delta Chapter of the organization.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Fountain Service

Visit us for the BEST

PHONE 63

Question of Week

Continued from Page 2

fuss at!

Anonymous—Do what I please, when I please and where, without the benefit of bells ringing all the time and Student Government and House Council Rules!

Isabel Willson—Work for my Pop.

Patty Ausborne—Nothin'.

Betty Wright—Just mess around and visit all my friends.

Cariotta Norfleet—Collect myself and attract a young eligible ensign or Lieutenant or something.

Millie Mease—There's a twosome at home that I don't like. I'm gonna break it up and maybe come back with the sparkler meant for the other woman.

Jane Philhower—I'll be slavin' at the New Waverly Hotel at Virginia Beach. Come down 'n' see me!

FFA Extends Bids

Continued from Page 1

New Glasgow, Gladys Wilson, junior from Bremo Bluff, and Aine Boss, sophomore from Haddock.

Other recently elected officers are Olive Bradshaw, vice president, Gloria Shepherd, secretary, and Frances Griffin, treasurer. The president appointed Mary Elizabeth Harvey, sophomore from Roseland, librarian for the coming year.

Here's what you've always wanted. Guide books to the lives and recorded music of the . . .

Great Composers

Tschaikowsky	aWgner
Mozart	Beethoven
Bach	Brams

Wilson's Firestone Store

111A WEST THIRD

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S

The Complete Drug Store

CLEAN FOUNTAIN

Stationery, Candy

Prescriptions are our specialty

PATT ERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.

238 Main St.

NEW DRESSES BOUGHT LAST WEEK IN NEW YORK FOR SUMMER WEAR AND IN LOVELY COLORS

PRICES FROM

$4.98 TO $12.98

BALDWIN'S

Girls Go Old-Time In Gay Pinafores, Pastels, or Chintz

Once in a while one style will become what is called a rage and everyone young and old will adopt it. This year the old fashioned pinafore has come into its own again. Everyone from three year olds up is wearing these beruffled apron dresses wth all kinds of blouses.

Pinafores have a purpose in addition to adding that childlike innocent look to anyone thus bedecked. They can be worn over anything to make it look fresh and clean when it isn't as spic and span as it could be. They make old dresses look new and new dresses different and winter dresses look like spring dresses.

There are many varieties of pinafores, all styles and colors. Some are pastel colors with white ruffling or ruffles of the same. Blue denim ones are advertized for work and play. Chintz ones are gay and colorful. But perhaps the all time favorite is the white one, well starched and as crisp and clean as can be. The trimming may be lace, if you can find any, or embroidered ruffling or even rick rack or ribbon.

Perhaps the nicest things about pinafores are the pockets, little and big, for carrying coke nickels and kleenex. You see pockets that are all shapes, round, heart-shaped, square, diamond-shaped or any other thinkable variety.

All these fine characteristics discussed above add up to one evident fact—that pinafores live up to that one great requirement of war time wardrobes, utility. They are becoming, change other clothes into something new and different, have pockets for change in these days of carry-your-own-packages and are feminine without being sissy. So get out your needle and thread and see what you can fix up. Use your ingenuity and stay well-dressed.

P. S.: Suggestion—Why not make those chintz draperies that you probably won't use next year into a pinafore. One curtain will make one so you and your roommate can be twins.

Pearsall Impresses Government Rules

"In order to secure the best possible group life certain regulations are necessary to guide student actions. Before any regulation can be carried out it must become a part of the student and the student must realize that in order to have intelligent, orderly community life, these regulations must be observed."

Student government regulations are observed as a whole by the student body but certain regulations have been underestimated. Though not as serious as some rules these mean as much to our college life and should be considered just as important.

Juniors and Seniors only may go to the movies on week nights by signing up in the Home Office.

No riding is allowed without permission. A written permission from the parents must be filed in the office of the Head of the Home.

Students must be chaperoned to the dentist's and town doctor's offices.

All students who desire friends to take a meal in the dining hall must get permission from the Head of the Home.

Girls communicating with students (except by writing) in the Infirmary without permission from the Infirmary Staff will be subject to a call down.

Girls may date on campus not later than 7:30 p. m.

Seniors must meet their dates in the Rotunda and then return to Senior Building.

Seniors may elect from their class a committee of seniors to act as chaperones for underclassmen to games.

Students are on their honor to report themselves or anyone else breaking Busy Signs or disobeying other House Council regulations.

A call down may be given for radios on during study hour and after 11:00.

A call down may be given for washing after 10:30.

Merritt Announces Library Addition Current Biography

"Stories behind the headlines" of hundreds of people prominent in the war news are now available in "Current Biography 1942", the great work book just received at the College Library, Leroy C. Merritt, librarian, announced today.

Although outstanding personalities in 24 varied professions and from 41 different countries are numbered in the 652 people included, "Current Biography 1942", published in New York by the H. W. Wilson Company, stresses the names figuring largely in the war.

More than ever before, "Current Biography" yearbook is the "open sesame" to facts about names in the news, for this 1942 volume as a war yearbook, with interesting and informal biographies of practically all the significant people connected with the world struggle—kings, dictators, presidents; statesmen, officials, diplomats, doubly important at a time when the word "war" almost equals the battlefields in intensity; military and naval leaders, including those of the WAVES and the WAAC; well known industrialists, more and more in the news as production becomes of national importance; labor leaders, very prominent in the controversy over manpower; famous war correspondents; and radio commentators, non-existent in the last conflict, but very much in evidence in this one.

An innovation, this year, is the inclusion of "big names" about whom too much information is available for easy access by the student. The busy reader, too, will welcome these concise, well rounded sketches of world leaders.

But in the preoccupation, religion, social service, radio, sport, etc., are well represented. Obituaries of 331 prominent people give full birth and death dates and reference to further material in generally available sources.

Refugee Students Cross Swiss Borders

A stirring report has just reached the World Student Service Fund at its office at 8 West 40th Street, N. Y. C., received in a roundabout way from its administering committee in Europe. This report tells of the exciting events which took place in southern France during the early fall of 1942, immediately after the deportation orders affecting Jews in France.

One of the important projects sponsored by the World Student Service Fund in Europe was the Student Home at Chambon, in the Haute Loire. This home meant a new life to more than thirty students, some of whom had been studying in the six French universities which were still operating, others of whom had been released from the huge refugee camps in France. All the students at Chambon were in desperate need of physical rehabilitation after months and years of undernourishment. At the Student Home it was possible to have a fairly adequate diet, to do healthful work on a farm, and to continue studies under a trained Director. The change in the appearance and morale of students after a few months under this comparatively normal regime was little short of miraculous.

At the beginning of August governmental authorities came to the Director of the Student Home to take a census of the young people living there.

The Convenient Store
For Faculty and Student Body
Good things to eat and drink
Butcher's
(High Street)

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

★ SENIOR ★ PERSONALITY ★

JANE SANFORD
Past Editor of Rotunda

With her usual quietness and poise, into the senior spotlight this week steps Jane Cabell Sanford, past editor of the Rotunda.

Jane lived in Farmville all during her college life, but this has not kept her from being extraordinarily active in half a dozen organizations on the campus. With the publications office as her headquarters, she could be found at school at all hours of the day and night, busily typing editorials or Pi Gamma Mu papers or writing snappy headlines for the Rotunda. The Rotunda was her pet problem child, but through all ts antics and troubles, Jane remained unperturbed. Late on Monday and Tuesday nights when the rest of the staff was pulling its hair in desperation, she sat calmly working untying knots for all sundry assistant editors and baffled reporters.

The very essence of quiet leadership, Jane was recognized by Alpha Kappa Gamma her junior year and served as president of the organization. Inspirational to work for and with because she so energetcially applies herself to any task assigned, Jane has a subtle wit and an unequalled sense of humor that breaks the profoundness of her dignity.

A sense of fairness, a strong character, depth of thought, and keen alertness and intelligence paint the real Jane, but we'll remember her too for her good-looking clothes that she designed herself, her poise, and her sly humor at 1 a. m. the night before the Rotunda went to press.

Student Body Votes Revised Constitution At Recent Meeting

At a student body meeting on last Wednesday night, the student body voted to leave as stated, Article 5, Section 9 of the Student Government Constitution which reads "The Editors-in-chief and the Business Managers of the Rotunda, the Virginian, and the Colonnade will be selected two weeks prior to major elections, by a committee composed of the retiring editors, the faculty advisor of each publication, and one senior appointed by the Student Council and approved by the Student Body." It had been suggested that these appointments be made one week after major elections but the majority of the Student Body desires to leave it as it now reads in the constitution.

To Article 8, Section 6 of the Student Government Constitution will be added "The fire marshals and air raid wardens shall be appointed in the Fall by the Fire Chief with the approval of the Head of the Home. The Fire Chief shall be an ex-officio member of the House Council.

The Student Body voted against putting girls on campus for breaking horseback riding appointment; however, some other method will be devised to help the Riding Club.

The article, stating that a person receiving 3 call downs from the dining room hostess as an assistant hostess will be subject to one week campus was passed in the fall and will be added to Article 8, Section 5—Dining Room Committee of the Student Government Constitution.

After discussion of the "No Smoking" sign in the Rotunda, it was voted than the President of the Student Government should appoint a committee to see the Head of the Home and Business Manager about making other arrangements for guests in the Rotunda. According to Mary Evelyn Pearsall, president of the Student Government, the committee is composed of Mildred Corvin, Charlotte Greeley, Josceiyn Gillum and Leona Moowmaw.

Mademoiselle Says

Continued from Page 2

There's little time left, but at least the Sensitive Trice is on the Wright track.

Latest in phone fantasies: Frances Lee saying, "No . . . you say it. I wanna hear you say it!" Matter, Lee . . . wouldn't he talk?

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

With June 1st and Commencement in the offing, many Farmville girls took the opportunity for one last week-end at home before exams. This also being the week-end of final dances at W. & L., V. P. I., U. of Virginia, and Davidson College, several of our more attractive Farmville-ites took off for these male institutions of learning.

Those taking the road toward home were Mildred Ames, Marilyn Bell, Jane Bentley, Aloise Boswell, Betty Edwards, Lucy Harvie, Beth Johnson, Marion Orange, Connie Ozlin, Helen Smith, and Gwen Sampson.

Also, Lucille Winston, Ella Banks Weathers, Patsy Connelly, Virginia Ellett, Mary Virginia Evans, and Beatrice Jones.

To Imogen Clayton's home in Bedford went Betty King, Frances Strohecker and Boo Geisen, while Nancy Guthrie went to Durham, N. C., to see her husband.

Nancy Wilkinson, Marilyn Johnson, Minnie Rose Hawthorne and Lyde Thompson spent the week-end in Kenbridge and in nearby Blackstone, were Pagie Frances and Charlotte Phillips.

Long distance record for the week was a tie between Fiddle Haymes who went north to her home in Manchester, N. H., and Myrtle Lee Holt who went in the opposite direction to Cockran, Ga.

Prom-trotters to the bitter end were Jac Hardy who attended dances at Davidson College; Gertrude Wright, who went to W. & L. finals; Betty Burns, Margaret Harvie, Helen McBuire, Viola Turner and Caroline Marshall, all of whom attended the German Club spring formal at Tech; and Eleanor Wade, Jane Johnson, Lillian Goddin and Aline Boss, who represented Farmville at the University of Virginia.

Members of the Debate Club were entertained at an indoor picnic supper last Wednesday night. Guests included Dr. Jarman, Dr. and Mrs. Swertfeger and Dr. Walmsley as well as members of the Debate Club and Pi Kappa Delta, honorary forensic society.

Eason Announces Examination Rules

Judy Eason, president of the House Council, has announced the rules for the examination period that will go into effect Monday night, May 24 and continue through Thursday night, May 27.

Quiet must be observed from 7 o'clock until 10 o'clock and must be resumed promptly at 10:30. Busy signs are good after 10:30 as well as during the regular study hour. Radios and record playing must not be played during the study hour or after 10:30. Unnecessary moving in the halls is prohibited and all must abide by these regulations.

A Student Government F will be recorded on the report of anyone who breaks the above rules.

Y Committees

Continued from Page 1

hood, Charlotte Price, Jane Knapton, Mary Lou Dondley, Eleanor Hall, Lois Baughman, Myrtle Lee Holt, Betsy Caldwell, Louise Mills and Ann Shaw.

Freshmen who signed up for committees in the winter will remain on their same committees for the coming year.

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
Large selection of Graduation Cards and Gifts

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
PHONE 139

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

Exam Hour—

Tuesday, May 25

8:05-10:25—Classes meeting at 10:05 ..... M. W. F.
10:30-12:30—Classes meeting at 11:40 ..... M. W. F.
1:50- 3:50—Classes meeting at 1:50 ..... T. T. S.

Wednesday, May 26

8:05-10:05—Classes meeting at 8:05 ..... T. T. S.
10:30-12:30—Clases meeting at 9:05 ..... T. T. S.
1:50- 3:50—Classes meeting at 2:50 ..... M. W. F.

Thursday, May 27

8:05-10:05—Classes meeting at 10:05 ..... T. T .S.
10:30-12:30—Classes meeting at 11:40 ..... T. T. S.
1:50- 3:50—Classes meeting at 1:50 ..... M. W. F.

Friday, May 28

8:05-10:05—Classes meeting at 8:05 ..... M. W. F.
10:30-12:30—Classes meeting at 9:05 ..... M .W. F.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
COCA-COLA BOTTLING COMPANY, (Farmville, Va.)

REGARD REGULATIONS DURING FINALS

The Rotunda

WRITE A SHORT STORY FOR THE COLONNADE

VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, MAY 25, 1943 No. 29

Better Race Relations Found In Real Christian Democracy

Noted Sociologist Speaks On Campus

"The working out of better race relations will have to be done in the spirit of Christian democracy and the churches are asked to give their leadership, their wisdom, and their influence to the undertaking," Dr. Gordon B. Hancock, professor of Sociology at the Virginian Union University in Richmond, told the class in Race Relations and a group of American Association of University Women and ministers last Thursday at S. T. C.

Dr. Hancock spoke to the group on race relations in the present war crisis with special emphasis on the new chart for race relations. In the words of Miss Florence Stubbs, of the S. T. C. Sociology department Dr. Hancock is among the most constructive workers in the field. "I know of no one in either race who is doing as fine a piece of work in race relations," Miss Stubbs told the press after Dr. Hancock's talk.

Dr. Hancock's talk was based on the report of the Southern Conference on Race Relations of which he was the director. Brought out at the Conference and in his talk were the political and civil rights, the industrial and labor privileges and conditions, service occupations, education, agriculture, military service, and social welfare and health. Commenting on the Conference report the Richmond News Leader wrote "With at least 75 per cent of the declaration every reasonable white man will probably find himself in complete accord. The plea for humanity and for economic justice, which is the basis of the statement, is the one that will produce more of agreement than ever has existed between races in the South."

Bradshaw Wins Scholarship Key For High Average

Alpha Phi Sigma Recognizes 19 Girls

Olive Bradshaw, sophomore from Rice, with the highest scholastic average for the longest period of time of any member of the local organization of Alpha Phi Sigma, was awarded the key given annually by the National Association of Alpha Phi Sigma in chapel last week when the Delta chapter celebrated its thirteenth year on this campus.

Alpha Phi Sigma recognizes three degrees of proficiency, novice, apprentice, and master. The masters degree is obtained by holding an average of Bx for two consecutive quarters. All girls who had attained their master's degrees this year were recognized at the chapel exercises.

The freshmen recognized were Anna Lee Blanton, Carolyn Bobbit, Lelia Holloway, Connie Ozlin, and Virginia Treakle.

The sophomores holding the degree are Olive Bradshaw, Margaret Barksdale, Mary William Calvert, Nancy Hall, Nell Holloway, Mary Anne Jarratt, Harriet Moore, Alice Nichols, Jean Prosise, Edith Sanford, Sally Robertson, Eleanor Wade, Sara Byrd Williams, and Mary Franklin Woodward.

Although the organization is primarily for freshmen and sophomores, Lillian Silen, a senior, has remained a member, and she holds a master's degree.

Anderson Will Head Local Latin Club

At the regular meeting of the Latin Club held at 5 o'clock on Thursday afternoon, Jane Anderson, freshman from Farmville, was elected president to replace Marjorie Felts.

Other officers elected were Margart Barksdale, sophomore from Java, vice-president to succeed Elizabeth Walker, and Katherine Johnson, sophomore from Dolphin, secretary and treasurer, to replace Margie Lee Culley.

The Latin Club is planning a very successful year under the leadership of Miss Minnie V. Rice.

Y Selects Delegates To National Seminar

From June 10 through June 15, a leadership seminar will be held at Berea College, Berea, Ky. The seminar will be made up of Y. M. C. A., and Y. W. C. A. presidents, representatives members and faculty advisors. The seminar will be inter-racial.

Frances Lee Hawthorne, newly elected president of the local Y. W. C. A., Nancy Hall, newly elected secretary, and Dr. George W. Jeffers will represent Farmville at the seminar.

The purpose of the seminar this year is to strengthen key faculty and student leaders as they attempt to meet the challenge facing Christian Associations on the college campus in 1943-1944. Major emphasis will be placed on two questions, How can a local association bring to the college community the resources of the Christian faith for contemporary living, and how can a local association provide experiences in which students may learn to act as responsible Christian citizens on the campus, in local communities, in national and world affairs?

Rotunda News Staff Adds B. Woodward

Betty Woodward, fresman from New Kent has recently been added to the news staff of the Rotunda, Ella Banks Weathers, edltor, announces. Betty has been trying out for the past few weeks and has proved herself worthy of a plact on the staff.

More members will be added to the staff early in the fall.

Library Books Due!

All students are reminded to return their library books today. All books were due on Monday, May 24, and must be returned by the close of examinations on Friday, May 28.

Stolen, But Found—

Student Discover Dog in Farmville

Nancy Wilkerson, sophomore from Kenbridge, recovered a dog that had been stolen from her soon after Christmas because she decided to go to the Presbyterian Church last Sunday.

The story began last fall when the small China Toy was bought from the Chief of Police in Kenbridge as a pet for Nancy. The dog was taught several tricks and was highly thought of by the entire family. However, as has been the fate of so many dogs in Kenbridge, Chinkie was stolen from Nancy's home a few days after Christmas.

Fart two in the story took place last Sunday, beginning with Nancy's decision to attend the Presbyterian Church. En route to the church she spied a little China Toy that looked so much like her Chinkie she couldn't resist calling him. It came to her call and responded to its name. When he immediately did the tricks she had taught him, Nancy was convinced that it was her dog wandering around homeless. But she was headed for church so she asked a man in a nearby filling station to keep the dog till services were over.

The services over, Nancy collected the dog and started back to school to relate the news to her family. However, there were other things in store for the dog. An army officer came from a house close by and whistled to the dog. Undecided what was expected of

Continued on Page 3

2 To Represent S. T. C. On Summer Caravan

Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, junior from Drewryville, and Anne Hamlin, sophomore from Surry, have been accepted to go on the Methodist Caravan this year. These caravans consist of Methodist students from colleges and universities all over the United States.

Mary Elizabeth will leave on the 19th of June to receive her training at Lake Junaluska near Durham, N. C. She will be sent somewhere east of the Mississippi and south of Virginia. Anne will leave on the 26th of June for Camp Inagagh, near Pottstown, Pennsylvania for her training. She will be sent north of Virginia and east of the Mississippi.

Catherine May represented Farmville on a similar caravan last year.

Hal Thurston's Swing Starts Commencement Ball Rolling; Senior Banquet Held Friday

Crawford Names Orientation Heads To Teach Freshmen

Seniors, Juniors Included On List

Hannah Lee Crawford, vice-president of the student body, and chairman of orientation for the coming year, has announced the student assistants who will conduct the classes for helping the freshman to get acquainted with the school next year.

Senior leaders named are Jane Ford, Mildred Droste, Sara Wayne France, Sara Jeffreys, Joscelyn Gillum, Sue Harper, Dottie Sue Simmons, Mary Moore McCorkle, Frances Strohecker, Faye Nimmo, Vivian Gwaltney, Shirley Pierce, and Virginia Mae Ellett.

Also Jane Smith, Patsy Connelly, Judy Eason, Lucille Lewis, Elizabeth Tennent, Kitty Vaughn, Ruth Dugger, Mildred Corvin, Theresa Fletcher, Lois Aphin, Betty Bridgforth, Hannah Lee Crawford, Jean Arrington, and Louise Bell.

Junior assistants are Marilyn Bell, Marlon Orange, Nancy Wilkinson, Myrtle Lee Holt, Ann Blair, Fay Johnson, Ophelia Whittle, Harriett Moore, Marilyn John-

Continued on Page 4

Phi Zeta Sigma Leads In Sorority Average

With an average of 1.92, Phi Zeta Sigma sorority scored the highest scholastic average of the sororities on the campus again in winter quarter, Miss Ruth Gleaves, Panhellenic adviser announced this week. A close second was scored by the Mu Omegas with an average of 1.80. In third place came Alpha Sigma Tau with 1.74.

Other sorority averages for winter quarter are Sigma Sigma Sigma, 1.70; Pi Kappa Sigma, 1.60; Gamma Theta, 1.57; Alpha Sigma Alpha, 1.53, and Theta Sigma Upsilon, 1.53.

Ford, Jordan Head Committee For Junior - Senior Prom

Eason Announces Hall Presidents For Next Year

Julia Eason, president of the House Council, has announced the hall presidents for the fall of '43 and spring of '44.

They are: Senior Building, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, first floor; Mildred Droste, second floor, and Jane Smith, second floor Annex. In Junior Building, Sally Robertson will be the hall president first floor; Sara Bird Williams and Dora Walker Jones, second floor; Alice Nichols, third floor.

Margaret McIntyre will serve as president of third floor Student Building, and Sara Woodard will act in the same capacity on second floor Annex president will be Billy Moore Waid, first floor; Freddie Ann Butt and Marjorie Hewlett, second floor and Vivian Edmunds, third floor.

Ruth Garrison and Nell Scott will serve on second and third floor White House respectively white Lelia Holloway and Catherine Lynch will be hall presidents on second floor Main. On third floor Main will be Nancy Pitts and Martha Davis. Anna Lee Blanton will be the president on second floor Gym, and Julia Messick will serve on third floor Library.

Pan-Hel Association Installs Officers

On May 11, Jane Ford, Alpha Sigma Tau, who is the newly elected president of the Pan-Hellenic Council, was installed by the retiring president, Sarah Wade Owen.

Other officers installed were Evelyn Faw, Theta Sigma Upsilon vice-president; Alice Nichols, Phi Zeta Sigma, secretary; and Frances Craddock, Sigma Sigma Sigma, treasurer. The chairman of programs will be Carol Diggs, of Gamma Theta, while Julia Eason of Alpha Sigma Alpha heads the publicity. The keeper of the records will be Shirley Cruser of Mu Omega and rushing chairman will be Frances Lee Hawthorne of Pi Kappa Sigma.

At this time the heads of the eight sororities on campus were installed, Louise McCorkle will head Sigma Sigma Sigma, while Hannah Lee Crawford will head Gamma Theta. Myrtle Lee Holt will lead Alpha Sigma Alpha. Mu Omega will be led by Eleanor Wade. Virginia Mae Ellett will be head of Pi Kappa Sigma, while Alpha Sigma Tau will have Jean Arrington as its head. Jant Hobson will lead Theta Sigma Upsilon and Lucille Cheatham will be head of Phi Zeta Sigma.

Alternates who were installed were Betty Agnew from Sigma Sigma Sigma; Vivian Gwaltney from Gamma Theta; Sarah Woodward from Alpha Sigma Alpha; and Betty Jean Nixon from Mu Omega. Also, Catherine Trower from Pi Kappa Sigma; Mary Virginia Evans, Alpha Sigma Tau; Catherint Williams, Theta Sigma Upsilon and Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Phi Zeta Sigma.

Mrs. Ford Sharpe, of Independence, Missouri, immediate past president of the Association of Educational Sororities, made a

Continued on Page 4

Honor Graduates Close Activities

Commencement festivities will start with a swing of music Saturday night, May 29 when Hal Thurston and his orchestra from Rocky Mount, N. C. play for the annual junior-senior prom in the gym.

In the receiving line will be Faye Nimmo, president of the junior class, Betty Boutchard, president of the senior class, Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Miss Olive T. Iler, senior classman, and Miss Elizabeth Burger, junior classman.

Titmus Leads Music

Jane Ford and Elizabeth Ann Jordan are general chairmen for the dance, while Jerry Titmus is head of the music committee.

The traditional senior banquet will be held Friday, May 28 at 6 o'clock on the lawn at Longwood. Dr. James Elliott Walmsley will be the guest speaker. At this time Nanceye Allen, class giftorian, will present gifts to the seniors.

Guests invited include Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, Mr. and Mrs. T. A. McCorkle, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Graham, Miss Winnie Hiner, Miss Virgilia I. Bugg, Miss Maude K. Tallaferro, Mrs. Mary W. Watkins, and Miss Mary E. Peck.

Sermon Sunday Night

The Baccalaureate sermon will be delivered Sunday night, May 30, at 8 o'clock in the S. T. C. auditorium by the Right Reverend William A. Brown, Bishop of the Diocese of Southern Virginia from Portsmouth.

Senior class day exercises will begin Monday morning, May 31 at 10:30 a. m. in front of the library. The class historian, Winifred Wright will review the class' four years at Farmville at this time. The senior song, the words and lyrics of which were written by Ella Marsh Pilkinton, will be sung at the exercises. F ollowing this program the seniors and their little sisters will form the traditional daisy chain.

Reception Given Monday

A reception, given by Miss Mary White Cox, will be held at 8:30 p. m. Monday night In Student Lounge for the seniors and their guests. Following this the traditional lantern parade will form and parade through the Colonnade and around the Rotunda.

Governor Colgate W. Darden will deliver the commencement address Tuesday morning, June 1 at 10:30 o'clock. Helen Wiley Hardy, valedictorian and Susie Moore, salutatorian, will deliver their addresses at this time on the subject, "Place of the Graduate in the War World."

Final Colonnade Features Seniors

Dedicated to the seniors, the final issue of the Colonnade appeared this week. Featured on the cover was a black and white sketch by Sarah Trigg, picturing a senior, diploma in hand, undecided where to turn.

The center pages were written by Dr. James Elliott Walmsley and were entitled, "What Are You Going To Do About It?" He discussed the problem facing the graduating class of a State Teachers College in wartime.

The issue carried the two poems that won honorable mention in the recent poetry contest, "A Little

Continued on Page 3

We Were Homesick Freshmen Last September; Almost Sophs, We Pause For Identification

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

It was raining on the last Monday of our freshman year at S. T. C.—Six pigeons sat upon the roof of student building and preened their feathers contentedly—Well, we can reflect we've at least learned to come in out of the rain—or have we—as we see six ex-freshmen paddling merrily through the nearest mud puddle attired in trench coats, scarves—and minus shoes.

It was a long, long time ago—that 21st of September, when we wandered round-eyed and scared into the open doors of the Rotunda. But there were 400 of us more or less and before long we found that we had a room—three flights up and around so many curves. We had a schedule, that got us out of bed every morning promptly at 7:45—we had a big sister and a better friend we didn't find at S. T. C. for many a day.

It was fun to be a freshman. There were parties and food and full mail boxes—at first. But there were tears for the hundred and one little towns, cities and farms scattered all over the country from which we had come. We were homesick and blue for days, days when the sun went under a cloud on autumn days when the leaves were falling from the trees and the ground was cool and bare.

Sundays were sad days at first. We walked to Longwood and took innumerable pictures of each other in weird poses. Then back to Sunday night supper, tongue again and not enough bread to go around.

Saturday nights we danced to the old vic and ate cheese sandwiches until Mrs. McCoy made her rounds at 2:00 and gently told us that it was time for all good girls to bed down for the night—or morning—and she always found who was in the closet, too.

We never did find out what happened in the last chapter of the "Black Dragon" at the Lee. But we saw innocent ranchers saved by the "Three Mesquiteers" and "Billy the Kid" and Roy Rogers. We dashed madly back from the movie to hear the 'Hit Parade" and "As Times Goes By."

"Casablanca" was our favorite movie with "Random Harvest" running a close second.

The fall quarter we went to classes conscientiously and listened when our teachers spoke and obeyed the rules to the letter. Every night (almost) our lights were out by 10:30 or 11:00 at the latest. Miggie found us sleeping soundly when she made her nightly rounds.

There were Wednesday nights to read the Rotunda at supper—we always looked first at the gossip column to see if we had gotten into print. There was the Colonnade, a much welcomed sight at our supper table—now there are those among us on the staff. We remember the time we had chocolate pie and angel food cake and chocolate sauce, the everlasting sameness of Sunday dinners.

For most of us Senior dance just before Christmas was the first time we had been to a dance in a girls' school and seen the regular order of things reversed. It was fun—and we longed for a dance of our own, but were told that it

Continued on Page 4

Our Farmville Spirit - Elusive. Lived, Loved

As senior chapel came and went, as the color cup award was made once again, as those seniors who have been outstanding in sports received their blazers, and as another class nears graduation, we stop to wonder just what the Farmville spirit is, and what it means to each individual in school here at S. T. C.

The term "good sport" covers much more than mere ability in the athletic line, and more even than the ability to face defeat with a smile. It includes living honestly and fully; it entails understanding and thankfulness and taking life as it is found with neither tears or frowns. It is made up of intelligent, clear-cut living tempered with a sense of humor that knows no end.

Farmville spirit is just that — good sportsmanship intermingled with a love for what the school stands for, and for the other students in school. Farmville spirit is more than the nostalgia that dampens the eyes of the seniors and puts a cheer into the mouths and hearts of the winning side. It is for a quiet happiness in every minute of every year for Farmville girls—it means loyalty and love to the freshmen in all their ups and downs. It carries over to the Sophomore and on to the Junior to inspire harder work and greater friendship. And it does not even end with the Seniors, but goes with them throughout life. That joy in living and that touch of humor that makes no moment so black but that there is some streak of light.

And this spirit must be kept alive. It will die under the fire of jealousy or hatred. Indifference touches it with slow poison. It must be given fun and work and hope and loyalty to grow. And it takes the combined effort of all girls in all classes to keep it living and growing.

That Others May Live Our Goal In Nursing

Attention of tomorrow's career women is hereby directed to today's No. 1 Womanpower shortage—nursing.

Public health officials in Washington are gravely concerned about this shortage. Fighting and working America must be kept well. It takes good nursing to do it.

Unless the nation's nurse power is reinforced by enrollment of 65,000 students in nursing school this year, America faces a real threat of great suffering and loss of life through epidemics, disaster, accidents or enemy action.

The statistics which picture this shortage are astounding, especially for industrial boom towns near war plants. Thousands of nurses are in demand in such spots yet hospitals are frequently non-existent. Sometimes even doctors are not available.

The average number of patients under treatment in hospitals at any one time has increased 8 per cent over 1941 and is now mounting steadily. Thousands of nursing vacancies now exist in government and civilian institutions.

The result is tremendous pressure on available nurses . . . an average of 2.54 patients per nurse every 24 hours including all administrators, supervisors, instructors, staff nurses and student nurses . . . . 10 patients per nurse in tuberculosis hospitals . . . 75 patients per nurse in mental hospitals.

The shortage is aggravated by entrance of about 33,000 nurses into the Army and Navy nurse corps, which still require 3,000 more each month.

More and more nurses—65,000 more this year—is the only hope of thousands of sick and injured. That's a wartime challenge to women to plan their lives so that others may live.—ACP.

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers
MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Associate Editors
VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors
SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
ALICE WOODING ..... Proof Editor

Business Assistants
Helen Cobbs, Lillian Elliot, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Margie Pierce.

Staff Assistants
Mary Franklin Woodward, Martha Patterson, Clara Moses, Margaret Orange, M. J. Leavitt, Pat Maddox, Margaret Mish, Gladys Wilson, Betty Cock, Kathryn Hutchinson, Louise Bell, Virginia Sedgley, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Lolline Warner, Bobbie Scott.

WEDNESDAY, MAY 26, 1943

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

It looks like the weather man is a Nazi agent. First the frosts that destroyed so much fruit along the Eastern Coast, and now that terrible flood in the Midwest. Not only will there be a serious loss of life, but also a loss of industries, manpower, time, and crops have been ruined. This area is one of the chief corn and wheat producing sections in the country.

* * *

Davies in Moscow seems to be accomplishing quite a good deal. Stalin has formally stated that the Russians have no desire to propagate their government all over the world. This is especially gratifying to the smaller countries. Whether or not the United States will be able to use a Russian base from which to bomb Tokyo is another matter. The Japanese-Russian pact plus the fact that Russia fears an attack from Japan might forestall such a concession on the part of Russians. If anyone can persuade Stalin to allow the Allies to use Russia, that man is Davies.

* * *

The coming invasion of Europe is the main topic of discussion today. Six or eight possible routes have been discussed. The major ones being considered are either from Turkey up through the Balkans or by way of Sardinia through the "soft-under-belly" of Europe, the Rhone valley of France. Sardinia has been bombed over and over again, indicating that it is at least important to the Allies.

* * *

The Soviets are expecting a giant German offensive any time now, especially since the German summer weather has set in. So far nothing can be forecast though it is well known that German crack troops are in the vicinity and it is rumored that even Rommel might take command of the Russian drive. Rommel was in the Balkan states near the Russian border when last reported.

* * *

The House and Senate are still flirting with the abolition of the poll tax. The House has voted 268 to 110 to abolish the tax, however, the Southern legislators hope to stop the bill in the Senate. They will probably do so with a filibuster. It seems a pity that Congress has to resort to such measures as busy as they are with other more important matters.

"Snoop" Snoops

There were many good-byes this week as more and more of armed forces left for parts unknown. More than three-fourths of the dates this past week-end were Men in Khaki. Poor H.-S. C. has just about faded out of the picture. We sit with hands folded but with pounding hearts for the long-awaited naval assignees to arrive in July. Whatever 'tis like, there will be many changes in S. T. C. heart interests during the coming months.

Hutter's man passed all eagle eyes with approval — Professor Lashley and N. Esteridge have precisely the same tastes where ladies are concerned. We eagerly await these last minute developments—A good number trekked to that institution of higher learning (so-called)—H.-S. C. — for some of the last rites.

Fox's only comment on the art exhibit was, "I thought people got drunk only at Hampden-Sydney," upon viewing some of the more extreme creations. Dick Anderson and little Higgins are together again. Frances Lee and that cute little man of hers were together for the week-end. Marilyn Bell came back plastered with an orchid corsage from V. M. I. Ditto Charlotte Greely. Cutest couple on campus: Lucie McKenry and that adorable young man of hers.

Frances Craddock is definitely fetching in that big blue hat.—And who, Ann Randolph, was that lieutenant? Ask Budgie, Queekie, Mary Ann J., Lula M. for the funniest happening of the week. Their lieutenants did not approve. Orchids of the week go to Olive Bradshaw for a fine 2-year's piece of work. There should be more like her. Grayson came to see Marion Orange—Need more be said?.

Kendall N. is singing "O, where, O where can my little frat pin be? O where O where can it be?" It has been in the mails for weeks: she and Tommy can't imagine where it is. Baby orchids of the week go to handy man and Jack of all trades Charlie. He's always there when he is needed—most always willing, always beaming. Terrell had the time of her little life at V. M. I. A sight for sore eyes: the look on G. Sampson's face as she read her letter in psychology class.

Do You Remember

When Hershy bars were plentiful?

When breakfast was at 8 o'clock?

When Pat and Higgins had long hair?

When it didn't take a ticket to buy shoes?

Johnny Pancake in "Death Takes a Holiday"?

When Anne Ware Smith was single?

Chi bonfires?

When we could go anywhere we wanted to in cars and had enough gas?

When Farmville girls were not halfbaked with the sun?

the "Y"

The Cabinet has been discussing summer projects. There are many fields open for those who would like to serve. The National Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring a movement to help the man-power shortage situation. Student workers are needed for this summer work in agriculture, industry, and community service. Make your plans to help this summer.

Two students and a faculty advisor will attend Leadership Seminar at Berea College, Berea, Ky. We hope that they will come back with many suggestions in the fall. Other students are planning to attend Christian conferences during the vacation, and some will be councilors.

There are only a few days left in which to sign up for little sisters. You will want one next year and they will need you.

Prayers are being held by the Seniors again this week. You study better after praying, for God gives wisdom.

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish but have everlasting life." John 3:16.

STARS IN SERVICE

Star Light . . . .

By BETTY DUEL COCK

The Coke machine's empty;
The Candy's all gone;
The bare room is crowded;
I stifle a yawn.
The textbooks are open.
The notes scattered far . . .
Through curtainless windows
We wish on a star.

"I wish I could learn
"This history exam."
"She won't ask us this . . .
"Why worry? Why cram?"
"Why not?" asks another.
"It won't hurt to try."
"I know, but honest,
"I'm so tired I could die!"

"I wish it were Friday.
"My trunk left, today".
"I wish I'd gone with it".
We hear someone say.
"I wish it were over!"
The text-book is slammed.
"Darn it all, anyway . . . .
"History be damned!"

The clock's striking four,
The chemistry's done.
Not much past an hour
'Til the day greets the sun.
One classmate slips close
To the window . . . looks out.
The wee stars still sprinkle
Their soft light about.

The wishes expressed
Linger still on the air. . .
"Leaving so quickly
"Their one major care?"

The blue eyes grow misty . . .
The last wish of all:
"Dear Star - - I wish I
"Could come back next fall".

A SENIORS WE REMEMBER

Helen Delong—The gals, of course.

Ann Randolph—All the girls I know. I'll miss the friends, the fun and Farmville.

Elizabeth McCoy—Dr. Walmsley's classes.

Betty Reid—Being teased and bull sessions.

Ella Marsh Pilkington — The girls and the good times.

Anne Moore—Sweet potatoes.

Nelda Rose Hunter—A lot of things, but most of all the noise in the dining hall, thank goodness.

Virginia Sedgley—The wonderful library. I'll probably be stuck out in the country without even a newspaper.

Jean Carr—Playing basketball and going on trips.

Myrtle Jenkins—All the girls and daily treks to town —I can't do that when I teach.

Iris Ferguson — Dr. Jarman's fatherly talks to the student body.

Ellen Ebel—People and the good times—the whole school.

Rosalie Rogers—Oh, gosh, everything

Fiddle Haymes—The food.

Catherine May—The Wesley Foundation and the people I've learned to love.

Imogene Claytor—the dances—especially decorating for them.

Charlotte Greely—8:05 classes.

Sarah Massie Goode—Saturday nights on Senior Annex.

Nancye Allen—Bull sessions and buying dresses for Betty Boutch.

Betty Boutchard—Hebe Allen, and Uncle Henry.

Jean Altiere—Bull sessions, the girls, and the columns.

Estelle Smith—The week-ends in which to sleep.

Letter To The Editor

With everybody rushing around demanding everybody else to "Sign my Annual"—"Write in my book," in all fairness we must toss a few bouquets to a work of art.

In the first place we liked the lovely blue and white cover with the simple "Farmville in 1943" on the cover; we liked the sketch of that most important structure, the Rotunda—the very heart, the very symbol of Farmville itself.

We liked the bit of color as shown by the frontispiece and again on the page where old glory so beautifully was painted. We liked too the central theme of Farmville and the war. The arrangement was excellent. Especially interesting and different was the first section on the school as a whole, showing a view of each building with typical snaps of activities within that building. Very cunning were the captions in italics such as "For the Science Hall—Alone with its odors," etc. These seem to have caused as much comment as anything else in the annual.

We have to admit we liked the group pictures as a whole better than some of the individual ones. However, underclassmen were quite pleased that their home town was given beside their picture.

All the group pictures were unusually good; the Chi picture caused general favorable and surprised comments. Write-ups proved accurate and interesting.

We liked the Feature section especially this year—expressing as they did the essence of the Farmville girl in 1942-43. It was quite original.

And the snapshots! They were interesting this year! They didn't look posed—more than just a few personalities were represented too!

We hope the senior statistics and the index and register of students are continued as the latter certainly is a help.

All in all, congratulations to the staff for one of the finest volumes in years.

Sincerely,
Appreciative

Crowded Trains, Buses Leave No Room For Laundry Bag

The time has come once more for changing our lives and belongings from school to home. Trunks line the hall and all of us wonder where we acquired so much junk suddenly. Long lost or borrowed clothes and paraphenalia are returned and the great suitcase stuffing process begins.

In this day of scarcity we cannot afford as we usually do to damage our much needed clothes by throwing them together in a trunk. All you need is a system and a little time. Of course, exams and their required time do enter in but packing is excellent recreation after a few hours of brain work.

If your trunk is large enough, pack dress and coats and skirts flat with tissue paper or newspaper between to save pressing bills later on. Or if you possess a wardrobe trunk, fold things carefully when putting them in and don't try to cram everything you possess in three small drawers. Leave such articles as books and mirrors and stationery boxes to be mailed or expressed in a cardboard box all their own. Books will not only wrinkle your clothes but also ruin your trunk.

We admire the realists who will go home via one suitcase and two laundry bags. That is fine if Mom and Pop fooled the ration board into enough gas to transport their darling dotter home. But if you are traveling on train or bus remember that only Santa Claus can get by with bulging sack on his back.

Transportation is too crowded for you to wonder around with two laundry bags. Simplify the whole situation by packing treasures and what not in boxes and mailing to Mama as soon as possible to avoid the rush.

To have Charlie and company call for the trunks and other luggage that is to be checked or mailed or expressed, drop by the treasurer's office and for a small fee of fifty cents the worry of how the trunk gets to the train station or express office is no longer yours.

All you have to do is carefully pack your belongings so that they will be least harmed in the process. Try to get everything coordinated so you won't have to travel with the bundles and suitcases that muddle up the already overworked transportation system. Don't make your packing, their sorrow.

Schools and Colleges Asked to Save Paper

Schools and colleges have been urged by the War Production Board to join the movement to conserve paper. Growing military needs, said WPB in the appeal, makes saving paper almost as important today as saving gasoline and rubber.

Paper for "V" packing boxes alone runs to 600,000 tons a year, and the armed forces now are using paper substitutes for such materials as steel, other critical metals, lumber, glass and rubber. The use of fiber shipping bands or rings for bombs is said to save more than 4,000 tons of steel a month. In addition, the Army and the Navy cover guns, airplanes and motor parts with impervious layers of paper. Specific types of paper are used in making maps, charts, sun helmets, and vests. Medicines, foods and munitions are packaged in paper.

C. L. Hough, Jr., chief of the School and College Section of the Government Division, WPB, in a special appeal to colleges, stated: "Let's give serious thought to our paper requirements by putting into effect immediately the following steps which have been recommended by WPB Chairman Donald M. Nelson:

"No material should be printed, duplicated or mimeographed unless it will make a direct contribution to the war.

Way to Get Things First Time

"Any contemplated forms, pamphlets, form letters, etc., should be carefully estimated in advance, and, the number ordered should be held to the minimum needed to accomplish the purpose.

"All material to be printed or duplicated should be checked to avoid mistakes which would require a re-run.

"In all correspondence, especially inter-office communications, the minimum number of copies should be made. Don't make unnecessary carbons of the first draft of a letter, memorandum, or report, and keep the finished number to a minimum.

"Re-use any and all scrap paper, including obsolete office stationary. In ordering printing, the selection of the proper paper stock is important and the lightest suitable grade should be used. Standard sizes of both the finished publication and the stock to be used, should be adopted to avoid waste. Minimum use of white space, size of type, unnecessary covers, flyleaves and blank pages. Use only necessary illustrations.

"Have your name removed from all mailing lists which supply you with material which you can satisfactorily do without.

"Always use both sides of paper whenever possible.

"If you have any further suggestions, send them to the School and College Section, Government Division, WPB, Washington, D. C."

Colonnade

Continued from Page 1

Old Lady", by Katherine Tindall, and "The Seasons", by Julia Messick. Outstanding also were the features entitled "Dear Diary" by Anne Ware Smith exposing the daily routine of a college student, and the condensed Schedule of A Senior by Jane Smith.

The Book Review section featured recently published books on the South, "A Southern Discovers the South", by Jonathan Daniels, reviewed by Betty Adams, "Below the Potomac", by Virginius Dabney, reviewed by Louisa Dawson, and Percivall Reniers' "The Springs of Virginia—Life, Love, and Death of the Waters", reviewed by Jean Strick.

Fiction in the senior issue included a short story by Virginia Kent Sedgley picturing the first day of a college senior's last year at school, "'Gad,' Said The Man In The Grey Hat". Also carried was a stirring short story by Helen Delong, "It Was Her Wish" and "Nothing But the Truth", by Lelia Holloway.

Other contents in the magazine included a descriptive essay on the Scottish Highlands by Margaret Pattie "The War and Me", by Katherine Powell, and "The Boy", by Harriet Dowdy.

The British Eighth Army has been using a water pump made in Columbus, Ohio, and at one desert well one of these pumps was operated almost continuously for three months.

★ SENIOR ★ PERSONALITY ★

SHIRLEY TURNER

As we approach the finale of our parade of senior personalities we pause to honor Shirley Turner. Hers is the knack of making many friends, and no wonder—for she is seldom seen when she is not smiling or saying a cheerful word to one or another.

Shirley's four years at college have been filled with endless activity. As a sophomore she served on the Sophomore Commission, and in her junior year her fine qualities were recognized by Alpha Kappa Gamma. Her last year found her acting as vice-president of the Athletic Association and performing the ticklish tasks of treasurer of her class. It was in this, her senior year that she was chosen to grace both the Mardi Gras and May Courts, disproving the old adage that "beauty and brains don't mix."

With a vivacity of spirit and a determination of character surpassed by few, Shirley has helped in making Farmville a better place in which to live. There are many things we will remember about her: collecting class dues . . . retiring at 10:30 in order to keep that "fresh look" . . . teaching first aid . . . eating veal liver and string beans in the tea room . . . preparing for VMI proms . . . laughing, teasing. Such a gal as she will be hard to forget.

Don't Forget

The Colonnade Short Story Contest! It will run all summer and all students are eligible. Prizes will be given for the three best stories and they will be published in the Colonnade. All entries will become the property of the Colonnade and must be typed, double spaced when handed in. The deadline is October 15, 1943. Keep your eyes open and write a short story!

Just Looking, Thanks

Far from the maddening melee of signing annuals, packing the trunks, breaking up housekeeping, and studying for exams went many S. T. C. girls this weekend. Tops on the list was home, but Ring Dance at V. M. I., ran a close second.

The magnetic lure of "home sweet home" drew Betty Bridgeforth, Rebecca Blanton, Virginia Campfield, Kitty Davis, Virginia Ellett, Theresa Edwards, Inez Jones, Elizabeth Kieser, Rosa Bell Lane, Betty Pat Lewis, Carolyn Marshall and Ernestine Morgan. Also home went Naomi Major, Ada Clark Nuckols, Kitty Remneker, Gwen Sampson, Nannie Sours, Helen Smith, Gladys Wilson, Anne Leatherbury, and Virginia Wells.

To V. M. I. went Marilyn Bell, Ciara Moses, Pat Osborne, Gussie Hines, Charlotte Greeley, Kate Thompson, Shirley Turner, Jane Brown, Nancy Lee Weeks and Betty Jones. Also Betsy Caldwell, Nancy Langhorne, "Boo" Gelsen, Jane Crump, and Anne Covington went to V. M. I. dances.

To an officers Club Dance at Pickett went Hannah Lee Crawford, Pagie Francis and Leona Mcomaw, while Betty Sexton and Anne Ware Smith went to Wilmington, N. C.

Harriette Moore went to Richmond to attend the wedding of Janet Jackson, a Farmville alumna and Maggie Kitchen went to Franklinton, N. C.

Discovers Dog

Continued from Page 1

him, the dog ran from the officer back to Nancy, answering first to "Chinkie" and then to "Mike". Nancy assured the officer that dog was hers, that it was stolen from her soon after Christmas. The officer, however, knew it was his, since he had bought it from a civilian in Camp Pickett some five months ago.

Nancy was positive the dog was Chinkie and so after lunch she inquired into the legality of the matter. Whose dog was it, if it had been stolen from her and resold to tht army officer? The lawyer consulted informed Nancy if she could definitely identify the dog as hers she could take possession of it.

Later in the afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Wilkerson came from Kenbridge to identify the dog. With them came the Chief of Police of Kenbridge who had raised the dog and sold it to Nancy. Also came the colored cook who was the last to see the dog before it was stolen.

The dog was duly identified as Chinkie and returned to Nancy. Chinkie is once again in his warm kennel in Kenbridge because Nancy decided to go to the Presbyterian Church.

Have your Clothes cleaned . .

. . . Before patching to take home

BEST SERVICE

DeLuxe Cleaners

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S

The Complete Drug Store

CLEAN FOUNTAIN

Stationery, Candy

Prescriptions are our specialty

PATT ERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.

238 Main St.

C. E. Chappell Co.

Fountain Service

Visit us for the BEST

PHONE 63

Slacks Shorts & Play Suits

For Hot Summer Days

WE HAVE JUST RECEIVED ALL SIZES AND COLORS

SLACKS ..... $1.98 to $4.95

SHORTS ..... 98c to $2.98

PLAY SUITS ..... $2.98 to $5.95

YOU SHOULD BUY SEVERAL FOR YOUR SUMMER NEEDS

DAVIDSON'S

THE HOUSE OF QUALITY FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA

Juniors, Frosh Lead Red, White To Color Cup Victory 50-33

Spirit Runs High As Award Is Made

Red and White, composed this year of juniors and freshmen, was the winner of the much coveted color cup for the fourth successive season, 1942-43. Anxiously awaiting the scores to be announced, both teams gathered in chapel last Friday, May 21, when Hallie Hillsman, retiring president of the Athletic Association, presented the cup to the Red and White team.

The color cup on the mantel of the Rotunda has borne Red and White ribbons since it was turned over to the colors by Green and White in 1940.

After the award was made, Red and White cheered their colors and sang to their rivals. The competition was keener this year than usual with Green and White in the lead until the last few weeks when the opposing team came out in front to win a 50-35 victory.

The points were distributed thus:

Red and White:

Hockey—class	5
Volleyball—class	5
Softball—class	5
Ping pong	5
Swimming—class	10
—varsity	5
Archery	5
Tennis—singles	10
Total	50

Green and White:

Hockey—class	5
—varsity	5
Basketball—class	10
—varsity	10
Volleyball—class	5
Total	35

Orientation Heads

Continued from Page 1

son, Martha Patterson and Martha Higgins.

Also Sara Bird Williams, Barbara Scott, Lucy Messick, Eleanor Wade, Pat Maddox, Helen Wilson, Lucy Manson, Betty Agnew, Betty Blackwell, Betsy Caldwell, Lillian Goddin, Frances Wentzel, Helen McGuire, Nancy Hall, Sally Robertson and Gwen Sampson.

Pan-Hel

Continued from Page 1

talk at the installation service on "The Role that a Sorority Plays During War Time." At present, she is also vice-president of the Professional Pan-Hellenic Association and national president of Alpha Sigma Alpha.

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
PHONE 139

BUY GRADUATION PRESENTS AT MARTIN'S
Martin the Jeweler

When in need of
SLIPS AND PANTIES
Visit our dry goods department
Rose's 5-10-25c Store

To the members of the faculty and Student Body, we appreciate the business you have given us this season and wish each of you a pleasant vacation! ..
Butcher's
(High Street)

Hillsman, Parham, Carr Receive White Blazers In Chapel

Ellett, Price, Wall Merit Blue Blazers

Hallie Hillsman, retiring president of the Athletic Association, awarded blazers last Friday in chapel to those seniors having qualified for them.

Receiving white blazers signifying attainment of sportsmanship and activity in many sports were Frances Parham and Jean Carr. Hallie Hillsman was also awarded a white blazer by the incoming president, Patsy Connelly.

Those receiving blue blazers for participation in one sport and acquisition of sportsmanship were Elizabeth Walls, Anne Ellett, and Ann Price.

Blazers are awarded each year to the seniors who have received points in sports and show a definite interest in the spirit of Farmville.

Shown above are the three seniors who were awarded white blazers for outstanding sports activity. Upper left, Frances Parham, upper right, Jean Carr, bottom, Hallie Hillsman.

Homesick Frosh

Continued from Page 1

wouldn't be tolerated by the upperclassmen. At times we hated upperclassmen—so smug, so sure of themselves—but usually we adored them, loved them, were flattered by their little attentions. Rat Week—a never-to-be-forgotten and now-seldom-mentioned topic—next year. Next year things will be different.

College has broadened out outlook and our hips. The seniors of '46 are entering the stage of know-it-all Sophomores and we are glad. Oh, to livt on Annex, second floor close to the coke machine and the telephone. Call 533 and ask for us next fall—We'll be there.

To Hasten Victory

No American wants this war to go one minute beyond the time we can bring it to a victorious end. To hasten that victory—to save possibly the lives of millions of our boys on our far flung fronts—it is imperative that every American do his part in the Second War Loan. There is an investment to fit every purse. The most you can do is little enough compared with the sacrifice offered by our boys in service. They give their lives—you lend your money.

If every man, woman and child in the United States lays aside $100 the aggregate will be about $13,000,000,000 or the amount the Treasury must raise in its Second War Loan.

The Federal order for a 35-mile an-hour driving limit brought average speed throughout the country down to about 37 miles an hour.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

Left Lead

Heigh-ho, and we're off again! (Don't take that literally.) Almost all the riding since the show has been on the trail, and the Longwood ring is one deserted looking place, despite the rail's snowy white coat of whitewash. The rides, though lazy, however, are none the less exciting than an hour's workout in the ring.

For example—the day Jean Smith cantered Dot around the ring a number of times to calm her down before the pleasure ride . . . and still the pair of them ended up off the road and in the midst of a little clump of woods. Dot was feelin' fine that day. She also turned left in the middle of the stream and trapped Jean under the low hanging limbs, right in the middle of the water. Jean Carter couldn't have "changed horses" in that stream if she'd had to.

The independent Tony doesn't like to just stand around uselessly. Even riderless, not too long ago, he viewed the other horses cantering around the ring, from the center where Miss Fox had placed him, tossed back his head and joyfully joined the procession. At that he's harmless . . . and less "playful" than the menacing Skyrocket!

We've found out how to make the lumbering Pegasus move, too. Just let a bee sting him again!

Coffee was a false alarm, so to speak. A mere visitor whom Miss Fox was working out for a town youngster. Come again, Coffee. Variety is the Spice of Life, etc.

We wonder why Gloria Allen rides her mount's neck when she is in a perfectly good saddle firmly anchored behind her? P. Payne, do you know?

Well, with the shortage of everything, Miss Fox found she could get a bit more equipment, and we note two or three new saddles and a bridle or two obvious with newness. They'll have little use until the fall, though. The horses are to be turned out to pasture for the summer.

And we're turning out, too, so until September, so long . . . and stay on the bit!

Pegasus

Buy Tennis Rackets
$3.29—$12.00
And
Tennis balls 3 for $1.50
at
Wilson's Firestone Store
111A WEST THIRD

Dugger, Watts Win In Tennis Doubles

10 Points Scored For Red and White

Ruth Dugger and Phyllis Watts, junior and freshman partners in the doubles tennis tournament, copped a first place victory in the annual contest completed last Thursday. Red and White again scored a win in the tennis tournament in the doubles.

Entered in the tournament were Phyllis Watts and Ruth Dugger, who, in the first round, defeated Jean Carr and Hallie Hillsman 6-1, 6-0, and Dottie Gilmer and Betsy Burchfield who won over Frances Lee and Margaret Orange. Also Mildred Droste and Catherine Lambert who won because of a default from their opponent Anne Garnett and Frances Quillen. Frances Parham and Anne Payne won in the first round because of a forfeit of Anne Ware Smith and Betty Burns.

The semi-finals and finals, played between Mildred Droste and Catherine Lambert against Phyllis Watts and Ruth Dugger, was won by Watts and Dugger.

The singles of the tennis tournament were discontinued, because two of the players were disqualified for poor sportsmanship.

Not everybody with a dollar to spare can shoot a gun straight—but everybody can shoot straight to the bank and buy War Bonds. Buy your 10% every pay day.

Get your Graduation Presents and Cards
At
J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores

Newman's Bowling Alley
For Exercise . .
BOWL at . . .
NEWMAN'S BOWLING ALLEY
Downstairs in Shannon's

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

SENIORS OF '43 . . . .

"Come on let's get together and do it right
Fight—Fight—for old Green and White
Though the way is hard and long,
Our hearts are ever so strong,
Come on let's fight, fight for old Green and White
We'll win the battle and win it right
Loyal spirits, ever true
Our colors we'll bring to you."

Yes, for four long years through Main, Annex, junior, and senior buildings they've passed, but always leaving a memorious year behind which has a marked place in the memory of S. T. C. Faithful to your colors and always striving for true sportsmanship, we salute you Seniors of '43!

Looking back over the years we see a small girl, eager in this new college which she plans to spend her next four years. Captain of the freshman hockey team, and member of varsity hockey that first year, also on sub-varsity basketball team and class basketball team was frosh Hallie Hillsman. Following in the same sports the second year, Hallie continued to participate with her class and colors. As a junior she became an apprentice and member of Orchesis Dance Group and secretary-treasurer of the Monogram Club. Again active on the hockey field as a junior she became varsity hockey manager and captain of the varsity team. As a senior an all-out sports program was presented to the school and heading the Athletic Association was Hallie Hillsman, ever true and loyal to Farmville.

One who has shown interest in many sports from '39 to '43, one whose fine character and ability will be a symbol for us to follow . . . Francis Parham. That first year she became a member of the H2O Club, having proved her ability on the varsity swimming team; also a member of the sub-varsity swimming team; also a member of the sub-varsity basketball team. When a soph Parham managed minor sports on the athletic association council and continued in basketball becoming a varsity member. In her junior year she was manager of basketball and chairman of the Water Carnival sponsored by the H2O Club. Active in the tennis tournament, she managed tennis as a senior, was vice-president of the Monogram Club and active in all the fields. Now, wearing a white blazer, the symbol of sports at S. T. C.

Tall, but a sure shot on the basketball court, Jean Carr, has played four years of basketball for Blue and White, and Green and White. Also, sports manager on the Athletic Association Council her junior year, member of the Monogram Club, class volleyball team, and varsity basketball squad, Jean carried on as a true major in physical education. As a senior she presided over the Monogram Club, was again a sports manager for the A. A., and a member of the H2O Club. We'll miss Jean, her friendly attitude and interest in sports.

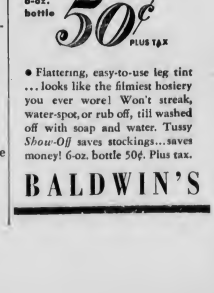
From frosh year on Ann Price has played with the team on the basketball court and with her class basketball team each year too. As a junior Ann was a member of the Monogram Club and in the field of basketball. As a senior, and on the Athletic Association Council she was poster chairman, posting those important events in the field of athletics. Quiet, yet fast and skillful with a basketball, Ann is remembered.

We find Elizabeth Walls has ventured into various sports and doing her best in each. When a sophomore she played a fast game of hockey, as a junior she was a member of the class basketball team, varsity hockey team, and Monogram Club. Also, on the A. A. Council she took part in supervising many activities and as a senior helped with the promoting of sports with physical fitness program. Here she was volley ball manager, and we see her leave, but wearing the blue blazer with its Farmville seal.

Ann Ellett leaves our sports world here at college, and her team work will be missed on the basketball court next year. For four years she has given all her effort towards making a good and top team for our school. A member of the Monogram Club as a junior and senior and on the A. A. Council, we bid adieu to Ann and all the many girls who have their best to S. T. C.

"Victory we'll surely gain today,
Show your pep girls keep your "rep" girls
One goal will make them yield.
We'll keep old S. T. C. on top
Back them right down the field".

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church



PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

Meet Me
at
SHANNON'S

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

Tussy
SHOW-OFF
Creamy leg lotion

6-oz. bottle 50¢ PLUS TAX

● Flattering, easy-to-use leg tint ... looks like the filmiest hosiery you ever wore! Won't streak, water-spot, or rub off, till washed off with soap and water. Tussy Show-Off saves stockings...saves money! 6-oz. bottle 50¢. Plus tax.

BALDWIN'S

OUR ETERNAL THANKS TO OUR ADVISOR
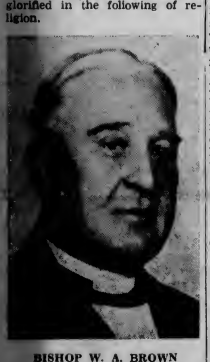
PROF. S. M. HOLTON, JR.

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS,
HONOR GRADUATES
AND ALL SENIORS



VOL. XXII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, TUESDAY, JUNE 1, 1943 No. 30

Consolation Found in Religion, Bishop Brown Tells Graduates

Man Likes Security, Peace, He Explains

Taking as his text, "Thou wilt keep him in perfect peace whose mind is stayed on Thee", Bishop W. A. Brown of the Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia, stated in the baccalaureate sermon to the seniors of Farmville State Teachers College Sunday evening that this was not an era of pessimism but a time to find consolation in religion.

Two things a man wishes to attain are security, as expressed in the phrase "making a living" and peace. Peace means joy, happiness, contentment, the pursuit of happiness as stated in the Declaration of Independence. We should look upon Christianity not as something to fear but as a great and glorious gift of the love of God. We need discipline, but not the negative discipline of the past, but a positive discipline based on actuality of experience. The only way of attaining peace within one's soul and peace between peoples is though the positive discipline of experience as glorified in the following of religion.

BISHOP W. A. BROWN

Summer School Will Begin June 14 For First Quarter

On June 14, the summer session will begin at Farmville State Teachers College. The first quarter will end July 17 and the second will begin July 19 and end on August 21. Indications are that the enrollment will be larger than last year. More regular session students have signed up to come back for the summer than have in previous years.

This year the whole curriculum is taking into consideration the conditiin of the world at this tihe. Refresher courses have been added for those who wish to take in certain fields.

Courses will be offered in the following departments Biology, chemistry and physics, Education and Philosophy, English, Business Education, Fine and Applied Arts, Library Science, History and Social Science, Mathematics, Music, Geography, Home Economics and Physical and Health Education.

The special refresher courses will include Review of Mathematics, Physical Science, Pre-Flight Aeronautics, intensive course in type-writing, geography of the war, History of America in World War II, Safety of First Aid, Physical Fitness Courses, refresher course for elementary teachers, refresher course for secondary teaches; and the school shop will operate.

Arrangements are made for male attendance at the summer school.

Class Day Started With Class Song On Library Lawn

Wright Presents History of Seniors

Class Day exercises for the class of '43 began yesterday morning at 10 o'clock on the Library lawn with the singing of the class song, Winifred Wright, Farmville, presented a brief sketch of the history of the class, followed by the presentation of gifts by the class giftorian, Nancye Allen. The Farewell Song of the Class of '43 written by Ella Marsh Pilkinton, was then be sung.

To close the formal program, Betty Boutchard, senior class president, presented the class symbol to Faye Nimmo, president of the incoming senior class.

Following the presentation of the class symbol, the seniors with their little sisters formed the traditional daisy chain to the singing of the Daisy Song. The little sisters carried the daisy chain and walking beside the seniors through the Colonnade they formed the figure "43" on the Rotunda lawn. was then sung.

Miss Mary White Cox last night, the seniors with their little sisters promenaded through the Colonnade and around the upper flights of the Rotunda in the customary lantern parade. The little sisters were dressed in white and carried candle lanterns with "43" and "STC" cut out. Friends and guests of the college assembled around the building and as the seniors and their little sisters sang the class songs and paraded through the Colonade and Rotunda, and ende in the formation of "43" on the Rotunda lawn.

Victory Garden Planned For Family Of Nine People

The victory garden which has been a project of the Home Economics seniors for the past year and is under the teacher training department, has completed a very successful year. Through thorough planning a program for a year-round garden for a family of nine has been set up.

The fresh vegetable products have been used for the table at the Home Management House, and those which ripen during the summer months will be canned since the House is not in use those months. The canning will be under the direction of Miss Evelyn Simpson, supervisor of Home Economics in the Farmville High School. The canning will be a cooperative project, done by high school pupils working on conservation. Utilization of these products will be taken care through the Home Management House and the student teaching program.

During the late summer months a fall garden will be planted in order to have fresh vegetables available when the Home Management House is reopened in September. All of the surplus products will be canned or stored by the incoming class of Home Econ-

Continued on Page 4

Womans Club Library Closed for Holidays

The Farmville Woman's Club library will close on Friday, May 28. Several books may be charged out from 5 to 6 o'clock on Friday afternoon to be kept until the library reopens on June 16. During the summer months the library will be open on Wednesday morning from 11 to 12 o'clock.

Teaching, WAAC's, WAVES, Recruit For New Members

'43 Seniors Plan Careers For '44

The seniors of '43 are planning to go into many varied types of work.

Those that will teach are Nancy Allen, Windsor; Doris Alvis, West Point; Martha Anderson, Smithfield; Helen Ashworth, Kempsville; Brookie Benton, Staunton; Mary Jean Carr, Welch, W. Va.; Virginia Pauline Corbin, Hopewell; Caroll Costello, Henrico County; Lucy Davis, Ashland; Marie Davis, Norfolk County; Alice Duncan, Red Hill; Dearing Fauntleroy, Campbell County; Elizabeth Felts, South Norfolk; Anne Fitzgerald, Fairy, W. Va.; Alyce Lee Fulton, Disputanta; Bridget Gentile, Isle of Wright; Jean Guy, Norfolk; and Martha Hammack, Culpeper.

These Also Teach

Also teaching will be Hallie Hillsman, Front Royall, Betty Jackson, Franklin; Frances Jenkens, Culpeper County; Baylis Kunz, Bedford; Ann Lyons, Ettrick; Frances Mallory, Oceana; Leona Moomaw, Roanoke County; Ada Clark Nuckols, Hanover County; Sara Wade Owen, Hanover County; Ella Marsh Pilkinton, St. Christopher; Nell Prichett, Windsor; Ellen Scott, Northampton County; Virginia Sedgley, Wise County; Mamie Davis, Waynesboro; Joyce Stokes, Portsmouth; Elsie Stossell, Hanover County; Anne Elizabeth Walker, Campbell County; Annie Belle Walker, Virgilina; Nelle White, McIntyre School; Violet Woodall, Norfolk County; and Barbara White, Norfolk County.

They Go Home

Nora Beauchaup, Hydle Carbonell and Sara Carbonell will return to Puerto Rico while Lolita Robert-Santinis will study medicine.

Ann Covington plans to join the WAAC's while Grace Collins and Catherine May will join the WAVES.

Eleanor Boothe will go to the Medical College of Virginia; Ann Garnett to Pan-American; Ella Hutchins to the University of North Carolina; while Ann Trotter will continue her studies at Library School, and Evelyn Looney will train to be a technician.

Welfare Work Calls

Elizabeth McCoy and Margaret Lovins plan to do welfare work; Betty Boutchard will work in the shipyards, Jac Hardy, at Camp Pickett, Ann Page Francis at Fort Monroe, Dorothy Marrow will be a dietician in the Norfolk General Hospital, and Rosalie Rogers will be a research assistant in biology at William and Mary.

Susie Moore, Kitty Parrish, Margaret Bolling, Anne Price, Piddie Haymes will work for DuPont.

Jane Sanford plans to do newspaper work, while Elva Andrews will do secretarial work in Farmville.

Continued on Page 4

Episcopalians Plan Summer Conference

Plans are underway for a six-day summer leadership training conference for the Diocese of Southern Virginia of the Episcopal Church, to be held at Farmville State Teachers College July 29th through August 4th.

Tentative theme for the conference is the Family of God and special courses will be provided for the various age groups. Staff for the conference include Rev. W. A. Brown, Bishop of the Diocese; Rev. Moultrie Gary, St. Paul's Church, Norfolk, Dean of the faculty and program committee; Rev. Norvell Wicker, Danville, administration and publicity; Rev. O. W. May, hospitality and registration; and Miss Maude Cutler, director of Christian Education.

Governor Darden Discusses Effect of War On Education At Closing Exercises Today

GOV. COLGATE W. DARDEN

Sophomores Serve As Table Hostesses To Aid Arington

Sixty-three sophomores have been asked to serve as table hostesses for next year, Jean Arington, head hostess, announced this week. The girls serving as hostesses preside at the tables in the dining hall and enforce the dining hall regulations, assisting the head hostesses and her deputies.

Those sophomores who will serve as hostesses nert year are Sally Robertson, Mary Virginia Evans, Marie Nichols, Marilyn Bell, Eleanor Wade, Sara Bird Williams, Myrtle Lee Holt, Gwen Sampson, Lois Baughman, Anne Blair, Ophelia Whittle, Frances Wentzel, Martha Higgins, Pat Maddox, Kitty Patrick, Lucy Manson and Mary Ann Jarrett.

Also Dora Jones, Margaret Bear, Susan Durrett, Joyce Cheatwood, Marion Orange, Olive Bradshaw, Elsie Thompson, Lula Moss, Mary Walker Watts, Kate Thompson, Will Hall, Jane Johnson, Catherine Trower, Bobbie Scott, Helen Wilson, Mary Watkins, Elaine Bray, and Alice Nichols.

Also Jean Prosise, Jean Akers, Naomi Major, Annie Wiseman, Lucy Messick, Betsy Caldwell, Anna Ward Peery, Helen Savage, Jane Waring Ruffin, Eleanor Correll, Roberta Davis, Nancy Dickerson, Shirley Easterly, Martha Hite, Eleanor Hall, Mary Elizabeth Harvey, and Theresa Hutt.

Also Betty Rogers, Mary Sterrett, Gloria Sheppard, Martha Watson, Nannie Webb, Mary Frances Moon, Mary Franklin Woodward, Betty Edwards, and Nell Holloway.

Dr. Jeffers Addresses Local Garden Club

The Longwood Garden Club was entertained Monday afternoon by Mrs. Robert E. Withers, Jr. Dr. George W. Jeffers gave an excellent talk on plant food. Mrs. E. S. Shields won the prize for the specimen rose, and Mrs. R. E. Garland for the artistic arrangement.

Jarman Announces Honor Graduates Number 31; Hardy, Moore Lead

Helen Wiley Hardy, valedictorian, and Susie Moore, salutatorian.

Commencement At 10:30 In Auditorium

Stating that the war has changed the lives of all of us and has definitely changed our schools and educational facilities, Governor Colgate W. Darden, Jr., today told the senior of Farmville State Teachers College that the hope of salvaging the best out of the present times rested in the schools. The challenge before the schools seems insurmountable, but education will win out if we but keep our faith in our institutions.

Speaking also at the final exercises of the Class of 1943 were Helen Wiley Hardy, valedictorian, and Susie Lyle Moore, salutatorian, of the class.

Honor graduates in the class of '43, which was graduated this morning at 10:30 from State Teachers College, number 31, Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college, announced during the commencement program in the College auditorium.

Honor graduates include Martha W. Anderson, Pedro; Elva Andrews, Farmville; Helen Ashworth, Danville; Nellie Brooke Benton, Orange; Eleanor Leah Boothe, Wakefield; Imogen Claytor, Bedford; Willie Grace Collins, Drakes Branch; Marie Davis, Smithfield; Anne Ellett, Jennings Ordinary; Eleanor Folk, Salem; Alyce Lee Fulton, Danville; Charlotte L. Greeley, Roanoke; Jean Harte Guy, Norfolk, and Martha Hammock, Blackstone.

Also Helen Wiley Hardy, first honor graduate, Farmville; M. Fidele Haymes, Irvington; Margaret Lovins, Cumberland; Dorothy Marrow, Clarksville; Susie Lyle Moore, second honor graduate, Richmond; Agnes M. Patterson, Kenbridge; Alma W. Porter, Fine Creek Mills; Mary Frances Quillen, Bristol; Amy Read, Hamptan; M. Rosalie Rogers, Melfa; Virginia Sedgley, Bristol;

Continued on Page 4

Music Department Undergoes Changes

Beginning next fall, the Music Department, under the professorship of Mr. Alfred H. Strick, will feature more intensive student training than it has done in the past.

Three phases of this intensive training course have been outlined. The students who are majors or minors in music will present groups from the training school during the regular chapel period starting in November. Students majoring in music will present the Intermediate A'Capela groups in six programs for the benefit of the freshman class on Monday mornings during these song class periods. The students majoring and minoring in music will be given an intensive course in sacred music for the purpose of preparing them for work in the various churches throughout Virginia. This work will deal exclusively with junior choir work and young people's meetings in the church. These three objectives are only a part of the new program which is being put into effect in the department of music.

Another important feature is the possibility of the internationally known organist and composer, Dr. T. Tertius Noble, being on the campus for several days to give lectures on hymnology and sacred music. He will also help to instruct the college choir in the task of preparing Dvorak's Stabat Mater, the oratorio which is being prepared for the spring trip to Canada in 1944. Should Dr. Noble

Continued on Page 4

Virginia Richards Granted Leave

Miss Virginia Richards, who has been an assistant to Mr. Alfred H. Strick, Head of the Music Department, has been granted an indefinite leave of absence.

Miss Richards is a graduate of the class of 1941. While in college, she served as director of the Senior Quartette and Junior A'Cappella and head the College Choir as a senior. She has done outstanding work in the music department has assistant to Mr. Strick.

As a parting gift, the College Choir, in recognition of her splendid services, gave her a recording of Brahm's Requiem, the oratorio which was sung in New York this spring.

Rogers Receives Biology Scholarship

Rosalie Rogers, a senior from Melfa and a major in biology, has been granted a scholarship for study and research in the field of biology at the Virginia Fisheries Laboratory at Yorktown this summer. This will be the third summer that Rosalie has been to the laboratory at Yorktown for research work.

She has also been granted and has accepted a scholarship to the College of William and Mary next fall for biological work.

With Service As Our Prime Goal We Go Out To Teach . . .

This year, more than ever, as Farmville girls leave these halls for wider paths of learning an dservice, they have many fields open to them. Whatever may be their talents, whatever their ambitions, there is a position awaiting them. No longer is the step over from friendly college to the "cold cruel, world", but it is into a world of great promise, and a world of great need of their help, that they are stepping.

And as they have a greater opportunity, so do they have a greater challenge, and a greater service to render. Their foremos desire cannot be a selfish one if they would join in the struggle for a peace composed of liberty and justice. Whatever place they may choose to take as their own, their first criteria in choosing should be service.

At the present. many young people are leaving the less lucrative professions to join the life of war and defense workers whose pocketbooks may be filled now, but whose heads are being filled with little of the knowledge that comes with working on some thought-provoking project. The defense work must be done. But the mere money that comes from it should never be the reason for entering it. If they can serve better in that type of work, then they should go into it. But if by so doing they are giving up a chance for real service as a teacher, technician, nurse, or some other trained profession, they should hesitate more than a moment.

They will be citizens of a great nation. The fundamental ideals on which that nation is built may well be their ideals, and the ideas that they will work to preserve. For as they go forth to work they go to serve.

In the March issue of the Journal of National Education Journal, there was printed the following story in which one teacher tells of her experiences with this problem. It is called "The Return of a Teacher."

"I am a teacher who left teaching last spring to get a job in Washington. As I stepped from the train at Union Station and as I walked through the depot, where one sees more tired people than in any other place in the world, I beheld the national capitol building, the dome shining like a jewel in the spring rain. I thought,, 'Here is the place—the heart of the nation—where I can really do something to help things along.' When I closed my books and locked my classroom door back home, I felt I was leaving a job of minor importance for one of real value to a nation at war.

"It took four months of hard work for Uncle Sam to make me realize the situation in its proper perspective. As September drew near, letters came to me from different sections of the state, telling of the desperate need for tachers. Nebraska newspapers reached me, commenting on the seriousness of the situation. I was disturbed. I had reasonably important duties in a government office to perform, but on the other hand I knew that to win this war, to obtain a satisfactory world afterward, we must have teachers in our schools. Everytime I looked about me in Washington, I could see the pages of history unfold. I could see men like George Washington, Abraham Lincoln, and scores of others sweating and toiling to create a nation. I could see the value of human character in the upbuilding of our country.

"As a teacher, I had a part in the formation of that character. As an officer worker, I was a cog in a machine. Every time I thought of my locked classroom, I know that I had locked my heart behind the closed doors. I was merely a mechanical man, moving much like these same figures in the funny books I had seen my students tuck under their arms. Every time I stepped into the Library of Congress or into the Smithsonian Institute, I saw something which reminded me of my unfinished work in the school."

The Rotunda staff joins with the student body and faculty in expressing sympathy to Miss Edith Stevens at the death of her father.

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers
MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Associate Editors
VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors
SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
ALICE WOODING ..... Proof Editor

Business Assistants
Helen Cobbs, Lillian Elliot, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Margie Pierce.

Staff Assistants
Mary Franklin Woodward, Martha Patterson, Clara Moses, Margaret Orange, M. J. Leavitt, Pat Maddox, Margaret Mish, Gladys Wilson, Betty Cock, Kathryn Hutchinson, Louise Bell, Virginia Sedgley, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Loline Warner, Bobbie Scott.

TUESDAY, JUNE 1, 1943

Gleanings

By Virginia Kent Sedgley

Gas, Gas, Gas. No wonder there is such a drastic shortage in the precious material the way John L. Lewis and the WLB, and even the members of Congress have been "gassing" about trivial matters when the safety of the whole nation is at stake.

* * *

John L. Lewis and the WLB have waged a personal jealous war long enough. What we need now is some decisive action by the President to break this stalemate.

* * *

As for Congress, the men have realized that other matters are more important than the poll tax.

Speaking of taxes reminds one that Mr. John Q. Public is going to have to dig down into his jeans and bring out all of 16 billion dollars next year. The Ruml pay-as-you-go plan will help us get rid of our money but we'll still feel a pinch. What teachers are going to do is still a mystery. Just have to learn to go on working without eating, I guess.

* * *

Two important conferences are finished. Churchill will soon return to London now that he and Roosevelt have completed plans for the European invasion and the war in the Pacific. Joseph Davies has left Stalin to report back to the President. What he will report has not been revealed but we hope it is permission to use Russian bases from which to bomb Tokyo.

* * *

The Russians are still waiting for the Germans to open a summer offensive. In the meantime they have managed to break the Axis line in the South and a fierce air battle is going on over the battlefield.

"Snoop" Snoops

One would think that with exams and the usual suppressed devidtry that comes with them there would be lush dirt notes. However, either the choice bits are known only to a few or well—or—because plenty has happened. Plenty . . . The week's orchids go to the Senior Class not only on general principles but for their parting gift. Notice that lovely brick walk around the library on that previously muddy slope? The Seniors parting present to all of us. We accept with the deepest appreciation for who has not picked his way through the mud and wet grasses to that 8:05 Spanish class or to that overdue work or a Moran paper? Again, thanks . . . Signs of the night: J. Chitwood and Big Barbara with two big paper cups on their way to parts unknown at 9:30 P. M. . . . Got our first squint of Peggy Alphin's Sonny. Uh, Huh! We approved . . . but definitely . . . And did you see Evelyn Christian's man from V. M. I. Made not only her heart twitter but everybody else's . . . Poor Mush! Her one important dance and Tedo off in Chicago learning to play radios unable to get a leave. Oh, well! You can't graduate and have everything else too. His heart is with you, Mush, remember . . . You could never recognize a Pika anymore, because they have given out all their pins in the last few weeks. Hitch and Ikie are the newest pin-ups. . . . Randy's brother came up for the dance again.

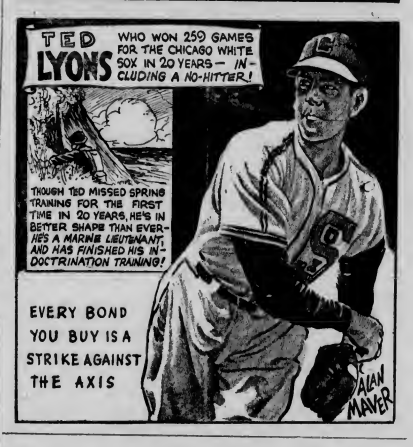
Summer Weddings

Far from their Alma Mater now go the Seniors with diplomas clutched tightly in their hands and hope high in their hearts. Some are going to teach and some to enter defense work, but some, and these are the chosen few, will soon trade their diplomas for cook books. These lucky girls are going to be married

Among those with a sparkler on the third finger, left hand, and a gleam in her eye are several who plan to be married sometime this summer. They and their husbands-elect are, Margaret Kitchen and Charles Gilliam; Jean Guy and Norman Mick; Inez Jones and Joseph Wilson; Elizabeth Benard and Bob Saul; Dot Chiddress and Roland Hill; Katherine Sheiburne who will wed P. T. Atkinson and Edna Brown with Sandy Lupton.

the "Y"

As we look back over the year's work together we see some outstanding events. The highlights of the year began with the Freshman introduction to the Y.W.C.A. at the first sing. Installation service was held. The Big-Little Sister Reception gave us Christian fun and fellowship together. When the "Y" Club was organized, the freshmen went to work and learned of the work and organization of the Y. W. C. A.



We had many outstanding speakers on our campus this year. Mrs. Ould and Rev. T. B. (Scotty) Cowan came to be with us. The highest point of the year came with Religious Emphasis Week in February. Our work was rewarded by having Mr. J. W. Rustin, Rev. John Osmond, and Rev. Philip Roberts to conduct this week of inspiration.

In the Spring came our Retreat, and even though it rained and kept us from Longwood, the sun was shining in our hearts as we met to plan for next year's work. The Conference in Richmond brought another high point to the session.

We have also had several new projects this year. The Cabinet has met together to study the Bible each Monday morning. Our weekly column in the Rotunda has been a new endeavor. The "Y" Club will be organized again next fall to help the freshmen.

Don't forget to live for Christ this summer, and come back next year ready to enjoy our work together.

STARS IN SERVICE

School Is A Fine Place, But— We Turn Our Faces Homeward Merrily

By BETTY COCK

'Twas ing past midnight. An intense silence wrapped the group as they sat intent. No one moved. No one stirred. A deep hush was over all as they waited tensely, to see if the fudge would get hard. Of course, it was exam night, too. There were books and notebooks scattered here and there. From the corner could be heard the faint murmer of H20" water"; Bizerte is just above and to the left of Tunis"; "What are amphibious animals?"; "Why was Walt Whitman the beginner of modern literature?"

The halls are almost deserted now. All trunks are packed and most of them gone to the express office or railroad station. But there are still interesting boxes which say "Eat Toasties three times a day" on the outside and contain a tennis raquet, two blankets, stationery, books, the door number, three potted plants and a foot stool.

"Just one more morning here—won't I be glad to see that good old town again!"

"I'm going to flop in bed and just stay there as long as I please and not do a dammed thing!"

"If that old so and so gives us a hard exam, I'm just going to get up and walk out after two hours. She can't keep me there."

"Look, you all, I really have to study."

"If you don't know it by now, sitting up all night really isn't going to do you much good."

"If I had something to keep me awake, I'd really get some learning—never you doubt!"

"That was the hardest thing I ever saw. I wrote 15 pages and didn't half know it."

"I know I flunked that. All I did was write true, false, true, false, true, false!"

"Look, we all leave right after English—eat lunch in Petersburg—Oh boy, most home already."

"You have so much fun when you stay for finals! Do anything you want to. No classes!"

"S. T. C. was never like home!"

Then there is the girl who leaves on Thursday. She's the one who really gets the service. The roommates carry her suitcases to the bus and shed tears over her.

"Promise to write!"

"Come to see me this summer".

Friday there is no seeing other people off—you're too busy seeing yourself off. And so is this reporter. So, good-bye—see you in September!

How Could We Forget . . .

Boutch's long black hair.

Amy's quick, friendly grin.

Rosalie's pert manner—and appearance!

Carolyn's unselfishness.
Miggie's politeness.

Susie's quiet ability and subtle sense of humor.

Winifred's blond good looks.

Eliett's men and parties—and the time she had rickets in Circus!

Betty Laird's gay fun-making

Jean and Parham hitting the basket.

Fiddle's understanding and never-to-be topped sense of humor.

Finney and Belote going to the movie.

B. Reid's beautiful disposition.

Dearing's tall slimness.

Ann Ware Smith's diary in the Colonnade.

Youngberg and Sonny.

Charlotte, Moo, Mush, and Pagey with their numerous men.

Ella Hutch, who could see more than any of us ever hoped to!

Ann Price's tall, demur good looks.

Hebie Allen—and her long-short suite.

Gus Greeley's constant A's.

Big Barbara's laugh.

Inez's craziness—and Joe!

Edna, with her wedding's plans for June 19.

Ada Clarke's Hawaiian pictures sent to her by the Navy interest.

Boots Feagan's gentle good humor and musical ability.

Marg Bowling never letting anything bother her.

Virginia Sedgley's performance at senior sing! It was terrific.

Lillian Siien's accent and diamond ring.

Jane Lee's story about Ella Hutch—We loved it.

Sugar's red hair and giggle.

Dot as May Queen, and Helen Wiley as maid of honor.

Shirley's frequent visits to V. M. I.

168 Seniors Receive Their Degrees At Fiftiy-Ninth Commencement Exercises of State Teachers College

One hundred and twenty-eight seniors received their degrees at the fifty-ninth commencement at Farmville State Teachers College this morning. Listed with their major they are, Nancye Alfriend Allen, Hebron, English; Eugenie Barbara Altiere, Alexandria, English; Doris Elizabeth Alvis, Lynchburg, Business Education; Dorothy Elizabeth Anderson, Andersonville, Home Economics; Martha Waller Anderson, Pedro, Latin; Elva Kathryn Andrews, Farmville, Business Education; Helen Ashworth, Danville; Norah Beauchamp, Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, Science; Alice Magruda Belote, Cape Charles, English; Nellie Brooke Benton, Orange, Elementary Education; Eleanor Leah Boothe, Wakefield, English, General Science; Betty Boutchard, Newport News, Elementary Education; Mary Frances Bowles, Richmond, Biology and Margaret Louise Bowling, Roanoke, Chemistry.

Ann Holmes Brooks, Prince George, Elementary Education and Music; Edna Mae Brown, Suffolk, Physical Education; Mary Jane Campbell, Farmville, French; Virginia Campfield, Staunton, Home Economics; Haydee Carbonell, Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, Science; Sarah Carbonell, Mayaguez, Puerto Rico, Mary Jean Carr, Williamson, W. Va., Physical Education; Dorothy McDonald Childress, Christiansburg, Home Economics; Imogen Gordon Claytor, Bedford, Art; Willie Grace Collins, Drakes Branch; Dora Maxine Compton, Tiny, Business Education; Virginia Pauline Corbin, Bellewood Manor, Richmond, Elementary Education; Carroll Costello, Richmond, Elementary Education; Anne Covington, Danville, History; Lucy Otey Davis, Lynchburg, Elementary Education; Marie Davis, Smithfield, English, History, and Helen Elizabeth DeLong, Buchanan, English.

Also Patricia Marie Dodl, Farmville, Mathematics; Alice White Duncan, Scottsville, Home Economics; Selina Ellen Ebel, Richmond, Home Economics; Emma Frances Elam, Prospect, Home Economics; Anne Hubbard Eliett, Jennings Ordinary, History; Mary Dearing Fauntleroy, Altavista, Business Education; Eleanor Virginia Feagans, Lynchburg Elementary Education; Marjorie Elizabeth Felts, Ivor, English; Iris Overbey Ferguson, Danville, Elementary Education; Margaret Anne Finney, Onancock, History; Virginia Greenwood Firesheets, Crewe, Home Economics; Anne Morton Fitzgerald, Blackstone, English; Eleanor Camper Folk, Salem, English; Ann Page Francis, Hampton, Elementary Education; Ruth Fraughnaugh, Sparta, Home Economics; Alyce Lee Fulton, Yanceyville Rd., Danville, Math; Anne Wilson Garnett, Cumberland, English; Bridget Anna Gentile, Suffolk, Elementary Education; Sarah Massie Goode, Dinwiddie, History and Catherine Eleanor Gosney, Danville, English.

Also Lilly Rebecca Gray, Newport News, History; Charlotte Louise Greeley, Roanoke, Home Economics; Jean Harle Guy, Norfolk, Elementary Education; Nina Lee Hall, Wachapreague, Business Education; Martha Rebecca Hammock, Blackstone, English; Helen Wiley Hardy, Farmville, History; Jacqueline Hardy, McKenney, Business Education; Mary Fidele Haymes, Irvington, Chemistry; Hallie Meredith Hillsman, Farmville, Mathematics; Ellen Rebecca Huggins, Nutbush, Home Economics; Nelda Rose Hunter, La-Crosse, Home Economics; Ella Florence Hutchinson, Newport News, Elementary Education; Betty V. Jackson, Amelia, Business Education; Myrtle Frances Jenkins, Culpeper, Latin; Agnes Penultima Johns, Amelia, English; Lillian Inez Jones, Staunton, Home Economics; Nancy Langhorne Kerse, Richmond, English; Baylis Elizabeth Kunz, Lynchburg, Elementary Education; Betty McClung Laird, Lexington, Home Economics, and Evelline Mackreth Looney, Rocky Mount, N. C., English.

Also Mary Elizabeth Love, Charlotte, N. C., Home Economics; Margaret Godsey Lovins, Cumberland, Social Science; Ann Lyons, Petersburg, Elementary Education; Elizabeth Price McCoy, Monterey, Social Science; Frances Parham Mallory, Lawrenceville, Biology; Dorothy Ella Marrow, Clarksville, Home Economics; Catherine Elizabeth May, Roanoke, History; Margaret Grayson Mish, Lexington, History; Leona Moomaw, Roanoke, Elementary Education; Susie Lyle Moore, Richmond, Chemistry; Virginia Anne Moore, Suffolk, Elementary Education; Sarah Winifred Moss, Emporia; Opal Irene Nelson, Richmond, Business Education; Ada Clarke Nuckols, Richmond, Home Economics; Sarah Wade Owen, South Boston, English; Irma H. Page, Rocky Mount, N. C.; Virginia Louise Parcell, Roanoke, English, and Frances Worthington Parham, Petersburg, Elementary Education.

Also Martha Catherine Parrish, Richmond, Business Education; Agnes Meredith Patterson, Kenbridge, Elementary Education; Charlotte Stockley Phillips, Melfa, Elementary Education; Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Richmond, Elementary Education; Alma Wren Porter, Fine Creek Mills; Anne Fleenor Price, Rice, English, Science; Nell Clay Pritchett, Petersburg, Home Economics; Carroll Wade Pugh, Charlotte House, Home Economics; Mary Frances Quillen, Bristol, Mathematics; Anne Robertson Randolph, Alexandria, History; Amy Ray Read, Hampton, English; Elizabeth Evans Reid, Staunton, English; Lolita Robert, Santurce, Puerto Rico, Science; Mary Rosalie Rogers, Melfa, Biology; Carolyn Towe Rouse, Newport News, History, and Jane Cabell Sanford, Farmville, History.

Also Ellen Kendall Scott, Eastville, History; Mary Jane Scott, Onancock, Art; Virginia Kent Sedgley, Bristol, English; Alice McFaddin Seebert, Tazewell, Home Economics; Elizabeth Lochridge Sexton, Raleigh, N. C., Art; Dawn Sheppard Shanklin, Lynchburg, Home Economics; Jane Lee Sink, N. Y. City, Elementary Education; Mrs. Ann Ware Smith; Beckley, W. Va., Business Education; Estelle Walton Smith, Victoria, History; Ada Claire Snyder, Altavista, History, and Lois Jane Steidtmann, Lexington, English.

Also Joice H. Stoakes, Petersburg; Elsie Charlise Stossell, Front Royal, English; Anne Fletcher Trotter, Clarksville, English; Shirley Moore Turner, Petersburg, Elementary Education; Anne Elizabeth Walker, Farmville, Latin; Annie Belle Walker, Buffalo Junction, Home Economics; Elizabeth Virginia Walls, Lanexa, Elementary Education; Emily Ames Wescott, Onley, English; Nellie Alice White, Roanoke, Business Education; Violet Mae Woodall, Norfolk, English; Winifred Ann Wright, Arlington, Art; and Betty Mae Youngberg, Richmond, English.

Trying For 90,000 New WAAC Members

Lt. Maree G. Slattery and Corporal Merle Fletcher, Waacs, have established headquarters at the Army Recruiting office in the Post Office building at Lynchburg, to help in recruiting 90,000 new WAAC members in the next few months.

The Army Air Force alone has put in a request for over 30,000 Waacs, Lt. Colonel Leland W. Skaggs, recruiting officer for Virginia, said this week. These, when recruited and trained, will release the same number of men to fight, fly, and bomb the enemy. The Army Ground Forces and the Army Supply Forces have put in their request for a corresponding number of Waacs.

Corporal Fletcher has been in the WAAC just a little over two months, and has traveled from her home in Salt Lake City, Utah, to Des Moines, Iowa for basic training, and has since been on recruiting duty in Virginia. That advancement in WAAC is rapid is proven by Corporal Fletcher's experience. She started out as an Auxiliary (rank corresponding to private in the army) and after only two months in the corps is wearing the chevrons of a corporal.

Lt. Slattery, who entered the WAAC as an Auxillary the first of December, took her basic training and officers' training at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, also. From St. Paul, Minn., Lt. Slattery was commissioned a third officer (2nd Lieutenant) on March 2, and has since been on recruiting duty in Peninsular Virginia.

Both Waacs are on duty at Lynchburg daily from 8 A. M. to 6 P. M. and are available to clubs and organizations for informative speeches on the WAAC, its life and opportunities, whenever desired.

49 Graduates At Farmville High

The commencement exercises of Farmville High School will get under way Sunday morning, May 30 at the Presbyterian church, when Rev. Philip A. Roberts will preach the commencement sermon to the graduates.

Class night will be held Thursday night, June 3.

The final exercises will be held on Friday night, June 4 at 8:30 o'clock. The theme for the final exercises will be: "A Patriotic Desire for America". Four honor graduates selected by their fellow classmates and the faculty will develop the theme by giving the following talks: "A Victorious America", Virginia Farrier; "A Peaceful America", Ashby Fulcher; "An Economically Secure America", Billy Watkins; "A Spiritually Alert America", Frances Neal.

Members of the senior class are Calvin Edgar Baldwin, Frank Benjamin Baldwin, Benjamin Ashley Cox, George Franklin Crichton, Jr., Robert Lauck Crawford, Andrew Jackson East, Walter Shipman Farley, Alwyn Otis Lafoon,

Continued on Page 4

Davis Wins Prize On Seminar Paper

Marie Davis, Chuckatuck, who was graduated in the class of '43 this morning, received word last night that her paper, a study of the Anglican Church in Colonial Virginia, centered around St. Lukes in Virginia's Isle of Wight, has won first place in the annual contest, sponsored by the Colonial Dames of America in the state of Virginia.

The paper was written by Marie as a seminar paper and was entered in the contest by Dr. James Elliott Waimsley, head of the History Department. The study, concerned with the Anglican Church and the dissenting groups which were an outgrowth of the church, is based on the church in the Isle of Wight County and contains a description of the church.

Lucy N. Taliaferro, chairman of the contest committee, in writing of the paper said, "It was a splendid paper and showed great research."

Buy new Luggage for trips this summer at Wilson's Firestone Store
111A WEST THIRD

Have your Clothes cleaned . .
. . . Before patching to take home
BEST SERVICE
DeLuxe Cleaners

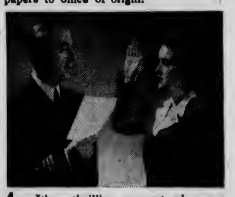
Rose's 5-10-25c Store
Many Congratulations
To the
Graduating Class of '43

J. J. Newberry Co.
5-10-25c Stores
Visit Our Novelty Dept. for Souveniors to take Home

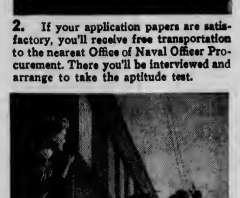
C. E. Chappell Co.
Fountain Service
Visit us for the BEST
PHONE 63

PATRONIZE PATTERSON'S
The Complete Drug Store
CLEAN FOUNTAIN
Stationery, Candy
Prescriptions are our specialty
PATTERSON'S DRUG CO., INC.
238 Main St.

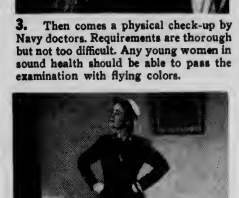
What happens when you join the WAVES or the SPARS?



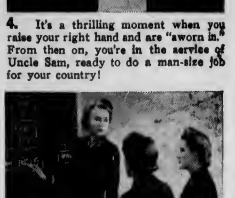
1. First, go or write to the nearest Navy Recruiting Station or Office of Naval Officer Procurement for application blanks. Give the information required, and return papers to office of origin.



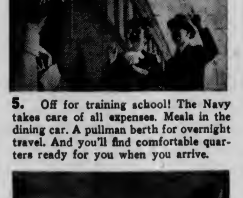
2. If your application papers are satisfactory, you'll receive free transportation to the nearest Office of Naval Officer Procurement. There you'll be interviewed and arrange to take the aptitude test.



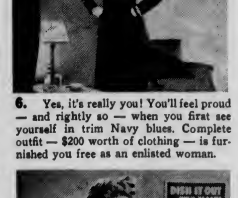
3. Then comes a physical check-up by Navy doctors. Requirements are thorough but not too difficult. Any young women in sound health should be able to pass the examination with flying colors.



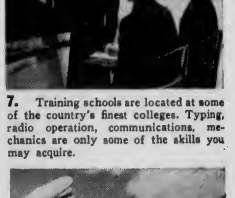
4. It's a thrilling moment when you raise your right hand and are "sworn in." From then on, you're in the service of Uncle Sam, ready to do a man-size job for your country!



5. Off for training school! The Navy takes care of all expenses. Meals in the dining car. A pullman berth for overnight travel. And you'll find comfortable quarters ready for you when you arrive.



6. Yes, it's really you! You'll feel proud — and rightly so — when you first see yourself in trim Navy blues. Complete outfit — $200 worth of clothing — is furnished you free as an enlisted woman.



7. Training schools are located at some of the country's finest colleges. Typing, radio operation, communications, mechanics are only some of the skills you may acquire.

8. At training school you'll follow an interesting schedule. Athletics, games, recreation with friendly companions are yours to enjoy in addition to the valuable training under expert Navy teachers.

9. And now — a full-fledged member of the service — you go on active duty at one of the big Naval bases. You'll be in the thick of all that's exciting and important in America at war.

10. Yes, your salute will be recognized by an Admiral. And you deserve recognition! For yours is a big job — a service to your country you will be proud of the rest of your life.

War Brings Greatest Demands In History On Technical Trained

While qualified men are being drawn from civilian and military groups for special training, industry this year expects to draw heavily on the crop of women graduates. A few years ago the goal of the woman college graduate may have been domesticity. In 1943 she may still get married—but she also will go back to the farm to replace her drafted brothers, or she will drive a truck, or take a Civil Service "1620" job, work in a machine shop, a chemistry laboratory, the school, child care center, community recreation center, retail store, or auto repair shop.

The United States Employment Service this year is working with the National Roster in finding the "right war job" for the 69,000 women who will be taking degrees this year. USES is also cooperating with the U. S. Civil Service Commission in placing women in Government agencies, including civilian personnel in the War and Navy Departments.

On the basis of a survey of womanpower shortages, the Office of War Information reports that an unlimited number of women doctors, dentists, nurses and veterinarians can be used this year. Fifty thousand elementary and high school teachers are needed, and 2,000 are wanted to instruct high school and college physics classes. Industry needs three to 10 times the available supply of engineers, physicists and production supervisors, and about 12,000 could go into social work.

Openings in Fields Doubled

There are also limited openings, the National Roster has reported, for women who have training in these fields (if they take supplementary courses in other fields): geography, economics, history, home economics, natural science and psychology.

The job demand for college women who are technically trained will be greater in the next few months than ever before in the history of the United States. Many colleges have reported that the demand for women in some fields has doubled since the war started. Those trained in drafting, nursing, office work, accounting, auditing will find doors opened wide to them. There is increased demand for bacteriologists, dieticians, map makers, meteorologists, photographers, pharmacists, occupational therapists . . . to name but a few.

The figures compiled by the National Roster are based on returns to a questionnaire sent to all colleges listed in the 1941-42 directory of the U. S. Office of Education.

Approximately 2,000,000 women will be needed for war work this year, Paul V. McNutt, Chairman of the War Manpower Commission, explained as plans for the enrollment of women in summer courses in engineering, science, management and war training in more than 1,000 towns and cities were outlined. The classes are expected to furnish 100,000 trained workers before the end of the year.

Already 30,000 women are enrolled in engineering, science and management war training courses—popularly called EMSWT. Applications for entering the courses this Summer are received at all major colleges and universities in every State.

College Shoppe
Try our delicious
SANDWICHES
And Plate Lunches

BUY GRADUATION PRESENTS AT MARTIN'S
Martin the Jeweler

To the members of the faculty and Student Body, we appreciate the business you have given us this season and wish each of you a pleasant vacation! ..
Butcher's
(High Street)

★ SENIOR ★ ★ PERSONALITY ★

WINIFRED WRIGHT

Retiring Editor of The Colonnade

It is appropriate that the final spotlight of personalities in the Class of '43 fall on Winifred Wright, a senior who presents a vignette of the qualities college students strive to attain. During her four years at Farmville, she has won wide recognition for her sound judgment and intelligence, her resourcefulness and innumerable talents, and for her striking personal charm. Add to these her keen sense of humor and originality and the product is a thoroughly distinctive personality.

Winifred's efficiency as an executive and her sincere interest in others will leave an indelible impression on those with whom she has been associated. And she has been associated with many. As editor of the Colonnade, this year and past president of Gamma Psi, a member of the May Day Committee and the May Court, Alpha Kappa Gamma, Kappa Delta Pi, Beorc Eh Thorn, Student Standards, and as vice-president of the local chapter of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, she has demonstrated her amazing versatility. For this plus her strong character she was cited in the 1943 edition of "Who's Who Among College Students", and selected by the student body of the college as one of its representative personality features in the college yearbook, the Virginian.

It is obvious that personality with such abounding loyalty to school as hers will leave a great deal more in the college than she will take with her as she leaves.

Farmville High

Continued from Page 3

Jr., John Patterson Meanley, III, Richard Henry Moore, James Stuart McGhee, Carlton Bell Noel, Henry Paul Oliver, Morris Gilliam Smith, Jr., William Forbes Watkins, Jr., Robert Lester Wilkerson, John Dennis Wilson, Paulus Ashby Fulcher, Marjorie Colleen Agee, Emma Leroy Allen, Annie Lee Baker, Margaret Ann Buck, Mary August Clements, Margaret Alma Crawley, Mary Lee Dickerson, Lucie Kathryn Dowdy.

Also Mabel Perkins Dudley, Frances Virginia Farrier, Jane Marie Glenn, Lucie Berryman Green, Constance Marie Hubard, Marion Hunter Hubbard, Catherine Hazel Hyatt, Anna Estelle Jacobs, Irma Gertrude Jones, Rachel Hope Kelsey, Virginia Katherine Mahan, Margie Williams Mason, Marion Louise Morris, Helen Gladys Moore, Evelyn Mae Motley, Margaret Virginia McQuarry, Frances Leola Neal, Frieda Sturman, Charlotte Elizabeth Warwick, Charlotte Page Watson, Mabel Vaughan Weaver, Dorothy Carol Wickman, John Edward Mintz.

Not everybody with a dollar to spare can shoot a gun straight—but everybody can shoot straight to the bank and buy War Bonds. Buy your 10% every pay day.

Lovelace Electric Shoe Shop
"From old to new with any shoe"
Only First Class material used
All work guaranteed

H.-S. College Hears Admiral Sheldon At Commencement

Great democratic ideals which are fostered by liberal arts institutions plus patriotism, discipline, and honor instilled by military training, were cited as goals for America's wartime educational programs by Rear-Admiral Luther Sheldon, Jr., U. S. Naval Medical Corps, in his commencement address to the graduating class of Hampden-Sydney College on Tuesday.

Admiral Sheldon, '03, who was awarded the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws at the ceremony, pointed out that Hampden-Sydney will have the two-fold educational combination when a Naval V-12 Unit enters the 167-year-old college in July.

Building his address around the part which Hampden-Sydney has played in the nation's history, the high-ranking alumnus stressed the obligations of the College and the graduating class for prompt personal service in war efforts.

"It is your privilege and duty to settle quickly for yourselves how best you may serve your country," he declared. "America's place in the world will be secure if we have the essential ideals of freedom, decent living, brotherly love, and kindliness."

Dr. Edgar G. Gammon, president of the college, conferred doctor of divinity degrees on Dr. John N. Thomas, faculty member at Union Theological Seminary, and the Rev. William R. Moody, rector of Christ Protestant Episcopal Church, Baltimore, and Hampden-Sydney alumnus.

Thirteen bachelor of arts degrees and 21 bachelor of science degrees were conferred on members of the graduating class, including those members above.

Seniors Plan Career

Continued from Page 1

Ada Claire Snyder and Lois Jane Steidtman plan to work for the signal corps at Arlington while Imogene Claytor will work for an aircraft corporation.

Helen Wiley Hardy will join the teaching staff at Hollins College.

FILMS DEVELOPED AND PRINTED
25c Per Role
Southside Drug Store

Meet Me
at
SHANNON'S

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
KLEANWELL CLEANERS
OPPOSITE POSTOFFICE

Proper Addressing Urged for all Mail Including V-Letters

Campaigning for greater use of V-Mail, the Navy has run up against but one contrary argument, and asks only a fair hearing in rebuttal.

Some Navy men in the field have written relatives and friends that V-Mail is slower. Actually it isn't, because it enjoys No. 1 priority.

Sometimes V-Mail encounters delays, as all mail does, and sometimes there are circumstances which make V-Mail seem slower.

When the family receives their son's letter in a few days, whereas their own mail has not reached him after weeks or even months, they jump to the conclusion that air mail or even ordinary mail is better.

Out-going mail may pile up on the coast awaiting transportation. But in-coming mail faces no such problem. As a rule, mail is received in a much faster manner. Ships go overseas heavily laden, often come home empty.

Therefore, the false conclusion is reached by the unfair comparison of outgoing V-Mail with incoming ordinary mail. Only in such cases does the Navy admit that V-Mail is likely to be slower.

"If correspondents are informed of these facts", says the Navy Department, "it is believed that there will be a more complete understanding of the mail problems." But the officials hasten to add:

"Too much emphasis cannot be laid on the correct and proper addressing of all types of mail, including V-Mail."

A wide check-up has shown that V-Mail writers, using a form, are more careful about the addresses than are those who write ordinary letters.

Music Department

Continued on Page 4

be secured, he will also give an organ recital in the Methodist Church to which the student will be invited.

Newman's Bowling Alley
For Exercise . .
BOWL at . . .
NEWMAN'S BOWLING ALLEY
Downstairs in Shannon's

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
Building Materials

This is to advise that the Continental Taxi & Bus Company is at your service
If you want to go anywhere in Virginia ask for information. Telephone 78—Edwin Cralle

Just Looking, Thanks

With exams only an unpleasant memory, trunks expressed, and rooms dismantled, the Seniors and their little sisters settled down to a week end of fun and activity. For the Seniors there were Class Day and Baccalaureate Sermon, not to mention a little thing called Commencement. For the remainder of the Student Body there was the dance given in honor of the Seniors—Junior-Senior Prom.

To the music of Hal Thurston's orchestra danced: Inez Jones with Joseph Wilson; Charlotte Greeley with "Bev" Blackburn; Lelia Dowell with Bill Berryman; Betty Pat Lewis with Bob Richmond; Olive Bradshaw with Phil Cheatham; Anne Pettis with Stuart Gibson; Jane Johnson with Wright Gouldin; Carol Diggs with Lawrence Sullivan; Jane Ford with Harold Johnson; Vivian Gwaltney with Ed Gouldin; Rosemary Elam with Carlton Wright; Miggie Mish with Bobby Vaughn; Betty Sexton with Preston Spring; Jane Crump with Allen Fox; Ella Marsh Pilkinton with Jim Dischinger; Kitty Davis with John Irby.

Also, Anne Randolph with Lt. Bill Randolph; Beatrice Jones with Charles Barger; Nancy Lee Weeks with Bob Gleason; Susie Moore with Joe Gonzely; Jackie Parden with Joe Nelson; Libby McCoy with Archie King; Anne Covington with Frank Bilesoly; Dearng Fauntleroy with Bobby Price; and Anne Rogers with Jim Nottingham.

Closing Exercises

Continued from Page 1

Alice Seebert, Tazewell; Mrs. Ann Ware Smith, Beckley, W. V.; Estelle Smith, Victoria; Lois Jane Steidtmann, Lexington; Violet Woodall, Norfolk, and Winifred Wright, Arlington.

V-Garden

Continued from Page 1

omics seniors.

The students are concentrating on foods that are high in ration point as well as nutrition values.

Martha Hardaway Is Betrothed

Mr. and Mrs. John Segar Hardaway, of Burkeville, announce the engagement of their daughter, Martha Meade, to James Perkins Agnew, son of Mrs. James Stuart Agnew and the late Mr. Agnew, of Burkeville.

Miss Hobson Engaged To Lt. Chappell

Mr. and Mrs. William Brazeal Hobson, of Farmville, announce the engagement of their daughter Elizabeth Jane Verser, to Lieutenant Thomas H. Chappell, of Camp Breckinridge, Ky. The wedding will take place in June.

Music Class Holds Annual Recital

The music class of Mrs. W. C. Duvall held a recital Saturday evening, May 22 in the studio. Those taking part were Frank Blanton, Louise Davidson, Julianne Boysworth, Sara Graham, Caroline McIlwaine, Madison McClintic, Jo Ann Olgers and Jeanne Simmons.

Old shoes are made to look new
Expert Repairing
Prompt Service
Electric Shoe Shop
Next to Baptist Church

PEOPLES NATIONAL BANK
Farmville, Va.
Careful Management
Courteous Service
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

MANY CONGRATULATIONS TO THE SENIORS OF '43!
To the underclassmen—
We'll see you next year!
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Tussy
SHOW-OFF
Creamy leg lotion

6-oz. bottle 50¢ PLUS TAX

• Flattering, easy-to-use leg tint . . . looks like the flimiest hosiery you ever wore! Won't streak, water-spot, or rub off, till washed off with soap and water. Tussy Show-Off saves stockings . . . saves money! 6-oz. bottle 50¢. Plus tax.

BALDWIN'S

The Rotunda

SUMMER ISSUE | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 18, 1943 | NO. 1

Commencement Here Set For August 20

42 Graduates Take B. A., B. S. Degrees Here Friday Night

Of the forty-two candidates for degrees at the commencement exercises Friday evening there are four receiving the Bachelor of Arts Degree in Education, two receiving the Bachelor of Arts Degree, two receiving the Bachelor of Science in Business Education while the other thirty-four will receive the Bachelor of Science in Education Degree.

Those receiving the B. S. in Education Degree are Hannah Briggs Allen, Wakefield; Clara Virginia Anthony, Danville; Julia Ethel Ayres, Arvonia; Mrs. Lucille Johnston Baynor, Farmville; Evelyn Sydney Breedlove, Atlantic, Ga.; Nellie M. Brown, Cartersville; Anna C. Bugg, South Hill; Laura O. Chapin, Blackstone; Lucy Anne Cheshire, Martinsville; Guelda Nuckols Dabney, Richmond; Ann Elizabeth Downey, Portsmouth; India Rawlings Foster, Richmond; Grace Collier Hutcheson, McKenney; Margaret Elizabeth Loving, Roanoke.

Also Elizabeth Ellington McCoy, Martinsville; Susan Gertrude Nelson, Charlotte Courthouse;

Continued on Page 4

Pictured above is the Senior Class with S. M. Holton, Jr., classman

English Specialists Lecture At S. T. C.

Dr. and Mrs. Herbert Weiss, of Richmond, have recently completed two weeks of demonstration and lecture work with the members of the workshop group on the campus.

Dr. Weiss is a specialist in teaching reading in English to foreigners, to adult illiterates, and especially now to children by his long and short vowel system which eliminates guessing and confusion in pronouncing and spelling English words. Dr. Weiss has built his system upo his personal experience in learning to read English and upon years of study and laboratory work.

Home Ec Teachers, Rotarians, Episcopalians, Convene Here

Farmville State Teachers College was the seat of conferences this summer with four different groups convening here during the session. Beginning on June 14 and running through June 17, 44 teachers of home economics in the State took an extensive course in the latest developments in canning and dehydrating based on State Course 15. A similar conference was held the next week, from June 21 through June 24, with 50 people present. The group worked at the new canning center at the Farmville High School under the direction of Mr. Via, county demonstration agent. Leading the food conferences was Miss Helen Hopper from the State Office of Home Economics in Richmond. Assisting her were Miss Ruth Gleaves of the Farmville home economics faculty and Miss Doris Robertson, of Farmville.

On Wednesday and Thursday, July 13 and 14, District 187, Ro-

Continued on Page 3

KDP Initiates 10; Inman New Prexy

Ten new members were initiated into the Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi on July 7, Mrs. Lillian Inman, Sponsor for the pledges announced recently. The new members are Julia Ayres, Geraldine Beckner, Louise Campbell, Frances Craddock, Mrs. Lidcie J. Garber, Mrs. Josephine O. Harrison, Nell Glynne Holloway, Katherine Johnson, Mrs. Ann Hardy Williams, and Martha Haseltine Wright.

Officers elected for 1944 summer session are: Mrs. Lillian Inman succeeding Alice Lee Rumbough as president, Louise Campbell who will take Laura Chapin's place as vice-president, Nell

Continued on Page 3

Navy Forms H.-S V-12 Unit

Official transformation of most of Hampden-Sydney College into a Navy V-12 school took place July 1, when 250 officer candidates entered the college for training for Midshipmen's School or Medical School.

The present session will run for two 16-week terms, with a short vacation between. Commanding officer at the Hampden-Sydney V-12 school is Lieut. George F. Howe. Other officers on the campus are Lieut. J. B. Anderson of the Medical Corps and Lieut. (jg) S. J. Fisher. Non-commissioned include Chief Petty Officers J. M. Bass and J. V. Birkland, Pharmacist's Mate J. T. Veazey, Yeoman J. M. Middleton and Storekeeper W. R. Barber.

Officer Candidates were restricted to the campus after arrival until July 17 except for two hours on Sunday when they were allowed to come into Farmville to attend church services.

Civilian students at Hampden-Sydney at present number 42, of which 21 are freshmen. Naval

Continued on Page 4

Hill, Smith To Lead Club in Philosophy

Nellie Hill was elected president of the Philosophy Club for the summer session of 1944 to succeed Nellie Brown, who graduates. Pauline Smith will replace Ione Wilshin as vice-president; Lillian Silen was selected secretary, and Susie Conant will succeed Julia Ayers as treasurer.

Active in the Philosophy Club this summer were Clare Anthony, Virginia Ellett, Nellie Hill, Eugenia Ramsey, Susie Conant, Odell Smith, Pauline Smith, Lillian Silen, Victoria Tanner, Annie Waller, Frances Craddock, Julia Ayers, Lois Thompson, Ione Wilshin, Nellie Brown, M. B. Coyner, S. M. Holton, Jr., Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, Miss Alice Carter, Mr. Alfred Wingo, and Dr. J. P. Wynne.

The organization was begun on the campus some years ago for those students in summer school who have had at least one quarter of Philosophy and are perticulerly interested in the subject. It is not active in the winter school.

Newman Addresses Graduating Class

Brown, Downey Honor Graduates

Graduating exercises for the Summer Class of 1943 will be held Friday evening, August 20, in the auditorium of the College when Dr. Walter S. Newman, assistant superintendent of Public Instruction of Virginia, will be the principal speaker. Other speakers on the program will be Miss Nellie Brown, Cartersville, valedictorian of the class, and Miss Elizabeth Downey, Portsmouth, salutatorian. Following the graduating exercises a reception will be held in the Student Building Lounge in honor of the members of the graduating class and their friends.

Dr. Newman is an alumnus of Hampden-Sydney College, where he graduated in 1916. Later, he studied agricultural education at V. P. I. Since that time, he has been one of the leading figures in vocational agricultural education in Virginia. Before being appointed assistant superintendent of public instruction by Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, he had been for a number of years supervisor of agricultural education in Virginia. Dr. Newman has also taught agricultural education at V. P. I. His career has closely paralleled that of his chief, Dr. Lancaster. After graduating from the University of Virginia, Dr. Lancaster studied agricultural education at V. P. I. and taught this subject there. He served at

Continued on Page 3

Dr. J. L. Jarman, president Farmville State Teachers College

Local English Group Elects Ruffin Head; Bids 4 New Members

Julia Ayers, retiring president of Beere Eh Thorn, recently announced the addition of four new members into the local honorary English fraternity. They are Susie Conant, Nellie Hill, Guasie Hinnes, and Ione Wilshen. Other students and faculty members who were active in the organization during the summer were Elizabeth Downey, Laura Chapin, Katherine Johnson, Jane Waring Ruffin, James M. Grainger, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, and Miss Lucille Jennings.

Officers elected for the '44 summer term are Jane Waring Ruffin, president, succeeding Julia Ayers; Gussie Hines, who will

Continued on Page 3

Where Many Feet Meet . . .

Between gulps of Coca Cola and mouths full of peanut crackers, I heard an interesting convehsation as girls were sitting around peacefully discussing first one thing and then another. (Boys being one thing, of course, and boys being the other). It seemed that the girls had attended a dance at Camp Pickett the night before, and now their conversation ranged from "footache" to "heartache".

"Feet, feet, everywhere! And those that were stepping on mine certainly were not made for dancing, but oh those eyes!"

"Yes, I know what you mean. Ten seconds with the handsome guys, and ten minutes otherwise." (At any rate, I noticed that the ordeal had left her in a poetic mood.)

"Yeah, Joe, or was his name Bob? discovered me, much to my happiness, and said, 'Gosh, but I'm glad you are a gal who doesn't have to be found with a microscope'."

"After learning that we come from S. T. C., they say something about our being future pedagogues and stare at us as if they think we are a shining example of intelligensia."

I smiled at how near right they were, because I had been through some similar experience. It really is fun, though. This grand bit of entertainment consists of everything from classical to "boogie-woogie" and imitators of the Duchess of Windsor to Donald Duck. And when the week end comes, I know that some one has said, "Come to Farmville, The City Beautiful", because it is hard to distinguish this female school from a battilion building, except, of course, our camouflage isn't quite as noticeable.

The dances have been very nice goes to Fay Johnson, and Alice Nichols, who occasionallly come around with a little notebook in hand and say, "We are expecting a large crowd, and in case some of you girls want to come, just sign here—there are plenty of boys available." Then the rush starts.

Believe it or not, the only complaints heard were those from some woeful number wailing because some dizzy blond cut in on her good-looking drip. She had to be truthful, though, and admit that she could still wiggle her toes and none were really black and blue with bruises—and she really did adore those ge-orgous blue eyes, or were they brown?

The chaperones really did their part, too, when they accompanied us to the big affair. Anyone who can live through the "sculleybut" the girls make on the bus needs more than a mere pat on the back. They need an added supply of faith, hope, and charity.

In keeping to the subject, it is necessary to add that the dances given for the boys in the service are a swell idea, and one anyone can enjoy. So gals, brush up on your dancing technique and show them we can "Keep 'em dancing" as well as "Keep 'em flying".

But, all kidding aside, strange as it may seem, these uniformed supermen appear to be simply crazy about the Southern Belles at S. T. C. who are found to be so willing and anxious to accept their hospitality at the dances. And another thing they say is nice about us is our non-shakeable belief in the 3 m's—meals, mail, and aw, how'd you guess it?—men!

War Bri
Demands
On Techr

While qualif drawn from cl groups for spec
try this year
heavily on th graduates. A goal of the wo uate may have
In 1943 she n
ried—but she
the farm to r brothers, or sh or take a Cl job, work in chemistry labo child care cen creation cente
auto repair sh
The United
Service this ye
the National R
"right war jo women who wi
this year. USI
ing with the Commission in Government
civilian person
Navy Departm
On the bas womanpower s
of War Inforr
an unlimited doctors, dentis inarians can Fifty thousan high school te and 2,000 are high school a classes. Indu
10 times the engineers, phy
tion supervisor could go into Openings i
There are a
the National for women wh these fields ( mentary cours
geography, home econom
and psycholog
The job women who a
ed will be gre months than history of the colleges have demand for w has doubled si
Those trained
ing, office wo
diting will fin to them. Th
mand for bi cians, map m photographers
pational therr
but a few.
The figures
tional Roster to a question
leges listed i tory of the U
tion.
Approximat
will be needed
year, Paul V. of the War
sion, explain enrollment of courses in e management
more than 1, were outlined expected to f ed workers b year.
Already 30,
rolled in eng
management es—popularly plications for this Summer
major college
every State.

Colle
Try
SAF
And

BUY GRADI
AT

Martin

To the me and Student the business this season a
a pleasant va

Bu
(H

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533. Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative. 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

EUGENIA ELIZABETH RAMEY .. Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor

STAFF ASSISTANTS

Victoria Tanner, Alice Dean Edwards, Barbara White, Grace Hutcheson, Fay Byrd Johnson, Mary Walton Rucher, Beatie Barrette, Nancy Powell, Vivian Gwaltney, Margaret Gay Webster.

WEDNESDAY, AUGUST 18, 1943

Seniors-We Challenge You!

TO you, the Seniors of the summer class of '43, we dedicate this issue of the Rotunda. We hope you like it. We planned it for you and hope it will help take the place of the annual which a summer class doesn't have.

Teaching at every stage requires the ability to live in the current scene with skill and effective culture. You have gotten a good start toward that ability here at S. T. C., but the current scene in which we find ourselves is a devastating world war—the winning of this war and the added complexity of winning a permanent peace after the war. Along with the great opportunities of helping win the war and the peace, are corresponding responsibilities. To accept both of these require a great deal of thinking and doing. So I challenge you to Think! to Do!

We must try to face the reality of the present chaos; seek to understand the truth of why men use the best inventions and resources at their disposal to destroy one another. Bishop Whately said, "It is one thing to wish to have truth on our side and another t owish sincerely to be on the side of truth."

Then, we must love the children we teach. "Minds are not conquered by arms but by greatness of soul" (Spinoza). Therefore, each of us must be a real person. Mechanical devices cannot replace the inspiration which comes from close association of a pupil with a real personality. Love, admiration, loyalty, and devotion attach themselves naturally to living leaders. What a challenge!

From a letter to a friend, Alice Freema Palmer speaks for devoted teachers when she says, "While I teach them solid knowledge and give them the real school drill as faithfully as I may, I will give too, all the years have brought to my soul. God help me to give what He gave—myself—and make that self mean something to somebody; teach me to love all as He has loved, for the sake of the infinite possbilities locked up in every human soul."

As we leave these halls, may we so walk before God that His gospel of Peace may be spread in the hearts of those we teach thus helping to do our share in preventing the curse of another war and to say honestly, as casualty lists loom high, "These dead shall not have died in vain."

—E. E. R.

Our President-

MOST missed on our campus this summer has been the smiling face of our beloved president, Dr. J. L. Jarman, who has been confined to his home because of recent illness. We have missed Dr. Jarman because he is so everpresent on the campus, always smiling and speaking, never without his cane and his cigar, and never without a few words to say to each and every one of "his girls"—the students of this college.

Dr. Jarman came to this college some forty years ago and it has been through this hard work and his inspirational leadership that the school has grown to the present size and sphere of influence. Through forty years Dr. Jarman has seen students come and go and come back again as so many of us have this summer and others summers, he has seen new buildings added to the college, new courses added to the curriculum. Still he guides us with an unfaltering hand and gives to each student that inspiration to make the most of her college life.

We shall always remember Dr. Jarman's "fatherly talks" in chapel and how we looked forward to them. We loved him even when he scolded, and one grew in four years to anticipate with pleasure a chat with him in his office. Always interested in student activities, Dr. Jarman has become a sine qua non at all receptions and big events in the college year.

It seems strange to reflect upon how soon we became partial to those things which Dr. Jarman favors—red roses, formal events when all the girls wear long dresses, the 13th chapter of First Corinthians.

We've missed him and we all join in the chorus,

"What's the matter with Jarman?
He's all right!
What's the matter with Jarman?
For him we'll fight.
We're very fond of the faculty,
But J. L. J. is the man for me!
What's the matter with Jarman?
HE'S ALL RIGHT!"

—J. W. R.

For Real Democracy-

AMERICANS are often accused of talking profusely about democracy without having the intellectual character to define the term. The reason is that democracy in this country is an ideal rather than a reality. As such Jefferson defines it in the Declaration of Inpependence when he declares that all men are created free and equal.

This statement of human freedom and equality has been the most heeded of the admonitions of the eighteenth century philosphers. In fact it has been broadened by the American people to suit nineteenth and twentieth century needs. By a transfer of ideas, Jeffersons' doctrine that all men are created equal has come to mean that all men are equal, or that if they are not, they ought to be.

It is a living testment to the present and the future. Today the passion for democratic equality express itself in demands for governmental protection against unemployment and material want and for making actual the belief that the thirteen million Negroes should be equal to other Americans. A nation in arms professes a desire to impose it upon Europe and Asia. It will be used as the justification for democratic reforms of the future of which not even Jefferson dreamed. It will never perhaps bring liberality and equality completely to earth so that our analysts can define all its features. But it is a moving conception of the Democratic paradise which for centuries perhaps will not be extinguished.

Gleanings

By Dr. James Elliott Walmsley

Three things claim our attention today: war, diplomacy,, and politics.

In the military situation optimism rules undisturbed. Thorough success in North Africa and rapid, even if difficult, advance in Sicily presage an immediate control of the Mediterranean, which in turn opens up three or more feasible routes into German-held Europe. The success of the "experiment" of bombing Germany into despair seems more probable than ever. And last but not by any means least, the bitter struggle in Russia not only spells Russian success but also indicates early German exhaustion. The only pressing question is of time. Chances are 75 per cent for a hard death struggle, 25 per cent for a politically inspired quick peace.

But diplomatically the plot thickens. Allied unity is guaranteed by a fighting Germany, a falling Germany sharpens the problems of unity. None of the three major allies, for China seems to be weakening internally, has exactly the same objectives. This, strange to say, permits Germany to call the plays. If she continues to keep the greater part of her troops on the Russian front, the Anglo-American attack reaches Berlin first and dictates peace, a British peace, a victor's peace, a peace of "we will hold what we have and will take back what we have had," a peace to which the United States must needs subscribe, even if it be not what all the people envisage now.

But if Germany withdraws enough divisions to meet the second front, Russia breaks through and by means of the Free Germany organization already set up in Moscow will make a negotiated peace that will be Russia's peace. This peace would be politically easy on Germany, but territorially and economically it would put Russia in control of all Eastern Europe, including the Balkans through which the Russians definitely do not wish the allied invasion to enter.

Which way will Germany incline, and what decisions will the new army masters of Hitler's Reich make? Russia will exact an eye for eye and a tooth for a tooth; the Anglo-American is even more ferocious in talk, and perhaps his leaders expect indiscriminate shooting of war-criminals, but the Anglo-American citizen knows that "just isn't done". So, what does the un-imaginative German plan?

Doubtless he calculates on a quick "unconditional surrender," with the terms of peace to be decided when the allies have argued thmselvs into embecility. For be sure that he no longer plans to make victory secure, he schemes only to make peace endurable. That is, we have success in sight, but we are by means sure that we can hold it when we get it.

And then, in America we have 1944 before us. No step is taken by the Administration, no criticism is voiced by the Opposition that does not bear directly on votes. Can high wages for union labor and big bonuses for returned soldiers offset high prices to consumers and bankruptcy in small businesses?

In the late 90's Cecil Rhodes came 500 miles to Capetown to make the great address at a political gathering. Just as he was introduced news came of the electric-charged Jameson Raid. Mr. Rhodes bowed graciously, said "We shall see what we shall see," and sat down.

Off the Record . . .

Summer finds us in Farmville in school again and we find life quite different from that in winter. However there still are a few hang-overs from winter school days. For instance, Frances Craddock writing and talking about Felly and tripping home every week end to see him. Betty B. and "Twitch" having the usual confusion over the same young men. All's well that ends well and they're still good buddies. "Maggie" Kitchin with that far-away look on her face and the broad grin when Charlie is mentioned. She practically swooned when Miss Purdom played the wedding march in class. You did well to survive it, Mary Watt. Charlie Price and Bob Spencer were seen frequently 'til she departed for home and he to parts unknown is the army.

Celebreties visiting on the campus were Anne Ellett, Jac Hardy, D. Childress, "Hebie", Nancy B., Ann Biair, M. Orange, N. Watts, Jane Smith, Shirley Turner, and Jeanette, Betty Cock, Lucille Cheatham, and Evelyn Christian.

And of course there was the usual amount of girish chatter floating down from second floor Annex. A familiar couple—Stella Scott and Tom Bosworth.

Unfamiliar sights — The H.-S. young men in uniform and coming in town only on week-ends. M. K. with a certain sailor instead of Jeep, "Mangy" without dates and "The Mole" with them The lack of beverages during the week. The tables have turned! Instead of H-S boys getting STC girls on campus, things reversed and Ann gets Hogue on tree. Ann Hardp W., losing her dignity and giggling in class. Barbara W. on alert for whistles from the Colonnade.

Mary Sue surprises us all with a beautiful diamond. Hannah Lee streaked off to N. C. to be bridesmaid in Sexton's wedding. Freshmen that will probably be well known next year—The Twins, Mary Ann, and Mary Agnes. "Press" Watts' visit seemed to get Betty Wood quite keyed up. Healthy couple seen about the Campus—Margaret and the Chief! Margaret Lemon, watch that Longwood poison oak! Gracie Hutch and Hugh have finally agreed to disagree but that gal didn't waste much time. She's now sporting Horace's Cotillion Club pin. The S. T. C. belles dressed up in their party best and charmed the sea-faring sailors at H-S last Saturday night. Ann B's Frank's theme song will never be "In My Arms". And she says "you do get it in the V-mail". Ask "Lib" Warner to tell you of the time she was so gallantly escorted to the beach by three C. Pickett Lts. Junie's favorite pin-up girl of the year is "Babbling Babs"—quotes Cutty. Her pictures are everywhere!

SummerSchool Tops Hopes; Calls for More

"Ot, it's hot!" "Hey, Peggy, I didn't know you were coming to summer school!" "When are the Hampden - Sydney boys coming in?" "When is the Navy coming to Death Valley?" "What do you hear from Mac?" "Hey" "Hi there" And so on through the first hot day of the 1943 summer session of Farmville State Teachers Colleges.

We all arrived at the same time on that hot, hot 14th of June, anxious to learn all summer school had to offer—outside the classroom. It seemed strange to be back so soon, but gosh, it was good to see all the girls. And most of them were back. It must have been the rumor that the Navy was coming to Hampden-Sydney.

And did it come! Those bell bottomed trousers of white made it seem almost as if the fleet were in and they were quite a contrast to all the khaki the Farmville girls have now gotten used to. Those two precious hours the Naval officer candidates from Hampden-Sydney were allowed each Sunday made us all the more eager for July 17 when the synthetic sailors were off restriction. How we hated that tree that took root so soon and kept the boys at Death Valley! And how we cheered when it broke because it was overloaded. We shan't ever forget the first dance there for the Navy. A lucious card dance with none of H-S.'s traditional stagline. Somehow or other we like the idea of having the Navy at Hampden-Sydney—it gives a sort of glamour to school life.

Summer school. How wonderful it has been. It has been great living in cotton dresses and loafers. And the pinafores that littered the campus gave the whole thing atmosphere that was refreshing after the long winter days of sweaters and skirts—(Oh, it makes me hot just to think of them.)

Afternoons on the roof getting a tan that will make the people back home green with envy. Continual and eternal bridge games. USO dances at Pickett. Going down town every night and on Sundays. The extra good food we got while Farmville turned into a conference center. Walking barefooted in the rain. Summer school.

Once in a while when we got time we studied. Having to go to the same class every day in the week seemed unnatural, but we survived and didn't let it worry us too much. Somehow nothing worried us this summer.

The dining hall seemed quiet with less than a fourth of the tables filled, but the conferences helped that a little. The extra fifteen minutes of sleep in the morning was heavenly.

Summer school. The thought of studying tires us—so think awhile of all the fun we've had. Remember our motto, "Don't let your studies interfer with your education."

Summer school, 1944, here we come!

Kappa Delta Pi

Continued from Page 1

Glynne Holloway will take over the duties as secretary from Warwick Mitchell, and Katherine Johnson will succeed Mrs. Elizabeth Hinman as treasurer.

Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary scholastic fraternity, is one of the three honor organizations active during the summer session at Farmville.

The new members bring the roll to 23. Old members active this summer are Nellie Brown, Laura Chapin, Lucy Cheshire; Bollie W. Daughtery, Elizabeth Downey, Mrs. Elizabeth Inman, Lucille Lukin, Warwick Mitchell, Alice Lee Rumbough, Lillian Silen, Annie G. Waller, and Ione Wilshen.

Honor Grads . . .

Above are Nellie Brown, left, and Elizabeth Downey, right, honor graduates who will deliver the valedictory and salutatory addresses.

College Students, Town People, Guests Use Swimming Pool

The college swimming pool has been used to a great extent this summer with a capacity group of college students as well as town people. The following have passed Red Cross tests under Miss Elizabeth Burger, American Red Cross Water Safety Instructor: Beginner's Test; Vivian Gwaltney, Sue Cross, Catherine Watts, Gladys Wilson, Edith Foster, Josephine Cooper, and Nell Richards.

Also Summer Test, Vivian Gwaltney, Sue Cross, Nell Richards, Edith Foster, and Josephine Cooper; Intermediate, Mary Jane Richards, Nell Richards, Sue Cross, Vivian Gwaltney and Advanced, Victoria Turner.

Twelve non - swimmers have learned to swim and about fifty members of the Student Body have used the pool for recreational swimming.

The pool has been opened to the public from four to five daily and on Thursday nights from eight to nine P. M. Victoria Tourner, Senior Life Saver, has been giving instruction to the town children.

About one hundred of the Episcopal conference members used the pool twice daily.

Conferences

Continued from Page 1

tary International convened at Farmville State Teachers College. 37 Rotary clubs were represented at the convention, including the organizations in Alexandria, Charlottesville, Fredericksburg, Newport News, Norfolk, Petersburg, and Suffolk. Emphasis of the convention was placed on the set-up of officers and the service of local clubs.

Concluding the conference season were the 170 Episcopalians of the Diocese of Southern Virginia who gathered at Farmville for their annual summer meeting from July 29 through August 4. Outstanding among the addresses which emphasized interrelationship of family, church and the world at large, was the Sunday sermon by the Rev. Dr. D. A. McGregor, executive secretary of the Department of Christian Education of the National Council of the Episcopal Church. Also addressing the conference group was Dr. Arthur M. Sherman, of New York, who spoke on the missionary work of the church.

Beorc Eh Thorn

Continued from Page 1

take over where Elizabeth Downey left off as vice-president; Katherine Johnson, secretary, and Nellie Hill, treasurer.

Boerc Eh Thorn joined with Pi Gamma Mu in presenting a talk by Dr. Herman Bell of the Hampden-Sydney faculty on post-war plans on the night of Friday, July 9. Following his talk the group gathered around the punch bowl in an informal discussion of the topic.

The honorary English society began this year in presenting prize winning books to the library. The four ordered this summer are George Dillon's Flowering Stone, Fiddler's Farewell, by Leonora Speyer, Cold Morning Sky, by Marya Zarurenska, and Life and Letters of Emily Dickinson, by M. D. Branch.

Prayers Programs Offer Inspiration

Reverence, Peace Service Keynote

Ding—sounds a bell. All is quiet for a moment. A voice says, "Miss Jones will lead prayers tonight." Then all of us begin to eat a little faster—we must not be late for prayers; the doors might be closed. Hurriedly, we trip down the halls; then, quietly, we tip down the steps. A sweet-faced girl greets us as we enter and are seated.

The auditorium is quiet and peaceful. The glow from the candles radiate a soft light over the room. Problems that have puzzled us all day are gone. Lessons to be learned are forgotten. We are relaxed and at peace.

A voice begins, "Let not your heart be troubled. Ye believe in God. Believe also in me." Then, with reverence and bowed heads together we sing, "Hear Our Prayer, O Lord, and grant us Thy peace."

Refreshed in body and spirit we again go about our work.

We are grateful to those who have given of their time and effort to make such an atmosphere possible—S. T. C. just doesn't seem right without prayers. They have become a tradition in the winter school and when we come back in summer, our day doesn't seem complete without this short quiet time. That is why a few individuals took upon themselves the responsibility of getting the speakers, lighting candles, pulling shades, and furnishing music this summer.

Next summer we hope that definite plans will be made ahead of time to have an active Y. W. C. A. to appoint a Prayers Committee so that theorganization will be improved and the duties distributed more evenly.

Among the faculty, administration, and town friends who led are: Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Miss Bugg, Dr. Walmsley, Dr. G. W. Jones, Miss Purdom and Choral Club., Dr. W. B. Quisenberry, Mr. Holton, Mrs. H. Lee Scott, Dr. Jeffers, Dr. C. E. Burrell, Miss Nichols, Mrs. P. R. Crawford, Mr. McCorkle, and Miss Snead.

Students leading include: Ann Snyder, Alice Nichols, Warwick Mitchell, Ruby eKton, Hazeltine Wright, Grace Scales, Mrs. Coleman, Eugenia Ramsey, Beatrice Barnette, Virginia Coleman, and Isabelle Kost.

Newman Addresses

Continued from Page 1

one time as supervisor of agricultural education in Virginia and then became secretary of the State Board of Education; the duties of this latter position made him in effect assistant superintendent of public instruction.

Contributing to the program will be the college choral club.

Following the commencement exercises will be the reception in the Student Building Lounge. In the receiving line will be: Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Mary White Cox, S. M. Holton, sponsor of the senior class; Miss Ione Wilshin, president of the senior class; Miss Nellie Brown, valedictorian; and Miss Elizabeth Downey, salutatorian.

To the Seniors - - -

GREETINGS!

Farmville graduates are outstanding in every community in which they live. It is my belief that the members of the Summer Class of 1943 will continue the excellent record or service that has been made by the thousands of girls who have gone out from this institution.

J. L. JARMAN, President

ANCHORS AWEIGH!

To no former class has come so great a challenge as that to the Seniors of '43. Others have been chosen to mould the youth of a great and happy land; last year's class went out to win humanity's greatest war; to you, with the end of war in sight, comes now the task of making peace.

To the courage and skill needed in war you must add the insight, breadth, and tolerance necessary for making peace. For make no mistake. Peace is not, as Prussia's Clausewitz said, continuing war by other means. Peace is positive, it is constructive, it is uplifting.

Alma Mater has given you her care, her love, an intangible part of herself. If she has also given you that nobility of soul and that clarity of vision that enable you to rise above passion and revenge to see the hope of a peaceful world, she can send you forth with serence confidence.

"We sail at break of day."

JAMES ELLIOTT WALMSLEY

GOOD WISHES!

To the graduates of the Summer Class of 1943 I give my sincerest greetings. I know that having lived at Farmville as students you have gained that intangible thing known as the Farmville Spirit. May you ever keep it and may it serve to help you be of the greatest good in your fields of service.

S. M. HOLTON, Classman
Director of Personnel

MY WISH FOR THE SENIOR CLASS!

I wish for each and every one of you the power to distinguish between the psychological attitude and the ethical attitude toward people. The psychological attitude is the attitude of the self-centered, political manipulator. The ethical attitude is the attitude of educational leadership. My wish for you is that you know the psychological attitude so well that you can see when it is practiced on you, and so well that you can incorporate the te hniqu s th suggests in the application of the ethical attitude in your own personal and professional program.

J. P. WYNNE

May I thank you for the spirit of co-operation, cheerfulness and scholarly endeavor that has made life at S. T. C. so pleasant and happy this summer. My wish for you, is that you may be privileged to find the talents and abilities in your students, that under your guidance, may truly light fresh torches of learning from the flame of the old.

LISABETH PURDOM

I am always a little more sympathetic toward summer school students because I know that they are generally fagged out when they get here. And yet, they set for themselves (and for the faculty) a terrific pace due, I suppose, to the fact that they are spending their own hard-earned money, and a raise or a promotion may depend upon their record. This should not be. I would have summer school go along at a more leisurely pace, with opportunity to cultivate friends, to catch up on reading, and to enjoy generally the good things of life, so that teachers could return to their posts refreshed in body and spirit and invigorated in mind.

To many of you graduation will bring forth a sigh of relief and that thank-heaven-it-is-over feeling. To all of which I add a fervent 'Amen'. As you leave remember that we will miss you and, what is probably harder to believe, you will miss us. If you do not miss us, then Farmville has fallen down on the job.

G. W. JEFFERS

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the students as a whole for their co-operation and understanding. This has been a most trying time for us all due to the unrest and strife in the world. I especially wish to congratulate the members of the Senior Class.

With best wishes for each of you.

MARY WHITE COX
Head of the Home

May you find many pleasures and much satisfaction in that period of time yet at your disposal. Chemically man is worth little. Physically he has weight and occupies space. Conclusion, study to develop your mind and personality lest static friction wear you away on the wheel of time.

T. A. McCORKLE

I feel you that you, as teachers, are rendering the greatest service possible in these trying days. Best wishes for a most successful year.

VIRGILIA I. BUGG
Registrar

Physical Education assumes a role in times of stress—War. May you, as class room teachers help others to see its rightful place in the Peace which is to follow.

EMILY KAUZLARICH

The Home Economics faculty knows that Virginia's teachers are not neglecting the planning of things to come, the freedoms which make for greater excellence, better health, greater happiness and justice. We commend you who have studied this summer in order to make a better contribution to the youth of our land who must go out to accept the challenge of our time.

KATHERINE TUPPER

YOU DOING
THE FFORT?

NUMBER 1

stant;

Week

ıda Send her States

ɔn Program
; All Year

students have mae end of the first
y-sixth session of Teachers College,
ormation released
of the registrar to day. This number avorably with the ents registered at last year, which ely 800. More stu-
ing almost every ınt time.

ıer 327

ıer there are 309
and 18 freshmen
lege in June. In re 21 new trans-
ho transferred to June. Students
ted from almost n Virginia, from ates, from Puerto nd Canada.

ı

ıeral plan of ori-
ed this year as in with junior and
ɔn leaders, faculty
ation classes and
The orientation
st Tuesday morn-
21, and all exam-
been completed.
a tour of the cam-
entary movie, innces with faculty
ive study of the ations, and finally demonstration of ampus.
faculty members assisted with the gram. Hannah Lee president of the
is in charge of the faculty members
ɔo served are Emi-
ith Elizabeth Ten-
ie Scott; Virginia
1 on Page 4

rd Named Secretary

ackleford, sopho-
icester, was elected
Dramatic Club to ington at a meet-
last night. Jean sition because her
re too great.
la Moss, who did
chool, Olive Brad-
d head of the actlive has been an
of the Dramatic ars and has servecutive Board as e scrapbook.
in the Club in-
anson, president;
ce-president; Fay
ss manager; Lu-
d of the make-up obertson, head of
y St. Clair Bugg,
g; Carol Diggs,
; Catherine Lynch,
); Jane Waring
; Ann Blair, music;
, parliamentarian;
rrell, posters. Miss is director and ad-
roup.
Following the meet-
ident body meet-
girls interested in entices in any of oups should report auditorium to the
Dramatic Club.
an apprentice pe-
ruary, when new
e elected and ini-

Choral Club members pose with Miss Lisabeth Purdom

In and Among the Faculty---

Did you see Charlie Hop hopping around the campus last Monday? He has been interviewing prospective students, magnetizing them to Farmville. Now he's gone to Eastern Shore to fish for other fish.

Speaking of faculty and sports, did you know that Dr. Stevens is eager to return to West Virginia "to set a spell" with her eight baby setters. Teaching puppies holds a lot of glamor after teaching "bugology".

Dr. Simp will stick around the town awaiting the stork to visit his happy home in the pines. There's no telling where Dr. Wynne will blow; he'll chase educational theories around some campus unless Mrs. John Peter can influence him to be a quiet little breeze for awhile. Seriously, he is gardening and playing softball.

There are many faculty victory gardeners. Dr. Swertfeger will do real harvesting on his father's farm near Petersburg. Mr. McCorkle will garden when schedules and the Ration Board release him during waking hours. Of course his grandchild will help to keep him young and limber.

Mr. Johnson really farms; he has corn and hay to harvest and wheat and oats to sow. Teaching and studying will be an avocation for this man of the soil. To gardening Miss Burger has added canning and carpentry work. During her September vacation, she will counsel the girl scouts at Camp Ruthers near Lynchburg and will visit her brother at Camp Davis. Are we sure that it's a brother?

Miss K will travel, too. Will it be to camp to see her brother? Of course Mr. L. has been visiting here recently. Are Miss K's plans a secret?

Dr. Walmsley is the faculty gad-about. He will travel west to Lynchburg and Christiansburg to lecture on The Literature of our Foreign Policy and to Roanoke College to the Masonic School. To see daughter, Louise, in Baltimore will be his real vacation spree.

Miss Purdom will probably go to Georgia to entertain musically or otherwise the tobacco men in Blackchear.

Miss Foster and Miss Nichols plan to remain in town for at least a week reading appreciatively Browning's "The Grammarian Funeral". Miss Nichols will move to her apartment on High Street after which she hopes to join Miss Draper in New York for a few days. (We hope Miss Nichols will get more done in New York this time than she did in April).

Miss Moran has visited in Washington, D. C., and will visit in September at Wellesley College, but she says it's a sister she will visit.

Miss Henry will soon change her—No, not her name this time—her title. She will spend her vacation working at the University of North Carolina.

42 Graduates

Continued from Page 1

Janie Virginia Patterson, New Canton; Eugenia Elizabeth Ramsey, Drewryville; Alice Lee Rumbough, Lynchburg; Marion Shoffner, Roanoke; Roberta Fitzgerald Shore, Blackstone; Annie Laurie Smith, Altavista; Pauline V. Smith, Lynchburg; Mamie Davis Snow, Farmville; Rosa Victoria Tanner, Gladys; Lois Dodd Thompson, Dry Fork; Pauline Bourne Timberlake, Rockville; Emily Susie Valiska, Disputanta; Annie Goldman Waller, Nathalie; Elizabeth Selden Warner, Tappahannock; Barbara Gresham White, Portsmouth; and Ione Elizabeth Wilshin, Norfolk.

Candidates for the B. A. in Education Degree are Beatrice Barnette, Cambridge, Md.; Bettye Maye Buchanan, Farmville; Warwick Archer Mitchell, Louisa; Stella Crockett Scott, Onancock.

Candidates for the B. A. Degree are Katherine Noell Shelburne, Staunton, and Mary Stuart Wamsley, Millboro.

Misses Anne Jones Rogers, Newport News, and Lillian Silen, New York City, are candidates for the B. S. in Business Education Degree.

The Summer Class of 1943 gave as a gift to the College the sum of fifty dollars to be used a fan in the Library, the fan to be purchased after the war.

Officers of the Class are Ione Wilshin, Norfolk, president; Nellie Brown, Cartersville, vice-president; Annie Waller, Nathalie, secretary; and Elizabeth McCoy, treasurer.

Navy V-12

Continued from Page 1

students are taking such basic courses as physics and chemistry as well as new subjects as navagation, engineering drawing, naval history and naval organization. Members of the Navy V-12 unit have been divided into Companies A, B, and C, each company being composed of three platoons.

Many of the members of the unit are former members of the Hampden-Sydney student body, who joined the Navy last fall. Most of the extra curricular activities have been discontinued for the duration. After publishing three issues on trial, publication of the college weekly, the TIGER, was also discontinued. However, sports among the various companies continues under Coach Frank Summers, who in addition to coaching all major sports at Hampden-Sydney is director of intramural sports for both civilians and V-12 students.

Hampden - Sydney College was founded 1776 and its alumni have served in seven wars of the United States. The latest count indicates that nearly 900 Hampden-Sydney men are serving in some capacity in the present world conflict.

Local Choral Club Presents Programs Through Session

The Choral Club has added much to the various college activities this summer. They were seated on the stage for Chapel exercises, where they led the singing and sang special numbers.

On July 14, the Choral Club presented "No Shadows Yonder", with Loreen Agee, soprano soloist, and Betty Friend, accompanist, and a piano solo, Liebestraume, Liszt's Nocturne No. 3 by Betty Friend.

On Monday evening July 26, the Choral Club sang a vesper service of Songs of Thanksgiving and Praise, closing with the Lord's Prayer from Adlam's Communion in F, followed by the Vesper Prayer Response.

For commencement exercises the Choral Club will sing an arrangement of Brahm's Waltz in A flat by Wilson.

During the summer, the Choral Club has played Recorded Music on Sunday afternoons from five to six in the music room. This was done by Nancy Powell and many request numbers were played.

The following list of names includes both first and second term membership:

Loreen Agee, Eliza Anderson, Mary Rives Black, Mary T. Beazley, Louise Bennett, Nellie Brown, Alice Campbell, Lucy Cheshire, Hortense Connelly, Claire Crenshaw, Ethel Foulkes, Lidie J. Garber, Dorothy Goodwyn, Annette Greinger, Martha Grainger, Nellie Hill, Page Hauchins, Lillian G. Imman, Margaret Jamerson, Ruby Keeton, and Mary Nancy Marsh.

Also Audrey Mayes, Elizabeth E. McCoy, Cecile Parr, Isabel Parr, Virginia Parsons, Helen M. Poteat, Nancy Powell, Eugenia Ramsey, Alice Lee Rumbaugh, Elva Jane Simmons, Maude C. Shelton, Phyllis Snead, Marian T. Tune, Lois D. Thompson, Annie Waller, Arabelle Waller, Ann Venable Watkins, Virginia Watts, Nettie M. Whitten, Gladys Wilson, and Vera Woods.

Welcome Into Alumnae Assn.

Congratulations to our summer graduates. We are delighted to welcome you into the Association of Alumnae, Farmville S. T. C.—the organization which tries to keep in touch with you after you leave your college.

Do you realize what a large body we are? After you are added we will be about 6500 strong. This represents a mighty force in the educational, political, social and religious life of our state and nation. Many famous names appear in the list and you may be proud to be among them. If you study the activities of this group you will be convinced that Dr. Jarman is when he says this is a service institution. Hundreds are serving in the armed forces in the present world emergency. Others are doctors, lawyers, social workers, bankers, etc., but possibly the greatest service our graduates are rendering today is the teaching of our future American citizens.

An Alumna has been defined as a devoted daughter to a worthy Alma Mater. Devotion cannot exist indefinitely in an atmosphere of unfamiliarity. A good Alumnae then must be an informed Alumna, and to be informed you must keep up with your college through the activities of the Alumnae Association. The following are some ways in which you may do this.

Notify the secretary of your correct name and address. Just a plain postal card will do, or you might stop by the Alumnae Office and see if our files are correct. This seems such a simple thing and yet if every girl would do this we would not have the hundreds of "Incorrects" in the office. Notify us when you move or when you change your name.

Send us news of yourself and other Alumnae. This is the most popular part of our Alumnae Magazine, which goes to press December first. We would welcome other contributions to the magazine. Remember how glad you are to read about your friends and that they are equally glad to know what you are doing.

Someone has said that no college is stronger than its organized Alumnae. You can readily understand that we need your organized loyalty, hence we are organized into about fifty Alumnae Chapters. If there is a Chapter in your community, join it, and enjoy its privileges and duties. If there is no Chapter, communicate with the secretary about organizing one.

Last but not least, support your organization with a yearly contribution. The amount is left entirely with you, but it is necessary to have funds to run any organization.

May we count on you as a devoted daughter to a worthy Alma Mater?

RUTH H. COYNER

Alumnae Secretary

Pi Gamma Mu Selects King as President; Sponsors Lecture

At the first meeting of Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary social science fraternity, called by Ione Wilshin, retiring vice - president, Jessie King was elected president for the summer. Other officers elected at the same time were Elsie Turner, vice-president; Elizabeth Downey, secretary; and Ballie Daughtry, treasurer.

Initiation was held on June 30, at which time ten new members were added. They are Mildred Alvis, Louise Campbell, Susie Conant, India Foster, Nell Holloway, Lillian Inman, Margaret Jamerson, Katherine Johnson, and Victoria Tanner. At the initiation meeting Dr. James Elliott Walmsley presented a challenging talk on "Social Science and the Social World".

Pi Gamma Mu and Boerc Eh Thorn held a joint meeting on July 9 at which time Dr. Herman Bell, of Hampden-Sydney College was the guest speaker.

On Tuesday night, August 10, an open forum was held by the social science group. The discussion was led by Dr. Walmsley and centered around the kind of peace that is desirable. Political, economic and geographical problems were discussed.

Any excuse you can give for not upping your payroll savings will please Hitler, Hirohito and pupnet Mussolini.

Scribe Finds Rotunda Skeleton; History of College Publication

On October 29, 1920, the first issue of the student paper at State Teachers College appeared under the editorship of Helen Skillman and under the heading of The Dummy. For four issues following, the weekly newspaper of State Normal School for Females at Farmville was The Dummy, and not until, after searching far and wide, was a name found for the paper "right here at home". The Rotunda was then christened as such and has remained under the same name since.

In developing from a small three-column, four page paper to its present size and appearance, The Rotunda has undergone many changes. The first heading contained the paper's name entwined in a sketch of the railing on the interior of the Rotunda building. Later the heading was a cut of the entire main building of the college, and finally became only The Rotunda.

There have also been changes in print, in the paper used, and in the style of writing. The "dog ears" were added early in the paper's life, and by the time it was several years old, The Rotunda even carried pictures each week. In its youth it was filled with poetry, jokes, and organization columns. And consequently as the content of the paper changed, the organization of the staff changed frequently. At one time there were eight associate editors, news, organizations, athletics, YWCA, joke, literary, exchange, and alumnae editors.

The Rotunda volumes contain a complete history of S. T. C. for the past 22 years. Recorded on its pages are the arrival and departure of teachers and classes, changes in rules and regulations, improvements, and much about the town of Farmville.

In the older issues much space was given the articles covering the erection of Jarman Hall, better known as Student Building. The issue of November 11, 1922, carried a cut of Dr. J. L. Jarman breaking the ground for the building, and a December, 1925, issue carried the first picture of the completed structure.

The Rotunda has recorded the appearance and disappearance of many customs at S. T. C. One of the most interesting of the early innovations was the practice of having each class edit an issue of the paper sometime during the year without the assistance of the staff. In 1925 when rat rules were first made, the freshman class issue of The Rotunda appeared printed on red paper with the announcement, "We are proud to admit that we are rats, but we're prouder still to say that we're not green. Just look at us. We're red all over!"

And among the dining room regulations printed in an early issue was the rule, "Avoid the old fashioned style of pantalettes. Do not wear bedroom slippers to the dining room—low heels are not dressy."

As well as the development of S. T. C., The Rotunda records the changes in Farmville. The building of the Southside Hospital and the Weyanoke Hotel were scoops for the paper only approximately fifteen years ago. And Shannon's has gradually progressed in its advertisements in the paper, for through the years it has been known first as Shannon's Home Bakery, Shannon's Soda Shop and Bakery, and last, but not least, Shannon's Rose Room.

Simkins To Publish Several Books Soon

Dr. Francis Simpkins, Professor of History, is expecting the galley proof of a book entitled "Pitchfork Ben Tilman, South Carolinian," which he completed about two years ago. It will be published by the Southern Biography Series Louisiana State Press. He hopes it will come from the press in the fall.

He has also been asked to write Charles A. Beard's commemorative volume on "The Racial Assault on Democracy" which is a history of the aggressions of southern whites against Negro rights.

He will also write the last half of a textbook history of South in cooperation with a North Carolina professor. This proposed book may be published after the World War II by Houghton-Mifflin Company.

PATRONIZE OUR ADVERTISERS

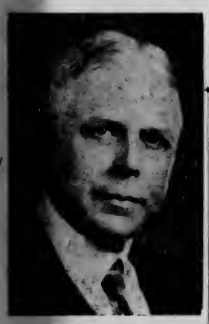
The Rotunda

WHAT ARE YOU DOING FOR THE WAR EFFORT?

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMER 29, 1943 | NUMBER 1

President Greets Students

September 28, 1943



Dear Girls:

In many respects the present school year will be the most difficult year any members of the student body have faced. My hope for you is that you take advantage of the opportunities that you have here at State Teachers College. This is an institution of service, and it can serve only insofar as the members of the student body, the faculty, and administration cooperate with each other.

The school year has started well. Despite the uncertainties of the times through which we are passing, may the session of 1943-1944 prove to be one of the highlights in the lives of all of you.

Sincerely yours,

J. L. JARMAN, President

DR. J. L. JARMAN

Eason Announces Hall Presidents For Coming Year

Judy Eason, president of the House Council, has announced the hall presidents for this year. Serving Cunningham are Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, first floor senior; Mildred Droste, second floor senior; Lucille Winston, third floor senior. Also Elizabeth Anne Jones, first floor senior annex; Jane Smith, second floor senior annex; and Nannie Webb, third floor senior annex.

Sally Robertston and Alice Nichols will serve on first floor junior building; Sarah Byrd Williams and Dodie Jones on the second floor, and Jean Riddick and Lelia Holloway on the third floor.

Margaret McIntyre will be the hall president on third floor Student while Sarah Woodward will serve on second floor Student. On third floor Annex will be Vivian Edmunds. Margie Hewlett and Freddie Anne Butt are the hall presidents on second floor Annex, while Billy Waid is on first floor Annex.

Nell Scott will serve as hall president on third floor White House, and Peggy Alphin will serve on second floor White House. On third floor Gym will be Florence Godwin, and on second floor Gym will be Anna Lee Blanton.

Serving in Main on the third flor are Nancy Pitts and Helen Lacy, and on second floor are Patsy Swan and Catherine Lynch. Julia Messick will be the hall president on third floor Library.

Continued on Page 4

Harper Appoints Thompson Assistant

Sue Harper, air raid warden, has appointed Elsie Thompson, junior, as assistant air raid warden. Serving with the hall presidents who are air raid wardens in various parts of the buildings are Sarah Wayne France in Senior building and Mary Walker Watts in Junior building.

When the siren sounds ten times each girl must go to her room and remain their quietly. Students must remain in their own rooms until the "all clear" signal is given. There must be no smoking or talking during air raids.

Air-raid regulations are nation-wide, and each girl's cooperation is sought.

Choir Plans Events Of Year's Schedule

Pianists, Teachers Named at Meeting

At the first meeting of the College Choir on Monday night, Lucy Messick, president, greeted the old and new students and told them of the unusual opportunity which they will have during the coming year. She spoke of the advantages offered by several universities which are anxious to sing with the choir and of a joint concert to be given with the State Symphony Orchestra of North Carolina under the direction of Dr. Ben Sewalin and a chorus of 250 from southern universities in the presentation of Brahm's Requiem at Farmville sometime in the spring.

Alfred Strick, head of the music department and director of the college choir, spoke at length about the place that music must have in this present crisis and reminded every student that each one has a part in building morale. Also, he brought up the prospective trip to Canada which would be discussed with President J. L. Jarman.

Present at the meeting were several new students from Virginia Intermont, Emory and Henry, Richmond, and Blackstone Colleges, transfers to Farmville, who have experience in both choir and a capella work and are planning to continue their work in music while here.

Mr. Strick appointed the following to teach with the groups under supervision, Junior A Cappella, Beth Johnson; madrigal group, Pat Maddox; student director of the Intermediate A'Cappella, Jeanne Strick. Margie Hewlett, Jo Shaffer and Connie Ozlin were appointed pianists. Jean Prosise was elected chairman of the assembly choir and Anne Blair was named chairman of the hostess committee in connection with any trips that the college choir may take.

The choir has received more than twenty invitations during the summer to sing in various places but due to transportation and need for study, only a few will be accepted.

France Announces '44 Virginian Plans

Due to wartime restrictions, new pictures for the '44 Virginian will be taken only of freshmen, transfers, and seniors. Signing for picture appointments will be done probably sometime at the end of the week.

Sarah Wayne France, editor of the Virginian, in an announcement made recently stated, "We are sorry that things can't be carried out as in previous years but like everything else, the annual has been cut. Yet with the cooperation of everyone, in June we will have an annual in spite of Hitler."

Dean Talks Here In First Lyceum Tuesday Night

Noted Lecturer Discusses Russia

The first lyceum program of the year will be on Tuesday night, October 5th, when Mrs. Vera Micheles Dean, lecturer, will be here to speak on "Russia As A World Power".

Mrs. Dean is a graduate of Radcliffe College and is at present Research Director of the Foreign Policy Association. She holds her Master's Degree in International Law from Yale and a Ph. D. from Radcliffe. She has also been honored with an LLD from Wilson College and a D. H. L. from the University of Rochester.

Travel has played a large part in Mrs. Dean's life. From personal observation she not only knows this country but also Finland, Russia, France, Germany, Norway, Italy, Hungary, Austria, and Switzerland. Her impressions of Argentina, Brazil, Chile, and Peru make a comprehensive picture of the problems confronting us in hemisphere solidarity. Mrs. Dean writes consistently in the weekly Foreign Policy Bulletin and for the Report and Headline Book series. She is the author of "Europe in Retreat", a book analyzing Europe between wars.

From here Mrs. Dean will go to Sweet Briar and Hollins Colleges to lecture.

Other lyceums tentatively scheduled are a modern theatre dance program headed by Jan Veen with Erika Thimey to be held on October 18, the Siberian Singers, who have appeared here for the past several seasons on January 18th, and the Spring Dramatic Club play to be presented by the college Dramatic Club under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler.

NOTICES

All who wish to work on the Rotunda staff meet in the publication office at 10 o'clock tonight. New girls may work on the editorial staff as news or feature writers, on the business staff in either advertising or circulation work, or on the proofing staff.: Try outs will continue for four weeks after which the new staff will be announced.

• • •

Mr. Reid asks that no one place letters in his box to be taken down town on either Saturday or Sunday nights. The town post office is not open at these times, so the letters go out no more quickly.

Enrollment Remains Constant; 792 Students Matriculate By End of First College Week

VERA M. DEAN

Wade, Bell Become Junior Class Heads

Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville, was elected president of the junior at a class meeting on Monday to replace Myrtle Lee Holt who did not return to school. Eleanor was elected vice-president last spring and served as secretary of the sophomore class last year. She has been very active in sports on the campus and is a member of the varsity basketball team. She is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma and Kappa Delta Pi.

Marilyn Bell, Richmond, was elected vice-president of the class. Marilyn served as class vice-president last year and is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma and the debate club.

Colonnade Initiates Short Story Contest

Elizabeth Tennent, editor of the Colonnade, has announced that the last date for entries to the Short Story Contest has been extended to October 5.

A short story contest is sponsored each year by the Colonnade, the college magazine, which runs throughout the summer. Anyone

Continued on Page 4

Puerto Rico, Panama, Canada Send Representatives, As Do Other States

238 Students Form H.-S. Navy V-12 Unit; Civilians 62

Official transformation of most of Hampden-Sydney College into a Navy V-12 school took place on July 1, and at present there are 238 officer candidates training there, Lt. George F. Howe, Commanding Officer, revealed in a press interview this week.

Under the Navy program the length of time the officer candidates remain in school depends upon their previous college experience. Some of the group stationed at Hampden-Sydney will finish their course at the end of the present session on October 23, Lt. Howe explained, and most of them will eventually receive commissions.

Officers at the V-12 school other than Commanding Officer Howe include Lt. J. B. Anderson of the Medical Corps and Lt. (jg) R. J. Fisher. Non-commissioned officers include Chief Petty Officers J. M. Bass and J. V. Birkland, Yeoman J. M. Middleton and Storekeeper T. I. Grubb who replaced Storekeeper W. R. Barber this week.

Members of the V-12 unit have been divided into Companies A, B, C, each company being composed of three platoons. Naval students are taking such basic courses as physics, math, and chemistry as well as new subjects including navigation, engineering drawing, naval history, and naval organization.

Civilian students at Hampden-Sydney at present number 62 and many members of the unit are former members of the college student body. Most of the extra curricular activities have been discontinued for the duration. After publishing three issues on trial this summer the college weekly, the Tiger was also discontinued. However, sports among the various companies continue under Coach Frank Summers, who in addition to coaching all major sports at Hampden-Sydney is now director of intramural sports for

Continued on Page 3

Orientation Program Continues All Year

A total of 792 students have matriculated at the end of the first week of the sixty-sixth session of Farmville State Teachers College, according to information released from the office of the registrar to the press yesterday. This number compares very favorably with the number of students registered at the same time last year, which was approximately 800. More students are entering almost every day to the present time.

Freshmen Number 327

Of this number there are 309 new freshmen and 18 freshmen who entered college in June. In addition there are 21 new transfers, and two who transferred to this college in June. Students have matriculated from almost every county in Virginia, from several other states, from Puerto Rico, Panama and Canada.

Orientation Plan

The same general plan of orientation was used this year as in previous years, with junior and senior orientation leaders, faculty advisers, orientation classes and examinations. The orientation classes began last Tuesday morning, September 21, and all examinations have been completed. Classes include a tour of the campus, a complimentary movie, individual conferences with faculty advisers, intensive study of the rules and regulations, and finally this afternoon a demonstration of the sports on campus.

Twenty-eight faculty members and 52 students assisted with the orientation program. Hannah Lee Crawford, vice-president of the student body was in charge of the program. Those faculty members and students who served are Emily Barksdale, with Elizabeth Tennent and Bobbie Scott; Virginia

Continued on Page 4

Shackleford Named Thespian Secretary

Virginia Shackleford, sophomore from Gloucester, was elected secretary of the Dramatic Club to replace Jean Arrington at a meeting of the Club last night. Jean resigned her position because her other duties were too great.

Replacing Lula Moss, who did not return to school, Olive Bradshaw was elected head of the acting group. Olive has been an active member of the Dramatic Club for two years and has served on the Executive Board as chairman of the scrapbook.

Other officers in the Club include Lucy Manson, president; Pat Garth, vice-president; Fay Johnson, business manager; Lucille Lewis, head of the make-up group; Sally Robertson, head of properties; Mary St. Clair Bugg, head of lighting; Carol Diggs, head of staging; Catherine Lynch, social chairman; Jane Waring Ruffin, publicity; Ann Blair, music; Marion Orange, parliamentarian; and Virginia Terrell, posters. Miss Leola Wheeler is director and adviser for the group.

Immediately following the meeting of the student body meeting tonight all girls interested in becoming apprentices in any of the various groups should report to the large auditorium to the meeting of the Dramatic Club. Girls will serve an apprentice period until February, when new members will be elected and initiated.

American Boys "Down Under" Pay Tribute To Farmville Alumna in Reader's Digest

Perpetual Motion Describes Pedigo

Featured in the October, 1943 issue of Readers Digest is a character sketch written by the enlisted personnel at APO 710 somewhere in Australia. Their tribute is paid to an American girl, to a Virginia girl, to a Farmville girl, Phyllis Pedigo, class of '28, who is with the Red Cross Unit in Australia.

Published in this paper last spring were excerts from a letter written by Miss Pedigo to Miss Virgilia Bugg, and a sketch written by the boys she works with gives evidence of the wonderful work she is doing there. "It's impossible to believe that one American girl can so change an army group," they wrote. "From the first day she arrived the entire atmosphere changed around what had been a rather drab but well-meaning club."

The group of men she works with have nicknamed Miss Pedigo "Merrylegs" because they say, "she has the best-looking pair of legs that ever came out of the States and those legs are always flying on errands for lucky soldiers. It's a pleasure to watch her in action; she's perpetual motion, and yet she is never too busy to stop and talk to anyone who seems to need it," her "Wolves" (her own name for all GI's) write the people back home.

Last spring Miss Pedigo wrote that she had discovered the American army hollow to its toes, that nothing delights them more than a dish that tastes USA, like lemon pie. And now her boys write that her lemon pie alone would have made her famous, that her coffee is the best anywhere. "You have to be one of the gang that has descended on the Red Cross Club for Rebel's midnight snack before bumping back to camp really to appreciate how this gal knows her Wolves—and leave it to her to teach the Filipino cook to make cheeseburgers!" some of that gang wrote.

Wolves Nickname Girl "Merrylegs"

The American soldiers write that they love to tease this all American girl and that she can take it with the best. "Her apron strings are continually being untied by some soldier," they say, "and we live on teasing her about her southern drawl and battling about the War Between the States."

In her letetr last spring Miss Pedigo told more of her life "down under"—of many things that accumulate including a baby kangeroo, of the monstrous snakes, of the mosquitoes that make it necessary for her to wear regular soldier dungarees to work in be-

Continued on Page 4

Prohibit Bad Habits

Now is the time for all good students to start in the way that is best. Now is the time that habits are finding their beginning, so why not start good ones? There are several practices on this campus that, if abandoned by all, would add to the general welfare. A little thought now as we learn our way around might mean much toward the forming of certain good habits.

Enter the right! The narrow hall to the post office and the room itself can hold but a limited number of girls. To avoid the jam, enter the far door, the one to the right going in, and use the lower door only as an exit. This keeps a steady stream, with no one going against the current.

Leave room for others! When walking to class with three other girls, walk in couples so that others may also use the hall. Though you wish to saunter along four abreast, someone else may be in a hurry, and may wish to pass you. Scatter out.

Use the walks! You may notice that walks have been placed on the campus from the doors to the street. In order to have a pretty green campus instead of a bare brown one, use these walks and —stay off the grass.

Observe quiet in chapel! Chapel is not the time to catch up on the gossip, to read letters, or to search noisily through the hymn book. It is a place for reverence and quiet, for the thoughtful development of our spiritual nature.

Honor Is Within

State Teachers College is justly proud of the honor system at work on its campus. The administration need not act as supervisors of conduct, nor as judges of right and wrong. The students have their own government, a democracy. As in the national and state government, a few are elected by the group as representatives, but the real power is with the group. Each member is on her honor to uphold those things which are wise and good. She needs no watchdog, for she has in herself a sense of decency and good behavior, a feeling of pride in herself and in her school which serves to inspire her to uphold the honor system.

The Rotunda staff joins with the entire student body and faculty in wishing Miss Mary White Cox a speedy recovery.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Lillian Elliott, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Betty Cock, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Bobbie Scott.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, SEPTEMBER 29, 1943

Gleanings

James Elliott Walmsley

"The moving finger writes and having writ moves on." The big features of the war situation remain, but in four months the spotlight of attention and interest has moved on. The vital question today is Russia. The three remaining problems are more or less related to the first. Russian, second front in Europe, China, and domestic policies; these four, and the greatest of these is Russia.

He would be a rash man who would attempt to rank in order of greatness the leaders of the United Nations, now including Italy, but he would be a foolish one who did not place Josef Stalin at the head of his list. Cool, cunning, secretive, refusing the temptation to be a orator, with a fixed eye he moves toward his announced goal, to drive the enemy out of Russian territory and to recover all parts of the Soviet Union. He agreed with Hitler and marked out his part of Eastern Europe; he quarrels with Hitler and demands of the post-war world the limits secured by the Hitler agreement. "He was not called to office to preside over the dissolution of the Soviet Empire." He coldly calculates that air-force can weaken but only ground-force can conquer and hold territory. Hence he insists that it is only fair for the Anglo-American bloc to risk the lives of one or two million English-speaking men to save the lives of four or five millions of Russians.

And there always looms the ironic fact that Germany can choose her conqueror. Keep 150 divisions on the Russian front and the Ango-American force captures and remakes Germany on an Anglo-Saxon basis; send back enough divisions to hold the Western Front and Germany falls into Russian hands to be remade on the basis of the Free Germany already organized in Moscow and ready to take over.

Germany Can Select Conqueror

Russia has suffered more than has any other country except China, and burns with more passion for revenge than does even China. But Stalin boasts of being an Asiatic (He was born in Georgia), and the oriental can subordinate his passions to his intellect to a far greater degree than can the Western people. And the Soviet desires a strong, prosperous, but not dangerous Germany as a balance to a Britain dominant in Europe.

The Atlantic Charter and the supergovernment of last spring are in temporary eclipse. We hear more of regional influence in Europe, in Asia, and, of course, in the Americas; and there is also coming talk of a "good neighbor policy for the world," which is, in plain words, a return to separate sovergnities. We hear that there is to be a trial meeting of the diplomats, not the leaders ,of the three major powers in Stalin's capital. If this is followed by a meeting of the three leaders, at the Kremlin, it will certainly be less dramatic than those colorful meetings we have had of the two world leaders, and it is a safe bet that the silent player will hold the winning cards.

Immediate Aid to China Urgent

China will be aided, we hope in time for the present government to retain its power; and the slight friction which has arisen over the apparent subordination of General MacArthur to Lord Mountbatten will probably be balanced by the appointment of General Marshall to supreme command of the European invasion.

The ugly domestic trouble comes, we think, from active partisans in the two political parties. MacArthur is a possible Republican presidential candidate and his friends insist he is being minimized for the sake of a Fourth Term electon. Doubtless, the two principals, the General and the President, are not involved in this scheme, even if it exists.

And in the meantime we are winning the war. But "it is a long, long road to Berlin and Tokyo." Buy a bond.

Joan of Arc Speaks

From The Rotunda

Though the ranks be depleted and I'm getting cros-eyed looking for such old girls as the Courter twins, Jane Moseley, Pinkie Mahood, Gwen Sampson, Myrtle Lee Holt, Kitty Davis, and others, there have been sights that gladden my eyes and scenes that shock! Ah, and I'm in a position to know! and shall report—

Among the happy incidents is the return of Mary Parrish Vicellio, Mary Walton Rucker, and Rachel Bourne after a year of absence. Then too, there is the appearance of Cab Overbey, the boogie-woogie expert and Anna Headlee, with her accordian, to enliven the air with music.

Sparkles I note a-plenty—M. J. Leavitt, Mary Sue Palmer, Anna Ward Peery, Betty Cock, and Jean Thomas being the wearers of some of them.

Marion Orange and Marilyn Bell have already begun their treks—how can they stand to leave me? Surely they love no one more?

My life is saddened. Why don't someone take me over to see that lovely room of Twitch Eliet's and Betty B's? Everyone speaks of how pretty it is. Another unhappy situation—I couldn't hear that rollicking foursome. Dugger, Droste, Gwaltney, and Ford, sing and tell moron jokes—won't they please come by and sing "Pistol Packin' Mama" to me?

I'd like to thank Faith Weeks and Carmen Clark for bringing those handsome Navy men by to see me. Could the freshmen see those two men, they'd change their minds about the Navy—that is, the girl who said "I don't like those men—they're all so short and fat! I like my men tall and skinny."

Surely would love to see Theresa Fletcher and her Jack married next Monday. Bet it would be a lovely wedding—but I miss Theresa up here! Hope they'l come to see us soon.

As one of the oldest girls up here, I feel called upon to straighten up a few things for the freshmen.—No, I, Joan of Arc, do Not date Hampden-Sydney boys! — Shannon's is a soda pop shop, where you maye go on your afternoons down town—The Cactus Inn is not a hotel—The "Rec" is no longer a wreck, with its new paint job—I've heard that the riding club room has other uses than for meetings, but I really can't say—Cunningham Hall and Junior-Senior building are one and the same.

If you have any problems, just let met know—after all, I'm the most popular girl here—don't you see the boys congregate around me every week-end?

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

Welcome to S. T. C. and to the Y! If there is anything that we can do for you, just let us know. We started off with a bang—from the day we greeted and welcomed the freshmen, through the Big-Little Sister reception, and Sunday, when we had an unusually good church attendance. Let's keep it up; there will be girls in the Rotunda again this Sunday to take the Freshmen to Church.

The Freshman Y Club will be organized soon. Be sure to get in on it, Freshmen. You will have a good time, and it will help you get acquainted with the Y. W. C. A.

The Sophomore Commission will have charge of Sing this Saturday.

Christian Virtue will be the theme of prayers this week. Let's get in the habit of going to Prayers every night.

Wed!—He is truly happy who makes others happy.—Old Proverb.

Thurs.—A merry heart doeth good like a medicine: but a broken spirit drieth the bones.—Proverbs 17:22.

Fri.—A service that's shared is but a half a trouble,

But a joy that's shared is a joy that's double.—Anon.

Sat.—It isn't against the law to possess a heart of gold.

Sun.—A soft answer turneth away wrath: but grievous words stir up anger.—Proverbs 15:1.

Mon.—Every life has its joy: every joy its law.—Old Proverbs.

STARS IN SERVICE

Your Library, What About It?

It is your Library. The Administration, the Faculty, and the Library Staff have been working for many years to provide the proper atmosphere and equipment for effective and pleasurable contact with books—whether that contact be in the name of material necessary for a course, or merely the desire to while away a pleasant hour with a good book or magazine.

The Library is open to the students daily between eight o'clock in the morning and ten o'clock at night, except at meal times, Saturday evenings, and Sundays—a total of 63 hours each week. Most of the books in the Library may be withdrawn by the students for use in their rooms—only a few are restricted to use within the Library. Some of these are restricted because they are books of reference, books containing specific information which must be at hand at all times as questions and problems arise. All of these are shelved in the Reference Room as are also the current and bound magazines and periodicals received by the Library.

The other group of books restricted to use within the Library is the Reserve Collection—books reserved by members of the faculty for the use of their classes. The books are reserved because many students must use a limited number of books. They must remain in the Library throughout the day, but may be withdrawn at 9:30 in the evening for overnight use, and are due in the Library at 8:00 the next morning.

All other books in the library may be withdrawn by the students for a period of two weeks, and may, if necessary, be renewed for an additional two weeks. Most of these are shelved in the library stacks, from which you may get them, or from which the library staff will get them for you. In either case it is necessary to "charge" them at the Library desk before leaving the building so that the library staff may at all times know the location of every book owned by the Library.

A special collection of important and popular new books is main-

Continued on Page 3

Opening Days of Farmville Produce Quaking Frosh, Shrieking Old Girls

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

All Aboard!! We're off again... on the S. T. C. limited, and heading straight down the track on a non-stop flight to one more year of fun 'n' frolic in, on, or around the facinatin', captivatin', rollickin' hills of Farmville! !

As per usual we've passed through the stage of shriekin' wild "hellos" at the former students who have been staggering through the Rotunda under stacks and loads of boxes and baggage, and by now we've extended more than one cordial but calmer "Hey" to the bewildered-looking new girls. Many a Sophomore has been heard to remark, "Gosh. Did we look that scared and that dumb last year?" And the inevitable answer from a passing Junior, "Sister, you shore did!"

But since this is dedicated to the freshmen, let's look 'em over. After we once get through the dazed surface and can see underneath that the only "scare" is a slight quake at the mention of Rat Week, we find that the freshman class of this year is one of many talents. We see (and hear) innumerable delightful personalities effervescing about the halls. There's "Cab", and her superduper Boogie Woogie; Anna Headlee and her snappy squeezebox; there's another Droste and a new Parham . . . and everywhere there is "Bracie"! There are several new girls from Puerto Rico, a couple sets of twins, a few grand singers, and give us time to know 'em better and no doubt the points of interest will pile higher and higher.

There is the general show of thoughtless un-intelligence, though. For example, the boistrous young female who found someone who knew someone, and chose the hall outside the Post Office for her loudest and rowdiest game of "Do you know . . .?" Or the one, who in making a gallant attempt at name-remembering, bravely says, "Cunningham who?" or the virtuous wee maiden who gleaned a mis-meaning when she read in her list of Rules 'n' Regulations that "Girls may go with their dates to the Hotel Weyanoke on Saturday and Sunday nights by signing out at Home Office."! And of course someone had to think that the Rotunda Staff are the maids in the Rotunda!

They're a pretty typical gang of freshmen, all right, from the Betty Grables and Hedy Lamarrs to the Joan Davis' and Patsy Kellys. They're a busy bunch, buying their curtains, introducing by photos their O.A.O.'s, tacking up pictures of Frank Sinatra, and trying to get away with sweeping dirt out into the halls. They'll be home-sick, some of 'em, and they will wish the rules weren't quite so tough nor the assignments quite so heavy. They'll bewail the Monday trudge to the laundry and the Friday changing of linen, and the "Early to bed, early to ride" policy, and they're all apt to show decided interest in H-S. C. and Camp Pickett in preference to reference, but they'll all live through it. They'll look forward to Rat Week with a sinky feeling in their stomachs, but they'll look back upon it with chuckles and good sportsmanship. They'll meet their new friends and their new responsibilities with that happy-go-lucky seriousness that becomes them so, and they'll love every minute of it. Why? Ask them. They're Freshmen!

Freshmen, New Girls Witness Sports Part of Orientation; Red and Green Clash First Time

Sports Equipment Available for All

Sports were introduced to the freshmen and new girls this afternoon when numerous demonstrations were presented to the orientation classes. Orchesis, the modern dance group, opened the round of activities with their "Opening Dance" and fundamentals as dance will be taught in the fundamental dance classes.

Green and White and Red and White clashed in the first games of the season, both teams showing the long lapse since practice last year. Volleyball and badminton followed in the gym after which other activities were resumed outside.

Many of the new girls had not witnessed hockey and showed great interest in the game played with both teams on the outside athletic field. Practice, it was announced, will begin next week. Freshmen will report for practice if they wish to learn the game. Instruction will begin with the fundamentals.

On the tennis courts a game of singles and a game of doubles showed the group of new girls "how to do it." The courts, it was explained, are for all who wish to play at any time they are not being used by a class. Archery was demonstrated and then swimming in the pool, which ended the round of sports. Such activities as ping-pong, croquet, and other minor sports are open to players and will be available at all times.

H.-S. V-12 Navy

Continued from Page 1

both civilians and V-12 students.

After entering the Navy unit on July 1, officer candidates were restricted until July 17 except for two hours leave on Sunday when they were allowed to come into Farmville for church. At present the members of the unit are allowed 30 hours liberty each week end provided they make acceptable grades on the weekly quizes and are not restricted for other reasons.

Several dances have already been given for the members of the Navy V-12 unit at Hampden-Sydney, and plans are under way for another on October 23. A review will take place on the campus Saturday, October 2, which will mark the last of the white uniforms for the winter.

S. T. C .Girls Avoid Summer Monotony

Director of Playgrounds was one of the most imposing titles held by Farmville girls during the vacation months. Martha Higgins had this playground work. Along this same line were Phyllis Watts and Pat Garth who trekked up to Vermont to be counsellors in a girl's camp. Ann Hamlin also worked with young people in the Methodist Youth Caravan which travelled in many states as an aid to the needy.

Frances Ferguson had an exciting time with summer theatre. In addition to having classes in make-up and the various other phases of play production, she participated in the plays themselves. Mary Parrish Viccellio, who has been out of school for a year, has held various jobs. She has been a teacher, had two jobs in Washington, D. C. and wound up the summer in a Post Office.

Of all the jobs however, Ruthie Dugger has taken the proverbial cake. She farmed! It does not sound too original but with Ruthie it was really a scream. It seems that her father became ill at the beginning of summer, which necessitated her mother's devoting her time solely to him. That left the running of the whole farm to Ruthie together with the whole house, which included cooking, washing, summer canning, and even the lowly grass had to be cut by somebody. And with farm help nonexistant and the servant problem as it is and has been for the past months, Ruthie found her inexperienced hands full with no outside assistance. She plunged into all this having not an inkling of anything involved.

So donning her overalls she drove the tractor around and sold vegetables, incidentally achieving quite a reputation as a shrew businesswoman throughout the surrounding countryside. She also canned 98 quarts of vegetables alone and some 200 more with her mother's cooperation. She had to plan and cook all the meals and bargain with the butcher, baker, and candlestickmaker. In fact she so won the butcher's heart that he presented her with a large steak when she returned to school. With the money she made herself this summer, Ruthie purchased clothes which she fondly knows as "my bean dress", "my corn jumper" to indicate which vegetable made such a purchase possible.

Left Lead

Tally-ho . . . and greetings to new riders and new readers, from Pegasus and all the gang. It's good to know that despite all the changes, at least the riding and the Trails at Longwood will be fundamentally the same, and we are all rarin' to be back in our boots and down the road.

First of all changes is the Instructor. It's with regret we announce that Miss Fox will not be with us this year, but what better substitute could we fall heir to than Joyce Cheatwood, pride o' the Riders? She'll be the teacher this year, with Mary Sterrett, and Jean Carter Smith as her able stable aids.

Outfit Moved

Second change, the stables themselves. The outfit has been transferred, but it's no military secret that now the horses are stationed nearer the school, two blocks down Pine Street and on a corner. And there you'll find your favorite mounts, hopin' for sugar, and in the mood!

Someone had to get the horses in from the country y' know, and if you really want to appreciate your first fall canter, take a deep breath and be glad he's on the bit. Monday afternoon, Joyce and Mary and Jean and Betty Ellis, all gayly clad in plaid shirts and dungarees, joined forces with two town girls and headed the ten miles distant for the pasture field. 'Twas fun, but no simple job. It took two hours over the hills and through the woods even to find the animals, and then they had to be rounded up, corralled, weeded out one by one for saddling and bridling, and then kept calm and collected 'til the rest of the chase was over. Flicka and Keep-away were the first two ready, and came the excitement! B. Ellis was valiently holding on to them both, when down the hill charged the ever-lively Midnight, and straight for the trembling trio. Not too much harm was done, but if you have noticed Keep-away's skinned-up nose, ask Midnight how it happened.

King Cole Refuses

There were just six girls, and seven horses, but clever King Cole saved the situation. Typically obstinate, he never even got caught! Lindy's back, and of course Midnight, and Flicka, and Peg, and Keep-Away, and Dot. Skyrocket was purposely left there in the pasture, but he resented it mightily, and followed the whole crew the length of the high white fence. The mystery is why he didn't kick said fence to pieces and lead the gang in a merry race back to town.

Reports say that for a summer of freedom, they were exceptionally well-behaved on the long ride in. Of course when a bus-load of noisy H-S. C. navymen went by, the horses got noticeably excited, but that was to be expected. And there was a chorus of whinneying all the way home, loudest between Lindy and Midnight, and the usual small trifles that merely serve to make a rider wary.

But the gang of rustlers did a good day's work, and though they were worn out and minus their supper, they'll be off again in the first class out, and are looking forward to it. Thirty-five girls have signed up for riding this quarter, and any others interested are invited to talk to Joyce Cheatwood about it. It's a great life, everybody. Whether trail-rides or ring-work, whether you're an old hand or a very beginner, the horses are great, and they'll love it as much as you will. Think it over . . . the more the merrier.

See ya at the Stables . . .

—Pegasus

Green Front Store

Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables

W. J. Hillsman, Prop. Phone 139

Visit Us . . .

For Best
Soda Fountain Service

Chappell Co.

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Freshmen at S. T .C.

Once again our campus is active, once more we look to a successful year at Farmville. To you who have been here before we welcome you and wish you success during the year, and for all you freshmen and new girls we wish a future which is bright and for which we strive here at S. T. C. As Freshmen, you emerge into the most important period in your life—college, and this is the beginning of college opportunities and challenging experiences, college, with new friends and new interests, which will become part of you as the years go by.

You were introduced to the various sports on the campus this afternoon . . . These are the sports you will take part in as the years go by. The tennis courts are now ready for playing and are open for all. Tennis shoes must be worn by all who use the courts; the courts are new and through cooperation of the users they will continue in top condition. A tennis tournament will begin within the next few weeks. Those who wish to play in the contest will listen for the anncuncement of the beginning date. Practice time begins now. A'l students are eligible in the tennis tournament.

Fall is a symbol of hockey and it won't be long before each afternoon brings a group of expectant players to the athletic field for a practice period. This is a sport which is new to most of the freshmen, but one which is a favorite here, so be sure to join the group at the first practice. There will be games and color contests—you will help your class team.

Archery is another sport which requires skill and practice. Targets aer located at the back of Cunningham Hall and there will be bows and arrows for all who desire them. Instruction and technique will be under the supervision of the Athletic Association and practice times will be announced.

Swimming ranks high in popularity on this campus. Already many have admired the pool and asked about swimming. The pool will be open for recreational swimming each Saturday night from 7 o'clock till 9:30 p. m., and guards will be on duty at this time. During the week the freshmen will begin to pass the Beginners swimming test required of them and other periods of recreational swimming will be announced. Tank suits must be worn in the pool. These are available at the shower room. Bathing caps or shower caps which can be purchased downtown are required at all times when using the pool for swimming. Freshmen must have had their physical examination before using the pool, but upperclassmen who were examined last year may use the pool without further examination.

You will see and hear much of the sports here in the future. Take part in these activities. Remember that college will mean to you what you make it; you will mean to your college what you make of yourself.

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Your Library

Continued from Page 2

tained in the lobby of the Library. It is called the Rental Collection, and a rental fee of two cents a day is charged for their use. An average of two new books is added to this collection every week, and from these two books this column will each week suggest a New Book of the Week. This week the suggestion is: So Little Time, by J. P. Marquand.

Peoples National Bank

Farmville, Virgiina

CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE

Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

Welcome S. T. C. Students

Make your room look homey with knick-knacks from our store

NEWBERRY'S
5-10-25c STORE

Arington Names Four Assistants

Jean Arington, head dining room hostess, has announced that Mary Walker Watts, Mary Woodward, Mildred Droste, and Barbara Scott will serve as assistant dining hall hostesses this year.

These girls are authorized to give call downs for breaking dining hall rules and regulations.

Need Flowers

For a Special Occasion—Visit Our Shop and send the Flowers

Collins Florist

College Shoppe

TRY OUR DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
AND PLATE LUNCHES

Southside Drug Store
On the Corner

S. T. C. Students

Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—

COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA

Wilson's
Firestone Store

311 West Third Street

WELCOME
SHANNON'S

Headquarters for S. T. C.

Welcome
S. T. C. Students
Martin the Jeweler

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners

Opposite Postoffice

See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Welcome S. T. C. Students

We would like to have you make our store your headquarters.

Davidson's

The House of Quality

Farmville's Largest Department Store

Do You Have Your Fall Supply of CASUAL CLOTHES
For College?

If not, visit us for

Boxy Sweaters

100% Wool. All in your favorite Colors

ALSO

SKIRTS Plaids and Solids

ALL AT POPULAR PRICES

BALDWIN'S

Just Looking, Thanks

By JANE SMITH

September and S. T. C. routine a week old . . . freshmen getting the swing of things . . . new clothes . . . the merry ring of greetings as upper classmen reunite . . . missing last year's seniors . . . S. T. C. society begins its whirl and the year starts off with a bang.

Freshmen and transfers dress up for the first and unforgettable reception here. The Big Sister-Little Sister reception where old girls welcome the new ones and introduce them to Dr. Jarman, the major officers the Y. W. Cabinet and their advisors. Entertainment in the form of a variety program . . . punch and the trimmings and a good time for all.

To prove that home is the only cure for homesickness Marilyn Bell, Marian Orange, Jean Richardson, Shirley Skinner, Virginia Mae Ellett, Frances Wentzel, Betty Wood, Laura Dance and Shirley Cruser went home for the week-end. Joy Wilkerson attended a wedding in Darlington Heights Virginia.

The S. T. C.-U. S. O. season was opened Monday night by fifty sophomores, juniors, and seniors who attended the third anniversary party for Company "A", 203rd Quartermaster Battalion. Dinner in the mess hall was highlighted by Marilyn Bell who cut the anniversary cake. After dinner, there was an informal dance at the U. S. O. club in Blackstone.

What and When

Schedule of Events

Monday

I

4:00—Orchesis
5:00—Executive Board of Dramatic Club
6:45—A. A. Council
7:15—Virginian Staff
8:00 Monogram Club
10:00—House Council

II

4:00—Orchesis
5:00—P. S. A.
Ex. Board Dramatic Club
B. S. U.
Wesley Foundation
6:45—A. A. Council
7:15—Virginian Staff

III

4:00—Orchesis
5:00—Executive Board Dramatic Club
6:45—A. A. Council
7:15—Virginian Staff
9:00—Campus League
10:00—House Council

IV

4:00—Orchesis
5:00—P. S. A.
Ex. Board Dramatic Club
B. S. U.
6:45—A. A. Council
7:15—Virginian Staff

Tuesday

I

4:00—U. S. O. Committee
5:00—Sororities
7:00—Panhellenic Council
7:30—Kappa Delta Pi
8:00—Riding Club
8:30—Pi Gamma Mu
9:30—Y. W. A.

II

5:00—Sororities
7:00—Home Ec Club
8:00—War Council
8:30—Pi Gamma Mu
9:30—Y. W. A.

III

4:00—French Circle
5:00—Sororities
6:45—Classes
7:30—Kappa Delta Pi
8:30—Pi Gamma Mu
9:30—Y. W. A.

IV

4:00—Spanish Club
5:00—Sororities
7:00—Cotillion Club
8:00—War Council
8:30—Pi Gamma Mu
9:30—Y. W. A.

Wednesday

I

4:30—Y. W. Cabinet
4:45—Rotunda Circulation
5:00—Apprentice Groups
6:45—Editorial Staff Rotunda
7:00—Orchesis
7:00—Alpha Kappa Gamma
10:00—Freshman Commission

II

4:30—Y. W. Cabinet
4:45—Rotunda Circulation
6:45—Student Body
Editorial Staff Rotunda
7:00—A. C. E.
Orchesis
Dramatic Club
9:00—Y. W. Committees

III

4:30—Y. W. Cabinet
4:45—Rotunda Circulation
5:00—Granddaughter's Club
Apprentice Groups
6:45—Editorial Staff Rotunda
7:00—Alpha Phi Sigma
Alpha Kappa Gamma
7:00—Orchesis
8:00—F. T. A.
10:00—Freshman Commission

IV

4:30—Y. W. Cabinet
4:45—Rotunda Circulation
6:45—Editorial Staff Rotunda
7:00—Dramatic Club
Orchesis
9:00—Y. W. Committees

Thursday

I

5:00—Latin Club
Student Standards
7:00—Bandage Rolling
H20 Club
Debate Club
8:00—Beorc Eh Thorn
Bandage Rolling

II

5:00—Colonnade (call meeting privilege)
Sigma Pi Rho
7:00—Gamma Psi
Bandage Rolling
8:00—Bandage Rolling
9:00—Table Hostesses

III

5:00—Latin Club
Colonnade
7:00—Debate Club
8:30—Pi Gamma Mu
9:30—Y. W. A.

Friday

I

4:00—Town Girls' Club

II

III

7:00—Northern Neck Club

IV

What to Wear---- -- When to Wear It

All college girls have one main interest in common, and probably had that interest long before anybody thought about organizing the institutions. Every morning the first problem that rears its ugly head is "what to wear". Regardless of whether we have closets the size of those on Main or just enough to fit the closets in Cunningham Hall, it is a weighty question. So, here are a few hints on what to wear when.

Starting with the dawn's early light, proper attire for seven-fifteen breakfast is not P J's and a rain coat. Setting the alarm clock for five minutes earlier will insure presentability. If possible arrange your curls before instead of after. Start the day right.

The STC uniform, sweater and skirt, is correct anytime, for classes and meetings and shows and cokes. Jackets and suits for cooler weather and for now when Indian summer comes for a day or two there is nothing wrong with last minutes wearing of favorite summer cottons—for the lucky possessors, corduroy or wool dresses are fine. As for footwear, keep on a low level.

For Sundays, dress up and look your best. Even if you were too sleepy to don your Sunday bonnet and go to church, don't make the seventh day look like the other six. Doll up for dinner. Hose and high heels and earrings, perhaps, add a different note that makes Sundays nicer.

For lyceums, formal dances and banuquets evening dress is indicated. Save the strapless one for dances, and cover up your gorgeous shoulders for lyceums and banuquets. If you lack an evening wrap, don't let it worry you, many S.T.C.'ers wear coats for comfort and pocket room.

U. S. O. dances are usually attended in your next to Sunday best and in comfortable dress shoes. Flowers in your hair add a nice glamour role as do earrings. It is preferable not to wear sweaters and skirts but suits or skirts with dressy blouses are permissable. Some affairs are formal but if so, that fact will be announced.

The matter of gym suits is left to your common sense but don't appear in athletic attire in the Rotunda or in the Post Office.

If you don't know what you are expected to appear in, ask someone.

Farmville Alumna

Continued from Page 1

cause they fasten around the ankles and wrists.

The boys say "she's as gracious to the lowly private as she is to the csommanding office and they all vie for her respect. She can be a merry cutup or as dignified as a matron at a tea table." And despite her own description of working in dungarees, her wolves report that she always looks as cool and refreshing as a whiff of lavender no matter what temperature. "One morning," they wrote, "we were to leave on a mission at 5:30 and there she was with a fresh flower in her hair scrambling our eggs."

Miss Pedigo is a native of Covington, Virginia and attended the State Teachers College in Farmville in 1928 and has worked on her degree several summers and in 1941.

Newman's Bowling Alley

For Exercise Bowl at Newman's Bowling Alley Downstairs in Shannon's

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

Colonnade

Continued from Page 1

can make any number of entries. and are requested to enter as many stories as possible. There will be three prizes and two or three honorable mentions for those stories which are judged to be the best.

S. T. C. Opens

Continued from Page 1

Bedford with Jean Arington and Birdie Williams; Elizabeth Burger with Shirley Pierce and Marion Orange; Pauline Camper, with Jean Prosise; Alice Carter, with Dottie Sue Simmons; M. B. Coyner, with Jane Ford and Eleanor Wade; Mrs. M. B. Coyner, with Sara Lee East and Marilyn Bell; Helen Draper, with Mildred Droste and Helen Wilson; Raymond French, with Betty Bridgeforth and Ophelia Whittle; Ruth Gleaves, with Sue Harper and Harriette Moore, and Richard Hallisy, with Ruth Dugger and Betty Agnew.

Also Sybil Henry with Lucille Lewis; Mary Clay Hiner with Lois Alphin and Lucy Messick; Olive Iler, with Faye Nimmo and Betsy Caldwell; George Jeffers with Joscelyn Gillum and Marilyn Johnson; Lucille Jennings, with Patsey Connelly and Frances Wentzel; Edgar Johnson, with Ella Banks Weathers and Helen McGuire; Emily Kauzlarich, with Virginia Ellett and Sally Robertson; T. A. McCorkle with Sara France and Pat Maddox; L. C. Merritt, with Fay Johnson and Louise Bell; Grace Moran, with Hannah Lee Crawford and Olive Bradshaw; and Norman Myers, with Vivian Gwaltney and Martha Higgins.

Also Mary Nichols, with Sara Jeffreys and Nancy Wilkinson; Mary Peck, with Frances Strohecker; Florence Stubbs, with Kitty Vaughan and Betty Blackwell; F. F. Swertfeger, with Jane Smith and Lucy Manson; Mary Watkins, with Julia Eason; and John Wynne, with Mary Moore McCorkle and Lillian Goddin.

Welcome! S. T .C. To Farmville!

When you feel you shouldn't be seen
Then your clothes must needs be clean
Bring them to

DeLUXE CLEANERS

The BEST in Town

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

WHEN TIME IS SHORT AND REFRESHMENTS NEEDED REMEMBER

Butcher's

WELCOMES YOU

Hall Presidents

Continued from Page 1

These girls will also serve as air raid wardens during air raids in cooperateion with Sue Harper, the head air raid warden, and Elsie Thompson, assistant air raid warden. Sarah Wayne France, and Mary Walker Watts will assist in Senior and Junior buildings respectively.

Patronize

PATTERSONS

The Complete Drug Store

MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-

WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE

PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY

Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

WELCOME!
WELCOME!
WELCOME!

S. T. C. Students

ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores

Have a Coca-Cola = Howdy, Neighbor

from Arizona to Australia

At home or abroad, when the American soldier says Have a "Coke" to a stranger, he's made a new buddy. From Minneapolis to Melbourne, Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes —has become the mark of the good neighbor.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
FARMVILLE BOTTLING WORKS

©1943 The C-C Co.

—the global high-sign

WELCOME S. T. C.

STUDENTS TO FARMVILLE

Visit our shop for your pretty all wool skirts and sweaters.

$3.95 - $8.95

If you need a new dress, the Carole King Dress will be just the thing!

Sizes 9-15.

$7.95 - $16.95

Dorothy May

Welcome S.T.C. Students

DRESS YOUR ROOMS UP!

Complete stock of

BATES SPREADS — CURTAINS
CRETONNES — CURTAIN RODS
UTILITY SHOE BOXES
SCOOTER RUGS

The Hub Dept. Store

Charge Accounts Available

TRY-OUT FOR THE DRAMATIC CLUB PLAY

The Rotunda

TURN IN YOUR WAR RATION BOOK

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, OCT. 6, 1943 | NUMBER 2

S. T. C. War Council Sponsors "Faculty Family Album"

Alpha Kappa Gamma Bids Six Members In Chapel Today

Bell, Eason, Moore, Nimmo, McCorkle, Williams Tapped

Louise Bell, Julia Eason, Mary Moore McCorkle, and Faye Nimmo, seniors, and Harriette Moore and Sara Byrd Williams, juniors, were tapped this morning in chapel by Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary leadership fraternity.

Louise, of Berryville, is vice-president of the Y. W. C. A., a member of the college choir, and senior class representative on the campus league. Julia Eason, of Richmond, is president of the House Council. Mary Moore serves as president of Kappa Delta Pi and as business manager of the Virginian. Faye has served as president of her class for three years, and was vice-president in her freshman year.

The juniors, Harriett and Sara Byrd, are both active on the Virginian, of which Harriette is managing editor. She is also secretary of the Student Government Association, and Sara Byrd is treasurer of the Y. W. C. A.

Alpha Kappa Gamma bids girls each quarter for leadership, scholarship and character. Officers are Hannah Lee Crawford, president; Frances Lee Hawthorne, vice-president; Ella Banks Weathers, secretary; and Patsy Connelly, treasurer. Miss Elizabeth Burger and Miss Ruth Gleaves are advisers.

Ann Martin Elected Y. W. C. A. Secretary

At the meeting of the Student Body held in the large auditorium on September 29, Ann Martin, sophomore from Suffolk, was elected secretary of the Y. W. C. A. Ann will replace Nancy Hall Shaw who did not return to school this year.

Also elected at this meeting was Dr. Floyd F. Swertfeger, who will take over the duties as faculty advisor replacing Miss Rachel Royall, who had resigned because of extra duties.

Ann was a member of the Freshman Commission and was appointed last spring to head the Library Committee of the YWCA. In such a situation as was created this fall vacant offices may be filled by a vive voce vote.

Granddaughters Enroll In Club

The Granddaughter's Club enrolled 28 new members at its first meeting on Wednesday afternoon. Among them is Robin Lear, the daughter of Rachel Robinson, a former teacher at S. T. C. and Joseph Merritt Lear, well known former professor here, who was commonly known as "King Lear." Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, president, announced that initiation of the new members would begin in about two weeks.

Other officers in the Club are vice-president, Mary Anne Jarratt; secretary, Lucy Ellen McKenry; treasurer, Nannie Webb; and reporter, Betty Woodward.

The Club plans to carry on its work of helping alumnae to become acquainted with each other and the daughters of their classmates by acquiring at least one garment worn by a grandmother during each year that one of them attended Farmville. This collection then would comprise a unique and interesting exhibit for the alumnae when they return on Founder's Day. At that time each year the members of the Club assist Miss Mary White Cox in serving a tea to the alumnae.

"Music Is a War Service," Dr. Walmsley Tells Freshmen

"Music is one form of war service," Dr. James Elliott Walmsley told the freshmen Monday in speaking to them on the work of the College War Council and music as morale.

"Music must say something," Dr. Walmsley told the group, "it must be more than mere notes." In reference to that statement the head of the department of History gave a very familiar illustration which stated that although the notes to "America" and "God Save the King", the British national anthem, are the same the songs are not the same at all since they say and mean altogether different things, and are even played differently. "Through music we can express our patriotism and our feelings," Dr. Walmsley went on, "and thus we carry over the true meaning of music."

"It is one means of communication," he stated, and continued to say that music has a great effect on the morale of anyone, particularly soldiers fighting on the battlefront. In connection Dr. Walmsley gave several instances in past wars where certain songs were not allowed to be played for the soldiers because it made them homesick. He then told the group of the Greek theory of music, that there were certain types of music for soldiers and other types for "homefolks."

"We must not lose our music at home," Dr. Walmsley declared, "because that is part of what the boys are fighting for—to come back home where there is music."

Following up his talk on music as morale, Dr. Walmsley gave the class a few instructions as to the code of courtesy due "The Star Spangle Banner." "The little things due our national anthem," he said, "that we all should know and so few of us do know."

In speaking of the various duties of different people in this war, Dr. Walmsley told the class of '47 that "some sew and some rip, some publicize and some keep secrets, some sing and some dance" and that the College War Council unites all the efforts of college students here into one great service. He spoke to the group as adviser of the War Council and pointed out to them some of the war work that is being done in this school.

November 7 Slated For Fall Cotillion

Pierce Names Two On Music Group

At a meeting of the Cotillion Club last night November 7 was set as the date for the annual fall Cotillion dance.

Shirley Pierce, business manager, will write to the agency in Roanoke this week to secure an orchestra to play for the dance. Shirley also announced that Nancy Wilkinson and Fay Byrd Johnson will assist her on the music committee. Other Cotillion officers are Virginia Mae Ellett, president; Jean Arington, leader; and Betty Bridgeforth, secretary-treasurer

Committee Sponsors Bandage Rolling

The Service committee of the Y. W. C. A. will sponsor the rolling of Red Cross bandages for service men again this winter, according to an announcement made this week by Virginia Treakle, chairman of the committee.

The rolling of bandages has been scheduled on the School Calendar on Thursday nights from 7 to 9 o'clock p. m. in Miss Purdom's old office in Student building. The sororities will assist this year with the work and a sheet of paper will be placed on the "Y" bulletin board each week for stu-

Continued on Page 3

Death of NYA Cuts Work Scholarships

Since N. Y. A. assistance was discontinued on June 30, 1943, the number of part time workers in the college has been decreased considerably, Mrs. Mary Wakins, secretary to the president announced this week. This year the workers are being paid by the state and institution.

There are 39 girls working in the dining hall, 15 assistants in the library, and 9 working in administrative officers making a total of 63 students who have state scholarships.

Registrar Gives Dean's List For Fall Quarter

The Dean's list for the fall quarter, 1943, was announced last week by Miss Virgilia Bugg, registrar. Those who were named are Margaret Barksdale, Java, Va.; Geraldine Beckner, Troutville, Va.; Marilyn Bell, Richmond, Va.; Olive Bradshaw, Rice, Va.; Mary St. Clair Bugg, Farmville, Va.; Mary William Calvert, Lynchburg, Va.; Mary L. Cheatham, Midlothian, Va.; Mildred Corvin, Crewe, Va.; Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville, Va.; and Margie Lee Culley, Newport News, Va.

Also Alice Lee Davis, Whaleyville, Va.; Mildred Droste, Ronceverte, W. Va.; Ruth Dugger, Dengigh, Va.; Susan Durrett, Richmond, Va.; Rosemary Elam, Prospect, Va.; Virginia Ellett, Crewe, Va.; Sara Wayne France, Charlottesville, Va.; Elizabeth Gates, Guinea Mills, Va.; Delia Gregory, South Boston, Va.; and Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Drewryville, Va.

Also Nancy Harrell, Emporia, Va.; Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston, Va.; Augusta Hlmes, Roanoke, Va. and Mrs. Elizabeth Chappell Hinman, Prospect, Va.

Also, Nell Holloway, Purdy, Va.; Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, Franklin, Va.; Margaret Lawrence, Windsor, Va.; Maude Lucille Lewis, Culpeper, Va.; Mary Moore McCorkle, Lexington, Va.; and Harriette Moore, Gastonia, N. C.

Also Elizabeth Overcash, Hampden-Sydney, Va.; Mary Sue Palmer, Chester, Va.; Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Roanoke, Va.; Gloria Pollard, Richmond, Va.; Jean Prosise, Wilson, Va.; Nancy Louise Ranson, Farmville, Va.; Nell Richard, Norfolk, Va.; Sally Robertson, Lynchburg, Va.; Jane Ruffin, Holdcroft, Va.; and Jane Smith, Franklin, Va.

Also Ann Snyder, Newport News, Va.; Jeanne Strick, Farmville, Va.; Sarah Trigg, Hopewell, Va.; Mary Parrish Vicellio, Chatham, Va.; Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville, Va.; Betty Louise Watts, Portsmouth Va.; Mrs. Ann Hardy Williams,

Continued on Page 3

Lecturer Speaks Tonight on Russia In First Lyceum

Writer Honored With Many Degrees

Tonight at 8 o'clock in the large auditorium, Mrs. Vera Micheles Dean will address the student body of this college on "Russia As A World Power", opening the lyceum season. It was due to a misunderstanding that it was previously announced that Mrs. Dean would speak last night.

Mrs. Dean, Research Director of the Foreign Policy Association, is a graduate of Radcliffe College, with a Master's Degree in International Law from Yale and a Ph. D. from Radcliffe. Since 1928 she has been a member of the Foreign Policy Association research staff specializing in Russian and Italian affairs and problems of European diplomacy. She edits all the Association's research publications and has written many of them herself.

In addition Mrs. Dean has frequent articles and book reviews in Atlantic Monthly, Survey Graphic, Saturday Review of Literature, and other publications including the New York Herald Tribune. She is the author of Europe In Retreat, a book analyzing Europe between the wars, which is now in its third printing. She writes, too, for the Weekly Foreign Policy Bulletin, and for the Report and Headline Book series.

Mrs. Dean lectures in many colleges and she will go to Sweet Briar and Hollins Colleges after leaving Farmville. In addition to individual lectures, she has given courses on international affairs at Barnard College, Lake Erie College and Carlton College. She was recently elected to the Board of Trustees of Vassar College and of Radcliffe College. Besides the degrees mentioned above, Mrs. Dean has been honored with an LL. D. from Wilson College and a D.H.L. from the University of Rochester.

Merchant Marine Collects Souvenirs of War for Daughter

Casablanca, Oran, and Morocco are among the inscriptions on the handmade leather bag, wallet, and belt belonging to Phyllis Watts brought to her by her father when he returned from Africa recently on the Merchant Marine S. S. Marshall Elliott, bringing to the United States a number of Italian prisoners. These were bought for Phyllis in Africa as were the handmade slippers embroidered in silver and gold.

Among the other souvenirs brought to Phyllis are four canvas sketches done by Italian prisoners in camp and aboard the ship en route to America. The sketches are done in color by two brothers, Franco Berlato and Galizzi E. Bervilacgua Guiseppe. Two, drawn by the latter brother, show tanks as used by the Italian army and are dated September 5 and 6, 1943, and marked as presented to Howard Y. Watts of the USA Merchant Marines. Too, there is an entire canvas devoted to the various insignia of the Italian Army taken from the uniforms of the prisoners. That canvas is dated September 2, 1943, and was prepared by Franco Berlato.

The fourth canvas is a pencil sketch of Mr. Watts and is dated September 9. According to the inscriptions on the canvases those who made them are "prisoners of war Italian", captured May 2 in Tunis. Most of the writing on the canvasses is done in Italian.

Included in Phyllis' collection also are many pieces of French and Italian coins and bank notes from the Bank of Algiers, as well as a ring bearing the insignia of the Italian Air Force, a cross, and a cartridge from a German machine gun. There are three hats which were given to Mr. Watts, one, an Alphine hat with a pointed crown; one, the cap of the uniform of the Italian Air Force, and the third, a cap resembling the uniform overseas cap the United States Army. Each of these is inscribed as to the date they were given to Mr. Watts and also have other things written on them in ink.

Other parts of the collection,

Continued on Page 4

War Stamps Assure Entrance To Program

Connelly Announces Committee Heads For Annual Circus

Committee chairmen who will formulate plans for the annual State Teachers College circus to be presented on Saturday, October 30 have been announced by the head chairman, Patsy Connelly.

Heading the floor committee is Patsy Connelly; animals, Ella Banks Weathers; stunts, Hannah Lee Crawford and Patsy Connelly; queen and court committee, Frances Lee Hawthorne; publicity, Mary St. Clair Bugg; tickets and decorations chairman, Sara Wayne Frances; and in charge of the parade, Mary Evelyn Pearsall.

Most of the classes will meet this week to select a chairman from their group who will be in charge of the class stunt. Circus is sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary leadership fraternity.

Virginian Awarded First Class Honor In NSPA Contest

A rating of first class honors was given to the 1943 Virginian by the National Scholastic Press Association Critical service, Sara Wayne France, editor of the 1944 annual, revealed this week. The 1943 Virginian, subtitled "Farmville in 1943", was edited by Susie Moore.

A first class honor rating is one rating better than received by the Virginian of the previous year and is just one notch below the highest rating of All American. The book was judged on physical make-up, organization, presentation of school work, faculty, classes, and outside activities, photography, and general impressions.

Special commendation was given to the 1943 Virginian for the view section, for the presentation of classes and faculty, for the opening section, and for the physical make-up.

"Faculty Family Album" will be presented Friday night, October 8, at eight o'clock in the S. T. C. auditorium, under the auspices of the war council.

This program, the fall project of the war council, will depict the life of "friends of the yesteryear". Miss Grace Mix will read the script as she turns the leaves of the album to portray various members of the faculty dressed in the fashion of previous years.

Various costumes have been arranged for the faculty members who will participate. Mr. and Mrs. Boyd Coyner will be a newly-married couple, and Dr. Francis Simkins, the minister, who performs the ceremony. Miss Ruth Gleaves will appear in a bathing suit, Miss Margaret Sprunt Hall in a middie blouse and skirt and Mr. T. A. McCorkle in a World War I uniform. Mr. Raymond French and Mr. Norman Myers will portray the contrasting personalities of bad boy-good boy, and Mr. and Mrs. Hallisy will go back a few years to the days when he was the football hero, she the hero's girl.

Others who will appear on the program in various guises are Miss Emily Barksdale, Miss Virginia Bedford, Miss Elizabeth Burger, Miss Ottie Craddock, Miss Bessie Jeter, Miss Katherine Tupper, Miss Winnie Hiner, Miss Helen Draper, Miss Mary Clay Hiner, Mr. S. M. Holton, Dr. George Jeffers, Miss Lucille Jennings, Miss Emily Kauzlarich, Misses Lila and Wilhelminia London, Dr. C. L. Merritt, Miss Grace Moran, Miss Mary Nichols, Miss Lysbeth Purdom, Miss Minnie Rice, Mr. Alfred Strick, Dr. F. F. Swertfeger, Miss Carrie Taliaferro, Mrs. Adele Watkins, Dr. and Mrs. J. P. Wynne, Miss Maud Tallaferro and Miss Georgie Norris.

Admission to the program is a war stamp. These stamps will be sold at the table in the hall all day Thursday and Friday.

Joyner Wins D. A. R. Citizenship Award

Lurverta Joyner, freshman from Carrollton, was recently presented the DAR good citizenship award of a $100 War Bond. The presentation was made by Mrs. W. H. Pouch, National president-general of the Daughters of the American Revolution at the forty-seventh annual conference in Roanoke.

Lurverta, a graduate of Smithfield High School, won the award on the basis of leadership, patriotism, dependability and service. She was enrolled as a freshman at State Teachers College in September.

The $100 War Bond was presented in lieu of the customary expense-paid trip to the National DAR congress.

Try-outs For Play Set For Tomorrow

Tryouts for the fall production of the Dramatic Club will begin tomorrow night at 10 o'clock in the large auditorium. Anyone in the student body may tryout for the play.

Productions in the past few years include "Dear Brutus", "The Little Minister", "Death Takes A Holiday", "The Male Animal", and the costume fantasy, "Prunella".

Do We Stand Worthy Of What We Pray?

Last Sunday in church one of the ministers prayed that we be worthy of the good that we ask for our country. We often pray for peace; we talk of longing for democracy throughout the world; we deplore the social and economic conditions found in many countries.

Yet what do we do to be worthy of having our prayers answered? And if we are unworthy, how long could such conditions as we seek remain? As long as there is hatred in our heart, as long as one girl lives selfishly unto herself, as long as we ourselves refuse to do our part, how can our nation and our world achieve true peace?. We expect of our leaders greatness of which we ourselves are incapable of realizing. In order to back the works of our service men and our statesmen, we must prepare our own hearts and minds for the days which we so eagerly await. That is why we are in school; that could be the meaning of our education today. Will we grow up? Will we be worthy?

Gleanings

Miss Grace B. Moran

As the month of October with its ravishing beauty envelops this land of ours, untouched by the devestation of war instead of merely consuming the beauty and allowing our selfish interests to permeate our thinking, we should study the momentous event, carefully and meticulously planned by the great Allied leaders, as they unfold and develop in each of our global war theaters. We should prepare ourselves for further sacrifices . . . or may I say instead —"privileges"—to serve, to cooperate, and to give our best to the tasks that are ours. To those who enjoy the study of maps the campaign resembles a great game of checkers with the Allies now making the strategic jumps and removing the Axis from the board. These moves are often slower than we wish for the political aspects—many times not considered in our eagerness to advance—make us more cautions in our game. A knowledge of the climates, the topography, and the related transportation facilities on the various battlefronts makes the interpretation of these movements clearer, and the anticipation of the next move is awaited with keener interest. As the minor engagements or "moves" constitute the ultimate conclusion of the game—to Berlin and Tokyo—let us consider the possible roads opening the way:

Berlin Via the Mediterranean

With Naples one of Italy's greatest western seaports (though devastated by constant bombings and ruthless destruction by the Axis), with Foggia on the eastern plain having thirteen excellent air bases in its vicinity, with Sicily, Sardnia, and most of Corsica—all in Allied possession — we ask ourselves, "What will the next jump be?" From the Corsican ports of Ajaccia and Bastia will we bomb the ports of Toulon and Marseilles and prepare the way to enter southern France via the Rhone Valley, where transportation facilitis are now available and where German defenses are weaker? From these same bases, only about 200 miles distant, Genoa, LaSpezia and Leghorn can be more easily bombed. This will open the way for new Allied landings and weaken any Axis stand in Northern Italy.

How About Italy?

What use will we make the naval and air bases on the east of Italy, Brindisi, Bari, and Foggia? Do the more intensified activities of the 150,000 Yugoslavian guerrillas who are destroying railroads and capturing seaports used by the Axis indicate that preparations are underway to invade the Dalmation coast through the port of Split (Splado)? This port possesses the railroad leading to the interior of Yugoslavia, through the most accessible part of the Dinaric Alps, a formidable mountain barrier extending the length of the country and close to the Adriatic Sea. When the interior of the country is reached, the Danube and its tributary valleys afford access to inner Europe and Germany. Or do the guerrilla activitie in the north around the Istrian (Italian) ports of Trieste and Fiume lead us to assume that one invasion move may be made through the Brenner Pass, into Austria and thence into Southern Germany?

In Far Eastern Mediterranean

An air base has been rapidly constructed at Cairo; Rhodes, the main island of the Dodecanese off the coast of Turkey, (formerly Italian, now held by Germany) has been bombed and by-passed by the Allies, who have seized the two smaller islands of the group to the north of Coo and Lero. The island of Samos in the Agean has been occupied by the Allies. Are these moves the beginning of a campaign to seize Rhodes and Crete and thus open the way to liberate Greece from the Axis heel? Or may this move lead to the occupation of Salonika where the Vardar River Valley leads directly to the heart of Yugoslavia? This central valley area, not only contains more level land, but it is accessible by rail to the heart of Europe. The famous Berlin to Bagdad railroad, the London Orient Express to Istanbul, both across this section of Yugoslavia. This move would open the way to the Balkans and to Berlin as well. Or does the seizure of these islands mean we are clearing the way for an advance through the Bosporus, destroying the German fleet around the Black Sea bases of Sevastopol, Odessa (Russian ports) Constanta, Burgas, (Rumanian and Bulgarian, respectively) uniting with the Russian battle fleet which is partly intact at Batumi, in this supreme effort?

Russian Theater

The success of the Russians in eliminating the Germans from the Caucasus—Caspian oil areas, in driving them out of the mineralized Donets area, and across the great lands o fthe Ukraine on to the banks of the Dnieper, and in some places beyond the political aspect? Will the coming meeting of our foreign ministers in Moscow the middle of this month clear away the doubts and fears and lead to more cooperation with the Soviet Union? The Black Sea could then become a center of complete Allied activities, with Russia continuing her land drive and cooperating with us in our advance to the Balkans from the Black Sea.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Lillian Elliott, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Betty Cock, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Bobbie Scott.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 6, 1943

The Private Papers

Of One Who Knows . . .

Seems as if "Twitch" Ellett's week ends are doubling up on her . . . Shall it be Preston, better known as "The boy with the car" and Baltimore or Jimmy Kitchin and N. C. come next week? . . . And we noticed that there were numerous attractive freshmen who passed the time away at the dances at V. M. I., among others: Juddy Connelly, "Diddy" Ford, and Carmen Loew . . . We think young men do look quite pale at times, and we heartily agree that "Beanie" Dudley's remedy is as good as any we can think of! . . . Six A. M. is a most peculiar time for one to arise, much less for one to begin combing one's flowing tresses in order to make a 10:05 . . . Heinz Inc., hasn't got a thing on La Bridgeforth—we only hope the 57th and final will be Sydnor again . . . Unanimously we elect Jane Philhower and cohorts as the meanest women in the world . . . who in these candyless days of the war, could possibly yell "Hershey's for sale, Hershey's for sale" when there were none and still expect to greet Saint Peter? . . . A smooth looking subject we classify Ophelia Whittle's brother . . . And sharp e-nough is the brother of Helen McGuire.

Overheard . . .

"Imagine, some people go to football games to watch the game, others go fishing to catch fish, and still others go to the beach to swim! Can you beat that?" . . . "Oh, I'm not worried a bit, Margaret Orange. I just know you're going to be so nice to me Rat Week. You couldn't be mean to anybody." . . . "That woman could outtalk the gestapo" . . . "You mean a 'call down' is when they call you down to the telephone?"

Short Story of the Week

It happened the Saturday night of the church receptions. The two young ladies in question when upon attending one of said receptions, marched up the steps of a church. Finding no sign of life, they patiently waited for the people to start "recepting". Fortunately, some kind soul put them straight. They were honoring the negro Baptist church with their most honorable presence!

Excerpts from the Classics Or the Glorientation of the Farmville Frosh . . .

The patron saint of Farmville is Miss Mary . . . "Not by might, nor by power but by the Grace of God." . . . The Honor Code means to me that nobody can cheat but me. . . . "All heil, Alma Mater, etc." (Hitler needs you, little one!)

Hats Off Department

A pair of nylons, a gallon of gas, and a T-Bone steak to those who have the intestinal fortitude to attempt a few changes for the better in the rules of the Alma Mater. Well, fellow class-cutters, so ends another wicked week at the Academy on the Appomattox —in words of one syllable . . . 'bye now.

the "Y"

By LARRAINE RAEFORD

On Thursday night right after dinner we will have the Installation Service for freshmen and new girls in Joan Court. All of those taking a part in the service will wear white. The candle-lighting service will take place of prayers. Each new girl is urged to join at this time and to become an active member of the Y. at S. T. C.

Immediately after installation we will have our first opportunity of the year for rolling Red Cross bandages. Due to the change in the schedules of so many meetings, bandage rolling has been changed from Wednesday to Thursday nights from seven until nine. There will be a poster on the "Y" bulletin board Thursday on which anyone may sign for one or two hours. Wear a cotton dress or a smock, a kerchief over your hair and bring scissors. The room for this year is on first floor Student Building next to the small auditorium.

There is a display of the new books in browsing room of the library that were bought and circulated this summer by the "Y".

Last week-end a number of Methodist girls attended the Of-

Continued on Page 3

STARS IN SERVICE

Question of the Week

What Do You Think Is the Most Outstanding Characteristic of the Freshmen?

Mr. Holton—They've caused us less trouble to get started in their classes than any group of Freshmen yet.

Geneva Coleman—Inconsiderate of Sleepy Sophs. (After 10:30).

Louise Putney—Their quantity.

Mr. Atkins or "Cousin Tommy" —Sweet as sugar, and as pretty as can be.

Jane Philhower—The best yet.

Robert Armstead (The guy that keeps the lawn clean)—They throw too much paper on the yard.

Frances Satterfield—Plenty of talent.

Two V. P. I. Cadets—(who prefer to remain anonymous)—This is the best looking bunch of freshmen that's ever hit S. T. C.

Miss M. K. Taliaferro—I have nothing to say.

Elizabeth Tennent — A most amazing assemblage of females—definitely a very attractive bunch —but of course, they can't compare with the Freshmen of 1940.

Nellie Richardson—(a maid on first floor Rotunda) — They are industrious about their rooms.

Louise Alphin—The friendliness they show each other and their interest in Orientation.

Betty Cock—The class is lousy with Betty's—The more that come the better they get! Freshmen, I mean.

Dr. Jeffers—The best looking class I've ever seen.

Shirley Etheridge—Their worldly manner.

Lucy Messick—They're friendly and cooperative.

Maria Olivia Irizarry—They are good friends, and have many more boy friends than we do in Puerto Rico.

Sara Wayne France — Pretty chipper bunch, and they're catching on quick.

Isabel Sampson—
"Sweet as sugar candy.
Most Sophs think they're dandy.
Wait until those gruesome weeks
When those Frosh just look like freaks!
My opinion's very nice—
I love 'em good--I've looked twice."

Anne Mingea—They're friendly, cute looking, and altogether a grand bunch of girls.

Willie Webb—Just wait till rat week—we'll find out!

Mary Evelyn Pearsall—So far they've shown a lot of talent.

Carter Renshaw—The way they get around.

Patsy Connelly—Lots of things But best of all they haven't been homesick—Or maybe we just can't hear the weeping in Senior building.

Phyllis Watts—The most outstanding thing about the "Farmville Freshman" is the spirit with which she enters activies.

Minnie Lee Crumpler — They're all glamour girls.

Transfer Muses on Farmville Habits, Habitats, Habitants

By SARA MOLING

Belonging to that minority group of transfers has its advantages. First of all we aren't disillusioned; we don't arrive under a fog of expectations of the college coma as dreamed up by grade B movies and the fashion mags. Nor are we attacked by placement and orientation tests. Nor do we succumb to homesickness.

Nevertheless, we find ourselves surrounded by things strangely foreign. To me, all of S. T. C. except Cunningham is a labyrinth of confusion, architecturally speaking. On second floor I'm utterly lost and always have to ask the way to so-and-so's room. Some spirit of helpfulness superciliously informs me, "Oh, that's right down the hall." Of course there can't be more than fifty halls yawning at me.

Perhaps I'm just feeble in the head, but I don't relish the daily rising at the crack of dawn and the subsequent stagger to breakfast . . . hanging curtains in a perilous, neck-stretching perch on the window sill . . . laboring in the library until 10 p. m. and being greeted cheerfully upon returning home, "Hi Babe, the bath water's frigid" . . . Saturday classes . . . the unimaginative, normal-institutional sound of the name S. T. C.

Guess I'm stumped on that score, but I could ramble endlessly concerning Farmville's pleasant aspects—like the ice cream we rate for supper—the cupola of the library etched against the incredible blueness of an October sky—half the population trooping down the hill to the matinee—Longwood—relaxing to somebody's pet record collection—the fascination of all those tiny, restless species of life under the microscope — the swimming pool — Jeanne d'Arc's out-of-this-world expression—the Sunday transformation from baggy sweaters to glamour—mail boxes stacked with letters (bless 'em)—the crisp challenge of new magazines in the browsing room—people of every description—brilliant scarves on rainy days—Mr. French's smile —quiet peace of vespers by candlelight—a fresh supply of towels from the laundry—out-of-door sports—Dr. Jarman—another issue of the Rotunda every Wednesday.

STC Girls Launch On Varied Careers; Teaching, Defense Work Claim Most

Dan Cupid Wins Eleven

Varied are the fields of work into which the 1943 State Teachers College graduates have gone.

Despite the variety of defense jobs and the great demand for more young women, teaching still remains the preferred job here, for from the June class 73 girls are teaching. They are Nancye Allen, Windsor, Va.; Dorothy Anderson, Brookville School, Campbell County; Martha Anderson, Smithfield, Va.; Helen Asheworth, Kempsville School, Norfolk, Va.; Alice Belote, Portlock School, Norfolk County; Brookie Benton, Staunton, Va.; Libby Bernard, Clearbrook School; Jean Carr, Welch, W. Va.; Dot Childress, Christiansburg, Va.; Virginia Corbin, Ropewell, Va.; Carroll Costello, Henrico County; Lucy Davis, Ashland, Va; Marie Davis, Norfolk County; Helen Delong, Martinsville; Alice Duncan, Red Hill, Va.; Anne Ellett, Windsor, Va., and Dearing Fauntleroy, Campbell Co.

Also Eleanor Peagans, Arlington, Va.; Marjorie Felts, South Norfolk, Va.; Iris Ferguson, Schoolfield, Va.; Margaret Finney, Accomac County; Virginia Firesheets, Victoria, Va.; Ruth Fraughnaugh, Surry, Va.; Alyce Fulton, Disptanta, Va.; Bridget Gentle, Isle of Wright, Va.; Lilly Bee Gray, Hampton, Va.; Charlotte Greely, Eagle Rock, Va; Jean Guy Norfolk, Va.; Nina Lee Hall, Atlantic, Va.; Helen Wiley Hardy, Hollins College, Laboratory Assistant; and Hallie Hillsman, Front Royal, Va.

Also Ellen Hudgins, South Hampton County; Nelda Rose Hunter, LaCrosse, Va.; Betty Jackson, Franklin, Va.; Myrtle Jenkins, Culpeper County; Nultie Johns, Clover, Va.; Baylis Kunz, Bedford, Va.; Betty Laird, Callao, Va.; Margaret Lyons, Etirick, Va.; Frances Mallory, Oceana, Va.; Leona Moomaw, Roanoke County; Anne Moore, Norfolk County; Ada Clarke Nuckols, Hanover County; Sarah Wade Owen, Hanover County; Irma Page, Walstonbury, N. C.; Frances Parham, Dinwiddie County; Agnes Patterson, Winston-Salem, N. C.; and Charlotte Phillips, Accomac county.

Ella Marsh Pilkinton, St. Christopher School, Richmond, Va.; Alma Porter, Farmville High School; Nell Pritchett, Windsor, Va.; Anne Randolph, Charlottesville, Va.; Betty Reid, Alleghany County; Ellen Scott, Northampton County, Virginia Sedgley, Wise County; Alice Seebert, South Norfolk, Va.; Jane Lee Sink, Arlington, Va.; Joice Stokes, Portsmouth, Va.; Elsie Stossel, Hanover County; Shirley Turner, Windsor, Va.; Elizabeth Walker, Campbell County; Annie Belle Walker, Virginlina, Va.; Elizabeth Walls, Hampton, Va.; Emily Wescott, Accomac County; Nell White, Albemarle County; and Violet Woodall, Norfolk County, and Amy Read, Newport News.

Eleven girls are either working as stenographers, welfare workers, or in defense jobs. They are Elva Andrews, Superintendent's office, Farmville, Va.; Betty Bouchard, Shipyard, Newport News, Va.; Mary Frances Bowles, Psychiotric Aide, Hartford, Conn.; Ann Brookes, Newport News, Va.; Imogen Claytor, Gruman Aircraft; Jac Hardy, Camp Pickett, Blackstone, Va.; Margaret Lovins, Welfare work, Richmond, Va.; Dot Marrow, Dietician, Norfolk General Hospital, Norfolk, Va.; Miggy Mish, Welfare office, Staunton, Va.; Carolyn Rouse, Welfare work, Morganton, N. C., and Eleanor Folk, Norfolk and Western office, Roanoke.

"Dan Cupid" has claimed eleven girls, too. They are Edna Brown, Dot Childress, Virginia Firesheets, Sarah Massie Goode, Inez Jones, Nancy Kerse, Louise Parcell, Betty Sexton, Dawn Shanklin, Anne Ware and Betty Youngberg.

Six girls have joined the Signal Corps and are at Arlington, Va. They are Mary Jane Campbell, Elizabeth McCoy, Carroll Pugh, Estelle Smith, Ada Clair Snyder, and Lois Steidtmann. Other members of our armed service from the class are Grace Collins, Catherine May, Jane Sanford and Winifred Wright in the WAVES; Anne Covington in the WAC, and Opal Nelson in the Marines.

Continuing their education are Eleanor Boothe at the Medical College of Virginia, Ella Hutchinson at the University of North Carolina, Lolita Robert, studying for medicine, Rosalie Rogers at Lillian Siler getting her M. A. at Columbia; and Anne Trotter at Library school.

Three Puerto Ricans graduates returned to Puerto Rico. They are Nora Beauchamp, Haydee Carbonell, and Sarah Carbonell.

Dean's List

Continued from Page 1

Farmville, Va.; Sara Bird Williams, Woodstock, Va.; Helen Garland Wilson, Petersburg, Va.; Mary Gladys Wilson, Bremo Bluff, Va.

To be on the Dean's list, a student must make A or B on all subjects with the exception of floor work in Physical Education, which must be C or higher. But an average for the previous three quarters cannot be lower than C. The student on the Dean's list may be absent from classes when she can use her time in ways that seem to her more profitable. Only Juniors and Seniors are eligible.

This is a family war. Put your War Bond buying through the payroll savings plan on a family plan, which means figure it out yourself.

Sorority Averages Announced For Year With PZS Leading

Phi Zeta Sigma led the sororities in the scholastic average for the spring quarter with 1.95, according to an announcement made this week by Miss Ruth Gleaves, Pan-Hellenic advisor. Mu Omega placed second with 1.80; Pi Kappa Sigma third with 1.66; Sigma Sigma Sigma fourth, with 1.62. Gamma Theta had an average of 1.61; Alpha Sigma Tau of 1.56; Theta Sigma Upsilon of 1.52; and Alpha Sigma Alpha of 1.46.

Phi Zeta Sigma, also, led the scholastic averages for the year with 1.92. Mu Omega held the second place with 1.79 and Sigma Sigma third with 1.71. Holding fourth place was Alpha Sigma Tau with 1.67 and fifth place was Pi Kappa Sigma with 1.63. Alpha Sigma Alpha placed sixth with 1.57, while Gamma Theta and Theta Sigma Upsilon had an average of 1.54 for the year.

Art Teacher Joins Red Cross Service

Miss Marjorie Booton, a faculty member in the Art department for the past few years, did not return to Farmville this year. She has volunteered for foreign service in the Red Cross Recreational Service, and is now awaiting her call. She will have three weeks training in a convalescent hospital in the United States and has asked to be assigned to a hospital overseas.

Mrs. Charles D. Turnbull, assistant dietician in the dining hall for a number of years, is doing a similar work in the high school cafeterias in Norfolk, where she is living with her sisters. Mrs. Betty Hammond of Buckingham is taking her place.

Mrs. Dudley, who was hostess at Longwood, has left to accept a position as housemother at Stuart Hall in Staunton.

Methodist Girls Attend Conference

Representatives from the Wesley Foundation of the Farmville State Teachers College who attended the conference held at Mary Washington College, Fredericksburg, during the past week end were Betty Watts, president of the Wesley Foundation, Anne Hamlin, Elizabeth Mast, Dorothy Cummings, Doris Burks, Anne Charlton, Geneva Coleman, and Marie Brickert.

The conference began at 4:30 p. m. on Saturday with a talk by Kay Kanedo, a Japanese-American, on Japanese Relation Centers and by Mr. L. R. Reynoldson the Inter-Racial Problem in Virginia.

The address of the evening was made by Dr. J. Earl Moreland of Randolph-Macon College followed by a program presented by the Wesley Foundation of Farmville.

On Sunday afternoon, plans for the coming year were made, and Anne Hamlin from Farmville gave a talk on her caravan work this summer.

The Wesley Foundation will be host to the State Conference which will be held in February.

Your Library

The Reserve Book Room

The large reading room to the right of the main entrance of the college library is called the Reserve Book Room. Although it contains several other groups of books, its main collection is made up of books placed "on Reserve" by members of the college faculty. These are books drawn from the library stacks for the use of a particular class as supplementary or collateral reading; their reading is meant to give the students a wider background in the subject matter of the several courses than their text books and lectures are able to give. It is necessary to place them "on Reserve" because it is usually desirable to have an entire class read a limited number of books. And placing them "on Reserve" makes it possible for the books to be always available when not actually being read.

The Reserve Collection is shelved immediately to the left of the entrance to the Reserve Book Room, and is arranged in the same manner as the library stacks, according to the Dewey Decimal Classification System. This system brings together into the same section most of the books used in a particular coure, for it is a subje.t classification, just as most courses are subject courses. Most books reserved for a course in History for example, fall within the 800 section of the classification, and are shelved together in the Reserve Collection. College courses, however, do cross subject lines, and some books valuable to a course in history are about some other subject, and find their place in another part of the classification.

In order to help the students find these books, the first section of shelves is devoted to posting lists of the books placed "On Reserve" for the various courses. These lists are arranged alphabetically by the name of the instructor, and the books on the lists are arranged alphabetically by their authors. The classification number needed in finding the book is given opposite the author's name. When you have this number, it is only a step to finding the same number on the back of the book, for the books are in one-two-three order according to that number. If you have some trouble in "catching on", any member of the library staff will be glad to help you.

Reserve books may be used in the Library throughout the day and may be withdrawn for overnight use at 9:30 each evening and 4:30 on Staurday afternoons. They are due back in the Library at 8 o'clock the following morning, and are subject to a fine of ten cents for the first hour and five cents for each additional hour until they are returend.

New book of the week: "O River Remember" by Martha Ostenso.

Bandage Rolling

Continued from Page 1

dents who desire to roll.

Mrs. M. B. Coyner will be in charge of the work this year, while Miss Sprunt Hall, Mrs. J. B. Wall and Mrs. T. J. McIlwaine will assist.

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

The second week of school has passed with hardly a ripple of excitement. Schedules have become routine, new faces no longer seem strange, and freshmen have finally become accustomed to the fact that they at last are college girls. But—as night must follow day, so after every routine and boring week there must come a week end. Then with the freshmen's amazing discovery that school is a place to which one goes in order that on week ends one may go home again, pandemonium breaks loose.

Richmond seemed to be the popular place this time, for, among those who were there are: Frances Lee, Betty Lee, Jane Crump, Frances Satterfield, Faith Weeks, Katherine Saunders, Vivian Gwaltney, Betty Little, Ester Shevick, Anne Dickenson, Margie Hewlett, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Betty Bridgeforth, Hannah Lee Crawford, Sara Wayne France, Betty Wright, Heidi Lacy, Sara Leach, Nancy Whitehead, Kitty Renneker, and Betty Lou Howard.

Among the Petersburg girls, these journeyed homeward, Kitty Parham, Louise Halbert, Jean Pritchett, Mabbot Perkins, Grace Anderson, Betty Wood, Ophelia Whittle, and Frances Woodward.

Several girls attended the dance at V.M.I. They were Anne Shuflebarger, Anne Marie Curley, Judy Connelly, Virginia Ford, Carmen Loew.

At the same time, Joan Davis, Anne Kingdon, Jean Arrington, and Betsy Caldwell arrived in Lynchburg, while Dodie Jones went to Radford and Betty Jane Austin visited in Roanoke.

Big news of the week was Theresa Fletcher's wedding in Richmond. Martha Higgins played brides-maid while Jerry Titmus and Margaret Thomas sat on the front row.

The "Y"

Continued from Page 2

ficer's Retreat for the Wesley Foundation in Fredericksburg, Va. Plans are now under way for the State Conference that is to be held here in Farmville.

College Shoppe
TRY OUR DELICIOUS SANDWICHES AND PLATE LUNCHES

Southside Drug Store
On the Corner

QUALITY WRITING PAPER
Deckle Border, colored pkg. .. 10c
Barclay Package Paper and envelopes to match 10c
Official U. S. V . . . —Mail 20 count 10c 50 count 25c
Parker Quink for V-Mail 15c
ROSE'S 5-10-25c Stores

FRESH FLOWERS —for— ALL OCCASIONS
Collins Florist

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR DECCA
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

WELCOME
SHANNON'S
Headquarters for S. T. C.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth Our Representative

YOUR HAIR "SET RIGHT"
For Any Occasion
To look your best, make your hair a real "Crowning Glory". At BALDWIN'S our beautiicians offer you the care it needs.
State Teachers College Specials
REG. $15.00
Empress Permanents $7.95
ZETA COLD
Wave Permanents $7.45
OTHER BEAUTTIFUL
Permanents $4.95 up
Use your Charge Accounts
BALDWIN'S BEAUTY SHOP
PHONE 159 BALDWIN'S DEPT. STORE

Buy a winter
Suit or Coat
In Any Color!
SUITS
$14.95 to $32.50
COATS
$16.95 to $35.00
Dorothy May Shoppe

We invite you to see our new shipment of
SWEATERS and SKIRTS
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

V-12's. College Students Use Pool; Swimming Test Required for Frosh Regulation Suits Necessary at S.T.C.

Recreational swimming began on Monday of this week and will continue each afternoon from 4:00 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. The pool will be open to both freshmen and upperclassmen for this time. Also, a free period will begin this Saturday night from 8-9:30 p. m. and continue to be a part of each Saturday night's schedule.

Freshmen will be classified the latter part of this week for tests in beginners swimming and these will be scheduled one day next week to begin.

All who swim in the pool must wear a regulation tank suit and must have had a previous examination.

RUTH DUGGER
President of Orchesis

Orchesis Initiates Six Apprentices

Six apprentices will be initiated into Orchesis, the modern dance group, tonight, Wednesday, at 10:00 p. m. when the club has its first social of the year. Those entering the club as members at this time include Kitty Reneker, Ann Jones, Margaret Harvie, Pat Garth, M. J. Leavitt, and Lucie Harvie.

Ruth Dugger, president of the club, has announced plans for the year's program of dance. The first presentation will be the annual Christmas Sing program with the theme based on the old Christmas time. "Adoration", one of last year's numbers will be re-worked. Also, included in sing will be some fundamental and techniques in dance.

The yearly recital will be scheduled the latter part of January or the first of February. Plans are underway to work dances to the music of Gershwin's Rhapsody in Blue.

Lillian Goddin, junior, has been elected secretary to replace Ophelia Whittle who resigned because of points and Gloria Pollard, senior, will take over the duties of secretary, replacing Gwen Sampson.

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Petty Officer Bass Navy Instructor

Hampden-Sydney Navy V-12 officer candidates are now undergoing special swimming instruction in the S. T. C. pool each Monday through Friday nights from 6:00 p. m. to 8:00 p. m.

Chief Petty Officer J. M. Bass is instructor for the group which numbers approximately thirty-four boys each night of the two hundred and thirty-eight enrolled in the V-12 unit, nineteen were classified as beginners in swimming.

During the navy period of instruction, training includes the fundamentals in how to abandon ships, escape burning oil on water, and general instructions in swimming and life saving and water safety.

The remainder of the physical training program for the V-12's is conducted at Hampden-Sydney. The program includes various inter-company sports under the direction of Coach Frank Summers, regular periods of calisthenics, and obstacle courses.

Notice

Mr. Graham will take any persons who wish to play golf to Longwood several days each week for games. It is hoped that if sufficient numbers wish this, intercollegiate matches can be scheduled.

Anyone wishing to sign for this see Mr. Graham and he will make arrangements for transportation. The A. A. will furnish clubs to all who need them.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS
Wags!

No quadruped of the K9 contingent used by the Marines, the Army or the Coast Guard is purchased. They're strictly volunteers for the duration, loaned by their masters and mistresses. These dogs are taught to hear and smell and see enemies where humans cannot. They are invaluable at night.

Several K9 training stations are maintained by various branches of our fighting services.

You may not have a dog to send to war but you can send your money. Buy War Bonds.

Treasury Department

NEWBERRY'S
5-10-25c STORE
FARMVILLE'S NEWEST AND FINEST 5-10-25c STORE
Visit our New Fall Anklet Department.. Colors and styles for all occasions.

WHEN TIME IS SHORT AND REFRESHMENTS NEEDED REMEMBER
Butcher's
WELCOMES YOU

When you need a gift give a Silver Charm—Get one for yourself also from
Martin the Jeweler

Left Lead

Just for fun, we call the horse in the cut up there "Printer's Ink", and at this point he's the best-looking one of the lot. We interviewed the horses Sunday, and despite the expert care they're receiving under their new owner, Mr. N. L. Nolen, they've still got that shabby, summery look, with that unbecoming moth-eaten air about it. But the spirit's still there, despite its frugal covering.

Midnight, for example, is all bones, but let the wind blow, and he still has that look in his eye! Peg is fat as ever, and sadly in need of a bath, but she cleared every jump in the ring last week. Lindy looks positively scrawny, but his canter is smooth as usual . . . and so it goes. They've already fattened up considerably, and in a little while with Mr. Nolen they'll be slick and clean again, and off to a merry start.

Mr. Nolen has added two to the familiar list, too. Winnie and Harry. One up for Joyce. Harry is hers for the duration of her school life!! Yup, he's the beauty people have been raving about all week. . . sleek and sorrel, with his neck arched and his tail flowing. He even beats Printer's Ink. Winnie is a small horse (though larger than King Cole) but she looks good. And Winnie is in foal.

And speaking of colts (subtle though it were Keep-a-Way's has disappeared). He and Clare-Port both, just evaporated from the pasture field, and no one knows when or where or how. As for King Cole and Skyrocket, they're still on the loose!

Classes have started again, and the trail leads over a back road to Longwood, but if you'll watch closely you may catch Joyce or Mary or Jean trotting around the old archery field, behind the library. 'Tis a pretty sight from any view, and would be nice and convenient for a regular training ring.

One of these days Mr. Reid is gonna wake up and find himself sued for damages. People can't even be nice to Beauty, that 2-by-4 hunk o' horse-meat he calls a pony. For an animal his size, he's got more kick in him than a tank of 98-octane, and he knows where to plant that well-shod dynamite where it'll sure be most effective. Take it from the Voice of Experience, and when you're around the stables, steer clear of that lovable-looking little brown and white job who just about reaches your waistline. He's apt to reach it, all right, but the angle will be all his own idea!! Kick him back.

Stiffly,
Pegasus

War Souvenirs

Continued from Page 1

which is now on display in the college library, are a so called "dog tag" of one of the Italian prisoners, a small bent piece of metal with holes drilled in it where it had been attached to the body, and a small can containing three cups of undissolved coffee from a soldier's ration.

Welcome! S. T .C.
To Farmville!
When you feel you shouldn't be seen
Then your clothes must needs be clean
Bring them to
DeLUXE CLEANERS
The BEST in Town

Newman's Bowling Alley
For Exercise Bowl at Newman's Bowling Alley Downstairs in Shannon's

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

Sportspourri

By SHIRLEY PIERCE

Hockey Season . . .

It takes a lot of practice to get in shape for a game of ho key; at least so all those who were in the demonstration last Wednesday for the freshmen and new girls will say. Some are still store from running up and down the field only a few times . . . Regular practices will begin this week on the athletic field under the direction of Ophelia Whittle, manager of hockey. A schedule calendar of practices will be placed on the A. A. bulletin board as a reminder of days and time of practice. Fundomentals and techniques will be learned at the beginning as well as rules and practice in carrying them through. Freshmen and new girls as well as old ones are urged to come out for hockey and be a part of the team which will have an active season. Games will be scheduled between classes and colors, and then the regular traditional hockey game the afternoon of color rush will determine the fate of the freshmen and their rat caps. Be active in your class sports.

Freshmen Swimming . . .

As a part of the regular freshman physical education program the American Red Cross Beginners test must be passed this quarter. Tests will be scheduled this week and instruction will begin for those who are non-swimmers. The pool is under the supervision of M. J. Leavitt, instructor in swimming classes. Prior to entrance to the pool, persons must purchase regulation tank suits from the suit room. The sale of suits will begin the later part of the week. Physical examinations must be complete before entering the pool and feet checked for athletes foot. Recreational swimming is a part of the Saturday night sport program. Time of swimming is scheduled from 8 to 9:30 p. m.

Pegasus Riding Club . . .

Miss Stella Fox, previous riding instructor at S. T. C. will not return this season, but riding classes will continue with Joyce Cheatwood as instructor assisted by Jean Smith and Mary Sterrett. The riding club is located in a room just to the side of "rec" where appointments for riding classes can be made. All who wish to ride may get in touch with the club officers or instructors and arrangements will be made. The stables have been moved two blocks down Pine street, on the corner. There are now seven active horses, all trained and ready for the mount.

H20 club guards will be on duty at this time.

Tennis Courts

The courts this year haven't proved as popular as they did last year, but perhaps that has been due to the intense program of classes and getting settled—but also a part of that program consists of the physical fitness phase which none can overlook. Do you take regular exercise each day? Take advantage of the facilities here and use them. Tennis is an excellent sport and the courts are in top condition. They are available at all times, and required are tennis shoes in order that the ground will remain hard packed.

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop. Phone 139

Visit Us . . .
For Best
Soda Fountain Service
Chappell Co.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Ration Free
This serviceable sling pump in gabardine with wear-tested plasticized soles
Life Stride
Country Club Balloon Platforms

For new walking freedom . . . Life-Stride's long-lasting Balloon Platforms! Their cushioned softness puts a buoyant freshness in your step . . . so important now that your days are geared to top speed!
Nationally Advertised in Leading Magazines Buy War Bonds and Stamps
Fashion Fresh $5.95
Baldwin's

Have a "Coke" = Come, be blessed and be happy

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".
. . . from Idaho to Iceland
Have a "Coke", says the American soldier in Iceland, and in three words he has made a friend. It works in Reykjavic as it does in Rochester. 'Round the globe Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes—has become the ice-breaker between kindly-minded strangers.

—the global high-sign
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
FARMVILLE BOTTLING WORKS
© 1943 The C-C Co.

Library
2 copies

READ YOUR EDITORIAL PAGE

The Rotunda

OBSERVE CAMPUS LEAGUE RULES

VOLUME XXIII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, OCTOBER 13, 1943 NUMBER 3

Dean Says All Nation's Literature Good In a Way

"And were you homesick, Mrs. Dean?"

"Yes, I was for the first year or two, but I got over it."

We don't know whether this will encourage or discourage homesick freshmen (and upperclassmen) in our midst, but wait until you hear the circumstances. We were sitting in the hotel room of our distinguished speaker of last Wednesday evening and talking not about international affairs, but about being homesick.

"How old were you when you left Russia?"

"I was just sixteen," she replied with the faintest Russian accent, "but my father believed I should continue my education abroad."

So she went all alone, to Radcliffe College in Cambridge, Massachusetts and was homesick for only two years.

"Oh, yes, we had studied English in school and my father made me read all the great English classics. I could read and write English, but speaking it was a little difficult, of course."

In spite of this difficulty, she began immediately to take part in extra-curricular activities at Radcliffe and was on the way to becoming editor-in-chief of her college paper when she was elected president of the student body.

We had come prepared to be impressed by Mrs. Dean, her talents

Continued on Page 4

All Classes Select Stunt Chairmen for Circus Program

Stunt chairmen have been elected for the annual S. T. C. circus, which is sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma, and will be held this year on October 30, in the gym.

Gweneth Ackiss, Newport News, will represent the freshman class; Betty Cock, Hampton, will represent the sophomore class; Marilyn Bell, Richmond, the junior class and Elizabeth Tennent, Hopewell, the senior class.

Circus queen will be elected from the senior class, but all the classes may be represented in the court in previous years each class has selected a nominee for the queen and the candidate receiving the most votes reigned over the Big Top. Her identity was kept secret until the night of the circus and the defeated candidates formed her court. As in the past the queen's identity will not be known to the student body, but she will be a member of the senior class.

Humorous Debate Presented in Chapel

With Marilyn Bell and Betty Cock on the affirmative and Alice Nichols and Betty Adams supporting the negative, the Debate Club presented their annual humorous debate in chapel this morning on the topic, Resolved, that an underground tunnel should be constructed to Camp Pickett instead of Hampden-Sydney.

The affirmative team represented the Army's side of the question and were dressed accordingly. The Navy's point of view was upheld by the negative team, who wore regular sailor blouses and punctuated their program with Navy cheers.

Virginia Terrell acted as announcer and timekeeper for the debate and Elsie Thompson, who served as judge announced that there would be no decision.

Each year the Debate Club sponsors a humorous debate in chapel early in the year to interest the freshmen and new girls in the work. Last year's question was, Resolved that the standing army should sit down.

Seniors Choose Six Chaperones

At the regular meeting of the senior class last night, six chaperones were elected. They are: Caroline Caldwell, Joscelyn Gilium, Sara Jeffreys, Nancy Langhorne, Frances Rainey, and Nell Richard.

These chaperones are elected to accompany underclassmen to the offices of the doctor and dentist, and to football games at Hampden-Sydney.

Catholics Organize Newman Club With Kelly Prexy

Marie Kelly, senior from Portsmouth, was elected president of the Newman Club, recently organized Catholic group on the campus at the initial meeting last week. Elizabeth Driscoll was selected as secretary; Lela Manner was chosen treasurer, and Margaret Thomas, social chairman. Miss Emily Kauzlarich was selected by the group to be faculty adviser.

Regular meeting of the Newman Club is scheduled for the first and third Wednesdays of each month at 5 o'clock p. m. in Junior Parlor. Twenty-two girls have signed up as members of the organization. They are Eleanor Bisese, Beatrice Bruch, Mary William Calvert, Elizabeth Driscoll, Bertha Erceg, Carmen Flores, Edith Garcia, Katherine Goldsborough, Marie Kelly, Minnie McIlroy, Lela Manner, Margaret C. Thomas, Mary Jane Vanderlehr, Martha Watson, Janet Davis, Rosemarie Waggner, Esther Carbonell, Isabelita Maldonador, Helen Shaw, Dorothy Jane Salvator, and Ann Marie Curley.

Y. W. C. A. Secures Jones As Speaker

Rev. Charles M. Jones, Presbyterian minister from Chapel Hill, N. C., will be on the campus Wednesday and Thursday, October 21 and 22 as the first guest speaker of the Y. W. C. A. this year.

Mr. Jones will introduce the Y. W. C. A. theme for the year, "Christian Faith for Today and Tomorrow". He will speak in chapel on Wednesday, October 20 and again on Thursday, Oct. 21. He will be guest at an open association meeting of the Y. W. C. A. at 4:30 on October 20.

For some years Mr. Jones has worked with young people in camps. He attended the Berea Conference at Berea, Kentucky this summer.

Dramatic Apprentices Give Play Tonight

Tonight at the regular meeting of the Dramatic Club apprentices in the acting group will present the first of their series of one act plays. Tonight's production is entitled "The Bad Penny", and is under the direction of Olive Bradshaw, head of the acting group. Cooperating with Ollve are the heads of each of the other departments of the Dramatic Club, Mary St. Clair Bugg, lighting; Carol Diggs, staging; Sally Roberson, properties; Frances Shackleford, costuming; and Lucille Lewis, make-up.

Apprentices appearing in the first play are Rachel Field, Martha Frances Webb, Grace Lloyd, Mary Morton Fontaine, and Ann Buck.

Honor Societies Bid New Members

Pi Gamma Mu Bids 7 To Membership

Frances Craddock, president of Pi Gamma Mu, national honorary fraternity in Social Science, announces that seven upperclassmen have been issued bids this week. They are Marilyn Bell, Richmond; Alice Ruth Feitig, Richmond; Mrs. Elizabeth Chappell Hinman, Prospect; Betty Overcash, Hampden-Sydney; Betty Watts, Portsmouth; Ella Banks Weathers, Lexington; and Mildred Willson, Amelia.

Nell Holloway and Katherine Johnson were taken into the fraternity during the summer quarter.

Other officers are Sarah Trigg, vice-president; Bernice Copenhaver, secretary; and Sara Wayne France, treasurer. Dr. J. E. Walmsley, Dr. Francis B. Simkins, and Mr. M. Boyd Coyner are advisors.

Sigma Pi Rho Issues Four Invitations

Frances Lee Hawthorne, president of Sigma Pi Rho, national honorary classical society, has announced that four upperclassmen have been issued bids to membership this week.

The girls receiving bids are Margaret Barksdale, Java; Mary Dove, Roanoke; Katherine Johnson, Dolphin; and Jane Waring Ruffin, Holdcroft.

Other officers of Sigma Pi Rho are Mary St. Clair Bugg, vice-president; Margie Lee Culley, secretary-treasurer; Mary Wood House, reporter; and Miss Minnie Rice, adviser.

NOTICES

Sophomores and juniors will have their pictures taken for the 1944 Virginian Thursday and Friday. Since negatives from other pictures will not be accepted, every student who wants her picture in the annual will have to have it taken on one of the above mentioned days.

Deadline for payment of at least $1 for subscription to the 1944 Virginian is December 15, 1943. Mary Moore McCorkle, business manager announces.

"Who's Who" Lists Seventeen STC Students As Outstanding

Seated above are those listed in Who's Who. Top row, left to right, are Shirley Pierce, Virginia Ellett, Frances Craddock, Elizabeth Tennent, Sara Wayne France, Ella Banks Weathers, Mary Evelyn Pearsall. Bottom row are Judy Eason, Louise Bell, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Faye Nimmo, Jane Smith, Patsy Connelly, Jean Arington Mildred Corvin, Hannah Lee Crawford, and Mary Moore McCorkle were not present for the picture.

Faculty Selects Representatives

Seventeen students will represent Farmville State Teachers College in the tenth edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities" for this year.

The students whose names are listed are Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Roanoke, president of the Student Government Association; Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Julia Eason, Richmond, president of the House Council; Patsy Connelly, Lebanon, president of the Athletic Association; Ella Banks Weathers, Lexington, editor of the Rotunda; Sara Wayne France, Charlottesville, editor of the Virginian; Elizabeth Tennent, Hopewell, editor of the Colonnade, and Faye Nimmo, Suffolk, president of the senior class.

Also Hannah Lee Crawford, vice-president of the Student Government Association and president of Alpha Kappa Gamma; Louise Bell, Berryville, vice-president of the Y. W. C. A.; Shirley Pierce, Roanoke, vice-president of the Athletic Association; and Jean Arington, Lynchburg, dining room hostess and president of Gamma Psi.

Also Mildred Corvin, Crewe, business manager of the Colonnade; Frances Craddock, Blackstone, president of Pi Gamma Mu; Mary Moore McCorkle, Lexington, president of Kappa Delta Pi and business manager of the Virginian; Jane Smith, Franklin, president of Beore Eh Thorn; and Virginia Mae Ellett, Crewe, president of the Cotillion Club.

These students were selected by a committee of the faculty and administration from a large list of eligible candidates on the basis of extra curricula activities, leadership, and scholarship.

Annually, a compilation of biographies of outstanding students in America is published. Only juniors and seniors and students taking advanced work are selected. The primary purpose of this publication is to bring the outstanding students in America before the business world and before others who annually recruit students.

Dieticians Needed In Army Hospitals

Applicants Become Second Lieutenants

More than 1,000 trained dieticians will be needed soon in the Army hospitals and in hospital units at foreign posts to select food for our soldiers patients, plan the menus, supervise the preparation and serving of food, observe the food habits and preference of individual patients, and manage the food service of a dietory department. Not enough graduate dietitians are available; therefore, the Army has initiated a well-organized program to train student dietitians.

To be eligible to become a student dietitian, a girl must be a graduate of a four-year college with a major in foods and nutrition, or in institutional management. She must be in good health, emotionally stable and between the ages of 20 and 40 and must be free to serve wherever sent in line of duty.

Applicants will receive training under the best professional staff our country affords. Special schools in army hospitals are offering a 6-month intensive training course in the theory and practice of hospital dietetics. After completion of these army courses, dietitians are given a 6-months

Continued on Page 3

Advanced Group Finishes HS Course

Seven Day Leave Begins October 23

The first class of officer candidates from the Navy V-12 Unit at Hampden-Sydney College will complete their first training there Saturday, October 23. The members of the group who will finish their work at Hampden-Sydney are those who have had advanced college work before entering the Navy. From Hampden - Sydney they will go to various other schools and will eventually receive commissions.

Preceding the graduation exercises for the boys there will be a dress review similar to the one given several weeks ago.

Following the regular week end liberty which will begin Saturday, October 23, at 1400 Navy time and continue through 2000 Sunday night, the boys will be given a seven day leave.

Plans are under way for a dance to be given at Hampden-Sydney on the night of Saturday, October 23.

Contrary to the usual procedure, the boys of the V-12 Unit will not be allowed the 30 hour liberty this week end, but will be allowed to liberty only from 1600 til 2345, Navy time, on Saturday, and two hours on Sunday in which to attend church.

Mighty Sophomores to Humble Lowly Frosh In Two Days Full of Traditional Rat Week

Beginning literally at crack of dawn Monday morning, the sophomores will lord it over the class of '47 for two days. Elaborate plans for ratting are well under way and all sophs are planning for two full days of real fun. The mighty class of sophomores will dictate the lifes and loves of the 300 odd freshmen (and they will be odd!) for the two days of Rat Week.

Rat rules as announced by sophomores are:

Rat Rules

1. Wear one black stocking as cap with positively no hair showing, and holes cut in the cap with ears protruding. Stuff leg and foot of stocking cap and let it hang down the back.

2. Ear rings are to be worn on each ear.

3. Paint four dark black whiskers on the right side of mouth and six on the left side, extending to the center of the cheek.

4. Wear no other make up on face and no fingernail polish.

5. Wear wash dress with clashing skirt over it. Have dress showing five inches below skirt which must be rolled up at the waist. Wear triangular kerchief around neck with knot in back. On Tuesday wear dress and skirt backwards.

6. Wear mismatched gloves except to class and chapel.

7. Wear the second black stocking on the left leg and over this wear a red sock. Wear white sock on the other foot. Both socks must be turned up all the way.

8. Paint red "4" on right arm below the elbow and red "6" on left arm below the elbow.

9. A pad of paper supported by a string is to worn around the neck with pencil attached.

10. A large cardboard heart is to be worn on the back with the following on it, "Praise '46", and a sign on the front with rat's name and room number. Draw a picture of a rat on it.

11. All rats must know the song in praise of the sophomores.

12. Do not go to the postoffice till after lunch.

13. Always courtesy to Joan of Arc.

14. Carry a paper bag with ample supply of kleenex and safety matches at all times.

15. All meals must be eaten in the dining hall.

16. All rats convene in front of the Colonnade at 12:30 on both days and also immediately after lunch.

17. Know Red and White song.

18. Be prepared to give the Sign Off at any and all times upon request.

19. Carry books in laundry bags when you meet in the gym at 6 o'clock A. M. on Monday morning.

20. Meet on the athletic field at 6 o'clock a. m. Tuesday and bring a suitcase. Suitcase must be returned to room before breakfast.

21. Black stockings must be bought on Thursday or Friday of this week as no freshmen will be allowed to go down town on Monday, October 18. These may be

Continued on Page 4

YW Retreat Planned For October 23, 24

That "Retreat" of the Y. W. C. A. Council and advisors will be at Longwood on October 23 and 24 it has been announced.

The purpose of this group meeting is to plan the work for 1943-44 and to discuss the theme and activties for the year.

In addition to the "Y" cabinet and advisors, the ministers of Farmville have been invited for the Saturday afternoon session and picnic supper. The cabinet and chaperones will remain overnight.

Members of the cabinet are Frances Lee Hawthorne, Louise Bell, Ann Martin, Sara Bird Williams, Minnie Lee Crumpler, Ann Snyder, Sara Moling, Hannah Lee Crawford, Connie Ozlin, Eleanor Corell, Mary Ann Jarratt, Agnes Stokes, Virginia Treakle, Isabel

Continued on Page 4

Caldwell To Head Commercial Club

Caroline Caldwell, New Castle, was elected president of the Commercial Club for the present year. Marilyn Johnson, Roanoke, is vice-president; Nancy Langhorn, Evington, secretary; and Betty Jones, Suffolk, treasurer.

The club is being reorganized after a year of inactivity. It has taken several new projects to be carried out this year.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Betty Cock, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Bobbie Scott, Betty Woodward, Phyllis Watts.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 13, 1942

Student to Faculty: Sincere Appreciation

The "Faculty Album", presented last Friday night by the War Council and by the faculty, proved two points that were outstanding in need of verification.

For one thing, the girls are patriotic; they are willing to buy more war stamps than the $8.30 total of last week would indicate. The total sale for this week amounted to $130.00—and all of these stamps were not ten-cent ones bought for admission to thoe program. Many, while buying, remembered the unfinished or not-yet-begun stamp book, and purchased one stamp for the program, one for the book. At any rate, $130 in one week is something to be proud of, whereas $8.30 is not. The war council is pleased, the girls are pleased, and the boys who are fighting for freedom might now be pleased that their sisters and friends are "backing the attack"

Another factor that the program brought to light is the teacher-pupil understanding. Not only did the girls come to the program, but, from all accounts, they enjoyed it thoroughly. They appreciated their professors giving of their time and talents to present an evening of fun. Many of the teachers were asked to give up all vestige of dignity—that they did with an equal enthusiasm as that which they inspired in their students by so doing. The teachers were good sports, and the student body recognized this fact, and felt, some of them for the first time, a feeling of comradeship and friendly admiration for all those who hitherto and been "mere profs."

Enthusiasm such as was expressed by both sides over the "Family Album" is a beautiful thing to see, and makes for the kind of morale we are striving for in all our land.

The best college students finish their examinations either first or last, says Donald M. Johnson of the Fort Hays Kansas State College psychology department. Mediocre students, he says, usually complete their papers in the middle third of the period. —ACP.

The Dirt-Dauber Builds a Home

Gather 'round, chillun and you shall hear—
A few rumors gleaned from here and there—

Now how 'bout B. Ellis trying to snake M. J.'s man last Friday night. It's rumored she didn't succeed.

Twitch Ellett isn't the only one having double trouble with the men. Who will soothe "Bunny" Cunningham's fevered brow, as she tries to decide whether to go to the V. P. I. hop or to W. and L. with Bobby dear?

Wonder how Paulette Goddard would feel to know she had an ardent admirer way down in the heart of Virginia, who even copied her black lace night gown? Or are you just an old fashioned girl at heart, Dana Jane?

'Tis said that the sophs in White House are getting armed with razors, bricks, piano wire, etc., so that the next time Grace Lloyd kicks over a trash can at three o'clock in the morning, she'll never live to tell it. Better watch that stuff!

For a while it was thought that there was a fire-bug at S. T. C., but we find it's just Phyllis and her ironing board.

And Judy Eason—isn't it grand to have a man? Specially when you can prove it by just walking into "Family Album". And he looks so cute when he blushes! But, the joke is on Judy . . . She sent Sonny away at 10 p. m., forgetting she was a Senior and could have spent the last one-half hour downtown—was he surprised when he saw all her fellow-friends down there!!

Is it possible that the sleeping pills the infirmary uses could make the watch-works tick like Mary Morton Fontaine's did? Or maybe she thought we needed a good show, and we'll admit she's not a bad actress.

Reports say a good show was given in the Rec Thursday night. I don't see why they don't start charging admission. Who has a guilty conscience?

Another show was given at Longwood Saturday afternoon — Just take a walk 'round the golf course! And I don't mean the golf game!

And any poor frosh that starts getting ratted before their time, just go to a certain girl on White House who told one "Izzy S." where to go. Let's not do anything rash, girls.

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

The Y. W. C. A. Committees will have their regular meetings tonight at 9:00. Let's all start off by doing our best so that this year will count for Christ.

On the 20th and 21st, Mr. C. M. Jones will speak to us. Mr. Jones is from Chapel Hill where he is engaged in student work at the University.

Plans are being made for the "Y" Cabinet's overnight retreat at Longwood.

The Baptists are planning a campfire program for this Sunday night.

After the Methodist supper meeting Sunday, the Wesley Foundation officers will be installed at the regular church service.

The Canterbury Club entertained last Sunday night with a weenie roast at the Rev. Withers. Officers will be elected next Sunday night.

Wednesday—"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen". Hebrews 11:1.

Thursday—"Without faith it is impossible to please God." Hebrews 11:6.

Friday—"The just shall live by faith." Hebrews 10:38.

Saturday—Be thou faithful until death, and I will give thee a crown of life." Proverbs 2:10.

Sunday—"Boast not thyself of tomorrow for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth." Proverbs 27:1.

Monday — "In all thy ways acknowledge Him, and He shall direct thy path." Pro. 3:6.

Tuesday—"In the way of righteousness is life, and in the pathway thereof there is no death." Proverbs 12:28.

Are We Too Busy Even For Democracy?

Time is, man marches on. Marching on his never ending journey, he performs from day to day the tasks that are his. The world in which we are living is the busiest time in the history of our country.

We, as students in America are the most fortunate people in the world. We have the opportunity to attend school with all its joys and frivolities as well as its duties and responsibilities. Are we takng advantage of these opportunities? Our boys do not have this privilege; they are fighting, and if need be, dying to preserve the things which we hold dear.

In winning the war and in guaranteeing an everlasting peace for the peoples of the world, we recognize that one thing is essential, and that one thing a common belief in the principles and ideals, the ethics, of Christianity. We in America must be foremost in bringing about this situation. Are we too busy with other things, the lesser important things, to put first things first?

We, the students of America have a large part to play in winning this war. Our part now is to help entertain the service men, to do Red Cross work, to prepare ourselves for tomorrow's world. Are we too busy? We have a job to do and we must do it. Are we too busy?

—V. T.

Gleanings

Bernice Copenhaver

Senator Lodge, one of the five senators who has been visiting the war fronts, reported that "a clear, frank statement of national aims, based on national interest and guided by justice, would accomplish more good for the world and cause less hatred and disillusionment later on". The Senate is already considering changes to be made in the dealings with the Allies and the peoples of reconquered lands. The military strategy, of course, will be less affected by this report. However, all the senators agreed that the war is far from being won.

* * * *

In Italy, the battle is still going steadily forward. Clark's Fifth Army has captured Caserta, a vital railroad and highway center 16 miles north of Naples. The Allies have control of the whole length of the south bank of the Volturna River, and the signal to cross is expected at any time. In the west, Termoli has fallen to the Eighth Army. The battle of Rome is definitely on the way, and it is a question of great concern whether the Germans will make their main defensive stand in Rome or farther north.

Although the news from Yugoslavia is uncertain, fierce fighting is reported in the ports of Trieste and Fiume, as well as in the interior. With the Allied bombing over Greece, Crete, and Rhodes, there is a great intensity in this section of the Mediterranean front.

* * * *

The Caucasus, with its rich oil-lands, has been completely cleared of the Germans. However, the Germans reported that all troops and supplies had been withdrawn safely, but the Moscow communique said there were 20,000 Germans dead, 3,000 German prisoners, and great quantities of war material captured. It, also, hinted that the Crimea may soon be invaded by the Russians. They have advanced on the Middle Dnieper and along the Sevastopol-Melitopol-Zaporozhe railway, threatening to enclose the peninsula.

* * * *

The Allied ocupation of Villa, Kolombangara Island, this week consolidated the control of the Central Solomons This forces the Japanese to use their large ships to send supplies, instead of barges which could be repaired easier. The Allies are within better bombing range of Jap bases at three points, and have effective control of the air despite the report of a new Jap fighter plane that is more formidable than the Zeros.

Hairwasher's Habits Analyzed As Reporter Meets Deadline

Turkish-Towel Turbans Characteristic

By BETTY COCK

It's amazing to note, when one is calmly sitting behind a closed door minding one's own business, just how many people can ignore a "Busy Sign" and deliberately amble through that closed door in a provokingly jovial manner. It's even more amazing to note just how many of these people are all tied up in Turkish-towel turbans. The official pass-word becomes, "Ha-lo", and the first sentence out is, "I just washed my hair."

Of course that was perfectly obvious in the first place . . . people don't just go around tying up their heads in Turkish toweling for the glamour of it. But we'd gladly accept the announcement itself, if only we didn't hafta put up with all the little details. But thinking it over, we find there's great variety in the lowly sport of hair-washing, so we've gathered up notes from here and there, and to the cleanly clan thus interested, we present our findings here.

There are several types, or sects, of hair-washers, including the Soap-Scourers, the Shampoo-squooshers; the tub-scrubbers, or the spray-spouters. The Soap-Scourers start out by dousing the head with H2O and rubbing the cake of soap vigorously over the hair until there's soap in the eyes, soap in the ears, soap in the mouth, and no soap in the soap-dish. This system results in a general mess and tangled hair, but it seems effective. More generalized method involves the shampoo-squooshers. They saturate the scalp with water first, and then the alloted supply of Halo, Drene, Admiration, Goldy-glow, Kinkisure, or what-have-you and squish the suds in and out of the resulting mass in cheerful bliss,-usually singing unintelligibly in a gurgley undertone the whole while.

Our definitions of tub-scrubbers and spray-sprouters are those who either sit calmly in the tub and methodically do a fine job of sheen-renewing, or those who connect up one of the few remaining rubber-hose sprayers, and abstractly do a fine job of sprinkling the entire bathroom with warm water and scattered suds.

Up here the favorite haunts are, in the Main building the Shower-room, and in Cunningham, the showers in the seniors' suites. One innocent sophomore, sorrowfully out of place in Junior building, was invited down to a senior suite to use afore-mentioned shower for afore-mentioned purpose, and promptly decided that next time she would go to a beauty-parlor before she'd fight that situation again. No one was home to demonstrate, but a note said "Make yourself at home". She did. A lever read, "Pull up for Shower", so she pulled up. No water ensued, so she cautiously released the lever which fell back with a startling clatter. After half-an-hour of discouraging attempts, she gave up, and settled down to a warm and normal tub-full. With the water still gushing into her tub, she pulled the lever up once more . . . and was practically drowned in the deluge from above. No sign had said, "Turn the water on first . . ."

In the Main building, the main danger is slipping down one of the six or seven flights of steps involved, to say nothing of slidsure, or what-have-you and squish

Continued from Page 3

LETTER TO THE EDITOR

Dear Editor:—

Used as we have been to the comparatively easy method of getting telephone calls in Main Building, we Juniors are ready to wreak our wrath at the Cunningham situation. As an example: One young hopeful has completely missed two calls in the past week —and they were both long distance!

This is not the fault of the ever-trotting girls who live near the telephone. When a call comes in, they yell their heads off (undignified though it sounds) or even dash up a few flights to a room. Of course, such calls always come when the weary one who answers is madly dashing off to a class for which she is already late. She cannot find the girl wanted so she dashes back to the phone to say "sorry" and hangs up. She tries to remember to tell the girl called—but you know how it is—she probably won't see her for a week. Days later, the girl called gets an irate letter from her boy friend regarding her fickle inattention. However, there are times when the calls are more serious than a boy friend—important as they are. Hours later girls get urgent messages of family illnesses and so on. Why cannot something be done? In other institutions, girls are paid to merely stay by telephones and answer them. But we do not ask even this, knowing the scarcity of money, etc. Cannot Student Standards or Student Government or whoever attends to such situations, make some improvement?

But most important we all know how busy the telephone wires are; we know that we are eternally being asked to cooperate by not making unnecessary calls. When our families and friends are forced to call two or three times, we are certainly not being patriotic.

Lastly, think of the tempers and anxiety, that could be saved. Please, somebody, "do something"! —to use a well-known expression of one of our faculty members.

Sincerely,
Disappointed

Modern Dance Duo To Present Program Here in Second Lyceum Next Monday

Veen To Instruct Fundamentals Class

Jan Veen and Erika Thimey, brilliant modern theatre dance duo, will appear next Monday, October 18 on a Lyceum program.

Known in three continents, Europe, Asia, and North America, Jan Veen was born in Vienna. His background and early study of the piano gave hib a deep musical insight. He received his early training from the leading central European dancers and teachers, gaining recognition as an artist before going to Shanghai where he opened his first school.

His first modern dance recital was given in New York City where he established a school. Year after year he expanded his work and produced and performed in the Pops season with the Boston Symphony orchestra.

Erika Thimey received her instruction and diploma from Mary Wigman. She acquired her experience as a concert and theater dancer in Europe, before coming to Chicago in 1932. Her first introduction to Jan Veen was at his recital in Northwestern University. The two then discovered they were excellent foils for each other's talent and resolved to build a program of duo and solo modern theatre dances.

Jan Veen and Erika Thimey show a wide, creative range in their dances—festive and lyric—grotesque and comic—dramatic and magic. Veer's resourcefulness in movement is unlimited and his use of space is magnificent. The costumes, startlingly beautiful in design and color, are an integral part of each performance in a program that is consistently of great variety, brilliant and exhilirating.

While in Farmville, Jan Veen will be asked to instruct a dance class in fundamentals. This class will be open to all students in the dance classes and others who might be interested.

Analyze Hairwashers

Continued from Page 2

ing about on the soap, or having our smaller girls go down the drain, and in both places there's the pet aggrevator somewhere on the same water-line who invariably cuts off your supply of hot or cold and either chills or scalds you as the case may be. And one can always stand up too soon and crack one's cranium on the shower-sprout, or develop house-maid's knee from crouching under the lower set of spigots.

We don't know which type you, as individuals, may be, or what your pet hates are, but we do know that we're all in somewhat the same insane category if we will be clean. Because taken for granted you're now well-rinsed and dried, you settle down to your "Super-set" and wave-clips and kerchiefs and Turkish-toweling, and in this gruesome condition proceed to do your weekly visiting and dish out the info just described.

Bless you all, and cleanliness may be next to godliness, but next time you wanna talk about an operation, make it in the morning, will ya? After all, there's a deadline to be met . . . and some time tonight we've gotta wash our hair!

Dieticians Needed

Continued from Page 1

apprenticeship in selected army hospitals. At the end of this period, if they have met all requirements, they are appointed in the Medical Department of the army with the relative rank or second lieutenant for the duration and six months thereafter.

Left Lead

Classes started off with a gallop for the new girls taking riding this quarter, and we saw from the window that Margie Wills and Dot Owen were the first brave beginners to venture 'round the ring. It was a bumpy ride, no doubt, but 'twas surprising to note the obvious improvement in just one short hour.

It's unusual enough to have the riding ring so close to school, but we still get even more of a slight start whenever we see Joyce and Harry out in the middle instead of Miss Fox and Skyrocket. Joyce is doing fine from all appearances, and even has two new, new students in two little townboys who come on Saturday afternoons.

Just so the new riders wouldn't feel quite so bad, one of the oldtimers, Nancy Ingle, let Lindy toss her off not only once, but twice one hour. And did anyone see, or her, Droste last week? Dunno why she hasn't been out any more. Sumpter Priddy was around last week, too, but apparently couldn't be talked into Joyce's blue jeans. At any rate, he cheered from the side-lines.

Though it's doubtful whether Clare-Port will be back at all, and definite that so far Toni is still in South Hill, most of the old riders will be overjoyed to hear that the gallant little Princess will be back at the stables before so very long. And Susannah, the funny ol' mule, has been traded off for a new black named Nellie. Incidentally, there was a close call for Midnight just yesterday afternoon. The same man who swapped Susannah is now the owner of Skyrocket (how'd that happen?) and he brought him around to the stables in hopes of a trade there. Mr. Nolen offered him Dot, but Dot wouldn't do. So he brought out Midnight. At least one heart stopped beating while the bickering went on, but breathed easily again when the Rocket went back in the truck, and Midnight returned to his stall.

The teachers whose windows overlook the library yard may be a bit perturbed at the inattentiveness every now and then, but the novelty will wear off soon enough.

Other quotable quotes have been, "How can ya ride the bit?!"; "Did you say Pegasus was a horse?"; "Is Harry the boy Joyce goes with?"; "Was 'Miss Fox' a horse up here last year?"; "I'd like to be the one to crown King Cole"; and, "Aw, come on horse, please whoa!" We could add more, but they would only lead to libel!

All is forgiven between us and Beauty. There hasn't been a cuter sight in a long while than the little guy pulling a load of hay about twice his size. Maybe it was because he was seen from such a distance, but anyhow, he was doing a fine job.

We tried to have meals for the new riders served on the Home Office mantle, but the four-leaf clovers Mr. Nolen passed around must've worn themselves out. Anybody who wants to bring a pillow to the dining hall has our permission . . . and deepest understanding.

Stay on the bit.

Pegasus

Dugger Announces Tennis Tournament

Ruth Rugger, manager of tennis, has announced the opening for entries in the fall tennis tournament. The tournament will begin next week and the courts are available now for practice.

Five freshmen who have signed to enter are Alma Crawley, Boots Brailie, Kay Goldsborough, Rebecca Tomlinson, and Bettie Parrish. Sophomorees include Frances Lee, Phyliss Watts, and Jane Philhower. As yet, no juniors have entered. Seniors are Ruth Dugger and Mildred Droste.

Anyone wishing to play in the tournament may do so by signing on the list on the A. A. bulletin board not later than October 15, when a schedule of games will be made.

Sportspourri

By BETTY ELLIS

Hockey Habits

Hello, Sports Fans, we are greeting you from the press box of good ole S. T. C. stadium. Just a brief outlook on this year's sport calendar. First on our list is hockey. With eight practices to your benefit, any one of you is eligible to try for your class team. Come on frosh, here's your chance to help beat the sophs and remove those rat caps at the Thanksgiving rally. It is never too early to start those practices, so come on out to the field and give with some athletic energy any afternoon of the school week. Of course it is needless to remind the upperclassmen that the color cup depends on a hockey team, Green and White, or Red and White.

Tennis Talk

Tennis is a sport we all enjoy, and on these cool, autumn days, a brisk game definitely peps one up. The courts are in good condition now, but we want to keep them that way. None of these saddles shoes, loafers, or what have you, but good old tennis shoes with that hard-to-get rubber soles, are essential to keep the courts in the peak of health. Challenge your room mate, next-door neighbor, or post office box mate to a game. You will both enjoy it, and feel one hundred per cent better. Even try a set of doubles, just for the competition. We'd like to have you stand in line waiting to use the courts.

Smooth Swimming

How many of you were in the swimming pool this past Saturday night? Those who were there had the time of their lives, and aren't you sorry you missed it? All right, so you can't swim, but it is really lots of fun just to sit on the edge of the pool and dabble your toes in the water. You might acquire an aquatic taste after all, and under the watchful eye of the lifeguard, you will be swimming like a fish in a very short time. Perhaps some of you haven't seen our pool. Take a short walk down there, any afternoon before 5:30, and you will find it an inviting looking swimmin' hole. Let's see you at the next play night.

Minor Matters

For minor sports, we give you archery, golf, and ping pong. The ping of an arrow as it hits the target or even the bullseye, that "fore" called out in warning, the plunk, plunk of a ping pong ball as it bounces across the net are sounds we like to hear. Every girl in school is a member of the Athletic Association. We want you to feel at home in sports, and participating in them is just another mark of "doing things" this year of '43. We don't have to be muscle women, but the physical side is just as important as the mental side in clear thinking and action. This is just a memo for your dairy. We leave you now. So long, good sports, and athletic fans, keep in the game.

ATHLETIC ASSOCIATION SCHEDULE—FALL 1943

Time	Monday	Tuesday	Wednesday	Thursday	Friday	Saturday
2:50	Beginners Swimming Instruction	Tennis Archery Hockey* Beginners Swimming Inst.	Beginners Swimming Instruction	Tennis Archery Hockey* Beginners Swimming Inst.
3:50	Tennis Archery Hockey*	Tennis* Archery Beginners Swimming Instruction	Tennis Archery Hockey	Tennis* Archery Begnners Swimming Instruction
4:00	Recreational Swimming*	Beginners Swimming Instructions	Recreational Swimming*	Beginners Swimming Instructions	Recreational Swimming
5-5:30	Recreational Swimming		Recreational Swimming*		Recreational Swimming*
8 P.M.						Recreational Swimming Play Night (Student Lounge Ping Pong

*Open to Freshmen

YOUR HAIR "SET RIGHT"

For Any Occasion

To look your best, make your hair a real "Crowning Glory". At BALDWIN'S our beauticians offer you the care it needs.

State Teachers College Specials

REG. $15.00
Empress Permanents $7.95
ZETA COLD
Wave Permanents $7.45
OTHER BEAUTTIFUL
Permanents $4.95 up

Use your Charge Accounts

BALDWIN'S BEAUTY SHOP

PHONE 159 BALDWIN'S DEPT. STORE

College Shoppe
TRY OUR DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
AND PLATE LUNCHES

All college girls
Want a string of pearls.
In our selection
They're to perfection
Martin the Jeweler

NEWBERRY'S
5-10-25c STORE
Farmville's Newest and Fintest
We Have Our
NEW FALL ANKLETS
On Display
VISIT OUR COUNTERS

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

THIS IS OUR WAR TOO!

Although, you women are playing a vtial part in the war effor . . . you needn't sacrifice your beauty. Good grooming is more important now than ever before.

BEAUTY SPECIALS
THIS AND NEXT WEEK
REGULAR 10.00
VITA OIL PERMANENTS
$7.45
$7.50
OIL REVITALIZING
PERMANENTS
$5.00
BALDWIN'S
Phone 159

FRESH FLOWERS
—for—
ALL OCCASIONS
Collins Florist

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgiina
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

Southside Drug Store
On the Corner

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

WELCOME
SHANNON'S
Headquarters for S. T. C.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Do You Need Another Pair of Shoes?

WE CAN SUPPLY YOUR NEEDS
—IN—
Dress Shoes
Sport Shoes
Play Shoes

$3.95 TO $6.50

DAVIDSON'S
THE HOUSE OF QUALITY

Material Conservation Puts Jumper Back In Spotlight

Pinafore Inspires Wardrobe Changes

Convertability in clothes hit a new high when it jumped to jumpers. Familiar for years, they take the spotlight this season. They conserve precious material, are easy to make and fit, are comfortable to wear and flattering from size nine to forty-four. A collection again comes in handy to give the jumper the informality of a suit and the flattery of a dress.

When the pinafore took on its winter aspect, we find adopted a great new variety of materials from satin to corduroy. It invaded all phases from evening dresses down to house dresses. For teas or tete-a-tetes, a jumper dress is proper attire. For dancing try a sleek black crepe or satin, with the endless creatability of different styles and colors in blouses. Make it in corduroy for classes with ruffles like a pinafore or a tailored collar like a suit; or in flannel, especially in red or this winter's favorite purple, to add a big color to your clothes collection. Plaids and polka dots, tweeds and flowers have found their place here.

Jumpers may be dressed up or down with simple or frilly blouses. Add your white satin and wear it to church or put on ye olde yellow gingham and hike to Longwood in it. You see, you can't get the jumper down—it goes everywhere.

And in the picture, Betty Bridgforth models her red gabardine, just right for classes or gadding. Dressed up for the occasion (we mean she has on hose and a hat) is Nancy Langhorne in a dark green corduroy complete with a white satin blouse, ready for church or a big week-end date.

So if you are tired of sweaters and skirts and your favorite suit, try a jumper to raise your spirits and your clothes appeal.

Betty Bridgforth and Nancy Langhorne model.

Dean Declares

Continued from Page 1

and energies.

We were charmed by her perfect poise and assurance of her manner, the graciousness with which she put us at our ease.

Of literature she said:

"There is good in each nation's literature. I believe Russia's Tolstoi and Dostoevesky are the greatest of novelists while the English excel in lyric poetry, the French in clever essays. Let me emphasize (and I cannot do so too strongly), that the small nations must be recognized and respected, for they have contributed much to world progress."

"Mrs. Dean, we know you have traveled in Europe a great deal—were you over there when the war started?"

"Why, yes, I was in Norway at the time."

"Did you have any trouble getting back to this country?"

"We had to wait quite a while for a ship, but that is hardly worse than trying to get anywhere by bus over here. This morning coming from Lynchburg the bus broke down and we had to sit by the side of the road. Don't let the Greyhound people know I don't approve of their busses."

"Mrs. Dean, since this is your first trip in the south, could you tell us something else you've noticed besides rattly busses—What do you think of Southern college girls?"

"I really couldn't venture an opinion just yet. You know, we of the Foreign Policy Association have to check and recheck before we publish anything. I have heard that Southern girls are more frivolous, is that true?"

"Well—"

We discovered other little items of interest. Mrs. Dean recommends "Mais Oui", she is fond of the theatre, ballet dancing and just plain dancing. But the time passed swiftly. Soon we had to leave our charming hostess.

If the elevator boy didn't already know it, he should be informed now that Mrs. Deane has something. That something is the perfect poise and assurance, which we hope to acquire at college, which is the mark of a gentlewoman the world over.

Rat Week

Continued from Page 1

purchased at Newberry's.

22. Rat Week begins at 6 o'clock Monday morning and lasts thru Tuesday night. However, all ratting must be discontinued at 6 o'clock p. m. on both days except for special sessions of Rat Courts.

The Sign Off which every rat must know by heart to be repeated at breakneck speed with no errors on request from a sophomore is, I, (name of rat), from (name of home town), am a seditious, sciolistic freshman and seem to sense that the sensationally sagacious sophomores surpass us scholastically and socially, for standard statistics state sophomores stand stable, steadfast, and staunch since stratosphere started. Such singular stamina surely speaks splendid success secured, showing sufficient, even superfluous signs of success. Sophomores should really sever all connection with the silly, shallow freshmen, since they are scrapping in a sciamachy. Praise '46.

Peace be with you rats and remember that next year there will be another freshman class and then your turn will come. Every dog—or should we say every rat?—has his day, even if he must wait twelve months for it!

Your Library

The Reference Room

The large reading room to the left of the main entrance of the College Library is called the Reference and Periodical Room, and contains, logically enough, the library's collection of reference books and a good many of the magazines to which the library subscribes. Reference books are usually not read from cover to cover, but are consulted for certain specific items of information about a wide variety of subjects. They usually have a special arrangement designed to assist in the location of the information wanted, and while individual articles and sections are frequently readable enough, few people derive pleasure from reading reference books in their entirety.

Common reference books known to you all are dictionaries and encyclopedias, atlases and yearbooks, indexes and directories. Your library has a good collection of all of these general reference books, and also a large collection of special reference books devoted to information about fairly small and specific subjects. In addition to the general index to periodicals called the Readers Guide, for example, the library also contains a special Art Index to periodicals in the field of Art, and a special index to the New York Times. And, to give one other example, in addition to general encyclopedias like Encyclopedia Britannica, which covers the whole field of knowledge, the library has an Encyclopedia of Education and an Encyclopedia of Social Sciences. Many others on many other special subjects are also available in your library for your use and information.

As you enter the Reference Room, the shelves immediately to your left are devoted to a file of about 150 periodicals, arranged in alphabetical order by their titles. This collection, which extends about one third of the way around the room, is made up of a complete file of those 150 magazines from 1939 to date, including the current issues which have not yet been bound. The closely-spaced shelves in the corner immediately to the left of the entrance are filled with the current issues of about a hundred other magazines, also arranged alphabetically by title.

The collection of reference books begins where the file of magazines ends, and extends all around the remainder of the room. It is arranged in the same manner as the library stocks and the Reserve Book collection, according to the Dewey Decimal Classification system. The Encyclopedia Britannica, for example, is classified and marked with the number 030, the Encyclopedia of the Social Sciences with the number 300, and the Dictionary of American History with the number 973.

Since a substantial amount of the information found in reference books and magazines is available nowhere else, it is necessary that all of these books remain in the Library at all times so that any student can always be assured of finding the information she needs. The library staff is always ready and willing to assist you in the use of reference books in your library and has recently placed on display a number of posters designed to help you learn to use the more important reference books yourself. Finding information is sort of a game; careful study of these posters will help you learn some of the rules of the game and will help make the game a fascinating one.

New book of the week: Between Tears and Laughter, by Lin Yutang.

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

"Fall has fell!" and as autumn arrived it brought with it not only cooler weather, brightly colored leaves and warmer clothes, but the college girls' delight—football games and their accompanying dances. The V. M. I.-Clemson game in Roanoke and the Richmond-U. of Va. game at Charlottesville were the magnets which lured most S. T. C.'ers away this week-end.

To Homecomings at Virginia went Margie Hewlett, Sara Wayne France, Eleanor Wade, Helen Wilson, Beverly Peebles, Nellie Smith, Betty Jean Nixon, Jane Ruffin, Joan Davis, Anne Kingdon, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Evelyn Grizzard, Margaret Harvie, Mary Stuart Buford, and Jean Elmore.

In Roanoke to see V. M. I. play Clemson were, Elizabeth West, Katherine Winders, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Margaret McIntyre, Fay Nimmo, Ruth Dugger, Cary Beard, Barbara Surface, Theresa Tucker, Ann Gregory, Nancy Lee Weeks, and Jo Eades.

Richmond, as usual, was the week-end stamping ground of many S. T. C. girls, among whom were Kitty Rennecker, Mae Derieux, Frances Cleaton, Martha L. White, Patricia McLear, Virginia Frye Terrell, Esther Shevick, Lillian Goddin, Natalie Carroll, Mabel Dudley, Mary Watkins, Virginia Woodward, Beatrice Jones, Nancy Adams, aJne Rowe, Vivian Edmunds, Joscelyn Gillum, and Jean Smith.

Down Danville way were Betsy Fox, Jane McFall, Anne Masloff, and Earlye Palmer, while further north to Front Royal went Lucy Messick, Julia Messick, and Ruth Wooten.

Norfolk became the temporary address of Ann Jones, Jane Philhower, Katherine Parker and Betty Wright, and Jeanne Richardson, Helen Ann Reese, Betty Harville and Betty Minetree were to be found in the good town of Petersburg.

Weddings were also in evidence this week-end as Ann Clark attended one in Dinwiddie, while Lucille Winston went to see her brother married in Richmond.

Bugg Assumes Duty As ASA President

Mary St. Clair Bugg, Farmville, was elected president of Alpha Sigma Alpha to replace Myrtle Lee Hoit, who did not return to school this year. Mary St. Clair was elected vice-president last spring.

Lillian Elliott, Farmville, is the new vice-president replacing Mary St. Clair, Patricia Garth, registrar, and Ruth Brooks, chaplain, were elected to replace Lois Baughman, who was married last summer.

Y. W. Retreat

Continued from Page 1

Sampson, Vickie Edmunds, Pat Garth, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, and Elizabeth Ann Jordon.

Advisors of the group are Misses Winner Hiner, Grace Moran, Mrs. Adele Watkins, Dr. F. F. Swertfeger, and Dr. G. W. Jeffers.

Newman's Bowling Alley

For Exercise Bowl at Newman's Bowling Alley Downstairs in 'Shannon's

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

QUALITY WRITING PAPER

Deckle Border, colored pkg. .. 10c
Barclay Package Paper and envelopes to match 10c
Official U. S. V . . .—Mail 20 count 10c 50 count 25c
Parker Quink for V-Mail 15c

ROSE'S 5-10-25c Stores

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

School Shoes For College Girls

LOAFERS 3.95
OXFORDS 4.95
Rubber Sole Oxfords 5.95

BALDWIN'S

Patronize

PATTERSONS

The Complete Drug Store

MONTAGUE STATIONERY WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-

WORTH CANDIES UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE

PRESCRIPTIONS A SPECIALTY

Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Have a Coca-Cola = Welcome, Short-Snorter

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

. . . from family fireside to far-flung fronts

When short-snorters (trans-ocean flyers) meet and compare their autographed dollar bills, the invitation Have a "Coke" is fairly sure to follow. At home and abroad Coca-Cola has become a symbol of those who see things in a friendly light.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY FARMVILLE BOTTLING WORKS

Coca-Cola TRADE MARK

-the global high-sign

© 1943 The C-C Co.

TURN IN YOUR RATION BOOK AT ONCE

The Rotunda

PLAN TO HEAR MR. JONES TOMORROW

VOLUME XXIII | THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1943 | NUMBER 4

Organizations Choose New Members This Week

Calvert, Jordan Knapton Join Choir

Mary William Calvert, junior from Lynchburg; Elizabeth Anne Jordan, senior from Waynesboro; and Jane Knapton, junior from Covington, were admitted to the College Choir out of a possible twenty-seven who were on probation, according to an announcement made by Alfred Strick, head of the Music Department.

Mary William Calvert is on the Colonnade staff and holds a master's degree in Alpha Phi Sigma. Elizabeth Anne Jordan holds membership in Boerc Eh Thorn, Kappa Delta Pi, is an ex-officio member of the Y. W. C. A. and an honorary member of Orchesis. Jane Knapton is on the literary staff of the Colonnade, on the Virginian staff and holds membership in Gamma Psi.

December 4 Selected For Senior Dance, President Reveals

December 4th has been selected by the senior class for the annual class dance, Faye Nimmo, president, announced this week. Following tradition, the seniors will wear white, and Agnes Patterson, honorary member of the class, will lead the figure.

Sara Jeffreys is chairman of the dance with Betty Bridgeforth as assistant. Committees which have been appointed are publicity, Gloria Pollard, chairman, and Frances Strohecker; decorations, Sarah Trigg, chairman, Jean Arrington, and Elizabeth Tennent; tickets, Dottie Sue Simmons, chairman, Louise Andrews, and Jerry Titmus.

Also, orchestra, Shirley Pierce, chairman and Nancy Langhorne; floor committee, Sara Wayne France, chairman, Vivian Gwaltney, Ruth Dugger, Augusta Himes, and Joscelyn Gilliam; programs, Mildred Droste, chairman, Betty Van Arsdale, and Jane Ford; and figure, Betty Bridgeforth, chairman.

Rucker Chosen Head Of Canterbury Club

Mary Walton Rucker, junior from Lynchburg, was elected president of the Canterbury Club, Episcopal Young Peoples' organization, at the regular meeting last Sunday night. Mary will succeed Betty Deuel Cock, diocesian young peoples' president. Mary Lou Bondley, junior from Covington, was selected vice-president to succeed Jane Waring Ruffin; Mary Sterertt, Raphine, will take over the secretaryship, replacing Mary St.C Bugg, and Marie Green, Farmville, will succeed Jeanne Strick as treasurer of the group.

Chairman of the three standing committees as announced by president-elect Mary Rucker are Betty Cock, program chairman; Jane Waring Ruffin, worship chairman, and Jeanne Strick, service chairman.

Mr. Alfred Wingo, the education department and curriculum adviser for his district, will address the group next Sunday night on the topic, "The Relationship of Christianity and Democracy."

Sanford To Speak To Rotunda Staff

Jane Cabell Sanford, editor-in-chief of last year's Rotunda, will talk to the newspaper staff at the regular meeting immediately after dinner tonight.

All try-outs, and all who wish to try out beginning this week, are urged to be present.

Beorc Eh Thorn Asks Fifteen Students

Fifteen students have been issued bids to Beore Eh Thorn this week. They are Mildred Altice, Aloise Boswell, Eileen Bowles, Freddie Ann Butt, Mary E. Crank, Shirley Cruser, Lelia Holloway, Nell Holloway, Mary Moore McCorkle, Ann Martin, Patricia Murray, Virginia Radogna, Betty Watts, Faith Weeks, and Mildred Willson.

Eligible to membership in Beorc Eh Thorn are majors and minors in English and students who have had 18 hours in English with a B or above average.

Mr. Robert Frost, well known American poet of the north who visited on the campus three years ago, will be here again on Februarl 2 to lecture as the guest of Beore Eh Thorn.

Choral Club Elects Harrell President For Coming Year

Louise Harrell was elected president of the Choral Club at the regular meeting held last Thursday night. Other officers elected were Lucie McKenry, secretary; Anne Carter, treasurer; and Neli Scott and Martha Watkins, librarians.

The objectives of the Choral Club for the fall quarter are to present a program in the M. E. Church and to sponsor the annual Christmas program which is to be given on Sunday evening, December 19, at which time the different organizations of the Music Department will take part. A soloist will be presented as an added feature.

Circus Chairmen

Freshman Receives Alumnae Scholarship

Glennis Moore, the valedictorian out of a class of fifty-five from Thomas Dale High School, Richmond, was the recipient of the one hundred dollar award made by the Richmond Alumnae Chapter.

The sister of Susie Moore, the second honor graduate of the class of 1942, Glenn was selected on the basis of scholarship, citizenship, and interest in the teaching profession. This was the first scholarship gift ever to be given as an award for outstanding work.

Mrs. Thomas J. Storke (Maria Bristow, 1914) who is president of the Richmond chapter stated that they wanted someone to represent the spirit of Richmond alumnae in the college. The main objective of the Alumnae Association is to promote better education in Virginia.

Cock, Bell, Adams, Nichols to Debate Tonight at H-S.

Repeat Performance Requested by C. O.

With Betty Deuel Cock and Marilyn Bell on the affirmative and Alice Nichols and Betty Adams supporting the negative side of the question, "Resolved, that an underground tunnel should be constructed to Camp Pickett instead of Hampden-Sydney", the Debate Club will give a repeat performance of last week's chapel program for the boys in the Navy V-12 Unit at Hampden-Sydney College tonight at 7 o'clock.

The affirmative team will represent the army and give that side of the question while the negative team will uphold the views of the Navy. Each member of the teams will be dressed according and the debate will be punctuated with cheers.

Commanding Officer Lieut. Geo. Howe asked the girls to give a repeat performance for the Unit after reading of the debate in last week's Rotunda. He selected this time to relieve the boys who are in the midst of exams.

Accompanying the Debate team to Hampden-Sydney will be Cabell Overby, freshman, who will play the piano for the Unit.

Graduation exercises for the senior class will be held at Hampden-Sydney Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. Colgate Darden, Governor of Virginia, will address the 17 graduates, nine of whom are members of the V-12 Unit. Following the graduation exercises there will be a Navy Review on the college campus at 2 o'clock in the afternoon.

The graduation dance at Hampden-Sydney is scheduled for Friday night, October 22, at which time the Navy orchestra will provide music. Plans are under way for a figure composed of the graduates and their dates.

'Y" Retreat Begins Saturday Afternoon

Saturday afternoon will mark the beginning of the annual "Y" Retreat at Longwood, Frances Lee Hawthorne, "Y" president revealed recently.

Mary Ann Jarrett will open the program by leading devotionals, and the discussion of the theme for the year "Christian Faith Today and Tomorrow will be led by Louise Bell, program chairman. Following this afternoon session will be supper and recreation.

The evening theme will be introduced by Agnes Stokes through the evening worship program. Miss Frances Copenhaver will itad the discussion at this time using the topic "Toward a Dynamic Christian Faith."

Morning watch on Sunday morning will be the final service of Retreat.

Charles M. Jones Appears Here To Discuss "Christian Faith"

Connelly Reports Final AKG Plans For Annual Circus

Plans for the annual college circus, sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma, honorary leadership society, were disclosed on Monday by Patsy Connelly, head chairman of committees. The circus, to be presented in the gym on Saturday, October 30, will have the characteristics of a regular circus with its parade, queen, clowns, horses, stunts, and a fortune teller.

The stunts, to be presented by the classes in competition with each other, will be scheduled to practice on four nights this week at 10 o'clock. Practices are thus limited so as not to devote too much time to this feature of the circus and will be scheduled at such times as will not interfere with other activities. Practices will be held for freshmen in the main rec; for the sophomores in the little auditorium; for the juniors in the junior parlor; and for the seniors in the senior rec.

Floats representing each class will be included in the parade, preceeding the circus on Saturday afternoon. Space in the "gym" will be reserved for booths sponsored by the classes and various student organizations. Another part of the gym will be reserved for dancing.

The circus queen has been elected from the senior class, and members of her court were elected from the other classes. Their identity will not be revealed until the night of the circus.

The admission fee is in war stamps—10c for those participating in the circus and 25c for all others. Stamps will be sold in the hall from Wednesday through Saturday of next week.

39 Granddaughters Initiated Members

Thirty-nine girls were initiated as members of the Granddaughter's Club in an impressive candle light ceremony last Wednesday, October 30. The secretary gave the origin and purpose of the Club, after which Miss Rachel Royal, the adviser, told the privileges and obligations. After the vice-president had proposed that the girls be taken in, they repeated the pledge and became members.

Those initiated were Grace Anderson, Virginia Anderson, Helen Apperson, Jo Bailey, Lucille Bell, Dorothy Bennett, Elizabeth Lee Carter, Page Coule, Patsy Dale, Jean Daniel, Eugenia Dickinson, Eula Belle Daggett, Martha East, Florence Godwin, Anna Healley, Carolyn Hammond, and Katherine Kearsley.

Also, Barbara Keilam, Robin Lear, Betty Lewis, Marion Latt, Billie Martin, Elizabeth Meeks, Bernice Nichols, Rebecca Norfleet, Jane Helen Page, Betty Ann Palmer, Virginia Pullen, Louise Reeves, Patsy Saunders, Grace

Continued on Page 4

Thurston Secured For Fall Cotillion

Hal Thurston and his orchestra from Roanoke have been secured for the annual fall Cotillion Club dance to be held Saturday night, November 6, in the college gymnasium, acording to an announcement made by Shirley Pierce, chairman of the music committee, last night.

Thurston and his orchestra are well known to Farmville students since he has played here several times in the past.

REV. CHARLES M. JONES

Thespians Select The Ivory Door For Opening Play

"The Ivory Door", a three act costume play by A. A. Milne, will be given by the Dramatic Club as the fall production on Friday night, November 19, Lucy Manson, president of the club, revealed to the press this week.

The play is being presented by an all girl cast though some of the parts are men's parts. The drama is a legendary play, set in the "once upon a time". The complete cast of the play will be announced at an early date.

Directing the play will be Miss Leola Wheeler, professor of speech and director of the Dramatic Club, assisted by the various departments of the club. Mary St. Clair Bugg will be in charge of lighting, Carol Diggs will direct the staging, Lucille Lewis will do the make-up, Frances Shackleford will costume the play, and properties will be under the direction of Sally Robertson.

Two plays are presented by the Dramatic Club each year, one in the fall and the second as one of the Lyceums in the spring.

Plays presented in the past have included "Dear Brutus", "The Little Minister", "Death Takes a Holiday", "The Male Animal", and "Prunella".

Closing Lecture Set for Tomorrow

Rev. Charles M. Jones, Presbyterian minister from Chapel Hill, N. C., will continue his talks begun today in chapel exercises tomorrow. He is on this campus today and tomorrow to introduce to the students the Y. W. C. A. theme of the year, "Christian Faith Today and Tomorrow", and his special emphasis is on Christian personality, this month's topic.

Mr. Jones began his talks in chapel this morning with an inspiring message to the student body, and during the afternoon he was the guest speaker at an informal open association meeting for discussion.

The first Y. W. C. A. speaker for this session, Mr. Jones will lay the ground work for Y activities during the year. He is scheduled also to speak in prayers while he is on the campus in addition to chapel and the association meeting this afternoon.

For a number of years Mr. Jones has worked with young people in various colleges and camps, having served on the staff of Camp Illaghee for the past five years. Too, he was a seminar leader at the Y. W. C. A. and Y. M. C. A. Conference at Berea College, Berea, Ky., this summer. His special theme for this summer was racial problems and he is well qualified to open the Y program of the year.

Definite plans for further speakers during the year have not yet been completed. However, there

Continued on Page 3

Honor Society Bids Underclass Members

Alpha Phi Sigma, national honorary scholastic fraternity for underclassmen, will hold its first meeting of the year in the Honor's Room tonight at 7 o'clock, Carolyn Bobbitt, president, announced this week.

New members, who attained the "B" average for two successive quarters last year and accepted Alpha Phi Sigma's invitation in the spring, will be initiated into the organization at this meeting. Freshmen who were valedictorians and salutatorians in high school will be taken in at a later date.

Americans Tense, Says Veen, But He Is Proud To Be One

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

"No, no—I do not like ze Boston baked beans for ze breakfast. My wife, she will not have to learn to cook them."

Artists really are temeramental people. The three who performed in Lyceum Monday night are no exception. Jan Veen just can't abide Boston Baked Beans, that all-American dish. But he is very fond of baseball. In fact, according to his partner, Miss Ericka Thimey, he is fond of a great many things.

Let's talk about Miss Thimey for a while, though. She talked to us from the stage of the auditorium while one S. T. C. girl was perched precariously on a ladder and another was doing something to lights in the corner. So from time to time she darted off to instruct them, then came back to us.

"Yes, I am of the Germans originally. Where have we danced? Oh, all over Europe, particularly Jan. He has danced in every European country except Portugal and in the Far East, India, Malay Islands—oh, just everywhere."

"Yes, Jan has his school in Boston, Boston Conservatory. I have a studio in Washington and I teach too in Marjorie Webster Junior College."

"The dances, we compose them ourselves. Together we work them out. Jan designs the costumes. He has a flair for it. He has a flair for a great many things."

Then she is off again and we talked to pianist, Ruth Culbertson. We find that she is a recognized pianist in her own right having graduated with honors from the New England Conservatory and having played several times with the Boston Symphony Orchestra.

"If you want to know music, to see it clearly in the light of today, try composing. Just a little every day no matter how badly. It will make realization of our period of music clearer."

Then Miss Thimey is back. "Where do we get ideas for composition? Why everywhere, but

Continued on Page 4

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Betty Cock, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Bobbie Scott, Betty Woodward, Phyllis Watts, Katherine Hutchinson.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 20, 1943

Faculty, Administration: We Enlist Your Aid

From the office of complaints comes a long list of what's wrong with our school. Some of these complaints should be referred to the administration, some to the faculty, some to the student administration, should be referred to the administration, but most of them directly concern our own behavior. This week we will dicuss the former, and next week, the latter.

First, to the administration, goes the oft discussed question of some means of disposal of cigarettes for visitors in the Rotunda. There have been suggestions made in Student Body meetings, but as yet the folded arms of our patron saint, Joan of Arc, remain the combination ash tray and trash can in the Rotunda.

Then to the faculty we refer the complaint that in many instances the teachers are not grading their own papers but are leaving this responsibility to students. In the case of objective tests, this may work, but it does not seem fair to leave to the judgment of a fellow classmate the decision of passing or failure on an all-important essay test. Secondly, we refer to the faculty the habit of seating classes alphabetically. This is rather hard on those students whose surnames are in the latter part of the alphabet. Perhaps they, too, are interested and would like sometimes in some classes to sit on the "amen row."

To the student administration, we pass on the complaints about the telephone in Cunningham. It has been suggested that the equivalent of the Home Office mantle be put near telephone 529 in the form of a bulletin board to be used to record calls that can not be immediately delivered and to leave important messages for those living in the dormitory. It is the responsibility of the student administration, too, to provide for fire drills, and for air raid drills other than those given by the state. There has not been a fire drill in this school for three years and such a situation is really a disgrace. We don't relish the thought of having to climb down the narrow fire escapes, but we would like to know how it is done, and where such exits are.

Your Library

The "Fine" System

Whether you pay them cheerfully or pay them grudgingly, library fines are a necessary evil which even the most conscientious student cannot always avoid. Even your library staff considers them an evil, for much otherwise unnecessary work is involved in levying and collecting many small amounts, but it, too, can find no way of avoiding them. For the fines serve the very necessary and useful function of bringing the books back into the Library where other students are able to get them. The mere fact that a fine system exists causes students to bring their books back more promptly, and makes the books more quickly available to other students.

The fine routine begins the morning after the book becomes due at which time your library staff prepares a written notice which is delivered to the student at lunch-time. If the book is returned that day, only the one day fine of two cents need be paid. If it is kept longer, the fine mounts at the rate of two cents a day for each book until the book is returned. If a book is lost, this fact should be reported to the library staff immediately, so that the fine may be stopped, and arrangements may be made to pay for the book.

Reserve Books which are withdrawn for overnight use are subject to a much higher fine, for it is necessary that these books be in the library during all the library's open hours for the preparation of class assignments. This fine is assessed at the rate of ten cents for the first hour, and five cents for each additional hour, or fifty cents per day.

Your library staff will be able to give you much better servcie if you will pay your fines when you return your overdue books, for it is then unnecessary to make any record of the transaction, and the staff's attention to your needs will be that much faster. The library staff would much rather you returned your books on time, for it is then unncessary to write you a notice that a book is overdue. But when you do forget, pay the fine promptly and cheerfully, and with the realization that the money will be used to buy more new books for the library.

New Book of the Week: "Under Cover" by John Roy Carlson.

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

The cabinet is leaving Saturday afternoon for an overnight retreat at Longwood. The advisers and the ministers of the town will meet with them to discuss in detail the plans of the year.

Have you looked at the books on the "Y" shelf in the Browsing room? The books are for you; just sign a card and take one with you.

Our speaker, Mr. Jones, is from Chapel Hill. He has already spoken to us in Chapel and at the association meeting today. He will speak in Chapel again tomorrow.

Several Episcopal girls keep the small children for the Mothers during Church each Sunday morning. Anyone who would like to help some Sunday let Mrs. May know.

Prayers this week will consist of several brief stories and talks. Wednesday — "Thou didst reach forth Thine hand and mine enfold:

I walked and sat not on the storm-vexed sea;
'Twas not so much that I on Thee took hold
As Thou, dear Lord, on me."

Thursday—"Except a cord of wheat fall into the ground and die, it abideth alone: But if it die, it bringeth forth much fruit. John 12:24.

Friday—"Lord, to whom shall we go?" John 6:8.

Saturday—"And thou shalt call his name Jesus: For he shall save his people from their sins."

Sunday—"And they shall call his name Immanuel; Which is being interpreted, God with us.'" Matt. 1:23.

Monday—"I wasn't disobedient unto the heavenly vision."

Tuesday—"As my Father hath sent me, even so send I you."

Spirit of the Thing

Another rat week is over, and with a few inevitable exceptions, both the freshmen and the sophomores are to be congratulated for a good spirit of sportsmanship.

Rat Week, observed in such a spirit, gives both classes an excellent opportunity for getting acquainted, for discovering hidden talents, for pulling together as a class, and for losing forever whatever shreds of dignity and shyness that may have been barring friendship.

The time for ratting is down to a more reasonable length now. Previously, it has gone for too long, but the two day duration this year is neither too long nor too short.

While some freshmen consider rat week a personal affront, and some sophomores take this time as a period in which to loose all spiteful parts of their nature and all personal grudges, most girls know it is the constructively playful spirit in which it is yearly planned.

Gleanings

By Miss Grace B. Moran

(Editor's Note—Two weeks ago Miss Moran wrote about the theaters of war in Europe. This week she kindly consented to discuss the remaining war theaters.)

In our eagerness to complete our "plays" to Berlin, which since the last writing are progressing favorably as indicated by Portugal's renewal of her six hundred year alliance with Britain, thus allowing the Allies use of the Azores for naval and air bases; by the continued success of the Russians along the Dneiper; and by victories in the Mediterranean, we must not overlook our "jumps" to Tokyo. This is by no means the lesser port of our game. It has has been the more neglected part. General MacArthur, with a burning desire to relieve his imprisoned companions of Bataan and Corregidor, has, with limited supplies, skillfully planned his campaign to drive the Japanese from the Solomons and New Guinea areas, in a climate that reeks with humidity, and through jungle and fever infested land. From bases in these areas he is ready to close in on the more important Japanese held island—New Britain. One has only to reread the news headline of Thursday, October 14 to know how well his campaign is progressing: "Japanese Lose 119 Ships and 177 Planes at Rabaul." When Rabaul is wrested from the foe, our forces are only 800 miles from the more mighty Japanese bastion to the north—Truck.

From land bases in the central and South Pacific and, probably from carriers, our bombers and planes are striking at Wake, Marcus, and the Gilbert Islands in an effort to cripple further Japanese air and naval strength, while from the Aleutians in the north from which we have driven the Japanese, bombers are striking at the northern Kurile base at Paramushira. From the north, the south, and the east Japan is feeling the ever growing might of Allied power.

In the India-China Realm

From Allied Indian bases in the province of Assam in northeast India, we are softening up Japanese held bases in Burma. Supplies being massed at Columbo and Tricomalee (not as rapidly as we had hoped, for the European fronts still hold predominance). British naval and air bases on the Andamin Islands to the southeast of Burma and thus effect a pincer movement around Rangoon, the front door of the Burma Road? The monsoon rains subside this month, the ground dries, and more extensive operations can be made. Mountbatten has a real challenge in this theater, and now that the Mediterranean is open to Allied shipping, he can look for more supplies through this shorter route. Will he be able to make the first "jump" with his men, or will the Japanese succeed in closing the back door of the Burma Road in the Chinese province of Yunan?

The game is slow in the Pacific area and the long suffering Chinese need so much relief. When and where will the next Allied "jump" be? How long before the goal of Tokyo will be reached?

One Who Knows, Says

Facts About Campus . . .

Last week end might have been termed "Old Home Week" if the slews of familiar faces of ex-S. T. C.'ers was any indication. It was good indeed to welcome back the onslaught of married, single or engaged young ladies, among whom were Betty Reid, Mary Wilson Carper, Ella Marsh Pilkinton, Beryl Roberts, Elsie Stossel, Pagie Francis and fiance, Mrs. Ruth Parker Brooks, Mrs. "Sugar" Baker Ellett and others . . . We glimpsed Jeanette Garrison and "Ding Dong" who we are told are on the verge of a merger. The bells will toll sometime next week.

The "Don't Quote Me But" Dept.

Watch for an explosion soon in the direction of V. P. I. when a certain young man whose initials are Jac Webb finds out why Op. 15 couldn't locate a certain Miss Nimmo Sunday nite . . . Could it be that you haven't heard how devoted Bisese is to a certain group on campus? For further details ask her and watch her squirm! . . . For information on how to get phone calls from home, we suggest the Mary Kent Stevens method—guaranteed not to fail unless your parents just don't give a happy hoorah whether you elope with a total stranger or not! . . . We saw "Mangey" Fox and the Davis child the other day—that makes a certain sophomore—what?

Dirty Digs . . .

There are those who take great delight in observing the different methods by which the Seniors bid their dates goodnight. Much can be gained from observation, 'tis true, but we say "it ain't cricket" so lay off, willya? . . . Well for goodness sake, those Frosh do beat all with their brazen attitude toward the Sophs. We'd be careful if we were you, dear children. It ain't healthy . . . In case some people hadn't noticed, the handbook has no cause concerning dating at White Way. Be more careful or the G. G.'s will get you if you don't watch out!

Short Story of the Week . . .

He was a boy in uniform—she hadn't heard from him in over 4 months—two long months of waiting, wondering, and finally after hearing that he had been killed, and resining herself to that fact, too . . . Then the other day his letter came. Now once again she can live in the happiness of knowing that he lives and her happiness is shared by all of us.

This is your correspondent saying hasta la vista 'till the next time and urging you to buy War Stamps NOW.

A certain lil' freshman doesn't live up to her name "Scare Crow" when it comes to men. She had one Saturday night in the Rec. and again Sunday at Longwood, didn't you, Charlie Brace?

The curtain fell on the last act, or nearly, anyway, of Grace Lloyd

Continued on Page 4

Farmville Autumn

By SARA MOLING

All right, we admit we say yea, brother, to any suggestions of hot chocolate, a stack of magazines, and the firm foundation of somebody's three-cornered pillow. But just the same we think fall is too good to waste on bridge and confabs! It's so good everyone automatically breathes, "Umm, isn't this a gorgeous day!" Automatically—without pausing to consider why.

So that's where we come in. Fall at Farmville is an unforgettable combination of brilliant skies, yellow leaves, and a mellow, enveloping haziness. It is brisk spirits to hilltops for a panorama of blazing trees. It's proping on our elbows to bookworm in the little park on Grove street. It's all the wild dashing, scraped shins and excess energy commonly called hockey. It is strolls out the Lynchburg Highway to a would-be swamp for the latest thing in lab specimens. It's apples and sweaters and the wind in our hair.

Our present love is the symmetrical perfection of the maple across the street. And we like to glance at individuals draped on benches knitting in the sun, or equitation enthusiasts cantering back of the library. This is the type of weather that inspires us to skip along the tops of brick walls like eight-year-olds and to meander about in the woods. We are happy because circus is coming up next week-end. Oh, and what we especially dote on is wading through crackly leaves piled 'way up to here.

A Frosh Expresses Her Opinion

By SUE HUNDLEY

Rat Week could easily be summed up into these few words: Forty-eight hours of nervous prostration and biting of fingernails.

To begin with the rats "got in bad" with the sophomores when they proceeded to make history by forming a line and walking Friday night.

With that black stocking on during the two days, I felt rather like I was being hung by my ears. My lips feel like they're cracking up from a hard winter — still chapped from no make-up. My arm is shriveled from the "46" made out of fingernail polish. Strocking caps had their advantage. When some nice sophomore (they all really were nice) told me to play dead in the gym, it made a wonderful pillow.

I am rather tired from dodging sophomores during my spare time. Of course, all of us had practice in making beds and cleaning rooms. Some even mastered the art of writing mushy love letters.

And rat court! When I walked into the dining room and saw that summons to rat court, there was a feeling which is yet to be described. And later when I walked into that little auditorium, my knees were playing "Home Sweet Home." I shook for fifteen minutes

Continued on Page 4

U. S. Treasury Department

Schedule Given For Fall Sports

Program Stresses Physical Fitness

Numerous activities are offered to all students this quarter in the field of sports. Following the physical fitness program as set up last year each sport is open for participation, and the following schedule is now in effect.

Hockey is scheduled at 3:50 p. m on Monday, and Wedensday, 2:50 p. m. on Tuesday and Thursday. This is a class but it is open to all, including freshmen, who wish to get in hockey practices. The requirement for a class team is eight practices.

Swimming classes have begun for freshmen who must qualify to pass the American Red Cross Beginner's test. Classes are scheduled at 2:50 p. m. on Monday and Wednesday; 2:50 p. m. on Tuesday and Thursday; and 3:50 p. m. on Tuesday and Thursday. These periods are for classes only. Recreational swimming is scheduled each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons from 4 p. m. to 5:30 p. m. Anyone may come in at this time for a dip and also on Saturday from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m. the recreational period will continue as a part of "play night." During the play-night period bridge is open in the Student Building Lounge, badminton in the gym, ping-pong in the little gym as well as swimming in the pool.

Archery classes are filled at present and are not open to the freshmen at this time. At present the class is scheduled at 5:30 p. m. on Monday through Thursday and 2:50 p. m. on Tuesday and Thursday.

Tennis classes meet at 2:50 p. m. on Tuesday and Thursday; 3:50 p. m. on Monday and Wednesday; and 3:50 on Tuesday and Thursday the class is open to freshmen.

FRESH FLOWERS
—for—
ALL OCCASIONS
Collins Florist

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgilna
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

Southside Drug Store
On the Corner

Left Lead

There's a Yankee quotation that says, "If you don't like Virginia weather, just wait a minute", and the last week has been a good example of what the saying means. But changeable as our climate may be, 'twill be hard enough to find even a Yankee who can deny the fact that this past week has been super for riding.

There's quite a list of "news" this week . . . beginning with the new horse. He's a jumper, and what a jumper! ! Christened "Flash O'Lightnin' " and promptly pronounced Flash, he dashes around the ring, a valiant success at living up to his name, and never mind about getting out of his way. He'll merely take a flying leap over you, and you'll be behind him before you even hear his swift approach. Quite an addition to the stables . . . even though Dot moved out to make Flash possible. The trick to all trades is give and take, you know.

Next new is Robert, the new stable hand. Robert's older than Sam of last year and quite at ease with the horses. He'll be more than a help to Mr. Nolen, and when you see him grin at you from your mount's head, you'll know, too, that you have a friend worth having.

New bruises on Eloise showed up after some of Keepaway's antics. Eloise felt a roll coming on, and in trying to jump clear, hung her foot in the stirrup. She'll live, though . . . there are some very understanding teachers in the Farmville High School.

Joyce's newest pupil is wee Tommy Hallisy, whose legs are as yet too short for gripping, and who does his posting mainly by the "balance and spring" system. His zestful interest in the horses and his staunch enthusiasm combine with his eagerness to learn, and already he trots around on Lindy like a veteran. Competition for Sumpter Priddy? Give him time!

A letter left last night telling those in charge of Princess that things on this end are well under control, and she'll be welcome any time she chooses to arrive. But . . . and this is news . . . King Cole is gone for good. He was so l d hardly being well introduced to the new riders. We are sorry to say that not many people will really be sorry the little fella is gone, but King Cole was sorta tradition around the stables and in the club, and we hate to think he won't be around any more. So hats off and so long, to the best of the Wee Beauties . . . and long may he reign . . . but elsewhere!

The wildest riding we've seen yet was in the gym, at some ungodly hour of the morning, during Rat Week. Cantering merrily

Continued on Page 4

Tennis Tourney Begins this Week; 12 Sign for Match

First round in the fall tennis ladder tournament must be played by Saturday, October 23, Ruth Dugger, manager of tennis, has announced. Rules and regulations regarding the tournament have been posted on the A. A. bulletin board for all who have entered.

In the first match to be played, Frances Lee will oppose Alma Crawley; Phyliss Watts against B. Dudley; Ophelia Whittle against Kitty Goldsborough; and Helen Wilson opposite B. Bradley. Also, Margaret Orange against Bettie Parrish; and M. Harvey opposite R. Tomlinson.

Players must play all first matches off this week or if impossible see either Miss Iler or Ruth Dugger. Any excuses not accepted will cause the game to be a default. Each match will consist of two out of three sets; scores to be reported to the manager immediately after the game.

Games will continue and the second round must be played by Wednesday, October 27. The ladder schedule is posted on the A. A. bulletin board.

Jones Speaks

Continued from Page 1

will be special speakers on campus at various times throughout the year, with a detailed program for Religious Emphasis Week later on in the year.

Mr. Jones was introduced in Chapel today by Mary Ann Jerrett, chairman of the Public Affairs Committee of the Y here.

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

WELCOME
SHANNON'S
Headquarters for S. T. C.

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Sportspourri

By BETTY ELLIS

Greetings, Sports Fans! We welcome back to our athletic group Miss Mary Barlow, physical education director, who has been on a short vacation, recuperating from an operation. It is nice having you back with us, Miss Barlow

Let's Dance

Always before we have thought of dance as merely a social recreation, but today, it is another step in physical education. Through dance we learn grace, rhythm, muscle coordination, and the pleasure of seeing ourselves turn from awkward individuals into individuals who can use their body in composing their own original dances. Under the direction of Miss Emily Kauzlarich, the fundamentals class in modern dance has grown into a group of sixty or more.

I just can't dance so many of us say, but have you ever really tried? Of course, at first, your feet refuse to cooperate with the rest of your body, and it seems as though those tired muscles will never be the same again. Don't give up! Why, that is just the beginning, and before long, you will be gliding across the floor, surprised with your own actions. If you can't find room on your schedule for the class, get the assistance of someone who can, and you will learn what fun, dance can really be.

Social dancing is just as important. On some rainy afternoon, when you can't find a thing to do, dig up a vic, and let loose with some twinkling toes. Those of us who prefer the waltz or two step, to the modernized version of jitterbugging, can find as much pleasure in waltzing around the hall, avoiding the trunks and the trash cans for practice in case the next dance we go to is a wee bit crowded. Gather a gang together and head for the "Wreck". A good old-fashioned square dance or a Virginia Reel is something we all enjoy, and the "Wreck" is a good place to practice in. Come on, let's all dance.

Frosh Frolics

Every fall, we find the freshmen going through the paces of learning to "Go through a stick", how to stand on one's elbows, and the tricky somersault. These are just a few fundamentals Miss Olive Iler teaches in her freshmen classes. Field ball is another. Here they learn to run down the field with a ball, and a screaming horde on their heels. There is lots more in store for you, frosh, so work hard Adieu, my friend, utnil another week in athletics.

All college girls
Want a string of pearls.
In our selection
They're to perfection
Martin the Jeweler

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop. Phone 139

Come in and try a Delicious Hamburger with tomato and letttuce 15c
We also Serve
PLATE LUNCHES
College Shoppe

Have a "Coke" = Come in and sit down

. . . from St. John's to Schenectady

Friendly greetings like the Come in and sit down of the Newfoundland fisherman and the Have a "Coke" of the American soldier are understood everywhere. Around the world Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes—the universal high-sign between strangers.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
FARMVILLE BOTTLING WORKS

"Coke" = Coca Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

© 1943 The C-C Co.

HALLOWE'EN MATERIALS!

UNRATIONED SHOES
2.98 to 3.98
ALL PATTERNS
Now 15c
NEW SHIPMENT OF SKIRTS & SWEATERS
2.98 to 7.95
NEW SHIPMENT OF KNITTING WOOL
29c hank
ALL COLORS
THE HUB
CHARGE ACCOUNTS AVAILABLE

PREPARE NOW FOR THE COLD DAYS JUST AHEAD.

We Suggest One of Our All Wool Coats
Genuine Imported Harris Tweed Coats
ALL COLORS AND SIZES
34.50
New Chesterfield Coats
BLACK AND COLORS—ALL SIZES
19.50 TO 44.50
—Second floor—
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Reporter Polls Likes, Dislikes, Fads of Farmville Students Today

By JANE SMITH

With sincerest apologies to Katherine Brush we steal her technique to bring forth here a list of times and tunes and things that appeal and another list of those that bring frowns and disapproval or have done so in this first great month of school.

We adore the "Rats" for being such good sports . . . Mail and kind—specially "specials" and "free" letters . . . Pistol Packing Mama . . . The Constant Nymph . . . Fall days . . . Sleeping on Sunday morning . . . Hershey bars . . . Jan Veen . . . Our new green Rec . . . People who smile . . . "Close to You" . . . Knobby knit sweaters . . . Fridays . . . Red and white—green and white spirit . . . The great tunnel debate, Resolved: It would be better to construct a tunnel to Pickett rather than Hampden-Sydney — or Vice Vera . . . Pin up boys . . . The secrecy about circus stunts . . . The way we say "hay" . . . Shannon's afternoons . . . Men's pajamas . . . Week ends . . . "Smoke gets in your eyes" . . . French fries . . . Patterson's blue blotters . . . duration men's jackets . . . baby sailors from Hampden - Sydney . . . Looeys from Pickett . . . Nabs and cakes . . . potted plants in windows . . . jeeps and telephone calls and lollipops and piggy banks.

We deplore hash . . . even the mention of Betty Bly's white flowers . . . golf course girls . . . people who date in the rec Friday nights in hats . . . snippy freshmen . . . midnight visitors . . . chapel knitters . . . V-Mail . . . peroxide blonds . . . seven o'clock alarms . . . runover moccasins . . . fall colds . . . ration book hangers on . . . cig stubs in the Rotunda . . . two faced people . . . lipstick smeared dates . . . those who make issues of slight remarks . . . people who stare . . . perpetual O. P. smokers . . . campus cutters . . . names carved on Joan of Arc . . . curtainless windows . . . socks with earrings . . . perfume for class wear . . . slipping slips . . . busy sign breakers . . . campus loving . . . chipped nail polish and no socks and overdue library books.

Veen Says

Continued from Page 1

mostly from inside. Something bothers you inside and has to come out."

Jan Veen has just finished instructing our modern class. So we run over waving our notebooks and shouting ,"Rotunda".

First he tell us, "I took two semesters in medical school, that is why I know the body. And you must know the body to know the dance."

"Yes, I came to America in 1928", he said. "I am now an American citizen and very proud to be one.

"Differences in countries? Yes, this country even in peacetime is more tense, more aggressive," the dancer noted. "They are always dashing hither and yon. They have no time for leisure, they are in such frantic search for the dollar."

Jan Veen has had a varied career. Besides his dancing he also has written music, was a champion ice-skater and skier. He had to give up these sports because, he said, "You never know—a tree stump, a hole in the ice—then, crack, and it is not O. K. But I still instruct some of the champion skiers and ice-skaters of today. And when in Boston I devise exercises for the Boston Red Sox, to keep them in condition. But sport is different from art—the art of the dance," he went on to say. "Sport is only the use of the muscle—the gymnastic perfection, while art is the highest attainment of form, of expression."

But the lights were still there to be bothered with. Mr. Veen's last remark in our general direction was, "With the lights it is like this—you would not be expecting a warm bath and like to step into a cold shower. The same way it is with us—we don't like to have expected blue lights and get green. No, it is very nerve wracking."

Left Lead

Continued from Page 3

about amid imaginary tennis games and ice-skaters were spotted several horse-less riders, doing their bes to get the right lead and stay on the bit and keep their heels down, all at the same time, and all without the usual four legs, the bridle 'n 'bit, or saddle and stirrups generally needed for cooperation. Great sport for someone . . . they all enjoyed it.

But back to the weather (and we risk our necks predicting) we kinda think the exercise will find its way back out to the ring this week, and the horses may be a little more material. And it's a good thing to note the improvements in technique, too, 'cause comes the cold snap, the horses perk up and the ground kinda gets harder, and when ya put the two together . . . it's time to learn how to grip! Fall easy.

Pegasus

One Who Knows

Continued from Page 2

Friday night. She was a little too anxious for a coke, for when she leaned out the window too far—the curtain landed on her and she landed in the floor. Then a Soph made her grand entrance and turned on the light. She must have practiced a month to keep that straight face.

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

Excitement reigned supreme this week end, when many ex-Farmvilleites returned to renew acquaintance with old classmates. With "Auld Lang Syne" for theme music, there was much talk of wedding rings and new jobs, while the air was full of ". . . do you remember?"

This college reunion was probably responsible for the large number of girls who stayed in school this week end, although a few did manage to get to Chapel Hill and Randolph-Macon for the dances.

Among those who returned were Ruth Parker Brooks, Sugar Baker Ellett, and Lois Baughman Barron, who are now old married women, as well as, Myrtle Lee Holt, Jean Garland, Beryl Roberts, Mary Wilson Carper, Shirley Richardson, Jane Bargamin, Ella Marsh Pilkinton and Pagie Francis.

To Chapel Hill went Pat Buckler, Betsy Carr, Vidillia Waller, and Helen Worsham, while Minnie Lee Crumpler, Martha Wells and Betty Minetree attended the dances at Randolph-Macon.

Richmond, as usual, drew many, among whom were Kitty East, Bernice Copenhaver, Lib West, Anne Curley, Anne Leatherbury, Janet Davis, Nancy Allmand, Frances Timmins, Virginia Terrell, Martha Lee White, Lucy Harvie, Margie Hewlett, Nancy Blair, Anna Ward Peery, Lily Goddin, Betty Bridgeforth, Patsy Connelly, Jane Ford, Lucille Jones, "Mep." Pearsall, and Margaret Orange.

In Petersburg were: Nannie Sours, Mabbot Perkins. Doris Ramsey, Margaret Ellett and Kitty Parham, while Millie Mease and Carlotta Norfleet attended the graduation of Officer Candidates at Camp Lee.

Bobbie Scott and Betty Agnew spent the week end in Franklin, while Betsy Dillard went to Durham, N. C.

Frosh Expresses

Continued from Page 2

after it was over.

It was really fun, but I'd like to leave these parting words: Don't stay up late the night before rat week. It can't be done—and I know.

NEWBERRY'S
Farmville's Newest and Fintest
5-10-25c STORE
Visit Our Complete
TOILET ARTICLE
DEPARTMENT

Visit Us . . .
For Best
Soda Fountain Service
Chappell Co.

See our New Shipment of CAROL KING'S WINTER WHITE DRESSES
SIZES 9-15
$10.95
DOROTHY MAY

Granddaughters

Continued from Page 1

Shriver, Margaret Simmons, Virginia Stephenson, Gene Tucker, Lucille Upshur, Margaret Walton, Martha Watkins, Mabel Weaver, and Joyce Wilkerson.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Newman's Bowling Alley
For Exercise Bowl at
Newman's Bowling Alley
Downstairs in Shannon's

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

QUALITY WRITING PAPER
Deckle Border, colored pkg. .. 10c
Barclay Package Paper and envelopes to match 10c
Official U. S. V . . .—Mail
20 count 10c 50 count 25c
Parker Quink for V-Mail 15c
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores

Bandages Rolled by Students
October 7 800
October 14 749
October 21 1023

The Rotunda

Admission to Circus:
Students ..... 10c War Stamp
Outsiders ..... 25c War Stamp

VOLUME XXIII | THE ROTUNDA, WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1943 | NUMBER 5

Alpha Kappa Gamma Raises Big Top Saturday

Jones, Whitehead Cast Leads In Milne's "The Ivory Door"

Play Date Set November 19

Dora Walker Jones, junior from Radford, has been selected to play the leading role in the fall play of the Dramatic Club. A. A. Milne's "The Ivory Door", Lucy Manson, president of the club revealed last night. Dodie will play the part of King Perivale in the three act costume legend to be presented on November 19. Nancy Whitehead, freshman from Hampton, as the feminine lead, will portray the Princess Lila, betrothed to the King.

Dodie is a veteran to the S. T. C. stage, having played a leading role in last year's production, "The Male Animal". Nancy worked in plays in high school before coming to S. T. C.

Martha Frances Webb, freshman from Irwin, Tenn., and Christine Shifflet, freshman from Saunton, will take parts of Anna, the maid, and Brand, the King's body servant, respectively. Grace Lloyd, freshman from Lynchburg, has been cast as Bruno, captain of the King's guard, Helen McGuire and Nancy Wilkinson, both juniors, will enact the parts of the two assistant guards, and Nancy Harrell and Edith Dotson have drawn the parts of the two princes.

Others in the cast include Betty Cock, as the Mummer; Marilyn Johnson, Jessica; Marion Orange, Anton; Catherine Lynch, Simeon; Margaret Wilson, Count Rollo; Virginia Terrell, Old Bepo, and Lillian Johnson, Thora.

Practices for the play are already under way and members of the various departments in the Dramatic Club are working on the staging, costuming, lighting, and make-up. The play is being directed by Miss Leola Wheeler, assisted by the heads of the departments of the club.

A three act costume play, "The Ivory Door" is complete with a prologue and an epilogue.

Cock, Strick Elected To Executive Board

Jeanne Strick, senior from Farmville and Betty Deuel Cock, sophomore from Hampton, were elected to the Executive Council of the Young People's Organization of the Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Southern Virginia at the annual diocesean convention in Norfolk last week end.

Betty has been a member of the Council for several years, having served as president of the group for the past year." She is also the retiring president of the local Canterbury Club. Jeanne served as treasurer of the Canterbury Club last year and has recently been appointed to head the Program Committee this year.

Reports of the conference will be given next Sunday night immediately following the installation of new officers in the Canterbury Club.

Freshmen Choose Iler Class Adviser

Miss Olive T. Iler was elected classman for the freshman class at a call meeting of the class on Thursday night. Miss Iler is also adviser to the Athletic Association and was classman for the class of '43.

Election of the other freshman class officers will take place in about two weeks. Eleanor Wade, president of its sister class, the junior class announced this week.

State Board Okays Budget Requests For New Buildings

Additional budget requests for Farmville State Teachers College, one to cover construction of a $150,000 dormitory and another to provide an increase of $25,000 in the previous request of $150,000 for a new science building were approved last week by the State Board of Education at its quarterly meeting in Richmond.

The item for the new dormitory was not included in the college's original budget request, presented some time ago to the advisory committee headed by Governor Darden. The $25,000 increase is necessary, it was explained, because of revised cost estimates of the new structure.

Both items are to be considered as capital outlay authorizations for the institution.

Hal Thurston Signed For Cotillion Dance; Comimttees Revealed

Hal Thurston and his orchestra from Richmond will furnish the music for the fall Cotillion Club dance to be held on Saturday, November 6, from 8:30 until 12 o'clock in the college gymnasium.

The floor and music committees were announced this week, by Shirley Pierce, business manager of the club. Nancy Harrell, Martha Higgins, Sally Johnson, Libby Ann Jordon, Sara Jeffreys and Dottie Sue Simmons make up the floor committee, and Fay Byrd Johnson and Nancy Wilkerson, the music committee.

Tickets will go on sale Monday after dinner on second floor Rotunda. Betty Bridgeforth, treasurer of the club, is in charge of ticket sales.

Timekeepers:

No More 8:05's! Bed at 11 P. M.!

Beginning Monday, November 1, the traditional 8:05 blinking of eyes and smothering of early morning yawns on campus will be no longer. That is until March 20 or thereabouts. For S. T. C., in accordance with the schools of Prince Edward County, is adopting a "Shove It Up An Hour Plan." Under the new system breakfast will be served at 8:15 o'clock, lunch at 1:45, and dinner at 7 o'clock and extra-curricular activities and meetings will be held an hour later accordingly.

The action has been taken by the college to avoid a conflict between the schedules of student teachers and those in Farmville schools and surrounding rural communities beginning Monday.

However, on week ends, from Saturday night through Sunday night the schedule of time will remain the same as it is at present, that is with breakfast on Sunday at 8:00, dinner at 1 o'clock and supper at 6 p. m. and Saturday night supper at 6 p. m.

Alpha Phi Sigma Initiates 19 Girls

Nineteen students were initiated members of Alpha Phi Sigma, national honor society for freshmen and sophomores at the regular meeting on October 20. They were: Betty Adams, Richmond; Mildred Altice, Rocky Mount; Aloise Boswell, Chase City; Freddie Ann Butt, Portsmouth; Emily Carper, Rocky Mount; Shirley Cruser, Norfolk and Louisa Dawson, Lynchburg.

Also Lucy Harvie, Richmond; Margie Hewlett, Richmond; Nancy Ingle, Covington; Rosalie Jones, Richmond; Kitty Maddox, Lynchburg; Ann Martin, Suffolk; Julia Messick, Front Royal; Rebecca Norfleet, Holland; Katherine Prebble, Lynchburg; Virginia Radogna, Purdy; Faith Weeks, Purdy and Betty Ann Wimbish, Rocky Mount.

Eligible to membership in Alpha

Continued on Page 4

Kappa Delta Pi Bids 18 Students, Faculty Member

Society Honors NEA President

Sixteen students and one faculty member were elected to membership of Beta Epsilon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honor society in education, Mary Moore McCorkle, president, announced recently.

Among those students who received bids are three seniors, Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville; Ruth Dugger, Denbeigh, and Bernice Copenhaver, Marion; thirteen juniors, Marilyn Bell, Richmond; Mary William Calvert, Lynchburg; Nancy Harrell, Emporia; Mary Anne Jarratt, Jarratt; Harriette Moore, Gastonia, N. C.; Alice Nichols, Lynchburg, and Jean Prosise, Wilson.

Also, Sally Robertson, Lynchburg; Jane Waring Ruffin, Charles City; Mary Parrish Viccellio, Chatham; Ophelia Whittle, Petersburg; Sara Bird Williams, Woodstock, and Mary Franklin Woodward, Barhamsville.

Also elected to active membership was Miss Emily Barksdale, assistant professor of Modern Languages. Miss Barksdale received her B. A. degree at Randolph Macon Woman's College and did graduate work, receiving her Master's degree from Universidad Nacional de Mexico.

Mrs. Edith B. Joynes, of Norfolk, president of the National Education Association, was elected to honorary membership of the Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi. Mrs. Joynes will be on this campus in January at which time she will be initiated and will speak to the group.

The purpose of Kappa Delta Pi, according to Mary Moore McCorkle, president, is to encourage high intellectual and scholastic standards and to recognize outstanding contributions to education.

Eligible to membership in Kappa Delta Pi are juniors and seniors who exhibit commendable personal qualities, worthy educational ideals, and sound scholarship.

Hallowe'en Offers General Theme For Annual Circus In Gymnasium

Pasty Connelly, president of the Athletic Association, who is general chairman for the Alpha Kappa Gamma Circus Saturday.

Queen's Identity Remains Unknown

Saturday night, October 30, marks the annual circus sponsored by Alpha Kappa Gamma in the college gym at 8 o'clock. The theme of the entire circus is centered around Halloween, but the identity of the queen and her court and the ringmaster will not be revealed until the raising of the "Big Top" on Saturday night.

Main events of the circus will begin with a parade Saturday afternoon in which each class will sponsor a float. Elaborate plans are under way for all the trimmings of a real Halloween circus parade, with clowns, horses, witches, and hobgoblins.

Ruler of the Big Top has been selected from candidates in the Senior Class and in her court will be a member of each of the other classes. Master of ceremonies, the ring master, will preside over the events Saturday night beginning with the presentation of the class stunts. Following the usual procedure, the identity of the queen will be revealed after the class stunts, and then she will be entertained by an animal show.

In charge of the parade is Mary Evelyn Pearsall, assisted by Louise Bell. Directing the stunts are Hannah Lee Crawford and Patsy Connelly. Chairman of the floor committee is Patsy Connelly, and heading the Queen and Court committee is Frances Lee Hawthorne, Faye Nimmo and Birdie Williams. Mary St. Clair Bugg is head of the publicity committee, assisted by Mary Moore McCorkle. Co-chairman of the animal committee are Mary Evelyn Pearsall Harriette Moore and Judy Eason, and Sara Wayne France heads the ticket and decoration committee.

Stunt chairman selected from each class are Gwenich Ackiss, Newport News, representing the freshman class; Betty Cock, Hampton, representing the sophomore class; Marilyn Bell, Richmond, the junior class; and Elizabeth Tennant, Hopewell. the senior class.

Space in the gymnasium has been reserved for booths sponsored by classes and various organizations of the school. Another part has been reserved for dancing. Fortune tellers will also be found there.

The admission fee is in war stamps—10c for S. T. C. students and 25c for outsiders. Stamps will be on sale in the hall until Saturday noon.

35 Upperclassmen Receive Cotillion Club Bids Tonight

Thirty-five bids were issued today to upperclassmen for membership in the Cotillion club, Virginia Mae Ellett has revealed.

Girls receiving bids are Louise Andrews, Petersburg; Caroline Bobbitt, South Hill; Aloise Boswell, Chase City; Olive Bradshaw, Rice; Ruth Brooks, Farmville; Betty Jane Doggett, Hilton Village; Rosemary Elam, Prospect; Lillian Elliott, Farmville; Pat Garth, Farmville; Rosa Hill, Windsor; Gussie Himes, Roanoke; Ann Jacob, Nassawadox; Lucille Jones, Staunton; Nancy Langhorne, Evington; Peggy Laughon, Pulaski; Katherine Lynch, Lebanon, and Lucy McKenry, Manassas.

Also, Mildred Mease, Hopewell; Julia Messick, Front Royal; Marion Orange, Providence Forge; Dorothy Overstreet, Bedford; Jackie Pardon, Portsmouth; Frances Rainey, Curdsville; Kitty Renneker, Richmond; Sally Robertson, Lynchburg; Mike Shifflet, Palmyra; Barbara Surface, Roanoke; Jerry Titmus, Petersburg; Elsie Thompson, Boydton; Catherine Trower, Eastville; Mary Walker Watts, Amherst; Martha Lee White, Richmond; Sara Byrd Williams, Woodstock; Betty Wright, Waynesboro, and Kitty Wright, Bowling Green.

New members are bid into Cotillion twice a year. At the first bidding, old girls are issued invitations; later on, new girls receive invitations to the club.

Alphin Announces Joint Conference

Due to the difficulties involved in having the annual college conference in Richmond, the young peoples groups of the Presbyterian Church will meet this year in their own schools, two or more colleges holding a joint conference wherever possible.

The joint conference with Hampden-Sydney College and S. T. C. will be an all-day affair on November 7 at Hampden-Sydney. Lois Alphin, president of the local Westminister Fellowship, announced this week. Plans are being made for outside speakers for the occasion, and the entire program will be announced at a later date.

Other officers of the Westminster Fellowship here are Agnes Stokes, vice-president, and Sara Bird Williams, secretary-treasurer.

Library Receives Democracy Posters

Sixteen wall charters of the Democracy Series have been recently received by the College Library for use in displays, LeRoy C. Merritt disclosed yesterday. These charts, printed in colors, show pictorially and graphically different phases of the civic life in America.

Among the charts are one showing education in our democracy, social and economic democracy, opportunities in America, obligations of citizens of a democracy, democracy's place in the world, services and achievements of the government of the United States, and methods of election. Others trace the growth of democracy in America, picture America's heritage from England, and show the development of the Bill of Rights.

The charts are designed to teach four things about democracy, namely, whence it comes, how it works, what it does, and how to preserve it. The posters will be used for display on the library throughout the year.

Cub Reporter Speculates On Mysteries Surrounding Preparations For Circus

"Eleanor" Finds Place in Stunt

Dear Pollie,

This week end is the week end of the Circus! The one and only Alpha Kappa Gamma Circus. And it's complete with a parade and animals and just everything and then some.

Everybody has been working on it for weeks but there's still a lot that I couldn't find out even to write you. For example, I tried to sneak in on the practice of the freshman stunt, but I hardly had my head under the tent flap when I was caught. But I heard Cab Overby playing and somebody was singing. As they dragged me away I heard them light into a lot of spirituals. Must be something to do with the Negro — a minstrel, maybe, but I could hear them dancing, too, so there is really no telling.

Luck stayed with me for a while and I passed as a sophomore and saw all the practice preparations before I was detected as being a so-called enemy alien. Somebody looked vaguely like Superman, and someone was polishing more shoes than the ration board will allow me. Hun Carper was playing—and everything from "Rock-A-Bye Baby", to "Popeye, the Sailor Man". But I was promptly removed from sight and hearing distance just as this Olive Oyl-ish figure appeared.

So sophisticated that I was kicked from the sophomore crowd, I ventured to junior practice. But I lost all my dignity and peeked through the keyhole, when, having been refused entrance, I heard that favorite "As Time Goes By". A keyhole isn't very satisfactory though and all I could see were khaki uniforms and I swear there were no men present. Caught in the act of spying I was firmly dismissed by a junior headed for practice with a seal under one arm and a hula dancer in tow.

Senior practice was just as elusive. I stumbled quietly down the steps to Senior Rec in time to catch a glimpse of Eleanor (the Glohe-trotter) disappear in the company of one Adolph Shickie-gruber. But I got no further. The guard at the gate was on his toes and shouted a lusty "Halt! It is verboten!" What those seniors have up their sleeve is really a mystery, but the stony-faced guardian did condescend to tell me that, internationally speaking, it's a wow. Well time will tell.

Even the ringmaster is a secret. I saw Patsy Connelly who is circus chairman, with a slick looking riding whip, so I know there's to be ringmaster. But he, she, or it is kept very definitely on the quiet, but I hope she isn't really 'cause if I know AKG Circuses, she'll need a lusty pair of lungs to reach the whole crowd.

Everything about the whole affair is going to be a surprise. Never heard so much speculating as to who is to reign over the Big Top Saturdy night. We don't even know who are the candidates and just as interesting will be the manner of presenting her and the court. Remember the tank last year's queen drove? If the committee keeps thinking up new ways to present her, the first thing we know she will be just appearing out of thin air.

And oh, about the booths! Per usual all the organizations who are sponsoring them are hard at work on decorations and ideas.

Continued on Page 3

Witches, Goblins To Be Plentiful

Students, It's Your Turn

Last week we referred complaints to the faculty, to the administration, and to the student administration. This week, we strike at those little misdemeanors of the student body at large.

They are little things really, but they add up to make for confusion and trouble.

Why, save that we do not obey the simple laws of courtesy and consideration, are those bare paths across the campus? Certainly, the grass is nice to walk on, but see the results. And the minutes saved by cutting campus aren't worth mentioning. Then too, the confusion at the post office, if not completely avoided, can be greatly alleviated if we all, each and every one, would use the proper doors and keep to the right. The noise in the dining hall is absolutely unexcusable and beyond all reason and decency. We don't ask for silence during the meal, and a reasonable amount of talking even helps, BUT, that din during the whole meal and especially while the announcements are being read!

Then, we ask, too, why in the name of common sense can't people learn to use the library? The system is not difficult and there is always at least one person on duty to help.

Lastly, we refer to the indecency at Longwood. That is part of our campus and visitors certainly get the wrong impression of Farmville girls from what they see at Longwood. The privilege of dating there in the afternoons will be taken from us if it keeps up. So, remember that, students, the next time you express your emotions so freely on the Longwood lawn.

Students, faculty, administration, the editors of the Rotunda refer these complaints to you!

The staff of the Rotunda joins the student body in wishing Ella Banks Weathers, editor-in-chief, a speedy recovery from her recent apendectomy operation.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

The Voice of Victory

VOICE for VICTORY

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Betty Cock, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Bobbie Scott, Betty Woodward, Phyllis Watts, Katherine Hutchinson.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1943

About the Library

Editor's Note: In connection with student cooperation in correcting some of complaints listed, we print the Library Column this week as an editorial).

Like the laws created for the benefit and guidance of society in general, the rules and regulations of your library were designed to make it possible for the largest portion of the college community to make the most of the many opportunities the library offers. Students who disregard those rules deprive other students of the library privileges which are rightfully theirs, and frequently seriously hamper the completion of an important assignment.

Because it is possible to buy reference books and magazines in only one copy, it is necessary that this one copy be in the library at all times for all to use. Yet recent issues of "The Nation", "Current History" and "Time" are missing from the library. Of the twelve issues of the "American Magazine" received in the last year in the Browsing Room, only one remains in the library.

Books are placed on Reserve by the college faculty to make it possible for all of the students of a class to use the limited number of copies available Yet dozens of copies of reserve books disappear from the Reserve shelves each year. Most of them, to be sure, are found in student rooms at the end of the year, but of what help is that to other students in the class who could not read them when needed?

The library receives regularly thirteen newspapers for the use of eight hundred students. Maps on the front pages and pictures of newly married friends on the society pages are the most popular portions of the papers. Yet how can the other 799 students enjoy these features when the first student seeing the paper has clipped or torn out those items?

These are facts. All of you are aware of them in one form or another. And all of you can stop them from being facts if you will, individually and collectively, resist the temptation to get an assignment the easy way at the expense of others in your class. It will stop too if all of you will place the utmost of social pressure on those around you whom you see despoiling y our library privileges by their unsocial actions. The college library is your library in every sense of the word. Make it doubly so by assuming some of the responsibility for enforcing its necessary rules and regulationsby obeying them yourself—and by seeing that others do likewise.

New book of the week: Paris—Underground, by Etta Shiber.

—L. C. M.

On Rolling Bandages

Of course it's quite commendable to pen lengthy V-mail letters and concentrate on the major problems of what to send overseas for Christmas. But can we do a bit of morale-building and call it quits? Here at school Red Cross bandage rolling sessions are held every Thursday night from seven to nine o'clock. The tragedy lies in the dearth of S. T. C.ers who appear to help.

Since the outbreak of war women throughout the world—in Britain, China, Russia—have given all they possess in time and energy and money to further the war effort. Many of them have fought, or endured the devastating results of battles. Meanwhile we thoughtlessly continue to enjoy many peace time luxuries.

We must work because we want to do so; only through a true desire to serve can we ever accomplish anything worthwhile. Realizing this, some girls, Scottie included, are invarably present whenever the bandage-rollers meet.

Dashing to Pickett and hostessing at the U. S. O. center are both ways we can help. Buying war stamps is another. Yet how about those vital behind- the-scenes tasks? Smother your curls in a kerchief, and get the bandage-rolling habit.

—S. M.

To the Editor-

Dear Editor,

Orchids to the Rotunda for last week's editorial, an appeal to the faculty and administration.

However, there is one question I would like to ask. Will any good result from that editorial? What will be done about it? So many of our much needed suggestions pass unnoticed, and those that are heeded take so long to get a result.

Take, for example, our present dating situation. Longwood is closed now. Everyone agrees there should be more recreation facilities. Still the situation remains the same. We believe there should be more firedrills, yet we haven't had one in three years.

What's to happen to the telephone question in Junior Building? Thus far you have printed a letter and an editorial about it. Well, what are we waiting for . . . for a few months to elapse before we can have improvement?

Let's continue our appeals and perhaps something will be done now and not later. And while suggestions are in order . . . let's do something about the announcements in the dining room.

"Impatient"

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

Every fifth Sunday we have Union Sunday School services. This Sunday it will be at the Methodist Church, and a speaker from the Baptist Church will teach the lesson.

Last Thursday night we rolled 1,023 bandages. Let's do even better this week.

The Westminster Fellowship will hold a joint conference with Hampden-Sydney on November 7.

The church gave the Baptist students a reception after the worship service Sunday night.

If you have any ideas or talents, volunteer to help on the Sing programs, you'll enjoy it. Regular committee meetings meet this Wednesday at 9 o'clock. Prayers each evening can bring calmness and peace to your life.

Officers of the Canterbury Club will be installed at the service Sunday night.

The annual Baptist Student Convention will be held at Rivermont Baptist Church in Lynchburg, November 5-7.

The "Y" cabinet, accompanied by Misses Mary Clay and Winnie Hiner, Miss Grace Moran, and Miss Frances Copenhaver spent Saturday night at Longwood. This was the regular fall retreat.

Ere you left your room this morning
Did you think to pray?
In the name of Christ our Saviour,
Did you sue His loving favor,
As a shield today?

O how praying rests the weary!
Prayer will change the night to day;
So, when life seems dark and dreary,
Don't forget to pray.

—By M. A. Kidder

Question of the Week

What Do You Particularly Like About S. T. C. and What more would you like?

Would Like	Likes
Sarah Leech—to abolish 8:05 class	Butcher's being on campus
Marilyn Bell—to paint Rotunda	Mail time
Mary Crank—more entertainment for visitors	The stacks to study in
Judy Connelly—dating later than 10:00	The Rotunda on Saturday night
Pat Maddox—a new auditorium
Nancy Whitehead—telephone booths with privacy	The friendly spirit
Betty Jones—to have study hour enforced	Being close to Southside's and the movies
Margaret Ellett—good stoppers for bath tubs	Week-ends and Sat. night "shoot 'em ups!"
Faye Nimmo—less antiquity and more youth
Phyllis Watts—courtesy in chapel	Mr. Hallisy's broad shoulders
Heidi Lacy—a college shop	The tea room
Anne Blair—more places to eat	Charlie Hop
Elizabeth Ann Jordan—to eat downtown on Sundays	Junior building
Fan Timmins—Plenty hot water	To go home and come back
Martha Lee White—No closed week-ends	The girls and Mr. Myers
Marion Orange—new steps in the Rotunda	The library
Ann Martin—Longwood open on Sundays	Service from Home Office
Shirley Pierce—more people here on week-ends	Telephone booth on Annex
Margie Hewlett—the new building—quick	All the people—all the traditions
Jane Page—more week-ends	The freshmen
Jane Glen—Robert Newman!!!	The night-sessions
Betty Lew Hayward—a kitchen on every floor	The swimming pool
Mr. Merritt—an active (ten miles an evening) hiking club, a chess club, more readers of serious books	Tackey Alley The library building, the community spirit (everyone is always going to a meeting), and the informal fun.

From the Dirt Dauber's Nest

On Morale

It is interesting to note that recently the trend has changed and the soldiers have taken it upon themselves to help keep up our morale. Or perhaps that is just an extra curricular activity of the USO. At any rate, lieutes like Phe's are welcomed in any company. And speaking of morale, we think that the Davis child (the favorite of the mud column and also of the "Fox-y" Tiger) did a little more than her share last week end. No results or conclusions have of yet been drawn from Johnny Johnson's trip to Annapolis, but one is free to infer what one wished from the gleam in her eye which ye old kinsman of the wasp interprets as a triumphant gleam with a little touch of the morning after a BIG time.

Feet Meet

Yep, many feet met both at Hampden-Sydney and at Camp Pickett since our last report. The Navy did up the graduation dance in a big way even minus the traditional monstrous stag line of Death Valley. And as usual when feet meet in such a manner, flowers blossomed too. Did anyone notice the big orchid worn by Mary Sue Palmer? But how could you miss it? But roses, both red and yellow proved to be the most popular, and as your little pest, the dirt dauber, flew over the review at Hampden-Sydney it noticed them still flourishing. Best looking on the dance floor at Death Valley Friday night: Sara Moling.

And those who didn't trek off to the dance found ringside seats around the railing on second floor Rotunda. From what this humble insect can gather, those downstairs have a rather good show, too. Watch that! Speaking of seats for shows—there are still plenty available at Longwood for the new show "The Downfall of STC Girls."

Mail and Males

The United States Postal Service rates a commendation for its services of late. If you don't believe it, ask Pat M. about the picture and see if Ann J.'s theme song is still "There'll Always Be An England." That little transfer from Peace — one Josephine Beatty — specializes in Air Mail letters, but still Jean Thomas' Bob remains with the record for most letters written and received.

Statistics and Stuff

"Three Dreams Are One Too Many" must be the theme of the case history of John T. Ask Anne Shufflebarger, or if Pat comes back, she can tell you. It seems to be that eternal triangle again. May the best man win! Buzzing around on Annex this week, I came across a most interesting method of getting your man. "In five easy lessons" says Isabel Sampson, and illustrates her lec-

Continued on Page 3

Gleanings

Bernice Copenhaver

October 31 might have meant another Sunday or the end of the month, but now to all users of coal, it means the deadline that John L. Lewis and his miners have set for an approved miner-operator contract to be signed or the United States can do without coal. This, with rail unions planning to take a strike vote among its 350,000 members, may be a hit difficult to explain to Americans in the South Pacific and Europeans battle fronts.

* * * *

The bombing of Germany has been heavy. This can easily be seen by the number of losses the Allies have received as well as by the German loss. However, the Axis has suffered more in the industries that are essential to warfare which have been destroyed. This will have a definite effect on shortening the war. California's Senator Downey predicts "that Hitler will surrender by February 1, if Germany is hit by ten big bombing raids a month until them." These raids use both men and materials. Strikes will cripple the supply of materials besides damaging the morale of the men.

* * * *

The fall of Melitopol opens several possibilities to the Russians. Now there are no obstacles to the invaion of the Crimea. The Red Army is also making a definite threat of entrapping 750,000 German troops in the big bend of the Dnieper river. The importance of the capture of this city was shown by the celebration in Moscow, and the awardments given to the soldiers who fought in this area.

* * * *

The fury by which the Germans are defending their new line on the way to Rome leaves no doubt that they intend to fight stubbornly. The road is blocked solidly, even at an expensive loss of tanks to the Nazis. It will be a hard and slow way for the United Powers to Rome. The Eighth Army now dominotes high grounds in Central Italy.

* * * *

In the Pacific, MacArthur is showing the strategists in Washington what can be done with fully equipped forces and with insufficient forces. This may be his way of bringing the offensive of Japan into greater prominence in world affairs.

Tennis Tourney Continues; Second Round Schedule

First round matches of the fall tennis ladder tournament were ended last Saturday, October 23. All games with the exception of two, were completed by the deadline date.

Frances Lee, sophomore, defeated Alma Crawley, freshman; Phyllis Watts, sophomore, defeated Beanie Dudley, freshman, and the match between Ophelia Whittie and Kitty Goldsborough was cancelled. Also, B. Bralley ,freshman, won over Helen Wilson, junior; Betty Parrish, freshman, won against Margaret Orange, sophomore; and the match between M. Harvey and Rebecca Tomlinson was not played.

Rainy weather this week will cause a change in the ending date for the second round matches which were previously scheduled for Wednesday, October 27. If the courts are dry enough for playing, games must be played off as soon as possible this week.

In the second round games are scheduled as follows, Frances Lee vs. Mildred Droste; B. Bradley vs. Betty Parrish; Ruth Dugger vs. the winner of the match scheduled for M. Harvey and R. Tomlinson; and Phyllis Watts vs. the winner of the match scheduled between Ophelia Whittle and K. Goldsborough. Semi-finals will be played between the winner of these matches and the finals following.

All players must play off the scheduled match before dead-line date. Each match will consist of two out of three sets.

Chesterfield Opens Autumn Campaign

Emphasizing the basic idea that "They Satisfy" is not a slogan but a fact, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Company opens its fall campaign of Chesterfield newspaper advertising in daily papers from coast to coast on October 11, continuing on to the Christmas holiday season.

For many years the phrase "They Satisfy" has been almost a synonym for Chesterfield, because it sums up tersely what Chesterfield has always aimed to do—namely, to give smokers the last word in complete smoking pleasure.

Under the headline "Dependable As Your Daily Newspaper", the first advertisement says, "You light up a cigarette, unfold your newspaper and the news of the world unfolds before your eyes. You depend on the printed word to keep you up to the minute on everything that counts", and makes the final point by stating that smokers depend on Chesterfield for everything that counts in a cigarette.

In another advertisement, Chesterfield continues to pay tribute to the printed word by featuring the magazines, using as its theme the magic of the magazine to stir the pulse and quicken the emotions with tales of romance and adventure or mystery and tying up with the enjoyment of smoking by saying that you can always count on Chesterfield for everything that makes smoking a real pleasure.

Two more advertisements are devoted to Chesterfield's leadership in America's largest city, New York, and in the Nation's capital, Washington, with the statements that "Where the Best Wins the Test They Satisfy". The advertisements point out that Chesterfield is America's busiest cigarette—on the job every minute giving smokers what they want.

As this campaign concludes in December, the last advertisement features a happy Santa Claus bringing joy to the world with the cheerful red Chesterfield Christmas carton which has come to be the annual symbol of holiday cheer with smokers everywhere—a Christmas gift which in the words of the advertisement is "As Dependable as Santa Claus" and which never fails to satisfy.

Copywise, Chesterfield again stresses the importance of "the right combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos" in making a blend that gives smokers the milder, cooler, better taste they like.

Chesterfield is one of the regular advertisers in the Rotunda.

Left Lead

There's a snap in the air and a spring in the step that are already proof enough that winter's nearly here, and though the drizzly part of the weather kept us off the trail for the first of the week, it didn't sink in deep enough to dampen any enthusiasm.

For the ring-work this week, Joyce really put her riders through the grill. New and old alike trotted and cantered without the aid of stirrups, and hobbled around stiffly for days as a result. World's greatest optimist: Betty Ellis, trotting Midnight without stirrups or reins, feet dangling and arms waving wildly, for all the world like a slap-stick circus comedienne. The program was well-rounded, though. Our Worthy Instructor rode the ever-restless Harry to and from the ring bareback.

The trail was a busy thoroughfare last week, too. Joyce calls it the Obstacle Course . . . and one trip over it will explain why. Leaving the back streets of Farmville and passing the high school are simple enough, but then! Through a narrow pathway between closely grown shrubs and low trees, where the horses crowd each other and invite trouble. Past a private stable where they must all needs neigh and whinny back and forth to the horses standing curiously by their fences. Across several little streams at each of which Lindy obstinately stops for a long pause that refreshes. Up half-a-dozen little knolls that force the animals into a jaunty trot, and finally out into the wide open spaces and across a huge field at the well-known and widely loved "brisk canter"!

It's exhilarating, all right. It'll keep you on the watchout every second of your ride, 'cause with Joyce up ahead, we never know just what is coming next, but it's more than worth it to get away from the fundamentals every now and then. And if you can keep Peg from eating all the trees that brush his face, and get Lindy across a stream without that eternal drink, and hold Midnight down to a canter instead of a gallop, you can

"Sing to the ring with its' white-washed rail,
And its beaten path around,
But give me a day on the open trail
Or a chance to follow the hound.
I'll ride with a pride that's as strong as the gale,
And a heart that's as brave as is free.
And the day that I'm done with the open trail
Will mean only the fields for me!"

. . . Pegasus

Cub Reporter

Continued from Page 1

Once in a while I heard a wierd sound from behind a closed door —"Come one, come all! ! Win a big prize!" And it's just one of the barker's practicing for the raising of the big top.

Saturday night is the night before Hallowe'en, you know, so there'll probably be witches and goblins galore. But we'll just ignore them and eat popcorn and try to find some pink lemonade. Don't forget to bring your war stamp for admission and I'll meet you in the Rotunda at 7:45 Saturday night.

Till then,
Your Cub Reporter

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Come in and try a Delicious Hamburger with tomato and lettluce 15c
We also Serve
PLATE LUNCHES
College Shoppe

STARS IN SERVICE

U. S. Treasury Department

Sportspourri

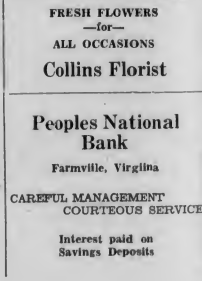
By BETTY ELLIS

Hello again Sports Fans! Another week has rolled by, and we find our athletics coming along simply great. The tennis tournament is top feature now on campus, with hockey practices playing a close second. Swimming and archery are still ranking high in popularity. We have even found more girls taking horse back riding. Perhaps it is because a certain amount of physical education is required that we find so many girls interested this year in sports. Let's hope not!

Swim Session

Missing from our crew this coming year will be M. J. Leavitt, student swimming teacher, who left for her home in Florida this past Saturday. We are all going to miss your aquatic talents, M. J.; so don't forget to keep us posted on the swimming events down your way.

Recreational swimming, sponsored by the H2O Club, is held every Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons and on Saturday night. Here's your chance to get in that practice for your "beginners' test", work on some new strokes and dives, or just swim for the "figger". Surely you swam this summer, so let's not get out of practice. You will find a capable lifeguard on hand, and if you are afraid of the water, she will be glad to help you. Come on down to the ole swimmin' hole, and have a little fun.



Team Tryouts

Hockey practices have been changed to every afternoon beginning at 3:50. This gives the teams a chance to use the whole field without interference from the archery range. Many of the old players are back this year, running around the field looking expert, but giving them a close chase are the "neophytes", who experiencing their first year on the field are really struggling for a place on their class team. There should be plenty of competition this year between the "Red and Whites" and "Green and Whites", and plenty of girls are needed for the teams. You might just warm the bench, but even then you can say, "I played hockey this year."

Take A Walk

Have you tried walking for fun? Long walks are not only good for you physically, but help you get rid of that closed in feeling. On these brisk autumn afternoons, after classes, get out in the fresh air. You will really be surprised how much better you will feel. You might have to study, but take your books to the Library. The short walk over there will pep you up and clear up the tired old brain! Back to those long walks, the scenery is beautiful now, and a walk to Longwood even if you can't have a bun, will set you up just right physically and mentally. Try it just once. Here's hoping you like it.

Signing off again, I leave you to your athletic thoughts until next week. Adios.

FRESH FLOWERS
—for—
ALL OCCASIONS
Collins Florist

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR DECCA
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

WELCOME
SHANNON'S
Headquarters for S. T. C.

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Dirt Dauber

Continued from Page 2

ture with actual photographs. Isabel seems to be a photographic name 'cause the Wilson child comes back to the fold with three new ones, but all of the same man! Under "stuff" we want to put those glamour pictures of Kitty (of the Bubble bath) Wright.

Short Story of the Week

A certain freshman had a date with someone she didn't remember too well. She rushed into the Rotunda and gave with a big smile. "Are you the one?" the timidly asked. "Sure", the guy said, so off to the movie they went. On the street someone called, "Hey, Scott, Whatcha got?" His jaw dropped, and she became pale around the gills. "Say, you aren't the boy I was supposed to date. "He just grinned and admitted it, but they made a night of it anyway. They really clicked, even to the Hampden-Sydney dance! Gals, that's what I call technique.

Latin, German Rated Basic Languages

Whether you "hablan el Espanol" or "sprechen sie Deutsch", you are learning one of the basic languages of the future, according to Walter Biberich, professor of German at Westminster College.

French, German, Spanish and Latin will be acquiring more and more prominence in the next few years, he believes. French will survive because its culture stays alive in literature, and German because of its importance in science and language.

"Spanish, however, may die out after a number of years," Biberich says, "because its popularity seems to rest solely on the fact that it is still spoken in many places where the Spanish settled and could become a tie to unite us closer with the people who speak this language.

Latin, he thinks, will always be essential, not only to those entering the ministry and other professions, but to anyone who wishes to understand the foundation of our modern language.

WRITING PORTFOLIO

SIZE 8 1-2 in. X 11 1-2 in.

TAN LEATHER

PLAID FIBRE

$1.95 & $2.45

This makes a nice gift and it is useful for yourself

MAIN FLOOR

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

After a boring week of classes and tests, the week end was a welcome relief. Although many left school for home and a good meal, quite a few remained behind to attend the graduation dance at Hampden - Sydney, which was, from all accounts, quite a gala occasion.

Among those who attended the H.-S. C. dance were:

Peggy Anne Alphin, with Wayne Gilchrist; Cecilia Arthur, with Bill Dunn; Nancy Lee Barrett, with Jimmy Tarry; Hilda Bennett, with Harold Anderson; Margaret Black, with Jim Panik; Olive Bradshaw, with Fred Young; Pat Buckler, with Moffet Walker; Constance Christian, with Harold Tidler; Betsy Corr, with Jack Glessner; Betty R. Critz, with Jack Moore; Minnie Lee Crumpler, with Dan Leach; Jane Danby, with Joe Eddins; Ann Darnell, with Bobbie Moore; Joan Davis, with Allan Fox; and Anne Dickinson, with John Bell.

Also Elizabeth Driscoll, with Bob Younger; Shirley Easterly, with Mr. Howe; Betty Edwards, with Doug. R. Pommering, Jr.; Betty Ellis, with Bill Cantwell; Evelyn Faw, with John L. Payne; Betsy Fox, with Lewis Brandon; Bobbie Graham, with Milford Bradley; Evelyn M. Grizzard, with Francis G. Griffin; Mary Eliz. Grizzard, with Warren Gregory; Vivian Gwaltney, with Horace Adams; Carolyn Hammond, with Bill Houtz; Carolyn Hayslett, with Ed Crist; Margie Hewlett, with Bobby Sears; Lelia Holloway, with Charles R. Davis; and Nell G. Holloway, with William Elwang.

Also Ruby Huddle, with Harry Parks; Spotswood Hunnicut, with Bill Bondurant; Rose Bland Jenkins, with Philip Cheatham; Lillian Johnson, with Tommy Nickels; Sally Johnson, with Paul McPheeter; Anne Kingdon, with Watt Shields; Norma Lindley, with "Tab" Narron; Betty Little, with Bill Halligan; Nancy Lively, with Earl Swope; Mary Anne Loving, with Jack Dugger; Naomi Major, with Harry Ricter; Olivia J. Meade, with Joe Basilone; Anne Mingea, with Nickol Eskridge; Sara Dailey Moling, with Jimmy Timberlake; Ellen Moore, with Grant Hallock; Alice Nichols, with Walter Larrimer; Betty O'Conner, with Ben Taylor; Betsy Owen, with Allan McAllister; and Jane Page, with Dick Hanvermale;

Also Mary Sue Palmer, with Bill Ferrell; Lillian Pankey, with Charles Loving; Jac Parden, with Ben Johns; Rosalie Phelps, with David Noel; Isabelle Ransone, with Jeff Hawley; Cora Redd, with Howard Grados; Kitty Renneker, with Charles Pearson; Blair Renshaw, with Braxton Powers; Jeanne Richardson, with Bill Hoge; Jane Waring Ruffin, with Louis Graham Clle Sarver, with Nick Canarius; Frances Shackelford, with E. C. Nielson; Ann Shufflebarger, with Bob Kane; Nellie Smith, with Jack Woodside; M. Lynn Sprye, with Wayne Mears; Eloise Stancell, with Bob Stepp; Virginia F. Terrell, with George Little; Frances Timmins, with Hugh Wrenn; Ann M. Umstead, with Zeke Anderson; Jac Vestal, with Ellis Hilton; Rosemarie Waggner, with Lennie Seligman; Margaret Walton, with Bruce LeGrande; Faith Weeks, with Paul McGrew; Harriet Weger, with Garnett Scott; Frances Wentzel, with Henry Brockenbrough; Nancy Woodworth, with John Ray, and Kitty Sue Bridgforth, with Bill Bergman.

A few missed the big reunion before and arrived at Farmville this past week end. Among them Clara Moses, Evelyn Christian and Frances Rosebro.

Lynchburg was the scene of a house party held at the home of Joan Davis. Among those partying there were: Mary Anne Loving, Nancy Lee Barrett, Anne Kingdon, Kitty Parham, Grace Loyd, Anne Shufflebarger, and Lucy Barger.

In Charlottesville for the week end was Sara Wayne France, who had as her guests Eleanor Bisese, Shirley Cruser, and Sara Jeffreys, while Marilyn Johnson was to be found at the Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

A Grim Reminder

Apprentices Present Second Play Tonight

"Maker of Dreams", a Pierrot-Pierrette fantasy in one act by Oliphant Down, will be presented at the regular meeting of the Dramatic club tonight at 7 o'clock in the large auditorium.

Doris Harper will play the part of Pierrot, and Ann Shufflebarger the part of Pierrette. The Maker of Dreams is portrayed by Olivia Meade.

The apprentice play, which is costumed, is under the direction of Olive Bradshaw, head of the acting group of the Dramatic club.

Gals, Borrow Your Best Man's Coat For the Duration

It seems the next best thing to having the man is having his favorite sport coat—so before the boys are in the army three days, off to the tailor goes their best girls to have their beloved old tweed jackets cut down to fit.

Not only are coats taken over for feminine use but straight and narrow skirts can be made from trousers. Bow ties are becoming a fad and men's shirts has long preceded girls blouses as favorites for sports.

If some way could be found to substitute their shoes all would be well. No more number 18 coupon worries; simply take your brother's saddles and have them cut down to your size 6 A or get him to send you a pair of V. I.'s for sport wear.

But the gal who first thought of boys PJ's was smartest of all. They look sloppier, come in brighter colors, can be rolled up and worn for everyday wear with a raincoat more easily, are tough enough to send to the laundry and hence have become as much a college custom as saddle shoes and socks.

So here ls an easy way to solve your clothes—put your friends in khaki or navy blue and wear their clothes yourself.

Gauze Becomes Weapons . As Bandage Rollers Hit Peak

"Don't forget to sign up for Bandage Rolling" greets the eye as one turns the corner to go to the Post Office. And in the dining room each Thursday one is reminded, "Bandage Rolling tonight from seven until nine." It has become a Farmville institution since the advent of the war.

The place so many people spend an hour or two on Thursday evenings is the large room across the Publications' office in Student Building. When the room with its tables is ready for action, one is reminded of a large dining room with tables set for a meal. This illusion is caused by the "rolling" boards which, in reality, are square pieces of cardboard with diagrams of the desired bandage printed on it. On each board is placed a knife, to make smoother and more lasting creases in the soft gauze folds. This gauze is stacked in huge square piles at intervals along the tables. There are generally three ladies in charge in addition to the chairman of the service committee of the Y. W. C. A., Virginia Treakle. Beginners are promptly taught the process. Soon they are competing with old-timers in seeing who can roll the most in an hour.

After the bandages have been rolled, they are carefully counted into stacks of 25 per stack. This is done three times to insure accuracy. Then they are specially tied so that with a slight pull of the string, the whole pack is ready for use. Eigt of these stacks are packed into one paper bag. These bags are taken to the Red Cross center in Farmville where they are sent out with the town's allotment.

The bandages made here in a little Virginia town may then be sent to any of our far-flung battlefronts. All the caution taken here has not been in vain. On a battlefield, there is no time to fool with bandages other than to sterlize them. With a flip of the string, the bandage is ready for use for one of our ailing boys. After the particular kind of bandage has been used, the pack is again counted. One sees why the counting of the individual bandages is so important. When the doctor or nurse has counted 25 pieces of now blood-stained gauze, he knows that none has been left in the wound.

So ends the life of one of these tiny pieces of gauze rolled here in Farmville by ordinary college girls, most of whom are unskilled in any other kind of war work. The greatest number of bandages ever rolled in one night is 1023—1023 bits of might against the Hun! the Jap! May we all keep this in mind as we roll each square of gauze. May we keep this in mind the next time we hear the familiar announcement, "Bandage rolling tonight from seven to nine."

Alpha Phi Sigma

Continued from Page 1

Phi Sigma are freshmen who were valedictorians or salutatorians in high school and students who have made an average of B or higher on all of their work for two consecutive quarters here.

What's When--The Pin-Up Column

(N. B. Due to the addition of the scheduled time for the meeting of the music groups and to a few changes, the calendar for the year is again printed. It ls suggested that students clip it and put it in sight.

All meetings must be held at their scheduled time — no called meetings without permission from the Calendar chairman).

MONDAY

I
4:00 Orchesis
5:00 Ex. Board Dramatic Club
6:45 A. A. Council
7:00 Madrigal Singers
7:15 Virginian Staff
8:00 Monogram Club Choir
9:00 Campus League Senior A'Capella
10:00 House Council

II
4:00 Orchesis
5:00 P. S. A.
Ex. Board Dramatic Club
B. S. U.
Wesley Foundation
6:45 A. A. Council
7:00 Madrigal Singers
7:15 Virginian staff
8:00 Choir
9:00 Senior A'Capella

III
4:00 Orchesis
5:00 Ex. Board Dramatic Club
6:45 A. A Council
7:00 Madrigal Singers
7:15 Virginian Staff
8:00 Choir
9:00 Campus League Senior A'Capella
10:00 House Council

IV
4:00 Orchesis
5:00 P. S. A.
Ex. Board Dramatic Club
B. S. U.
6:45 A. A. Council
7:00 Madrigal Singers
7:15 Virginian Staff
8:00 Choir
9:00 Senior A'Capella

TUESDAY

I
4:00 U. S. O. Committee
Junior A'Capella
Intermediate A'Capella
5:00 Sororities
7:00 Pan-Hellenic Council
7:30 Kappa Delta Pi
8:00 Riding Club
8:30 Pi Gamma Mu
9:30 Y. W. A.

II
4:00 Junior A'Capella
5:00 Sororities
Intermediate A'Capella
7:00 Home Ec. Club
8:00 War Council
8:30 Pi Gamma Mu
9:30 Y. W. A.

III
4:00 French Circle
Junior A'Capella
Intermediate A'Capella
5:00 Sororities
6:45 Classes
7:30 Kappa Delta Pi
8:30 Pi Gamma Mu
9:30 Y. W. A.

IV
4:00 Spanish Club
Junior A'Capella
Intermediate A'Capella
5:00 Sororities
7:00 Cotillion Club
8:00 War Council
8:30 Pi Gamma Mu
9:30 Y. W. A.

WEDNESDAY

I
4:30 Y. W. Cabinet
4:45 Rotunda Circulation
5:00 Apprentice Groups
6:45 Ed. Staff of Rotunda
7:00 Alpha Kappa Gamma Orchesis
10:00 Freshman Commission

II
4:30 Y. W. Cabinet
4:45 Rotunda Circulation
6:45 Student Body
Ed. Staff of Rotunda
7:00 A. C. E.
Dramatic Club
9:00 Y. W. Committees

III
4:30 Y. W. Cabinet
4:45 Rotunda Circulation
5:00 Granddaughter's Club
Apprentice Groups
6:45 Ed. Staff of Rotunda
7:00 Alpha Kappa Gamma
F. T. A.
10:00 Freshman Commission

IV
4:30 Y. W. Cabinet
4:45 Rotunda Circulation
6:45 Ed. Staff of Rotunda
7:00 Dramatic Club
8:00 Commercial Club
9:00 Y. W. Committees

V
4:30 Y. W. Committees

THURSDAY

I
4:00 Junior A'Capella
5:00 Latin Club
Student Standards
7:00 Madrigal Singers
Bandage Rolling
H2O Club
Beorc Eh Thorn
8:00 Debate Club
Bandage Rolling
Choir
9:00 Senior A'Capella

II
4:00 Colonnade
Junior A'Capella
Intermediate A'Capella
5:00 Sigma Pi Rho
7:00 Madrigal Singers
Gamma Psi
Bandage Rolling
8:00 Bandage Rolling
Choir
9:00 Table Hostesses
Senior A'Capella

III
4:00 Junior A'Capella
Intermediate A'Capella
5:00 Latin Club
7:00 Madrigal Singers
Bandage Rolling
8:00 Debate Club
Bandage Rolling
Choir
9:00 Senior A'Capella

IV
4:00 Junior A'Capella
Intermediate A'Capella
5:00 Sigma Pi Rho
7:00 Gamma Psi
Bandage Rolling
Madrigal Singers
8:00 Bandage Rolling
Choir
9:00 Senior A'Capella

FRIDAY

I
4:00 Town Girls Club

II

III
7:00 Northern Neck Club

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

QUALITY WRITING PAPER
Deckle Border, colored pkg. .. 10c
Barclay Package Paper and envelopes to match 10c
Official U. S. V . . .—Mail
20 count 10c 50 count 25c
Parker Quink for V-Mail 15c

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
5-10-25c STORE
For those long winter evenings
Have a good
Jig-saw puzzle on hand!

Hallowe'en—
—Costumes
YOU WILL LIKE
AT POPULAR PRICES
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores

Southside Drug Store
Farmville's most popular store
FILMS DEVELOPED
&
PRINTED
25c

Martin the Jeweler
See our sterling silver
Identification bracelets
For men in the service

Make your clothes last longer and look better
By having them cleaned regularly at
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Those Who Know The Ropes
Insist on ROPEEZ*
The Stitched Rope Sole Shoe

They're the undisputed favorites of those who know real value when they see it.

ROPEEZ new and improved stitched sole is as rugged as a hawser . . . reinforced to give miles of satisfactory wear. In ROPEEZ you get smartness with service . . . lash with durability . . . comfort at a canny price.

Sweetie Pie in Black, Gabardine—$3.95.

BALDWIN'S

*Reg. U. S. Pat. Off.

The Rotunda

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1943 | NUMBER 6

Colonnade Short Story Winners

Jeanne Strick and Margaret Pattie who placed first and second, respectively, in the Colonnade Short Story contest.

Strick, Pattie Take Top Honors In Colonnade Short Story Contest

"A Town Called Hope", by Jeanne Strick, placed first in the annual short story contest sponsored by the Colonnade, Elizabeth Tennent, editor, revealed this week. Jeanne is a junior from Farmville, and is an active member of the music groups, and an officer in Beorc Eh Thorn, honorary English society on the campus, and a member of Kappa Delta Pi.

Margaret Pattie captured second honors with her story "Glasgow 1940". Margaret is a second year student at Farmville, taking special work before returning to her home in Glasgow, Scotland next fall.

Third prize went to Mary Watkins, a junior from Emporia, for her story "We'll Meet Again". All winning stories wil be published in the Colonnade.

Honorable mention was given to Ophelia Whittle for "Letter from a Freshman" and to "Spinning Wheels", by Jeanne Strick.

Judges for the contest were James M. Grainger, and Miss Lucille Jennings of the English department, and Sarah Trigg, representing the student body.

Choir To Present Musical Program In Chapel Friday

At the instigation of the faculty members in an effort to improve the quality of hymn singing during chapel, the College Choir, under the direction of Alfred H. Strick, will present a musical program on Friday, November 5.

Lucy Messick, president of the choir, will present Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, who will give the connotations of the two hymns to be sung. Luther's Reformation hymn, "Ein Festi Burg" (A Mighty Fortress Is Our God) will be the first number, followed by the Welsh "Aberystwyth" (Jesus Lover of My Soul).

In addition, the choir will present the second chorus from Brahm's "Requiem", "Behold, Oh Flesh Is as the Grass". A brief sketch of the life of Brahams.

If the program is well received by the student body a similar one will be repeated as often as twice a month.

Frances Lee Hawthorne, president of the local Y. W. C. A., will read the Scripture, and Louise Bell, vice-president, will lead the prayer.

Holidays To Begin December 21; End Monday, January 3

Christmas holidays will begin for S. T. C. students on Tuesday, December 21, Mrs. Mary Watkins, secretary to the President, reported this week. The date printed in the catalogue is incorrect since Tuesday falls on the twenty-first instead of the twenty-second as printed. The dormitories will be opened to students on Monday, January 3, and classes will be resumed on Tuesday.

Likewise, the date published for Thanksgiving is incorrect. Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, November 25, will be a holiday, but there will be classes held as usual on Wednesday preceding Thanksgiving and on Friday and Saturday following, Mrs. Watkins said.

Notice

Mr. Scott Hart, a native of Farmville, will speak to the Rotundas staff tonight at 8 o'clock on "The Practical Problems of Journalism." Mr. Hart is a member of the Washington staff of the Time Magazine, and has been in the field of journalism for many years.

Frosh Elect Ellett, Loyd, East, Droste, Redd, Minetree

Margaret Ellett, of Jennings Ordinary, was elected president of the freshman, at a call meeting held last night.

Other officers elected were Grace Loyd, Lynchburg, vice-president; Martha East, South Boston, secretary; and Betty Minetree, Petersburg, treasurer.

Martha Droste, Ronceverte, W. Va., and Cora Redd, Chatham, were elected as representatives to Student Government.

Margaret Ellett is out for hockey and took part in the college circus. Grace Loyd is an apprentice to the Dramatic club and has the part of Bruno in the fall production, "The Ivory Door". She is a member of the College Choir, is a swimming instructor, and helped with the circus. Martha East is a member of the Granddaughter's club and the Campus League, and Betty Minetree is out for hockey and had charge of the circus booth and float.

Martha Droste is out for hockey, and Cora Redd is an apprentice to the Dramatic club.

Miss Olive Iler was elected classman for the class of '47 at a recent meeting.

Students Make Plans For Program During Education Week

Schools throughout the country will celebrate National Education Week, November 7-13, the theme of which is "Education for Victory".

The program for the college will consist of short talks by faculty members in chapel on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday. On Saturday the week's schedule will be closed with a musical program.

Speakers and their topics in Chapel will be "Importance of Teaching After the War", Professor James M. Grainger; "Impressions of the Radford Conference on the Improvement of Teaching;" Professor G. W. Jeffers; "Education for Work", Professor Richard Hallisy; "Education for Air Age," Professor Grace B. Moran.

For each day of the week there is a general theme to be carried out in the schools. These are "Education for World Understanding", "Education for Work", "Education for the Air Age", "Education to Win and Secure the Peace", "Education for Wartime Citizenship", "Meeting the Emergency in Education", and "Education for Sound Health."

Posters and books will be on display in the college library, il-

Continued on Page 3

Dance Season Opens Saturday With Fall Cotillion Club Formal

Hal Thurston, who will supply music for the Cotillion formal in the gym next Saturday night.

Hal Thurston To Supply Music

Receiving Line, Chaperons Named

Hal Thurston and his orchestra from Richmond will furnish the music for the annual fall Cotillion dance on Saturday night, November 6, from 8:30 o'clock to 12 midnight in the college gymnasium, with intermission from 10:30 to 11 o'clock. This orchestra appeared at S. T. C. last spring to play for the regular spring Cotillion.

In the receiving line will be Miss Rachel Royal, Mr. and Mrs. M. Boyd Coyner,. Virginia Ellett, president of the Cotillion club; Jean Arington, leader; and Shirley Pierce, business manager.

Committees for the dance include decorations with Lucille Lewis as chairman, Ophelia Whittle, Harriette Moore, Mary St. Clair Bugg, Vivian Gwaltney, and Martha Higgins, and music with Shirley Pierce as chairman, Fay Byrd Johnson, and Nancy Wilkerson. On the floor committee are Nancy Harrell, Martha Higgins, Sally Johnson, Libby Anne Jordan, Sara Jeffreys, and Dottie Sue Simmons.

Chaperones for the dance include Miss Pauline Camper, Mrs. Mabel McCoy, Mr. S. L. Graham, Mr. S. M. Holton, Mrs. Hallie Laing, Mr. T. A. McCorkle, Mrs. J. H. Tabb, Mrs. J. E. Warren, and Dr. and Mrs. G. W. Jeffers.

All old girls have been notified, and a large group of former Cotillion members are expected to return for the fall Cotillion.

Weathers Adds 18 To Rotunda Staff

Tryouts Complete Apprenticeship

Ella Banks Weathers, editor of the Rotunda, has announced that 18 students have been added to the staff of the weekly paper. Seven received appointments to the editorial staff and 11 have been added to the business staff.

Margaret Sheffield, freshman from Suffolk; Betty Lewis, freshman from Hickory, and Ruth Jones, freshman from Chatham are the new members who are working on the news staff. Additions to the feature staff are Sara

Continued from Page 3

Debate Club Plans Revealed In Chapel

Alice Nichols, president of the Debate Club, spoke this morning in chapel announcing the club's plans for the year. The central question for the year, Nichols announced, is, "Resolved, That the United States should cooperate in establishing and maintaining an international police force upon the defeat of the Axis."

As is customary, girls will be sent to the annual Grand Eastern Tourney, to be held in December in Rock Hill, S. C. A team of four girls will probably be sent, Nichols said. The tournament covers not only debating, but other forensic fields such as all types of public speaking, poetry reading, ex-temporaneous talks, and news reporting.

Scheduled already for a debate on this campus is Randolph-Macon Woman's College, which will send a team to Farmville on February 13.

In addition, since debate trips will necessarily be limited, the club plans to keep up with the times by discussion groups such as were lead last year at Rotary and Lions Club meetings in town.

Tomorrow night, Thursday, at 9 o'clock, the Debate Club will hold its regular meeting at which time, all girls interested should report to the Honors Room.

Joint Conference To Be Held at H-S

Presbyterians Convene Sunday

Lois Alphin, president of the Westminster Fellowship of the Presbyterian Church, has announced that the Student Christian Association of Hampden-Sydney will join the S. T. C. group in a one day conference to be held Sunday, November 7.

The conference will begin with an early morning communion. Rev. Palmer Kelly of the Union Theological Seminary in Richmond will give the first address at 9:05 Sunday morning.

After attending church in a group, they will convene again at 2 o'clock when the Student Christian Association has charge of the worship service.

Mr. Kelly will lead the first discussion on "Applying Christian Principles to Life on the Campus". Dr. Williams is going to lead the second discussion on "Foundations of a Chritsian Home." The third discussion will be on "Preparing for the World of Tomorrow." Lois Alphin will preside during the conference.

Baptist Convention Meets In Lynchburg Friday, Saturday

"In God We Trust" is the theme of the Virginia Baptist Convention at Lynchburg, Virginia, November 5-7.

Thirty-one students from Farmville plan to attend this convention, a special bus having been chartered. Several of these student will participate on the program.

On Friday evening student speakers will be Sallie Roller, Stan Lushby, Nancy Welch, Virginia Beall, and Frances Copenhaver, student secretary, who will lead the devotionals. The key-note address will be by Dr. Clarence N. Cranford, Washington, D. C.

Speakers for Saturday morning are—Dr. Claude Broach, Nashville,

Continued on Page 3

Strick Announces 18 New Members For College Choir

Eighteen new choir members were announced this week by Mr. Alfred Strick, professor of music.

They are Nancy Lee Barrett, freshman, Baltimore; Joyce Beazley, freshman, Disputanta; Pat Buckler, freshman, Culpeper; Page Cook, freshman, LaCrosse; Joan Davis, freshman, Lynchburg; Betsy Ford, junior, Danville; Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, sophomore, Cape Charles; Anne Kingdan, freshman, Bluefield, W. Va., and Robin Lear, freshman, Chapel Hill, N. C.

Also Grace Loyd, freshman, Lynchburg; Virginia McLear, junior, South Hill; Doris Lee Murray, freshman, Roanoke; Lillian Smith, freshman, Lynchburg; Ann Shufflebarger, freshman, Bluefield; Ann Snyder, senior, Newport News; Virginia Shackleford, sophomore, Gloucester Point, and Lelia Taylor, freshman, Dillwyn.

Colonnade Staff Adds 3 Typists

Three girls have been added to the typing staff of the Colonnade, the quarterly literary magazine, Mildred Corvin, business manager, announced this week. Added to the staff are Anne Mapp, junior from DeWitt; Margaret Bear, junior from Churchville, and Martha Ann Upshur, junior from Cheriton.

The first issue of the Colonnade will appear about the first of December, Elizabeth Tennent, editor, revealed recently.

Other members will be added to the various staffs throughout the year.

Ration Points, Food Shortages, and Costs Cause Headache in Filling S. T. C. Cavities

Shortage of Meat Predicted Soon

By BETTY BIBB

Maybe you think it is a cinch to feed the 800 odd girls who board in the college and eat regularly amid the din in the dining hall, but what with food shortages and rationing, Mrs. Annie Shelton, who plans our meals really has quite a problem, as she tries to fill the drooling mob that comes trailing in to eat three times a day. (We'd come six times, if they'd let us). Over the clack and clatter you'll see someone swoon and moan "Hash again"! Well, when you hear my story, perhaps you'll sympathize with the hash slingers.

We went to see Mrs. Shelton and found her busily counting points and figuring costs. She was surrounded by racks of bread, cereal boxes, and stacks of pickle jars neatly packed, row on row. In spite of all this, she found time to give us a short report on the food situation.

At the present her newest problem is jams and jellies, which are now frozen. When unfrozen, they will be rationed, but definitely. Oh well, there's always peanut butter! (We hope).

There are few canned goods to be had, the head dietitian, reported, but one thing there's still some of is milk. We make away with 80 or 90 gallons (360 quarts) of milk a day, and 50 white and 25 brown loaves of bread at a meal. And we just don't understand how we get that S. T. C. spread.

Mrs. Shelton says that during October she has been getting more meat than she will be able to get later, as a shortage of meat is predicted for the winter and spring.

Learn To Say "Just My Dish"

She can get cookies, cake, and crackers at intervals but the sugar rationing outs out most of the home-made desserts that girls have enjoyed here in previous years. Only so much ice cream is allotted monthly, so this is supplemented by ices.

It's really a brain twister, even in a small family to have a well-balanced meal, with plenty of variety, as canned green vegetables are very hard to get and carry very high points.

Repairs to the machines, which will wear out, present a headache too, and you can't even think of buying any new ones.

Some things still are the same however, in spite of Hitler and Hirohito. Every Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday you notice

Continued on Page 3

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Tallaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Betty Cock, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 3, 1943

That Extra Something Called Sportsmanship

Our age-old tradition of the conflict between the two color groups goes on year after year, and was further carried on through the circus this past week-end. When one enters as a freshman, she becomes either a green and white or a red and white, which she remains until the end of her school life here. During this time, most of us become quite ardent supporters of our class colors. We have all observed this spirit— at rallys in the auditorium, at various games, and at the annual circus. Whenever there are two factions supporting opposing causes, there must needs be an element called sportsmanship. And the sportsmanship displayed by the Red and White half of our school in regard to the circus cannot go unnoticed.

The whole of the points were in Green and White's favor However, Red and White cheerfully congratulated the winning side. No long faces were seen—the Red and White's were entirely graceful in accepting their loss. On Saturday night after the Big Show, members of the Red and White class called on the Green and White Junior Class. They sang "Green and White, fifteen rahs and all the rest. This cheering eventually led into the joint singing of both groups in a wonderful, uninhibited, friendly spirit. Everybody was friends.

This little bit of extra friendliness was like the little extra something on a chocolate sundae—the proverbial cherry. It wasn't exactly necessary but in the fact that it was thought of and carried out made the Red and White's beautiful attitude complete. It was wholly gracious, friendly and full of good will. It was the very epitome of good sportsmanship anywhere. We can be proud that here at Farmville that high aim has been reached as demonstrated over the week-end. The Rotunda congratulates Green and White and salutes Red and White.

F. B. J.

School Time Versus War and Sun Times

Having adopted the "shove-it-up-an-hour" schedule for the next six months, it is up to the student body to see that the minimum of confusion is caused by it. We have made the change in time for a practical reason and we can make it is difficult or as simple as we like.

Complicated? No, it isn't really. We simply carry on "business as usual" with all school activities scheduled for one hour later than previously. And it has been reported that somehow it works mysteriously to add up extra hours for sleep without cutting down on the waking hours. We don't know about that; but we do know there should be no real trouble in "catching on" to the system.

Let's eliminate all confusion conected with the change in time. There are enough things around to cause headaches already, without adding trouble with sun time, war time and school time.

Gleanings

Bernice Copenhaver

The date and place for the western invasion of Europe is believed to have been set at Moscow during the three-power conference. This is what Russia and Germany have been waiting for. However, the Russions may be satisfied, but the Germans are anxious. The official report of the conference has not been announced.

* * * *

A showdown between the government and miners will come sometime this week. An estimated 100,000 tons of iron and steel has already been lost while 115,000 miners are idle. Roosevelt has promised to take decisive action immediately.

* * * *

With this disheartening news from the home front, Russia provides a more cheerful outlook. Anything can happen there. Reinforcements for the Germans are being sent from Norway and Italy, but the Russians are still pursuing the disorganized retreat of the Axis from the Crimea. It has been reported that the German officials are firing on their own troops, trying to maintain order.

* * * *

Axis troops having been withdrawn from Italy may account for the swifter Allied advance there. The Allied forces have been consolidated and are facing Germans situated in strong positions. Meanwhile, the Allied air forces have taken advantage of the change in the weather and bombed behind the German front. A raid on Genoa was made for the first time by planes from the Mediterranean theater.

The Italians are considering a new type of government. It is believed that most of the people prefer an "out-an-out republic".

* * * *

A battle between the Allies and Japs for the control of the upper Burma Road may begin soon. Supplies could sent sent to the Chinese before ridding lower Burma of Japs if the Ventral Powers had control of this northern part of the road that the new supply road they have built joins. The Jops are trying to get supplies in to their troops before the big fighting starts.

The Allies may force the Jap fleet out of hiding as they push toward Rabaul. The enemy has depended upon its air power to stop the attack, but it is has been damaged too severely to be successful. The Japs are also withdrawing from the Treasury Island.

* * * *

The statewide blackout Friday night has been reported highly successful although two months had elapsed since one had been staged and some dimout regulations had been lifted recently. Though some citizens feel that these practices are unnecessary during the present world conditions, this is underestimating our enemies and is "wishful thinking."

Under the Dome

That marvelous circus! Especially the circus stunts! What originality and cleverness personified stalls around 'neath some of these sloppy sweaters and baggy skirts! And the marvelous sportsmanship displayed by the Senior Class. A great crew of them dipped over into the Junior Building after the fun was over and serenaded the underclassmen. Everything was eventually sung from "Pistol Packin' Mama" to the Lord's Prayer and various Christmas carols . . . Frances Lee and her cute sailor shadow were seen roaming the campus this week end. As usual . . . Carol Diggs! You were doing all right with Dennis Morgan (well, he did look like him) on Saturday. Repeated on Sunday. . . . The inimitable "Budgie" of last year called up friends here from New York, where she is being a technician . . . Jacque Parden was utterly enthralled by her date on Saturday last. One of those effervescent Marines, you know! . . . Best jitter-buggers at the Circus: Judy Connelly and her date . . . "Queekie", why don't you open your eyes to those doleful eyes of your secret admirer? . . . Warrick Mitchell of last year's out-going class dropped by for a quick visit. Lo, a sparkle on time-honored third finger. To be married in three weeks . . . Crump retracted several statements she has made on former week ends. Tired of fooling around, she really went into action this week end . . . These endless telephone calls for L. Manson and the Nimmo. Plans are evidently being made . . . Nancy Watts and Hanbury, the faithful looked natural swinging clasped hands. Darn Hitler's hordes! Such things should be more frequent . . . Flash! At last! A rat letter has been answered! Satterfield's brother wants to meet Dona Jane. . . And have you heard or seen Isabel Sampson's five steps on "how to win a man"? Most interesting. 'Nuff said. . . . That beaming Betty van Arsdale has a right to the broad smiles. She hasn't seen that airman of hers for 14 months and now he's at home with decorations. Among them is the Distinguished Flying Cross, to mention a trifle . . . The catch phrase, "Tall, Dark, and Handsome" is personified in a photo on the desk of the inmates of Room 3, Junior Building. . . .

Don't know what it is that Ruthie has, but that man sho' is anxious to please even to the extent of doing the impossible for her. Nice work—If you can get it . . . And who was the seaman second class who came all the way to Farmville last week end from the Naval Air Base only to find that he had been replaced by a "boot"? . . . Nancy Lou Taylor has an answer for it. Ask her how he keeps in touch with her . . The final glimpse of so many of the familar faces from Hampden-Sydney before their owners report to various corners of the globe is the short story of the week—a short, short.

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

Tonight at 9 the Y Club will meet in the student lounge. Dr. Jeffers will be the speaker. The Freshman Commission heads the Club, and its purpose is to help the new student get acquainted with the work of the Y.

A new supply of gauze is in, so bandages will be rolled aagin this Thursday night.

The Y Cabinet is helping the War Council in the War drive.

Over thirty Baptist students are planning to attend the B. S. U. retreat at Lynchburg this week-end.

Sunday the Westminster Fellowship will hold a joint conference with Hampden-Sydney.

This week for prayers we shall think about the man Christ—Christ in his relationship to God and man.

"Once to very man and nation comes the moment to decide,
In the strife of Truth with Falsehood, for the good or evil side;
Some great cause, God's new Messiah, offering each the bloom or blight,
Parts the goats upon the left hand, and the sheep upon the right
And the choice goes by forever, 'twixt that darkness and that light."

Staff Struggles Valiantly; Finds Editor Indispensable

"It's hopeless, and I'm helpless," the managing editor threw up her hands in despair and announced to the world in general. "The very idea of even trying to get out a Rotunda when the editor is in the infirmary with no visitors! It's preposterous and unheard of!"

The staff grins understandingly and the substitute editor sits back down to that headline that won't fit.

"Three line, 24 point on this one please," as she indicates a yellow copy sheet neatly typed.

"Huh?"

"I want a three line head on that article—24 point type. YOU write it."

"What's 24 point type?"

"Say, how many letters will go in a 14 point drop did you say?"

"This ready to be typed?"

"My head doesn't fit either."

And so on into the night with the Rotunda staff in the editor's absence. It's really a vicious circle—putting out a paper every week. And it's an all-week, entire-staff job, too. But what's more important, an editor is really indispensable.

"Can we put this article here?"

"I don't know—we'll have to ask Harry." (Harry is that truly amazing fellow in the Herald office who solves all problems.)

"Does anybody know any dirt? I'm lacking three inches."

"Yeh, didja hear bout—?" And with that a jam session begins. One must have some recreation when one is working.

The door flies open.

"Here's my assignment."

"Well, it's about time." But the whole staff really has been remarkably wonderful about cooperating. It's amazing, really. And Harry nearly fainted when he saw one column come in on time last week.

The noise of the typewriters is incessant. With so many people working so hard, the room soon becomes so full of cigarette smoke that it can almost be cut with a dull knife. All last year's papers lie on the floor as a result of frantic searches as to how such material can be made up into that little creation best known to the student body at large as the Rotunda.

"Hand me that dictionary. Do you spell "adviser" with an "o" or an "e"?

"Did that article from Mr. Strick ever come in?"

"Somebody go get something to eat. I'm starved."

"Can't get anything to eat at this hour of the night. Everything down town is closed and you know it."

"What's the count for a two-column 24 point Italics?"

"Where's some typing paper?"

"Throw me that ruler."

"How many letters will go in a 14 point headline?"

The staff tears its collective hair But the paper must go to press. And so it goes on tearing its hair and wishing that the editor were present.

The Voice of the People

Dear Editor,

Enough has been said about the Longwood situation—some say too much, and others say not yet enough. But why not do something about it?

Such a condition as could be termed "indecent" did not exist last year when Longwood house was open to girls with their dates. Why not open it again? After all, there is not one single place where a girl can go with her date to get more than a drink of water on Sunday. Oh, we recognize all there is to say against having the building open. We know that Mrs. Dudley is gone. We know there is an oil and food shortage. But still something could be done.

There are dozen of organizations on campus that could easily take the project. It could even be divided among a number of them. Longwood does belong to the school and the students could run it. What better experience could the home ec students get? It wouldn't be necessary for more than two or three to be on duty Sunday afternoon and certainly the home ec students can make cookies and buns—they can be made with sugar substitutes!

But even if no organization feels like taking the responsibility of keeping up the morale of the students here (students do have a morale which must be kept up!) and their dates, many of whom are in the armed forces of our country, by serving as hostesses at Longwood, at least the house could be opened. That in itself would do much to relieve the situation. Besides, it's too pretty a house just to be locked up!

Sincerely,
Two Juniors

Dear Editor,

With the Circus and all its confusion, many of us are sitting back with a sigh of relief. Our sincere hope is that all who participated in the event enjoyed it as much as did the members of Alpha Kappa Gamma. Its success can be measured through the development of a cooperative spirit in an activity which involves such a large portion of the student body. For this reason we are grateful to all who helped in any way, and would like to express appreciation for all those hours of work spent by the girls and faculty members who made the Circus of 1943 worthy of its traditions.

Sincerely,
Patsy Connelly
Hannah Lee Crawford

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

When our mortars were pounding Maknassy Hill near Sidi Bu-Sid in Africa, Private James Rugolo of Brooklyn, New York, was one of the men bringing up the ammunition. Struck by shrapnel, he kept going until he dropped, was awarded the Purple Heart. On every battlefront men like Rugolo press the attack relentlessly, regardless of personal cost. Are you doing enough to keep our attack rolling through Payroll Savings?

U. S. Treasury Department

Monogram Club Bids Issued To Whittle, Droste, Pierce

Scott, Dugger Initiated Monday

Ophelia Whittle, Mildred Droste, and Shirley Pierce received bids to the Monogram Club last night, according to Sara Jeffreys, president, bringing the total enrollment in eleven.

Ophelia, a junior from Petersburg, has been active in several sports, specializing in hockey. She plays on the varsity hockey team and is manager of hockey on the A. A. Council. Mildred Droste, a senior from Roanoke, is president of the H20 Club, and has been active in tennis and swimming. Shirley Pierce, senior from Roanoke, is vice-president of the A. A. Council, and has been active in various sports activities on the campus including swimming, tennis, and basketball.

Bobbie Scott and Ruth Dugger were initiated into the Monogram Club Monday night, the president reported. These two girls were bid to the club last spring. Pasty Connelly, also bid last year has not yet been installed.

Officers in the Monogram Club, honorary athletic organization, are Sara Jeffreys, president; Edith Lovins, vice-president, and Eleanor Wade, secretary.

Joyce Cheatwood, who has taken over the position of Riding Instructor at S. T. C.

Tennis Tourney Continues; Finals Scheduled Soon

Second round matches in the fall tennis tournament have been completed and games are now being scheduled for the semi-finals. Four players now remain in the contest which will come to a completion next week when the finals will determine the winner.

Winners in the matches up to the present position are: Frances Lee has defeated A. Crawley and Mildred Droste; Phyllis Watts has defeated Beanie Dudley and Ophelia Whittle. Also, B. Bralley scored over Helen Wilson and Betty Parrish; and Ruth Dugger over Febecca Tomlinson.

Games for this week will be between Frances Lee and Phyllis Watts, and B. Bralley and Ruth Dugger. In case of rain the games will be postponed, otherwise all schedules must be played off by the end of the week in order that the semi-final and finals can be played off before bad weather.

A schedule of the fall tennis-ladder tournament is posted on the A. A. bulletin board where all players and positions can be seen.

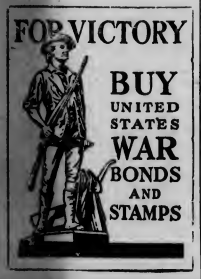
Ruth Dugger, manager of tennis, is in charge of the tourney.

Left Lead

One of these days we're gonna take a census of all the snapshots we can find of Joyce and Harry, both posed and candid. They were "shot" at least a dozen times just during the termination of the Circus Parade last Saturday. Harry really pranced his way through, at the head of the parade, and Lindy and Princess kept up a bit calmer pace right behind. It was the three blacks who really gave us the show. Midnight and Flash and Flicka didn't like the comb-and-paper orchestra marching at their heels, and let the world know how they felt about it. Midnight turned a complete "about-face", stared at the music-makers, and danced right up on the front lawn of the library, leaving Flicka and Flash doing a near-Conga in the middle of the street. But once they got started, some of the excitement calmed itself a bit, and the affair ended with no casualties listed.

The booth at the Circus Saturday night was a big cussess, too. With Joyce and Jean in charge, pennies flew at the little red mark, and despite the sum total of packs of "Luckies" given away, there was a good profit made to swell the funds of the Riding club treasury.

Remember the song "Worried Mind"? Betty Ellis was a living example of the title yesterday afternoon, racing around after the Coke man and trying to complete plans for the club's party last night. She made a good job of it, though. The games were great fun and the Cokes and Doughnuts really hit the spot. It isn't often we find Hitler and Roosevelt putting on the feed-bag in company with Mickey Mouse and Donald Duck, but anything can happen in the Rec, and that party made no exceptions.



To survey the serious side of the stables, first thing we note is that Princess is finally back. She's well-established in her new stall, and right in step with the rest of the gang. They've really been turning out en masse, too, since we're back to fair weather. Classes are full, and they make a pretty show.

And if you watch closely enough, you're apt to see some strange things in the Ring these days. The girls are working on their forward seat and galloping (watch that jump!), and the balance and spring business. It looks most unusual to see 'em trotting around, standing straight up in their stirrups. And there's been a bit of diagonal, too, and figure-eighting all over the field. It's impossible to move the wings of the jumps in from Longwood, but a real side-show is in store even so, because improvised jumps will be set up this week, and . . . again, anything can happen!

Just because it's Fall, don't.

Pegasus.

There is a birth every 14 seconds in the United States and a death every 23 seconds.

Sportspourri

By BETTY ELLIS

Bright Monday

"Rain, rain go away, come again another day." That was everyone's wish last week, and as yours truly sits at the typewriter the first day of November, the wish has finally come true. Bad weather kept all the sports inside last week, and the third periods were made up by ping pong, inside tennis, and discussions of hockey rules. We can take advantage of the good weather this week (keeping our fingers crossed) by playing out-of-doors as much as possible.

Circus Antics

The circus got off to a terrific start, with the parade Saturday. Frolicsome clowns and colorful floats made it a decorative sight. The Riding Club was represented with riders leading the parade. Excitement prevailed, when at the corner of Main and Pine streets, three of the horses put on an exhibition of nervousness by dancing up on the sidewalk among the spectators. It was a long walk, and many of the participants were ready for bed when it was over.

Final Warning

November brings Thanksgiving, and with it comes the eventful day of the Freshmen-Sophomore hockey game. This is your last chance to get in those eight practices before the big game. Five afternoons a week the hockey field is open for use, so take advantage of it, and try out for your team. Come on Red 'n' Whites, and Green 'n' Whites, show your color spirit, and make this year's game one of the best in the school's history. Get your classes together, wear your colors, and come on out and yell loudly for your team. Lots of spirit makes the game more interesting for the spectators, and keeps the players in there fighting for you. It is not always essential to have an audience to play for, but you play twice as hard, if you know that there is someone behind you, cheering you on to victory. Let's make this the best game of the year. With cooperation and lots of spirit, it should be. Your cheerleaders need a crowd to lead in yells. So everyone turn out for the game.

Tennis Trifles

Rainy weather held our tennis players down last week, but the tournament should be definitely good this week. If you like tennis, and aren't quite good enough for the team, come on down to the courts and be a spectator. You can pick up a lot of good tennis points by just watching, and the players will like an appreciative audience. The finals are drawing nigh, and everyone is holding her breath wondering who the winner will be. The players seem to be fairly well-matched this year, so no wonder there is plenty of suspense.

Until next week, I say farewell again, sports fans. Keep in the game, square shooters!

Baptist Convention

Continued from Page 1

Tenenssee; Mr. Versil Crenshaw, Richmond; and Dr. L. D. Johnson, Danville.

Conferences and leaders will be —"Race Relations", by Dr. Clarence Jordan, Georgia, "Temperance", Dr. W. W. Leathers, Petersburg; "Personal Religious Living", Dr. Broach; "Missions", Dr. Everett Gill, Jr,; "Labor", Mr. John Tubbs.

Virginia Treakle will review the book "Abundant Living" on Saturday.

Conferences will be continued on Saturday afternoon, and Dr. Jordan will be the principal speaker.

An outstanding feature of the program will be the annual banquet on Saturday evening at Kram Kollege. Following the banquet Saturday night, Chaplain T. E. Beich, Dr. Everett Gill, Jr., Miss Ellen Douglas Oliver, and Private Charles Carey will speak. The movie "The Kindled Flame" will also be shown.

Miss Marjorie Moore, managing editor of the Commission, and Dr. Josef Nordenhang will speak at the 9 a. m. meeting on Sunday morning.

Baptist students attending any college in Virginia are invited to attend the convention. There will be other speakers in addition to those mentioned above.

Education Week

Continued from Page 1

lustrating the theme of each day. These books may be checked out for reference and study of these topics.

Education Week grew out of World War I, and is sponsored jointly by the American Legion. This year is the twenty-third observance of Education Week.

SKY BOUND

Distinctive... distinguished by lasting service . . . Mary Muffet's "BECKY SHARP" is destined to be your wardrobe standby for early fall. Rayon gaberdine in blue, rose and aqua combinations. Sizes 9-15.

BALDWIN'S
FARMVILLE, VA.

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Come in and try a Delicious Hamburger with tomato and letttuce 15c
We also Serve
PLATE LUNCHES
College Shoppe

Buy War Bonds Every Pay Day
* * *
Let's Double Our Quota

FRESH FLOWERS
—for—
ALL OCCASIONS
Collins Florist

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgiina
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

18 To Staff

Continued from Page 1

Moling, junior transfer from Winchester; Betty Bibb, freshman from Lynchburg and Sue Hundley, freshman from Suffolk. Bernice Copenhaver has been added to the staff as Gleanings columnist.

Emma Allen, freshman from Farmville; Mary Stewart Buford, freshman from Lawrenceville; Connie Hubbard, freshman from Farmville; Ellen Moore, freshman from Culpeper; Dotty Overcash, sophomore from Hampden-Sydney; Theresa Hutt, junior from Neenah; Eloise Stangell, freshman from Emporia; and Sarah Taliaferro, sophomore from Rapidan have been appointed to the Circulation staff.

Three girls have been added to the advertising staff. They are Rachel Bourne, freshman from Saluda; Lynn Sprye, freshman from Lynchburg; and Dorothy Turley, freshman from Wytheville.

Appointments to the typing staff will be announced at a later date.

These additions have been made to the staff as a result of a four week's apprenticeship, during which time the girls were given experience in the phase of paper work in which they were interested.

Ration Points

Continued from Page 1

freshly waxed linoleum and gleaming brass, as they've just been given a special cleaning. And clean linen appears on all the tables on those days, too.

So all you gals get hep to the fact that there is a serious food shortage, and gripping doesn't help a bit. Get in there and rub your hands and lick your chops and say, "Oh boy—hash! Just my dish."

To Mrs. Shelton we give three cheers and then some and dedicate to her this summary of the situation:

"Quirks and quizzers,
Quacks and whizzers.
Stamps 'n' books
Dirty looks,
Ration board
Cant' hoard.
Big hurry,
Have to worry.
Potatoes, beans,
Salad greens,
Bread racks,
Flour sacks
Ice cream 'n' cake
No can make.
Razzle, tazzle
Worn to a frazzle.
Waste not,
Have not.
How can you serve
What you haven't got?"

WELCOME
SHANNON'S
Headquarters for S. T. C.

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

For Lovely Full Fashioned HOSE
and ANKLETS
Visit
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
5-10-25c STORE
Farmville's Newest and Finest 5-10-25c Store
See our Advance Christmas Showing of Cards, Wrappings and Gifts

For BEST SANDWICHES and DRINKS in Farmville
Meet me at
SHANNON'S

Green and White Wins In Circus Stunts As Ford Reigns Over Annual AKG Big Top

Ringmaster Bell Presented Program

From here it looks as if Green-and- White is riding the crest; top honors in the circus went to the Juniors, with the Freshmen splurging in on a close second. Naturally well-informed fans, participants, and those "lost-my-voice" onlookers will long remember the great events. Marilyn Bell, superbly dashing as ringmaster, presented circus Queen Jane Ford, attended by class representatives Martha Higgins, Barbara Surface, and Sue Hundley. In the ensuing pandemonium we nearly lost our proverbial teeth.

Including a rakish pink elephant, the circus parade was a definite triumph. But triumph is a mild word for the spectacular Junior stunt. Doughboy Olive Bradshaw managed to appear in every corner of the earth—the efficient "Property Men" put us in on the know concerning her meanderings. Then, lil' Betsy Fox kept popping up in a futile search for Eleanor, the renowned globe-trotter. When sheik-stealer Marilyn Johnson said, "Why eat?" for once we agreed. And we wake up screaming at the very thought of the Aleutian's Chief Air Raid Warden's (Elsie Thompson, to you) valiantly demanding that the Northern lights be extinguished. Pat Maddox, Anne Masloff and the chorus supplied vocals that sent chills up our respective spines. Enough said.

Jane Ford, senior candidate for circus queen, who reigned over the big top in the gym last Saturday night.

Freshman talent was so rampant we're expecting Life reporters or Hollywood talent scouts any day now. Songs and dances with a couple especially vivid routines carried out the theme of woodland visions. Of course Cab Overbey put over her boogie-woogie in excellent form, and Bracie's scarecrow job was something for the records.

Juniors Portray Johnny Doughboy

But don't think we didn't appreciate the seniors and sophs, "Washington, District of Confusion" literally sparkled with originality and expert characterizations. Who could ever forget Eleanor? Or the beautiful friendship of Frankie and Winnie? Too, we were quite happy to recognize out favorites from the funnies in the sophomore production. Dagwood's sandwich was up to par, but Wimpy sticks to hamburgers, and spinach for Popeye!

Thronging downstairs to the gym floor, we relaxed in all the thrills of a crowded midway. Gaily decorated booths enticed us to play bingo, revert to palmistry, try for a fruitcake, and throw things around with a clear conscience. We could even have our beaming countenances preserved for posterity via pencil sketches, have our hand-writing analyzed and our future revealed. Meanwhile, the seniors rounded up all and sundry for dancing; the Juniors kindly supplied sandwiches and cokes.

Cherubs, it was a fine, braw evening; such S. T. C. traditions hath eternal charms.

Wear Your Best, Mind Manners At Fall Cotillion

For the benefit of freshmen and new girls here are a few do and do not suggestions for S. T. C. dances. The first dance of the year, fall Cotillion, will be held this Saturday. New girls must be invited by Cotillion members and members only can ask dates.

If this is your first girl-break-affair, keep your courtesy in mind, using the same manners as are used by boys at boy-break dances. Cut in by tapping the girl on the shoulder and politely asking if you may break. It is customary not to dance with boys that you haven't been introduced to. The member will introduce you to their dates. Remember not to cut back immediately on the person who cut in on you.

As for attire, wear fall formals, the very best evening dresses are usually worn. A wrap is not necessary if you live in Main Building and don't go outdoors to get to the dance.

The receiving line forms in Student Building but only girls with dates go through it. If you have a date, present him to Dr. Jarman or to whoever heads the line. Say his name distinctly, and if he is a naval or army officer use his rank, if you like. Otherwise, say his name just as if you were introducing him to your roommate.

There will be no-break dances at Cotillion. These will be announced by the orchestra leader. Say, for example, a no-break for Cotillion members only. If in doubt who are members and who are guests, wait until the next dance to break.

If in question as what to do and what not to do, ask any of the upperclasmen who will gladly "show you the ropes."

Recently a Boeing Clipper crossed the Atlantic twice in a 24 hour period.

"Who's got a weed?"

"Don't smoke around these costumes"

"Okay, it's a nasty habit anyhow. . . "

"Well maybe I could put a piece in 'em".

"Who do you think you are, Robin Hood?"

"Naw . . . I'm the King, remember?"

"Pardon me, your Majesty, but if you can't find a pin, you'd better get suspenders."

"Don't go out there like that . . . there's a man out in the auditorium!"

"Ye gods . . . when you go out, take this shirt to the Chancellor . . . he . . . she . . . it's needed sadly."

And so on far into the night. But Make-Believe is a great game anyway, and the costumes take one back to attic days and rainy afternoons. The real dress rehearsal will be a Big Night assuredly, but thinking it over, we'd just as soon stick to our sweaters and loafers for every day use. Imagine pink satin tights in gym class, or leg Mutton sleeves in Lyceum . . . or frilly wrists in the dining-hall! Thanks . . . we'll leave the ruffs to Shakespeare . . and the play-writings, too. What's that? A Blackout? Curtain!!

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

QUALITY WRITING PAPER

Deckle Border, colored pkg. .. 10c
Barclay Package Paper and envelopes to match 10c
Official U. S. V . . .—Mail 20 count 10c 50 count 25c
Parker Quink for V-Mail 15c

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

Boo! Yes, that was a ghost that just jumped from behind that door, for this is Halloween, the delight of children from six to sixty. The holiday was celebrated here with that time-honored and festive occasion—A. K. G.'s annual circus. Although most of the Student Body remained at school, there were quite a few who left these hallowed halls for excitement of a different brand.

Biggest excitement was had by the girls who attended the dances at V. M. I., among whom were: Elizabeth Crouch, Anne Marie Curley, Mary Jane Vanderlehr, Margaret Wilson, Virginia Ford, and Lucy Barger.

Richmond and Roanoke drew prizes for the best attendance for to Richmond went: Jane Crump, Susan Durrett, Shirley Etheridge, Mike Shiflett, Betty Wright, Mary Waler Watts, Mary Sue Palmer, Lucille Lewis, Nell Holloway, and Lucille Winston, while in Roanoke were Cecilia Arthur, B. J. Austin, Madelyn Ayers, eJan Button, Jo Eades, Evelyn Goodman, Beatrice Jones, Mary E. Pearsall, Theresa Tucker, Jean Daniel.

Petersburg claimed Marie Kelly, Kitty Parham, Blair and Carter Renshaw and Gloria Pollard, while Sara Lee East, Shirley Ann Reves and Mary Wyatt went to South Boston.

Weddings, as always, were much in evidence, for Joscelyn Gillam attended the wedding of ex-Farmvilleite Pagie Francis in Hampton, while Sue Harper threw some rice at a wedding in Richmond.

Members of the Newman Club attended a Hallowe'en party last Sunday night at the Blackstone Academy U. S. O. center.

The Governor's Board of the Farmville Woman's Club entertained the wives of Servicemen living in Farmville last Friday afternoon at a tea in the Recreation Hall at S. T .C.

Sororities Pledge 11 In Fall Rushing

Eleven girls were pledged to the sororities here as a result of Fall rushing, Jane Ford, Panhelenic president, announced this week. They were Kathren East, Altavista; Dorothy Overstreet, Bedford, and Barbara Surface, Roanoke, Alpha Sigma Alpha; Margie Lee Culley, Newport News; Vivian Edmonds, Norfolk, and Jerolien Titmus, Petersburg, Alpha Sigma Tau.

Also, Sally Johnson, Vinton, Mu Omego; Katheryne Tindall, Holton, Phi Zeta Sigma; and Virginia Lee Abernathy, Cochron; Geraldine Beckner, Trantville, and Marguerite Stephenson, Wake field, Theta Sigma Upsilon.

It is estimated that there are 15,000,000 Jews in the world. 4,500,000 of these are in the United States.

Southside Drug Store

Farmville's most popular store
FILMS DEVELOPED
&
PRINTED
25c

Martin the Jeweler

See our sterling silver Identification bracelets For men in the service

Patronize

PATTERSONS

The Complete Drug Store

MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-

WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE

PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY

Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Five S. T. C. Students Attend WNU School

From the nine Virginia representatives attending the Louisville, Kentucky, W. M. U. Training School, five are S. T. C. graduates. They are Marion Harden from Dillwyn, Virginia; Frances Huggins, Nutbush, Virginia; Olivia Stevenson, Ivor, Virginia; Clarice Satterwhite, Richmond, Virginia; and Caralle Nelson, South Boston, Virginia.

Throughout their college careers these girls were active in many phases of church and school work.

One hundred girls represent nineteen states of the Union at the W. M. U. Training School in Louisville.

Farmville is proud of the fact that from the Virginia quota of representatives, over half are S. T. C. graduates.

Kate Ellen Gruver Will Teach Baptist Mission Study Class

Kate Ellen Gruver, former missionary to Palestine, will teach a Mission Study Class for Baptist girls at 10 P. M. each night starting Tuesday, November 9, through Friday in the Cactus Inn. During her stay here, Miss Gruver will give inspirational messages nightly at prayers.

Since 1941, Miss Gruver has been speaking to young people's groups all over the South. She will be available for conferences with students who wish to talk to her any time during the days that she will be here.

By speaking to Young People's groups and taking special work at Harvard, Kate Ellen Gruver is getting ready to go back to Palestine the moment the government gives her permission.

Temperature in Alaska has been known to change from 50 degrees above zero to 35 degrees below in a space of 24 hours.

Your Library

Book-Etiquette

Even though these suggestions for the proper handling of books seem obvious and simple to your library staff, and may seem even as obvious and simple to you, the library staff has seen enough girls violate these elementary precepts of good book-etiquette to make it seem worth while to set them forth here. These suggestions have the additional advantage of applying not only to the books in your library, but to all books, to those you buy as text books, to those you buy because you want to, and to those which will be given to you as Christmas presents.

First of all, don't be upset by the string of "don'ts" below; they are used only because the rules can be written more briefly that way.

Don't grab half of a new book in each hand, and vigorously crack it open; you run a good chance of cracking its back and materially shortening its useful life (Even a text-book must last at least a quarter). Take the book to a table, place its back down on the table and let each cover drop to the table. Then carefully press down toward the front cover the first ten or twenty leaves in the book; follow that by pressing down toward the back cover the last ten or twenty leaves in the book; continue the process alternately in front and back until you reach the middle. The book has by then been limbered up and most danger of cracking the back is gone.

Don't lay a book face down when it is open; this is hard on the binding.

Don't pile open books on top of each other; this is particularly bad for large volumes such as encyclopedias and dictionaries.

Don't turn down corners of pages to mark your place. Pretty soon they'll all be turned down (or torn off), and then where will your place be? Or your book for that matter? The Library will always be glad to supply you with a book mark. Or even two if you have two places (or two books).

Don't use pencils, bill-folds, cigarettes, cigars, or ten-dollar bills as book-marks. The first four are bad for the books, and the latter is hard on the library staff which has to return it to you instead of buying more books.

Don't mark books which are not your own. The words and passages you think swell may be only boring to the next reader. Besides there's a state fine for defacing library property.

Don't clip articles, maps and pictures of newlyweds from Library books, magazines, and newspapers. The state has a penalty for this, too—and your classmates might think of a stiffer one.

Don't take books from the Library without being charged. The library staff has to, and your classmates have a right to, know where every book is all the time.

Don't take magazines and reference books from the Library at all; remember, they belong to all of you—not to just one of you.

Don't let all these don'ts keep you from using the Library; its quite easy, pleasant, and even profitable—despite the don'ts.

New book of the week: The Apostle, by Sholom Asch.

For SOLDIERS, SAILORS & CIVILIANS

$1.95

No ration coupon needed

WATER REPELLENT SHOWER AND BARRACK

SCUFFS

NON-SKID ROPE SOLE!

Safeguard against athlete's foot! For use from or to the shower. The ideal scuff for lounging around the home, garden or barracks. Sizes 6 to 12. Khaki or navy.

DAVIDSON'S

The House of Quality

Costuming During Rehearsal Gives Rise to "Mind Your Pleas and Cues"

To make this a one-act play entitled, "Mind your Pleas and Cues" or something similar, would be the simplest way to put it across, but since there is a headline staff to do the dirty work, far be it from us to steal their thunder! But anyway, we'll consider it as such and set the stage accordingly.

The scene is the auditorium, the time, any night, and the characters? They're tempermental, and prefer to remain anonymous. But you'll probably recognize them. The rehearsing cast of the "Ivory Door".

As the curtain opens, we find a general air of turmoil and confusion, for not only is this a regular practice, but tonight is the night that the costumes are brought from their trunks and boxes in the store-room, right to the stage for fitting possibilities. Clothes are scattered everywhere, fantastic green cloaks and pink satin tights mingling with the discarded skirts 'n' sweaters and the eveh-present loafers bowing humbly before the more desirable ballet slippers. A kingly figure in a purple robe sits upon his stately orchid throne . . . and his bare feet hang out. A dignified individual is standing nearby rehearsing a speech . . . and his dignity is scarcely phased by the mere fact he is fully clothed . . . except for his pants! Someone else in orange velvet tights hears his cue and grabs up a pink skirt because it's closest, and the green cloak does a great job of covering up the bare unmentionables while the wearer goes through his role. Let's listen to some of the lines we hear . . . even if they aren't part of the regular script.

"Well, Darling, I don't care if you can't find a hat, just try on the PANTS!"

"Well they're on but I can't sit down in 'em."

"Then go on a diet! !" (The show must go on!!)

"This skirt is too long . . . I'll trip."

"Anybody got a pin?"

"Help me pull out this seam".

"No M'am, these don't fit either". . . "Go after the long-sleeved blouses".

"Can I wear this gray coat with these brown pants?"

"At least you're not wearing red and orange and blue, like I am".

"Doesn't the Princess look adorable?"

"How 'bout the little Prince . . . he loks like he forgot to finish dressing".

"The soldiers have a military look. . . . there's something about those red coats . . ."

"Yeah . . . but where can they put their swords in that outfit? And supose the captain takes too deep a breath?"

"No m'am . . . can't wear these, either."

PERMANENT WAVE Specials

NO. 1
REGULAR $15.00 EMPRESS MACHINELESS PERMANENTS
$9.95

NO. 2
REGULAR $12.50 DUCHESS MACHINELESS PERMANENTS
$7.95

NO. 3
REGULAR $10.00 PARK AVE. MACHINELESS PERMANENTS
$6.45

NO. 4
REGULAR $7.50 NAMINCO MACHINELESS PERMANENTS
$4.95

Now is the Time to secure a beautiful guaranteed Permanent at a greatly Reduced Price

BALDWIN'S

PHONE 159

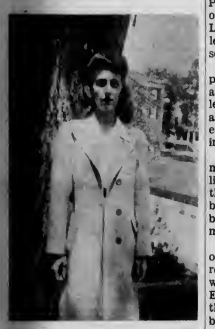
PLAN TO HEAR MISS GRUVER THIS WEEK

The Rotunda

FRESHMEN—VOTE FOR YOUR COMMISSION MEMBERS TOMORROW

VOLUME XXIII FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 10, 1943 NUMBER 7

Ellett, Corvin Elected May Day Program Heads



Library Lawn Will Provide Settings

Virginia Mae Ellett, senior from Crewe, has been elected general chairman of the May Day Committee by the student body last week. Assisting her as business manager will be Mildred Corvin, senior from Crewe.

Others selected for the May Day committee are Margaret Lawrence, senior from Windsor, and Dora Jones, junior from Radford. costume chairmen; Ruth Dugger, senior from Denbigh, dance chairman; Patsy Connelly, senior from Lebanon, in charge of transportation; Mary Moore McCorkle, senior from Lexington, staging; and Elizabeth Ann Jordan, senior from Waynesboro, music.

Plans for the theme, which is to represent a Mexican Fiesta, are now being developed. Dances representing the provinces that are best known will be given by the Modern Dance students.

Unless there is a lifting of the gas ban, May Day will be given on the Library lawn.

Virginia Mae Ellett, general chairman for May Day.

Nash To Lecture Here November 16

Dr. Jay B. Nash, head of the department of health and physical education of New York University, will be here on Tuesday, November 16 to talk on physical fitness. He will speak to the entire student body during chapel Tuesday morning and in the afternoon he will meet with those girls majoring in physical education.

Dr. Nash has been a leader in the field of physical education throughout the United States for many years. He has been president of the National Association of Health, Physical Education, and Recreation, and at the present time is a member of the U. S. Office of Education Committee on war time physical fitness for secondary schools, colleges, and universities.

Continued on Page 4

Town Girls Initiate Five New Members

Five town girls were initiated into the Town Girls club at the regular meeting held last Friday, Elizabeth Gates, president announced. The new girls receiving membership were Colleen Agee, Mary Clements, Virginia Farrier, Martha Holman and Frieda Sturman.

Carol Diggs was elected publicity chairman, and Mary Clements was appointed reporter of the club.

Mary Evelyn Pearsall, president of Student Government and Frances Lee Hawthorne, president of the Y. W. C. A., were made honorary members.

Alumni Board Sets March 4, 1944 As Founders Day

Simkins To Mark Library Portraits

Founders Day has been set for March 4, 1944, it was announced this week, following a meeting of the executive board of the Association of Alumni Saturday, November 6. Class reunions will be held at this time.

Out of town people attending the meeting were Mrs. S. Gardner Waller, Richmond, president; Miss Carrie Sutherlin, president, Chevy Chase Junior College, Washington, D. C., director; and Mrs. Thomas D. Eason, Richmond, director. The two vice-presidents, Miss Caralie Nelson, W. M. U. Training School, Louisville, Kentucky, and Mrs. Jane Royal Phlegar, New York City, were unable to attend and were represented by Miss Ruth Gleaves and Miss Pauline Camper, proxies. Also on the executive board are Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the College, and Mrs. M. Boyd Coyner, secretary.

The board requested that the portraits in the library be marked, and Dr. F. B. Simkins of the College history department has been asked to waite a brief biography of each person whose portrait hangs in the library.

Miss Mary Clay Hiner, chairman of the Morrison Memorial library committee, reported that the alumnae had contributed 21 books since May 19, which have been placed on the Morrison Memorial shelf in the library.

Miss Pauline Camper, chairman of the College China committee, reported that additional Wedgewood china had been ordered from England to be placed on sale in the tea room and that it would be here by Christmas.

The objectives of the Alumnae Association as outlined by the executive board are (1) scholarships

Continued on Page 4

Duo Piano Recital To Be Given Soon

Mrs. Anne Atkinson-Chamberlayne and Dr. Graves Thompson will present a Duo Piano Recital in Student Lounge at 8:30 P. M., Wednesday, November 17, under the auspices of the Farmville Woman's Club.

Mrs. Atkinson - Chamberlayne lives at Hampden-Sydney, and is a teacher of music. For a number of years, she was on the concert stage and much of her life was spent in Dresden, England.

Dr. Graves Thompson, a Harvard graduate, is professor of Latin at Hampden-Sydney.

Any students who are particularly interested in music are cordially invited. There will be no admission to the recital.

Four New Members Join Debate Club

Four new members have been added to the roll of the Debate Club, Alice Nichols, president, reported this week. They are Olive Bradshaw, junior from Rice; Jane Waring Ruffin, junior from Charles City County; Faith Weeks, sophomore from Purdy, and Dot Turley, freshman from Wytheville.

This afternoon practice debates began with Olive Bradshaw and Betty Adams on the affirmative and Jane Waring Ruffin and Betty Deuel Cock on the negative of the question for the year, "Resolved, that the United States should cooperate in establishing and maintaining an international police force upon the defeat of the Axis powers."

Kate Ellen Gruver Instructs Mission Study Group Here

Missionary Leads Prayers This Week

Kate Ellen Gruver, former missionary to Palestine, will speak nightly at prayers, starting Wednesday, November 10, through Friday.

Miss Gruver is in Farmville to teach a Mission Study Class for Baptist girls at the Cactus Inn each night at 10 p. m.

Born at Ancon in the Canal Zone, Miss Gruver has lived in many strange places because of her father's work in the United States Public Health Service.

She entered Vanderbilt University, Nashville, Tennessee, in 1931 to take a pre-medical course, but later changed the plans for her life work. In 1936, she finished her college work at Tennessee College with a B. S. degree and entered the W. M. U. Training School in Louisville, Kentucky, for special religious training.

While at the Training School, a very definite call to go to Palestine came to her and she was appointed to that field in 1938. The war broke into her plans and forced her to return to the United States in 1941, after three years of service in the Holy Land.

Miss Gruver will be available for conferences with any students who wish to talk to her during her stay in Farmville.

In preparation to return to Palestine when she is able to acquire permission from the government, Miss Gruver has been taking special work at Harvard, and has worked with young people all over the South.

Treakle Elected B. S. U. Official

Virginia Treakle, sophomore from Farmville, was elected first vice-president of the Baptist Student Union of Virginia at the annual fall convention held at Rivermont Baptist Church in Lynchburg, November 5-7. Virginia is active in the activities on this campus, as first vice-president of the Farmville Baptist Student Union, chairman of the service committee of the Y. W. C. A., and a member of the College War Council. She is news editor of the Rotunda and is a member of Alpha Phi Sigma.

Other officers elected at the convention were Robert Blount, Apprentice School, Newport News, president; Ryland Dodson, Washington and Lee, second vice-president; Ada Crabtree, Radford, third vice-president; Lois Allen, Mary Washington, secretary, Lottie Blanton, Westhampton, reporter; and Margaret Shelbourne, V. P. I., promotion chairman.

T. Tertius Noble To Conduct Oratorio Work Here In April

North Carolina, Duke Choirs Join College Group in Major Concert

Music Broadcast Possible Chance

Dr. T. Tertius Noble, organist and choir master emeritus of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, New York City, wil direct a major oratoria work on this campus some time in April, Mr. Alfred Strick, head of the department of music revealed to the press this week.

Participating in the oratorio, which will be either Dvorak, "Stabet Mater" or Brahms "Requime" will be the Farmville choir and the choirs from the University of North Carolina and Duke University. In addition, plans are in the making to have a full symphony orchestra on the campus at this time.

Manning Tittman Soloists

Dr. Noble will, while at Farmville, give an organ recital and speak to the various choral groups as well as conduct the oratorio, Mr. Strick said. Soloists for the concert will probably be Miss Florence Manning, who sang with the Choir in New York last spring, and Major C. T. Tittman, a well known oratorio singer.

Network Willing to Broadcast

Further plans for the concert, the tentative date of which is April 16, include prospects for an international broadcast. "This much can be said now," Mr. Strick reported in connection with such a broadcast, "the networks are interested and willing, but not definite commitment can be made until 30 days prior to the performance."

Dr. Noble, former organist of the New Minister Cathedral in Yorkshire, England, is known internationally and at present is director of the St. Thomas choir school, the members of which form probably the largest church choir in the country. Known to Mr. Strick in England, Dr. Noble directed the nationwide broadcast of the "Requiem" by the Duke and S. T. C. choirs from New York last spring.

Other tentative choir plans for the year include a concert at Chapel Hill, N. C., on Palm Sunday and a concert tour of eastern Canada.

KATE ELLEN GRUVER

Freshmen Select Student Standards Representatives

Judy Connelly, Lebanon, and Sue Hundley, Suffolk, were elected as freshman representatives to Student Standards at the meeting held last night.

Jane Rowe, Richmond, was elected head cheer leader with Margaret Brace, Charleston, W. Va., and Betty Lee, Richmond, as assistants.

Out of the 21 girls nominated for the freshman commission, 12 will be elected by secret ballot at the table in the hall tomorrow. Girls who were nominated are Betty Bibb, Lynchburg; Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Kenbridge; Page Cook, LaCrosse; Elizabeth Crouch, Marion; Ann Curley, Richmond; Patsy Dale, Homeville; Anna Stuart Headlee, Norfolk; Helen Lacy, Richmond; Betty Lee, Richmond; Margaret Lohr, Brightwood; Car-

Continued on Page 4

Ford Places Six On Typing Staff

Six more girls have been added to the staff of the Rotunda as typists, Ella Banks Weathers, editor, and Jane Ford, head typist, announced. They are Mary Walton Rucker, Lynchburg; Vivian Gwaltney, Windsor; Louise Andrews, Petersburg; Virginia Pullen, Danville; Margaret Bear, Churchville; Frances Lee, Richmond, and Martha Droste, Ronceverte, West Virginia.

These new appointments were not announced last week due to Jane's absence from the campus at the time the paper went to press.

KDP, BET Gives Year's Programs

Frost Lectures Here February 2

Kappa Delta Pi's chief aim for the year is to get a better understanding of Latin American peoples by studying their ways of thinking, behavior, and customs, Mary Moore McCorkle, president, stated. With this idea, Kappa Delta Pi plans to sponsor a Library Project called "Personal Library Building" to encourage students to begin a collection of books, or to enlarge upon the one already started. This program is expected to be launched during National Education Week.

The programs for the rest of the year are to be given by students, faculty members, and probably outside speakers.

Beorc Eh Thorn, English Honor Society, had its first program meeting last Thursday. This was the beginning of a series of literary studies, which the program committee has planned in order to stimulate creative efforts on the part of Beorc Eh Thorn members. Alice Nichols discussed the topic "What the War has Done to Books and Vice Versa." Elizabeth Ann Jordan reviewed Under Cover by John Ray Carlson, in connection with this theme.

The Society is looking forward to the December meeting, when the program topic will be, "What the War has Done to Books and Publishing." Dr. Leroy Merritt will present 'The Views of a Librarian."

The January program will be concerned with the life and works of Robert Frost, who will be brought to the campus by Beorc Eh Thorn on February 2. Later programs will include a moving picture and awarding of higher membership degrees to students for their original writings.

Miss Elizabeth Eggleston, Hampden-Sydney, recognized as one of our Virginia poets, will read some of her poetry to the group at the April meeting. The final program will be based on the Pulitzer Prize Winners for this year.

Fall Play Unfolds Stories of Legend

Under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler, practices for "The Ivory Door", A. A. Milne's three act legendary play to be presented by the Dramatic Club on Friday November 19, are well under way.

The play, presented on the New York stage in 1927 and in London in 1929, has been called by one critic, "a whimsical presentation of the truth about human nature wit ha medieval court for setting". It tells of the legends of the mysterious Ivory Door, beyond which is what no one knows. The atmosphere of the play is presented to the audience in the prologue when the legend is introduced. The epilogue gives a glimpse into the future and the main body of the play tells the story of a simple excitable people who believe what they want to about what happens beyond the door.

As in the New York production, one person takes the part of the king in epilogue, prologue and the main part of the play. Dodie Jones takes this part. The feminine lead, the part of Princess Lila, is played by Nancy Whitehead. Christine Shifflet portrays Brand, the body servant of the King and Grace Lloyd is playing the role of Bruno, captain of the guard.

Continued on Page 4

Stage Crew, Play Cast, Properties Mingle As Rehearsal for "Ivory Door" Progresses

Lighting, Directing Add to Confusion

If you thought costuming confusing in our little skit last week, it's possible you may have enjoyed even more Scene II, in which we find the lighting group doing everything except hang by their knees from the cat-walks around the top of the stage, and the staging group shifting props from hither to yon, till in the mob scenes one never knows which is cast and which is crew.

From the very first, we have the same bedlam as of last week. When the curtains are drawn, instead of the King on his throne, we find Charlie, perched precariously atop a ladder, his head lost among the curtains, working on a spotlight, and Mullie Bugg gazing attentively upward, oblivious of anything except his adeptness.

It's very simple from there on. In the middle of His Majesty's first speech, the step-ladder is dragged across the stage. In the middle of the little Prince's answer, it's hauled back again. Several dozens of their next lines are completely drowned out by shouts of "Turn on the foots! Switch number 14 off . . . Not the whites, the blues!" And so on. Characters not on the stage in the first act are scattered about the auditorium, diligently studying lines, lessons and love letters, and weak moans of disapproval arise as one when the house-lights dim and go out. There's not room for everybody backstage, and already girls are clusterid like moths about the one dim light in the dressing room. Books are no sooner put away, and pens no sooner closed, than the house lights go up again, and the groans take on a different pitch. After all, that gal's in the dark enough already when it comes to that Geography paper she's trying to concentrate on.

Step Ladder Seems Part of Properties

On the stage, one gets quite used to saying lines to someone else who is standing there, all ears, and then realizing that she is merely standing there to note the effect of a spotlight of a certain shade.

Continued on Page 3

Calling All Little Women on Campus To Become Big in Character and Work

This is an editorial written for the Little Women on the Campus. It's written for your roommate who's worrying about her social life, and the girl across the hall who never steps out of her room until dinner time. It's a plea to these Little People to stop dawdling and start working—now—for a world in which the Little Woman will count.

The other people (Little People too, who are riveting and driving street cars and flying bombers over enemy territory) are going to look to the college graduates of today and tomorrow to lead the way in establishing a New World for the Common People—the average man, if you wish.

And they're going to call on you, LWOC, as well as the campus leaders, to account for the four years you spent in college while the rest of the People were in there fighting.

In other words, we're going to be on trial, and there will be two charges brought against us. We have to prove that 1) we're worth the four-year lease on life we're being given, and that 2) the Little Woman is worth fighting for.

Thee's more to a college education than text books and lectures. There's more to it than coke dates and juke boxes. There's a third angle—an angle that some of us learned the hard way back in high school and prep school.

It's the side of life which means doing without dinner or getting along on a cup of coffee once in a while when there's a meeting to attend, a show to put on, a Poli Sci test in the morning, or a six-page theme due in the afternoon.

It's the side of life which means really working long hours, sacrificing some momentary pleasure, getting down to the things that count, giving a lot and expecting little. But don't kid yourself, LWOC, it's the zip in the zombie, the lemon in the coke,—all right, we'll use a bromide, it's the spark of life. But it's the kind of stuff the Little Women of the Underground in Germany and France and the hills of Yugoslavia are made of.

It's something Americans used to have before somebody decided "that the most outstanding thing about Youth is its cynicism." And listen, Little Gal, that small phrase has covered a multitude of sin.

We've been avoiding the word "activities" because it's been thrown at you so often. It's the same kind of word as self-discipline, will power, and enthusiasm. It's one of those "read men and turn the page quick" words. But if college students can't have unpleasant words thrown at them, then college students are things of the past—the Paleozoic age of isolationist fossils who were afraid to think.

The world is tired of straddlers. It's had its fill of hesitaters and mental stutterers. It's sounding a challenge to the Little Woman,—especially the Little Woman on Campus to roll up her sleeves and get to work.—Daily Orange.

(Editor's note: This editorial is reprinted from the columns of the DAILY ORANGE, publication of Syracuse University. It comes to the ROTUNDA via the BULLETIT, publication of Mary Washington College.)

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Tallaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Spryc, Dorothy Turley.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Betty Cock, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, NOV. 10, 1943

To Student Government: Sincere Appreciation

Last week's experiment with student-run Longwood proved very successful. And much credit is due to those who undertook to initiate the project. At present there is a suggestion on hand that some time in the near future a Longwood Association be organized with a head to be elected by the student body or appointed by the president of student government to take charge of keeping Longwood open as long as there can be no regular matron there.

To student government goes the praise of these columns for relieving the telephone situation by the addition of bulletin boards, for their action on informal dress for Lyceums, for the privilege of juniors dating in the junior parlors, and last, but not least, for reopening Longwood.

Gleanings

The Russians celebrated the sixth anniversary of the Soviet cabinet this week. The spirit of festivity prevailed there more than it had for over two years. And why shouldn't it? Kiev, the Ukraine capital, is now in their hands. A strong bridgehead has been established at Kerch and is being improved. Stalin announced that a real second front was not far off and that the Mediterranean front can not be considered a second front although it is similar to one.

* * * *

By obtaining heights higher than Mignano, the Allies may pass it and go on up the valley leading to Rome. The Nazi had underestimated the fighting ability of the Americans in the mountains, and now the fighting will take place in a broad valley. Instead of our being too optimistic about this, we should remember that it has revived the hope among the Allied forces to be in Rome by Christmas. And Rome is much farther from the Po Valley than the Allies are from Rome.

Apparently, King Vittoris Emanuele has temporarily won the fight to hold his throne. Certain commitments were made, but they have not been made known yet, nor is it certain whether all the leaders agree to them.

* * * *

The largest Japanese convoy since last November is sailing to Rabaul in a desperate effort to stop the advance of the Allies. Ships have already been hit by the Allies, and when the convoy reaches Rabaul, it will be within the range of hundreds of our bombers.

The danger of inflation in the United States is increased by the steady rise in the amount of money in circulation and by the upswing of black markets. This is a problem not only to the Ways and Means Committee, but to the whole country.

The Seeing Eye

This is your STC "sees all, hears all, tells most of it" reporter going to press with the week's most notable happenings. First of all, we want to welcome back all the good girls that we miss so much this year. Wish there were more Cotillions—that seemed to be the attraction!

Orchids go to Twitch Ellett and Shirley Pierce for making sure the dance was a success.

And weren't we all partial to M. Higgins' date—we'd like to see more of that twosome.

P. Becker and Cutty make another handsome twosome—and a favored one.

Guess you all knew that Frances Lee's date was Philhower's Uncle . . . the fastest jit on the floor was Helen Wilson's brother, Dick . . . Betsy Fox has taken over her brother Mangey's place on STC dance floors . . . Big Barbara and Mrs. White were here . . .

Surprises of the week end: S. W. Owen and no Parham . . . Fiddle with long hair . . . Nancy and Billy Austin back . . . a minority of sailors and a majority of tux . . . Jane Johnson and Billy Dance . . . Beckie Lacy and R. F. . . . Charlie Hop's absence . . . the piano player smiling . . . two soldiers without dates . . .

Having "Frank Sinatra" on campus was no small issue. He certainly was A-1 with the stag line . . . he was thrilling, wasn't he, girls? And how about the talented soldier sax player?

Even the S. Pacific isn't too far away to send roses and gardenias to the little wife on her birthday, especially when the wife is our own Ruth Parker (Brooks).

Brickbats to: Girls' heads who appeared at the windows of the gym at the dance . . . to those numerous females who portrayed beautifully the role of "snake" (we are glad to report their efforts unsuccessful). Also go a few brickbats to those girls who glare when broken at a dance . . .

Our congrats go out to Lucille Lewis, her committee, and the goats for an excellent job of decorating the gym.

Is it just a rumor or really true that Mildred Corvin and the "Bobby Dick" are once more hitting it off after a brief separation?

For more information concerning Paradise Island and "Paradise" . . . ask Anne Kington . . .

What's this we hear about a certain Soph shedding tears when her week end date (and a blind one at that) left?

Most confused hall this week end—2nd. floor Annex—who finally wore the corsage, girls?

Glad to see E. Banks out again.

the "Y"

The Y Committees will have their regular meetings tonight at 10. Look on the bulletin board for the place.

We're doing fine on the bandage rolling, let's keep it up. Don't forget it tomorrow night.

There were about 25 Presbyterian girls who went to the convention at Hampden-Sydney Sunday.

Farmville had the largest delegation from any college at the Baptist Student Union State Convention in Lynchburg this week-end. Twenty-four went from S. T. C. Miss Kate Ellen Geuver, a missionary to Palestine, is on our campus. She will speak each night at 10 at the BSU Center. Everyone is invited. She will also talk at Prayers Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday.

Don't forget Morning Watch in Junior Parlor Sunday morning right after breakfast. These few minutes of quiet worship will make Sunday mean more to you.

The Methodist girls are having a supper next Sunday night at 6 o'clock. All who are interested, sign up on the bulletin board. There will be a small fee for all attending to help cover the cost.

The Canterbury Club is beginning a study of other religions next Sunday night with a discussion of non-Christian groups. This will be followed by a talk by Dr. Walmsley on the various Protestant bodies at a later date.

"For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth on Him should not perish, but have everlasting life."—John 3:16.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

When our mortars were pounding Maknassy Hill near Sidi Bu-Sid in Africa, Private James Rugolo of Brooklyn, New York, was one of the men bringing up the ammunition. Struck by shrapnel, he kept going until he dropped, was awarded the Purple Heart. On every battlefront men like Rugolo press the attack relentlessly, regardless of personal cost. Are you doing enough to keep our attack rolling through Payroll Savings?

U. S. Treasury Department

What's In A Name - - -

Wouldn't It Be Funny If

Ella were a Lake instead of a Pool?
Mary Frances were a Sun instead of a Moon?
Marilyn were Chimes instead of a Bell?
Shirley were a Battleship instead of a Cruser?
Marion were a Pear instead of an Orange?
Sara Wayne were England instead of France?
Theresa were a Cottage instead of a Hutt?
Betty were an Apron instead of a Bibb?
Sara were a Song instead of a Ballard?
Naomi were a Colonel instead of a Major?
Carolyn were a mustache instead of a Beard?
Barbara were Circumference instead of Surface?
Evelyn Mae were a Bad man instead of a Goodman?
Margery Jeanne were a Zipper instead of a Button?

Our Menagerie Consists Of:

A Bear, a Buck, a Bugg, a Fox, a Dove, a Chick, Robbins, and a Swan.

At S. T .C. We Have

Wells, but no springs.
Akers, but no square miles.
Brothers, but no sisters.
The Price, but not the cost.
Brushwood, but not firewood.
Brooks, but no rivers.
A Hill and Dale, but no mountains and valleys.
A Knight, but no squire.
A Page, but no porter.
A Prince, but no pauper.
A Walker, but no runner.

If our automobiles, Ford and Austin, should fail to give us service in these gasless days, we should have to stay at home, since we have only Stables and Barnes, but no horses.

We Want To Know

Is Mary a Crank?
Is Aline a Boss?
Can Eleanor Wade?
What happens when Carol Diggs?
Is Lyne very Sprye?
Can Jane Rowe?
Is Jeanne Strick?
Is Connie very Young?
Why Jeradine's a Payne?
Is Betty quite Little?
If Mary Ann is Loving?
If Helen is a Savage?
What Jackie would Parden?

Browsing Room Glows With Pleasant "Come Hither" Look

Designed as a pleasant place in which to read for the sake of reading, for the fun there is in it, the Browsing Room of your library is furnished with comfortable chairs and davenports, table and floor lamps, blue paint (Charlie calls it the Blue Room), and with books and magazines meant to beguile you into spending a leisure hour within its quiet walls. It is located in the Southeast corner of the Library on the ground floor, and may be entered from the library or directly from outside. It unfortunately also serves as a passageway for students going to and from classes, but you will not be disturbed by this at night—when there are no classes, and when the outside door is locked.

The Browsing Room contains two separate colections of books. The first of these is shelved in the large middle panel and is called "The World's Great Books." This is a group of about two hundred old and new books which have been rated the best of their time by various scholars and other self appointed authorities from Mortimer Adler to "The New Republic." These are books which shape men's minds, which change the course of their thinking, which are the basis for social, cultural, and even political revolutions. These are the great books. Warning: They won't be easy reading—but any time spent with them will be well spent indeed.

The second collection is meant for more casual, recreational reading. It contains fiction, poetry, drama, travel, biography, and many other classes of books which are popular with college students, and which will contribute much to their general knowledge and culture—even while acording them pleasant hours of reading. Unlike the first collection which stays pretty much the same all of the time, this collection is constantly changing as books are charged by students, and as new books are added to it. So, stop and look at it occasionally; it won't be quite the same two times running.

Books from the Browsing Room may be withdrawn without coming to the main desk of the Library by signing the white card in the book, and leaving it in the small drawer in the writing desk near the door. It is suggested that you also pencil the date blue—two weeks hence—on the date due slip, so you will not forget when to return it. And when you return it—please bring it to the main desk of the Library.

The Browsing Room also contains a collection of twelve magazines, most of which are not to be found elsewhere in the library. Such titles as The "American Magazine", "Harper's Bazaar", the "New Yorker", and the "Readers Digest" are among the most popular. Come and see what the other eight titles are. As is true in other parts of the library, magazines may not be withdrawn from the Browsing room—for they must be there at all times for all to read.

New book of the Week: "See What I Mean," by Lewis Browne.

Be Ingenious -- Turn Leisure Hours Into Christmas Gifts

The clicking of knitting needles is becoming as familiar as the strains of "Pistol Packin' Mama"—everywhere balls of wool and knitting bags and directions and chatter about knit two—purl two—Which "shows to go you" this venerable hobby is no longer confined to old maids with rocking chairs and cats. S. T. C.'ers are turning out their own sweaters and socks in record time. When the days get nippier, mittens will appear in the process of production.

Knitting baby sweaters is a growing fad for aunts or "I have to give her a present-ers". Don't be amazed if you see tiny pink and white garments scattered around.

Magazines are full of knitting and crocheting Christmas suggestions—Anything from hats to table mats can be supplied by nimble fingers using inexpensive materials. Wartime Christmas should, we all realize, be economizing ones. What better way than a make-them-yourself project! Join the Knitters. . . .

But there are manners for knitting as there are for everything else. First and foremostly, remember that knitting in chapel is like knitting in church. If you must walk and knit at the same time, better apply for a seeing eye dog. It isn't exactly polite to knit in a class though there are some teachers who do not object seriously to it. Put yourself in the teachers shoes. How would you feel if your class had their minds on knit two, purl two instead of on the fall of the Roman empire? When exam time rolls around, a few notes on the subject will make you much more comfortable than a new red cardigan.

So, if you're ingenious, invest in needles, wool and a direction book, (don't take anyone's word for it) and turn your rainy afternoons and leisure hours, though not from class periods and chapel days, into sweaters and socks and Christmas gifts.

Methodist Students To Meet November 13 In Charlottesville

Methodist College students from all over the state will convene at Charlottesville on November 13 and 14 in the annual Student Conference.

A large part of the program will concern interracial and interfaith relations. The first session will be held on Saturday, November 13, from 4:30 p. m. until 10:30 p. m. at First Methodist Church. On Sunday, November 14, the morning session will be held at the Westminister Presbyterian Church and the afternoon session at the First Methodist Church. The conference will adjourn at three o'clock on Sunday afternoon.

The conference program has been posted on the bulletin board and all girls wishing to attend may see Betty Watts, who is in charge of registration.

Table Hostesses To Be Entertained

Tomorrow night, Thursday, the table hostesses will be entertained by the annual "yum yum" party in the Rec at 10 o'clock p. m. Assisting Mrs. Annie B. Shelton, dietition, who is preparing the party, will be those girls who sit at the Head Table, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, president of student government; Frances Lee Hawthorne, president of the Y. W. C. A.; Judy Eason, president of the House Council; Patsy Connelly, president of the A. A.; Ella Banks Weathers, editor of the Rotunda; Elizabeth Tennent, editor of the Colonnade; Sara Wayne France, editor of the Virginian; Faye Nimmo, president of the senior class; Hannah Lee Crawford, president of A. K. G., and Jean Arington, head dining room hostess.

Choir's Music Morning Received Appreciatively By Student Body

On last Friday the student body and faculty paused as usual in their day's occupations for the daily chapel program. Upperclassmen had heard of this program and were filling up the vacant back seats; many more faculty members were present and throughout the crowd there was an occasional visitor. The stage curtains were closed—the auditorium was calming down.

Finally the curtains were slowly opened to reveal the maroon-vested College choir massed around the huge black piano where Professor Strick presided. Not a member made a motion—they sat with straight backs, quiet hands and feet, solemn faces. This complete uniformity was further evidenced throughout the program when the choir would rise for a hymn and again when they would be seated.

The scripture and prayer created the mood for the remainder of the program. With heads still bowed after the spoken prayer, the audience listened to softly sung "Lord's Prayer" by Esther Shevick. In absolute silence, her lovely voice rose like a silver thread aboe the deeper humming of the Choir with the occasional chords of the piano between the phrases.

Lucy Messick, then introduced Dr. Walmsley, who described the hymns that were to be sung. The first hymn was "A Mighty Fortress Is Our God" in all its rugged beauty. It was a powerful thing with great strong chords of piano notes. The next was the quietly beautiful, "Jesus, Lover of My Soul". In comparison to the first hymn, it was much slower and had a quieter kind of beauty.

At last came the very jewel of the whole program. Brahm's "Requiem", which was described as "a musical setting for passages in the Bible". After introductory music, low deep voices sang out. The dignity of this powerfully majestic cantata cannot be described—only the ones who have heard it can feel its beauty. The heights the sopranos attained, the quiet droplets of piano notes at intervals, the blending of the singers with the music all, all was a thing of solemn beauty.

This beauty impressed itself quiet evidently impressed the audience. The quiet, deep concentration was on many faces — in other cases, faces were hidden as girls closed their eyes and bent their heads. Indeed the beauty was felt by all. A neew was answered, satisfied. It is hoped, it is demanded that these programs be continued.

Let's Talk Turkey
About Your Thanksgiving
Hairdo & Permanent
CUT IT SHORT
And How About It Done
AT
BALDWIN'S BEAUTY SHOP
PHONE 159 BALDWIN'S DEPT. STORE

Above are the newly elected officers of the freshman class. Standing are Betty Minetree, Margaret Ellett, and Grace Lloyd. Cora Redd and Martha Droste are seaetd.

Jarman Changes Date Of Next Holiday

Thanksgiving holidays for S. T. C. students will begin at 12 o'clock, noon, on Wednesday, November 24, according to announcement by Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of the college, in chapel last week. Classes will be resumed the following Monday morning, November 30, at 9 o'clock a. m.

In previous years the holidays have been the same as they are this year with the exception of last year, when transportation difficulties made it impossible to have the holidays, and the Christmas vacation was lengthened accordingly.

The published announcement that Thanksgiving Day would be the only holiday has been revised, according to Dr. Jarman's announcement that the situation had been reconsidered.

Longwood Reopened Sunday, November 5

Longwood was reopened last Sunday, November 5, under the auspices of the senior class, and directed by Mary Evelyn Pearsall, president of student government. The house was opened from 3 o'clock p. m. until 6 o'clock, and food was served by members of the senior class.

Each week, the house will be open and refreshments sold by the various organizations on campus, beginning for the next few weeks with the four classes. Mrs. Mable McCoy, of the Home Department, acted as chaperon for the afternoon, and Nanny made the famous Longwood buns.

When the weather gets too cold for walking to Longwood, there are tentative plans for providing refreshments in the recreation halls of the two buildings on campus on Sunday afternoon.

Anniversary Banquet Celebated by AST

Alpha Sigma Tau sorority celebrated the anniversary of the founding of its national organization with a banquet in the Tea Room on the evening of Nov. 5. The banquet was preceded by the traditional candlelight service. Guests included Dr. Jarman, Miss Ruth Gleaves, Mrs. F. L. Gray, and Miss Virginia Bedford, as well as alumnae Charlotte Greeley, Carol Costello, Estelle Paulette, and Eugenia Lloyd.

Other parties this week included an informal one given by Mu Omega sorority on Nov. 5, while the officers and members of the Student Council were entertained with a party on Nov. 9.

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Pan-Hel Association Features Miss Mix At Open Meeting

Miss Grace E. Mix was the guest speaker at an open meeting of the Pan Hellenic Association yesterday afternoon. The quarterly meeting took the form of a tea, in Student Lounge.

Jane Ford, president of the Pan-Hel Council presented the scholarship plaque to Phi Zeta Sigma, since the members of that sorority attained the highest scholastic average last year.

Pat Maddox, Jean Prosise, Jo Shaffner, Betty Blackwell, and Ann Blair entertained the group with a vocal selection, "Say a Prayer for the Boys Over There."

$244.44 Collected In War Fund Drive

As a result of soliciting funds from the students and faculty of S. T. C., $244.44 was collected for the War Fund Drive.

Members of the War Council, assisted by the "Y" Cabinet collected the money through private soliciting. The money was turned over to the town War Fund authorities.

The total of this drive included everything except the Red Cross and World Student Service funds.

"Ivory Door"

Continued from Page 1

Who can tell any more whether one is addressing the Captain of the Guard or the Chairman of the Lighting Group? Even the prompter gets mixed up, and wonders where, in a castle like this one, someone can give the order to "Plug in that extension cord!"

As for the props, they're coming along nicely, thanks. Though it is a bit perturbing to open a sack of bread and find that those F. F. V.'s (the Red Ants of Farmville) have gotten there first again. And once the Captain was well on his way down before the chair even appeared for him to sit in. Both swords and daggers clash vividly, and the gong sounds forth effectively.

Just to bring things to a climax, somewhere in the rush, Miss Wheeler lost her glasses. Backstage was uprooted in an effort to find them. Boxes were opened, coat pockets searched, characters questioned, scenery shifted, ladders ascended, and umbrellas cautiously unfolded. No glasses. An arm reached uncannily past the curtains and jerked a bundle from the table, in hope they may have dropped in with the bread. No glasses. Even the footlights were uncovered and carefully examined. Still no glasses. At the end of the second act they still hadn't showed up. Just another of the mysteries of the "Ivory Door", perhaps. Who knows? But then . . . they may have, by accident, gone home with the chairman of the Lighting Group!

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

For Lovely Full Fashioned HOSE
and ANKLETS
Visit
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

For BEST SANDWICHES and DRINKS in Farmville
Meet me at
SHANNON'S

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

Time: Nov. 6, 1943. Place: The Gym. Occasion: Fall Cotillion. Soft lights; good music; the Gym a kaleidoscope of color; pretty girls in bright dresses; uniforms of khaki and blue intermingled with formal black; old, familiar faces bringing back fond memories; and new faces full of excitement over their first dance at S. T. C.

Among those who danced to the music of Hal Thurman's orchestra were Sara Wayne France with Jack Murray, Ann Jones with Gilbert Campbell, Beth Johnson with Charles Llewellyn, Hannah Lee Crawford with Robert Holland, Gussie Himes with Brooks Hunnicutt, Minnie Rose Hawthorne with T. S. McKenzie, Helen Stites with Ray Peck, Mary Evelyn Pearsall with Allen Flannagan, Margie Hewlett with Walter Newman, Kitty Maddox with Vance Knott, Betty Little with Bill Halligan, Billy Waid with Charlie Hardan, Jac Parden with Ben Taylor, Betsy Owen with Hugh Wrenn, Virginia Ellett with Lewis Watson, Olive Bradshaw with Fred Young, Minnie Crumpler with Horace Adams, Frances Lee with Russtil Davis, Fay Johnson with John Ruff, Frances Satterfield with Sadie Satterfield, Isabel Willson with Charles Landes, Jane Crump with Bobby Marston, Vivian Gwaltney with Bob Hawkins, and Libby Jordan with Pat Vilenovsky.

Also, Joscelyn Gillum with Marvin Gillum, Jane Philhower with Robert Webb, Natalie Carroll with Mophet Walker, Frances Lee Hawthorne with Dixie Howell, Julia Eason, with Sunny Mercer, Shirley Pierce with Coleman McGhee, Lucy Messick with Richard Brand, Elsie Thompson with Ken Lewis, Marjorie Vaughn with Jack Boutchard, Sally Johnson with Henry Bennett, Lucille Lewis with Tom Armstrong, Spotswood Hunnicutt with Bill Bondurant, Beatrice Jones with Charles Barger, Virginia Shackleford with Judge Boutchard, Catherine Trower with Wayne Mears, Lillian Elliott with David Noel, Eddie Norwood with Sue Harper, Helen Wilson with Dick Wilson, Martha Higgins with Roland Walton, Betsy Caldwell with Sumpter Pritty, Margaret Harvie with Bobby Lauck Crawford, Phe Whittle with Bruiser Whittle, and Carol Diggs with Buddy Whitaker.

Among those old girls who returned for the dance were Lily Bee Gray, Betty Reid, Betty Boutchard, Shirley Turner, Agnes Patterson, Sara Wade Owen, Miggie Mish, Anne Ellett, Margaret Bowling, Fiddle Haymes, Dot Johnson, Virginia Camfield, Elsie Stossel, Brookie Benton, Alice Seebert, Dearing Fauntleroy, Lula Jones, Anne Seay, Betty Burns, Martha Patterson, Anne Payne, Ruth Parker Brooks, Myrtle Lee Holt, Jean Garland, Kitty Davis, Peggy Dashiell, Becky Lacy, Nancy Moss, Will Hall, Jane Johnson, Peggy Becker, Mary Ambler Thomason, Kyle Ainsworth, Jeanne MacChreits, and Helen Smith.

We wire flowers everywhere
COLLINS, Florist

Visit Us . . .
For Best
Soda Fountain Service
Chappell Co.

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop. Phone 139

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Come in and try a Delicious Hamburger with tomato and letttuce
15c
We also Serve
PLATE LUNCHES
College Shoppe

FRESH FLOWERS
—for—
ALL OCCASIONS
Collins Florist

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgilna
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

JUST RECEIVED A SHIPMENT
—OF—
Genuine Cowhide Full-Pak Photo
Cigarette Cases
COLORS—
Tan—with Gold Army Seal
Blue—with Gold Navy Seal
$3.50
An Ideal Gift For Servicemen
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality

Color Rush Set For November 20; Annual Hockey Clash To Follow

Color, Song Contest To End in Chapel

Tradition will once again come to the foreground when the annual Color Rush takes place on Saturday, November 20. This day, which will mark the beginning of the year's clash for colors, will also bring to the memory of all students of Farmville the spirit and sportsmanship which is found within the student body.

Commencing after lunch, each class will have runners on the various halls in school: Student, White House, Main, Library, Junior Building, and Senior Building, and at a given signal all runners will race to the ends of their prospective halls in an attempt to hang their color banners. These colors showing on the outside of the buildings will determine the winner of the Color Rush. Each class will select runners to represent their colors, selections made on the basis of speed.

Following the rush the traditional class hockey game will mark the highlight in the days schedule. The scene will move to the activities on the athletic field where the teams will assemble for that all-favored game. Freshmen will compete against their rival sophomore friends in the first competitive activity of the year. Classes will have cheer-leaders to help keep the enthusiasm going. These cheer-leaders may be selected at class meetings prior to the day of activities.

In order to introduce to the freshmen as well as bring back the spirit to the upperclassmen, a student chapel day program will mark the day of color song contests. This program will be held on Wednesday, November 17. All classes will wear their class colors and assemble in chapel. The Athletic Association Council will speak on the Color Cup, and the activities of the classes. Each class will sing a color song which will be judged. Winner of the song will receive $2.50 in War Stamps. A similar program was effective last year, and brought out the spirit of the classes.

In preparation for the annual hockey clash, Ophelia Whittle and Helen Wilson put in practice hours.

Alumni Board

Continued from Page 1

—the alumnae has been asked to establish scholarships for deserving students who otherwise could not afford to attend college; (2) new students—the alumnae was asked to solicit the high quality of new students for their alma mater; (3) alumnae magazine—the alumnae was asked to help by sending in news, poems and articles for the Alumnae Magazine; and (4) chapters—there are 150 alumnae chapters in the United States. These chapters are asked to meet in regularly in spite of war activities in order to keep the Farmville spirit alive.

Nash To Lecture

Continued from Page 1

Accompanying Dr. Nash will be Major Elliott V. Graves, Virginia state supervisor of physical and health education.

From here Dr. Nash will go to Madison College to talk on physical fitness.

DO YOUR Christmas Shopping
EARLY
Southside Drug Store

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
5-10-25c STORE
Farmville's Newest and Finest 5-10-25c Store

Christmas Cards
Must be Mailed Early. Check our display for Beautiful Cards

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

A.A. Council Adds Loyd, Parham, Smith, Shifflet

Four members have been added to the A. A. council to assist with the various sports now in progress in the physical fitness program.

Grace Loyd, freshman from Lynchburg, has been named manager of class and intercollegiate swimming meets. The class meets will be scheduled winter quarter and word has already been received from the national intercollegiate swimming meet director in Florida that our date for the meet will be between February and March. For the past two years Farmville has placed high in the regional district.

Mike Shiflett, sophomore, will assist Sara Jeffreys with archery during the scheduled physical fitness programs. Nellie Smith, freshman will assist with basketball for the freshmen. Practice has begun with Miss Iler as coach and approximately thirty have reported for practice.

Also, assisting Ophelia Whittle in hockey will be Kitty Parham, freshman from Petersburg. The hockey games between the classes will be on November 15 and 16 as round robin games. These games will count as practice games and in order to place on a class team at least six practices are required. For the big color rush games eight practices are required. Practices are each Monday through Thursdays at 4:50 and 5:50 p. m.

Freshmen Select

Continued from Page 1

men Low, Hopewell; Susan McCorkle, Lexington; Bettie Parrish, Manassas; Louise Rives, McKenny; Ruth Lowe, Rural Retreat; An nSavage, Littleton; Margaret Sheffield, Suffolk; Eloise Stancell, Emporia; Catherine Stoner, Fincastle; Rosemarie Waggner, Richmond; and Mary Elizabeth Wyatt, South Boston.

WELCOME
SHANNON'S
Headquarters for S. T. C.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

QUALITY WRITING PAPER
Deckle Border, colored pkg. .. 10c
Barclay Package Paper and envelopes to match 10c
Official U. S. V . . .—Mail
20 count 10c 50 count 25c
Parker Quink for V-Mail 15c

Left Lead

The people around here are getting tired of being talked about in connection with a Horse Column, so we'll devote this week to the horses, almost exclusively.

The Jump, which has been parked in the middle of the ring for the past week or so, may have a rather beat-up look about it, but it sure produces effects. Whether the jumpers be veterans like Lindy and Keepaway, or beginners like Nellie and Flicka, they all are limited to the one hurdle, instead of the four at Longwood, and they all look good "from the window." Nellie and Flicka are just being schooled, they thus far do little more than step over, but Lindy and Keepaway go tearing over the top at three feet and above, and thus far this year have scored a few tips, but not a single knockdown yet!

Back at the stables are still two more jumpers, both out of condition at present. Pegasus is lame, and can't even be ridden for two or three more weeks, and Flash, the new black, has a wounded shoulder that may lay him up for even a month. But by the time they are themselves again they'll be all set for the new classes that will begin for girls who wish to learn to jump and are accredited with the requirements as announced by Instructor Cheatwood. Some of those may already be seen hard at work galloping about the ring, and there's where the forward seat practicing comes in. Jean Carter Smith even tried galloping without any stirrups, but we kinda think that was Nellie's idea! Not that Jean's a beginner at the trade, but anyhow. . .

While we're on the subject of the Jump, it takes a bit of discipline on Joyce's part to keep the Training School youngsters from pretending they're the horses and doing everything except wear saddles. They go gallivanting about, leaping over the pole, and raising it a foot each go-round. Not only is that they may knock over the fragile wings, but they may do themselves serious bodily harm. But they sure looked cute cantering around the ring!

The Trail-ride Saturday claimed a group of seven, with never a more perfect day. Star event was the company of Margaret Bear, who, after one practice ride in the ring, took Midnight over the Obstacle Course. She was a bit sore on Sunday, but is "dyin' to go again!"

Bids went out last night to three new members of the Dusty Boots, organization of advanced riders. The three who have come up to qualifications for membership are Mary Sterrett, Betty Ellis, and Lucille Jones. These gals will be seen any day now, conducting trail-rides or teaching classes, and more power to 'em! Best of luck to this Gleesome Threesome . . . and we'll se ya on the trail!

Pegasus.

Martin the Jeweler
See our sterling silver Identification bracelets
For men in the service

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Sportspourri

By BETTY ELLIS

"Blue Monday" once more, and this looks as though it might be a bad week for athletics. Ole Sol has hidden his face behind the clouds, giving S. T. C. a very damp atmosphere. If the weather continues as is, it will hold up the outdoor hockey practices, but will give the players a chance to practice the official rules. Tennis will also be at a standstill. Let's keep our fingers crossed, hoping it will clear up.

Hockey Memo

Last week's hockey practices proved very exciting for the participants. Tuesday a slight accident occurred when two players collided at one end of the field, and the first aid fiends had a chance to practice. They both recovered enough to go back into the game. The competition was terrific. A spectator would be surprised to find both Green and Whites, and Red and Whites, playing together, although this is not a rare occurernce. This way it gives both teams a chance to cooperate with each other, and to discover an individual's playing power. From these girls who have been to eight practices will be picked the teams. You still have a chance to get in those eight practices, so let me remind you again to come out for hockey.

Happy Hikers

Longwood was open this past Sunday, and we found many enthusiastic hikers wending their way along the highway. It proved a great success, for after the long walk, nothing tasted better than a Longwood bun and a cool, refreshing glass of ginger ale. The food ran out a little too early, but there are promises of more food next time for those who were a wee bit late in arriving. As far as Sunday entertainment is concerned, this is the best thing that has happened this year. It gave the girls a chance to get out on that much needed airing with some special place in mind to go. We are looking forward to more Sunday hikes to Longwood.

Archery Antics

With three new targets erected on the athletic field, many a bullseye will be made as the girls further their practices in archery. The classes are filled, but with some crowding, room for one more can be made if you have no other way to make up your third period class. It is a colorful sight to see the girls working on correct positions as they pull the string to release the arrow, hoping to hit the target. What excitement when someone makes a bullseye. Although for years archery has been considered a minor sport, it is taking it's place among athletics as an important body builder. Accuracy and coordination are the chief principles in making a good shot.

Adieu again my sporty fans. Keep in the game.

Fall Play

Continued from Page 1

Others in the cast include Mary Frances Webb as Anna; Lillian Johnson as Thora; Doris Harper as the Chancellor; Marilyn Johnson, as Jessica; Marion Orange as Anton; Virginia Terrell as Beppo; Catherine Lynch as Simeon, Margaret Wilson as Count Rollo; Betty Deuel Cock as the Mummer; Nancy Wilkinson and Helen McGuire as Titus and Carlo, soldiers of the guard. Nancy Harrell plays the part of the Prince in the epilogue and Edith Dotson is taking the role of the Prince in the prologue.

Have your clothes cleaned for the Thanksgiving Holidays at
DE LUXE CLEANERS

That Sissy Look

"Be smart, sweetly feminine and slyly beguiling when you face the men in your life," says Mary Muffet . . . and she designs for you these utterly charming sissy dresses in rayon crepe. Left: SHEER FLUFF, two-piece flatterer. Right: PARTY PANIC, princess frock. Both dresses in black only. 9-15

BALDWIN'S

Have a Coca-Cola = What's the good word?

. . . or how to get along with folks

Have a "Coke", says the returned soldier and his friendly gesture is understood in Newport or New Zealand, at home or in far-off places. Around the world Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the gesture of good will, saying Let's be friends.

Coca-Cola
TRADE MARK
the global high-ball

It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
FARMVILLE BOTTLING WORKS

© 1943 The C-C Co.

Library

Longwood College
Farmville, Virginia

ROOT FOR YOUR COLOR
AT HOCKEY GAME SATURDAY

The Rotunda

SUBSCRIBE TO VIRGINIAN
BEFORE DECEMBER 15

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1943 | NUMBER 8

Happy birthday, Dr. Jarman

Pi Gamma Mu Sets February 19 Date For Costume Dance

Corvin Appointed Mardi Gras Head; Theme Is Unknown

Saturday, February 19, has been set for the annual Pi Gamma Mu Mardi Gras dance, Mildred Corvin, chairman, revealed to the press this week.

Mardi Gras, the only costume dance of the year, formerly was held on the Tuesday night before Ash Wednesday, but last year the date was changed to the preceeding Saturday due to war restrictions on transportation.

A queen and her court to reign over the dance will be selected sometime in January by the student body. Last year the court was composed of eight girls, who were dressed in traditional colonial costumes for the occasion.

Definite plans for the theme have not been completely worked over, Chairman Corvin said, but the committees will be announced at an early date.

Based on the French tradition of observing the Tuesday before the beginning of Lent as a festive holiday, Mardi Gras dance at Farmville has a long history of colorful programs carrying out such themes as patriotism, international unity, and, when the days coincided, Valentine's Day.

Keep Change Going Student Body Urged

From the Director of the Mint comes a plea to this student body to keep small change in circulation. The Mint has had much difficulty in obtaining material for the one-cent piece because the strategic metals which compose it are an imperative necessity in the manufacture of bombers, tanks, rifles, and other weapons.

Although the output of pennies in the last three years has totaled nearly three billion pieces, orders at present are breaking all records. One of the chief reasons for the heavy demand for pennies is the great American habit of hoarding small coins in penny banks, glass jars, and bureau drawers, in homes. As for Indian Head pennies, commonly hoarded, few of these coins can have special value as there were nearly two billion of them coined.

"I appeal to you, Nellie Taylor Ross, director of the mint, wrote in a letter recently," and to other young people in schools and colleges all over the country to assist the Mint to conserve scarce metals needed for war purposes, by devoting your efforts and influence to get idle pennies back into circulation; to set the example yourselves and to induce others to use them just as other money is used in the market place. Pennies should not be returned to the

Continued on Page 4

First Class Rating Awarded Rotunda In A. C. P. Contest

For the fifth consecutive time, the Rotunda was rated "First Class, Excellent", by the critical service of the Associated Collegiate Press. The "headlines are lively, carefully written" commented Ruth Curby, Continuous Service editor, and Glenn Hanson, Assistant Director of the Associated Collegiate Press, critics.

High scores were given to the paper on news treatment, content, and style. Suggestions were made by the critical service as to improvement in the various parts of the paper, including the use of more direct quotations, colorful detail material and features developed on news sidelights.

News values and sources were rated at 200, news writing and editing, 275; headlines and makeup, 200; and departmental pages, 200, making a total of 900, which is just 75 points below the rating of All American. Papers judges in this survey were published during the spring quarter last year under the management of the present staff.

The critical service is part of the work of the Associated Collegiate Press, of which this paper is a member.

France Announces December 15 Marks Deadline for Annual

December 15 will be the deadline for Virginian subscriptions, Sara Wayne France, editor, has announced. Members of the annual staff will canvass the halls tonight, November 24, and November 29. In order to place a subscription for the 1944 Virginian, one dollar must be paid before the date with the remaining amount paid before the delivery of the annuals.

Sophomore and junior pictures may be obtained Thursday and will be turned in the following Tuesday with orders. Orders for freshmen, transfers, and senior pictures may be placed Thursday when Mrs. Pearsall, is here.

Alpha Phi Sigma Initiates New Girls

Alpha Phi Sigma will meet tonight at which time an invitation service for those girls who have qualified for membership during the past two quarters will be initiated. Also there will be a recognition service for the girls initiated this fall who have attained the apprentice and masters degrees.

The new ritual which was revised this fall by the Delta chapter here at Farmville will be used in the service. Because the Delta chapter here is the largest and most active, the national president of Alpha Phi Sigma requested this chapter to revise the old ritual or to make a new one to suit the needs of the chapter at Farmville.

Jones, Whitehead Play Leading Roles In Milne's "Ivory Door" Friday Night As Dramatic Club Starts Year's Program

HealthEducational Result, Says Nash In Chapel Tuesday

Youth Must Be Fit In Mind and Body

"Health is not a subject to teach; it is an outcome of education", Dr. J. B. Nash, head of the department of health and physical education of New York University, said in chapel yesterday morning.

Dr. Nash was introduced to the student body by Major Elliott V. Groves, Virginia state supervisor of physical and health education.

"You cannot teach health by setting aside one period a week and forgetting it the rest of the time just as you can't teach character and tolerance in that way. The pupils can get from you, the future teachers of America, many more health habits than you can teach them," Dr. Nash said in his chapel talk. "It is the teacher's duty to contact the parents and to make them conscious of the precautions which should be taken to safeguard the children. They should be immunized against diptheria, small p o x, chickenpox, measles and typhoid fever even if it requires many trips to the doctor's office," Dr. Nash stated.

In speaking of the health of the nation from the standpoint of the nation as a whole and the standpoint of the girls of the nation, Dr. Nash said that there are four essentials in improving the health of our people, namely, sleep, rest, food, and exercises.

No war has taken such physical stamina as the present one, and many of our men were not prepared to face the dangers, the New York professor told the student body yesterday. He said that when he was in Italy, Russia, and Germany, in the early 1930's, the boys and men were being prepared physically then for this present conflict. The muscles of the upper back and shoulders are the muscles that must win the war. The lack of the strength of these muscles, the lack of heart power, and the failure to swim are three of the common defects of our fighting men according to Dr. Nash.

"Many men have been rejected because of educational requirements which could have been avoided," Dr. Nash said.

Youth needs to be mentally fit

Continued on Page 3

Lucy Messick and Ann Blair, Choir heads.

Crumpler Reports Frosh Commission

Twelve Freshmen Elected Last Week

Twelve freshmen were elected by secret ballot to the Freshman Commission last week, Minnie Lee Crumpler, freshman counselor, has revealed.

Those elected were Betty Bibb, Lynchburg; Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Kembridge; Page Cook, LaCrosse; Ann Curley, Richmond; Beanie Dudley, Farmville; Heidi Lacey, Richmond; Betty Lee, Richmond; Carmen Low, Hopewell; Sue McCorkle, Lexington; Bettie Parrish, Manassas; Margaret Sheffield, Suffolk; and Eloise Stancell, Emporia.

These commission members will serve until November of next year. They will have charge of all work between the Y. W. C. A. and the freshmen, and will undertake several service projects throughout the year. Next fall they will orientate the freshmen into the life of the school and the work of the Y. W. C. A.

WPB Approves New Athletic Equipment

Athletic collegians who like to expend their energies with the help of gymnastic equipment will be glad to know that new equipment of this type will be on the market soon.

The War Production Board has approved the following items for manufacture and for purchase by schools and colleges—swimming pool equipment, such as ladders and diving board platforms; climbing poles and ropes; stall, parallel and horizontal bars; flying and travelling rings; horizontal ladders, basketball goals; and volleyball standards.

Many of these items are made from critical materials. But their manufacture for civilians in school does not represent soft-heartedness on the part of WPB. That agency has learned from experience that good health is necessary for satisfactory service on the home home and factory fronts, as well as in the armed services.

The drive for physical fitness being carried on in Nation's schools, which was begun immediately after our declaration of war, was intensified when Selective Service surveys revealed that approximately 25 per cent of its 18-and 19-year-old registrants were physically unfit for regular military service.

Miss Leola Wheeler Directs Legend Based On Superstitions of People

Choral Club, Choir Give Sacred Music Concert Sunday

Soloists, Madrigals To Offer Selections

The Choral Club and the College Choir, under the direction of Mr. A. H. Strick, will sponsor a concert of sacred music at the Farmville Methodist Church, Sunday, November 21, at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Strick will begin the concert with an organ prelude, after which the Rev. Conrad Blackwell, pastor of the church, will give the invocation. After a hymn by the congregation, Esther Shevick will sing "The Lord's Prayer," and Alice Parkhurst will render "O Divine Redeemer." Following the reading of the scripture and the offertory, the congregation will sing "Jesus, Lover of My Soul". The next selection of Choral Club will be "Allelujah". Earlene Kimmerling will follow with "The Twenty-third Psalm", and the Madrigal Singers will render two selections, "O Salatanis Hostia" and "Vere Langwores Nostros". In closing, Mr. Blackwell will give the benediction, and Mr. Strick will play the organ postlude.

Dr. James Elliott Walmsley, professor of history and social science, will review the hymns.

Miss Peck Elected Choral Club Sponsor

Miss Mary E. Peck, associate professor of history and social science, has been elected sponsor of the Choral Club, Mr. A. H. Strick, head of the Music Department, has announced.

Miss Peck spoke to the club on November 11, expressing her appreciation of the honor that had been conferred upon her by the organization. She spoke of the pride she had felt in the achievements of the Choral Club and the College Choir.

Officers of the Choral Club are Louise Harrell, president; Lucie McKenry, secretary; Anne Carter, treasurer; and Nell Scott and Martha Watkins, librarians.

Navy V-12 Unit Allowed To Attend

With Dodie Jones, of Radford, and Nancy Whitehead, of Kecoughton, in the leading roles, the S. T. C. Dramatic Club will open the season at 8:30 Friday night, November 18, with A. A. Milne's "The Ivory Door".

A costumed legend, based on the superstitions of people and produced on both London and New York stages, "The Ivory Door" is under the direction of Miss Leola Wheeler. Assisting her are Mary St. Clair Bugg, in charge of lighting; Frances Shackleford, costume chairman; Carol Diggs, directing the staging; Sally Robertson, in charge of properties; and Lucille Lewis, who will supervise makeup.

Play Stars King Perivale

The play, introduced by a prologue, is the story of King Perivale (Dodie Jones) who on the day of his marriage to the Princess Lila (Nancy Whitehead) discovers the lost key and passes through the Ivory Door. What happens beyond the Ivory Door is a matter of much speculation among the court and the guard led by Captain Bruno (Grace Loyd). When the Princess arrives to find her betrothed she is befriended by one whom the guards claim killed the king. The matter is further complicated when she is determined to follow the King through the mysterious door. A glimpse into the future is presented in the epilogue, when a later king passes on the Legend of the Ivory Door.

Cast Includes 14 Others

Others in the cast include Christine Shifflet as Brand, body servant of the King; Mary Frances Webb as Anne; Lillian Johnson as Thora; Doris Harper as the Chancellor; Marilyn Johnson, as Jessica; Marion Orange as Anton; Virginia Terrell as Beppo; Catherine Lynch as Simeon; Margaret Wilson as Count Rollo; Betty Deuel Cock as the Mummer; Nancy Wilkinson and Helen McGuire as Titus and Carlo, soldiers of the guard. Nancy Hareril plays the part of the Prince in the epilogue and Edith Dotson is taking the role of the Prince in the prologue.

Tickets for the play have been on sale all week and went on Reserve this morning at Patterson's Drug Store.

Continued on Page 3

P. O., Point System, Noise Cause Headaches For Years

by KATHERINE HUTCHINSON

Twenty years ago there was too much noice in the tearoom and as for the post office—such confusion when the young ladies of that time went to get their mail! ! Years have passed, but many things at S. T. C. remain essentially the same.

Student Standards Committee was organized in 1924 at the request of the faculty and student body to take care of those problems outside the scope of other organizations and to provide for discussion of these problems by both faculty and student representatives.

So on February 4, 1924 we find the first meeting being called to order. Serious business of that first year was organization of a system for better distribution of extra-curricula activities to keep one student from carrying too much work and to distribute the leadership among as many girls as possible. This was the beginning of our present point system. It is still essentially the same although it has undergone many changes and additions. It has been enforced at times and allowed to drift along at times. (Warning: It's in full force now!)

Through the years we see the problem of confusion at the post office remain barely touched by the constant efforts of countless young ladies. Long ago they decided "that the post office and bookroom should not be combined." In vain. So failing that, a new door was cut into the P. O.

Continued on Page 4

Pickett, USO Dances Prove Patriotism "Plenty Much Fun"

by BETTY BIBB

Yes, that's what you are at a USO dance, and it's really fun. Where else can a girl go right up to a stag line and drag a man out on the floor to dance, without being called a "hussy" or "snake" the rest of her ill-fated life?

When I started on the eventful bus ride to Camp Pickett I thought "this will be a drip trip for sure". I really got my eyes opened to what was going on in this world that night, though. Girls had on all the glamour they could find, and yet they were not too dignified to sing and gossip all the way. The chaperones were so much fun, we forgot they were chaperones.

After an hour's ride, we all piled out of the buses and went in, through packs of grinning wolves. After the usual amount of primping we started a grand march. Then nature took its course; dancing was the order of the night.

At intermission, the mad rush for cokes started. That was fun, for then you found out whether your man was married, divorced or a wolf (some were all three).

Then the powder room got a rush. Some were singing "They're either too young or too old, They're either too bald or too bold". One blue eyed little Freshman solemnly admitted, "He promised he would follow me to the ends of the earth, even if I won't give him my address. Do you think I should?" Of course, there were the unforunate ones who had been trampled on: "I

Continued on Page 4

Would Our Soldiers Be Proud of the Way We Play Our Part Here Could They See Us Now?

Somewhere, many places, in the world today small children are being driven from their homes; fathers are leaving home, wife and children, never to return; sweethearts are saying goodbye, God keep you 'till we meet again, knowing full well that until there is peace in the world they will not meet again; old people starve and are shorn of all the comforts that age deserves.

And here in our small world we gripe because we can't attend our favorite ball game on Saturday. We say "Sorry, flat broke" when the suggestions is made that we purchase a war stamp. We yawn through class, shuffle hurriedly through assignments, getting by on the least possible, and live only for the week-end—Yes, the week-end when we once again can leave campus to find amusement elsewhere.

Yes, we grow weary of hearing others remark that we are not conscious of the war and the condition in which our nations find themselves. We think bitterly of the brother or friend who have given his life, of the one who has not been home for months, and say that we know war.

Perhaps we are right. Perhaps there is nothing we can do. Perhaps we do realize world conditions. But can we read our papers through thoroughly, can we see news reels or pictures such as "Watch on the Rhine," and remain proud of our part? Or do we feel just a little ashamed of the way we have shirked our school work, of the way that we are failing to prepare ourselves now in the precious time that has been granted us to learn life, Something may yet be expected of us later—but then, too, something can be done just now.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

The Nazi armies in Russia have been virtually divided in half by the capture of Zhitomir, 80 miles west of Kiev. This cut the last German-held north-south railroad east of the old Polish porder. The campaign lasted only a week, with an average gain of 12 miles a day for the Reds. In fact, the Germans were taken by surprise to such an exten that they were not able to make the usual announcement "evacuated according to plan" about Zhitormir.

* * * *

The fighting has been going backward and forward in Italy. The winter weather, the lay of the land, and reinforcements for the Nazis have made the battlers keen and uncertain. However, the Eighth Army is moving into position against the eenmy line along the Sangro River, and the Fifth Army has pushed forward at certain points on the road to Rome. The resistance shows that the Germans have hope of stalling off an invasion from this area for many months.

* * * *

The report from Leros, island of the Aegean, is quite uncertain. Germans are landing reinforcements by air and land attempting to take Leros, but there are no definite predictions of the outcome.

* * * *

The Allies are supporting the Yugoslavs from the air by bombing air fields and an oil field. Fresh attacks have been made on German communications and very bitter fighting is going on in Slovinia.

* * * *

American Fortresses, escorted by Liberators, bombed Bremen, the great German industrial and shipping port, with a loss of 24 planes. But 43 German fighters were shot down. This was the fifth daylight raid on Germany this month, and a new record may be set for November since the month isn't half over and the halfway marks of the previous high record has already been reached.

* * * *

The American beachhead on the coast of Bougainville of the Solomons has been widened. This island is the last barrier on the east to Rabaul.

* * * *

In January both parties will choose the site for their conventions. It is believed that both prefer Chicago, because its central position makes it easier to get to. However, the Republicans have already announced that their committee will meet the tenth. Therefore, they will probably have first choice.

Calling All Deadheads- - - How About A Resignation?

There is such a thing as a correct sense of values. This same can be related to the outlook toward participation in extra-curricular activities. To some, an invitation to join such an organization spells honor; to others, it means an opportunity to learn more and to work on interesting projects.

Those who thrill vainly at extra-curricula participation are usually the dead-heads who revel in membership but leave the work to anyone else who will do it. They hang on to the organization because they want their pictures in the "Virginian" and a nice list of statistics by their name.

Those who accept bids to honor organizations because of the real good to be received may be noticed by the work they do. They realize that what they get out of it is measured by what they put in, and they work to keep the organization lively and progressive.

These members would probably be too ladylike to say so, but we have an inkling that they rather wish that the idle listener-in would hang up the receiver and let someone use the wires who has something to say.

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Betty Cock, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 17, 1943

Psychology in the Dirt Column

Psychology tells us that intelligence is one thing as related to another - - so - -

Glad to see the telephone has been altered . . . telephones . . . bells . . .which brings to mind . . . Marilyn . . . she certainly was strutting her stuff with the lieutenant Monday night and again Saturday night . . . more power to her . . . Lieutenants which brings to light a certain second lieutenant when given his choice of three camps chose Lee because it was near Farmville . . . and Fay Johnson . . . guess that will keep her trotting between Camp Lee and Death Valley . . . Trottin'? Trotter, hear you had the surprise of your life when your long-lost soldier turned up to witness your "lines" at play practice!!? Speaking of practice, certain girls are using the Rec to make sure they stay in practice . . . better bear in mind the old adage, "Easy come, easy go", girls. Talking about wrecks, a certain senior is really going to be a physical and mental wreck if one doesn't hear from that 4-F who is portraying the role of "hard to get" . . . how about it, Anne? Hard to get? Betty Minetree is another one. But with that do or die spirit, he finally got her (on the phone) at 6 a. m. It was so dark he didn't know how far the Hotel Weyanoke is from S. T. C. . . . Minetree said she didn't either but she knew it wasn't far from the bus station. It is hard to get yourself together at that early hour . . . still, it was a phone call! Libby Ann Jordan seems to be the most asked for girl at 529 . . . is it still Pickett, Libby?

Pick it to pieces if you like, but when Frances Craddock's pupils whistle at her, "We don't mean it that way, Miss Craddock, we mean it as a compliment." Guess they've been seeing too many movies. . .

And, believe it or not, Betty Wright turned down a dinner at the Weyanoke. Other plans, B., or doesn't U. Va appeal to you?

Appealing? The work is mild to describe Mary Parrish's handsome (lieutenant) brother. He really set S. T. C| on fire.

Torn between two fires was Lucy Manson Saturday night. "Must I date 'the boy from home' or go to the Air Base and meet that pilot?" Notice: Lucy dated the civilian.

Civilian or Marine? M. K. Ingham can't make up her mind yet. Her present plans take her to Quantico next week end, however. They're often too young, but usually too old.

Undecided? Can you imagine a girl trying to decide whether or not to go pin a brand new lieutenant's bars on? For the final decision, see Jane Philhower.

Final decision? 'Nuff said for this week!

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

Union Vespers will be held Sunday evening at 6:45 in the Student Lounge. The program will be a Thanksgiving one.

We could not roll bandages last week because there was no gauze in Farmville, but we hope to have some by tomorrow night.

The Methodists are having a rummage sale between Thanksgiving and Christmas; they will canvass the halls this week.

The Freshman Commission will be installed this week in prayers.

November 14-20 has been set aside as the World Week of Prayer. Christians all over the world will be praying together.

"Prayer is the soul's sincere desire
Uttered or unexpressed;
The motion of a hidden fire
That trembles in the breast.

Prayer is the burden of a sigh,
The falling of a tear,
The upward glancing of an eye
When none but God is near.

Prayer is the Christian's vital breath,
The Christian's native air;
His watchword at the gates of death;
He enters heaven with prayer"
—James Montgomery

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Captain Anthony Hollub manned the top turret guns of his grounded plane to return the fire of the Jap air attack on Clark Field in the Philippines. Exposed to strafing planes, the New Mexico captain ran across the field for more ammunition when it was exhausted. He was ready to sacrifice his life to keep his guns blazing. How much can you invest in Payroll Savings to help heroic fighters like Hollub to keep firing?

U. S. Treasury Department

Question of the Week

Do You Like the New Pushed-up Time Schedule?

"Queekie" Trower—I like it every day except Saturday. On Saturday, making train connections is terrible.

Betty Blackwell—I like it because we seem to sleep longer—though we really don't.

Sally Johnson—I like it 'cause I can play down on Annex an extra hour before Judy can give me a call down.

Olive Bradshaw—I like it in the mornings, but not at night.

Martha Wells — Yes, because you gain an hour's sleep every Sunday.

Betty Harville—It means not getting up in the dark and I like that.

Anne Tucker—Not particularly —'cause it means we freshmen can't ever go to the movies.

Anne Carter—I just like it.

Katherine Prebble—Me, too.

Ann Bell—Oh, it's nice.

"Jody" Davis—Sleeping an hour later is swell!

Frances Shackleford—I like getting up after day breaks.

"Cab" Overbey—I ain't complaining.

"Beanie" Dudley — The more they let us sleep, the better I like it.

Margaret Orange—I don't like it 'cause lunch is too late.

Margaret Ellett—Too much confusion.

Sarah Wood—It's too good to think you are sleeping later.

Mary Ann Loving—You don't have to get up in the dark and grope for your clothes.

Mary Jane Richards—It ruins the bus schedule.

Martha Watkins—I like the old way better.

Virginia Radogna—It gives me more time to knit.

Anne Crittenden—I like it!

Rosa Hill—I like seeing the sun when I go to breakfast.

Lillian Elliott—I do and I don't.

Jane Ruffin—It upsets the Rotunda schedule, but those extra hours I sleep!

The Voice of the People

Dear Editor,

With Thanksgiving holidays so close at hand perhaps the suggestion that such holidays are truly unpatriotic will be received with a loud hiss. However, in view of the fact that the Office of Defense Transportation has specifically requested that Thanksgiving holidays be eliminated in favor of an extended Christmas vacation to relieve the strain on buses and trains at these times, such a suggestion seems justifiable.

Oh, we love the idea of going home for Thanksgiving, but more than that we hate the thought of trying to get home two days before Christmas when all transportation facilities will be priorited to those in the services who can have only a few days.

Other schools are being dismissed earlier than the day before Christmas Eve in accordance with the request of the ODT in order to relieve the situation which is inevitable. For this extended holiday, beginning in the middle of December and lasting past the first days of the New Year when the traffic on trains and buses will be heaviest, these schools are relinquishing their Thanksgiving holidays. We here did without any Thanksgiving holiday last year and we managed to survive.

It seems that the least thing we can do for the war effort is to leave the transportation tracks open for servicemen when they can use them.

Truly it seems our patriotic duty to leave school early enough to leave the trains and buses for the servicemen when their meagre holiday begins.

Sincerely,
War Conscious

Be Guided By Conscience, Erdman Tells Student Body

"Let your own conscience be your guide, but do not judge or criticize those whose ideals are different from your own", said Rev. Charles R. Erdman, D. D. to a group of the student body and the faculty last night at 9:15 in the Y. W. C. A. Lounge. In explaining the commandment, "Thou shalt not kill," Dr. Erdman quoted the passage, "Ye shall render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's and unto God the things that are Gods". He also stated that in order to acquire a true interpretation of the Bible we must consider each passage, not in itself, but in relation to the whole of the Bible. He concluded the discussion with a prayer.

Dr. Erdman is an outstanding Bible teacher and author and is now professor-emeritus at Princeton Theological Seminary, where he has taught for a number of years. He is the author of the well known English Commentaries on the Books of the New Testament.

On Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Dr. Erdman delivered six Bible lectures at the Farmville Presbyterian Church.

Reds and Greens Prepare Furiously For Spirited Rush For Their Colors On Halls Saturday After Lunch

Seniors Win With Red and White Song In Annual Color-Song Contest Today

Again the time for color rush has come, and all are practicing for the event each night. The rush will be immediately after lunch Saturday afternoon, followed by the hockey games on the athletic field.

There will be two runners in each building, one green and white, and one red and white. They will run in first floor Senior, second floor Junior, third floor Library, second floor Whitehouse, second floor Student, and second floor Rotunda. The judges are to be government girls and upperclassmen. There will be three judges on each hall, one to start the girls, and two at the end of the hall, to judge the finish. These two girls will be a red and white, and a green and white.

Everyone has to be out of the building. If anyone is found on the hall during the race, it will be a default for her color team. Everyone is asked to remember this, for it will take the team down a point if everyone does not cooperate. The winners of the rush will be given five points toward the color cup.

Come on you "Glenn Cunningham's", get into the battle. Start your training now, and keep in there. Watch the slippery floors, and don't forget to keep your tennis shoes clean. At the sound of the bell, be ready to shoot away like an arrow from a bow. The competition should be terrific, and the runners well-matched so work hard on a long wind, and quick steps. Your classmates will be cheering you on to victory, so run rabbits, run!

With loud notes of praise for red and white, the seniors won the annual song contest at the pep rally in chapel today. This does not count toward the color cup, but a sum of $2.50 in war stamps was awarded.

Under the auspices of the Athletic Council, the song contest for this year was begun with an introductory speech by Patsy Connelly telling about the color cup, and how he points are made for it. Helen Wilson then gave a short talk on the color rush to be held this Saturday. Explanation of the hockey tournament was given by Ophelia Whittle who is in charge of hockey this year.

The individual classes then sang their songs. While waiting for the judges, Miss Mary Barlow, Miss Lisabeth Purdom and Dr. George Jeffers, to come to a final decision, the cheerleaders, Betty Ellis and Marilyn Johnson, led their classes in several rousing cheers. After which, Patsy Connelly made the announcement of the winner of the song contest.

Health Ed

Continued from Page 1

as well as physically fit because when this war is over, it will take clear thinking on the part of the citizens to get the men back to their homes, families, and businesses. In the words of Hoover, Dr. Nash said, "At the close of this war you may have revenge or peace but you cannot have both."

Dr. Nash spoke yesterday afternoon to the physical education majors and minors.

Patsy Connelly, A. A. Prexy

Dugger Boosts Reds Five Points To Win Tennis Championship

Gaining five points toward the color cup for the Red and Whites, Ruth Dugger defeated Phyliss Watts 6-4, 6-4 to become this year's champion in the tennis tournament. With a small crowd gathered to watch the proceedings, both girls played a good game.

Ruth, a senior from Denbigh, Va., has played tennis for her four years here at S. T. C. She is manager of this year's tennis activities, president of Orchesis, a member of the A. A. council, and of Kappa Delta Pi.

In the spring, those who did not have a chance to play in the tournament this fall will be given a chance to compete.

Juniors, Sophomores Open Hockey Season With Counter Game Today

Opening the hockey season with a bang Monday, the juniors defeated the freshmen with one goal. Tuesday afternoon, the sophomores defeated the seniors by a margin of 2-1. These games were practice games, not counting toward the color cup at all. This afternoon the sophomores played the juniors beginning the first game towards the color cup.

Captains of this year's teams are Beanie Dudley, freshman; Billie Waid, sophomore; Ophelia Whittle, juhior, and Mildred Droste, senior. They were elected by their teammates.

Line-ups for the teams are as follows: Freshman, Owens, RW; Lee, Bibb, RI; Bridgeforth, LI; Ellett, CF; Fulcher, LW; Minetree, RH; Droste, CH; Smith, LH; Hubbard, RB; Terry, Anderson, LB; Dudley, G. Juniors: Higgins, RW; Lovins, Scott, RI; Watts, CF; Nichols, Prince, LI; Caldwell, LW; Parr, RH; Bear, CH; Wilson, RB; Wade, LH; Whittle, LB; Fox, G.

Sophomores: Lee, RW; Blane, RF; Orange, CF; Jones, LI; Ellis, LW; Hill, RH; Jones, CH; Waid, LH; Southall, RB; Elliott, LB; Ross, G. Seniors: Gwaltney, RW; Nimmo, RF; McCorkle, CF; Simmons, LI; Seward, LW; Connelly, RH; Elam, CH; Dugger, LH; Droste, RB; Crawford, LB; Ford, G.

Notice

This is an important notice to all concerned with the color cup. The scoring of a hockey game is as follows; if a team wins, they are given two points, if both teams tie, they are given one point each. When the points are added up for the color cup, they are added in this way. All the points made by green and whites are added together and the total is their score. If the Juniors as individuals have more points than any of the other teams, then they are the champions of te hockey tournament. This does not necessarily mean that the green and whites would have gotten the ten points for the color cup, for the red and whites may total more in their score therefore giving them the cup.

"Ivory Door"

Continued from Page 1

Special liberty has been granted the members of the Navy V-12 Unit at Hampden-Sydney that they may attend the play.

Officers in the Dramatic Club are Lucy Manson, president; Pat Garth, vice-president, and Fay Johnson, business manager.

Left Lead

Accidents will happen . . .

Ever - looked - forward - to, last Saturday's trail-ride wasn't quite the success it should have been. It seems that Keepaway got a wee bit too frisky for Phyliss to handle and went tearing down the homeward stretch at a mile-a-minute gallop. This was the spark needed to set off Midnight, and he followed suit, much against the will of Jo Eades, who was up. At the sharpest turn in the road, the horses wheeled, and the two girls slipped to the ground. It must have been a pretty fall, but apparently some pretty stiff results were netted. Sorry, girls, and best wishes fo ra speedy recovery.

Grace Lloyd and "Cab" Overbey went along, just for the ride; hope they gleaned no unfavorable impresions. The horses themselves seemed to enjoy the afternoon thoroughly.

If you've been to see Joyce, you know the general "horsy" air prevails in the room. If you haven't, it's worth going to see. Pictures and snapshots and statuettes hang or stand here and there, of Champions, of fictitious horses, and of Joyce herself, up on some of her favorites. Most impressive article is a bright plaid blanket of Jean Carter Smith's. She says her Dad won it at a carnival, but to us, it looks mightly like some hoss will go cold this winter.

Martha Lee tried her first attempt at riding this past weekend and with one person holding and another person hoisting, she finally got aboard the colt in question and managed to move him up every bit of three feet into position for a snapshot! The descent was fully as hysterical as the mounting, but at least she didn't ride far enough to be stiff on Monday.

It's still a great day for the Irish, and the jumping is in full swing. If you don't think so, ask one who knows. Anyone . . . they all know!

A discussion came up on the rules of the National Horse Show Association, and the information hinted at excellent material for this column one week before long. It's time these freshmen learn that they'll be riding in the horse show this spring . . . and they can begin preparing to . . . paint the fence, if nothing else! From the looks of the progress lately, it'll be a close run for the Blue Ribbons. That's okay, too . . . but save some for the advanced classes.

Don't jump off . . .

Pegasus

Betty Ellis,

On the Ball

Ground, Sticks

Beginning yesterday, the hockey tournament is now well under way. The teams have been picked, the captains elected, and the race for the color cup has really begun. Tuesday, we found the Juniors playing the Freshmen, and the Seniors playing the Sophomores. Competition was terrific, and the teams played well. This year's tournament is a Round Robin tournament beginning with the green and whites playing green and whites, and same way for the red and whites. Each team plays every other team giving everyone a chance to win or be defeated. The crowd at Tuesday's game was fairly large, but Saturday let's have a larger crowd. Come on out and cheer your color team and classmates on to victory.

Let's Practice

The tennis tournament has ended with Ruth Dugger defeating Phyllis Watts in the finals, but let's not call this a complete halt to tennis. It is still warm enough to get in a quick game before the sun hides behind the clouds in the late afternoon, so come on out and work on your strokes. With lots of practice surely some of you should be ready for the tournament in the spring. We want to see lots of new names on the tennis ladder when the final quarter rolls around, so sharpen up your tennis skills, and work on that game.

Make That Goal

Basketball has begun with Freshmen practice under the guidance of Miss Olive Iler. Passing the ball down the court, shooting for a goal, learning to cooperate with their teammates, all this comes under careful coaching. General practice begins soon, and with it comes the return of old faces and new faces. Learning to play on a team is one of the best lessons in the world in cooperation and good sportsmanship.

OSLO

$22.98

Mary Muffet's OSLO, a really cute jumper dress with bright felt flowers splashed fore and aft. There's true beauty for you in this 100% wool flannel. 9-15

BALDWIN'S

DUNHILL
Cigarette Lighters
on sale. A real Christmas gift
Southside Drug Store

Come in and try a Delicious Hamburger with tomato and letttuce
15c
We also Serve
PLATE LUNCHES
College Shoppe

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virgiina
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

For Lovely Full Fashioned HOSE
and ANKLETS
Visit
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

WE TAKE ORDERS
FOR CANTEEN GOODIES
TO BE MAILED
ANYWHERE IN U. S. A.
You bring us the address and we do the rest

Prices per box

PLAYBOY, JR.	1.09
RANGER	1.29
CANTEEN COOKIES	1.49
JAMBOREE	1.79
HOLIDAY, SR.	2.00

—PLUS POSTAGE—

An Ideal Gift for Boys or Girls in Service!

DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
FIRST FOOR

Simplicity, Utility Keynote Of Postwar Clothes Design

With talk on the subject of future planning, have you ever thought what clothes of the future look like? Will the postwar clothes be frivolous or utilitarian? Trends seems to point towards an ultra simplicity, reaching perhaps at some distant day, a dress somewhat like Dale, in Flash Gordon's great adventures, wears. The silhouettes will apparently carry out more directly body contour.

A peek into Vogue or Harpers discloses that hats are once more head covering, some of them fitting snuggly over sleek coiffures. The cut and color is more important than the feathers and furbelows. The half hats that dip tightly as a telephone operators' earphones slow the tendency toward a greater simplicity of line.

We see the woman of the future clad in fitted blouses, resemblings more than anything else dancers' leotards. Legs and hands match, clad in stockings and gloves to match the skirt or provide a third color for contrast. Suits are to be worn for a great many years to come. Collars are probably losing their place in the sun to the simple lines of the cardigan jacket. Emphasis will be on fit. Skirts will be straight, perhaps slightly draped for flattery.

Shoes will be simple. The ballet slipper will apparently be copied for the shoe of the future. Some predictions say the shoulder strap bag is definitely here to stay.

Clothes of the future will probably be made to live in—accenting slimness and angularity. The jewels that will adorn them make for line, not details—the women will wear them healthier and happier.

Organizations Give Two Teas This Week

Ann Blair entertained Gamma Theta sorority with a tea in the Chapter room Sunday, November 14. Refreshments included waffles, Waldorf salad, sandwiches, and coffee.

The Granddaughters Club entertained the new members with a tea Monday afternoon in Rec. Miss Mary Clay Hiner, past sponsor of the Club, was the guest of the club at the tea, and Mrs. M. B. Coyner was guest speaker.

Martin the Jeweler

See our sterling silver identification bracelets
For men in the service

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

U. S. O. Dances

Continued from Page 1

firmly believe in the story about the Army issuing everything two sizes too big . . . I know he could not have feet that long!"

After more dancing, we sadly realized that all good things must come to an end, so we waved goodbye, and got under the protecting wing of a chaperone to be convoyed out to the bus. Farewells were said, and we were S.T.C. bound.

Out of all this melee of meetings and greetings, a few lasting romances started. You can see a girl and her soldier, and they'll want to tell you how they met at the USO at Camp Pickett.

If you're interested in more fun, go to the Recreation Center on Sundays. Ping-pong, reading, games, dancing, and eating are ways of passing the time away, and all too quickly. There are boys from all parts of the service, who need all the fun you can show them.

Sometimes you hear of a girl writing to her steady and saying, "I only go to these dances because it's my patriotic duty." Then they fight, as only cats can fight, to be allowed to go. One day that line will fail, because everyone will hear what a swell time you have at U.S.O. dances.

Of course, it's not all a bed of roses. Planning and re-planning, trouble and more trouble is a part of every dance. We want the best for these boys, for it's really true that nothing's too good for them, especially when they start telling you of their six month's desert maneuvers.

And we don't talk of that Saturday night that Miss Wheeler tore her hair, while a hundred girls waited in the Rotunda for the busses that never came. Those things are rare breaks in the great cog of USO machinery that's working all over our country. It's the friendly "Hello, there" and a nice smile from girls like you and me that keep that machinery rolling. So get in there and dance, girl, dance!

P. O.

Continued from Page 1

and decorative "In and Out" signs were added. The new door helped. The signs looked nice. But we still want our mail--NOW!

Noise and constant confusion seem to be ever present within our wide walls. Again and again we are urged by signs, announcements, rules to be quiet in (1) chapel, (2) dining room, (3) tearoom, (4) halls.

Chapel was the greatest problem. It appears that our mothers and our big sisters brought their knitting, letters, and lessons there even as you and I. Just human nature. So hard as the Committee worked on that problem they accomplished no startling results.

But many things were definitely changed. A calendar of meetings was arranged. The multitudes of clubs and societies that sprung up as the school progressed were eliminated when they had served their purpose.

Times change. In 1927 the committee heard complaints about college girls being forced to go in "in line" to the movies with a chaperone. Getting wild and modern. The dress of the girls at breakfast was described as "it is being talked about over the state", "conduct at tables disgraceful". The girls replied, "Since breakfast is compulsory we've a right to dress as we please." (So there!)

Other serious reforms are suggested and carried out. The Dean's list plan is successfully instituted in the senior class. Classes must wait ten minutes after class bell has rung for instructor to appear.

Green Front Store
Staple and Fancy Groceries
Fruits and Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop. Phone 139

Visit Us . . .
For Best
Soda Fountain Service
Chappell Co.

Keep Change Going

Continued from Page 1

Mint but should be returned to the channels of trade in your own community. You may wish to substitute War Savings Stamps for coins that are held as savings."

If he doesn't come—whoosh?

"Can I get permission to go home this week end?" This question seems unsolvable. Once the commitete issued this pessimistic statement.

"Nothing can be done about week end absences and those occurring near a holiday."

Then they decided to do something. In affect they said, "Freshmen, home three time a quarter; upperclassmen, four!—Pay a fine of $1.00 a class if you cut them before or after holidays."

In the last several years, Students Standards Committee has obtained: The privilege of dating in Senior "rec" for the Seniors; improvements in main "rec"; telephone on Annex; bulletin boards near telephones to facilitate telephone service and many other things.

This fall, the new system of having instructors purchase books from the bookroom and resell them to students has helped cut down the lon, long lines standing!

But hush now! We still have to figure out how to make those girls be quiet in (1) chapel—oh why mention it again. Just tiptoe past. That's Student Standards Committee at work!

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
Visit our Fresh
Hot Nut Department
Spanish Peanuts, 5 oz. 10c
Cashew Nut, 2 oz. 25c
Jumbo Red Skin, 4 oz. 10c

For the best hot cakes and waffles be sure to go to
SHANNON'S

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

Amid final preparations for the Color Rush, hockey practices and play practices, many felt that this week-end was the time for all good girls to go home and get some rest. Some went to Richmind to buy something new for Thanksgiving, but most S. T. C.-ers trekked home for a good meal and a night's uninterrupted sleep.

Richmond-bound were Lillian Goddin, Sue Hundley, Spot Hunnicutt, Heidi Lacy, Rosalie Jones, Betty Lee, Jackie Parden, Shirley Skinner, Willie Wald, Anne Jacob, Frances Satterfield, Frances Lee, Patsy McLear, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Margaret Brace, Anne Dickinson, Jean Loyd, Vera Loyd, Sarah Leach, Lucy McKenry, and Mary Kent Stevens.

Petersburg was the destination of Betty Harville, Cornelia Smith, Jerry Titmus, Cheese Andrews, Leah Jordan, Jeanne Richardson, and Faith Weeks, while in the opposite direction to Roanoke went Gussie Himes, Earlene Kimmerling, Barbara Surface and Frances Strohecker, while Gwen Ackiss and Carolyn Beard were to be found in Newport News.

Only excitement of the weekend was wedding in Crewe which was well attended by Farmvillites Virginia Thompson, Margaret Belcher, Rose Jenkins and Rosalie Phelps.

At tht Wesleyan Conference in Charlottesville were Betty Blackwell, Florence Godwin, Anna Crittendon, and Dorothy Cummins, and Anna Ward Peery and Gwen Sleight went to Washington.

FRESH FLOWERS
—for—
ALL OCCASIONS
Collins Florist

SNUG HAIRDOS FOR HEAD-HUGGIN HATS

If your new bonnet does dreadful things to your present things to your present hairdo—who not come in and let one of our beauticians design a flattering wave that will be good to both you and your hat.

NINE out of TEN who know are GETTING COLD WAVE PERMANENTS

$20.00 $15.00 $10.00
BALDWIN'S BEAUTY SHOP
Phone 159 Baldwin's Dept. Store

Copyright 1943, Liggett & Myers Tobacco Co.

You Can't Beat Their MILDER BETTER TASTE

There's no busier place than Washington, D. C. It's the control room of America's mighty war machine. And Chesterfield is the busiest cigarette in town. It's on the job every minute giving smokers what they want. Its Milder, Cooler, Better Taste makes it the capital smoke.

You can't beat Chesterfield's Right Combination of the world's best cigarette tobaccos for real smoking pleasure. Make your next pack Chesterfield . . . You can't buy a better cigarette.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING!

The Rotunda

CONGRATULATIONS, RED AND WHITE

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, TUESDAY, NOV. 23, 1943 | NUMBER 9

War Thanksgiving Prompts Pause To Count Blessings

Another Thanksgiving is upon us. With the milk shortage, no nylon hose, lack of cheese for midnight snacks, with all our men gone, what have we college students to be thankful for? "It will take a thoughtful and a spirtiualy minded person to be thankful this year!!" we are told on the advent of this annual holiday, set aside by our forefathers for the purpose of expressing our gratitude to our Creator.

And we heartily djsagree. Now that there are battles waging in other countries and destruction going on all over the world, we pause more than ever to be thankful for our many blessings.

Here in America we still have a government worth fighting for; we have the freedom of speech that allows us to criticize that government and to control it. And in this country we have the ideals that are worth fighing for and preserving.

While we complain about shortages, we never fail to raise a silent prayer that our homes are still secure, our bodies are abundantly nourished and well clother, our parents continue unmolested in their work and ideas, and there is no fear in the children of our land.

No fear! That in itself is enough to be eternally thankful for! No black shadow of a Gestapo lurks near, no execution awaits the one who speaks freely his opinion; no one prevents our freedom of worship; no one bothers our neighbor who is a Jew; in our army the Negro and white alike defend their ideals; whereas, we know about and hate the cruelty and horror that is at work in the world, we know also that with the help of God we can bring about a peace that will consist of the good of all.

Yes, there is much to be thankful for. We can be thankful that our brothers overseas are fighting for a just cause. And that they live and die with courage and honor. And above all, we can be thankful for the increasing blessings which our God has bestowed upon us, and for His care and guidance though the way be dark.

Alpha Phi Sigma Initiates Fifty, Awards Degrees

Fifty freshman were initiated into Alpha Phi Sigma, national honorary society for freshmen and sophomores, November 17.

There was recognition service following the initiation at which time the girls who had attained the degrees of master and apprentice were announced.

Those attaining the Master's degree, the highest degree attainable in Alpha Phi Sigha, were Mildred Altice, Rocky Mount; Emily Carper, Rocky Mount; Shirley Cruser, Norfolk; Louisa Dawson, Lynchburg; Lucy Harvie, Richmond; Virginia Radogna, Purdy; Faith Weeks, Purdy; and Betty Anne Wimbish, Roanoke.

The girls attaining the apprentice degree were Betty Adams, Richmond; Freddie Anne Butt, Portsmouth; Margie Hewlett, Richmond; Rosalie Jones, Richmond; Kitty Maddox, Lynchburg; Anne Martin, Suffolk; Julia Messick, Front Royal; and Katherine Prebble, Lynchburg.

Freshmen initiated were Maria Addleman, Cumberland; Louise Altizer, Farmville; Josephine Bailey, (junior transfer) Brookneal; Sarah Ballard, Bedford; Joyce Beazley, Disputanta; Ann Bell, Chatham; Beverley Bohaen, Roanoke; Rachel Brugh, Roanoke; Beverley Boone, Norfolk; Lois Boone, Norfolk; Beatrice Bruch, Roanoke; Stewart Buford, Lawrenceville; Ann Carter, Cumber-

Continued on Page 3

College Library Lists New Books

During October, eighty-five new books were added to the college library.

These books are listed under the topics of business, education, fiction, fine arts, general topics, geography, History, home economics, juvenile, literature, philosophy, physical education, psychology, and science and technology.

Each month the library gets in a new set of books, and sends a list of these to eah faulty member. In this way all students have at their disposal the latest books.

Frosh Commission Elects Sheffield, Lee, Stancell Head

Members of the Freshman Commission elected their executive officers for the coming year last Wednesday night.

Elected as president was Margaret Sheffield, Suffolk; secretary, Betty Lee, Richmond, and treasurer, Eloise Stancell, Emporia.

These officers will be installed at prayers next Monday night.

Chairmen of the various committees elected were Anne Curley, Head of Freshman Y. Club; Page Cook, Morning Watch; and Carmen Low, publicity.

In the past the Commission has helped with drives here in school, taken charge of sing programs, and helped with all Y. W. activities.

Tentative plans have been made to do much of this same work and to sing carols at Christmas time and to assist in the "Hanging of the Greens."

They will keep the halls quiet during prayers and have charge of morning watch.

Plans for the organization of the Freshman Y. Club are now being formulated.

Business Students Request English

The Business Education Department is in the process of conducting a survey of two-year and four-year graduates who have graduated since 1941, according to an announcement made by Mr. R. G. Hallisy, head of the department, yesterday.

Approximately 168 questionnaires were sent out to students, and approximately 60 answers have been received. The purpose of the questionnaire is to determine the educational personality requirements of the jobs throughout the offices of the state with a view of adjusting and improving the curriculum.

While the results have not been tabulated as yet, through a casual reading of the answers, certain facts have been gathered. First, all the students feel that English is one of the primary needs and that more English of a business nature would be preferable; second, they fell that more training

Continued on Page 3

Issue of Colonnade Appears in a Week, Tennent Reports

Dedicate Magazine To Freshman Class

The first issue of S. T. C.'s literary magazine, the Colonnade will come out the week after the Thanksgiving holidays.

This first issue will be dedicated to the freshman class.

Inside sources (Elizabeth Tennent, editor) inform us that this issue is bound to be interesting reading. Why? why, because it will contain the stories which won first and second prizes in the summer short story contest and one of the "honorable mentions."

These stories are in corresponding order: "A Town Called Hope" by Jeanne Strick, senior from Farmville; "Glasgow 1940" by Margaret Pattie, sophomore from Scotland; and "Letters from a Freshman" by Ophelia Whittle, junior from Petersburg.

Among the poetry is an humorous piece by Mary Parrish Viccellio, entitled "Poundemonium."

Then there will be a picture of Washington as it is today by the newspaperman Ed Hoyt.

"He pulls no punches" said the editor in telling of this interesting article. The author, Mr. Hoyt is at present with the OWT and will soon leave for Burma.

In addition to these there are many new and varied features. Watch for the innovations that have been made in this first issue of 1943-44.

Mary Nance Daniel To Visit Campus

Miss Mary Nance Daniel, associate south-wide student secretary of the Southern Baptist Student work, from Nashville, will be on the campus from Friday, December 3 until Monday noon.

On Saturday Miss Daniel will speak in chapel. She plans to have discussions with Baptist students on Saturday afternoon at the Student Center, and students may have private conferences with Miss Daniel any time she is here.

Miss Daniel is a graduate of Winthrop College in Rock Hill, S. C. Before accepting her present position which she has held for six years, she was student secretary at Louisiana State University.

Miss Daniel has visited this campus many times in the past six years.

Angelo Perry To Set Tempo For Senior Dance December 4

FAYE NIMMO

AGNES PATTERSON

SARA JEFFRIES

Four Will Attend Dixie Tournament

Program Contains Debating, Oratory

Two sophomores and two junior girls from State Teachers College will take part in the Annual Dixie Tournament, to be held in Charlotte, N. C., Thursday to Saturday, December 2-4.

Those girls who will go are Betty Adams, sophomore, from Richmond, Faith Weeks, sophomore from Purdy, Olive Bradshaw, junior from Rice, and Jane Ruffin junior, from Charles City County.

Debating will be the main feature. Olive Bradshaw and Faith Weeks will take the affirmative, and Betty Adams and Jane Ruffin will take the negative on topic, Resolved: That the United States Should Cooperate in Establishing and Maintaining A National Police Force Upon the Defeat of the Axis."

Each team will debate eight times.

However, these representatives are also planning to enter in the poetry reading, situation oratory, and address reading contests.

Colleges all over the South will be represented in this tournament.

Methodist Girls Have Rummage Sale

The Wesley Foundation of the Methodist Church is sponsoring a rummage sale to be held on December 11. The proceeds will be used to pay for the annual pictures of its members.

Some of the members will canvass the halls before the Thanksgiving holidays, and the girls will be asked to donate discarded blouses, sweaters, hats, gloves, etc.

Patterson Returns To Lead Figure Saturday Night

Angelo Perry and his nine Vagabonds from Lynchburg, with Bea Cline as soloist, will furnish the music for the senior dance to be held December 4 from 8:30 to 12 midnight in the college gymnasium. Intermission will be from 10:30 to 11 o'clock, Sara Jeffreys, dance chairman, has announced.

In the receiving line will be Dr. J. L. Jarman, Miss Rachel Royal, Miss Elizabeth Burger, classman; Agnes Patterson, honorary class member; Fayo Nimmo, president of the senior class; Hannah Lee Crawford, vice-president; Frances Craddock, secretary; Ruth Dugger, treasurer; and Sara Jeffreys, dance chairman.

Nimmo Assists in Figure

Agnes Patterson, president of Student Government last year and honorary member of the class of '44, will return to lead the figure. She will be assisted by Fayo Nimmo, president of the class, the other class officers, and their escorts. Members of the senior class will wear white and will participate in the figure. There will be a special no-cut dance following the figure for all seniors and escorts. All underclassmen are requested not to wear white on this occasion.

Decorations Red and White

Red and white, the class colors, will be carried out in the decorations. Also, red and white carnations will be carried in the figure by the leaders.

Assisting Sara Jeffreys as chairman of the dance is Betty Bridgeforth. Committees for the dance are publicity, Gloria Pollard, chairman, and Frances Stroheckr; decorations, Sarah Trigg, chairman, Jean Arington and Elizabeth Tennent; tickets, Dottie Sue Simmons, chairman, Louise Andrews, and Jerry Titmus.

Also, orchestra, Shirley Pierce, chairman, and Nancy Langhorne; floor committee, Sara Wayne France, chairman, Vivian Gwaltney, Ruth Dugger, Augusta Himes, and Josceiyn Gilliam; program, Mildred Droste, chairman, Betty Van Arsdale, and Jane Ford,; and figure, Betty Bridgeforth, chairman.

Chaperons for the dance include Mr. R. H. French, Mr. S. M. Holton, Miss Olive T. Ier, Miss Rachel Royal, and Mrs. J. E. Warren.

"Food for Freedom" Studied This Month

Collegians who are short on milk and long on soft drinks, coffee and tea should park their ears to the information on food that will be flowing out from Washington during November.

Because November has been designated "Food for Freedom" month, you will shortly be seeing posters, news stories, ads, and movie shorts that will, among other things, tell you about the right foods to eat to keep well.

The story of food that will be presented is a broad one. It will tell the story as a whole, in all its aspects—diet, conservation, production, rationing, and price control. In the, past, the food story has been presented piecemeal, with each agency concerned turning out its own information.

But from now on, four Government agencies will work together in this regard—War Food Administration in the Department of Agriuiture, Office of Price Administration, Office of Civilian Defense, and Office of War Information.

Dormitory Cooking Detoured, Not Stopped By Food Shortages, Rationing Headaches

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

Stoves Kept Hot Morn Till Night

When we look at the material side of College, we are forced to look at food. When we are forced to look at food, it somehow becomes repulsive in our sight. When it comes repulsive in our sight, we do one of two things. We either head for Shannon's or the Southside, or we cook.

Things are well under control when we eat down-town. We place an order and pay the check, and a Meal Supreme is served up for us. But to cook "in the room" is a different proposition. Everything's been tried, from the simplest toast to the most elaborate full course dinner, and it never fails to be The Attraction of the evening.

In the main building, nervous freshman smuggle bread upstairs open all the windows, and connect the toaster up in a spot where it can easily be shoved under the bed. The window-sills are veritable pantries and well-stocked with jellies, cheeses, sandwich-spreads, and the inevitable peanut-butter. There's a knife "somewhere", and a glass or two, identifiable by names painted with fingernail polish, and maybe, in the more elaborate set - ups, a couple of plates, and a store of paper napkins. They'll try anything from toasting marshmallows over a match to building a campfire in the trashbasket, and despite the fact that there are always more consumers than there are rations the food goes the rounds, and is declared the best ever!

In the good ole days, fudge was simply the only thing to do on a Saturday night, but possibilities for that have gone the way of all shortages. However, we did hear of a too, too patriotic female, who overcame her own starvation, and fought off all her suitemates long enough to make Toll-house cookies for her man in the service. More power to her and no doubt they were duly appreciated. Woe be unto him for the sacrifice if they weren't!

Over in "The Building" the situation is great, really. The kitchens are more than popular, and stay in a definite state of habitation. Of course there come the nights when the front burner won't work, or the coffee won't boil, or somebody burns the French-fries, but these are minor details. Regular K. P. details are set up . . . "You get the ants out of the sugar, and you run down after the salt, and somebody borrow some butter." Great is the relief when there's a generous offer from a stray emaciate who shyly burbles, "I'll do the dishes if you'll save me just one little ole pancake"; and great is the remorse when the pancake is gone and the dishes are still very much in evidence.

Students Eat Soup to Nuts

Yes, it's a great life. From supper to breakfast, the halls are full of perpetual fugitives from the long-suffering dining hall, and it's fun for all, and all for fun, from dusk til dawn, or whenever the urge to eat hits us. Whoever it was who was happy with "a loaf of bread and a jug of wine" just didn't have any imagination. But then . . . he didn't go to S. T. C.

Calling All Girls: Catch the USO Spirit

Weekly lists on the bulletin board headed with "Sign up for the U. S. O. dance" have become familiar sights in the past months. And much credit is due to those on the committee who faithfully, week after week, collect girls for these dances and for the recreation center. It is not an easy job theirs, to take the responsibility for seeing that these dances are successful, to see that our men in the service are entertained with no partiality to the "tall, dark, and handsome" soldier with three stripes on his arm, to see that there are enough girls each time in each of the places, to make the servicemen feel that there is something in America worth fighting for. And yet they have done their job with a right good will, and they have done it well.

They have struggled through week-ends when there are dances at school, they have given up week-end trips home, they have smiled until their very jaws ached and have gone on smiling. They have done these things and they have enjoyed doing them. Why? Because they have caught some of the spirit which should by this time have penetrated to every single student in this and every other college. They have caught the spirit of wanting to do their part, be it great or small, and the morale of our armed forces is far from being a matter of little concern.

Check Your Chapel Behavior

Once a year it seems necessary to give a word to the wise, and remind the students, especially the freshmen because there are so many of them, that chapel is not the place of talking and letter reading. Dr. Jarman frequently asks that we take inventory of our chapel behavior ond throw away the giggling and unruly items therein. We, as students, may mean no irreverance; we may not even realize that we are being noisy. But a speaker realizes both, and we hate to think of the impression our speakers must have of us.

Also, we have been told how to march out of chapel. In the long run, everyone will get-put sooner if everyone marches correctly and quickly. We are asked to march in turn rather than to hurry to be the first to get out.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucilie Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Tallaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Betty Cock, Nell Holloway, Leila Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis.

TUESDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1943

"Teach Them To Think, Not What To Think!"

We who plan to become teachers may sometimes become too engrossed in learning to teach facts. We learn certain principles and dogmas, and attempt to instill in our pupils the beliefs that we hold. We say that it is up to us to give them a light in the darkness.

But they don't need facts; they need to be taught to think for themselves. Guidance and help, yes, but not set plans for your pupils, please, Teacher! Their world will be a new and different, even difficult one. If we can aid our pupils in getting a firm hold on good deep thought, we will have done our part. They neither want nor need to be told; they do desire to help in figuring things out for themselves.

Too often we all want to know the answer, quickly, but care nothing for the procedure in arriving at that answer. If only somehow, we as teachers, can instill in our pupils the desire to find out how and why, we will be heroines in the schoolroom. Answers will not be given freely in adjusting the nations to a new life. Peace-table conflicts will be many; there may be no apparent answers to some of them. But: if we can sit down calmly and intelligently and think things over instead of looking at only one side and demanding an answer; —if we can teach our pupils to do so—well, we will have done our bit!

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

The Russians took a chance on forging ahead of their supply line to capture Zhitomir, and although they held the city almost a week, the Reds had to give way to a reinforced Germany army. This is the greatest Russian setback of the 1943 campaign. The Nazi may have won considerable territory east of Zhitomir, but the Russians have made gains at three points along the Ukraine front. The Soviet government reported heavy losses to the Germans of manpower and materials at Korostyew, fifteen miles east of Zhitomir.

* * * *

The Germans have captured Leros, an island of the Dodecanese, and claim the occupation of other islands in this area. This step might have been made in an effort to impress Turkey that the Germans were still in command of her coast.

* * * *

The advancement of the front in Italy has been hindered by the rains and mud. Besides slowing the Allied operations, it has given the Germans an opportunity to make their positions stronger. However, the Eighth Army gained five miles and succeeded in capturing Perano which is within a mile of the only inland bridge crossing the Sangro River. The Fifth Army has also made advances in the upper Volturno region.

* * * *

American troops have landed on the Gilbert Islands. This opens the long-awaited-for advance toward Japan by way of her mid-Pacific island. United States marines and soldiers, supported by all types of ships from the United States Pacific fleet, gained beachheads on Makin and Tarawa, despite Japanese resistance.

* * * *

The Australians are using tanks and planes to help break the fierce resistance on New Guinea at Sattelberg, and the air fields of Buka on Bougainville have been bombed to the extent that the runways cannot be used.

Frosh Writes Home

Dear Mom,

If nothing happens like maybe "Rat Week" again, I'll be home Thanksgiving.

Mom, before I left, you warned me about men, but I think I've found the right one out at Hampden-Sydney. He said I wasn't "hip". What does that mean, mom? Do you think he is falling for me?

I went to the Fall Cotillion dance and they don't dance like we do, mom. They didn't even play the turkey in the straw once!

I had a talk with Mr. Jarman, he's the man that runs the place. You know he's a mighty fine man! He calls me in his office all the time. I can't understand why he likes me so much. They gave me some little pink and blue slips and some little white ones. I haven't found out what they're for yet, but I kinda think that's the way he invites me in to see him.

He likes me so much he even asked me to come back next year. So mom, please put a mortgage on the house so I can come back, cause Mr. Jarman said he was going to make a woman out of me some of these days.

Mom, the food here is wonderful. I been taking three doses of Drano a day like Dr. Moore said and it really is a good tonic.

We had a swell Hockey game Saturday, course' red and white won all the honors—they are the seniors and sophomores. My hockey career ended the second day on the field. I was just too much for 'em, mom. All I did tho' was grab the ball in my mouth when I was down on the ground and run for the goal. Miss Iler, the lady that teaches all the tricks and stunts up here, told me that if brains was consumption, I'd of been dead ten years ago.

Mom, while I'm thinking about it, send me ten dollars 'cause I gave my last cent to some girl taking up money for some kind of an Ivory door. We've got some kind of a little cafe here in the school where they serve real good food. Most of my money goes down there.

How is Uncle Buck-eye? Bet he don't even know I went off to a boarding school? Tell him when I get home that I'm looking forward to one of them Chitlin dinners.

Well, I reckon as how I better get ready to quit. I've got to wash my face and brush my tooth. Don't forget to write and send me some money.

Your Loving Daughter,
MABEL

the "Y"

The Freshman Commission was installed Monday night in Prayers. It will begin its work with the Freshman Y Club at the next meeting on December 1.

Baskets are being fixed by the Service Committee for the needy families for Thanksgiving.

We lift our hearts, Lord, in thankfulness,
Upon our knees we humbly give thee praise
For all the harvestings that richly bless
And strengthen us to battle with the days;
The ruddy apples gathered from the trees,
The moon-faced pumpkins smiling through the dusk,
The honey freighted homeward by the bees,
The corn and wheat now wrested from the husk.
"But most of all we thank thee, Lord, for dreams,
The noble vislonings of high emprise,
The glory of the Grail that brightly gleams
Across the starry reaches of the skies
And leads us upward from the crumbling clod
Into communion, Lord, with thee and God."

—Edgar Daniel Kromer

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

After being blown through a window by a bursting shell and stunned by a 14-foot fall during the bombardment of Sand Island, Marine Staff Sergeant Dale Lester Peters of Breckenridge, Michigan, struggled to remove large aerial bombs from nearby burning hangars. He has been awarded the Navy Cross for exceptionally meritorious service and disregard of his own safety during this action. What hardships are you willing to disregard to invest in Payroll Savings?

U. S. Treasury Department

Sees All—
Hears All—
AIN'T SURE OF NOTHING!

And has everyone seen Jeanne Richardson's left-hand sparkler? Ain't it a beaut? And just think, he's overseas. Ah, for more of these thoughtful men!

If once this year the movie has changed when Elsie Thompson wasn't there, please notify the Dept. of ———— Believe it or not!

Betty Lou Heyward must have had a peculiar feeling, when, thinking she was putting calamine lotion on her face, discovered too late that it was ink!!

How about the Lieutenant who 'dropped by" S. T. C' with his list of girls to call for. So solly . . . None of them at school. The guy just doesn't know these modern femmes. No second fiddle for them.

One Virginia Terrell was certainly in a dither this week-end between Howard, Bob and an anonymous. How'd it turn out, Terrell? Guess when it rains it usually does pour!

No doubt the Powell Tynes has been spotted roaming from the Rotunda to Shannon's and back again as usual. Tynes still seems to prefer the Freshmen . . . how about it, Aggie?!!

Nobody could believe their eyes when they saw and heard about Betsy Caldwell and Jean Arington turning down dates with two Lieutenants! What do you want, girls, Generals?

Lucy Messick seemed to be the envied girl at S. T. C. this week-end, Officers' dance at Pickett. How about sharing your secret of success, Lucy-

Wonder how Betsy Dillard lives without "the shadow"? You have the sympathy of all people under the heading of being "in love", Betsy!

What's this about an art gallery or is it a photo studio in 24 Annex?!! Step right that way and look him over, girls. He's quite the stuff!

Dozens of orchids to the entire cast of "The Ivory Door". A superb performance.

And brickbats to girls who chew gum in church.

Believe-it-or-not: Anne Jacob has made her first trip to "the building" this year . . . Jane Smith's and Hannah Lee Crawford's Air Corp Lieutenants did show up . . . at the play. . . . Bus finally came to see Alice Nichols after two years . . . Les and Jean are once more seen together . . .

We get Thanksgiving—Have Fun!

Question of the Week

What Are You Going To Do Thanksgiving?

Betty Deuel Cock — Take my mountaineer roommate home with me and make her ride a ferry.

Isabel Willson—Go to see Betty and ride a ferry.

Frances Cleaton—If Jack gets a week-end pass, just watch me go!

Marilyn Bell—Eat as much as I can, sleep as much as I can, and get a date—IF I can.

Mary Crank—Eat!

Nanabelle Goode (The little maid in the Rotunda that says "Date slip, please")—I'm going to the big city of Richmond and see all the bright lights!

Mildred Willson—REST.

Markint Stevens—I'm going to take full advantage of late lights.

Eileen Bowles—Get some good home cooking.

Margaret Eliet—Take in all the night clubs in Jennings Ordinary!

A V-12 from H.-S.—I won't commit myself.

Jackie Parden — Nothing but play with my little sisters, and have Rosalie Jones to visit me. Do you believe it?

Ruth Rowe—Pitch a big one!

Miss Royall—I'm going home!

Virginia Terrell—I'm going to Richmond and eat all the turkey I can hold.

Another V-12, Howard Gradows—Quote "Nothing" Unquote.

Dodie Jones—Don't embarrass me.

Mr. Butcher—Thanksgiving Day I may go to Richmond for a football game, (if the weather is pretty.) Otherwise I stay home and sleep.

Carmen Lowe—I'll have "A Dream Come True."

Nancy Lou Taylor—Trip the light fantastic at Fort Eustis.

Betty Woodward—Beware of turkey and watch my diet.

Virginia T. Pullen—Jack's coming—'nuff said.

Lynn Page—Have a good time.

Betty Ellis—Ride horses every day.

Barbara Surface—I am going to see Bob.

Esther Shevick—I'm going to Kinston, N. C., to visit Vivian Pearson.

Kitty Wright—I am going turkey hunting.

Mary Franklin Woodward — Think about Joseph.

Nell Ray Fleming—Help our hunting club at home keep up with the number of deer they kill.

Roberta Davis—Spend the holidays in Richmond.

Jane Waring Ruffin—Ain't no telling!

Martha Hite—Going to two USO dances and roll bandages.

Kathryn Hutchinson—Go home in search of handsome lieutenants.

Virginia Treakle— "Over the river and through the woods to Grandma's house I'll go."

Seniors, Sophomores Drive Toward Goal For Red and White Victory in Hockey; Color Rush Goes to Reds Five to One

Droste, Waid Lead Winning Teams

Headed by captains Mildred Droste and Billie Waid, the senior and sophomore hockey teams won the games Saturday afternoon, to place the red and whites in the lead for the color cup. The seniors defeated the juniors 2-0, while the sophomores won 3-1 over the freshmen. Misses Elizabeth Burger and Olive Iler officiated the games.

The green and whites under the leadership of captains Beanie Dudley and Ophelia Whittle, gave the red and whites a hard battle. All four teams were well-matched, and the crowd saw two very exciting games.

Champions of the hockey tournament are the seniors who came out in the lead winner of two games, giving them four points. The juniors and sophomores tied with a score of two points each. Although the freshmen did not score in either game, they displayed good sportsmanship and hard playing.

Players during the tournament were: Seniors, Gwaltney, RW; Nimmo, RF; McCorkle, CF; Simmons, LI; Seward, LW; Connely, RH; Elam, CH; Dugger, LH; Droste, RB; Crawford, LB; Ford, G. Sophomores: Lee, RW; Blane, RI; Orange, CF; R. Jones, LI; Ellis, LW; Watkins, RH; L. Jones, CH; Waid, LH; Southall, RB; Elliott, LB; Ross, G.

Juniors: Higgins, RW; Lovins, Scott, RI; Watts, CF; Nichols, Prince, LI; Caldwell, LW; Parr, RH; Bear, CH; Wilson, RB; Wade, LH; Whittle, LB; Fox, G. Freshmen: Owens, RW; Lee, Bibb, RI; Bridgeforth, LI; Ellett, CF; Fulcher, LW; Minetree, RH; Droste, CH; Smith, LH; Hubbard, RB; Terry, Anderson, LB; Dudley, G.

Color cup points now stand at Red and white 20, Green and white, 0.

Alpha Phi Sigma

Continued from Page 1

land; Mary Catlett, Wicomico; Mary Clements, Prospect; Evelyn Cole, Chase City; and Reba Connor, Chester Springs.

Also Agnes Cook, Burkeville; Page Cook, LaCrosse; Betty Critz, Critz; Patsy Dale, Homeville; Eula Belle Doggett, Isle of Wight; Martha East, South Boston; Margaret Ellett, Jennings Ordinary; Virginia Farrier, Farmville; Florence Godwin, Smithfield; Evelyn Hair; Danville; Ethel Halsey, Rapidan; Janice Halstead, Norfolk; Louise Harrell, Suffolk; Anna Headlee, Norfolk; Rudy Huddle, Rural Retreat; Ruth Jones, Chatham; and Leverta Joyner, Carrollton.

Also Barbara Kellam, Norfolk; Irma Lassiter, Driver; Betty Lewis, Hickory; Marion Lotts, Natural Bridge; Glennis Moore, Richmond; Bernice Nichols, Clover; Mabel Park, Boydton; Nancy Parrish, Manassas; Ruth Rowe, Rural Retreat; Margaret Sheffield, Suffolk; Shirley Skinner, Kenbridge; Frieda Sturman, Farmville; Dot Turley, Wytheville; Harriet Weiger, Newport News; Mary Williams, Holcomb Rock; and Virginia Woodworth, Chuckatuck.

Left Lead

Well hay, ho . . . and here we go, with enough food in the feed-bag to nourish your thoughts throughout the entire holiday!

Midnight's allergy to Baby-carriages was more than in evidence last Thursday, as Anna Headlee will be glad to testify. We don't mind spectators, but sooner a convoy of Army trucks than two innocent kiddy-strollers. Wonder what caused that hoss to grow up with that complex anyhow?

The trail-rides are more fun each time. One recent passage, well blazed ahead of time, led "over the river and through the wood" indeed and a Pine-wood at that. The captivating aroma lent spice to the air and as the riders cantered across the fields, even the horses seemed to take deep, exhilarating whiffs! Hungry horses, too . . . swiping huge bites of grass and leaves, and even Poke-berries for dessert as they walked or trotted along the way. One would think Flicka had never been fed, and Winnie practically choked at every turn. It must have been the weather, but spirits were high all the way around, and merry voices filled the air with sprightly melodies and light lays of camp and trail, and if anyone wants to help make a collection of what the well-versed rider will sing, turn them in to Ann Darnell, and they'll be filed for future reference.

We had two beginners last week, too. Betty Jane Stubbs is starting lessons now, and Kittty Wright went along for the ride. Keepway was much more cooperative than Lindy, according to Kitty . . . Lindy merely needed a flick of the switch, and he bucked all over the field. Both girls stuck on with that newly acquired "grip with your thighs", though, and are full ready to be up and at it again.

And speaking of beginners, we hear there are three new possibilities. We're not too sure just how it happened, though it's probably 'cause Mr. Hallisy doesn't want Tommy to get too far ahead of his paternal ancestor, but there seems to be a pact between Charlie Hop, Mr. Hallisy, and Mr. Myers, to the effect that if one will take a ride, so will the other two! There's hardly any need to take a vote on it, gang, so let's not let them get out of it! King Cole is no more, but maybe Mr. Reid would let 'em begin with Beauty!!

Because last Saturday was Color Rush day, and the school-girls were a bit preoccupied, Joyce and Jean Carter took the town youngsters on a super-Trail-ride that included lunch packs and plenty of fun. They left a little before noon and had the afternoon in the open, and speaking of singing and laughter, the old road to Hampden-Sydney is still reverberating.

No doubt the horses will get a slight rest over Thanksgiving, and though they won't eat Turkey, we bet Mr. Nolen puts an extra scoop of oats in every stall. He sure is wonderful about popping up with candy for the girls!

Take it easy over the nice long week end, and when you're "fed up" with Home Life . . . we'll see ya in the Saddle!!

Pegasus

DUNHILL
Cigarette Lighters
on sale. A real Christmas gift
Southside Drug Store

Come in and try a Delicious Hamburger with tomato and letttuce
15c
We also Serve
PLATE LUNCHES
College Shoppe

Greens Get First Banner In Breeze

Red and whites won again Saturday when five of their banners hung from Senior, Library, Rotunda, Whitehouse and Student dormitories, after the Color Rush. Green and whites won in Junior building, and tied with red and whites on Whitehouse. The rush began at 2:30, with the ringing of the school bell. The largest crowd was found in front of the Rotunda anxiously awaiting the outcome of the race. There were many cheers from the seniors and sophomores when the runner finally appeared with the red and white banner. First banner out was the green and white in Junior building.

Runners were Jane Hobson Chappell and Olive Bradshaw in Senior; Mary Lee Pittard and Edith Lovins in Junior; Louise Blane and Jean Procise in Library; Frances Lee and Heidi Lacy in Rotunda; Betty Parrish and Vivian Gwaltney in Whitehouse; Billie Waid and Patsy McCuley in Student.

Business Students

Continued from Page 1

should be given in meeting people, business introductions, handling office callers and the office telephone. In other words, more training should be given in personality adjustments. Third, some have expressed a need for higher standards in a more advanced shorthand and typewriting.

"An interesting fact is that three out of every four girls are employed by some government organization, either state or national", Mr. Hallisy said, in his discussion of the matter.

As soon as the facts have been tabulated for interpretation, a more complete statement will be made regarding the outcome.

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Your Library

The Morrison Memorial Collection

The Morrison Memorial Collection was begun in 1925 by the Association of Alumnae which wished to honor the memory of Mrs. Portia Lee Morrison who was Head of the Home from 1887 to 1904. This collection of books was chosen as the most appropriate tribute to Mrs. Morrison because of her love of reading and her joy in sharing that reading with others. The "five-foot shelf" of books placed in the library in 1931 has grown to fill two sections of shelving in the Reserve Book room of the library where the books are shelved underneath the portrait of Mrs. Morrison presented to the library at Founders Day in 1943.

Books were chosen for the collection from all fields of literature—poetry, fiction, biography, religion—books that Mrs. Morrison was known to have read and enjoyed, and books she would have enjoyed had they been published while she lived. The collection is constantly growing, for the Association of the Alumnae maintains a regular fund for the addition of new titles to the collection. Nineteen new books have been added during the past year, and more and more are being added continually. Most of these are books which are not to be found elsewhere in the library, thus making a unique and self-contained collection.

Like the books in the Browsing room, the "MM" books are meant to be read for pleasure, for the fun and enjoyment to be found in reading. Over and above that, you will find these books to be good books—books well worth reading, even if they were assigned — as they sometimes are.

New Book of the Week: (Morrison Memorial) "Trivia," by Logan Pearsall Smith.

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

For Lovely Full Fashioned HOSE
and ANKLETS
Visit
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

Betty Ellis,

On the Ball

The Finale

Victory for the red and whites ended the hockey season this past Saturday. The seniors defeated the juniors 2-0, and the sophomores defeated the freshmen 3-1. The games were exciting, and all the teams were well-matched. Good sportsmanship was displayed all around by both sides. The green and whites, who took their defeat with a smile, cheerfully warned, "Just wait until next year!"

Red and white banners hung from five of the buildings, with one green and white on Junior building, and another on Whitehouse to mark a tie. This was the sign that Color Rush was over. The runners had completed their short treks, the cheers were over, and the crowd had dispersed to the hockey field. Another victory for the red and whites!

Our congratulations go to the senior class for having the best hockey team, and also to the sophomores for making it a red and white day. To the Juniors and freshmen we send orchids for a good sportsmanlike attitude, and for being hard fighting players who never give up.

Bouncin' Balls

After we have spent that eventful holiday stuffing ourselves with turkey and sweets, we will return to school to start the basketball season. Already on their way are the freshmen, but close on their heels will come the upperclassmen, to send those balls spinning into the baskets. Being a member of a team teaches good sportsmanship, cooperation, and standing back to give the other girl a chance. All these can be found in playing basketball. The red and whites are well on their way toward the color cup, so green and whites here's your chance to catch up with them. We want to find girls from all the classes out on the court practicing. You might make sub-varsity, or even varsity, so come on out and try, because here's your chance to help your color toward the color cup.

Holiday Fun

We will put away our balls and hockey sticks, our tennis rackets and swimming caps this Wednesday, to take ourselves away from school for a Thanksgiving holiday. But don't forget that sports can be just as much fun on a holiday as they can be at school.

Continued on Page 4

Shop Early For Christmas

To assist al forms of transportation in operating smoothly during the perio dimmediately preceding Christmas, thereby enabling war materiols to move on schedule and soldiers on leave, to get home, the Office of Defense Transportation has asked Railway Express Agency and the Post Office to endeavor to have the sending of all personal Christmas packages completed by December 10th . . . This store is glad to cooperate in that endeavor and it encourages its customers to buy early, wrap securely, adress plainly and ship early . . .

By DECEMBER 10

DAVIDSON'S
The Hous eof Quality
Farmville Virginia

Have a "Coke"= Good winds have blown you here

. . . a way to say "We are friends" to the Chinese

China knew Coca-Cola before the war. Where Coca-Cola is on hand today, to Chinese and Yank alike, Have a "Coke" are welcome words. Around the globe Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a symbol of good will.

BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
FARMVILLE BOTTLING WORKS

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".

© 1943 The C-C Co.

Underclassmen Advised To Go Gala In Colors To Senior Dance - No Whites!

On the week end following great Thanksgiving holiday, the high and mighty seniors celebrate Senior dance. The traditional white dresses and the figure and senior no breaks are long awaited moments from rat days up.

But I am not writing this to advocate being a senior, but as a none too gentle reminder to underclassmen that at senior dance only seniors are to wear white dresses. Even if your rich uncle just sent you a luscious white dream for the occasion pack it away in tissue paper for another day and go press the three year old black job.

In addition to reminding you that seniors are the only ones who can look like angels in white net this time, I would like to offer some suggestions for rearranging the old favorites. Evening dresses are hard to get and are getting harder. Not only that, but such things as satins and brocades to fix new jackets just aren't available at any price. So the renovation job is a tough one.

If your blue net is getting that frayed look around the edges, try binding the bottom of the skirt with ribbon a shade darker and then adding more rows of ribbon at intervals on the skirt. The dime store furnishes the material and you won't have to send it home to Mama to fix. A blue ribbon suggestion—tie a multitude of little bows and tack them in a flurry down one side of your skirt. Use bright colors and don't be afraid of new color combinations.

If you can sew, try a merger. Put the black net skirt over your rose or aqua taffeta. Save a scrap of net for a glamous scarf for your hair. If you desire decorations, purchase a quantity of inexpensive flowers and sew them around your skirt about three to five inches from the waist. They serve to double purpose — make witted net sit out like new and change the whole line of the dress.

Just be extra sure you don't create any black looks from the seniors by wearing white. Remember this is their dance.

Leading Ladies

Nancy Whitehead and Dodie Jones.

Capacity Audience Enthusiastic Over "Ivory Door" Friday

To an almost capacity audience that responded activity to the mood of the legend, the S. T. C Dramatic Club presented A. A. Milne's "The Ivory Door" last Friday night.

Dodie Jones, a veteran to the S. T. C. stags portrayed most nobly the three kings, and was supported by a lovely leading lady in Nancy Whitehead as the Princes Lilia.

The prologue of the play introduced the legend of the "Ivory Door" and created in the audience a curiosity satiated only when the door was opened. Starred in the prologue was Edith Dotson as the curious and vivacious boy, Prince Perivale who in the main part of the play finally goes through the door.

Christine Shifflet did a fine portrayal of Brand the body servant of the king, and the most intense moment of the play was caused when he failed to recognize the king to save him from death since the people had "rather lose their king than their legend."

Comedy, if it can be called comedy, was supplied by Martha Frances Webb as Anna, the aged twisted nurse of the king, and by Virginia Terrell as the part of Old Beppo, the venerable and deaf cripple who knows all about what happens beyond the door.

Special commendation goes to Grace Loyd for her handling of Bruno, Captain of the guard. The scene in which the Mummer, excellently done by Betty Deuel Cock, produces wine to fire the drunkeness of Bruno was so realistic that a small child asked the next day if there were really "something to drink in that bottle."

The strong supporting cast was led by Doris Harper, the "hemming and hawing" Chancellor; Margaret Wilson as Court Rollo the speech maker; Catherine Lynch as Simeon; Marion Orange as Anton; Marilyn Johnson as Jessica; Lillian Johnson as Thora; Helen McQuire and Nancy Wilkinson, as soldiers, and Nancy Harrell as the prince in the epilogue.

Mention cannot be made of "Ivory Door" without special note of the staging and lighting. The quick change of scenes produced no shoddy staging, the ivory door itself seemed as mysterious as the legends about it, and the stained glass window was a masterpiece. The lighting, too, was effective, the subtle dimming of lights creating an atmosphere which really

Students Prepare General Exit Tomorrow as Holiday Begins

Buses and trains leaving Farmville after 12 o'clock noon tomorrow, gird yourselves; tighten your screws and add extra reinforcements to all your joints—S. T. C is leaving town. And judging from reports from the office records, there is really going to be a general exit in all directions, with only eight members of the student body remaining here for the holidays.

n all sides are evidences of the preparations for the grand and glorious occasion—"Dear Mother, send me money to come home on. I'm broke". "If you get your ticket now, you may be able to ride on the top of the bus." "You washing clothes? I'm taking all mine home—DIRTY." "How in the world am I ever going to get all this junk in two suitcases?" (One would almost think the girls were going home to stay.) "I can't go to the movies—I have four tests tomorrow." "I think it's downright terrible that I have two tests before I can leave here Wednesday morning." "Are you going to the Thanksgiving dance at Eustis? See you there". "Is Tech getting the Thanksgiving holidays?" "No, and neither is Hampden-Sydney—but they get turkey—G. I. turkey." "I'm going to gain back the sixteen pounds I've lost this fall. Mother wrote today that she has already started cooking for me." "I can't believe it—four whole days and I won't hear a single bell." "I just dare anybody to wake me up before noon when I'm at home."

Classes will be run as usual through noon tomorrow and when the bell rings it will be all over, except the shouting and the turkey. Out of state students have been given special permission to leave college a day early in order that they may arrive home for holiday.

Then on Sunday night the girls will begin coming back, tired and happy, full of the food they have been promised, ruined by four days of sleeping late, and begin counting the days till Christmas.

"made the play".

To Miss Leola Wheeler who directed "The Ivory Door", to the cast who produced it, to Mary St. Clair Bugg, lighting chairman; to Carol Diggs, in charge of staging; to Sally Robertson, properties head; to Frances Shackleford, costume chairman; to Lucille Lewis, in charge of make up; and to all who worked backstage in any capacity, go blue ribbons for a most successful opening night.

Come Hither Look

By PAT MADDOX

Shades of our Puritan ancestors! — it's nearly Thanksgiving. Yep, folks, soon we'll be going home to a week end of turkeys, football games, parties and family reunions. Although most of us were content to stay at school and just dream of the good times in store for us, there were some who couldn't wait for that -blessed Thursday, and so spent this week end at home.

Homeward bound were Betty Agnew, Anne Charlton, Mildred Corvin, Virginia Wells, Virginia Mae Ellett, Isabel Sampson, Lucy Harvie, Lucille Winston, Frances Satterfield, Anne Summers, Beverly Bohon, Jane Danby, Sara Wayne France, Carmen Low, Shirley Pierce, and Jean Riddick.

Nell Holloway and Betty Edwards went to Norfolk to see two former H.-S. boys off to Notre Dame.

Eleanor Booth, Ellen Hudgins, and Betty Hunt, were here for the week-end, and we also noticed a sister act or so. Jane Page's little sister eBtty and Betty Cock's big sister, Anne, were welcome visitors.

Attending the Jeanette McDonald concert in Richmond were Beverly Boone, Anne Blair, Jerry Titmus and Gene Hamilton.

Dances in Lexington and N. C. State captured Marcheta Cunningham and Martha Russell East respectively, while Sally Robertson's trip to Baton Rouge, La., was easily the long-distance record of the week.

On the Ball

Continued from Page 3

Catch up on your ping pong, horseback riding, or even tennis. It makes you feel good to keep fit, and keeping fit is very important to a college girl.

A happy Thanksgiving to you all, and don't forget to stay in the game.

Calico Cat Captivates College

Pulls Her Punches

One of the favorite songs of the very young generation has to do with a wee little pussy-cat whose coat is silver-gray. "She lives out in a meadow, not very far away. . . " But this little Kitty isn't like most little kitties, 'cause at the end of the song, we find out she's a Pussy-willow! But . . .

There's a wee little Kitty who lives at S. T. C., who's anything but silver-gray, but at least she has more pep than a Pussy-willow. She inhabits the back steps between the Main building and the Chemistry lab, and is always there to mew a cheerful good-morning, or purr a soft goodnight, and though she's the bane of Mrs. Warren's existance, she's often an honored visitor in many of the suites in Cunningham Hall. This nat is not a pretty cat. She's a Calico Cat, and the gray in her system of coloring is more tattletale than anything, and it's all mixed up with yellow and orange and brownish and blackish spots. Her crowning glory (?) is a weird mustache that give her the disturbed appearance of a funny little old man.

Calico is a most obliging visitor. She's friendly and polite and will eat, with her inimitable, delicate manners, anything that is placed before her, literally from soup to nuts. The accepts a sardine with a calmness that begets the respect of all present, and laps up cream gratefuily spilling never a drop. She'll nibble at a bit of chocolate but prefers graham crackers, and she simply dotes on peanut butter!

On cold nights, she thanks you with a pretty purr for an hour or so on the foot of your bed, and she isn't at all hurt if she lies atop an old towel instead of the fleeciest of blankets. And she keeps her fleas to herself! She's even a good little sport when a screaming room-mate yells, "Put that nasty cat out of here!", and never utters a reproachful sound or gives a mean look when the doors close behind her and she's alone on the outside.

It's always fun for some to stop and say a kindly word to Calico. And these are the ones who have no patience with those who say "that nasty dirty cat", and scream at the sight of her or recoil at her advances. She's the finest of Felines, and tho she may not be the cleanest, she'll always find a welcome somewhere. Just one worl of warning . . . don't leave your favorite groceries parked around on the table if you're expecting a visit from Calico. We do not wish to imply that she'll eat what isn't offered to her. It isn't that simple. For cats like to sleep where it's high, warm and comfortable . . . and with Calico, her favorite perch has too often been . . . atop a loaf of bread!

Purrs Her Thanks

AST Pledges Give Chapter Party

The Alpha Sigma Tau Sorority was entertained Tuesday night in their chapter room with a party given by the pledges of the sorority.

The members enjoyed sandwiches, coca-colas, nuts and candy. The party ended after a short entertainment program.

Sororities Give Coke and Nab Parties

November 17 marked the fifteenth anniversary of the founding of the Alpha Epsilon chapter of Pi Kappa Sigma sorority on this campus. This was also the anniversary of the founding of their national organization. The Pi Kaps celebrated this event with a coke and nabs party on the night of November 20.

The Gamma Thetas were also entertained with a similar party given by Carol Digges in honor of Virginia Hitchings, who returned to school for a visit.

Look Your Best at Senior Dance

Have your evening clothes Cleaned at

DE LUXE CLEANERS

Everything in FRESH FLOWERS

Collins Florist

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.

Farmville's Newest and Finest 5-10-25c Store

Visit our Fresh Hot Nut Department

Spanish Peanuts, 5 oz. 10c
Cashew Nut, 2 oz. 25c
Jumbo Red Skin, 4 oz. 10c

For the best hot cakes and waffles be sure to go to

SHANNON'S

Martin the Jeweler

See our sterling silver Identification bracelets For men in the service

Patronize PATTERSONS

The Complete Drug Store

MONTAGUE STATIONERY WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-

WORTH CANDIES UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE

PRESCRIPTIONS A SPECIALTY

Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK BUILDING MATERIALS

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs Perfumes—Toilet Articles Latest styles in stationery Quality—Price—Service

Library

MAKE THE MOST OF YOUR OPPORTUNITIES (SEE ED PAGE 2)

The Rotunda

HAVE YOU ENTERED THE PERSONAL LIBRARY CONTEST?

VOLUME XXIII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, FRIDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1943 NUMBER 10

Cotillion Members Send Invitations To 87 New Girls

All Bids Issued At Supper Tonight

Invitations to become members of the Cotillion Club were issued to eighty-seven girls at supper tonight.

They are Gwen Ackiss, Newport News; Collene Agee, Farmville; Nancy Almond, Kenbridge; Cecelia Arthur, Roanoke; and Betty Jane Austin, Roanoke.

Also, Lou Baker, Roanoke; Lucy Barger, Lexington; Nancy Lee Barrett, Baltimore, Maryland; Jo Beatty, Ivanhoe, N. C.; Betty Bibb, Lynchburg; Margaret Brace, Charleston, W. Va.; Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Kenbridge; Pat Buckler, Oxford, N. C.; Mary Steward Buford, Lawrenceville; and Cam Butt, Portsmouth.

Paige Cook, LaCrosse; Georgia Lee Cook, Radford; Judy Connelly, Lebanon; Betsy Corr, Richmond; Elizabeth Croutch, Marion; and Ann Curley, Richmond.

Joan Davis, Lynchburg; Mac Derieux, Remlik; Ann Dickerson, Richmond; Betsy Dillard, Draper, N. C.; Martha Droste, Ronceverte, W. Va.; Beanie Dudley, Farmville; Martha Russell East, South Boston; Margaret Ellett, Jennings Ordinary; and Shirley Etheridge, Norfolk.

Betsy Fox, Danville; Ann Gregory, Roanoke; Betty Harville, Petersburg; Diddy Ford, Hopewell; Ann Foster, Norfolk; Betty Lou Hayward, Hampton; Ellen Higginbotham, Staunton; Sue Hundley, Suffolk; Kitty Kearsley, Marion; Ann Kingdon, Bluefield, W. Va.; Heidi Lacy, Richmond; and Robin Lear, Chapel Hill, N. C.

Also, Betty Lee, Richmond; Sara Leech, Richmond; Mary Ann Loving, LaCrosse; Carmon Low, Hopewell; Grace Loyd, Lynchburg; Margaret Massey, Hampden-Sydney; Sue McCorkle, Lexington; Patsy McLear, Richmond; Betty Minetree, Petersburg; Sara Moling, Winchester; Ellen Moore, Culpepper; Betty Moses, Roanoke; and Barbara Montgomery, Alberta.

Cab Overbey, Chatham; Dot Owen, Sedley; Kitty Parham, Petersburg; Katherine Parker, Norfolk; Nancy Parrish, Manassas; Kitty Parrish, Manassas; Jerry Payne, Onancock; Beverley Peebles, Hampton; and Virginia Pullin, Danville; Cora Redd, Chatham; Judy Relck, West Point, and Patsy Saunders, Laneview.

Kitty Saunders, Christiansburg; Frances Seward, Petersburg; Margaret Sheffield, Suffolk; Mary Agnes Sheffield, Victoria; Christine Shiflett, Churchville; Ann Shufflebarger, Bluefield; Margaret Simmons, Sebrell; Nellie Smith, Petersburg; Lynn Sprye, Lynch-

Continued on Page 4

Corbett To Address Kappa Delta Pi

Miss Mary J. Corbett, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A. for Brazil, will speak at a joint meeting of the Farmville Branch of American Association of University Women and Beta Epsilon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi on Friday, December 10, at 4 o'clock. The meeting will be held in the Student Lounge.

On Friday and Monday nights, Miss Corbett will speak in prayers.

For ten years Miss Corbett worked in Brazil. She was extremely interested and was very prominent in the fight for higher education and better working conditions for women there. Miss Corbett, in her career, has done much social welfare work.

An apt student of Brazilian history and culture, Miss Corbett speaks Portuguese fluently. She received her Master's degree from the University of Chicago and has done work in her Doctorate there.

Christmas Gift Suggestion

Students:

Have you a friend who is building a personal library? Then what is more appreciated than a lovely book to add to her present collection? You could choose a modern novel, a present day war book, an anthology of poems or short stories, or a biography. One of the great classics would make a hit, too. Why not end all your Christmas gift worries now and select the choice book for each of your friends?

For further suggestions, don't fail to see our display in the library.

KAPPA DELTA PI

Manning Will Sing Here December 19 In College Concert

The Choral Club of the college will present Miss Florence Manning, soprano of New York and Philadelphia, at the annual Christmas concert which will be held Sunday night, December 19 at 8:30 in the college auditorium.

Miss Manning made her bow to the stage at the age of five in the old Metropolitan House in Philadelphia. While in high school, she organized, conducted and was soloist of a chorus of sixty singers. A few years later she became the soloist of the St. Luke and Epiphany Choir, directed by Dr. H. Alexander Matthews, one of the leading choral conductors in America.

As a concert artist, Miss Manning has appeared in numerous recitals throughout the East, singing among other places, at the University of Pennsylavania and Susquehanna University.

In New York, she has appeared with the New York Philharmonic as well as on many well-known radio programs. She is at present soloist at the Third Church of Christ, Scientist, Brooklyn, N. Y. A student of two outstanding teachers, Elizabeth Schumann and Clytie Hine Mundy, Mis Manning is herself a teacher and head of the voice department of the Clarke Conservatory of Music in Philadelphia.

All the music groups of the college will participate in the concert. The organized music groups are the College Choir, the Choral Club, the Madrigal Singers with Pat Maddox as student director; the Junior A'Capella with Beth Johnson as student director and the Intermediate A'Capella with Jeanne Strick as student director. Connie Ozlin and Margie Hewlett are the accompanists for the music groups.

Notice

All girls interested in knitting for the Red Cross, please see either Lucille Cheatham or Virginia Treakle to get their wool.

Corvin Announces Mardi Gras Dance Committee Heads

Costume Ball Sponsored by PGM

Plans are now being made for the annual Mardi Gras dance scheduled for Saturday night, February 19, 1944, Mildred Corvin, general chairman, announced this week. The dance is sponsored each year by Pi Gamma Mu, Social Science fraternity.

Committee heads include Marilyn Bell, floor show; Sara Wayne France, decorations; Bernice Copenhaver, business manager; Mildred Willson, orchestra; Ella Banks Weathers, and Sarah Trigg, co-chairmen for theme, costumes and advertising; and Mary Moore McCorkle, tickets.

Nominations for the queen and court will be made by a committee composed of Dr. J. E. Walmsley, Pi Gamma Mu faculty advisor; Frances Craddock, President of Pi Gamma Mu; Mildred Corvin, general chairman of Mardi Gras; and a representative from each of the four classes. The nominees will be voted on early in January.

Pi Gamma Mu has for its general theme for this year problems arising in the New World Order. At the meeting last week, two papers were presented dealing with the problem of natural resources in the post war world. One paper treated the political side of the question — that is, gaining equal access to natural resources. The other paper was concerned with the economic phase in relation to conservation of natural resources, substitutes and new sources. Last night a discussion of this question took place at the meeting.

Officers of Pi Gamma Mu this year are Frances Craddock, president; Sarah Trigg, vice-president; Bernice Copenhaver, secretary; and Sara Wayne France, treasurer.

Orchestra Elects Verell President

Margaret Verell, sophomore from Newport News, was selected president of the Orchestra at the regular meeting this week. Other officers chosen were Connie Ozlin, Chase City, treasurer, and Ann Savage, Littleton, reporter and business manager.

The College Orchestra will present its first program of the year in chapel this Saturday, December 11, under the direction of Miss Lisabeth Purdom. Program includes "Tone Poem" by Fibich, and Hungarian Dance No. 5 by Brahms, by the entire group, two violin soloes by Charles Beck, and in closing, "America" and "The Star Spangled Banner", by the orchestra. The violin soloes to be played are Chopin's "Minute Waltz" and "Allegro" by Mozart.

"Farmville In War" Sponsored By War Council on January 19 As Second War Emphasis Day

Discussion Groups Planned On Four Theatres of War

Mardi Gras Chairman

MILDRED CORVIN

Debaters Attend Dixie Tournament

Adams, Bradshaw, Ruffin, Weeks Enter

Betty Adams, sophomore from Richmond; Olive Bradshaw, junior from Rice; Jane Waring Ruffin, junior from Charles City County, and Faith Weeks, sophomore from Purdy represented Farmville State Teachers College in the annual Dixie Forensic Tournament, held in Charlotte, N. C., December 2 through December 4.

In the debating rounds Olive Bradshaw and Faith Weeks took the affirmative side and Jane Ruffin and Betty Adams made up the negative team on the question, "Resolved, that the United States should cooperate in establishing and maintaining an international police force upon the defeat of the Axis."

Of the twelve debates participated in by the two teams, six were won and six lost. Teams defeated were Auburn, Mars Hill, and four teams from Wingate. The teams from Farmville lost to those from Marson Newman, Emory University, Randolph Macon, and Lynore Rhine, which was the final winner.

Miss Mary E. Peck, adviser for the Debate Club accompanied the girls to Charlotte and served in

Continued on Page 4

YWCA To Present Special Programs On Christmas

The Y. W. C. A. will carry out the Christmas theme in the special prayers program to be presented during the week prior to the Chirstmas holidays, Frances Lee Hawthorne, president, has announced.

Miss Mary J. Corbett, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A. from Brazil, will be the prayers speaker on Monday night, Decmeber 15. Miss Corbett is being sponsored on the campus as a guest of Kappa Delta Pi.

On Tuesday night the prayers committee of the Y will give the annual Christmas pageant, and the service committee will sponsor White Christmas, at which time the heads of all organization will present their Christmas gifts.

Miss Minnie V. Rice will give the Christmas story, "The Other Wise Man" on Wednesday night, after which there will be the Hanging of the Green, sponsored by the newly elected Freshman Commission.

Mary Evelyn Pearsall will tell the story, "Why the Chimes Rang" in prayers on Thursday night, and on Friday night there will be "The Story of the Nativity."

The Sing Committee of the Y will sponsor community sing in the Rec on Saturday night after dinner. This will take the the place of the usual Saturday night sing program.

Concluding the series of Christmas music and stories, the Y will sponsor Christmas caroling on Sunday night after the concert in the auditorium, and members of the College Choir will lead the carolling.

Hallisy Announces New Business Course

Business Orientation and Guidance Course, No. 130, will be installed in the Business Education Department next fall, and will be required of all freshmen. The course will meet once a week in the little auditorium and one credit will be granted, according to an announcement made by Mr. R. G. Hallisy, head of the department.

"We believe some means should be provided to orientate our students, particularly those coming from small high schools without any previous business associations or business education. These students need to have their minds directed toward business problems and business standards and toward the acceptance of their share of the responsibility for becoming the kind of office workers that business demands," Mr. Hallisy remarked in discussing the new course.

The course will also provide an opportunity to get the business group together to discuss common problems and so make the students conscious of their part in the development and maintenance of high standards within the department as well as in the continued growth of the department.

There will be from time to time during the year some business talks by busines men Also, there will be audio-visual education with motion pictures on telephone practices, office mail, and care of office machines.

Students Required To Attend Meetings

On January 19, 1944, the War Council will sponsor a program of "Farmville in War". The purpose of this day is to bring each STC girl to a point where she will be capable of understanding any terms of peace, and of what those terms must be based upon. She should understand the social, economic and political background of the war and of the peace terms.

Four discussion groups on the theatres of war will be conducted by a faculty member with three student assistants. Dr. J. E. Walmsley will lead the discussion on the European theatre; Miss Grace B. Moran on the South Pacific; Mr. Richard Hallisy, on the British Empire; and Miss Leola Wheeler, on the Far Eastern theatre. The student assistants will aid the professor in finding material in preparation for the discussion, and will also take an active part in the leading of the discussions.

Students will be excused from all classes and will be required to attend the program, which will start at 9:45 with a flag raising ceremony. The four groups will then meet from ten until twelve o'clock.

At twelve o'clock, the entire student body will assemble in the large auditorium where the secretary of each group will give a brief report of the findings, or discussions, of the morning. The ritual committee of the war council will present a short program on flag ettiquette, and Mary Evelyn Pearsall will present a flag to the school. After a salute to the flag, Pat Maddox will lead the group in the singing of four songs made popular during World War I, and of four that are current war favorites.

The afternoon program, which is not compulsory in attendance, will consist of war and defense movies. The day's emphasis will be closed at six by the lowering of the flag.

All faculty members will be invited to sit in on the student discussions, and to attend the entire program.

Walmsley Furnishes Brochure Material

Reviews of twenty-four hymns by Dr. J. E. Walmsley will form a part of the brochure to be published by the Music Department some time this year, Alfred Strick, head of the department, has revealed. The hymns will form a part of the programs to be presented by the College Choir and Choral Club during the college year.

A forward on hymnology will be given by Dr. T. Tertius Noble, organist and choirmaster emeritus, St. Thomas Church, New York.

Also, several new hymns which have been written by Mr. Strick and which have been sung by the Seventh Street Christian Church, Richmond, under Dr. Luther A. Richman, will be added.

Students who desire a copy of this book may have one for fifty cents, which may be given either to Jean Prosise or Connie Ozlin. Copies of this informative book will be sent to all principals and superintendents throughout Virginia in the hope that it will arouse interest in good hymn singing.

Armed to the Teeth, STC Debaters Tackle International Problem at Tournament

Train Trip Proves Helpful, Hectic

"Where have you been?" "Did you have a good time?" "Why on earth are you coming BACK to school on SATURDAY night?" These and other similar queries from the dance-clad group intermissioning in the Rotunda as the four debaters dragged themselves into the school after four days at the Dixie Tournament in Charlotte, N. C.

And so here it is—the trip in retrospect.

From the moment of departure on the one o'clock train to Lynchburg on Wednesday till we arrived back at nearly midnight Saturday night, the whole trip was packed, every moment of it. The first lap of the train ride was comfortable and leisurely — we had nearly a coach to ourselves and even then we were passing magazines and clippings back and forth trying to find something either pro or con about an international police force.

But it was after we had climbed every hill in Lynchburg and finally boarded the train headed for Charlotte that the fun really began. Six hours ahead of us and not a seat to be had. There was hardly standing room. But we parked our suitcases in the aisle and ourselves on top. Faith calmly continued knitting her mitten until the someone brought up an international police force. And we got a preview of what we were to meet later on. Those soldiers and sailors from every corner of the United States really have their ideas about an international police force—and there were ideas on both sides!

Travel Tired Teams Seek Beds, Quiet

Charlotte at last. And the Selwyn Hotel.

"I want a bed for Christmas" was the mutual agreement of the group before we were lost under the influence of Morpheus.

Most of Thursday we spent in conferences with Miss Peck. I think only Miss Peck knew what we were going to face and so she prepared us with all sorts of defense ranging from definitions of socialism to the result of the Cairo

Continued on Page 3

Opportunities Knock - - - But We Fail to Answer

Making the most of one's college years is a lovely phrase, but it can be interpreted to mean a dozen or more different things. It could mean sleeping in all classes, it could mean being a "party girl"; to some perhaps it does mean these things.

But when we say to make the most of your college years, we mean to put your all in your college life. And this does NOT mean to keep your nose buried in a text book, it does not mean to spend every waking hour studying. Studying is an integral and important part of college life and must not be neglected, but it is only part. Equally important are those experiences garnered working in various extra curricula activities—the honor groups, the publications, the music groups, the Dramatic and Debate clubs, the church groups. Making the most of one's college life means finding somewhere between the two extremes a happy medium and putting your best into whatever you do.

Are we making the most of our college years? Are we fighting the pathe between the devil and the deep blue sea, too much mphasis on studying being the one (and there can be too much despite what your faculty members will say), and too much extra curricula being the other? Are we letting this path be the path of least resistance or are we making it meaningful and worthwhile.

Looking around the campus we find many—too many—unexploited opportunities in classes and in outside work. We see elective classes passed up, we see challenging opportunities for individual research go by unheeded, and just as much we see untouched gold mines in every extra curricula activity on campus. We see most of the work in organizations being done by a few who can only scratch the surface of the vast store of opportunities.

Just as a frugal woman gasps in horror at a waste of money, so we gasp in sorrow at the waste of chances, chances for each and every student in this school to really make something worthwhile of herself by answering when opportunity knocks, be it in class work or in extra curricula, by doing something about the unexploited opportunities here.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
FAY BYRD JOHNSON ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overeash, Theresa Hult, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Spruce, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Betty Cock, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Molling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 8, 1943

Biggest Job of Civilians

"The biggest job of the civilian students at Massachusetts State, from the immediate, military point of view, is to assure, in every way possible, the success of the local cadet training program, so that future air fighters will be effectively prepared for the crucial combat task ahead of them," stated Major Starr King recently.

"The biggest job of the civilian students, from the long-range point of view of the general welfare of our commonwealth and our country, is to prepare themselves, professionally and culturally, for the tremendous problems will tax our knowledge and mental skill to the utmost. We must meet them with maximum resources. In college, we develop these resources," Major King said in an address that keynotes the wartime aims of training at Massachusetts State College and for the nation's colleges as a whole (By A. C. P.)

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

Action has come in Italy, and the Nazi's winter line has been broken. After a bombardment which is reported to have driven some of the German troops insane, Clark's army has penetrated two miles into the enemy line and is moving toward Rome according to plan. The Eighth Army captured the highway and railroad center and market town of Lanciano. Road and rail lines have been cut to such an extent that the Germans can not hope to make another stand anywhere near the Sangro river.

* * * *

The Russian drive for the collapse of the Nazi's White Russian escape is gathering force and nearing the climax. It is reported that the railroad from Bliboiss to Kaliinkovichi has been cut by the Reds. The Germans are still making a futile effort to drive the Russians back to the eastern bank of the Knieper.

Bluffing the Nazis by flying within a few miles of Berlin, then turning southwest, heavy bombardments have devastated the center of Leipzig. The Germans were prepared to defend Berlin for the sixth heavy bombardment in 16 days, but Leipzig was caught off guard, and it was not until the bombers were ready to return home that any strong attack was made by the enemy.

* * * *

Increasing the aerial offensive in the New Britain Island, the Allies bombed the Japanese air base at Cape Gloucester, caused heavy damage, and left it afire. The first naval shelling directed at this island was made on the Gasmata airdrome which also received aerial bombardments.

The Japs are strengthening the defenses of Sumatra, sea-guardian of Singpore, in the belief that the British will attack the island soon. There may be a plan for the Allies to use the pincer movement on Singapore by having both a land and sea attack.

* * * *

President Roosevelt, Prime Minister Churchill, and President Chiang Kai-shek have held a conference which has bound their nations in an agreement to beat Japan into unconditional surrender and to strip her of all her imperialistic gains of the last half-century. Detailed plans for the Pacific military operations were made. Russia was not represented at this conference since that country is not at war with Japan.

However, Roosevelt and Churchill have also met Premier Stalin at Teheran to discuss the objectives and details of the European campaign. The official report of this conference has not been announced. It is reported that President Ismet Ionu of Turkey is in Cairo to meet with Roosevelt and Churchill. This will concern Turkey's neutrality, if it is true .

Hear All See All Tell All

Roses - carnations - orchids - gardenias - Privates - Ensigns - Techmen - Civilians - Jitterbugging - Fox Trotting - Conga Lines - The National Anthem-

Girls - Girls - and more Girls - all add up to the lovely setting of Senior Dance and the picturesque red-and-white figure, with Agnes Patterson back to lead.

Perhaps the dedicated "I Love You Truly" to the ex Arlene Wright and her husband was the outstanding event of the evening. A lovely gesture to a lovely couple.

Voted most popular couple in figure—Louise and Mr. Mac.

Whew! But wasn't "Little Parham's" Lt. worth the second glance and effort to meet?!

Nancy Watts and Anne Jacob—probably the most marveled at girls at the dance — their dates couldn't come, but sent flowers anyway. Maybe some men were born thoughtful.

Another happy reunion at the dance—Lucie McHenry and Fobbie.

The dance veteran "Twitch" Ellett was missed. - - - Bea Cline's tricky version of "Strip Polka" was as ever popular - - - A few welcomed old girls were back - - - All in all, as "Grand Central Stationish" as it was, our thanks go to the Seniors for another grand dance.

This week it's a 2 carat diamond on third finger left hand . . . the proud owner . . . Betsy Dillard.

Ruthie Dugger's new Phi Gam pin might be termed as one of those outstanding holiday accomplishments. Ha! mercy, Dugger, what is the secret?

"Greenville, North Carolina calling" seemed to make Birdie Williams' heart jump. How'd the call come out, Birdie?

What's this about Helen McGuire's hiding behind the bushes when she saw her date coming!

Could the reason that we don't see much of Pat Maddox lately be Bob's request—"Get plenty of sleep before Christmas holidays"?

Bette Wood's Santa Claus has arrived already. If you don't believe it, ask her to let you see that beautiful robe "he" sent her!

Brickbats to the Juniors who tried to see how many loud notes they could hit on early Sunday morning. Consider the poor tired gals who wanted to sleep. After all! !

Heart-Breaking-Story - of - the-Week: After eight long months of not seeing each other, and after numerous changes in plans concerning coming this week end (you know Uncle Sam) Nancy Langhorne's Bernard finally got here just in time for the dance. Ah! but the sad part, Sunday morning Nancy woke up with the 'flu and couldn't see him any more. What is the matter with fate?

The fact that "cat-fever" is going around STC doesn't prove the fact that we're "catty". Scientists say cat fever is just a common cold! ! So relax, girls, and re-

Continued on Page 3

the "Y"

By ANN SNYDER

For those who are sick, the Service Committee has given four books to the infirmary.

The Y. Cabinet members are having their traditional spaghetti dinner.

Committees will meet tonight at 10 o'clock.

Plans are being made for White Christmas which will be observed this week during prayers. The pageant will be presented at this time.

Christmas seals will be sold again this week. Let's do all we can to help those who are less fortunate than we.

Friends

I think that God will never send
A gift so precious as a friend.
A friend who always understands
And fills each need as it demands;
Whose loyalty will stand the test.
When skies are bright or overcast;
Who sees the faults that merit blame.
But keeps on loving just the same.
Who does far more than creeds could do
To make us good, to make us true.
Earth's gifts a sweet enjoyment lend,
But only God can give a friend.

Strange Animal Assumes New Role To Amusement of Gustavus V-12 Unit

You've heard about dogs holding up football games by running onto the playing field; and of mice causing a lot of trouble by making their appearance in classrooms; but what happened at Gustavus Adolphus College in St. Peter, Minnesota adds a new story to the books.

The time was 6 a. m. one morning, and the place was the college house where Marines and Sailors of the Gustavus V-12 Unit were assembled for regular morning muster.

Just as one of the chief petty officers was receiving the report of absentees, there was sustained, but obvious laughter among members of the front ranks.

Seeing no just cause for any laughter, the chief asked the trouble.

The members of the front rank just pointed, and there, watching the proceedings with interest from his position on the stage just behind the surprised chief was a contented little skunk.

Morning muster was dismissed earlier than usual, and the observer showed appreciation by keeping his trade secrets to himself.—Pvt. Dick Hodgson, USMR (By A. C. P.)

Look In the Card Catalog

For Author, Book Title

In a library of 40,000 volumes, it is not possible for a student to find the one particular book she wants without some help. The library staff also needs held, for no one can remember the precise location and contents of 40,000 boks, most of which are used very infrequently. For this reason your library has provided a card catalog to help it and you to find the books you want. It is located immediately to the left of the main desk of the library in what is known as the Newspaper Room —on the way to the Reference room.

The card catalog is, as its name implies, a list, on cards, of all of the books in the library. Since the most important thing about a book is its author, the primary entry in the card catalog for each book is the name of the author, which is given on the first line of the card. This is followed by the name of the book, and other information such as place and date of publication, the number of pages, and in some cases an outline of its contents. To the left of the author's name is found the "call number", which indicates the place in your library where a particular book may be found. When you copy this number and take it to the desk, the student member of the library staff knows immediately where to find the book, a proficiency which you are welcome to learn, for it is not difficult.

For Call Number, Subject Head

helps greatly your benefit and enjoyment in your library.

Books, however, are not always remembered by their authors, even if the author is the most important part of the book. You may sometimes remember only the name of the book. For this reason your library also places a card into the catalog which has the book's name or title written above the author's name. Otherwise the card is the same, including the call-number to the left of the author's name, which may be used as before in finding the book on the shelf.

Some of the time you come to the library in search of information about a certain subject without knowing either the author or title of a book having the information. To take care of this need, the library has placed into the catalog many cards showing the subje ts about which the books are written. These cards are the same as the author card, except that the subject word, such as History, English, or Domestic Economy is written above the author's name, to the left of which is given again the call-number of the book by which it is found. Subject headings are written in red to distinguish them from the author and title entries, and to help you find the subject cards in the catalog.

New Book of the Week: "The Battle Is the Pay-off", by Ralph Ingersoll.

Do You Sneeze, Sniff, Cough? You, Too, Have "Cat Fever"

It has to do with sickness and with health . . . If you've got the first, we're sorry, if you've got the latter, you'll soon lose it. There's nothing like a cold for the morale and nothing like the epidemic of flu we've had for a good study of mob psychology. Someone sneezes, and off they go!

"If I feel any worse tomorrow, I'm going to the infirmary, if they've got any beds left in the infirmary". . . "Aw, I'd sooner die in my room than go to that place" . . "Besides, they have absolutely no more room left at all. If you get sick now, you will hafta die in your room" . . . "Well, if the food is any different down there, I'd be willing to sleep in a flower box"

It's pretty bad, really. Of course, we were relieved to read in the Richmond paper that the so-called 'cat fever" is sadly misnamed, and the pets around here are safe to roam again, but the flu goes on and the Southside's records sog in Kleenex sales. All one has to do is look cross-eyed at another student, and she's sent dashing to Dr. Moore. Dr. Moore has his hands full as well as the infirmary beds, so he sends her staggering back to her room to either lie in bed and bemoan her fate, or to sit around in a noisy draft and grow steadily worse.

Just what the answer will be, no one dared to guess. The results so far have been everything from missed classes to missing the dance, and the dining hall stays practically deserted. Faces are flushed, eyes blurred, noses red, and minds in a stupor; shelves pile up with pill boxes, cough syrup bottles, and even sprays and atomizers. The student teachers hate to go to their classrooms for fear of endangering their pupils, and the girls in Cunningham refuse to run back and forth to the main building for fear of catching a germ on the way.

Do you know the symptoms? The Sneeze, the Sniff, the Tickle in the Esophagus, the Cough, the Sore Throat, the Fever, the Fear . . . . The Flu!! And then the Desperation . . . "I just can't miss Speech class to be sick" . . . "Don't make me eat anything" . . . "Oh, my tummy never hurt from a cold before." "Are you sure the cat in our room last night had nothing to do with it?" . . . "Will it last very long?" . . . "But, I can't live through even two days of this" . .

But, no, dear, you won't die. You'll eventually get over it, and look back and laugh. You'll tell your granddaughter all about the epidemic of Cat Fever they had at S. T. C. one winter . . . and then you'll pause thoughtfully for a minute, and softly reflect . . . "But it really wasn't so serious, everyone got all right, and there was a larger percentage out of bed than in . . . and the cats had positively nothing to do with it . . . . just the way the girls all talked about it made everyone think it was so dreadful. And to think it all started with a sneeze!"

Life is all what we make it, so let's cheer up and make it good. But just in case . . . that is . . . if you do feel a tickle in the throat, well, it sure doesn't hurt to take precautions. Just remember . . . all this started with a sneeze.

Sports Schedule Revised for Winter, Program Includes Swimming Classes

Third Physical Ed Classes Provided

A new schedule of sports has gone into effect and will continue throughout the winter quarter. The entire outline of various activities and times they are scheduled have been posted on the athletic association bulletin board.

Practice in basketball will be each Wednesday at 4:50 p. m. and Tuesday and Thursday at 4:50 p. m. and 5:50 p. m. Fundamentals and scrimmages comprise the practices, and all who report will be chalking up practices toward class team participation. Freshman practice has been large this season and this group meets on Tuesday and Thursday at 5:50 p. m. Practices are open to all classes.

Volleyball is scheduled on Wednesdays at 5:50 p. m. and on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:50 p. m. The nets are set up in the gym at this time and a third period of gym can be obtained at one of these times. Later on practices will be scheduled after supper, but announcements concerning this will be made in the future.

The pool will be open for swimming on Monday, Wednesday, and Friday at 4:50 p. m. This is an open period and all who wish may enter at this time. Classes in freshmen beginners swimming are still under way and like schedules will continue into the winter quarter. At present the classes are completing the American Red Cross Beginners Swimming Test which is a requirement for all freshmen. Classes meet on Mondays and Wednesdays at 3:50 p. m. and on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 3:50 p. m., 4:50 p. m., and 5:45 p. m. Because of the Navy program, the pool will be in use at 6 o'clock each evening and the class scheduled at that time has changed to 4:50 p. m.

All who wish to hike will meet in the Rotunda on Friday at 5:50 p. m.

The various activities are a part of the program which comprises the third period of physical education for the classes and a wide selection is open to all.

Debate Trip

Continued from Page 1

conference which was still in process. But in the afternoon we took time out to go to an alumnae tea with Mrs. Virginia Redhead about whom we had been told much. And she turned out to be all we had been told and then some. Charlotte, too, we found quite delightful—and one of the group paid the city the highest compliment any Virginian can pay a city—"It's a lot like Richmond".

Spurred on by letters from back home, we started on Friday morning to debate. To anyone who has never experienced it before—three of us hadn't—it was quite an experience. There's nothing quite like it. You go in a little room and find only your opponents, who look so very self-confident and much too intelligent, and a solemn judge. For a solid hour you argue, back and forth. You make a statement, any statement and your friends on the opposite team challenge it. They make a statement and you challenge it. You go in armed to the teeth with facts and quotations, wondering how under the sun you are going to talk ten minutes and then before you even get good and started the warning whistle blows telling that you have only one minute left. You talk as fast as your tongue will go and your opponents talk even faster. And then when it's all over, you go in another room, find another team and start all over again. And it's not like you could say the same think everytime—you can't.

But we survived—all four of us, strangely enough. We fought colds continually, but then that was the style—everyone was fighting a cold.

And then came Saturday and we came home. We came home with our debate briefs no more same as when we left than black is like white, we came home with multimillions of rebuttal notes, we came home convinced that we should have been on the other side whichever one we were on. We came home, tired and happy, never again to be afraid to get up and talk, and we still want a bed for Christmas.

Left Lead

Welcome back's cover territory this week . . . including everybody safely returned from Turkey-Day. Two welcome sights are Pat Gibson, here for a visit, and Jo Eades, back after a siege of recuperation from her fall earlier in the season. Pat headed for the stables first of all, and when asked, "are you still gonna ride?" Jo answered with a grin and a swift "you bet!"

There's a just plain "welcome", too, although a little tardy, Keep-a-Way has left us, and in her stead is Cindy (not to be confused with the faithful old Lindy) who is as full of spirit as a bottle of ammonia. Cindy is rather the Hunter type, with her long neck and her height, and she's quite a jumper, too. The only thing off key is the fact that she's rather jump the wings than the pole itself. Which makes things awkward for those involved.

Jody Davis was one of the few who just could not bring herself to like Princess, but after riding her for two hours straight, she finds here-to-fore unknown possibilities. Shall we present Princess with a copy of "How to Win Friends and Influence People", Jody, or do you think the situation is better under control now?

There've been a lot of amusing annoyances lately . . . Janet Davis and Carmen Lowe have been bragging 'bout their rowing exercises. It seems that the horses (Flicka take note) have terrible, chesty coughs that practically jerk a riders arms off, and pull one forward over a sloping neck for many a near-fall. Also in trouble were Jane Conson and Emma Allen. Jane tried to bribe good behavior from Pegasus by bringing him lumps of sugar, but the one she fed him, he dropped . . .and not one step did he take til it had been picked up and fed to him again! Ration-conscious, this horse. He's "back", too, from being lame all fall. And Emma got so hot around the boots, that she took them off and rode in her stocking feet! Droste and Nellie were trying to get along for awhile this week, but just couldn't get together on their ideas and opinions. Maybe that was because the ideas were Nellie's and the opinions were Dr. Droste's!

Not only is the college overcrowded with all the girls who have colds, but had the stables an infirmary, you may be sure that, too, would be well-filled with pneumatic horses. They all have coughs and sniffles, and Mr. Nolen is kept busy doctoring them up. We have already noticed the convulsive heave that practically throws a rider at every cough.

Take care of that cold.

Pegasus

Shirley Pierce's

On the Ball

Again the balls are brought inside after a season of many outside activities which made up the fall sports program. Looking back we glance over a season made up of eventful activities, each holding its place and marking another highlight in the sports of S. T. C.

Hockey ended in all its glory at the conclusion of the hard fought class games on the days preceding and on the eventful Color Rush Day. There were four well organized teams, each made up of hard fighting players and cooperation within the groups. Completing the management of the seasons, we appreciate the work of Ophelia Whittle and can now look forward to next year when we again bring out the hockey balls and sticks.

Tennis Courts show dim white lines after the slight rain which removed the well-marked court lines. Players and moving balls and racquets have moved inside after completing a season of tennis which showed the finals of a fall tennis tournament as well as scheduled classes and playing during spare time. Tennis can continue as long as the weather permits. Other tournaments will begin at the end of the winter quarter and during the spring. Ruth Dugger, manager of tennis, was winner of the singles tournament this fall.

Activity on the inside now shows a new highlight. Balls and nets are out for volleyball and games and schedules of time have been posted. Also, a larger group of freshmen than usual reported for beginning practices in freshmen basketball. Upperclassmen games are now under way and class practices can be obtained.

It is hoped that the class teams will continue to have a larger representation of class members in the effort to have girls continue in some sport activity. Last year's physical fitness program introduced to the college sport schedule an added number of participants in the field and the groups have continued to show interest. During the coming quarter the majority of activity will be confined to the gym, but a selection of activities makes it possible for all to take part in something.

Recreational Swimming will continue each Saturday night from 8 p. m. to 9:30 p. m., under supervision of the H20 Club. Recreational swimming periods open during the week are on Monday, Wednesday, and Fridays at 4:50 p. m. Freshmen swimming tests will be given this week to all those entered in the classes and others who are ready to pass it will take it on Monday through Thursday of next week. This is a requirement for all freshmen.

Tell All

Continued from Page 2

sume your natural role!

Best wishes go to Betty Bridgforth for a speedy recovery and a quick return to STC. We miss her.

Seemed natural to see Nancy and John Hill Shaw back again—this time as Mr. and Mrs.

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

JUST RECEIVED
NEW SHIPMENT OF SWEATERS
4.95 TO 6.95
Many Different Colors
DOROTHY MAY

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records,—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

IT'S ALREADY TOO LATE TO "SHOP EARLY"!
SHOP NOW - - - AT DAVIDSON'S
THE STORE OF A THOUSAND GIFTS
BUY NOW AND MAIL PACKAGES BY DEC. 10
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
FARMVILLE VIRGINIA

Give a pretty and DAINTY WAIST for a
CHRISTMAS PRESENT
Everyone would like to have several
All at popular prices
THE HUB DEPT. STORE

Have a Coca-Cola = ¿Qué Tal?
(WHAT'S UP?)

. . . in Panama as in Pittsburgh
¿Qué tal? is the friendly What's up? of the citizen of Panama. Equally cordial is the Have a "Coke" of the American soldier. Around the world Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become the high-sign of friendly-minded folks.
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
FARMVILLE BOTTLING WORKS
Coca-Cola TRADE MARK REG. U.S. PAT. OFF. the global high-sign
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".
© 1943 The C-C Co.

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

Red and white was the keynote and "Joys We Have Known", the theme last Saturday night when the Seniors held their annual dance. Surprisingly enough dates were plentiful and from where we sat it seemed as though Hampden-Sydney was attending en masse. The Seniors were lovely in their white dresses as they walked with their dates in a beautifully executed figure which culminated in the forming of an S is the middle of the dance floor.

Among those who attended with their dates were Ellen Moore with David Noel, Pat Buckler with Elliott Burdon, Betsy Mathews with Arthur Pleasant, Anna Headlee with Ray Ranum, Barbara Kellam with George Elsasser, Libby Jordan with John Robson, Beanie Dudley with Bobby Lauck Crawford, Mary Agnes Sheffield with Jack Boutchard, Nancy Whitehead with Judge Boutchard, Rose Bland Jenkins with Philip Cheatham, Rosalie Phelps with Luther Kelly, Peggy Belcher with Ben Rapkin, Edith Dotson with Ralph Carrel, Lillian Elliott with Billy Weaver, Ruth Jones with Ralph Lumas, Lucille Cheatham with Milton Cheatham, Cora Redd with Graham Koch, Jac Parden with Bob Carter, Sara Jeffreys with Fred Young, Sara Wayne France with Bill Johnson, Jane Smith with Lang Wood, Hannah Lee Crawford with Lt. Art Adams, Martha Lynn Sprye with Bill Dunn, Barbara Myers with Nubby Golden, Nandy Ingle with Lonnie Dickens, Barbara Dickenson with Moffett Walker, Thelma Diggs with Luther Diggs, Isabel Key with Jeter Ligon, Carolyn Hammond with Buddy Whitaker, Virginia Via with Claude Arthur, Betty Ann Wimbish with Paul Sandrock, Martha Higgins with Roland Walton, Jeanne Strick with Ed Parry, Evelyn Grizzard with Roth Rose, Dana McClellan with Frank Barksdale, Anne Christian with William Lawhorne, Ann Buck with with Cliff Johnson and Dot Bennett with Ralph Hulslandler.

Also Jean Daniel with Pat Molinari, Harriett Weger with Arthur Goldburg, Betty Lou Hayward with Charles Edmonds, Lucille Lewis with Tom Armstrong, Betty Overcash with Bill Walton, Heidi Lacy with Henry Bennett, Jane Rowe with Harry Allen, Elizabeth Driscoll with Bob Younger, Betty Doggett with Jim Cook, Lucie McKenry with Forrest Cobb, Peggy Alphin with Thomas Marshall, Mildred Droste with James Bare, Ruth Dugger with James Beech, Gussie Himes with Glenn Snyder, Evelyn Faw with John Payne, Mary Woodward with Mohlon Cottrell, Betty Harville with Billy Harville, Mary Moore McCorkle with Milton Anderson, Page Cook with Bob Miller, Frances Rainey with Frank Johns, Sue Harper with Horace Adams, Lyde Thompson with George Jefferies, Lois Alphin with Thomas Dixon, Ella Banks Weathers with Bill Boyle, Mary Ellen Hoge with Bob Mish, Mary Evelyn Pearsall with Dr. H. R. Pearsall, Mae Derieux with Joe Kirkmyer, Jane Knapton with Henry Barr, Janet Davis with Dick Reigner, Lou Baker with Hayden Hannabass, Jerry Payne with Bobby Prat, Martha Cole with Bobby Moore, Rosemary Elam with David Christian, Margaret Sheffield with Forrest Catbey, Vivian Gwaltney with Bob Ballard, Mildred Corvin with Bobby Moore, Frances Craddock with Walter Hardy, and Carol Digges with Robert Burger.

Attending the dances at V.P.I. were Virginia Bland, Nancy Almand, Margaret Orange, Barbara Graham, Nannie Sours, Beatrice Jones, Lillian Johnson, Rosemarie Waggner, Betty Bibb, Marcheta Cunningham.

Debate Winners

Continued from Page 1

the capacity of instructing the teams as to facts and background of the question.

Others events at the tournament included poetry reading, in which both Jane Ruffin and Olive Bradshaw participated, impromtu speaking, after dinner speaking, and extempore speaking.

Miss Grace Moran Receives Token Of Appreciation

National Chapter Of ASA Sends Gift

Miss Grace B Moran, who for twelve years has served as adviser of Alpha Sigma Alpha sorority, was presented a gift of appreciation from the National Chapter last Sunday night. The gift was presented at a supper given for all the members by Miss Margaret Sprunt Hall, present adviser, who succeeded Miss Moran.

At this time, Mary St. Clair Bugg, president, expressed to Miss Moran the appreciation felt not only by the local chapter, but also by the ational Chapter for her years of service. She then presented the check sent by the National Chapter as a token of their love and appreciation.

Miss Moran is head of the Geography Department on the campus.

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store

Do you have a good . . .
Book To Read
tonight?
Visit Our Book Department

MILITARY WATCHES
On Sale Here
A REAL CHRISTMAS GIFT
Southside Drug Store

Martin the Jeweler
PLAIN RYTEX STATIONERY
$1.00 A BOX
In stock Now!

Sampson Wins Award In Poetry Contest

Isabel Sampson, sophomore from Richmond, won first place and $25 in the national poetry contest for college freshmen and sophomores which was sponsored recently by Columbia University.

The poetry submitted to the contest was "In the Wake of Love", five poems each connected with the other about a girl who had lost her lover and regained him in the last two lines of the last poem.

Isabel wrote the play "The Hope of Tomorrow", for the freshman production last year, and she is chairman of the Sing committee of the Y. W. C. A. on this campus.

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Christmas Cards
Special to
Your Father—Boy Friend in Service—Brother — Sis — Mother and Father—and Friends on sale at
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

Visit Us . . .
For Best
Soda Fountain Service
Chappell Co.

PLACE YOUR ORDER EARLY FOR XMAS FLOWERS
Collins Florist

728 Bandages Made At S. T. C. Last Week

Seven hundred and twenty-eight bandages were rolled in the college last Thursday night, Virginia Treakle, chairman of bandage rolling, has announced.

During this session, 4201 bandages have been rolled in the college by the students under the supervision of Mrs. M. Boyd Coyner, Miss Margaret Sprunt Hall, and Mrs. T. J McIlwaine.

Girls who roll bandages are required to wear cotton dresses, blouses, or smocks with scarves on their heads. Also, all girls who have scissors are requested to bring them.

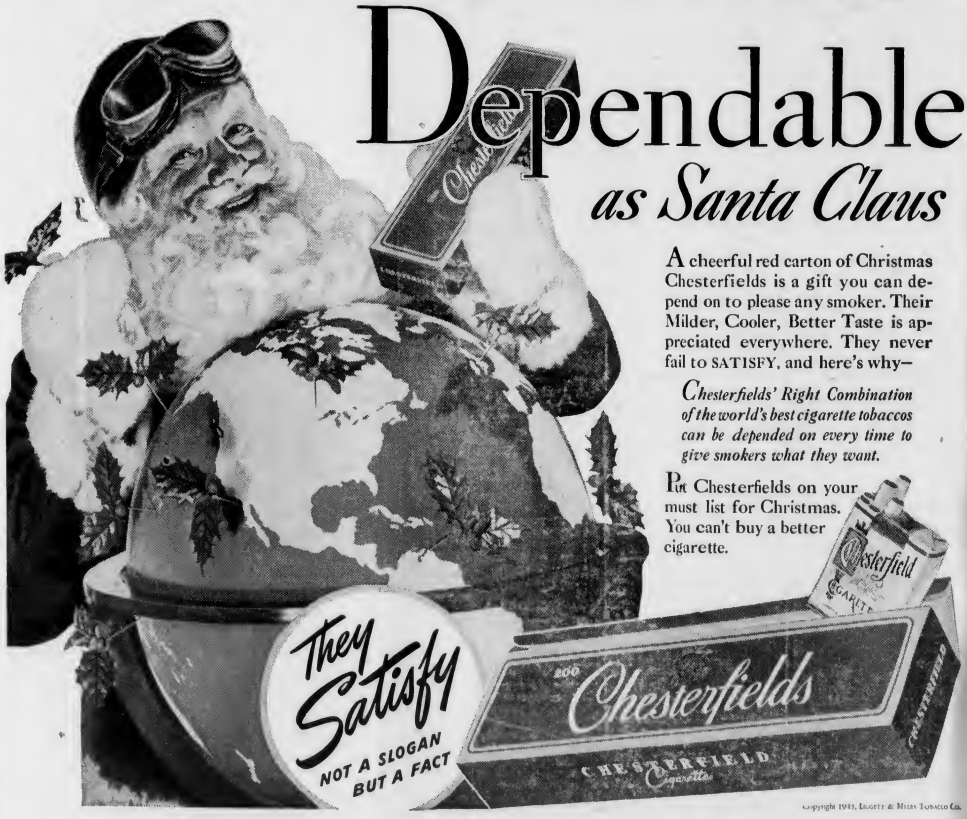
Cotillion Club

Continued from Page 1

burg; Eloise Stancel, Emporia; Mary Kent Stevens, Radford; Betty Jane Stubbs, Boone, N. C.; and Ann Summers, Hampden-Sydney.

Also, Virginia Fry Terrell, Richmond; Frances Timmins, Richmond; Ann Tucker, Norlina, N. C.; Mary Virginia Walker, Suffolk; Nancy Whitehead, Kecoughtan; Martha Wells, Petersburg; and Martha Cole, Selma.

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.



Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

For the best hot cakes and waffles be sure to go to
SHANNON'S

Look Your Best
at
Senior Dance
Have your evening clothes Cleaned at
DE LUXE CLEANERS

Merry Christmas

The Rotunda

Happy New Year!

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VA., WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1943 | NUMBER 11

Christmas Vacation Begins Tuesday, Dec. 21st; YWCA, Choir, Student Body Join in Felicitations

STC Traditional Yuletide Programs Prsentd by YWCA

Miss Rice Tells Story Tonight

Tonight, immediately after the banquet Miss Minnie V. Rice will tell a story "The Other Wise Man" by Van Dyke in Prayers. Then the Freshman Commission will take charge of the "hanging of the greens" in the Rotunda. According to tradition, the student body will take part in singing Christmas carols.

Pearsall Slated for Tomorrow

Thursday night in Prayers, Mary Evelyn Pearsall will tell the story, "Why the Chimes Rang." Sarah Bird Williams, on Friday night, will tell the story of "The Nativity."

Sing committee will conduct caroling in the "Rec" Saturday night. At ten o'clock the Freshman and Sophomore Commissions will carol around the buildings.

Program Ends Sunday Night

Sunday night the series of programs ends with a Concert by the College Choir and caroling throughout the town afterwards.

Beginning the series of programs sponsored by the Y.W.C.A. was a pageant last night. Virginia Terrell was the madonna, Margaret Massey, Joseph; the three wise men were Pat Maddox, Aloise Boswell, and Betsy Fox. These were supported by a grand cast of angels and shepherds. The narrator was Betty Adams. The heads of the organizations brought forth gifts for White Christmas which will be used to provide baskets for needy families and to support worthy causes throughout the year.

Agnes Stokes is chairman of the Prayers Committee.

Prince of Peace Comes Today To Hearts of All Who Let Him

An Editorial

As we near the Christmas season in a country at war, we think with sorrow of the many boys and girls who will not have much of our conception of Christmas this year. We speak of the many homes in which the entire family cannot rejoice together this Christmas.

But our sorrow should not be that families cannot worship together this year the Christ who came to us as a babe so many years ago. Our real sorrow is that in the darkened world so many fail to worship Him at all. His love and compassion have been forgotten by people who now bow to gods of hatred and greed. He came to bring peace, good will to men. But we refused Him admittance, and instead went our way of selfishness that can lead but to war.

So as we think of Christmas, perhaps it would be more appropriate to center our sorrows on those who yet refuse Him and on the conditions that make our world dark; our hopes, in Him and in His love and power to save; and our joy in the fact that we can still worship Him, and that wherever our boys are they have the true Christmas spirit in their hearts. Tinsel and evergreens may be with them only in memory and in dreams of Christmases to come, but not one of our boys need be without the Prince of Peace that brings a real Christmas to desert and sea alike. And if on Christmas we can remember the origin of this day we so love, and can offer a prayerful heart and sincerely ask for "Peace on earth, good will to men", we will be nearer the Christmas spirit than if we sigh for those absent members and bemoan the meaninglessness of Christmas in a war torn world.

Alpha Phi Sigma To Sell Text Books

Alpha Phi Sigma, honor society for freshmen and sophomores, has been given permission to try out the selling of second hand books this term. Alpha Phi Sigma will work out a plan for this sale and post a copy of it on the bulletin board early next week. An announcement of the plan will also be made in the dining hall.

The plan is being started to enable students to find out just where they may buy second hand books, and it is thought, although little may be done this school year, it will be particularly helpful to freshmen next year.

House Council Prexy Reports Exam Rules

Judy Eason, president of the House Council announces the following examination regulations to go into effect at 7 p. m. Thursday, December 17 and last through Monday night, December 20. Special rules for examination period will be lifted on Saturday night.

Study hour will be observed from 8 o'clock till 11 o'clock and quiet will be resumed promptly at 11:30 p. m. Call downs will be given for noise on the halls during the study hour and after 11:30, and for breaking of Busy Signs which will be official during study hour and after 11:30. One call down during the examination period is punishable by one week's campus to be served at the beginning of winter quarter.

Fourth Grade Gives Musical Tomorrow

On Thursday, December 16, the fourth grade of Farmville Training School will give a musical program in chapel.

The class will sing 'Silent Night", "Oh Come All Ye Faithful," "O Little Town of Bethlehem", and "Joy to the World."

As a special feature Jimmy Mottley, Berryman Greene, and Billy Ranson are going to sing "Santa Claus is Coming to Town."

Sigma Pi Rho Hears Hawthorne, Culley

Frances Lee Hawthorne and Margie Culley spoke on "Why is Christmas on December 25" and "Horace's Attitude on Travel" at the regular meeting of Sigma Pi Rho last Thursday afternoon.

The entire program was centered around the theme of Christmas. Christmas carols were sung in Latin and several contests and games were played.

The officers of the club are: Frances Hawthorne, president; Mary St.Clair Bugg, vice-president; Margie Lee Culley, secretary-treasurer; and Mary Wood House, reporter.

Miss Florence Manning, who whill be the featured soloist at the Christmas concert here Sunday night.

Cock Named Feature Editor of Rotunda To Replace Johnson

Betty Deuel Cock, sophomore from Hampton has been promoted to feature editor of the Rotunda to replace Fay Byrd Johnson, Ella Banks Weathers, editor, announced this week.

Betty has been working on the feature staff of the paper since tier first quarter in school last year and is active in many other organizations on the campus. She has had parts in two plays presented by the Dramatic Club, is on the Colonnade Contributor's Board and is an active member of the Riding Club. She served as president of the Canterbury Club last year and is retiring president of the Youth Division of the Episcopal Church of the Diocese of Southern Virginia.

Further try outs for positions on the Rotunda staff will be held immediately after Christmas at the beginning of winter quarter. At this time also those who have been working on the staff for at least one year will try out for promotions

Florence Manning Featured As Guest Soloist December 19

White Christmas Nets $123 For Y

Money Makes Many Services Possible

One hundred twenty-eight dollars was contributed by the organizations of the college at the White Christmas celebration held last night, Virginia Treakle, chairman of the service committee of the Y, has revealed.

This money will be used in the service committee projects, not only at Christmas, but throughout the year. In previous years, the money from White Christmas has been used to give baskets to needy families, to help have dental work done for students at the high school and training school, and to buy milk for underprivileged training school children.

Also, part of the money has been used as a scholarship fund.

Plans are already under way to fix ten baskets this Christmas to be taken to the Welfare Center to be distributed by the welfare worker and to give a sum of money to that organization to be used to buy Christmas gifts for needy children.

Mrs. Coyner Attends A. A. C. Conference

Mrs. Ruth H. Coyner, alumnae secretary, represented S. T. C. at the regional conference of the American Alumni Council in Atlanta, Georgia, December 6 and 7.

At this meeting the fiftieth alumnae chapter and the first Georgia alumnae chapter was organized.

Mrs. Elizabeth Hughes was made

Continued on Page 4

Choir Groups Sing In Concert Sunday

All class and student activities for the fall quarter will officially end at the conclusion of the final examination at 12:30, Tuesday, December 21, and the members of the student body as far as possible will leave for their respective homes for a 13 day holiday with classes for the winter quarter being resumed on Tuesday, January 4, 1944.

Meanwhile, with exams in the offing the students prepared the traditional Christmas programs concluding with an annual Christmas carol service by the college music groups in the large auditorium on Sunday evening, December 19, at 8:30 o'clock.

Soprano Sang with Choir Before

The concert will feature one of America's outstanding artists in the person of Miss Florence Manning, New York soprano, who is a well known church and radio soloist. Miss Manning was the soloist last spring when the College Choir, Duke University, and St. Thomas Choir of New York City presented Brahms' "Requiem."

The Intermediate Choir under the student direction of Jeanne Strick will open the service with "Away in a Manger" by Martin. Following this the Junior A'capella Choir will render "O Tilii et Filiae" by Gevart under the student direction of Beth Johnson. Miss Manning will then present some songs, and the Choral Club will sing "Come Hither Ye Faithful" by McCollin.

Madrigal Group Scheduled

Part II of the concert will consist of two selections, "Here In Cool Grot" and "Come Again Sweet Love" by the Madrigal Singers with Pat Maddox is student director. The Senior A'capella will render "I Wonder as I Wander," and Miss Manning will again be featured with several selections. The College Choir will sing "Here Ye King of Angels" by Bach, and the Christmas carols by combined groups will conclude the service.

The doors will open at 7:45 but the concert will not begin until 8:30 o'clock, thus making it possible for the people of Farmville who will be attending the various church services to attend.

The usual silver offering will be made at the door to partly defray the cost of bringing Miss Manning to Virginia.

Caldwell Discloses Commercial Plans

Plans for the year's work of the Commercial Club were disclosed by the president, Caroline Caldwell this week.

The club plans to operate a second-hand book store for the benefit of commercial students and to operate a war service office to help service organizations in the community.

Also, the club is already conducting a survey among former commercial students now working to discover the needs and weak points of the department.

Notice

Tonight midnight is the deadline for subscribing to the '44 Virginian. At least one dollar must be paid by this time. All those wishing an annual with a padded cover must pay the entire $4.50 now.

Brazilians Form Impressions of Us From Our Movies, Corbett Reveals

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

"It is true that American girls kiss boys all day long like they do in the movies?"

So that's what Brazil thinks of us. Miss Mary J. Corbett, executive secretary of the Y. W. C. A. for Brazil was talking how we appeared to our South American neighbors, many erroneous impressions are formed by our movies, as you can readily see.

Miss Corbett, who has worked in Brazil for twelve years, was full of interesting information as to the life of the women. There are "extremes" as to the "freedom" of women. In one house you will find women who cannot go outside by themselves, who must be chaperoned everywhere—in the next, the daughter is planning to be an engineer—and she will be too—and perhaps gain a high position in the government, as some women have already done.

But the war is felt in Brazil. Their senoras who had never done any outside work now hurry down to roll bandages or take part in some other form of war work. Their sons, brothers, and boy friends are on the high seas combatting German submarines.

Some of the interesting customs of the Brazilians were brought out to us by Miss Corbett.

"Any day at tea time, at four o'clock, the men line up on the edge of the sidewalks and wait for their women who walk down the center until they find their men."

We asked Miss Corbett how she thought the good neighbor policy was working—do the Brazilians really think we are good neighbors, are they fond of us?

"Don't believe everything you hear—especially this latest report about the mythical six billion (or was it million?) dollars Uncle Sam supposedly has spent in South America: It really isn't anywhere near that amount.

"But," we said, "Do they really like us?"

"Brazil has always had the friendliest relations with the U. S. All of the other countries too, have been friendly with the exception of Argentina."

"One thing I would particularly like to stress is the fact that the people of South American do not call themselves South Americans. Rather, they call themselves and prefer to be called Brazilians, Chileans, Argentinans, etc. We are the only country of the western hemisphere who have appropriat-

Continued on Page 4

Attention, Girls: Knit for the Navy, It's the Thing To Do, and Fun, Too

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

Tuesday in chapel (and they did check seats) we heard the announcement Alice Nichols made, and we saw the Navy-wear modeled therewith, but don't stop there! Remember what she said? Well, read this as a refresher course, and be glad you won't be taking an exam on it:

If your man isn't in the Army, the only logical place left for him is the Navy. We've noted your passion for Navy-blue! You have a navy blue skirt, a navy blue sweater, a navy scarf (Ah, H.-S. C.) and you've developed a sudden intense desire for some navy blue socks 'n' mittens to match. Hand-knitted, of course . . . one must stay in style. Therefore:

Youre just the girl the Red Cross wants to know! They have a job for you . . . and your man may benefit by it. Who knows? It's a cinch, honest . . . you love to knit, so they hand you out all the wool you'll need, plenty of needles, and directions thrown in for nothin', all you hafta do is knit a helmet or a turtle-neck sweater for a shivering little sailor-boy! Nor do they press you for time . . . name a better way to spend your Christmas holidays. (On second thought, don't . . . no teilin' who may be reading this.) But anyway, you'd have all the ages you'd need, and once you got started, it wouldn't take long. "Kittin' for Britain" went out with bobby pins . . . now's the time to wake up to the needs of our Navy, and what's more, to do something about it.

The project is under supervision of the Y. W. C. A. service committee, with Lucile (Poodle) Cheatham in charge, and the Red Cross takes over when we turn 'em in. And to let you in on a secret . . . maybe you don't have a man right at present. Open for suggestions? Well, there's a little tag tacked to the corner of each garment, that says "American Red Cross, Farmville, Virginia Chapter", but no one objects if you tack your name and address somewhere within the sweater's folds. One gal did, and she got the cutest answer ever, and has been writing ever since. That's patriotism! It'd be fascinating to see just how far that turtle-neck goes . . . and think of the excitement of a letter from Iceland or Greenland or somewhere. Think of the excitement of a letter.

Just in case you happened to miss Chapel yesterday, here's a

Continued on Page 4

Knowledge Must Precede Post-War Plans, Peace

When next we write in these columns it will be new year—1944. On the eve of a new year one always makes resolutions, fine resolutions which sometimes are lived up to for two weeks and sometimes just two days. For as Governor Darden said of the post-war world, "There isn't going to be any brave new world, it's going to be the same world."

Yes, and 1944 is going to be the same sort of a year unless we ourselves do something about it. We will go on making the same mistakes unless we learn to build on our errors. We will go on forming prejudiced opinions unless we find the other side to questions. We will go on making snap judgments and forming incorrect conclusions unless we get for ourselves a background of knowledge.

Knowledge, it seems has been our chief lack in this year. Several weeks ago we erroneously implied in these columns that facts are not needed for thinking. We did not mean to leave that impression at all. It is clear to any reasonable person that one can not think in a vacuum, that one can not formulate an opinion or interpret any information without a background of facts.

If knowledge has been our appalling lack, certainly we who ore in college today are in a position to correct that fault. For where better is one to get that background of knowledge than in an "institution of higher learning" as this school is rated. What is this knowledge to be? It is to be a thorough grounding in the fundamentals of education, the history, the math, the languages, the sciences. Added to that knowledge we need an ability to apply it, to make it meaningful in our lives.

In the new year we highly resolve to do something about that lack of knowledge. We seek for every member of the student body, the college students of today, the citizens of tomorrow, a firm background of facts, more knowledge. Alexander Pope wrote the lines which have been quoted often enough to make them almost trite, but here we give them to you again:

"A little learning is a dangerous thing,
Drink deep or touch not the Pierian spring."

In the New Year, let us do something about our ignorance, for it can be called by no other name. Let us get for ourselves that background of facts, that knowledge, that we need to fulfill our part in tomorrow's world, our world.

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis.

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1943

Foreign Field Calls Men, Women. of all Professions

"If the United States is to remain an active member in the society of nations, politically and economically, we shall need business men, professional men and government officials who can go into foreign lands for their life work; and we must revise our educational objectives if we are to train such men."

This was the contention of Dr. Raymond J. Sontag, professor of history and director of the European Area and Language program on the Berkley campus of the University of California, who spoke at a recent meeting of the Western College Association.

In the past, he explained, the aim of colleges has been to train the student as a specialist in one particular academic field, such as history or economics, with scant emphasis on any given region. Under the area and language programs introduced on the Berkeley campus more than a year ago, historical, economic, political, and cultural elements are combined so as to give the student a practical working knowledge of the region in question, whether it be Europe, the Western Hemisphere, the Pacific, or the Far East. It is expected, he said, that such an approach will have greater significance after the war in the reconstruction of the college curriculum.—ACP.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

The German attacks in Italy have been pushed back at all points. The British artillery was very strong, resulting in a heavy loss of German troops. At Pescara and Chieti, the Eighth Army came to a standstill, but it was able to extend the Moro River bridgehead. The Fifth Army front also received new attacks which the American troops successfully broke up. The Germans had more planes in the air than they had had for weeks, but they avoided combat. However the Allied planes were active despite bad weather.

* * * *

One of the greatest continuing tank battles of the war is going on in the Kiev bulge. The Russians have lost about 25 miles of their westward gains, but their defenses appear to be stiffening. Here, the Germans have put all their resources into a test of their offensive power on the Eastern front. Although the weather was unfavorable in the Dneiper bend, the Russians have captured Chigrin and five other small towns.

* * * *

Despite tight censorship, there is evidence that Allied bombings and counter-propaganda in Bulgaria have been successful. The Germans are rushing troops in there to support the tottering Nazi government. This tension is also spreading to Hungary.

* * * *

The Japanese, who have been retreating in recent days in all the Pacific theaters, put up stiff resistance on New Guinea, counterattacked on Bougainville Island and in China. The Australian cavalry and tanks, pushed forward to drive the enemy from Madang and the Huon Peninsula, and the Bouganville counterattack was stopped. Heavy fighting continued along the Japanese line of retreat from Changtek toward their Central China base of Hankow. Activity was resumed on the Sino-Burma front where the Chinese attacked four villages near the Salween River.

Sees All . . . Hears All . . . Tells All

"Shorty" Taliaferro is still a miss—she was not married at Longwood Sunday as rumor had it. It all started with the teasing of some freshman. This information is furnished with the hope of clearing up the numerous confused minds.

After being his fiancee only since Thanksgiving, Lucy Manson had to go home this week end to see her Winslow off to the Army Air Corps. Cheer up, Lucy, it won't be long.

Glad to report that Nancy Langhorne got to see Bernard this week end after all. "All's well that ends well."

Hey! B. Blackwell! Did Mr. Larry ever call?

Impossible to feature: Charlie Pearson too scared to come to STC. What's wrong, Rennecker?

Tennent, you'd better be careful with that handsome Lt. around school. You know how snaky these women are— they won't stop at anything.

If anyone has any suggestions for the prevention of sleep walking, please tell Grace Loyd. She seems to have a terrible case of it.

Freshman Anne Gregory appears to be doing a neat job of snaking these days. Good thing Rat Week is over—how 'bout it, Anne?

All the way from Birmingham, Alabama, Fowler called Vivian Gwaltney Sunday and then it had to be censored—by his mother! Tough luck, gal.

Did somebody say Twitch finds 30 year old men interesting? Maybe they're not too old after all! ! !

When a lonely soldier says all he wants for Christmas is to be with you a few hours, you can't very well turn him down, can you, Geraldine? Especially after all those phone calls, letters, boxes, etc., postmarked Fort John Custis!

What with exams and last minute details to catch up on, the minds of STC girls aren't running in the direction of the opposite sex, but only toward those things called reports that often spoil one's holiday. That might have something to do with the fact that the news is limited this week. Don't forget girls, study hard.

the "Y"

The Canterbury Club is giving a Christmas pageant at 7 o'clock Sunday night. Everyone is invited and the service will be over in time to attend the Choir concert.

The Y pageant last night came up to all the standards set by previous years and the White Christmas offering will go to the service committee.

The Freshman and Sophomore Commissions will go caroling together Saturday night. This is the last activity before the old Sophomore Commission goes out of office.

The annual letters to the Alumnae are being sent by the Membership Committee.

Selling of Christmas seals will continue until vacation begins.

With the gifts given at White Christmas last night, the Service Committee is preparing baskets for needy families in the town.

The Public Affairs Committee has been doing a good job of keeping daily news on the bulletin board.

ROOM AT THE INN

At the inn of my heart I will keep a room
Where travelers, weary, distressed
By the turbulence of a troubled land
Shall be given welcome and rest.
Perhaps, with them, as in Bethlehem,
May come a Royal Guest.
—Selected

Buy War Bonds
Every Pay Day
* * *
Let's Double
Our Quota

Holiday Spirit Hits Campus As Carols, Turkeys, Cedars Move Into Season Again

"In December a young girl's fancy lightly turns to thoughts of Christmas (presents)". Trite but true, and all apologies to Tennyson for the slaying of his lovely quotation. But Christmas is a broad subject, so lets narrow it down to what some of those thoughts are:

On second floor Annex someone has certainly gotten the holiday spirit! There you'll find a Christmassy little house, with the traditional snow, traditional Santa Claus, and the traditional chimney. It takes you back to those days when you knew the whole story of St. Nick, but you just pretend you didn't, so you'd get a stocking full of candy, anyway.

You'll always find those anxious souls that feverishly cross off each slowly moving day on the calendar tacked on their doors. Yet they say a "watched pot never boils," girls!

If you wish to feel "joyfully weepy", go to third floor White House. That's where they congregate around a lighted Christmas tree and sing carols, cry, etc.

Christmas wreathes are nice, too, and one of the sororities is making use of them. Dotted along the halls, you see all kinds of Christmas ideas.

You're not in style unless you've made a bet on the weather. Seasoned (???) weather prophets squint skyward, and gleefully forecast a rainy day for Christmas, much to the dismay of their companions. Some claim that those funny white clouds are definitely snow clouds and because there's a sign around the moon, they wake up expecting to go sleigh riding. Every one keeps hoping, and maybe we'll see sailors knocking snow off their shoes when they come in the Rotunda yet.

It's funny, the kind of people you meet during the Christmas shopping season. Sometimes I think they should be set up as a sect all by themselves, and called the "Christmas Shoppers Race". (Only I'm afraid it would cause another race riot.) There are those that come barging down the street, with an intense, set look. Regarding human lives and limbs as minor items, they knock everybody helter-skelter, and rush on their way. They loudly demand what they want, are crossly waited on, then rush on to be lost in thrones of equally selfish people.

You'll find a consolation in those cheerful souls that happily window-shop and go about buying with the true Christmas spirit. Of course, they take all day to do it, are 4-F at the end of the day, and are too tired to wrap the gifts, but they're Happy!! (May it always be said that we are of the latter group.)

Santa Claus visited Farmville Friday in a big way. He was greeted with brass band and a horde of S. T. C.'ers. One would think this was a kindergarten the way the girls carried on.

He really did bring luck to one in our midst. Perhaps you are morbid about winning things, just as Mary Ellen Petty was. She took a chance, though, and disproved this theory. She was prattling along with her roommates, when they decided to register a chance on three turkeys to be given. They meandered back to school, arguing about the disposal of the turkey, for they knew all three of them would win (Joke!) After class they were still discussing the turkey. They stood right behind the mas-

Continued on Page 3

To the Editor-

Dear Editor:

Several weeks ago one statement appeared in the Rotunda in answer to the question of the week. "What do you think S. T. C. needs most". "Less antiquity and more youth." This answer seems to need a little explanation.

The statement was not intended to mean persons advanced in years, but instead, those persons with ideas that date back to the days when this school was first established, persons who are old not in years necessarily, but in thought. The out-moded traditions that have been set up here and that seem destined to remain throughout the years, are what need to be removed.

This letter is not an apology, but only a hurried explanation of what the answer implied, but did not make clear. If any persons a little advanced in years took this to mean I wished to "shoot" or get rid of them, in this letter I would like to make clear the fact that I did not mean any person who happens to be above 50 in years, but those whose thoughts date back to the time when education was young and when girls schools were like a modern nunnery.

Sincerely,
Faye Nimmo

Questions of the Week

What do you hate most to be late for around here and why?

ELEANOR WADE: The bus, because I want to get home.

JANE FORD: Bed, since I need my sleep.

ANNE SUMMERS: I'd hate to be late for a date 'cause it's not often I rate.

LOUISE BELL: The library on mornings I have a reserve book due, because of the effect on my finances.

MARTHA HITE: The P. O. after the mail's up.

BETTY CRITZ: Meals because I'm always hungry.

LIBBY ANNE JORDON: I've gotten so used to being late for everything, it never bothers me to be late for anything.

PHE WHITTLE: Meetings, because I'm self-conscious.

SHIRLEY PIERCE: Graduation!

MARTHA HIGGINS: The train headed for Portsmouth.

BARBARA LEE MYERS: Classes, because in case the teacher's absent I could dash back to my room sooner.

HELEN McGUIRE: Geography, 'cause I might miss something.

ISABEL SAMPSON: Dinner, because it's always so nice (sarcasm).

MARGIE HEWLETT: Speech class, due to the consequences.

VICKY EDMUNDS: Train and buses because I'd hate to be stranded here.

HANNAH LEE CRAWFORD: Apparently nothing.

What do you want for Christmas?

ANN DICKINSON: to go to Alabama to see Randolph.

NANCY WHITEHEAD: food, food, and more food.

HELEN WILSON: everybody to be happy.

ELEANOR WADE: a physics question answerer for Helen.

NELLIE SMITH: to be off campus.

AN NTUCKER: to have a date, meaning Bobby.

LUCY HARVIE: to hear how to play bridge and forget books.

MARY CRANK: brother to bring home a Yale man.

GLEN ANN PATTERSON: somebody other than Santa Claus to come down the chimney.

KITTY MADDOX: to have my face lifted.

DOTTY OVERCASH: somebody to wind up my wool.

AGNES STOKES: a feather mattress for a single bed

ANN JONES: one way ticket to England.

BETTY COCK: I'm going to Ned's house—that's all I want.

MARGIE HEWLET: a new man

PEGGY T. ROSS: to get home and see that big hunk of Marine.

MILLIE MEASE: a report card with just one passing grade.

Fifteen Players Are Selected To Honorary Varsity Squad

Fifteen players have been chosen to be on the honorary hockey squad for the season. Ending a successful fall with contests between the classes, and games which found all classes represented, the hockey season came to a close but an honorary squad represent players from all of the classes.

Those who are on the squad include Ruth Dugger, Louise McCorkle, and Dottie Sue Simmons, seniors; Margaret Bear, Edith Lovins, Mary Walker Watts, Helen Wilson, and Ophelia Whittle, juniors.

Also, Louise Blane, Lillian Elliott, and Rosalie Jones, sophomores. Representing the freshman are Beanie Dudley, Betty Minitree, Dorothy Owen, and Ann Tucker.

Physical Ed Classes Stopped This Week

All basketball, volleyball and swimming classes will be discontinued for the remainder of the week and during exams.

Immediately after Christmas, freshmen who have not completed the beginners swimming test will be scheduled to take it. Others who have not had the course of instruction will be signed for a class in the American Red Cross swimming.

Each freshman must pass the test before the end of the school year. During the fall quarter approximately one hundred and eighty freshmen completed the test.

Holiday Spirit

Continued from Page 2

ter of ceremonies while he drew out the numbers slowly, as if deliberately to tantalize them. Finally, the last number was read 474 and if you've never seen hysterical girls you should have been there. They were a little on the wild side, but it gave the man a laugh, anyway.

Have you ever had a turkey? What did you do with it? Well, they didn't know, either. After looking in the courthouse and several other impossible places they found their beautiful white turkey. (He was originally white at least, but rain and mud brought a change in his life).

The supreme problem was: "What can we do with it?" Pauline said put it in the closet; Geneva wanted to exhibit it in the Rotunda; and Mary Ellen—well, Mary Ellen said it was too dirty to take anywhere, so she was going to leave it. Brave Geneva pranced up Main street with the turkey under her arm. All of them were drooling with sky juice (remember how it rained Friday?) and were a pretty bedraggled bunch. Mr. Reid had pity on them, and they trooped over to put it in his chicken coop .There it remains. Any suggestions to it's disposal will be appreciated. (No wise-racks, please).

It's funny how people react when you say "Christmas". The main thought is "HOME". Some people say the first thing they think of is "Santa Claus"; others "exams". It's hard to define Christmas, so for that reason I've written this poem:

What's the real meaning of Christmas, they ask,
Trying to tell them is quite a task.
There are so many things that make up this season
It's hard to narrow it down to one reason:
Looks, books, red and green holly,
Wide-eyed children, and Uncle Bill, jolly.
A thousand Santas wearily turning away,
After answering a million small tots that day.
Men, a grin, and a cheery hello—
Tom, dear Mom, and shimmering Jello.
Sneaking downstairs in the cold living room,
Arranging a forgotten present, while it's still as a tomb.
V-mails, no mail and telephoned greetings,
Snowy yards, Christmas cards and Ladies Aid meetings.
The sound of a carol, high and clear,
The happy look of someone you hold dear.
Jams, exams, and big story books,
Dances, romances, and starry-eyed looks.
These make the Christmas spirit, something you can't borrow—
The joy and sorrow and hope for tomorrow.

—Betty Bibb

Left Lead

Cut-ups and bust-ups seem to be in keeping lately. Cindy popped loose with a best-of-condition bridle, for no good reason at all, and then she was through there was nothing left whole except the reins and the bit. Then Joyce tried getting funny with automobiles . . . and decided to devote her time even more to horses. And Mr. Nolen still has his three broken ribs.

We're glad, though, to report that he's feeling a bit more chipper these past couple days, and more patching-up includes the English saddle Nellie broke some time ago, and which Robert has taken to South Boston for repairs.

There was a game of hide 'n' seek going on one afternoon this week. First we saw Mary Sterret and Princess going through their paces around the ring. A second glance took in Dot Owen and Midnight. Still another look and it was just Mary and Princess again, and finally, there showed up a whole darned class . . . and Mary still making the rounds, spectacularly staying on despite Princess' bucking.

The terrific cold snap didn't stop riding until Tuesday, but then the fire in the Home Office was more tempting even than the little wood stove in the clubroom at the Stables. But Droste and Betty Ellis really had one windy side at the first of the week, and the race with that gale was no warm one. Winter's here, all right. It seemed funny to read in the frame on the Mantel that we would ride "unless there is rain or snow this afternoon'.

And speaking of the notices that go up, don't forget the reminder that appeared not so long ago. If you cannot ride at your scheduled hour, and fail to let Joyce know ahead of time, there will be charged a fee of fifty cents. This is quite an issue with the 'order of the day", and one not to be overlooked. Remember, one used to be campused for missing a ride.

Last week end was more than a big one. Some of the details are on the q. t., but this we can say: That was a good looking horse Frank Johns brought in for Joyce to try out, and though there's some dispute as to whether her name was Sally or Dolly, she was still a good-looking horse!

Harry is gone. We miss seeing him trotting around the ring at Joyce's heels, and for her sake at least, we hope we'll meet up with him again some day. (Anywhere except in the dining-hall!) In

Continued on Page 4

Librarian Explains Magazine Need, Use, Gives Statistics

Although your library may in general be said to be a collection of books, its most important group of books are not books at all in the usual sense of the word. They are magazines. Books have been written and continue to be written on a wide variety of subjects. But the process is slow. The average book of 50,000 words takes three months to write, and very nearly another three months to get it published and ready for reading. By that time the importance of the subject matter may be considerably less than it was when the author began writing. Think of the delay involved if we had to wait until our war news could be published in book form.

Consider the recent three-power conferences in the Eastern Mediterranean for example. News reports of those conference have already faded from our newspapers. Books on the subjects, if enough material is available at this time for the writing of books, cannot appear until next March or April. But the conferences were important. We need to be reading and thinking about them in the interim between their reporting as news and their evaluation and interpretation in book form. That gap is filled by magazines, many of which are already carrying articles on those conferences.

Your library is particularly rich in magazines. In all, 358 are received regularly, of which 266 are bought by the Library and 92 are received as gifts from various educational and religious organizations. Approximately half of these magazines contain material which Your Library considers of permanent importance. Their contents will be useful not only today or during the next year, but will be referred to by students for many years to come. Current issues of these magazines are bound together when a volume (usually the issues of six months or a year) is completed. The magazines then become a book which is counted among the 40,000 books in your library. A measure of how important Your Library considers this binding of magazines into permanent books may be found in the cost of the binding. Life magazine, for example, probably costs the Library about $3.50 a year. Binding all of a years' copies of Life into the 6 big books those copies will cost $24.00, or more than six times as much as the magazines itself. This high cost is part of the reason your library staff will not let you take magazines out of the Library. Try to remember this the next time the "unreasonable" library staff refuses you the day that several classes, a visit from home, and a sorority party make it "impossible" for you to prepare an assignment during the eleven hours your library is open each day.

New Book of the Week: "The Walsh Girls", by Elizabeth Janeway.

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Idle Chatter

Due to the "cat fever" epidemic around school recently, the athletic field has remained rather bare. Cold weather has kept the physical education classes inside also, but in the gym things have been humming.

Basketball and volleyball have been vying for first place on the courts each afternoon since the Thanksgiving vacation ended. Already competition has started for the color cup, with the green and whites and red and whites working hard for further points. Eight practices are required for tryouts for the class teams, so come on girls, get your practices in before the regular teams start playing.

Even with exams coming up, it is wise to get plenty of exercise If all you can do is take a short walk in the afternoon, those few minutes in the fresh air will clear your tired brain of its worries and give you a little relaxation. You all know that you can't study with a weary mind, so relax for a short time, and then go back to work with a clear conscience.

Strike

Down the alleys go the balls headed for the duck pins. "Gosh, a split! How on earth can I possibly make it?" Such exclamations greet you as you enter the bowling alley in the basement of Shannon's. We happened to wander in the other day, and found the alleys crowded with S. T. C. girls bowling away. And then a little whispered something in our ears.

Every week, Monday through Thursday, 3:00 to 6:00 p. m., the girls are allowed to bowl for ten cents a line. Otherwise, the regular price is twenty cents a line. For ten cents you can enjoy an afternoon with the gang. Get up a team with about five girls, and a competitive team, and we will have the best bowlers in Farmville. There's even a prize offered, so come on you neophytes and amateurs, let's bowl!

Continued on Page 4

FOR FRESH FLOWERS
Call . . .
Collins Florist

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Wishes each of you
A Merry Christmas and Happy New Years
DE LUXE CLEANERS

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

The present with a future—WAR BONDS for CHRISTMAS. Keep on Backing the Attack.

The State
YOUR COMMUNITY CENTER
IN FARMVILLE, VA.
Thurs., Fri., Sat.
RED SKELTON ELEANOR POWELL
in
I DOOD IT
Mon. & Tues.
TED LEWIS AND BAND
in
Is Everybody Happy

"THERE'S MANY A SLIP"
—in—
OUR GIFT COLLECTION
1.39 to 4.00
Daintily lacy or smartly tailored in all sizes
DOROTHY MAY STORE

THE HUB DEPT. STORE
FOR CHRISTMAS GIFTS
IDENTIFICATION BRACELETS
WATCHES
AND HUNDREDS OF OTHER USEFUL CHRISTMAS GIFTS
THE HUB DEPT. STORE
Charge Accounts Solicited

Have a "Coke"= Swell work, Leatherneck

...or how to celebrate a victory at home
Returning home with a captured Japanese sword, the husky Marine is greeted with Have a "Coke". It's the kind of celebration he welcomes most. At home or abroad Coca-Cola stands for the pause that refreshes,—has become a symbol of the American way of life.
BOTTLED UNDER AUTHORITY OF THE COCA-COLA COMPANY BY
FARMVILLE BOTTLING WORKS

"Coke" = Coca-Cola
It's natural for popular names to acquire friendly abbreviations. That's why you hear Coca-Cola called "Coke".
© 1943 The C.C.Co.

"Jeans" Spring Into Fashion For Comfort, Practicability

By JANE SMITH

Once in a while someone gets an idea and suddenly everyone else has the same idea. First thing you know there is a fad. The latest and favorite is "them jeans". Everywhere you turn there are overalls and loud shirts. There are many varieties—the best perhaps being the oldest, most faded, paint besmeared ones. They have a rare reminiscent quality of decorating and undecorating for dances, of the circus and sing. Some are not fortunate enough to have memory trousers and have shiny new ones that swish when they walk.

With them is usually mixed red plaid flannel shirts that practically knock you down to look at them. One of the main features of the shirts is that total lack of fitability—the bigger the better.

Blue jeans are worn everywhere except to classes and meals. They make excellent riding pants and are widely used as lounging pajamas. They are warm and comfortable though not accepted in the Rotunda. The deep pockets provide room for paraphernalia and the pants will stay rolled up under a coat in case of a blackout.

In addition to the above list of admirable qualities, Jeans have something else, an indefinable something. It is the feeling of freedom that comes over you when you put them on. You are strongly released from lady-like inhibitions like not sitting in a chair backwards. You are a "tomboy" again, free to play hide and seek and climb fences. Try a pair and you'll see what I mean.

KEEP ON Backing the Attack WITH WAR BONDS

Nell Shanklin Voted Carolina Pin Up Girl

Nell Shanklin, a former member of the class of '45 now studying medicine at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill was voted pin-up girl of the month by the fraternities on the campus recently. Her picture appears in the college quarterly magazine at the conclusion of a sort of contest there.

The former Farmville student was described by Photographer Joe Denker as the perfect Hurrell type, "cool and sophisticated."

Brazilians

Continued from Page 1

ed the name Americans."

"Miss Corbett, how did you like living and working in Brazil? Just what kind of work were you doing?"

"Brazil was wonderful. I was working with the Y, helping to discover and train leaders among the women. We used to go up into the interior on visits to the big ber once being up there—We were sugar cane plantations. I remember trying to get back to Rio de Janiero. It was the rainy season—the roads were perfectly impossible. Finally, they just loaded us on the little railroad that was used in transporting sugar cane and we got safely to the station in spite of the rain.

Other odd bits about Brazil that we picked up: only South American country that's ever had an emperor—now it has a kind of perpetual president—Vargas; Rio de Janeiro is 1100 miles from Buenos Aires. Brazil's population is mainly Portuguese, Negro, Dutch, German, ad infinitum. With that we'll let Miss Corbett leave to rest before her next speaking engagement.

EXAMINATION SCHEDULE

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 17

9:05-10:05 ..... classes meeting 11:05 M. W. F.
11:30- 1:30 ..... classes meeting 12:40 M. W. F.
2:50- 4:50 ..... classes meeting 2:50 T. T.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 18

9:05-10:05 ..... classes meeting 9:05 T. T. S.
11:30- 1:30 ..... classes meeting 10:05 T. T. S.
2:50- 4:50 ..... classes meeting 3:50 M. W. F.

MONDAY, DECCEMBER 20

9:05-11:05 ..... classes meeting 11:05 T. T. S.
11:30- 1:30 ..... classes meeting 12:40 T. T. S.
2:50- 4:50 ..... classes meeting 2:50 M. W. F.

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 21

8:05-10:05 ..... classes meeting 9:05 M. W. F.
10:30-12:30 ..... classes meeting 10:05 M. W. F.

GIFT SUGGESTIONS

Cosmetics by Tussy, Old Spice and Richard Hudnut
50c to 2.00

Costume Jewelry and Evening Bags
1.00 to 3.50

Handkerchiefs in White and Prints
10c to 59c

Stationery in Cedar Chest and Leatherette Folders
79c & $1.00

China, Crystal and Plastic Novelties—Assorted
29c to 1.19

New neckwear in pique and lace, also dickies
59c to 1.98

Gags and Gloves in popular colors
1.98 to 3.98

Head Shawls and Squares
1.00 & 1.98

BALDWIN'S

Organizations Give Christmas Parties

Phi Zeta Sigma sorority held their annual Christmas party in the form of a supper in the chapter room last Sunday night. Santa Claus appeared laden with gifts for all, and carols were sung around the brightly lighted tree.

The Presbyterian Student Association entertained the members at a Christmas party in the student lounge Monday afternoon. Guests included the officers of the other church groups in the college. Games were interrupted but briefly by the fire drill and were continued with singing. Alice Parkhurst offered "O Holy Night", and the entire group joined in carols and Christmas songs.

The Pi Kappa Sigma pledges entertained the old members with a Christmas party last Friday night. The chapter room was attractively decorated in the traditional Christmas manner.

Last night the annual government party was held in the room of the president of the student body. As is customary there was a real live Christmas tree with all the trimmings.

Tonight the Rotunda staff is having its annual party in the Lounge at 10 tonight. In charge of the party is Jane Smith and Virginia Treakle is taking charge of the refreshments.

Other parties in the past week include ones by the Mu Omegas, the Alpha Sigma Alphas, and the Alpha Sigma Taus last Sunday night.

Knit for Navy

Continued from Page 1

short commentary on the looks of the things. The Turtle-neck sweater is heavy and warm, and good-looking, honest. And the helmets are positively wild! His whole head will be covered up, except for a little square hole for his eyes and nose to peek out, and believe me, old man Winter can't possibly get the best of an outfit like that. Make him send you a snapshot of him in it. Something for Posterity . . . or else to frighten the future generation with.

So come on, women . . hold out on your own knitting awhile and take a Turtle-neck to Chapel on the end of those eternal needles. After all, if you don't help keep him on the go now, he may not be back to appreciate your own sox later. At least you can keep up with him . . . Knit from now til 18 bells or after . . . and tie a hundred knots per hour. He's worth it!

KEEP ON Backing the Attack WITH WAR BONDS

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

For the best hot cakes and waffles be sure to go to
SHANNON'S

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
We wish the S. T. C. student body and faculty a Merry Christma.

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

With exams just around the corner and Christmas vacation drawing nigh, most of the student body spent a comparatively quiet week end here at school. However, as always, there were a few die-hards to whom a week end would not seem complete unless it were spent away from S. T. C. The majority of these were at home to attend to last minute Christmas shopping or to "Kiss the Boys Goodbye".

Among those who were proving the adage that there's no place like home were Nancy Powell, Elizabeth Jones, Lenore Bishop, Elizabeth Hinman, Margaret Belcher, Mary Ann Tabor, Edith Dotson, Nell Richard, Nancy Dickerson, Nancy Langhorne, Lucy Manson, Jane Danby, Margaret Harvie, Martha Watkins, Mary Agnes Sheffield, Minnie Rose Hawthorne, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Elizabeth West, Cecilia Arthur, Ruth Dugger, Mary Sue Palmer, Jac Purdien, Jane Rowe, Jeanne Richardson, Florence Smith, and Helen Worsham.

To the Engineers dance at Charlottesville went Jean Arrington, Aline Boss, Jane Ford, and Birdie Williams, while Betsy Corr attended a dance at the U. S. Naval Academy.

Earlier in the week, when Arlene Wright married her ensign, her wedding was well attended by Gloria Pollard, Bernice Copenhaver, Marie Kelly, Jane Conson and Lyde Thompson.

A. A. C. Conference

Continued from Page 1

chairman, and Mrs. Catherine Cradle Knox will serve as secretary.

In addition to those mentioned, Mrs. Minnie Butler Albright, Mrs. Florence Hunt Fulwiler; Mrs. Elizabeth Bugg Hughes, Mrs. Margaret Kirpatrick Shremaker, Mrs. Mary Taliaferro Talley, Mrs. Maud Pollard Turman, Mrs. Martha Davis Tyler, and Mrs. Nowlin Cosby were present.

Left Lead

Continued from Page 3

his place came Billy-boy, the little dappled fellow with the baby face and the coltish attitude toward life. He'll be a jumper soon, no doubt . . Frank took him over twice.

Eloise had quite a run-in with Pegasus, we understand. Mulish as his traits are, there's little cause for wonder, but we do hope there were no serious psychological after-effects. Peg used to mean well, but now it takes a Buck Rogers to keep him under control.

This is the last time we'll see you before Christmas, so have a nice holiday. Polish up your boots while you're away, and don't get rusty as to riding. Maybe Santa will park a Rocking horse beneath your Christmas tree!

See ya next year . . .

Pegasus

On the Ball

Continued from Page 3

Christmas Cheer

Next Wednesday at this time, we will be sitting in front of ye ole home fireplace, chatting with the family about what has happened during this quarter. Christmas vacation will have started, and won't it be fun! But don't forget there are lots of things we can do to keep out-of-doors. If it's a white Christmas, there's be snowball fights and maybe ice skating. Sled riding, and long walks on the crisp and cold afternoons, those will all be fun, and they will also help to keep you physically fit.

Good luck on your exams, and a very merry Christmas and a happy New Year to each of you. Don't forget to stay in the game!

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

Navy Brothers Meet Somewhere, Pacific

Thomas and Lyle Graham, sons of the business manager of the college, ran into each other recently. Surprising? Yes, since both of them are in the Navy and have been stationed at opposite ends of the Pacific.

The reunion took place somewhere in the Pacific and the Naval officers met each other on the street through pure chance. Each thought the other several thousand miles away.

TB Seal Sales Reach $9.18 Here To Date

Proceeds from the sale of Christmas seals and bangles were $9.18, according to an announcement made by Mary Anne Jarratt, chairman of public affairs of the Y. W. C. A.

Seals will continue to be on sale in room 46, Cunningham Hall until the end of the week. The committee has set $10 as the goal to be reached before Saturday.

The selling of seals is under the direction of Mrs. Farrar Shelton, chairman of seals and bangles in Farmville.

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Christmas Cards
Special to
Your Father—Boy Friend in Service—Brother — Sis — Mother and Father—and Friends on sale at ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

MILITARY WATCHES
On Sale Here
A REAL CHRISTMAS GIFT
Southside Drug Store

Martin the Jeweler
PLAIN RYTEX STATIONERY
$1.00 A BOX
In stock Now!

YOUR SHORT CUT TO GIFTS FOR ALL
ONE-STOP — CHRISTMAS SHOPPING
AT DAVIDSON'S
"THE STORE OF A THOUSAND GIFTS"
GIFTS FOR "MOM"
GIFTS FOR "DAD"
GIFTS FOR "JR"
GIFTS FOR "SIS"
GIFTS FOR "TOTS"
And
Gifts for Your Boy Friend
This Christmas—Let's Go To—
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
FARMVILLE VIRGINIA

MAKE YOUR CONTRIBTION
WAR CHEST
TO THE

The Rotunda

MOVIE ATTENDERS:
SEE EDITORIAL
PAGE 2

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 12, 1944 | No.12

American Violinist Scheduled To Continue Lyceum Series

Renee Pioneer In Television

Tentatively scheduled for Tuesday night, January 18, as the next in the series of Lyceums is Joyce Renee, violinist. Miss Renee is a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, where she had the distinction of being the youngest artist ever to have achieved the highest honor diploma in violin, and had a Bachelor of Music degree conferred on her at the age of 17.

Miss Renee has studied in Paris with the noted composer-conductor Georges Enesco, who said of her playing, "Her art is of the highest order, and her knowledge of the instrument perfect. She has personality and great fire."

The young American violinist is holder of numerous national and international Fellowships, including the Juiliard Graduate School, the Schmidlapp, and Fleishmann and Woolly International Scholarship.

She has appeared extensively in concert and as soloist with symphony orchestras here and in Europe, and has had the privilege of playing one most of world's greatest violins, including the fabulous Henry Ford collection at Dearborn, and the rare Wurtizer collection. She has appeared frequently over the National Broadcasting Company, Columbia Broadcasting System, and Mutual networks, and has already become a pioneer in television.

Recently the young artist has appeared extensively for men and women of the armed forces, in Army and Navy hospitals, Casualty hospitals, the Stage Door Canteen, and Merchant Marine Canteens, under the auspices of the USO in Camp Shows and in Service Clubs for the WACS, WAVES, and Leathernecks. Her war work has included appearances for the British, French and Russian War Relief and for the Red Cross.

At present it is not definite that Miss Renee will be on the campus next week, but that is the tentative schedule for her concert here in the Artist Series of Lyceums.

Pay of Teachers Averages $887 In Counties of State

The annual report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction shows that seventeen counties in Virginia paid their school teachers less than $800 on an average for the school year 1942-'43.

The average pay for the counties was $887 and for the cities it was $1,474, and for the State it was $1,059. If supervisors, principals and special teachers are included the average is raised to $1,151.

The median for the counties (which employ about 13,000 teachers) is $877, the same as the average. This means half the counties pay below that figure and half above.

The cities, which employ about 5,000 teachers, have a median of 1,357, meaning that half the cities pay an average above that figure and half below. The State median is $922.

Only eleven counties were above

Continued on Page 3

Tennent Elected Class Historian

Elizabeth Tennent, of Hopewell, was elected historian for the senior class at the regular meeting last night, Tuesday.

Senior class historian collects the four-year events of the class and reads them as a history at the class day program in the spring.

Elizabeth is editor-in-chief of the Colonnade, student magazine published quarterly.

MRS. SOPHIE B. PACKER

Mrs. Sophie Packer Takes Over Duties Of Resident Nurse

Added to the administrative staff this quarter, Mrs. Sophie B. Packer, new resident nurse, comes to Farmville from St. Luke's hospital in Tryon, N. C., where she has been superintendent.

Mrs. Packer claims Hampden-Sydney as her home and Farmville as her Alma Mater. While here, she was a member of the Cunningham Literary Society, the Dramatic Club, Kappa Delta Sorority, and played on the various sports teams for the school, and for her colors, Green and White.

After leaving S. T. C., Mrs. Packer attended Peace Institute in Raleigh, N. C. for a year, shortly after which she was married. Upon the death of her husband, Mrs. Packer entered the Johns Hopkins Hospital School of Nursing from which she is a graduate. The next year found Mrs. Packer in Peking, China, helping with the establishment of the Rockefellow Hospital there, and she remained in China for three years.

For many years, Mrs. Packer was associated with the Johns Hopkins Hospital in Baltimore. In 1930 she came to Farmville to open the out-patient department of the Southside Community Hospital, and returned to Johns Hopkins to take charge of the out-patient department there, serving some 1,500 patients a day.

Mrs. Packer has changed slightly the set up in the infirmary here. She will be on duty all the

Continued on Page 3

HawthorneReveals ReligiousEmphasis Week Speaker

Julian Lake Will Address Students

The Rev. Julian Lake, pastor of Oakland Avenue Presbyterian Presbyterian Church, Rockhill, S. C., will be guest speaker here on the campus from Tuesday, February 22 through Friday, February 25 for Religious Emphasis Week. Mr. Lake will speak in chapel every day he is here as well as conduct discussion groups, hold "bull sessions" and have personal interviews with anyone who wishes to talk with him.

"The Challenge of Religion" will be the geenral theme of his talks. This works in with the "Y" theme for the year which is "Christian Faith for Today and Tomorrow."

Mr. Lake is originally from Atlanta, Georgia, and was educated at Davidson College in North Carolina, and Union Theological Seminary in Richmond, Virginia. The he went abroad for further education and toured the Holy Land. For a number of years he was pastor in Warrenton. Now Mr. Lake is a chaplain and for the last five or six years has been associated with student work at Winthrop College.

Since Mr. Lake has had so much experience with young people, he is expected to give messages of great inspirational value to the student body while he is here.

Business Students Help in War Effort

Members of the Community and War Service Departments, conducted by the Commercial Honor Club, have been taking an active part in the war effort, according to an announcement made this week by R. G. Hallisy, head of the Business Department.

At present the group is addressing envelopes and writing letters for the Bond Drive.

Other work accompilshed by these girls has been to turn out ten thousand mimeographed copies for the local hospital. Simliar work has also been done for the Methodist Church and elementary school.

The next work planned by the organization is to assist the Farm Loan Association.

Local YWCA Opens Week Long War Welfare.Chest Drive Today With Chapel Skit, Student Talk

Choral Groups Continue Programs Sponsored by 'Y'

Continuing the programs given by the College Choir and the Choral Club before Christmas, another in the series will be presented by the Y. W. C. A. at the chapel service Wednesday morning, January 26.

"Lead Kindly Light" and "Onward Christian Soldiers" will be sung by the College Choir and the Choral Club, and annotations of the hymns will be given by Dr. James E. Walmsley.

Also, a piano solo will be rendered by Alfred H. Strick, head of the music department, and a vocal solo will be given by Patricia Maddox.

The devotions for the chapel service will be led by Frances Lee Hawthorne and Louise Bell, president and vice-president respectively of the Y. W. C. A.

Following this program, the Choral groups will give another concert January 30 in the Methodist Church at which time they will sing "The Recessional" by Rudyard Kipling.

The choir and choral club will sing the same hymns and again they will be reviewed by Dr. J. E. Waimsley.

In addition, Anne Blair and Lois Meekins will render solos.

Alfred H. Strick will be at the piano or organ for both programs.

College Choral Club Adds 7 New Members

Seven girls became members of the Choral Club at a meeting held recently, Alfred H. Strick, head of the Music Department, has revealed.

Girls receiving membership in the club are Jane Anderson, Farmville; Alma Crawley, Prospect; Elizabeth Mountcastle, Mountcastle; Irene Pomeroy, Quinton; Mary Jane Richards, Toano; Rebecca Tomlinson, Black Creek, North Carolina; and Constance Young, Covington.

Officers of the Choral Club are Louise Harrell, president; Lucie McKenry, secretary; Anne Carter, treasurer, and Nell Scott and Martha Watkins, librarians.

All Organizations, Individuals Asked To Contribute To Relief Fund

Mary Anne Jarratt, chairman of War Chest Drive.

Chest To Be Placed On Table In Hall

Sponsored by the Public Affairs Committee of the Y. W. C. A., the War Welfare Campus Chest drive was opened in chapel this morning. The drive will continue for one week, and will come to a conclusion at the end of the War Day program, January 19. This drive is composed of the Red Cross and the World Student Service drives which until last year had been held separately.

The drive was opened this morning by a student skit and a talk by Fay Byrd Johnson. Mr. M. Boyd Coyner, professor of psychology, will make an appeal in Chapel tomorrow when he speaks on "The Red Cross Work with the Armed Forces".

Appeals will be made to the faculty, students, and organizations. The dormitory halls will be canvassed by members of the Public Affairs Committee. The goal of the drive per person is one dollar.

The war chest is placed on the table in the hall, and contributions will be recorded on a thermometer on the auditorium stage.

The Red Cross money will be turned over to Frances Craddock, chairman of the Finance committee of the War Council, and will in turn be turned over to the Red Cross. The World Student Service Fund money will be used for the aid of war students interned here in America and for American students interned in other countries. The World Student Service Fund is a student movement for aid of other students, and colleges and universities throughout the country are cooperating in the effort.

This is to be the only major drive sponsored on the campus by the college this year, and Dr. Jarman has given his 100 per cent approval.

Prayers for the month will be devoted to Community Brotherhood and will be emphasized and led by members of the Public Affairs committee during the week. Mary Anne Jarratt is chairman of the Public Affairs committee, and Agnes Stokes is chairman of the Prayers Committee of the Y. W. C. A.

War Day Program Leaders Anounced

4 Discussion Groups Planned

The main feature of the War Emphasis Day at S. T. C. on January 19 will be the four discussion groups conducted by faculty members assisted by members of the student body.

Dr. James Elliott Waimsley will lead the discussion on the European war theater, assisted by Shirley Pierce, Ella Banks Weathers, and Sarah Wayne France. Miss Grace B. Moran will direct the discussion on the South Pacific with Hannah Lee Crawford, Louise Bell, and Frances Lee Hawthorne as student assistants. Mr. Richard Hallisy will lead the group discussion on the British Empire assisted by Mary Anne Jarratt, Patsy Connelly, Eleanor Wade, and Marilyn Bell, and Miss Leola Wheeler will conduct the discussion on the Far Eastern theater with Lucy Manson, Frances Craddock, Sara Bird Williams, and Olive Bradshaw as assistants.

Secretaries for the groups are Harriet Moore, Virginia Treakle, Ophelia Whittle, and Jane Ruffin.

Continuing the War Emphasis program will be a movie, "The Report From the Aleutians" at the State Theatre. It is the hope of the S. T. C. War Council that members of the student body will wait until Wednesday afternoon to see the picture currently showing at 3:45 at the State Theater, "Old Acquaintance". This is to be the only showing of "The Report From The Aleutians" and will be shown for college students only.

At eight o'clock Wednesday night in the little auditorium, members of the debate club will discuss the question, "Resolved, that the United States should cooperate in estabiishing and maintaining an international police force upon the defeat of the Axis."

In the debating round, Olive Bradshaw and Faith Weeks will take the affirmative side, and Jane Waring Ruffin and Betty Adams will take the negative side.

This is to be the first appearance of the team in a public debate on this question. However, these members did attend the

Continued on Page 4

Quartet Organized By Music Department

The Music Department has organized a quartet for the purpose of rendering services to other organizations in college, according to an announcement made this week by Alfred H. Strick, head of the department.

The quartet is to be known as the senior quartet and will be composed of Anne Blair, sopramo; Julia Messick, mezzo-soprano; Alolse Boswell, first alto; and Patricia Maddox, alto.

Elizabeth Anne Jordon is the accompanist for the quartet.

Gamma Psi Initiated 4 Girls Recently

Four girls were initiated this week into Gamma Psi, honorary art fraternity, according to an announcement made by Jean Arrington, president.

The girls receiving membership are Kitty Rennecker, Richmond; Nancy Lee Weeks, Roanoke; Lucile Winston, Richmond; and Betty Wood, Hopewell.

S. T. C. Alumna Returned From Australia Writes of Carryover of College Life Here

Farmville Girl Wounded In Work

Last fall and last spring the ROTUNDA carried features (the ROTUNDA, March 31 and September 29, 1943) about Miss Phyllis Pedigo, former STC student, who has done work so outstanding in a Red Cross Center in Australia that "her boys" wrote her up in the Readers Digest. Now we bring you more news of Miss Pedigo, or "Merrylegs" as she was called "down under".

Miss Pedigo was wounded in Australia and in a recent letter to Mrs. M. B. Coyner she wrote, "It's nice to send greetings from United States soil, even though I do it from a hospital bed. It seems my injuries will be much longer in completely healing than I thought, so I'm here until I'm one hundred percent again", she wrote from the Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco.

"After once being over and seeing all there is to do", she continues, "I feel I'm marking time (and not too patiently!) until I can get back. There is much I'd like to write about, and it's good that I'm writing long enough after my arrival to have recovered, to some extent, from the utter enjoyment (and amazement) of all the things I'd missed so long. American music, radio, tubs of really hot water, football games, good lights, clean streets, smooth white sheets, good beds, American humor, and the food! They gave me strawberry shortcake my first meal—STC was never like this!"

Miss Pedigo went on in her letter to tell something of her impressions of her work in retrospect and the part that STC has played in her life. "When you are far from home," she commented, "with so many things to take nicks from your memory, you find yourself trying to relieve in memory experiences back home.

Pedigo Missed American Things

My most vivid experiences in that line was once when someone commented on how I managed to beg, borrow, or steal the food items I got together, or how I got them shaped into familiar dishes so dear to Americans if I'd never done cooking or buying before. My answer surprised them — I said my hectic college days gave me ample experiences; after all it took a lot of planning and engineering to make Welsh Rarebit under your bed and chocolate fudge in the wardrobe, to retrieve sandwiches o na string from the third floor—and there I was off into a realm of daydreaming, reliving all the grand days at STC from hanging the colors on Thanksgiving to hanging over the Rotunda to see who was angling for who!"

"So you see," Miss Pedigo con-

Continued on Page 3

Old Man Attitude Begins A New Year

It is traditional to begin a new year with resolutions and an optimistic pledge to keep them—and it is humorous to note repetitions from year to year of these resolutions.

This year it might be good, instead of remaking outworn resolutions, to look back on our mistakes and also on our successes of the past year and to evaluate them. Take and inventory of the habits of mind that caused each, and decide what attitude should be affected toward them.

Are we allowing our mistakes to give us a hopeless attitude, with a down push, or are we ignoring them completely, with a what's-done-is-done-feeling? Have our successes made a larger hat and a new circle of friends necessary, or have they invested us with a feeling that we can rest on our laurels?

Mistakes, if examined carefully, can be friends. In the examining, if we can check off bad habits with a determination to obliterate them, we will have progressed. If we can glean the good, then cast off the mistake and forget it, that mistake has given us maturity and wisdom. Likewise with success; if we credit our friend with her part, check the trait that helped make the success and that should be strengthened, and resolve to contine, even improve our good work, then it, too, has done its deed.

An attitude is on overworked work but an important adidtion to our lives; it may be a wise new year's game to take stock of these attitudes toward our mistakes and successes and install in the new quarter the good in each.

Cooperation Requested In Movie Attendance

Next Wednesday afternoon, on War Emphasis Day, the movie short, "Report From the Aleutians" will be presented at the State theatre, by special request of the S. T. C. War Council. The State movie officials have cooperated most considerately with the council in getting a good movie presented on this day, and in getting this short of especial interest to us on War Emphasis Day.

For this reason, all student are asked to attend the movie Wednesday afternoon. If everyone will refrain from going on Monday or Tuesday, and will go on Wednesday at 3 o'clock, both the War Council and the movie directors will be gratified. All afternoon classes are excused for this movie as a part of the day of special thought for the war. All who plan to see "Old Acquaintance" can do so easily on Wednesday. Everyone is expecetd to cooperate by not going Monday or Tuesday, but by waiting for Wednesday afternoon for the extra attraction, "The Report from the Aleutians."

All student teachers will be excused from teaching on that day.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168

Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cubbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overeash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Spry, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

The holidays were highlighted with many news items including the government seizure of the railroads, the complete appointment of Allied commanders for the South Pacific and the European fronts, the advance of Russia across the old Polish border, the heavy bombardment of Germany, the sinking of the German battleship Scharnhorst, and much discussion about the coming presidential election and the voting of the service men.

An announcement has been made by both the U. S. A. A. F. and the R. A. F. of a jet-propelled planes which has been successfully tested. Group Captain Frank Whittle of the R .A. F. receives credit for the invention. Mass production will begin soon.

* * * *

The Russians have captured the industrial and railroad center of Kirovograd. The supply line, as well as the means of retreating, in the Dnieper area is jeopardized for the Germans, and they will probably fall back to Odessa in the south. The number of men and material the Russians were able to use in this battle surprised the Germans.

* * * *

The Rumanians are fleeing from the Bessarabian and Northern Bucovina region as the Red army advances toward their border. The peasants are crowding the highways since they have been restricted from riding on the railways which are needed for military movements. Pro-Nazi government still reigns, but a change is expected the day the Soviet army enters the country.

The Bulgarians are also reported to be very uneasy.

* * * *

After having won San Vittore and Mt. Porchia in Italy, the Allies pushed on into the Cassino plain. Tanks were used in close collaboration with the infantry, and the fighting was very bitter in capturing these two strongholds. Now Cassino is within easy range of big Allied guns, but the land has been well fortified by the Germans.

* * * *

The Marines have advanced their landing at Cape Gloucester, New Britain, and the Australian jungle fighters have pushed inland on New Guinea's Huon Peninsula. A big airdrome has been built on Treasury Island and is being used to bomb Rabaul. The Marshals have also been hit again, but the amount of damage has not been disclosed.

Major Gregory Boyington's squadron had to return after a fruitless search for him. He was lost in action soon after downing his 26th Japanese plane which brought his score to equal that of Rickenbacker in World War I and Marine Major Joe Foss at Guadalcanal in this war.

* * * *

The United States has not recognized the new government of Bolivia. Secretary Hull announced that there was belief an "outside force" may have influenced the revolt. Argentina is still maintaining diplomatic relations with Germany, is the only American country to recognize the new government.

Scuttlebutt

It has been just rumors, but now we have tangible evidence . . . the diamonds on third finger, left hands of E. Banks, Nimmo, Sue Durrett, B. Blackwell . . . red roses twice in a week from Don to Helen Savage . . . the gardenia in Olive's hair . . . B. Fox' clips from Colorado . . . somebody's pen and pencil set . . . scads of all sorts of other things including an entirely new album of photographs. Christmas does leave its marks on this place.

And then there's the little freshman from Roxboro, N. C., who had more men than she could handle last week end. Three uniforms is too many for any one person at one time, really, Ann Marie.

Welcome sights on the campus recently were Iky Brannon and Mangy Fox. Fox is up to his old tricks, eh, Peggy T., Joan, and Higgins?

Don't know yet quite what to make of it, but we understand that Helen Cobbs really thanked her teacher for the nice grade in a big way . . . It's a rumor, so take it or leave it.

Betty Cock has her ring back, much to the relief of all who missed the sparkler from her finger just prior to Christmas. Ned was having it engraved for the information of those still in the dark . . . Speaking of rings. Jane Ruffin is wearing a new one, too, but it's on the wrong hand.

Death Valley found some of its faithfuls back last Saturday . . . The informal dance was rated a big success by all present, but the most of the girls were from the freshman class. New combinations included Higgins and McGrew and Faith Weeks and Jelly.

Charles Davis went to Lelia Holloway's for Christmas and liked it so much he came back for more on New Year's. Nice going.

Three times now, three times, mind you, Dickie has called Jo Beatty. Which wouldn't be so strange except that Dickie is in Arkansaw. These Peace girls do get around!

And speaking of Peace girls, did anyone tell you about Poguey Massy's packing up for Christmas? She heard all the girls on the hall talking about "packing their dresser drawers in the closets" and then she was discovered putting hers bodily in the closet, emptied of all their contents.

Jane Ford went down to the USO center last Saturday night and she found, in addition to some of her pupils, a serviceman who likes V-8's . . . liked the Ford so much in fact that he came back on Sunday.

Everyone would appreciate it if we'd call Louise Andrews by her given name, 'cause everytime she gets a phone call, someone yells "Cheese Andrews", and the halls are immediately filled with girls looking for the cheese sandwiches.

And so until next time when we may have more evidence, remember that it's just scuttlebutt.

the "Y"

The Browsing Room of the library was open last Sunday afternoon. It will be open every Sunday afternoon from 2:30 to 4:30 for your enjoyment.

Sunday prayers were started this week after supper. This is slightly different from prayers the rest of the week, and it will not interfere with the Young People's meetings at the churches.

Regular meetings of the Y Committees will be held tonight.

Freshmen will sign up to work on Y committees sometime in January.

The Public Affairs Committee will have charge of prayers this week and next week. Special programs will be held. This week they relate to community brotherhood and next week they will center around Interacial Problems.

This is the new year, so let's all start it out right.

"Ring out, wild bells, to the wild sky,
The flying clouds, the frosty light:
The year is dying in the night;
Ring out, wild bells, and let him die.

"Ring out the old, ring in the new,

Continued on Page 3

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

Corporal Walter Bodt's squad was spying out Jap positions in the Pacific. We needed information badly. The squad got it, but was cut off from our lines. Using handkerchiefs tied to bayonets, Marine Corporal Bodt wigwagged the information back. He lost an eye, sustained other wounds from furious enemy fire, but his message was urgent. He stuck and got it through, winning the Navy Cross. Weapons are urgent too, and your War Bonds buy them.

U. S. Treasure Department

Boots, Laundry Bags, Towels Form Basis of Unique Oscar

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

Have you met Oscar? Or rather, did you meet Oscar? If you did, you won't soon forget him; for Oscar was really quite a breath-taking gentleman. Six and one-half or seven feet was his height. (He stretched).

But shall we linger at the beginning for the edification of those who didn't meet Oscar?

He was born last Friday night after supper, born in the minds of a small group of uninhabited sophomores — when Martha Lee Said,

"What in the world is that?" referring to the boots in Betty Deuel's closet which were sticking out from the top of the closet shelf. The idea was born, and Oscar had feet.

From then he progressed to a laundry bag full of dirty clothes which gave him a wide virile chest expansion, a handsome pair of overalls (well stuffed towels, laundry bags, and that plaid shirt you see B. Deuel wandering around in) and Beadie's trenchcoat over all to give him that nonchalant look.

But wait—we have a headless man quickly remedied by addition of a jeep hat, towel head, and Kleenex face appropriately designed with closed eyes, open mouth, and flat nose.

Then the launching! Oscar was carefully carried down the long mile of hall (with a few stops on the way) and hung from the chandelier. All waited with breathers anticipation for the first person to come up the front steps. Finally she appeared.

"My word—what can that be—A MAN! !" Instead of being overcome with terror, she threw her arms around irristable Oscar

The reaction was continually occurring. Although Oscar drew his share of squeals and screams, he was positively showered with admiration and caresses.

Martha Hite put in priority claim. Here was a tall man, Faye Nimmo was entranced. Ella Banks, too. Words are inadequate to describe the charms of Oscar's brief life.

About midnight it was painfully necessary to take Oscar down—Beadie wanted to go to bed—and she wanted a towel.

Letters to Editor:

Dear Editor,

As a student representative, I feel deeply moved in having the opportunity to endorse the drive which the Y. W. C. A. is sponsoring for the World Student Service Fund and the Red Cross.

At some time each of us has seen the great work carried on by each of these organizations. It is going to take more than words to show our appreciation. By backing this drive 100% and by placing emphasize on whole cooperation, we will have a tangibie means of contributing to those who have asked our aid.

Sincerely,
Mary Eveiyn Pearsall
President of Student Government

Dear Editor,

At this time of the year we are besieged by so many drives of one kind or another, perhaps we do not understand them all. I would like to say in behalf of the War Welfare Drive that this is a great opportunity for us to aid actively in winning the war and the peace. I hope we will all stop for a moment and realize that through just such drives as the Red Cross and the World Student Service Fund we, as students, are given a chance to play a vital part in bringing about Victory.

This one drive, which is the only one put on annually by the Students, is of, by and for students. We all know the great work of the Red Cross in bringing relief to the soldiers and their families. The World Student Service Fund is doing a great

Continued on Page 4

Question Of The Week

What New Year Resolution would you like most to keep?

Mary Preston Sheffey: As a new table hostess, I resolve to learn how to carve baked chicken.

Monk Meeks: To do the right thing, at right time, right place.

Marcheta Cunningham: I'm going to study harder this quarter.

Minnie Lee Crumpler: To talk less.

Mary Virginia Walker: To answer my letters.

Beverly Bohon: To lose some weight.

Cora Reed: To quit biting my fingernails.

Kitty Kearsley: Not fuss at my roommates.

Bobby Graham: Study more on English grammar.

Shirley Skinner: I ain't talking.

Susie McCorkie: To answer letters promptly.

Jane Crump: To find a man.

Anne Jacobs: To have a date everytime I go home.

Ellen Moore: To stop smoking.

Robin Lear: To stop cutting chapel.

Peggy T. Ross: She's still thinking.

Frances Timmins: To take more baths.

Jane Philhower: Not to cut any more classes.

Mar Kent Stevens: Not to pay any attention to other resolutions.

Betty Jones: Not to feel sorry for myself when I don't hear from Elam.

Martha Lee White: Not to eat any more

Annual Swimming Meet Scheduled In January, Manager Loyd Reveals

Varsity Squad To Be Chosen

Practices have begun for the annual inter-class swimming meet which is scheduled for the latter part of January. All swimmers who are interested in supporting their class team in this event are urged to begin to practice for the meet. Times for these practices are each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons during the recreational swimming period which is 4:50 p. m. until 5:50 p. m.

Grace Loyd, manager of the meet, has announced that there will be two sections of swimmers to be judged. One will include the intermediate swimmers and the other an advanced group. Contests will be held among the groups and points given to the winning color for color cup points.

A varsity squad will be selected from participants of the meet to take part in the national telegraphic swimming meet which is held each year. All colleges throughout the United States are entered and swimming times are compared in the various districts. In previous years Farmville has ranked in the upper portion in this district.

The telegraphic meet will begin in February and scores sent in to the national headquarters by March 15. All swimmers must begin to practice now in order to qualify for both class teams and varsity squad.

Ruth Dugger, ping pong manager

Traffic Fatalities Reduced in State

Unofficial figures released by the Department of State Police on New Year's eve showed traffic fatalities in Virginia to be 235 less in 1943 as compared to the previous year.

Snow and ice-covered highways the latter part of last week boosted the toll of highway deaths considerable but officials of the department of State police regarded the 30 per cent drop in highway mishaps during the past year as a very favorable trend.

WINTER SPORTS SCHEDULE

Swimming—Monday, Wednesday ..... 3:50 class
Tuesday, Thursday ..... 4:50 class
Monday, Wed., Fri. ..... 4:50 recreational period
Saturday ..... 8:00 p. m.
Basketball—Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday 4:50, 5:50
Volleyball—Tuesday, Thursday ..... 8:00 (316 3rd period)
Wednesday 5:50
Ba...k—Friday ..... 5:50 (meet in Rotunda)

KEEP ON Backing the Attack WITH WAR BONDS

SHADES OF AUNT BESS

$12.98

Many Muffet glamorizes old fashioned ginghamteen with a beautiful sheen and puts it in this clever 2-piece cotton named "AMY"...high fidutin indeed for warm days ahead... In soft pastel shades. 9-15.

BALDWIN'S

The Y

Continued from Page 3

Ring, happy bells, across the snow:
The year is going, let him go;
Ring out the false, ring in the true

"Ring out the grief that saps the mind,
For those that here we see no more;
Ring out the feud of rich and poor,
Ring in redress to all mankind.

"Ring out a slowly dying cause,
And ancient forms of party strife;
Ring in the nobler modes of life,
With sweeter manners, purer laws

"Ring out the want, the care, the sin,
The faithless coldness of the times;
Ring out, ring out my mournful rhymes,
But ring the fuller minstrel in.

"Ring out false pride in place and blood,
The civic slander and the spite;
Ring in the love of truth and right,
Ring in the common love of good.

"Ring out old shapes of foul disease;
Ring out the narrowing lost of gold;
Ring out the thousand wars of old,
Ring in the thousand years of peace.

"Ring in the valiant man and free,
The larger heart, the kindlier hand;
Ring out the darkness of the land,
Ring in the Christ that is to be."

—By Alfred Lord Tennyson

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR DECCA
Wilson's Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Left Lead

The logical (if belated) way to start out a new year is to say, "Happy New Year!", so far be it from us to skip tradition. Happy New Year it is, to all of you at school from all of us at the Stables . . . and say . . . have you seen what Santa Claus left in our feed-bag? He's a real live-ly newcomer, and his name is MacArthur . . . shortened at once to "Mac" . . . he's a beauty! Slender, tender and tall, they call him, and "painted". He's brown and he's white, and his tail and mane are black and wavy, and when you've gotten acquainted with him, you will be apt to wonder how such a gentleman could be our side of a bargain that included Pegasus and Billy-Boy. For Mac is the result of a trade of these two . . . and we think so far that Mr. Nolen got the best end of the deal. Certainly as far as looks and disposition are concerned.

For example: The notice on the mantel read that any old girls who wanted to ride at four last Thursday should sign up thereon, and one by one came the few inevitable queries from the beginners, "Why can't we ride yet?" Well, children, this is why: Joyce took Mac, and wondered vaguely whether he would behave himself or not. As it came out, MacArthur was the calmest one of the lot. With "Jody" Davis up on Flicka, wee Mary Ann Loving perched atop the mighty Midnight, and yours truly bringing up the rear on Winnie, off we went . . . and for Midnight and Winnie, 'twas their first time out since before Christmas. Needless to say, they were rarin' to go, and the trail ride was an unforgettable one.

Just to start things off right, everybody except MacArthur pranced the entire way down the road. They were too full of prefrolic pep to do anything as calm as walking, so over the hills we bounced with an occasional swift side-step, or leap as the case may have been just for punctuation. Midnight greeted each wary pedestrian by giving them a wild look out of the corner of his eye, and then by bounding forward several paces to be out of their way, and Winnie altogether avoided greeting them by shying out in a ten-foot circle as each trembling individual slunk down the path. Crossing the fields gave them weird desires to run, and most of the riders' conversation consisted of "Steady, girl," or "Whoah, fella!", or "Gosh-dernit, Hoss, watch where ya goin'!!" Crossing a slippery asphalt road to get to the back path to Longwood was no help, but even that was better than having them pile up in a creek at the bottom of a steppe slope where they all become violently thirsty at the same time. Also, by mutual agreement, they all cantered down every hill on the course, jumped every stream they came to, slid on each puddle of ice, and got their feet tangled

Continued on Page 4

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Ping Pong Tourney Begins Next Week

Winner Gains Color Cup Points

Ruth Dugger, manager of ping-pong, has announced the ping pong tournament will begin the first of next week. All who wish to enter the contest will sign up on the A. A. bulletin board in order that a schedule of games can be posted.

The first round must be played by Friday, January 21 and scores reported to the manager. A ping pong table is located in the shower room and paddles and balls may be secured from Mike Shiffilett on second floor Annex.

Each year the winner of the tourney adds five points towards color cup points. Last year Red and White won top place in ping pong with Lucile Jones as winner.

Any one may enter and all are urged to do so.

Freshmen Required To Pass Swim Test

All freshmen are required to pass the American Red Cross Beginners Swimming test. To date 242 have taken the test and 147 must complete the requirement before the end of the year. Classes of instruction are scheduled and non-swimmers must sign up for a class in order to qualify as a beginner swimmer. The course of instruction has begun and will continue until those taking are eligible for a certificate.

A list of freshmen who have not completed this requirement is posted on the bulletin board in the gym.

Each Wednesday during the recreational swim period, 4:50-5:50 p. m. tests will be given to those who are able to pass.

Teacher's Pay

Continued from Page 1

the State average. Ninety-three counties paid less than $1,100. Among those paying below $700 was Buckingham county; below $800 were Cumberland, Brunswick and Prince Edward; below $900 were Amelia, Appomattox, Charlotte, Dinwiddie, Mecklenburg, Lunenburg, and Powhatan.

The only three counties that paid an average of more than $100 a month (counting on a 12-month basis) were Arlington with an average of $1,665, Warwick with $1,301 and Hanover with $1,242.

Shirley Pierce's

On the Ball

Longwood Cabin . . .

The Athletic Association has added twelve new bunks to the cabin at Longwood in order that groups might go out for overnight trips. Also, a new cabinet and small stools will be among the new equipment. Groups may go out for the night on week-ends provided they are chaperoned.

Basketball . . . Volleyball

A round robin tournament in basketball will be the last of February. Class teams will play contests and elimination will decide the winner. Practice has been scheduled and time is posted on the A. A. winter sports schedule. Support your class; your color, make this basketball season one which your team is on top!

Dorothy Sue Simmons, basketball manager.

Volleyball practices have begun, also, a similar round robin tourney will be in February. Red and White and Green and White will continue to add points for the color cup so help your color work for its ribbons.

In the Pool . . .

Beginners swimming tests will be given each Wednesday afternoon from 4:50 p. m. to 5:50 p. m. to all freshmen who have not qualified and must report to a class of instruction in order that they may learn to swim. A list of students who have not completed this requirement is posted in the gymnasium. Do not put off until the spring quarter as the class will be limited and advanced classes taught along with Senior Life Saving.

Inter-class swim meet practice has begun and all who wish to swim on the class teams must have at least light practices. These can be obtained during the recreational period on Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

S. T. C. Alumna

Continued from Page 1

tinued in her letter to Mrs. Coyner and the alumnae, "a bit of STC went with me many thousands of miles. Of course, much more than just the fun and happiness went, the serious business of learning to live together (and don't ever underestimate that), sharing, boosting, leaning, following, leading, appreciation,—all of it so important when the business of living so close together, each depending on the other for happiness and even for life itself, is necessary. That important lesson is one you're learning now. Then the ideals and impressions that many of my instructors gave me—some I'm sure I'd forgotten, that came to the fore in the moments I most needed then, played a part I shall never forget."

"If I have been able to accomplish anything worthwhile," Miss Pedigo wrote, "I am constantly reminded of all the people that made my opportunity possible. After all, I am only a representative of all you at home who sent me in your place, and I've just tried to be worthy of that responsibility."

New Nurse

Continued from Page 1

morning, on sick call from 5 o'clock to 6 o'clock in the afternoon and from 8 o'clock till 10:30 o'clock each Sunday morning. No after dinner sick calls are expected in the evening, and Mrs. Packer is on call at night only for emergencies.

CLEARANCE SALE
—WINTER—
COATS, SUITS AND DRESSES
20 Percent Reduction
From Marked Prices
DARK COLORS
BUY NOW AND SAVE
Second Floor Elevator Service
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
FARMVILLE VIRGINIA

If You Want Results
You can really get excited about

Then Try One of our FAMOUS COLD WAVES
•Duchess $10.00
•Empress $15.00
•Victoria $20.00
Other Beautiful Permanents
$4.95 to $15.00
Put in by thoroughly experienced operators who know how.
BALDWIN'S
PHONE 159

Wings, Rings, Headaches Part Of Christmas Repercussions

Well, it's all over now and I'm not kidding. (The Christmas holidays, I mean.) The first things seen as we stumbled into the Rotunda were diamonds flashing around, with the owners grinning. Why? Wouldn't you grin too, if you had the proof you had a man? Our esteemed editor, another member of the head table, and a second floor Main inhabitant are some of the proud owners of those shiny rocks that everyone else envies.

Who was that who got a gift, and though it isn't a diamond, it's far more precious? Yes, I am talking about a box of silk, and I didn't say rayon, stockings that was sent from a guy overseas to a girl in Cunningham.

This proves that men no longer think perfume and toilet water are the things for milady's Christmas gift. When someone on third floor Main unpacked her suitcase, she pulled out a pair of men's pajamas. That's all right, but the catch is—her boy friend gave 'em to her!

Lots of people that hated to dress for Sunday dinner don't mind it a bit now. It's one of the best ways to show off your Christmas presents, including wings and rings that heart-breakers collected during the holidays. A certain lieutenant from San Antonio way must have known that a pair of silver wings would look good on the new dress of his girl from Room 99. (But silver wings look good, period.)

Presents aren't the only results of Christmas. I honestly think half of us came back to school to recuperate! Another week at home and we would have been ruined for life! But before getting our needed sleep, all of our adventures must be re-lived to our roommates.

If all the resolutions that have been made by S. T. C.'ers are kept, Farmville will become the model Young Ladies School of the South. But don't bother to have the address on your stationery changed!

Grades, grades, grades! Many are the vows made to do better this quarter, after one glimpse at the report card. Some wonderful people made the honor roll, and more power to them, I say. It would really be something for the books if every single girl at S. T. C. would pop up with the Honor Roll or Dean's List next quarter. Joke! But really thinking about it—Nothing is impossible, you must admit. Why not do your part!

Have fun Easter!!!

Jane Cabell Sanford, class of '43, who received her commission as Ensign in the WAVES yesterday. Jane was editor of the ROTUNDA last year and served as president of Alpha Kappa Gamma while a student here. She received her commission at Northampton, Mass., and reports to Mt. Holyoke today for eight weeks further training.

Students Become Past Masters Of How to Live in 24 Hours

By BETTY DEUEL COCK

When we came away to school, we were told that we came to study. Why, we were to be training for our vocation, bettering ourselves so as to teach the Future Generations, increasing our own meager store of knowledge, and delving into the vast mysteries of Higher Learning. To us, a vision of college was a long series of pictures of us as students . . . going doggedly from class to class, turning page upon page in the reference books, and studying determinedly from seven p. m. until midnight, only to sleep a few hours and rise again to start the same rigid routine. We were well-prepared, and ready to be faithful to the end. Why in the Sam Hill didn't somebody, SOMEBODY, tell us we had to be chief experts at house-keeping, clothes-washing, darning, cooking, dusting, spending, and letter-writing, too?

If the days we have in which to live could find some way to stretch their number of hours, there'd be absolutely no reason for complaint, but honestly! By the time you've done one or two of the things listed above, do you really have time left to study as long as you would like to? Why no! And yet you just can't possibly let those socks go another day without darning, or wear that dickie one more time without luxing it, and if you don't want to starve to death, you'll just have to take half-an hour out to cook a can of soup or fry an egg or something. And don't forget the Board of Directors on the home front . . . If they don't get a letter from you at least once a day, they're dead sure that you've either been finally hit while jaywalking, or have left school in disgrace and can't write. And then, just when you plan to let everything go during that free morning and really study, some kind soul hollers down the hall, "Better sweep your floor . . . here she comes inspectin' rooms!" and there you are, stuck with two beds to make, a dozen ash-trays to clean, several trashbaskets to empty, and a desk to tidy up. It takes all morning and you get a room-note anyhow . . . and your contrite room-mate crawls in looking sheepish and says, "And I was just down in Susie's room playing bridge . . ." Oh, the fury in you that almost over-oils!

We'd like to run a series of articles on the various phases of College Life that the faculty members don't see, but they'd take from now 'til June, and then it's doubtful whether they'd ever understand. They don't hafta wait around for hours 'til a dozen people get through with the bathtubs, and then use cold water after all. They can have their hunger completely satisfied with all the delightful delicacies in the Cookbook and not hafta take time out later for an after lights-out snack. And they don't hafta have their laundry in before a certain hour on a certain day, nor spend the better part of that day marking names on and listing that which is sent, or making a detailed list of descriptions for later use in searching the laundry for the garments that have been misplaced. They may clean house when they feel like it and be none the worse later; they may write to whom they please whenever they please; above all, they do not have two-hour assignments from five or six different classes every night. And what's more, they get paid!!

Oh, well, maybe that's why we came to a State Teachers College, anyhow. Unless we're foolin' an awful lot of people, maybe we'll be "faculty" ourselves in a couple more years. And then the life of Riley! And we don't really hold it against them . . . too much. After all . . . we do pretty much as we please anyhow. And you know what'll happen to the Future Generation when they have us for teachers? They'll fuss and fuss and fuss 'bout not having time to do anything but study. And we'll think back and just laugh and laugh and laugh, 'cause we know, way down deep, that they have all the time in the world, and they DO everything . . . but study!

Jewelery, Ancient As Humans, Finds Big Place at S.T.C.

Jewelery—fascinating subject, so fascinating that it is as old as civilization. With the crudest forms of tools, archiologists have found equally early forms of adornment—simple necklaces and bracelets, fashioned from teeth and stones. In "deepest darkest equitorial Africa" the natives have long been adept in jewelery making and in America, dime stores are full of all imaginable forms of jewelery.

All of which should bring us to the present day where STC'ers are sporting a grand array of Christmas collections. First and foremostly, congratulations to all the third finger left handers. Next in order, a compliment to all the gals whom a Santa Claus blessed with identification bracelets that they may never be lost or strayed or stolen. In spite of wartime shortage, we have noticed numerous new watches.

Sunday saw the new earrings on display. All colors and all styles. But alas, so do Monday, Tuesday, etc., sometimes when sad Susie sport saddles and socks and sparkling earbobs. They just don't go together. It creates quite a jolt to meet one face to face and decide she is dressed up for nothing less than a banquet, then discover by her feet that she is only heading for geography class. A word to the wise is sufficient.

Left Lead

Continued from Page 3

up in the same fallen branches.

But Midnight as usual, was the star performer. He tried everything except a double somersault, and why Mary Ann wasn't left dangling in a tree-top somewhere along the edge of the golf-course, we'll never know. But she came out a 'flyn', and they tore across the green, still together, with the others in swift pursuit. Once back at the stable they were the gentlest of animals, but they sure believe in their own "bossy" types of entertainment.

And that, dear beginners, is why your classes don't start 'til later . . . and never let it be said that it isn't for your own good. And speaking of good, how 'bout this for a good N. Y.'s Resolution: Be sure you come to all the Riding Club meetings. And speaking of good . . . be that way.

Pegasus

War Day

Continued from Page 1

Dixie Forensic Tournament held in Charlotte, N. C., in December and participated in twelve closed debates.

Last year, War Emphasis Day was initiated on this campus with Colgate W. Darden, Governor of Virginia, Dabney S. Lancaster, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, Major E. V. Graves, Director of the Physical Education Department of the State Board of Education, and Miss Louise Bernard, of the Distributive Education Department as speakers.

Student discussion groups were held in the afternoon, and the results of these discussions were carried into effect by the student body.

Valentine Greetings
For Your Friends
IN THE SERVICE
ROSE'S
5-10-25c Stores
Farmville's Most Popular Store

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
Visit Our Complete
TOILET ARTICLE DEPT.
New line is the Hollywood Cosmetics 10 and 25c

YOUR LIBRARY

Magazine Indexes

Just as your library has a card catalog to help you find the books you want, so do the magazines in your library have indexes to help you find the magazine article you want. The most important of these is the Reader's Guide; which indexes regularly about a hundred of the most popular magazines published in the United States, of which your library receives about ninety. This means that about ninety per cent of the references in the Readers Guide refer to articles in magazines which may be found in your library.

The Readers Guide is arranged much like the card catalog in alphabetical order. It indexes each article by the name of the author and by subject. There are no title entries except for artistic works, such as poems and plays, which are apt to be remembered by title. Most of your use of the Readers Guide will be in connection with finding material on a certain subject, for it is here that the periodical literature can be most helpful in revealing information that has not yet found its way into book form.

A typical subject heading and article on a topic of current interest is the following:

Pan-American highway

Inter - American highway; friendship road of the Americas. B T Brown Il Survey G 30: 425-8 Ap '41.

You see that the title of the article is given first, followed by the name of the author. The abbreviation "il" means that the article is illustrated Then follows the name of the magazine in abbreviated form, in this case the Survey Geographic. The number before the colon indicates that the article is in Volume 30 The numbers after the colon tell you that the article is on page 425 to 428, and that it is 4 pages long. Then follows the date of the magazine, which is August, 1941.

If you decide this is an article you wish to read, you need only go to the magazine shelves in the Reference Room, take volume 30 of the Survey Graphic to table, and find the article you want on page 425. It's as easy as that.

Well, almost as easy. In most cases it will be that easy But if you do run into trouble, remember that the library staff is experienced at trouble shooting.

When the information you are seeking is in the field of education, use the Education Index instead of the Readers Guide; if it is in the field of art, use the Art Index; and if all three fail you, try the International Index, which indexes another hundred magazines not included in the others And before you give up, remember that your library also has an index to The New York Times—most of the subject matter in which you are interested will at some time or another have been considered "news that's fit to print"

New book of the week: The Ten Commandments.

KEEP ON
Backing the Attack
WITH WAR BONDS

Farmville Mfg. Co.
MILL WORK
BUILDING MATERIALS

DELICIOUS
SANDWICHES
College Shoppe

Gray's Drug Store
Pure Drugs
Perfumes—Toilet Articles
Latest styles in stationery
Quality—Price—Service

For the best hot cakes and waffles be sure to go to
SHANNON'S

Just Looking, Thanks

By PAT MADDOX

Well, folks, Christmas with its Santa Claus, stockings, turkey 'n' dressing, candy, parties and fun, has come and gone, and exams are now just a horrible memory. Old man '43 slipped out quietly and left in his place bouncing babe '44, who came in a blaze of glory and a promise of better things to come. First job he had ta do was to drag S.T.C.'ers back to their books and after a week of hard work he finally managed to get most of them back . . . no mean stunt for one so young! Most of the unwilling gals were content to spend the week end catching up on two weeks gossip, or on two weeks washing, but some were fortunate enough to be invited out to Death Valley for the game and dance Saturday night, which tended to make the transition from holiday to school not quite so abrupt.

Starting the New Year out right with gobs from H. S. C. were:

Peggy Alphin, with Tom Marshall; Helen Apperson, with Bob Bookman; Nancy Lee Barrett, with Jimmy Tarry; Josephine Beatty, with Dave Nelson; Margaret Black, with Jim Pavek; Eileen Bowles, with Dick Noel; Margaret Brace, with Charlie Loving; Olive Bradshaw, with Fred Young; Pat Buckler, with Moffett Walker; Virginia Caviness, with John D. Beall; Constance Christian, with Harold Tidler; Joyce Collins, with Buddy Curlee; Page Cook, with Eddie Cates; Belle Dalton, with Robert Burke; Joan Davis, with Bill Bergman, and Betty Doggett, with Bud Dowling.

Also Vivian Edmunds, with Miles Fletcher; Shirley Etheridge, with John Hatten; Jane Glenn, with Howard Jones; Delia Gregory, with Bus Etheridge; Evelyn Grizzard, with Roth Rose; Ethel Halsey, with Tinsley Mack; Carolyn Hammond, with Bill Houtz; Carolyn Hayslett, with Eddie Crist; Ellen Higginbotham, with Bob Stickley; Martha Higgins, with Paul McGrew; Mary Ellen Hoge, with William Hoy; Lelia Holloway, with Charles Davis; Spottswood Hunnicut, with Allen MacAllister; Nancy Hutter, with Bob Goldenberg; Anne Jacob, with Randy Trice; Marilyn Johnson, with Barrie Cook, and Dora Walker Jones, with Nichol Eskridge.

Also Rosalie Jones, with Joe Walters; Lois Kavanaugh, with Milford Bradley; Anne Kingdon, with James Crowder; Anne Leatherbury, with Bruce Morrison; Norma Lindley, with Charles Claytor; Betty Little, with Harry Parks; Nancy Lively, with Bill Dunn; Vera Lloyd, with G. N. Casto; Mary Anne Loving, with Jack Dugger; Helen McRea, with James McNutt; Olivia J. Meade, with Joe Basilone; Elizabeth Meeks, with Zeke Anderson, and Anne Mingea, with Kenneth Dodson.

Also Ellen Moore, with David Noel; Betty O'Connor, with Robert L. Thomas; Jac Purden, with Ben Johns; Alice Parkhurst, with Jimmy Marrow; Jeannie Richardson, with George Little; Louise Rives, with Curtis Anderson; Peggy T. Ross, with Allan Fox; Cile Sarver, with Junius Crowgey; Lois L. Sheppard, with Elmer Deyerley; Grace Shriver with John Robinson; Helen Stites, with Jack Stephens, and Barbara Surface, with Bob Younger.

Catherine Trower, with Ernest Gates, Rosemarie Waggner, with Bill Cantwell; Billy Waid, with Ben Taylor; Margaret Walton, with Bruce LeGrande; Faith Weeks, with Eddie Neilson; Nancy Lee Weeks, with John DeHardit; Nancy Woodworth, with Frank Griffin; Betty Wright, with Randolph Hudgins, and Frances Hasty, with Morris Renshaw.

Letters to Editor

Continued from Page 2

work too in aiding American students in war for counties and foreign students interned there.

Realizing how fortunate we are as students in America, let us resolve this week to do our part by giving the most we possibly can to this worthwhile cause.

Sincerely,
Frances Lee Hawthorne
President of the YWCA

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.
Continental Bus Line
Phone 78

Kodak Films
Printed and Developed
25c Entire Roll
Southside Drug Store

Collins Florist
FRESH FLOWERS
FOR ALL OCCASIONS

Martin the Jeweler
Wishes You a HAPPY
NEW YEAR

Patronize
PATTERSONS
The Complete Drug Store
MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-
WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE
PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY
Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

START THE NEW YEAR RIGHT
BY TAKING ADVANTAGE OF OUR
CLEARANCE SALE
ENTIRE STOCK GREATLY REDUCED
S. T. C. Girls Welcome to Visit
DOROTHY MAY STORE

ATTEND ALL PARTS OF PROGRAM TOMORROW

The Rotunda

VOTE FOR MARDI GRAS QUEEN NEXT MONDAY

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, TUESDAY, JAN. 18, 1944 | No. 13

S. T. C. Observes Second War Emphasis Day

Librarian Granted Leave of Absence To Join U. S. Army

Dr. LeRoy Charles Merritt, librarian, has been granted a leave of absence for an indefinite length of time to join the armed forces of the United States. He is scheduled to report to Fort Meade, Md., on January 29.

Dr. Merritt came to Farmville in July, 1942 from the graduate Library School of the University of Chicago, where he received his degree in Library science. As librarian here he has made many changes and improvement in the library set-up. After six months in the STC library Dr. Merritt stated, "The library here is the kind of place I dreamed of in Library School". (ROTUNDA: September 30, 1942).

DR. LEROY MERRITT

Last year Dr. Merritt accepted a part-time position with the Office of War Information in Washington where he did special work on the circulation of government publications to libraries.

The library staff includes Miss Carmen Clark, reference and circulation; Miss Mary M. Snead and Mrs. Celeste Blanton, cataloguing, and 19 part-time student assistants.

Dr. Merritt's classes in Library Science will be continued by Miss Clark.

Robert Frost, Poet, To Speak at STC In Near Future

Robert Frost, nationally famous poet, will be on the S.T.C. campus Wednesday, February 2. He will speak at 8 o'clock.

Mr. Frost was born in San Francisco, California, March 26, 1875. At an early age, his parents moved to Lawrence, Mass. There he lived most of his life.

Robert Frost attended public schools and completed his education at Dartmouth College and Harvard.

He taught English in Pinkerton Academy, Derny, N. H. Later he taught Psychology in New Hampshire Normal School at Plymouth, R. I.

His first two volumes of verse were published in England in 1912. After being a professor of English in Amherst College for four years; he turned back to writing poetry. From the years 1920-1923 Robert Frost was a poet in residence at the University of Michigan.

The poems of Robert Frost portray realistically, yet with fine reticence, every day country life in New England. His work as a whole is partaking of the dignity and serene beauty of the hills among which he lived most of his life.

Over the Top

1393 Bandages Are Made By Students

Thirteen hundred ninety-three bandages were rolled in the college last Thursday night, according to an announcement made by Virginia Treakle, chairman of the Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Up until last Thursday night, the largest number ever rolled by the college students in one night was ten hundred twenty-three on October 21.

A new method of interesting girls in the importance of rolling bandages was started last week when the freshman class was asked to send part of the group. This plan will continue for three more weeks until each class has had the opportunity of emphasing it by sending the majority of girls. However, this does not mean that if your class is not asked to send part of the girls on a certain night that you cannot come. You are urged to do so.

Assisting the girls with the rolling of bandages are Mrs. M. Boyd Coyner, Miss M. Sprunt Hall, and Mrs. T. J. McIlwaine.

Bandage rolling is sponsored weekly from eight until ten o'clock in the room next to the little auditorium in Student Building by the Service Committee of the Y. W. C. A.

Students Give $525 To War Chest Fund

Five-hundred twenty-five dollars had been donated toward the War Chest Drive when it was totaled on Saturday night.

Many of the student organizations and others have not made their contributions and so the total is expected to rise high this week.

All students have been asked to give $1.00, and it is hoped that they will do so. The goal is $1500 and the drive will end at midnight Wednesday, January 19.

The drive is being carried on by the Public Affairs Committee of the Y. W. C. A., which is headed by Mary Anne Jarratt.

Attention, Thespians!

Try-outs for the spring production of the Dramatic Club will begin tonight in the large auditorium immediately after prayers, Lucy Manson, president, announced last night. The play is scheduled to be given in the Lyceum series on Founder's Day, Saturday, March 4.

The title of the play and the cast selected will be revealed at an early date.

Wheeler, Walmsley, Moran, Hallisy Lead Discussion Groups On Four Battle Theaters of the World at 10 Tomorrow; Day's Program Includes Library Displays, Movie, Debate

Departments Display Part in War Effort

Included among the special features of the War Emphasis Day program tomorrow are the displays by each department in school in the library. As this issue goes to press, some of the displays are already up.

First display to be completed in the library was the one from the History department, planned and carried out by Nell Holloway. It consists of a wide array of maps showing the various war theaters, and numerous books and pamphlets revelant to the subject.

Miss Carrie Talliaferro put up for the Mathematics department a number of pictorial charts showing the use of mathematics in relation to radio, telegraph, and other means of communication, in surveying and transportation.

The display of the Latin department was prepared by Frances Lee Hawthorne and Miss Minnie V. Rice. It consists of a red letter reproduction of the preamble to the Constitution showing the words in it derived from Latin, several issues of the Tributum with articles pertaining to the war and a large map showing the similarity of the routes of Hannibal and the Allied forces into Italy.

The display on Consumer Education was prepared by a group of students at the Farmville High School under the direction of Frances Strohecker, and shows the two routes, one to victory and the other to sabotage.

The display of the English department is divided into two major parts, showing the "five unconquerables" of Joseph Ausiander and other war literature including

Continued on Page 3

Betsy Fox Elected To Madrigal Group

Betsy Fox, junior from Danville, and a transfer from Averett College, was recently elected to the Madrigal group as an alto to replace Beth Johnson, who graduated at the end of the winter quarter.

Members of the Madrigal group are selected from the College Choir to perform on special programs. Others in the group at present are sopranos, Ann Blair, Minnie Lee Crumpler, Carolyn Beard, Aloise Boswell, Esther Shevick, Lucy and Julia Messick, second sopranos; Jean Prosise, Erlene Kimmerling, and Jo Shaffner; and altos, Dot Cummings, Jerry Titmus, Bea Jones, and Pat Maddox, director.

STC COLLEGE WAR COUNCIL

Dean's List Cites 72 Upperclassmen

Citation Requires A's, B's on Classes

Seventy-two juniors and seniors have been listed on the Dean's list this quarter, Miss Virgilia I. Bugg, registrar, has announced. Girls on the Dean's list are:

Virginia Abernathy, Cochran; Elizabeth Albright; Chase City; Lois Alphin, Lexington; Jean Arnington, Lynchburg; Margaret Barksdale, Java; Carolyn E. Beard, Newport News; Geraline Beckner, Troutville; Louise Bell, Berryville; Alene Boss, Hadlock; Mary Eileen Bowles, Danville; Olive Bradshaw, Rice; Mary Lucille Cheatham, Midlothian; Jenny May Clardy, Keysville; Patsy Connelly, Lebanon; Bernice Copenhaver, Marion; Mildred Corvin, Crewe; Frances Craddock, Blackstone; Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville, and Ruth Dugger, Denbigh.

Also Susan Durrett, Richmond; Sarah Lee East, South Boston; Alice Ruth Feitig, Richmond; Sara Wayne France, Charlottesville; Joscelyn Gillum, Manassas; Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Drewryville; Sue Harper, Richmond; Nancy Harrell, Emporia; Frances Lee Hawthorne, South Boston; Mrs. Elizabeth Chappell Hinman, Prospect; Nell Holloway, Purdy; Nancy Hutter, Lynchburg; Mary Anne Jarratt, Jarratt; Dora Walker Jones, Radford; Elizabeth Ann Jordan, Waynesboro; Margaret Lawrence, Windsor; Maude Lucille Lewis, Culpeper; and Mary Moore McCorkle, Lexington.

Continued on Page 3

Students To Elect Mardi Gras Queen

Rotunda To Reveal Winners Next Week

Elections for Mardi Gras queen and court have been set for Monday, January 23, Mildred Corvin, chairman revealed last night. The table in the hall will be open all day for the students to vote from a list nominated. Next week's Rotunda will carry the results of the election.

The ballot will be prepared by a nominating committee composed of a committee of Pi Gamma Mu members, the classmen of each class, and one faculty adviser from Pi Gamma Mu.

The annual festival scheduled this year to fall on Saturday night, February 19, from 8:30 p. m. till 12 midnight, will be the eleventh of its kind on this campus. It was based originally on the festival held each year in New Orleans on Mardi Gras, the Tuesday before Ash Wednesday, the first day of Lent. Until last year, the celebration here was held on Tuesday night, but was changed due to transportation difficulties.

The dance, sponsored by Pi Gamma Mu is the only masked costumed ball on the campus during the year. Further details about about the theme will be announced at a later date.

Sigma Pi Rho Elects Latin Magazine Staff

Sigma Pi Rho, Latin honor society here at Farmville, has recently elected a staff to publish The Farmville, Virginia Alpha Chapter's magazine, "The Latin Tributum" in the Spring.

Jane Waring Ruffin, junior from Charles City, was elected editor. Katherine Johnson, junior from Dolphin, was elected literary editor and Mary St. Clair Bugg, senior of Farmville, will act as business manager.

The Tributum is the only publication of the national organization and is circulated to all the chapters in the United States.

Student Teachers

Dr. Jarman announced yesterday that those girls doing practice teaching at the Farmville High School will be excused from classes tomorrow to attend the War Day program. However, those who are teaching at the Training School will not be excused from their teaching, and if their teaching schedule conflicts with the program, they will not be expected to attend.

College War Council Presents Stage Flag

Four discussion groups centering their attention on the four theaters of war will be the featured part of tomorrow's observance on this campus of War Emphasis Day, under the auspices of the College War Council. The program will begin at 9:45 tomorrow morning with a flag raising service to which all students will be required to go. At 10 o'clock discussion groups will get under way under the faculty leaders and student assistants.

Following the discussion groups, the student body and faculty will assemble in the large auditorium for a breif resume of each of the groups. At this time the ritual committee of the College War Council will present a short program on flag etiquette and Mary Evelyn Pearsall will present to the school a flag from the War Council for the stage.

The student body has been divided into four parts and placed in one of the discussion groups. A list of this division has been posted and all students are expected to attend the group they have been placed in.

Dr. James Elliott Walmsley will lead the discussion on the European theater in Student Lounge, assisted by Shirley Pierce, Ella Banks Weathers, and Sara Wayne France. Harriette Moore will serve as secretary for this group.

The group discussing the South Pacific theater will meet with Miss Grace Moran and her assistants, Hannah Lee Crawford, Louise Bell, and Frances Lee Hawthorne, in Senior Rec. Virginia Treakle is secretary and will read the findings of this group in the assembly at noon.

Mr. Richard Hallisy will meet his discusion group, who will center their interest on the British Empire, in the Little Auditorium. Student assistants are Mary Anne Jarratt, Patsy Connelly, Eleanor Wade, and Marilyn Bell, and Ophelia Whittle, secretary.

The fourth group, who will discuss the Far Eastern battle theatre will meet with Miss Leola Wheeler in the Rec. Jane Waring Ruffin is serving as secretary for the group and Lucy Manson, Frances Craddock, Sara Bird Williams, and Ol-

Continued on Page 3

189 Students Placed On the Honor Holl For First Quarter

One hundred eighty-nine girls have been placed on the Honor Roll, according to an announcement made by Miss Virgilia I. Bugg, registrar. Girls on the Honor Roll are: Virginia Abernathy, Elizabeth V. Adams, Elizabeth Albright, Lois Alphin, Mildred Altice, Lovice Elaine Altizer, Jane G. Anderson, Jean Arington, Margaret E. Barksdale, Dorothy L. Bennett, Eleanor Ann Bisese, Lenore Bishop, Betty Marie Blackwell, Anna Lee Blanton, Carolyn A. Bobbitt, Beverly Wade Bohon, Mary Aline Boss, V. Aloise Boswell, Mary Eileen Bowles, Lucy Bowling, Lynell Cecil Bradshaw, Olive A. Bradshaw, Beatrice A. Bruch, and Rachael Brugh.

Also Alice Eliza Buch, Mary Stewart Buford, Mary St. Clair Bugg, Doris W. Burks, Margaret Caroline Caldwell, Emily C. Carper, Elizabeth Lee Carter, Avaughn M. Chafin, Mary Lucille Cheatham, Helen Joyce Cheatwood, Lena M. Claiborne, Reba Hill Conner, Willie Agnes Cooke, C. Bernice Copenhaver, Frances Elen Copenhaver, Mildred Corvin,

Continued from Page 3

Soldiers, Sailors, College Girls and All Join In Fun of Snow Battles, Sleigh Rides

Hillbillies Vs. Tidewaterites

With all the time-pressing engagements and over-due features, some people still take time out for a little personal fun, and usually risk their necks in doing so in more ways than one. This week the snow was the big attraction and Sunday afternoon found half the occupants of Cunningham Hall and some of their dates frolicking about in the elements like ten-year-olds, and those that were not actual participants hanging out of the windows at least taking an active interest.

It began when a few snap-shooters borrowed a big old sled that has been dry-rotting in the basement of Junior Building for several years and used it for some of their more typical backgrounds. The snap-shooters and the sled attracted several stray mates, who began to bombard the little company unmercifully with soft splats of snow and a couple of regular snow-balls. The girls, however, retaliated with vigor, and the boys slunk back into the building on pretense of seeing some gals about a dog.

The local Mountaineers, or rather those students who have migrated down from the uneven territories of Lynchburg, Roanoke, New Castle, etc., were loudly lamenting the lack of suitable coasting places. To be perfectly frank, all they lacked was some of the imagination of the lowlanders present, for the Tidewater Virginians have never known the actual thrill of a "four-block coast down Main Street", yet on the other hand, could be far more apt to recount the spills 'n' thrills of whizzing around the flat country aboard one of the ten or 15 sleds tied on to the rear of an automobile. At any rate, the hill by the side of the Building proved its disadvantages when one of the snow-birds had to flop off on her stomach and let the sled go on, in order not to end up in a nose-dive over the brick wall at the

Cunningham Hall Scene of Clash

Continued on Page 4

War Day Program Offers Unique Opportunity

Tomorrow, we, the students of this college will be given an opportunity to learn more and more about the four theaters of war where the young manhood of our time is facing such overwhelming pain, tragedy, torture to body and mind, even and often death.

We sit smugly in our warmly heated room, dining lavishly three times a day, not knowing what war is. What have we known of sticky, muddy foxholes, of unbearable heat or cold, of the utter loneliness of the strange lands in wartime, of the waiting to die as the bombs drop, of the stark reality of war? We see it in movies—a little of it, we read it in books—a little of it, and we cringe in horror. But far away from it all, we can not know quite the purgatory through which our brothers, our sweethearts, our fathers, and the kids next door are going. And we—and they on the battlefronts—pray that we shall never have to know it from reality.

Yet it is our duty to understand it. We who stay at home have a job to do, too. And that job includes more than just wishing it were all over, more than just buying stamps and bonds, more than the little things which add up and are important. It includes more importantly a preparation for the world to come. It includes an understanding of the conditions, a knowledge of the battlefronts. How else can we play our part in the world of tomorrow?

For the second consecutive year those in authority have set aside an entire day from our pitifully few in college to emphasize the war. Last year we were given the best speakers the state has to offer, supplemented by student discussion groups. We dug out in those discussion groups the things—concrete things—that we as students can do in the war effort. Tomorrow we shall be given opportunity to find out about the second part of our duty—that of preparation for the world to come by learning about the world today.

The College War Council has carefully planned a full day's program with faculty and student leaders for discussion groups, with a movie short, with a debate on a very relevant question concerning the post war plans. Fundamentally tomorrow is your day. The discussion groups are yours. Other faculty have been asked to sit in on the discussions if they wish, but the success of the day's program depends upon you, and your roommate, and me and my roommate.

Dr. Lancaster last year in his message to the students here on War Emphasis Day staed that there has never been a time when it was more important for each one of us to make an earnest effort to understand world conditions, and to make plans for rendering the maximum possible service to the country. A year has passed since he made that statement, and today, it is even more important.

We cannot afford to miss any of tomorrow's program. Attendance at the morning sessions will be compulsory, but the afternoon and evening programs, too, have something to offer. It's a challenge really. Can't we, each and everyone, accept this challe" and fulfill it to the nth degree?

In charge of this issue: JANE WARING RUFFIN.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lella Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis, Catherine Trower, Betty Woodward.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

Tuesday, January 18, the Fourth War Loan Campaign will open, and by February 15, it is hoped 14 billion dollars worth of bonds will have been sold throughout the United States. A free week-end in Richmond will be given to the woman in Virginia who sells Series E. Bonds to the greatest number of buyers during the first two weeks of the drive.

* * * *

All along the Russian front, the activity continues as the Nazis are still being repulsed by the Soviet forces. A major attack has been made in the Leningrad area the Reds; the Germans are retreating toward Pinsk, waterway in Poland.

* * * *

An encircling movement is being used in capturing Cassino in Italy. American troops are advancing from the southwest in a frontal attack while French troops are northeast of Cassino, fighting the left flank of the German fortifications. Satisfactory gain has been made.

* * * *

Brunswick, an industrial center of Germany, has been shattered by R. A. F. bombers. Mosquito feints were made on Berlin and Madgenburg which scattered the German planes until it was too late to make a successful defense of Brunswick. The smoke columns from Brunswick were four miles high, and the fires could be seen 150 miles by the flyers.

* * * *

A small squadron of German planes attempted to bomb London last week, but the planes were turned back before reaching the city.

* * * *

The defenders of Sio, the last important Japanese base in New Guinea, are caught in a wedge made by Australian forces from the east and American troop in the north. The Australians have captured enemy supplies, equipment ,and artillery in their drive toward Sio.

* * * *

The Marines are trying to capture Hill 660 in New Britain which would give them complete control of Borgen Bay Japanese defenses.

* * * *

In the President's message to Congress last Monday, he outlined a five-point program. The most interesting point is the one suggesting a national labor draft. Although he said the American people wanted this, the feeling in Congress is divided.

Over the Fence

All this cold sophistication of S. T. C. girls seems to be giving away to the maternal instinct. It's all due to the influence of the S. P. C. A.! The big shagy, "almost collie," whose address is now Annex and the loveable little pooch now calling his home Cunningham Hall have neither gone without food and lodging thanks to the girls. There is a regular fight every night as to whose rooms they are going to seep in.

Who said anything about needing sleep—quote Elsie Thompson! It's one of those every-afternoon-night affairs with Elsie and Bobby. Maybe could it be true love?

Carol Diggs' radiant smile may be due to the return of one of her "Buddies"! But Betsy Caldwell is stealing someone's thunder!

The return this week-end of our own Sally Johnson who is preparing for the Cadet nurses brought much happiness to the campus. We miss her.

Whoever the Lt. was, he certainly gave Sarah Woodward a heart-warming welcome at the train Sunday P. M.

One Marilyn Johnson seemed delighted at the sight of one Charlie "Woo-Woo" Crews this week-end.

For the benefit of Annex—2nd floor—this column would like to verify the fact that the little gold bracelet was a gift of——Henry.

It doesn't matter whether it's Blackstone or Farmville, so long as they're together every week-end. You guesed it—Patsy and Bagley.

What's the good crack that the ex-Sarah Hardy got in at Tennent? Don't let it worry you, Liz, we're all in the same boat.

For more information about the blind dates at Randolph-Macon ask Betty Harville. She oughta know.

Wouldn't it be nice if we all had boys to send us such charming cartoons as Doug sends Olive? But Who is Chief Spoocken?

'Twas all you had to—just open your window and become a human target for some lonely soldier's snowballs in Cunningham Sunday P. M.

Could it be the influence of the Navy that made Virginia Shackelford take John to Jack?

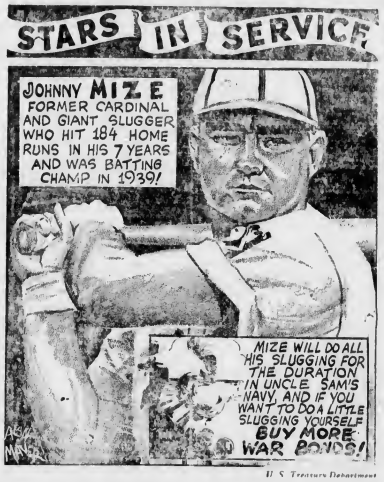
What we like about Droste is her taste in men. He was 6 ft. 3 if he were an inch.

Why is it that Sarah is called Tigg instead of Trigg? Some girls get all the phone calls . . . Nancy Langhorne is smiling so this week . . . people like Mr. Merritt have to be drafted . . . people talk so much "over the fence"?

the "Y"

Freshman Y Club will meet Thursday. It is important that all members be present. At that time, they will be told about the Committees of the Y. W. C. A. and their work. Freshmen will sign up for a committee at Chapel on Monday, the 24th.

We did very well last week rolling bandages. Let's keep up the good work.



Sunday prayers were held again this week. These are not to take the place of the Young People's meetings at the Churches, but are to be held after dinner each Sunday evening.

There will be a special War Day program at prayers tomorrow night.

Tomorrow will be the last day for your contribution to the War Chest. Be sure to get yours in by then.

The Canterbury Club has begun a new series of programs on Christian relationships and personality. Next Sunday's discussion is scheduled to center on marriage.

Letters to Editor:

Dear Editor:

Again comes the time for various class productions and again various ones of us explode at the idea. Just what is accomplished by a class production only the gods can tell us. The chairman has "experience"—dear me, but she also has tears, backache, and weak knees. Everybody else becomes acquainted with the joys of working together. Of course the fact that everybody gets mad because so-and-so hasn't done a thing and so-and-so somebody else didn't do what she said she would. Then of course there is the advantage of making money—the fact that as much is spent as is made is beside the point. Beside the point, too, is the fact that a dance for instance would probably be much better and more fun would be had by all. So much for the advantages.

Time, money and effort are expended all for about 15 minutes of supposed fun. As no fun measuring machine has been invented, it would by hard to guage this factor. With times as they are, the waste of money is unheard of—and if as much effort as is spent on a class production, would be spent on a class or as part of the war effort, the effects would certainly be seen. As to time, within the next few weeks before the first of these productions, there is to be a lyceum, a poet, a major drive for war funds, War Day, and all its preparation, various activities by the Pan-Hellenic Association as well as the regular routine of scheduled meetings. Just where a production comes in is not quite evident.

Why are they continued? Simply because it has been the custom here for the past hundred years or so. And of course, it would be unheard of to break any custom as tradition here. Why the whole idea is absurd. We're still living in the days of Friday afternoon mass, poetry recitations. Why can't we admit to ourselves that we are carrying on a useless tradition for no good reason.

Sincerely,
Disgusted, Very Disgusted

Dear Editor,

Every now and then — quite often—in fact, students around here start griping. Some of it is constructive criticism, and that is right, desirable even, for certainly that is part of a democratic set up. But more often, it is just pure unadulterred griping.

And the paradoxical thing—or perhaps it's not paradoxical—is that the grippers are the very ones who are most unwilling to cooperate with anything on the campus. They are the very ones who are unwilling to do anything at all the remedy the situation. If they would fall in line—we don't ask anyone to be a "confor-

Continued on Page 4

Questions of the Week

Do you think it would be a good idea for State Teachers College students to wear uniforms furnished by the State?

Dr. Swertfeger: The question is entirely inadequate. I'd have to see the uniform.

Miss Draper: It wouldn't make much difference, would it. You practically have one anyhow.

Fay Johnson: Absolutely not! Most absurd idea I ever heard of! Being regimented like some herd of cows. We have,little enough individualism as it is. Then, too, to spend all that money on uniforms when in the last issue of this illustrious paper, it was stated that the average teacher's salary was $887. Uniforms, my eye.

Alice Nichols: There are enough uniforms in the armed services without civilians resorting to the idea. Now, more than ever, we need to preserve the femininity of S. T. C.

Sarah Wood: I think it is a very good idea if by so doing we save clothing and aid in the war effort.

Sara Moling: Uniforms would be as tragic as the use of numbers rather than names.

Mary Franklin Woodward: S. T. C. would never be the same again after we donned uniforms. Besides, in time of war it is most unnecessary to make such radical changes. 'Twould be just another big expense to add to an already crowded state budget.

Kathryne Reynolds: Uniforms would look much neater. With uniforms everyone would know we're from S. T. C.

Ruby Wright: The uniform would add to the neatness of the girls. It would impress upon the people the attraction of S. T. C.

Anne Hamilton: Definitely against them. I like the sloppy old skirt and sweater — uniform enough for me.

Margaret Claiborne: I think it would be nice if they would be like officers'.

Betty Jones: I don't like the idea at all. I'd get tired of knowing what I was going to put on each day. It's a known fact that clothes boost a girl's morale.

Margie Pierce: I think it would be kinda nice 'cause I'm partial to uniforms.

Betty Adams: Might be cute—if the uniform were flattering.

Aloise Boswell: Good idea! It would get rid of that "What to wear" question every morning.

Frances Rainey: I would not like it at all. I think it would be very monotonous. It would destroy our variety.

Mildred Corvin: An ideal situation. It would eliminate that "outdo the girl next door" idea.

Jo Beatty: I would hate to think I had to wear the some old color every day. You would just miss all the fun in dressing if everyone looked alike.

Martha Watson: Why is there any necessity? I like individualism.

Gene Tucker: Heck. I don't like it. Too much trouble. Give me a sloppy Joe and skirt any old time.

Ping Pong Tourney Initiated Soon, Dugger Announces

Four students have signed to participate in the annual ping-pong tournament. The contest is opened to all classes and is among the sports counting on color cup points, Representatives from each class should take part and must sign to enter on the chart posted on the A. A. bulletin board.

Ruth Dugger, manager of ping-pong, has set Friday, January 21, as the date which the first match must be played. Scores must be given to the manager at the close of each game. Ping-pong paddles and balls are in Mike Shifflett's room, 28 Annex, and may be secured for practice and contest game. The ping-pong table is located in the little gym.

Girls signed for the tournament are: Anne Jones, Phyllis Watts and Lucille Jones, sophomore; and Shirley Pierce, senior. No representatives from either the freshman or junior class has entered which means no representative from a Green and White team. Sign immediately if you wish to enter.

Honor Roll

Continued from Page 1

Mary Eugenia Crank, Hannah Lee Crawford, Betty Rugh Critz, Shirley N. Cruser, Dorothy L. Cummings, Patsy Jane Dale, Laura Elizabeth Dance, Alice Burks Davis, Alice Lee Davis, Virginia Roberta Davis, Louisa Dawson, Eula Belle Doggett, Mary Anne Dove, Martha Lou Droste, Ruth M. Dugger, and Susan V. Durrett.

Also Martha R. East, Sarah Lee East, Rosemary Elam, Frances Virginia Farrier, Alice Rugh Feltig, Eva Mae Fleming, Mary Elizabeth Fuqua, Patricia Garth, Joscelyn Gillum, Jane Marie Glenn, Florence I. Godwin, Evelyn M. Grizzard, Mary E. Grizzard, Doris Evelyn Hair, Ethel M. Halsey, Janice A. Halstead, Sue S. Harper, Louise Harrell, Nancy R. Harrell, Mary Elizabeth Harvey, Lucy Hardie, Margaret C. Harvie, Frances Lee Hawthorne, Betty Lewis Hayward, Margaret R. Hickman, Jane Augusta Himes, Mrs. Elizabeth Chappell Hinman, Lelia A. Holloway, Nell G. Holloway, Ruby Violet Huddle, Sue Hundley, Mary Anne Jarratt, Katherine Gertrude Johnson, Sarah Elizabeth Johnson, Ann Sherwood Jones, Dora Walker, Edith L. Jones, Ruth H. Jones, Luverta E. Joyner, Barbara H. Kellan, Margaret Lawrence, Elizabeth Lewis, Maude Lucille Lewis, Norma Lindley, and Edith Lovins.

Other girls on the Honor Roll are: Mary Moore McCorkle, Susan M. McCorkle, Katherine A. Maddox, E. Naomi Major, Lucy F. Manson, Margaret Ann Masloff, Elizabeth C. Meeks, Agnes Christian Mitchell, Sara D. Moling, Harriette S. Moore, Patricia Murray, Elizabeth Overcash, Dorothy Overcash, Virginia Constance Ozlin, Nancy Ellen Parrish, Glenn Ann Patterson, Margaret Harriet Pattie, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Mabbot Perkins, L. Evelyn Perry, Lillian A. Phillips, Margie H. Pierce, Mary Lee Pittard, Gloria Pollard, Mary Ella Poll, Nancy Jean Powell, Katherine Prebble, Jean Prosise, Lorraine Raiford, Doris Rose Ramsey, Alma Jean Riddick, Betty Louise Rives, Sally M. Robertson, Ruth P. Rowe, and Jane Ruffin.

Also Edith Sanford, Felicia Ann Savedge, Barbara Ann Scott, Nellie Melba Scott, Gene Seymour, Alice Virginia Shackelford, Mary Preston Sheffey, Gloria Sheppard, Doris Hardy Smith, Margaret Etta Smith, Ann Lauretta Snyder, Mary Cornelia Spradlin, Martha Lynn Sprye, Gertrude Rugh Stables, Blanche Steele, Mary T. Sterrett, Helen B. Stites, Agnes B. Stokes, Catherine A. Stoner, Jeanne C. Strick, Frieda Sturman, Viola Mae Surring, Virginia Manget Terrell, Virginia E. Treakle, Sarah Trigg, Martha Ann Upshur, Viola Catherine Varner, Margaret V. Verell, and Mary Parrish Viccellio.

Also Mabel F. Waddell, Eleanor H. Wade, Margaret J. Walton, Martha E. Watkins, Betty Louise Watts, M. Virginia Watts, Nannie Ophelia Webb, Harriet R. Weger, Nancy Evelyn Whitehead, Mrs. Ann Hardy Williams, Mary Walker Williams, Sara Bird Williams, Mildred Louise Willson, Helen

Left Lead

With a sudden burst of something on the order of energy, the "Dusty Boots" lit out all over the ring last Friday, and Joyce really gave them the works. Jean Carter and Cindy tried a little bit of everything, but it was Cindy who took the fall. Jean Carter merely stepped on off, and things were well under control. Betty Ellis, at Joyce's instructions, found herself adjusting her sturrups, while Winnie kept up a steady trot all the way around the ring, and once she had them shortened, she had merely to let them down again, which wouldn't have been too hard a thing to do if the buckles had only been a little more cooperative. With Mary Sterrett racking Princess awhile, and Lucille Jones working out on MacArthur, the class was complete, and Ring-master Cheatwood put them through their paces. Pairs of riders practiced up with Cindy and Mac as partners, and Winnie doubled with Princess. The form was great for a start, and they looked good from the window. Then Mary galloped Winnie down the stretches much to the excitement of the varied audience, and the whole group cantered out the figure eight. Leads were changed and diagonals switched 'til horses as well as riders were even confused as to direction, and the baffled onlookers decided to adjourn until another class should appear.

Earlier in the week we Sarah Graham was the center of attraction. She was 'Way up there on Midnight, and the tractors in that new field didn't make Midnight any too happy. Sarah stayed in the saddle though, despite his unexpected leaps across the field and mad dashes down the beaten path, and we say, "More power to her!"

"Frog" earned for herself the new name of "Wrong-way Tomlinson", when she tried to get cooperation from Midnight. That horse is sadly misunderstood, anyhow, and he in turn, can't understand why he can't go anywhere he pleases in the ring. So it wasn't particularly unusual to see Froggy and Midnight cantering around the ring in one direction, only to run headon into everybody else going the other way! Try an apple. Frog. He responds to kindness.

One class got as far as the ring, and then Joyce was left holding all the horses while the frozen ones dashed into The Building for extra jackets. Upon their return to the field, they beheld Mr. Hallisy trotting around on Flicka . . . but he wouldn't trot for long. 'Twas his dinner hour. Don't we remember something about a contract between Mr. Hallisy and Mr. Myers and Mr. French There's onc-third of the situation, at least.

Margaret Bear was tearing around on Lindy's neck, too, for awhile. Someone should tell the child what the Saddle is for. And Kitty Wright was at it again, cantering for the first time and sitting like an expert. And among other beginners, we get a big kick out of little Jerry . . . mainly because little Jerry seems to set such a big kick out of the horses. And no pun intended!

There'll probably be even more beginners in the Spring quarter, but except for the sleet and ice we had Saturday, what Joyce says is something to think about. Come on out and try it now . . . look at the weather you're missing!

Pegasus

Garland Wilson, Mary Gladys Wilson, Betty Ann Wimbish, Annie B. Wiseman, Bette Jane Wood, Frances D. Wood, Betty Wyatt Woodward, Mary Franklin Woodward, Sarah S. Woodward, and Virginia L. Woodward.

RYTEX STATIONERY
$1.00 A BOX
Martin the Jeweler

Folk Dancing Requires Them Hence, the Change to Cottons

This isn't a Fashion Forecast or anything of the sort, so don't get real excited and dash after all your last year's summer dresses . . . unless you're taking a Folk Dancing class under Miss Kay. No. this is just an explanation on behalf of those enrolled in the suggested class above, and for the satisfaction of those lofty individuals who raise an eyebrow at the shivering ones who come dashing to supper on Mondays, Tuesdays, and Thursdays in everything from playsuits to pinafores. They are not really rushing the reason; it's just that our every-day all winter-long skirts and sweaters do NOT suit the mood of the lightness and gracefulness of Folk Dancing.

And maybe you don't think it's a relief to walk into the gym and be greeted by a large group of girls, refreshingly clad in their bright ginghams and cotton prints instead of plaid woolens and sloppy-knite pullovers. It does one's heart good to see the swirling skirts of blues and pinks and yellows and pale greens, and the slimness of the low waistlines again, and even though there are sweaters here and there for the sake of warmth, they, too, are usually in bright contrast and lively combinations, and they detract very little from the general summery air.

The classes themselves are the greatest fun ever. The music is light and tinkly and gay, and they dance to everything from "The Little Brown Jug" to the delightfullest or waltzes, while Miss K. (herself often clothed in the strange, becoming leotards of modern dance) calls the figures with a zest and a zip that brings forth the merriest of cooperation from the "swinging partnrs", and they promenade around the sets in unison and rhythm that the most successful of square dancers could envy.

And it is a lot like the good, old-time square dancing. A newcomer might wonder if told to "dotsey-doe to your corner", and even some of the veterans still wonder if it's "ottoman right" or "ollo-man right" . . . but at least they know how to do it, if not how to spell it. They go through all the stages from "down the center" to "waltz promenade", and with never a bungle! (?)

But anyhow, now you know, and if you're one of the faithful ones who glory in Saturday night's "Grand old Op'ry", head for the barn, gals, and you'll see a dance-group worth watching. But don't forget . . . discard that winter uniform first, and put on your flowered pinafore and all the white ruffles you want, 'cause as we said before, though this isn't a Fashion Forecast, it is something you can really look forward to, and pinafores always come in handy at the supper table, any time of the year!

College War Council

Continued from Page 1

ive Bradshaw are the student assistants.

The faculty also has been divided and will sit in on the various discussion groups.

Continuing the War Emphasis program will be a movie, "The Report From the Aleutians" at the State Theatre. It is the hope of the S. T. C. War Council that members of the student body will wait 'til tomorrow afternoon to see the picture currently showing at 3:45 at the State Theater, "Cold Acquaintance". This is to be the only showing of "The Report from the Aleutians' 'and will be shown for college students only.

At eight o'clock tomorrow night in the little auditorium, members of the debate club will discuss the question, "Resolved that the United States should cooperate in establishing and maintaining an international police force upon the defeat of the Axis."

In the debating round, Olive Bradshaw and Faith Weeks will take the affirmative side, and Jane Waring Ruffin and Betty Adams will take the negative side.

An additional feature of the War Emphasis Day program will be the various displays in the library from each of the departments.

War Effort Displays

Continued from Page 1

"The White Cliffs", "The Murder of Lidice", "They Burned the Books," "High Flight", and stories from war correspondents. The second part is dedicated to material on Basic English as a global language.

A number of posters showing the various works of the departments in the war effort come from the Business Education department.

The Geography display is composed of current books on the war displayed with posters and maps made in the department.

Collins Florist
FRESH FLOWERS
FOR ALL OCCASIONS

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR
DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

Tiger Five Defeats Pickett Team 32-31

Challenged by the 31st Division team for an off-schedule basketball game, the Tiger basketeers fought the soldiers to a 32-31 victory at Camp Pickett last Wednesday night.

Sparked by Bill Cantwell, the Bengals stayed in the lead all the way. The game was a rough and tumble one, but the Pickett team never caught up. Cantwell led the scoring with 11 points.

Richmond's team made good their invasion recently by defeating the Tigers 37-29. The Tigers kept ahead through the first half, but early in the second, the Spiders took the lead and ended the game eight points ahead.

Coach Summers announced last week that the clash with the University of Virginia will be postponed from January 19 to January 20.

—Courtesy H. S. Fore 'n' Aft

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
For any club meeting or gathering FRESH OLIVE-KIST COOKED NUTS from Newberry's is a welcome refreshment.

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on
Savings Deposits

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Bring Your Clothes
For Prompt Service
to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth
Our Representative

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

Greetings sports fans! Since the new year has started, let's hope that many of you are keeping those resolutions you made, and yours truly hopes they pertain to athletics. What we all need is more life in the out-of-doors, so let's make that a resolution if you haven't already done so.

Snow Bound

Sunday's snow brought forth lots of excitement, and made the usually dull afternoon a bright one. Snowballs flew through the air as the girls teamed up against each other, with a little help from either the army or the navy. Screams and squeals greeted the bystander's ear as a girl had her face washed, and snow put down her back for good measure.

Beside Junior building, a group of girls were seen sliding down the small hill in perfect contentment, on a borrowed sled. The finale came, when four of them went down at the same time, and landed in a heap in the middle of the street. Although the STC'ers can indulge in winter sports very seldom, when they do, they do it with the best of vim, vigor, and vitality.

Fin Fans

Do you swim? If so, you are definitely needed for your class team. Training has already started, but maybe if you hurry, you can still try out for the team. With such a nice pool as ours, it should be fun to swim the length of it, trying to improve your speed, rhythm, and power in the water.

There are probably quite a few of you girls who haven't been in the pool, so the next time there is a play night, come down and try it out. If you can't swim very well, you can always paddle in the shallow end. Gather up the gang, and try swimming for fun.

Free Throw

Every Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday afternoon, you can hear the basketballs bouncing up and down the courts in the gym. General practice has started, and many new faces have appeared on the courts this year. Old hands at the game, beginners who are trying hard, and girls who "have" to take it, can be seen running up and down the floor. From this group of girls will be picked the class and varsity teams.

Along with basketball, comes its sister volleyball. Of course they really aren't a bit alike, but we like to think so. These practices are held at night after supper, so those of you who haven't the time for basketball, trot down to the gym one night, and see if you don't like volleyball. It is really lots of fun, and a good game to get interested in.

Dosey-Do

Swing your partner! This call echoes through the gym, as Miss Emley Kauzlarich puts her square dance class through its paces each Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday afternoons. It is proving lots of fun for those who participate, and it really seems more like a social hour than a class period. Square dance comes from American folklore, and those who are learning to dance it now, are having as much fun as their great-grandmothers did.

With so many different kinds of activities to take up this quarter, we want to find every girl in school taking part in some of them. So long, and don't forget to stay in the game.

Dean's List

Continued from Page 1

Helen McGuire, Grundy; Lucy Manson, Virginia Beach; Sara Moling, Winchester; Harriette Moore, Gastonia, N. C.; Patricia Murray, Oakville, Ontario; Elizabeth Overcash, Hampden-Sydney; Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Roanoke; Mary Lee Pittard, Buffalo Junction; Jean Prosise, Wilson; Lorraine Raiford, Ivor; Sally Robertson, Lynchburg; Jane Ruffin, Holdcroft; Edith Sanford, Richmond; Barbara Ann Scott, Franklin; Gene Seymour, Brodnax; Josephine Shaffner, Hampton; and Mary Preston Sheffey, Marion.

Gloria Sheppard, Walkerton; Dorothy Sue Simmons, Fincastle; Mary Sterrett, Raphine; Margaret Stewart, Clinchport; Jeanne Strick, Farmville; Elizabeth Tennent, Hopewell; Sarah Trigg, Hopewell; Mary Parrish Viccellio, Chathan; Eleanor Wade, Charlottesville; Betty Louise Watts, Portsmouth; Nannie Webb, Ordinary; Ophelia Whittle, Petersburg; Mrs. Ann Hardy Williams, Blackstone; Sara Bird Williams, Woodstock; Mildred Wilson, Amelia; Helen Wilson, Petersburg; Mary Gladys Wilson, Bremo Bluff, and Mary Franklin Woodward, Barhamsville.

To be placed on the Dean's list, a student must be a junior or senior and must make B or higher on all work, with the exception of floor work in Physical Education, on which she must make a C or higher.

Visit us for the BEST SODA FOUNTAIN SERVICE
CHAPPELL'S

WE INVITE YOU TO SEE THE NEW SPRING DRESSES
—in—
WINTER WHITE
—and—
PASTEL SHADES
JUNIOR SIZES 9 to 17
Prices 7.95 - 8.95 & 10.95
Second Floor Elevator Service
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
FARMVILLE VIRGINIA

Renee, American Violinist, to Appear In Lyceum Entertainment Jan. 25

Joyce Renee, violinist, will appear in the college auditorium in another of the Artist Series of Lyceums Tuesday night, January 25, instead of the previously announced date, January 18.

Miss Renee is a graduate of the Cincinnati Conservatory of Music, where she was the youngest artist ever to have achieved the highest honor diploma in violin. She received her Bachelor of Music degree at the age of 17.

The young American violinist has studied in Paris with the noted composer-conductor, George Enesco. She is the holder of numerous national and international Fellowships, including the Julliard Graduate School, the Schmidlapp, and Fleishmann and Wooly International Scholarship.

Miss Renee has appeared in concerts and as soloist with symphony orchestra, and recently she has appeared for men and women in the armed forces, in Army and Navy hospitals, Casualty hospital, the Stage Door Canteen, and Merchant Marine Canteens. Her war work has also included appearances for the British, French, and Russian War Relief and for the Red Cross.

JOYCE RENEE

S. T. C. Alumna Goes To Washington State

Miss Charlotte Crawley has resigned as head of the licensing division of the Children's Bureau of the State Welfare Department, effective Feb. 15, to accept a position with the Tacoma and Pierce counties welfare department in the State of Washington. Miss Crawley, a native of Hickory, N. C., was educated at the Farmville State Teachers College, the University of Virginia, and received her master's degree in social service administration from the University of Chicago.

23 Practice Teach At High School

Twenty-three seniors are doing practice teaching at the Farmville High School during the winter quarter, Dr. John P. Wynne, director of teacher- training, has announced.

Bernice Copenhaver is teaching sicence under Miss McCraw and English under Miss Bondurant.

Teaching English under Mrs. Little are Helen Shaw, who also teaches it under Mrs. Davis, and Carolyn Early, who also teaches biology under Mrs. Brooks. Sara Jeffreys teaches history under Mrs. Little and chemistry under Mrs. Brooks.

Teaching English under Miss Conson and Latin under Mrs. Coon is Frances Lee Hawthorne.

Darnell Whitby is teaching algebra under Mrs. Driscoll and biology under Mrs. Brooks. Betty Albright is teaching alegebra and plane geometry under Mrs. Driscoll.

Katherine Johnson is teaching English under Miss Bondurant and Latin under Mrs. Coon. Also teaching English and journalism under Miss Bondurant is Jane Smith.

Teaching in the Commercial department under Mrs. Witcher are Anne Leatherby, Jane Ford, Virginia Seward, Caroline Cardwell, Virginia Trear, Hannah Lee Crawford, and Faye Nimmo.

Sarah Wayne France is teaching mathematics under Miss Porter, and Jeanne Strick and Mildred Wilson are teaching English under Mrs. Davis.

Lois Alpin, Margaret Morgan, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, and Frances Strohecker are teaching home economics under Miss Simpson.

Governor Requests $125,000 STC Fund For New Buildings

In a 6,000-word message, on Monday, Governor Darden recommended an appropriation of $2,200,000 for new State facilities for vocational training to be designated by the State Department of Education in various sections of the state.

"The necessary of expanding our vocational training program in the State", the Governor said, "has been demonstrated in recent years by the shortage of skilled labor in nearly every trade, craft, and art. We are now and shall continue to provide reasonably adequate higher educational facilities for the boys and girls graduated from our high schools. But we have for some time recognized a defficiency in facilities for training our young men and women in various vocations which are indispensible in our present economic and social system."

Comin' 'n' Goin'

By PAT MADDOX

"Rain, rain go away — come again another day". Many a Farmville girl was singing this old refrain this week end, when rain, snow, sleet and slush combined to make it, if nothing else, slightly on the damp side. Most of us, like our feline friends, spent Saturday and Sunday contentedly toasting our toes by the radiator with a good book or knitting for company. However, a few hardy souls braved storm and cold to seek excitement in other quarters.

Richmond drew the largest number of STC visitors, by virtue of the Jose Iturbi-Hans Kindler concert, held Sunday afternoon. Among the listeners were: Margaret Ebersold, Lucy Bralley, Freddie Ann Butt, Julia Eason, Betty Bridgeforth, Nancy Blair, Pauline Barnes, Mary Crank, Jane Danby, Mae Derieux, Evelyn Goodman, Lillian Goddin, Caroline Huddle, Virginia Naylor, Gloria Rodgers, Jane Rowe, Frances Satterfield, Margaret Thomas, Martha Lee White, Virginia Fry Terrell, Pat McLear, Catherine Williams, and Anne Dickinson.

Home to Charlottesville for a brief rest went Eleanor Wade and Anne Jones, taking with them Margaret Harvie and Jac Parden, while to Ashland for the RMC dances went Betty Harville, Anne Tucker, Betty Minitree, Doris, and Martha Wells.

To Death Valley for the week end went Anne Summers, Agnes Stokes, Pogie Massie, Betsy Fox, Betty Overcash, Dotty Overcash, and Lucille Lewis, while Cab Overbey, Kitty Parham, Helen Anne Reese, Julia Messick, and Jane Ford were to be found in Petersburg.

Most exciting trip of the week, however, was made by Naomi Major, who journeyed home to Clifton Forge, where she was married to a handsome Marine Corps Lieut. Sunday.

Letters to Editor

Continued from Page 3

mist", we merely ask for their cooperation, if they would fall in line, and find something constructive to do, they wouldn't have time to gripe. Moreover, that would find that after all, they really don't have anything to gripe about.

Let's have less griping and more cooperation!

Student

The Governor pointed out that during the past two years little or no construction had taken place, and he asked reappropriation of funds for capital outlays authorized in 1942 but not yet spent. He requested release of funds for all capital outlays be made subject to certification by the Governor that each release will not interfere with the war effort.

Included in the 1942 appropriations asked reappropriated, is the sum of $7,500 for sprinkler systems at the Farmville State Teachers College, and $175,000 for a science hall. These items were held up because of the scarcity of materials.

Make, Wear, Wash With Ease, Joy: They're Sweaters

This is an ode to sweaters; the most important items in college wardrobes—not to all sweaters but to the particular brand of slip over boxy sweaters the high school and college girls over America wear with such easy grace. No one seems to know who thought of the idea. Perhaps it just happened when some amateur knitter forget to decrease the proper number of stitches for fitting and someone awoke to the possibilities of a drape shape sweater. Suddenly one fall everyone wanted "Sloppy Joe's—the bigger the better. Since that day they have been modified and improved and look much less like tow socks.

With the addition of a childish round collar, a sweater can look as naive as a pinafore but collarless and with costume jewelry added even have sophistication plus. They are suitable for wearing under suits for a dash of color and extra heat value and can be worn over tailored dresses those nippy spring and summer nights.

They are easily washable once you catch on to the know-how. Shaping and drying them on a stretcher helps hold their shape even if you do have to duck under the stretcher every time you comb your hair. Their most wonderful characteristic is the fact that you can knit your own with little experience. Most people seem to knit them small, for the first time you wash them, you have three times as much sweater as you had before.

If you have time to look for them, you can find them in all colors and varieties. They are fun to wear and last forever with a little care.

Snow Battles

Continued from Page 1

foot of the hill, and with all other ideas exhausted, the low-landers timidly offered their mild suggestions.

"C'mon down here in the street and run with the sled and then jump on it, and you can coast down to the end of the snow . . . watch!" and sure enough, off they flew, scuttling along over-top the flat, icy surface with just as much noise and excitement as if they had been descending from an altitude of 5,000,000 feet above sea-level . . . and the Gang wasn't too long in following suit.

As the afternoon progressed, so did the number of Riders-at-our time, 'til before long they were going along at top speed, three, four, and five deep atop the staggering sled, and practically having to run into the fire-plug to stop at the end of the line. Of course they toppled off sometimes, and of course the bare knees got frost-bitten and the snow melted into ice-water inside their rubber boots, but 'twas great sport, and no joke. Even the offish males were lured forth again, and down they went, khaki legs waving and kicking in mid-air, mingled with the bell-bottomed trousers of the Navy and a glorious time was had by all.

But the Army-Navy - Civilian ideas started bungling again, and it wasn't long before the snowballs were flying again, thick and fast and furious. The girls joined forces with their favorite branch of service, and there was no stopping them 'til the supper bell clanged insistently. Even the innocent on-lookers were showered if they dared open their grandstand windows even an inch too far, and the greater number of participants are still thawing out.

It's fun to revert to childhood days and not care what who thinks. The boys and girls were having the time of their lives that afternoon, and it was surely good clean fun. When College students can be that hilariously happy together, it's worth taking time out from an afternoon of added study. And if anybody thinks it's undignified or upbraidable . . . just send 'em over at the next few inches of snow, and we'll show 'em what we mean. They would not be expected to know it, but there's more than one way to get your face washed!

Yankee Lieutenant in Britain Finds Children Interesting

By BETTY BIBB

All of us have a man somewhere who is very near and dear to us. We are always interested in their every move though usualy we don't know where they are. Shangri-la is all they can write. Sometimes, and I do mean seldom, we get a little information that the censor feels wouldn't harm anyone.

This happened to Ann Savedge, who writes to a guy in England. Ann graciously let me read the letters of Lieutenant James Law, and he tells a little of the life of an American pilot in England.

It is very obvious that Lt. Law swells with pride when you mention the 100th Bomber Group. He says it's very famous and they're working to keep up their good record.

It's hard to picture a dignified Air Corp Lieutenant gaily riding down a muddy road on flimsy bicycle, but that's a prime necessity for the pilots. Lt. Law's friend, "Smitty", really raised a rumpus, because he parked his bike too close to the little stove one night and woke up to have to fix a popped tire.

Books are very popular, and the next favorite pasttime is "shooting the breeze". While he was writing one letter, the current discussion was "The Prodigal Women." AHEM!

Lt. Law is very amused over the English children. He says, "The English kids are pretty funny. They always greet us with 'Sir, have you got any old American coins or old American Chewing gum?'—I don't think they ever tasted chewing gum until the U. S. Forces came over".

If you gals are glad to see someone from home when you're away at school, think how you must feel 'way across the ocean. Lt. Law met a pilot from Virginia who knew all the "ropes" and helped him a great deal, with authenic inside dope.

This dope helped a lot in every mission, Lt. Law writes, "Well, we've been on a raid (or mission, as the Air Force insists it should be called). However, I can't tell you much about it. (When, how, or how many) except that it was not too bad. (At least as bad as it had been pictured.)"

He enclosed some clippings from an English newspaper. They report the action much as American papers do. Dated December 21, 1943, one paper reads:

"Escorted all the way by fighters, the USAAF heavy bombers slugged straight through the 400 miles to Bremen despite the swarms of Nazi interceptors which the Luftwaffe threw up in a vain effort to halt the sixth major U. S. bombing attack from Britain this month.

Twenty-five bombers, five American fighters and three Spitfires, which carried out diversionary sweeps, were reported missing from the day's operations. Bomber gunners claimed 21 enemy aircrafts destroyed; American fighter pilots were credited with 19 victims."

As we read we see words and statistics; as some read they see the end of a life; someone they had lived and loved with. There is a dull ache where there once was a flame of hope.

Yet they carry on joking, grinning, tough to the fact that their best buddy just went down over Augsburg, perhaps.

Well, if they can carry on, so can we. As War Emphasis Day ends, let our renewed vows begin, not to help just when they ask us especially, but every day in the year. Buy your man a ticket home!!!

SAZARAC
by Mary Muffet

$22.98

Potent loveliness in SAZARAC. Luscious trapunto embroidery embellishes front and back. Fall pastels in 100% sheer wool. 9-15

BALDWIN'S

Valentine Greetings

For Your Friends

IN THE SERVICE

ROSE'S

5-10-25c Stores

Farmville's Most Popular Store

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

DELICIOUS

SANDWICHES

College Shoppe

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

Latest styles in stationery

Quality—Price—Service

For the best hot cakes and waffles be sure to go to

SHANNON'S

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

Kodak Films

Printed and Developed

25c Entire Roll

Southside Drug Store

Patronize

PATTERSONS

The Complete Drug Store

MONTAGUE STATIONERY

WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-

WORTH CANDIES

UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE

PRESCRIPTIONS

A SPECIALTY

Patterson Drug Co.

238 MAIN ST.

JUST RECEIVED . . .

NEW SHIPMENT OF SKIRTS AND SWEATERS

4.95—7.95

DOROTHY MAY STORE

CONGRATULATIONS
PI GAMMA MU
MEMBERS

The Rotunda

CONTRIBUTE
TO
MARCH OF DIMES

VOLUME XXIII | FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, JAN. 26, 1944 | No. 14

Virginia Mae Ellett to Reign Over Mardi Gras

NEA Prexy Honored By Kappa Delta Pi

Joynes To Be Initiated Here

Mrs. Edith B. Joynes, president of the National Education Association, will be initiated as an honorary member of Beta Epsilon Chapter of Kappa Delta Pi, national honorary society in education, on this campus Saturday night, January 29. Mrs. Joynes was elected to membership in the local chapter last fall.

Following the initiation there will be a reception in Student Building Lounge in honor of Mrs.

MRS EDITH B. JOYNES

Joynes. Guests at the reception will be the faculty and administration, all P. T. A. and A. C. E. members, Dr. and Mrs. Edgar Gammon, from Hampden-Sydney, and two members from each of the other honor societies on campus. The list of invited students was revealed this week by Mary Moore McCorkie, president, and includes Mary Evelyn Pearsall and Ella Banks Weathers, from Alpha Kappa Gamma; Lucille Jennings and Virginia Lee Abernathy from Beore Eh Thorn; Jean Arington and Sara Bird Williams from Gamma Psi; Marilyn Bell from Pi Kappa Delta; Margie Lee Culley and Margaret Barksdale from Sig-

Continued on Page 3

Gaines' Portrait Added To Library

Former Biology Teacher Honored

Miss Bessie Venable Gaines portrait has recently been added to the Library's collection of outstanding people who have been connected with STC during its history.

Former faculty member, Miss Gaines was born at "Do Well," her family plantation in Charlotte County in 1860. She was educated at home by private tutors and at the Richmond Female Seminary. In 1882 she began a teaching career in private schools in Kentucky. The citizens of Owensboro in that state offered to build her a young ladies seminary, but she preferred to enter Vassar College as a student.

After one year at this famous New York College she came to Farmville as Professor of Biology. Three years later she became head of the Biology Department at Adelphis College in Brooklyn, N. Y., and remained there for twenty years. Her teaching career was mixed with varied studies at Vassar, Adelphi, the Massachusett Institute of Technology and Columbia, Chicago and Cornell Universities, and by researches at the Biological Laboratories at Woods Hale, Mass., and at Cold Harbor, Long Island.

In 1916 Miss Gaines retired to "Do-Well", where she spent the rest of her life in managing her lands and participating in the religions, cultural and social life of her community.

Dr. Simpkins has been working for some time on a series of articles about the people of whom portraits have been hung in the Library.

They are of Elizabeth Gaines, Thomas Eason, Estelle Smithey, William, Henry Ruffner, John A. Cunningham, J. L. M. Curry, Robert Frazer, James Nelson, Portia Lee Morrison, Celestia Susannah Parrish, and our present president, Joseph Leonard Jarman.

Pi Gamma Mu Bids Issued This Week To Upperclassmen

Sixteen bids to membership in Pi Gamma Mu, national social science honor society, went out last week to juniors and seniors, Frances Craddock, president, has announced.

Students receiving bids were Caroline Cardwell, New Castle; Patsy Connelly, Lebannon; Hannah Lee Crawford, Farmville; Betsy Fox, Danville; Nancy Harrell, Emporia; Caroline Huddle, Farmville; Nancy Hutter, Lynchburg; and Edith Jones, Halland.

Also Helen McGuire, Grundy; Patricia Murray, Canada; Jean Prosise, Wilson; Jane Waring Ruffin, Charles City County; Josephine Shaffner, Hampton; Jane Smith, Franklin; Mary Sterrett, Raphine; and Jeanne Strick, Farmville.

The purpose of Pi Gamma Mu is to further the scientific study of the problems of social science. In addition to a high standard of general scholarship required for entrance, each member must show an outstanding interest in the social sciences and must carry on while a member of the society a piece of origina work in some of the social sciences.

College Choir Gives Third Concert Today In Student Chapel

Continuing the programs given by the College Choir and the Choral Club, the third in a series of programs was presented this morning in chapel at which time the two organizations sang two of the twenty-four hymns that are to be presented in a brochure with annotations by Dr. J. E. Walmsley.

Added to the program were a solo by Patricia Maddox and a piano solo by Alfred H. Strick.

On January 30, the Choral Club will give the second of a series in the Methodist Church at which time Kipling's "Recessional" will be sung by the group. Anne Blair and Lois Meekins will render solos, and Dr. Walmsley will again review the hymns.

The service will be conducted by the Rev. Conrad Blackwell, pastor of the Methodist Church.

March of Dimes Drive Begins Here Monday

Starting January 24, and continuing through January 28, the annual March of Dimes drive will be sponsored on the campus.

The annual drive is in commemoration of the President's birthday, and the money will be used to help relieve infantile paralysis victims throughout the country and to prevent the spread of polio.

Each student will be asked to help by joining the March of Dimes. The class presidents will appoint committees to help carry out the drive, and the box will be placed on he table in the hall.

Sophomores To Give Dance on May Day

A May Day dance will be sponsored by the sophomore class instead of the annual dramatic production, Eleanor Bisese, president, has announced.

Lucie Harvey has been named chairman of the dance, and plans are being made to secure an orchestra.

Virginia Mae Ellett. Mardi Gras Queen

Court Comprised Of Eight Students For February 19

Virginia Mae Ellett, senior from Crewe was elected to reign over the annual Mardi Gras celebration on this campus, scheduled to be this year on Saturday, February 19, on Monday of this week.

Included in the court elected at the same time are two seniors, Jean Arington, Lynchburg; Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Roanoke; three juniors, Ann Blair, Portemouth; Betsy Caldwell, Sweet Briar; and Marilyn Johnson, Roanoke; two sophomores, Jane Crump, Hopewell; and Minnie Lee Crumpler, Suffolk; and one freshman, Mary Agnes Sheffield, Victoria.

Virginia Mae, better known on this campus as "Twitch", is president of the Cotillion Club, a member of Orchesis, and this year's May Day chairman.

Other girls in the court have been active in student affairs during their years in college and were selected from a list nominated by a committee of Pi Gamma Mu members, the classmen of each class, and one faculty adviser from Pi Gamma Mu.

The Mardi Gras dance, sponsored on this campus each year by Pi Gamma Mu is the sole masked ball of the year. This year details for the annual affair include several new twists which will be announced in next week's Rotunda.

Freshmen Sign Up For YWCA Work

Girls Given Chance For Work of Choice

On Monday, January 24, the freshmen signed for the YWCA committees on which they will work.

On the Church Cooperative committee will work Betty Lewis and Nola Brisentine.

Aline Alphin, Evelyn Cole, Mary Lee Dickerson, Luverta Joyner, Doris Newton, and Elizabeth Terry are on the Publicity committee.

Choosing the Music committee were Anne Bill, Dorothy Bennett, Jeanne Button, Margaret Crawley, Louise Cregar, Betty Critz, LaVaunne Curtis, Jean Elmore, Julia Foster, Louise Harrell, Elizabeth Meeks, Lillian Smith, Sydnor Johnson, Virginia Thompson, Mary Wyatt, and Constance Young.

On the Public Affairs committee will serve Virgoinia Anderson, Nancy Lee Barrett, Martha Russell East, Mary Glass, Ann Houser, Lois Kavarough, Louise Rives.

Continued on Page 4

Students Make Goal In War Chest Drive

Proceeds for the War Welfare Campus Cest Drive to date amount to over $1,000; however, all pledges have not yet been received. The total amount collected will be announced at a later date with expectations of fulfilling a goal of $1,500. The goal per student of $1.00, however, has been attained and excelled.

The War Welfare Drive was opened on the campus January 12 by a chapel skit and a talk by Faye Byrd Johnson. Continuing the drive, Mr. M. Boyd Coyner, professor of psychology, made an appeal to the students on Thursday in chapel, and Mrs. Sophie Packer, resident nurse, stressed the importance of Red Cross work both on the homefront and on the battlefront in her talk to the student body on January 17. The drive came to a climax with a final canvassing of the dormitory halls Wednesday night, January 19, after a day of war emphasis.

Juniors to Present Club '45 Feb. 2

Theme Given Class By Sisters of '43

The annual production of Club '45, will be presented by the junior class, February 2, in the Rec. Marilyn Bell, chairman, has announced.

This theme was handed down from the class of 1943 and will in turn be given to the class of '47. The idea is centered around a night club or cabaret.

Ann Blair and Carol Diggs are in charge of the staging, and Virginia Terrell will head the advertising. Alice Lee Davis is in charge of the food, which will, as usual, be sold.

Crenshaw To Teach Baptist Young People

Versil Crenshaw, field secretary for Virginia Baptist Training Union, will be in Farmville January 30 to February 4, teaching a course for young people.

Mr. Crenshaw's series of discussions will be at the Baptist Church at 8 o'clock each evening through Friday on the subject, "Planning a Life".

Mr. Crenshaw has had much eyperience with young people, having worked with them for a number of years.

All students are invited to attend these discussions.

Violinist Backstage Reveals Partiality for Spanish Music

There was a mad rush to the stage. The concert was over—but the rush had just begun. Autograph collectors, just plain backstage Johnnies, and Rotunda reporters (that's us) were seen handing programs over to Miss Renee, guest violinist of the evening and Miss Hansen, her accompanist, for their signatures.

The questions came thick and fast. (If we could read our shorthand back, it might help). First we talked to Miss Evelyn Hansen about superstitions. "Beware of number thirteen", she told us confidentially.

"We had rooms 411 and 413 over at the hotel tonight—so I took 411—but don't tell the violinist - - and when I left Europe we left from Pier 13. It was really a dull trip—dimmed out lights, tired school teachers coming home." Then Miss Renee broke in.

"That's where we met in Paris. It was really the funniest thing that's almost ever happened to me. It was my first night in Paris. Mother had arranged for me to stay at the ultra-respectable British - American Club. So a friend and I decided to do the town before I reported. I came in at 1:30. The night matron flicked on the lights just long enough for me to get upstairs. Then off they went. I stumbled around in an unfamiliar room. Oh, for a light. So I tried the hall—just a faint beam would do. I found a button and pushed—It was the fire alarm!! There was plenty of light and Miss Hansen rushed in to find me fully clothed under the covers. That's how we met."

Miss Renee is a native of Cincinatti, Ohio, went to the conservatory there, and later studied in New York and Europe. The outbreak of the war found her in Paris. When she came back to this country she began appearing at entertainments for service men in camp, at the Stage Door Canteen and at many of the great army and navy hospitals.

Still bursting with energy and friendliness after her concert although the hour was late, and she

Continued on Page 3

WACs Unravel Thrilling Tales, Spend Night in STC Dormitory

By KATHRYN HUTCHINSON

"My, they sho' does look neat." It may have been Elizabeth or Mattie or Sarah who said it, but it could apply only to the three Wacs who appeared in the dining hall, neat and trim at breakfast on Saturday morning. Yes, they'd spent the night at S. T. C. And this is how it all come about.

Friday morning in chapel we heard Lt. Graas speak on the WAC. The keynote of her talk, and the keynote of her reason for serving today in the WAC was:

"Thank God, we have our opportunity to serve."

Lt. Graas gave a few details about life in the WAC, but she particularly emphasized the opportunity given to the women of today to serve in the most direct manner possible—an opportunity never before offered to women.

All this roused our interest—and we positively bounded down to the Post Office to interview the officer and learn more. Then, we were conspiring on how we could get an airplane ride out of the deal. We were seeding headlines—"Staff Gains Altitude," "Staff Rises to Height of Inspiration". But I might as well tell you right now that you have to be twenty and really interested in joining the WAC (not tomorrow, not next year—but today) to get that coveted airplane ride. Too bad, girls, we were disappointed, too.

However, as we hurried off to keep our appointment at the P. O. we were worried—what should we ask them? Would they object to frivolous questions? But we needn't have worried. The conversation sounded like old home week at S T. C.

"Oh, you're from Wisconsin—you talk just like Mrs. Hallisy does."

"Yes, I knew her—over at the drugstore, wasn't she?"

"Have you ever been stationed at Langley Field?"

"Or Norfok?"

"Or Hampton?"

At last we straightened out relationships and plunged on—

"Is it fun?" There was a chorus of yeses.

"If you want to live fully in one year—go into WAC Recruiting."

"Just take the time we were sailing along the right highway trying to get from Emporia to Victoria—and ended up in North Carolina."

"We were just going in the wrong direction."

"Or the time the woman rushed up with the crying baby when I

Continued on Page 3

War Day Program Challenges Students

Will we as students of America be more conscious of the conflict in which we are engaged as a result of our War Emphasis program sponsored by the College War Council? Will we be more willing to give our time and money that they may live and return to a world at peace?

Certainly after a day of emphasis on our four theaters of war—South Pacific, British Empire, Far East, and Europe—with the history, geography, and present status of the battlefronts, we have more facts on which to base intelligent thinking. Is it not the organization of facts that help us to think and plan for postwar reconstruction? We, as college students of today and community leaders of tomorrow must be prepared to help build a world of which we shall all be proud.

Let us remember that we are serving our country in the best way possible as we stay here to develop our minds and to broaden our viewpoints. It is true that the fabulous sums paid to all girls regardless of ability are tempting, but even more attractive to us should be the chance for personal development that we may go out to serve with a degree in our hands and a mind capable of thinking.

Yes, there are opportunities on this campus for service. We are familiar with the motto, "Back the Attack," but are we really backing it with every spare penny, nickel, or dime that we have? Are we remembering that we might roll bandages here at college that will save the lives of our fathers, brothers, friends and sweethearts? Are we willing to do our part in the U. S. O. functions carried on by the college to make those men in the uniform of the country feel that they are serving us and in turn we want to help serve them?

May we, as a student body, join in expressing our appreciation to the members of the College War Council who made it possible for us to have a day of war emphasis. Also, our thanks go to the administration for granting us a day and to the faculty for helping to direct our thinking. Last but not least, our appreciation does to every student who helped to make us more conscious of the global situation.

Yes, students, War Emphasis Day is now a past event, but may the spirit of this day live on!

—V. T.

In charge of this issue:
VIRGINIA TREAKLE

THE ROTUNDA
Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors
VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEFEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers
MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors
SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants
Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overcash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants
Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis, Catherine Trower, Betty Woodward.

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 26, 1944

To War Council: Our Thanks for the Flag

For several years and particularly since the war began, there have been numerous requests from members of the student body for a United States flag to be placed in the auditorium. Last week these requests were complied with and a lovely flag for the chapel stage was presented to the students by the College War Council.

The Rotunda would like to express its appreciation to the members of the War Council who were in charge of raising funds for the flag, and to all those who contributed by purchasing stamps at the "Family Faculty Album."

Not only will the flag be a proud symbol of the love of each student for her country, but it will also be a daily reminder to each girl that she has a responsibility to it and to her country. If we remember his as we pledge allegiance to it, the new flag should help make better patriots of us all.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

In a surprise movement, American and British troops landed with very little opposition on the beaches south of Rome and moved inland. This outflanked the "Gustav" and "Adolf Hitler" defense lines. At the same time, the Fifth Army land offensive attacked the German Tenth Army and kept them completely occupied. There is a possibility that the Tenth Army will be cut off from Rome and will have no line of supplies for retreat. Then the road to Rome would be practically undefended, and the progress of the Allies in Italy will be much more rapid.

* * * * *

The Russians have captured one of Leningrad's two railroads to Moscow and have pushed toward the railway center of Krasnogvardeish, 25 miles southwest of Leningrad. This city controls all the German held lines into the Leningrad area. The largest one-day total of victories in this campaign wre made when 70 towns were captured in a single day.

* * * * *

Madgeburg, a German rail junction and industrial center, was bombed by approximately 3000 Allied planes, and left in flames. At the same time, a smaller raid was made on Berlin. Also, the same night German planes started toward Britain, but only 30 got there and 10 of these were shot down.

* * * * *

The Australians have started toward Bogadjini, a Japanese coastal base up the Fara River. A new attack has been made on the airport near Rabaul, New Britain. The Japanese shipping routes continues to be attacked.

* * * *

The Aleutian base at Kurile was used to make an attack on Paramuchiro. This indicates that the Allies have complete control of the North Pacific and the best equipment is available to the flyer. It is another pincer toward the Japanese homeland.

* * * *

The Democratic National Committee decided to hold their convention in Chicago and then turned the meeting into a rally for a fourth- term for President Roosevelt. A resolution was passed which was short of a plea for Mr. Roosevelt to run again.

The Music Stopped

But We Talked On

Especially about one Frank Sinotra and one Eleanor Bisese, who, when she heard him sing, let out a scream similar to one who is being murdered!

Is it really true that Charlie Burger is becoming a permanent part of STC's make-up?

Margaret Orange and Philhower are heard now singing there'll always be a VPI—war or no war. After last week end, girls, we believe it, too.

There can once more be peace in the suite—Alice heard from Bus—first time for 4 days!

Talking about buses—between them, Saturday night, the dining room was favored for a few short minutes by the visit of Myrtle Lee Holt and Becky Lacy.

Wonder if all those smiles of Jane Ruffin's last week were due to the return of one Louis? It seems very logical.

Even though everybody misses Lillian Goddin, we are all envious at the divine time she must be having with Dickie in Richmond. He was on campus last Monday and STC approes, Lillian.

How would you like to yell out in the hall, "Sandwiches for Sale" only to turn around and see the boy you thought you left home standing there to purchase something you'd cooked? For the more thrilling details go to "Prunella"!

Higgins had better watch Roland. Whenever a man had rather take a car-load of girls instead of one, somebody's taking an awful chance. However, maybe she knows what she's doing!

How did you find Richmond and Charles, Betsy? Please note her third finger, left hand. A change in setting is always interesting!

At last, Twitch has brought her much talked about man to light. Pretty nice picking.

What happened to Squeaky Ann?

Brickbats to girls who do their letter writing in the home office.

Nancy Hutter would like to clarify the minds of many. She did not have the measles!

When it gets so bad Nell Holloway can't talk, it must be bad However, that's exactly what a telegram from the Braxton did to her. Well, after all, he was coming. That's enough to create a revolution, especially with his new commission.

What was that you were singing, Martha Russell — "There's Something About A Marine"?

The music has started — Shall we dance?

the "Y"

The Freshmen signed up to work on "Y" committees Monday morning. Regular committees will meet tonight (Wednesday). An orientation meeting of the Fresh-committee members will be held next Wednesday, February 2, at 10 P. M. The Freshman "Y" Club program last Thursday night proved so successful that they were asked to repeat it in Sing.

The regular Union Sunday School Service will be held next Sunday, January 30, at the Baptist Church. The speaker will be announced at a later date.

The Public Affairs Committee reports that the students have contributed over a $1000 in the War Welfare Drive. The $1,500 mark is expected to be reached!

Louise Bell and Mary Elizabeth Grizzard represented STC at the Methodist Student Conference of colleges in Southern Virginia last week end at Radford. The Methodist state representative was invited to Farmville sometime during February.

Mr. Crenshaw will be at the Baptist Church beginning Sunday, January 20, to lead a study course.

The Baptist Sunday School was host at a party last Saturday night at the church. Navy recruits were invited from Hampden-Sydney. A good time was reported by all who attended.

The choir presented a program this morning in chapel under the sponsorship of the "Y".

Don't forget that the Browsing Room of the Library is open every Sunday afternoon from 2:30 until 4:30 for your enjoyment.

Continued on Page 3

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

High on a Tunisian cliff a Free French soldier lay wounded. A litter squad started up. Enemy bullets spatted against the cliff. The squad went on. In a whining hail of lead they brought their ally down. For that exploit Staff Sergeant Roy L. Bates of Fairfield, Ill., and Privates Hobert Branscum of Delta, Ky., Anthony P. Coll of Johnstown, Pa., and William B. Griffin of Sylvester, Texas, won Silver Stars. They deserve your War Bond backing.

Letters to Editor:

Dear Editor,

In your paper last week a reader wrote, "Just what is accomplished by a class production only the gods can tell us." Well, call me Jupiter, Juno, Mars, or what have you, because I intend to tell you.

No chairmen have been reported by the nurse as victims of the "tears", "backache", and "weak knees" that our objector refers to. In fact, I am in perfectly good health after the junior circus stunt, and I expect to suffer no mental or physical collapse following Club '45. Allowing for some agitation which occurs in every project (NO exception), the members of a production act unusually civiilized; and believe it or not, do scratch one another's eyes out when "everybody gets mad" as the reader stated.

"Then, of course, there is the advantage of making money—the fact that as much is spent as is made is beside the point" she adds. Let's get our facts straight. $62.69 was cleared on last year's sophomore production.

No "fun measuring machine has been invented" for gauging fun, except perhaps the laughs from a funny skit, the enjoyment of a song well rendered, or the appreciation of listetning to a dramatic skit such as the reading of the White Cliffs in last year's sophomore production.

It is a definite preparation for more important staging in the future. There are little lessons like learning cues, knowing when to pull a curtain and when to use a spotlight, and how to cooperate in a smooth performance. Undoubtedly these lessons are invaluable in a broader sense for future life. And there are a great many people who want to learn them. "May I help?" "I'll do anything". These are the things that are said to me uncountable times.

Yet productions are called a "useless tradition" by one who has very evidently done little with them, and knows even less about how it is actually done. Thank goodness there are some of us left who aren't "so above it all" that we can still enjoy a song and dance routine, and a few jokes (corny or otherwise.) Incidentally, good old Americans still thrive on "corn."

In times of war entertainment, amateur or professional, helps to lift spirits, even for "15 minutes," and never has there been a time when our spirits needed lifting so

From one who doesn't mind mixing with her class and learning to know them better, and having fun while working, I am a supporter of productions.

"Just where a production comes in is not quite evident," our objector concludes. Well, I'll make it evident. There's a production coming on February 2. See you at Club '45.

Sincrely,
Marlyn Bell,
Chairman of the junior production

Dear Editor,

We, the cabinet of the YWCA and the members of the Public Affairs Committee, wish to take this means of thanking you, faculty and students, for your cooperation in the War Welfare Drive. It has been through your liberal contributions that all have been able to reach our goal and we thank you.

To those of you, faculty and students, who gave in addition to your money, your time and effort to speak in chapel and help otherwise with the campaign, we should like to express our appreciation. We are proud to say that we have raised more this year than ever before for this worthy cause, and we especially appreciate your spirit and cooperation in making the Drive such a success.

Sincerely,
Frances Lee Hawthorne

Reporter Delves Into Realms Of Intricate Tobacco Sale

By BETTY BIBB

Have you ever wondered what went on before you could blow those smoke rings that you just proudly learned to expel? Yes, you know the general idea, but have you ever seen any of the complicated processes that go on, before you're sold a pack of slender, white cigarettes? The nearest most of us have been to a tobacco auctioneer is listening to the "Hit Parade". Monday we found out just "What gives" at a tobacco auction.

This is it: You walk (or sneak because you don't know if women are allowed) into a long spacious warehouse. There is a general hub-bub of voices, carts, and boxes falling. The voice you notice first is the auctioneer's. Who is chanting away just as the guy on the radio does. What he is really saying is the price of the tobacco, as the bids are made. He walks down rows of flat trays or baskets, filled with bundles of nine or ten leaves of tobacco. The tobacco on sale Monday was flute, or chewing tobacco. Some of the leaves were golden, others dull brown. The sellers get rid of their best tobacco first.

The procession going up and down the aisles of baskets consists of a lot of men, each with a definite purpose. The men ahead of the auctioneer are buyers from different corporations and the warehouse manager. They look over the tobacco which has been graded, and make their bids.

The auctioneer dingles from 28 to 29, and sings on, until the bid reaches as high as he thinks it will go. An example: 52 lbs sold for $30 or 32c a lb. He picks up a white slip, which has the sellers initials on it. The price and name are recorded by the next man in line. The men move on

Continued on Page 4

Orchesis, Honorary Dance Group, Bids 2 Seniors, 9 Sophs, Frosh

Recital Slated February 4

Twelve students received bids last week to Orchesis, honorary dance group, Ruth Dugger, president, recently announced.

Those receiving bids are Mildred Corvin, senior from Crewe; Mary Crank, sophomore from Richmond; Shirley Cruser, sophomore from Norfolk; Barbara Dickinson, senior from Roanoke; Earlene Kimmerling, sophomore from Roanoke; Frances Lee, sophomore from Richmond; and Lucy McKenry, sophomore from Manassas.

Also Jean Parry, sophomore from Farmville; Nell Scott, sophomore from Stuart; Nancy Whitehead, freshman from Kecoughton; Ester Shevick, sophomore from Richmond; and Frances Satterfield, sophomore from Richmond.

These girls will serve a period of apprenticeship in the organization, and have been selected from those girls taking modern dance.

Plans are well under way for the annual Orchesis recital to be given on Friday night, February 4.

Scene from Swimming Pool

17 Practice For Swimming Meet

Annual Event Scheduled Soon

Interclass swimming practice has started with seventeen swimmers signed for practice. Workouts are now in progress so that they may be prepared for the annual class meet scheduled for February.

Grace Loyd, manager of the meet, has announced that swimmers will be classified into two groups or intermediate and advanced. This is to allow more swimmers to participate in the class groups.

Signed for the class teams are Betty Mathews, Gloria Rodgers, Nancy Woodworth, Judy Rieck, Ruth Jones, Lucy Barger, Betty L. Hayward, Robin Lear, Nancy Barrett, Mary Ann Loving, and Betty Lee. Sophomore include Isabel Sampson, Phyllis Watts, Margaret Orange, and Frances Lee. For the Seniors are Ruth Dugger and Shirley Pierce.

Practices are each Monday, Wednesday, and Friday afternoons in the pool. In order to qualify for a class team, eight practices are necessary.

WAC's

Continued from Page 1

was on duty in a Post Office similar to this. "Woud you please hold my baby for a minute?' and rushed off leaving me with the baby. She finally came back forty-five minutes later. All comes under War service, I suppose. (Courtesy Lt. Grassa).

"I'll always remember the time when I was a rather raw recruit. A man motioned to me to stop—I thought he was being fresh and hurried on—he motioned again—all he wanted to do was tell me my tie wasn't G. I. It has to have one little dimple in it." (Courtesy Lt. Smith).

We then asked the Wacs something about their previous experience. What kind of people joined the WAC being in the back of our minds.

Lt. Grassa specialized in personnel work, went to a speech school, and did a little traveling in a stock company. (And other things we didn't have time to write down). She decided that this experience could be best used by joining the WAC. So eighteen months ago she enlisted. For eleven of those eighteen months she has been on recruiting duty in Virginia.

Lt. Genevieve Smith, from Lincoln, Nebraska, was formerly a teacher—a teacher of History and English. She liked teaching, but when the WAC came along she thought perhaps she could still teach, but serve directly in the U. S. Army. So she too joined. And strangely enough, she has taught—taught other Wacs basic training, etc.

"Teaching in uniform is more interesting than I'd ever imagined it would be."

This again brought up the whole subject of life in the WAC. Suppose you were a bored secretary. Would you just go on being a bored secretary in khaki instead of in office regalia?

"No", said Lt. Grassa. "Emphatically no. You might still be a secretary, but not a bored one. Why, I knew one girl who wanted to get away from stenographic work, and was disappointed when I told her she'd probably be classified as a secretary clerk. Now she's secretary to a Colonel who inspects airfields—and has flown almost around the world with him. She's not bored."

"I should say not. We could go on and on—but I would like to mention one really glamour job.—Corpl. Jennings, a very pretty little blond who used to be with us, now has a job as officers' receptionist at an airfield. Each incoming officer has to report to her."

And we could go on too. We took volumes of notes. Then we decided to issue a whole paper on the WAC to really have room for all we learned.

So instead we brought them up to school with us. Lt. Smith and Pfc. Ruth Tucker and Pvt. Lee Gockner were shown the best hospitality we could rake up. Beds provided by absent roommates and amiable people who vacated. No trouble at all, and a great thrill for all of us. We fed them fudge (and we didn't burn it either) and drank in vast oceans of conversational habits. We could tell you all sorts of things. But that's another story, and we're running out of space now.

ASTP Is Continued Despite Statements

Washington, D. C. (ACP)—The Army Specialized Training Program, which is now providing college training for thousands of Army men in more than 200 colleges and universities throughout the nation, will be continued despite rumors to the contrary which have been circulated within the recent weeks.

"The number of soldiers assigned for training under the ASTP," Secretary of War Henry L. Stimson recently stated, "will be changed from time to time so as to ac ord with the needs of the Army and available manpower. It is now being somewhat reduced but may later be increased or still further reduced as the needs of the military situation or military training make advisable."

At the present time, about 140,000 men are being trained under the ASTP.

Left Lead

Did you ever try to write a "hoss" column from the middle of the Riding Ring and have one audacious bit of inquisitive horse-flash after another practically in your lap trying to read over your shoulder? Talk about horse-sense . . . Flicka nibbled her way right into this week's "Lead" and then turned right around and obliterated (by licking) everything that was said about her.

Elise Hume provided three hours of comedy Friday afternoon, and with plenty of laugh provoking script. When Joyce said, "All right, Elise, you're going to canter now." Elise retaliated with, "Not necessarily, if the horse does not. I'm not!" True, true . . . but almost her next printable words were, "Aw, wait a minute hoss!!"

Midnight has been tamed down a little bit by that becoming martingale, but it's a hindrance he doesn't appreciate. He'd rather toss his head around, wouldn't he, Ann?

Eloise has been back at it, too, cantering around on a stick-horse, changing leads to the tune of "Bet my money on a bob-tailed nag . ." and to the great merriment of those present. She took MacArthur out, too, though, to redeem herself, and it looks good to be seeing her around. And the bob-tailed nag could be more truth than poetry the way Flicka and Winnie have been decked out lately. We'll be braiding manes next.

The muddy ring was nothing to the usual obstacle courses, so the classes have galloped around unmounted. Jean Carter and Lucille jumped Cindy and Lindy respectively three feet each yesterday. And yesterday was a big day anyhow . . .

It was the 12:40 class that created the excitement. Princess threw Judy Davis twice, and the second time Midnight lost his head despite the Martingale, and tossed Ann Darnell to the four winds. Then the riderless pair struck out for the home stables, and Mr. Nolen said that it was Midnight who led the race down the hill, and that they really tore up the ground before they wheeled into the stalls. But no one was hurt, and it was nearly the end of the hour anyhow.

If Roanoke were just a few miles closer, Joyce would have another ardent (if young) pupil. Barbara Surface's little brother, Frank, Jr., who is all of five years old, came through on a visit and wasn't completely happy til he had made a visit to the Stables. He started out well by feeding MacArthur what was left of a chocolate ice-cream cone, and then gallantly and smilingly posed for a couple of pictures on Lindy. This was highly successful, and with Mr. Nolen's assistance, he had a real ride on the horse. Lindy behaved his best in weeks, and Frank, Jr., was the picture of adoration. Afraid? Heck, no! He spent half an hour trying to convince somebody . . . anybody . . . to let him ride Beauty!

But there has to be a line drawn somewhere . . . so we'll stop with that, too. With all the diagonals and figure eights, it's none too soon to start thinking about the horse-show. If you wanna know anything, ask about it.

PEGASUS

Ping Pong Tourney To Begin this Week Dugger Announces

First round games of the annual ping-pong tournament will begin this week. A schedule of games is posted on the A. A. bulletin board and players must play their contest match off within the first week of games.

Ruth Dugger, manager of ping pong has announced that rules regarding the contest will be carried out according to the official rules of the game. Matches must be reported to the manager after play and scores given in order that they can be posted.

Players signed for the toturnament are Ann Jones, Phyllis Watts, Shirley Pierce, Lucille Jones, Mary Agnes Sheffield, Margaret Ellett, Nellie Smith, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth, Betty Minnetree, Cab Overbey, Phe Whittle, Helen Wilson, Mary Ann Loving, Rebecca Tomlinson, ond Mary Walker Watts.

Ping pong tables are located in the little gym and shower room. Balls and paddles may be borrowed from Miss Iller's office or Mike Shifflet on second floor annex.

Kappa Delta Pi

Continued from Page 1

ma Pi Rho; Carolyn Bobbitt and Dorothy Overcash from Alpha Phi Sigma; and Sarah Wayne France, and Alice Fittig from Pi Gamma Mu.

Other honorary members of the Beta Epsilon chapter of Kappa Delta Pi are Dr. J. L. Jarman, president of this college; Dr. Edgar Gammon, president of Hampden-Sydney College; Dr. Dabney S. Lancaster, State Superintendent of Public Instruction, and Mr. James M. Grainger, head of the department of English on this campus.

The "Y"

Continued from Page 2

Everyone who can, be sure to come out and help roll bandages on Thursday nights.

There has been a special program in prayers this week in observance of Race Relations Week.

"Let me live in a house by the side of the road
And be a friend to man."
—Sam Walter Toss

Betty Ellis'

On the Ball

MODERN DANCE

Preparations for the annual recital under the auspices of Orchesis are well under way. Practices are being held nearly every night and day, and the club is hard at work. The recital is to be held Friday, February 4, in the large auditorium.

Solos, duets, and group dances have been originated, and boogie, jazz, comedy and tragedy are but a few of the themes. Miss Emily Kauzlarich, director of the club, has been very helpful with ideas on composition. Ruth Dugger, president, has proved to be the backbone of the club, by putting herself whole-heartedly into it, and inspiring the other members.

Violinist

Continued from Page 1

must have been tired, she told us about some of these experiences.

"I was most amused and touched by an apathetic colored boy in one ward who seemed very disinterested in what was going on. So I asked him what he would like to have me play. He hesitated, 'Anything, yes, anything!, Well, play Pistol Packin' Mama!"

The gang roared. This all goes on backstage after the concert. We pursue her.

"What about hobbies? What do you do beside music?"

"I do some dramatic work with the American Theatre Wing and the Stage Door Canteen. Oh, I collect minature shoes. Mother threatens to throw out my collection as she has to dust it."

"What about food?"

"Oh, I just like to eat."

"If you had to eat one thing, what would you eat?"

"Oh, chocolate cake, sodas, ice-cream. Anything chocolate. But I have to watch how much—the pounds you know."

In her programs, Miss Renee has been trying to emphasize American composers.

"We have found works of American composers to be received very well—and I love to play Spanish music, too. But of course, there must be all kinds—for variety."

About this time the whole gathering turned into a boogie woogie session with Cab Overby. We dragged her out from behind the curtain to play—and the musicians raved, but positively, about her ability. Finally we had to tear ourselves away. After all, even violinists and pianists must sleep (and catch trains at 3:00 A. M.)

Apprentices, future new members, are going to be given a chance to show what they can do by participating in several of the dances. Each girl, old or new, is given the chance to portray her ideas and feelings toward a dance. The audience will find the dances original, for they are made up by their own classmates.

BASKETBALL

Choices for members of the class and varsity teams in basketball are to be made soon. They will be taken from the girls who have been out for basketball since the beginning of this year, and the last part of the fall quarter.

An afternoon of basketball provides lots of entertainment. Through it, you learn cooperation, good sportsmanship, and teamwork. It also gives you a chance to know your classmates much better.

Come on Green and Whites, here's your chance to get even with the Red and Whites. There should be plenty of competition this quarter toward the color cup, so come on teams get in there and fight.

WHOA HORSE!

So you can't ride! Just spend one afternoon in the riding ring across from Junior Building, and it will really be one experience in your life. Riding instructor Joyce Cheatwood, takes a delight in so called punishing her riders. But it has proved to be lots of fun, and everyone really enjoys it.

If you haven't time to ride during the week, take an afternoon off one Saturday, and be prepared for anything if you go on a trail ride. It not only proves exciting, but you have a chance to get out in the great out-of-doors. If you are only a beginner you are under the careful eye of an experienced rider, so don't worry about falling off or having your horses run away. And, if you are one of those lucky souls who has a date, you can bring him along too. Try it just once, and we promise you, that you will want to go again.

Until next week, yours truly, bids you a fond farewell, and don't forget to stay in the game.

Green Front Store
Staple & Fancy Groceries
Fruits & Vegetables
W. J. Hillsman, Prop.
Phone 139

J. J. NEWBERRY CO.
Farmville's Newest and Finest
5-10-25c Store
A new department has been added for S. T. C. girl' needs
POPULAR SHEET MUSIC
35c per copy

Visit us for the BEST SODA FOUNTAIN SERVICE
CHAPPELL'S

Collins Florist
FRESH FLOWERS
FOR ALL OCCASIONS

S. T. C. Students
Visit our store for your supply of records.—We have—
COLUMBIA VICTOR DECCA
Wilson's
Firestone Store
311 West Third Street

KEEP ON Backing the Attack WITH WAR BONDS

Peoples National Bank
Farmville, Virginia
CAREFUL MANAGEMENT
COURTEOUS SERVICE
Interest paid on Savings Deposits

The Convenient Store for Faculty and Student Body
Good Things to eat and drink
BUTCHER'S
(High Street)

Bring Your Clothes For Prompt Service to
Kleanwell Cleaners
Opposite Postoffice
See Betty Bridgeforth Our Representative

SHANNON'S
FOR BETTER FOOD
PHONE 322

PLAIN
RYTEX STATIONERY
$1.00 A BOX
Martin the Jeweler

JUST ARRIVED—A SHIPMENT
—of—
Wearever Zenith
FOUNTAIN PENS
—And—
PENCILS
THE WEAREVER ZENITH FOUNTAIN IS GUARANTEED
THE PEN $1.95
THE SET $2.75
DAVIDSON'S
The House of Quality
FARMVILLE VIRGINIA

Group "Housepartying" Finds Life One Line After Another

To begin with, if your Raving Reporter is ever starving to death, she hereby wishes to observe that she will willingly go right ahead and starve before she'll stand in a bread-line.

Five of us spent this past week end in the fair city of Richmond, and Military training couldn't involve many more formations, and if we had been on the loose much longer, we'd have been in just one more line-up that we're sure of . . . and then, possibly, peace, in a padded cell.

But to begin at the beginning. We lined up in Miss Mary's office to get permission, and at least this line was fairly orderly. The next line, however, that one at the bus station, was more a mass than a line . . a seething, squirming mass of struggling girl-hood turning and twisting and shoving to get aboard. They all got aboard too, long before your weary writer, so the next line was inside the bus, right down the center aisle, where we stood, some of us, for the entire three hours to Richmond.

Once here, and still in line, we must have resembled a chain-gang of some variety, though which variety no one dared to say. One of our number makes her home in the Berg, and she headed the row. Tagging along in order came one who was impartial, one who was indifferent, one who is from the Country, and bringing up the rear, one who was as interested in looking around as the Country Gal, but who was trying to appear as indifferent as the indifferent one, or at least as impartial as the impartial one. In this order, went up and down every escalator in both Thalhimer's and Miller and Rhodes. The line spread out side-ways when we parked down the middle of Broad Street to wait for a street car, and we filed in and, finally, sat.

There was not exactly a receiving line at the Household where we visited, but the long-suffering family, too, stood in order while we stretched through the door for introductions, and so-help-us, at the first view of a comfortable bed, all five of us sprawled outside by each in symetrical monotony . . . and stayed there' til time to file downstairs for supper.

From there on we can simplify matters. We lined up to comb our hair, and we lined up to wait for the streetcar again. We lined up to buy movie tickets., and we lined up in another line to get into the theatre. We sat in a movie row, and we got stuck in a long line on our way out. We stood in line for "Chicken in the Rough" and we stood in line to get a taxi home. Next day we sat in a line in Church and we sat in a line for sundaes at Whites. And then the everlasting lines again at the bus station. Our suit-cases sat in a line while waiting to be checked, and we parked in the usual line while waiting to get on in the fight. We pulled in about 2:00 A. M., and joined the line to the Home office to sign in and the one to the Post Office to get our mail out; and so home to bed.

It was quite a week end, as you can well imagine, but we'd better not write any more tonight. There is a line of people all waiting to use the typewriter . . . and besides, we want to make fudge . . and we'll probably hafta line up for the stove. Are you cross-eyed from reading this? Think not? Well, just stand up and try to walk a straight LINE!!

Modern warfare is the most expensive destruction the world has ever experienced both for the destroyed and the destroyer. There is no point where we can stop in this war this side of peace so all of us will be required to buy an extra $100 Bond in the 3rd War Loan.

Shirley Ann Stephens, American Red Cross hospital recreation worker, whose safe arrival in England was announced recently. She is a graduate of Farmville State Teachers College, Farmville, Va. Until her Red Cross appointment, Miss Stephens taught in the Norfolk, Va., public schools.

Freshmen Sign Up

Continued from Page 1

and Margaret Simmons.

New members on the Service committee will be Maria Addleman, Nancy Almand, Josephine Bailey, Elizabeth Bennett, Anne Bruce, Rachael Brugh, Anne Charlton, Loene Claiborne, Agnes Cooks, Yvonne Flora, Doris Hair, Ruth Johnson, Geraldine Joyner, Mary Garden Martin, Pat Monahon, Billie Mullins, Doris Murray Geraldine Newman, Habel Park Jeraldine Payne, Ann Searson, Lillian Stables, Ruth Stables, Charlotte Thorp, Margaret Walton, Martha Webb, and Mary Williams.

Judy O'Brien, Cora Lambert, Patsy Saunders, and Helen Worrell will work on the Library committee.

Serving on the Prayers committee will be Elizabeth Lee Carter, Nannie Crittenden, Margie Pitman, Gloria Rodgers, and Monteroy Twiford.

Girls who selected the Social committee were Margaret Aebersold, Mary Emma Allen, Katherine Allen, Grace Anderson, Anne Brushwood, Constance Christian, Joyce Collins, Judy Connelly, Reba Conner, Jane Conson, Jean Daniel, Mae Derieuz, Anne Dickinson, Myra Foster, Evelyn Goodman, Julie Hamilton, Betty Hayword, Annie Laura Jeter, Betty Johnson, Jay Kennan, Sarah Luck, Billie Martin, Peggy McCauley, Barbara Montgomery, Gertrude Moore, Glennie Moore, Ann Nichols, Betty Ann Palmore, Kathryn Reynolds, Judy Rieck, Helene Robertson, Almera Rosser, Jane Rowe, Anna Lee Sandridge, Shirley Skinner, Cornelia Smith, Hester Snydor, Virginia Fry Terrell, Viliddia Waller, Margaret Wilson, and Ruby Wright.

Those girls choosing the Sing committee were Lou Baker, Lucy Barger, Joyce Beazley, Lucille Bell, Hilda Bennett, Betty Bowles, Anne Christian, Martha Cole, Joan Davis, Thelma Diggs, Elizabeth Driscoll, Peggy Fink, Bobbie Graham, Dorothy Humbert, Ruth Jones, Anne Kingdon, Grace Loyd, Dana Jane McClellan, Betty Minetree, Cabell Overby, Dorothy Owen, Blair Renshaw, Julia Rivercomb, Cile Sarver, Ann Shufflebarger, Frieda Sturman, Rebecca Tomlinson, Rosemarie Wagner, and Harriet Weger.

The new members of the Membership committee are Gwen Ackiss, Nancy Adams, Lovice Altizer, Jean Anderson, Edith Apperson, Helen Apperson, Cecelia Arthur, Betty Jane Austin, Madelyn Ayers, Sara Ballard, Mildred Boughan, Beverly Bohon, Beverly Boone, Lois Boone, Virginia Bland, Corinne Boland, Margaret Brace, Lynell Bradshaw, Beatrice Bruch, Ann Buck, Pat Buckler, Mary Stewart Buford, Doris Burks, Mary Cameron Butt, Jean Campber, Mae Caldwell, Ann Carter, Mary Catlett, Rosa Mae Chandler, Mary Ann Clark, Mary Clements, Harriet Cole, Elizabeth Crouch, Irma Cummins, Marcheta Cunningham, Patsy Dale, Alice Davis, Eula Belle Doggett, Martha Drost, Leslie Elmore Shirley Etheridge, Mary Morton Fontaine, Virginia Ford, Malinda Fox, Shirley Gibson, Jane Glenn, Florence Godwin, Anne Gregory, Dorothy Haill, Louise Holbert, Ethel Halsey, Janice Halstead, Doris Harper, Gene Harrison, Frances Hasty, Anna Headlee, Sue Hildreth, Connie Hubbard, Marion Hubbard, Ruby Huddle, Audrey Hudson, Sue Hundley, Rosa Jenkins, and Ann Harris Johnson.

Also Katharine Kearsley, Barbara Kellam, Heidi Lacy, Robin Lear, Jean Lloyd, Vera Lloyd, Margaret Lohr, Marion Latts, Mary Ann Loving, Helen Blair McRee, Shirley Mankin, Elizabeth Mathews, Elizabeth Macey, Mary Maxey, Doris May, Olivia Meade, Ann Minges, Imogen Moore, Roberta Moore, Betty Moses, Barbara Nichols, Betty O'Connor, Virginia Packett, Carlye Lee Palmer, Kitty Palmer, Kitty Parham, Betty Parrish, Nancy Parrish, Malbot Perkins, Evelyn Perry, Jean Pritchett, Doris Ramsey, Shirley Ann Reaves, Cora Redd, Carter Renshaw, Mary Robertson, Ruth Rowe, Kitty Saunders, Felicia Ann Savedge, Frances Seward, Christine Shiflet, Doris Smith, Martha Sours, Martha Sprye, Virginia Stephenson, Margaret Kent Stevens, Catherine Stover, Betty Jane Stubbs, Janice Swain, Frances Tabor, Mary Ann Tabor, Ann Taylor, Elizabeth Thomas, Frances Timmins, Helen Trunp, Ann Tucker, Dorothy Turley, Gene Tucker, Theresa Tucker, Ann Marie Umstead, Lucile Upshur, Viola Varner, Mabel Waddell, Mabel Weaver, Martha Wells, Charlotte West, Nancy Whitehead, Beverly Wood, Frances Wood, Virginia Woodward.

Valentine Greetings

For Your Friends

IN THE SERVICE

ROSE'S

5-10-25c Stores

Farmville's Most Popular Store

Comin' 'n' Goin'

By PAT MADDOX

Richmond has for a long time been the Mecca for shoppers and fun seekers . . . and this week end proved to be no exceptions as far as STC'ers were concernes. The Ballet Russe was in town, and Saturday night found many Farmville girls in the audience at the Mosque. Others were to be found at their homes — either basking in the light of their family's attention or seeing Elmer off to the wars.

In Richmond for the Ballet were Eleanor Wade, Helen Wilson, Hackie Moore, Bobbie Scott, Dodie Jones, Mary Watkins, Nancy Harrell, Lucy Manson, Elizabeth Tennant, Sarah Trigg, Jane McPall, Kitty Vaughan and Sara Moling.

Also in Richmond, not for culture but for fun were Martha Higgins, Anne Blair, Jane Smith, Pat Maddox, Marilyn Bell, and Elsie Thompson.

Back to their happy homes went Rosa Lee Bell, Isabell Ransone, Evelyn Chenault, Kat Chiles, Margaret Claiborne, Anne Crittenden, Margie Lee Culley, Dot Cummings, Laura Farmer, Evelyn Faw, Mary Evelyn Pearsall, Earlene Kimmerling, Lillian Goddin, Anne Hamlin, Ellen Higginbotham, Nancy Hutter, Nancy Langhorne, Betty Little, Charlotte Moger, Glennis Moore, Betty Moses, Betty Overcash, Nell Richard, Mildred Shiflet, Marjorie Vaughan, Billy Waid, Frances Weitzell, Sara Hodges, Libby Ann Jordan, Frances Strohecker, and Virginia Terrell.

Long distance medal of the week we present to Betsy Corr and Helen Worsham who journeyed to Annapolis for the dances.

Miss Grace Moran entertained the Alpha Sigma Alpha chapter at a supper last Sunday night.

Poguey Massey was the guest of her family at "Black Bottom" at Hampden-Sydney last week.

Freshman "Y" Club Presented Program Last Thursday Night

Presented January 20 by the Freshman Commission in the small auditorium was the annual program for the Freshman "Y" Club.

Anne Curley was chairman of this production, which was based on the interpretation of various stage and screen stars.

Taking part in the program were Hilda Bennett, Ann Christian, Anne Curley, Jo Anne Davis, Ann Dickerson, Beanie Dudley, Anne Kingdom, Heidi Lacey, Grace Lloyd, Carmen Lowe, Cab Overbey, Nellie Smith, Mar Kent Stevens, Rose Marie Wagner and Nancy Whitehead.

Peace in 1944 Found In Heavens Says Lee

Evanston, Ill. (ACP—If you are looking for peace in 1944, you will find it—in the heavens, according to Professor Oliver J. Lee, director of Northwestern University's observatory.

While the earth is torn with the upheavals of global warfare, the universe will proceed on its well-ordered way with only a minimum of astronomical disturbances taking place during the year, Prof. Lee predicts. Celestial activity, he says, will consist of two eclipses of the sun, only one of which will be visible in the United States.

"No bright comets are expected this year, but there is always the chance that a big comet will stray", Professor Lee said.

A total eclipse of the sun will occur on January 25. This eclipse will be visible only in South America and parts of Africa.

An annular or ring shaped eclipse of the sun will take place on July 20. It will be an annular eclipse because the moon on that date is too far from the earth to cover the sun completely.

Betsy Fox Elected To Student Standards

Betsy Fox, junior from Danville and a transfer from Averett, was elected to Stundent Standards, as junior class representative, at a meeting held last night.

Betsy will replace Betty Agnew, who did not return to college this quarter.

KEEP ON

Backing the Attack

WITH WAR BONDS

Gray's Drug Store

Pure Drugs

Perfumes—Toilet Articles

Latest styles in stationery

Quality—Price—Service

Kodak Films

Printed and Developed

25c Entire Roll

Southside Drug Store

Farmville Mfg. Co.

MILL WORK

BUILDING MATERIALS

DELICIOUS

SANDWICHES

College Shoppe

Are your clothes . . .

. . . getting that "bedraggled" look after the winter's wear? Freshen them up by having them cleaned at

DeLuxe Cleaners

Winning Wartime Wardrobes

Compact, Colorful Cranium Covers

Hats are small and compact to fit in with the slim silhouette. Many of them, frivolous and feminine to add a gaiety to wartime wardrobes. Accessories are more colorful but less plentiful—fewer leather bags, more fabric ones. Gloves are longer to make up for the brevity of sleeves. Shoes are rationed and so then style favors utility.

S. T. C. has gone military—Nope, I don't mean we wear uniforms and drill forty-eight hours a day. I am referring to the metal worn here. No department of Uncle Sam's service is absent. On jackets and sweaters and shirts, even on pigs.—Silver wings . . . Army wings . . . Navy wings . . . parachuter's insignia . . . Lil' gold bars . . . silver bars . . . even saw a major's badge the other day. One lassie wore his dog tags on a long silver chain. On trench coats, and sport coats, we see insignia galore . . . the 2 D's of the Dixie division and a number of others. We're military minded—You bet.

Slim Silhouette; Straight Skirts

When it first became apparent that skirts would take the straight and narrow path, most of us gasped in horror. How would we ever get used to straight skirts after the full dirndls of prewar days. Strongly enough, slim dresses are far more becoming than we thought possible. Designers have taken the cut in material allowance in their stride and have given us well cut dresses that are simple but not skimpy.

The accent has shifted from the wasp waist to colorful designs in sequins and beads that have added a great deal of spontaniety to the Sunday specials. Collars and vests have resumed their places appearing in an endless variety of materials from suede to organdy.

Tobacco Sale

Continued from Page 2

quickly.

All of this fast talking gets one rattled, so you glance around to rest your boiling brain. On a raised platform are men dragging the heavy tobacco trays along with a strong iron pick, and loading it to be shipped. Then you see the scales, and an ominous warning stating that it is a federal offense to change the grade, name or price on the slips, or to bribe anyone.

On the left are patient old mules waiting to take the homeward road. I wonder if they know that the drive back to the farm will be much lighter than it was coming in to Farmville. Some men are fortunate enough to have gas to bring in large truck loads of tobacco.

We were lucky to find the auctioneer when he was catching his breath, so we made him waste it on us. He kindly explained the process, for hithertofore we had just stood there with our mouths hanging open. We didn't see how he knew so much until he calmly informed us that he'd been in the business for a mere 25 years. Upon asking, we found the name is George Taylor, that he's from Charlotte County.

Tobacco is tedious to prepare. After the different stages of warming, suckling, we were told by various farmers and buyers, it must be stripped and hung up. When every thing is favorable, it is put into a bundle by wrapping a damp leaf around the end of the other leaves. All is done by hand.

This is so common a process that few of us have ever heard an auction. Well, they go on every day in Farmville, starting at 10 A. M. It's a job of busy men, but it's intriguing, and even if we don't have the Lucky Strike "Sold American" man, he can strut his stuff when it comes to chanting that mysterious song!

One 35 passenger bus and station wagons and taxies. For special trips and chartered service.

Continental Bus Line

Phone 78

Patronize

PATTERSONS

The Complete Drug Store

MONTAGUE STATIONERY
WHITMAN'S AND HOLLINGS-

WORTH CANDIES
UNEXCELLED SODA SERVICE

PRESCRIPTIONS
A SPECIALTY

Patterson Drug Co.
238 MAIN ST.

UNITEX

Invisible Sanitary Pantie

A grand skin-smooth pantie for sleen lines. This light and almost weightless pantie has a flat pocket for sanitary insert. Eliminates all need of bulky pins, belts. Sizes by hip measurement.

$2.25

BALDWIN'S

SET ASIDE FRIDAY NIGHT FOR ORCHESIS RECITAL

The Rotunda

MEET YOU AT CLUB '45 TONIGHT

VOLUME XXIII FARMVILLE, VIRGINIA, WEDNESDAY, FEB. 2, 1944 No. 15

Orchesis Presents Annual Recital On Friday Night

Romantic Mood Pervades Dances

By BETTY ELLIS

Under the direction of Miss Emily Kauzlarich, Orchesis is presenting its third annual recital Friday evening in the large auditorium. This year the club is making a new departure. An attempt to break away from the heavier, dramatic themes like "Lidice" of last year to the lighter, romantic and sentimental elements of dance is one of the new projects.

In war as in peacetime, dance follows in the wake of art. There is a definite swing toward the romantic in art at present. People do not want to view ugliness, distortion and horror when it is all about them. They want to be taken away from the pathos of the day. Therefore, only two numbers of this year's recital bear evidence of the impact of the war. "To Those Who Will Speak," which is a dance of dedication to one who has fallen on the battlefield. The group moves to the words of the poem as well as to music. "The Bewildered Heart" is the other composition built around movements to words also. The form is clearer and the approach definitely a theatrical one. It could easily be submitted as a dance of dilemma.

A whole Jazz Suite has grown from the meager attempt of last year's one number. True jazz is Negroid in spirit as well as in movement. It is a crying, a sobbing of the whole body. The suite shows three stages of jazz evolution—ragtime, jive, swing.

Docey-Do is to be part of a Western Suite which the club will complete next year. It is based on Western square dancing, that offshoot which is as American in country dance as is the Virginia Reel. It is composed in three dance forms of running set, quadrille and longway formations, a rondo form.

Lullaby should prove interesting. It is based on the peculiar posture and movement of the body which is exemplified in all Latin American dance, and the use of rebozo (shawl) worn by the women.

The most romantic and sentimental of all is the last number, the waltz. It can't be anything else, because a waltz is just that. Something to enjoy, lovely to look at and to go away humming a bit of the melody.

Ford Announces Sorority Pledges

One hundred two girls pledged sororities as a result of last week's rushing, Jane Ford, pan-hellenic president, announces.

Those taking Sigma Sigma Sigma were Nancy Almond, Kenbridge; Louise Baker, Roanoke; Kitty Sue Bridgforth, Kenbridge; Mary Cameron Butt, Portsmouth; Elizabeth Crouch, Marion; Anne Dickinson, Richmond; Margaret Ellett, Jennings Ordinary; Ann Butterworth Houser, Dewitt; Ann Jacob, Nassawadox; Heidi Lacy, Richmond; Betty Lee, Richmond; Betty Minetree, Petersburg; Barbers Montgomery, Alberta; Judith Reick, West Point; Louise Rives, McKenney; Nellie Smith, Petersburg; Anne Summers, Hampden-Sydney; Frances Timmons, Richmond; Marjorie Vaughan, Roanoke; and Nancy Whitehead, Kecoughtan.

Pledges for Gamma Theta are Collen Agee, Farmville; Josephine Beatty, Ivanhoe, N. C.; Betsy Caldwell, Sweet Briar; Betsy Fox, Danville, Betty Lewis Hayward, Hampton; Sue Hundley, Suffolk; Robin Lear, Chapel Hill; Sarah Leech, Richmond; Patricia McLear, Richmond; Margaret Pogue Massey, Hampden-Sydney; Katherine Parker, Norfolk; Margaret

Continued on Page 4

War Brings Vision of World To Chinese, Relates McMullen

Pre-Pearl-Harbor Suffering Great

"One of the most important things this war has done for the Chinese is to make them world conscious," Dr. McMullin, recently returned Presbyterian missionary to China stated in an interview last week. "They knew little about their country, and nothing about world affairs, but now the masses are getting educated as to the political affairs of the world as a direct result of the war," he continued.

We had heard about Dr. McMullin from those who heard him at the Presbyterian Church earlier in the week, but we didn't believe all we heard—no man could be that interesting! So we thought till we heard him in chapel. And then the end of chapel came too soon and we had to hear more. That's how we happened to be sitting in the swing at Dr. Crawford's house talking to Dr. McMullin, and asking questions. We wanted to know all about the prison camp Dr. McMullin had been in, about the trip home, about being one of the first of the group of exchanged prisoners from Japanese camps. We wanted to know what the war had done to the Chinese, how much longer they could stand up under the strain they have been under for the past six years. Our questions came thick and fast and the time alloted us was much too short.

"There were 1,050 of us in the camp where I was," Dr. McMullin told us. "We were quartered in two buildings—all that was left of the Great China University outside Shanghai. There were seven men in the room with me—and their seven wives. In another room were quartered 32 single women."

"But it wasn't too bad. We were allowed no outside communi-

Continued on Page 4

Walmsley Prefaces Brochure Published By Music Department

Published by the Music Department of the College, a brochure will be made available soon for college students and all other students throughout the state who are interested.

Dr. T. Tertius Noble, organist and choir master emeritus of St. Thomas Episcopal Church, New York City, will contribute material to this booklet, and the Preface given below by Dr. James Elliott Walmsley will also be inserted.

"This little brochure is not a contribution to hymnody nor is it intended to supply information for the expert. It is an attempt to show what the Choir of the Farmville State Teachers College is doing to make the great hymns of our church services more meaningful to those who sing.

"It is the belief of the writer that music is one of the ways, one of the most effective ways, in which a message is spoken, in which a thought is conveyed. We tell our story in speech or in gesture, in painting or in dancing, in facial expression or in bodily posture. Our deepest and most sacred emotions are expressed in music. The thought, the literary form, and the music must be in accord, hence those who sing hymns must know the history and the purpose of hymns.

"Of the three outstanding services performed by Farmville's Choir, the training of leaders for group singing, the development of higher standards of appreciation in vocal music, and the emphasis on dignity and reverence in the worship of God, the last, in the view of this writer, is not only more needed but also of more permanent value.

"These hymns selected are chosen from many countries, from different periods, and from vari-

Continued on Page 3

$37.39 Contributed To March of Dimes

Proceeds for the annual March of Dimes drive amounted to $37.39, Mary Elizabeth Harvey, head of the drive on the campus, announced this week.

The amount contributed by the freshman class was $6.91; the sophomore class, $6.93; the Junior class, $6.70, and the senior class, $5.00. To the box in the hall $8.91 was contributed. In the tea room $2.36, and in the training school, $1.30.

Committees were appointed by the class presidents to help carry out the drive.

The March of Dimes drive is an annual affair in commemoration of the President's birthday for the purpose of aiding infantile paralysis victims and preventing the spread of polio.

March 25 Slated For Pan-Hel Dance, President Reveals

March 25 has been set as the date for the Pahellenic dance Jane Ford, prexy, announced this week.

Committees chairmen as appointed are, general chairmen, Vivian Gwaltney and Catherine Trower; music chairman, Lucille Cheatham; Ticket chairman, Evelyn Faw; decorations chairman, Eleanor Wade; and floor chairman, Carol Diggs.

Members to work on these committees will be appointed by the chairmen in the near future.

Company Donates Film To Department

The Virginia Telephone and Telegraph Company has recently donated to the Commercial Department the film, "Mrs. X Gets a New Voice', Mr. R. G. Hallisy, head of the department, has announced.

The film was shown at a meeting of the Commercial Club before Christmas. The faculty and the students commented upon its effectiveness as a teaching device and instituted inquiries as to the possibility of securing it for the department. Shortly afterward, the film was presented to the department by Mrs. Kenneth Schuler.

Club '45 Stages Grand Finale Tonight at 8:15 In Main Rec As Juniors Last Production

MARILYN BELL

Choo-choo's, Country Lassies, Combine in Rare Comedy

Thespians Select "The Cradle Song" For Spring Play

Tentative Date Set as March 4

Lucy Manson, Dramatic Club president, announced last night that "The Cradle Song" will be the spring production of the club. Tentative date set for the play is March 4.

"The Cradle Song," a comedy in two acts by Gregorie and Marie Martinez Sierra, is a Spanish play translated into the English by John Garrett Underhill. The Spanish classes of the college have recently read the play in the original.

First performed at the "Teatro Lara", Madrid, in 1911, this play has known wide popularity in this country since its first performance here in 1921. It has been called the Modern classic; also the finest play seen in America in twenty-five years.

Because of the lack of plot and exceptional happenings, the critics had no optimism for its success, but have been constantly amazed at its long runs. A favorite with Little Thesters and college clubs, this play has enjoyed fame throughout the country. Its success depends upon its setting and pervading mood rather than on any suspense of action. Its charm is in the series of "uneventful events" that made up the life of the runs.

With Eva Le Gallienne as Sister Joanna of the Cross, the play was produced in New York in 1927 where it has been given 167 times.

Try-outs for the play were started last week, but as yet the cast has not been definitely decided. It will be announced later by Miss Leola Wheeler, director.

Song Hits Featured, Food Found for All

Closing night of Club '45, junior production, is slated to begin at 8:15 tonight in the Rec of the Main Building, Marilyn Bell, chairman, has revealed.

Scene Laid in Station

This year the scene for the annual production is laid in a railroad station, with most of the action taking place in the main part of the station. The rear end of the train, the S. T. C. Special, can be seen, and the setting includes all the trimmings of a station, the information office, the ticket window, the train schedule, the U. S. O. desk, and the coffee shop. The guests at the production will be served in the coffee shop.

Marilyn Johnson and Ophelia Whittle will take part of the train men, assisted by Pat Maddox as conductor. A special rendition of the "Chattanooga Choo-Choo" will be offered by the trainmen.

In the information office will be Jean Smith, and Virginia T. Pullen will take the part of the U. S. O. hostess.

Thompson Provides Comedy

Special comedy for the production will be provided by Elsie Thompson as a simple country lass who attempts to check her cow to Boydton, and by Nancy Wilkinson as a "high brow" waiting for the train.

Included in those waiting for the train is a bridal party made up of Marion Orange as the bride and Mary Frances Moon as the groom, Harriette Moore as the groom's waiting mother, and Betsy Fox and Martha Higgins who do special dance numbers. Anne Masloff will portray the girl who just had a fuss with her soldier boy friend and calls him over the U. S. O. phone to tell him "I Couldn't Sleep a Wink Last Night", and Mary Watkins, as a small girl, will do a "Choo Choo" dance.

Other highlights on the program include a "Boogie woogie" number by shoeshine boy Eleanor Wade, and "Moonlight and V. P. I." offered by the junior chorus to Mary Walker Watts, who enacts the part of Frank Lawton, V. P. I. cadet headed overseas.

The program is concluded with Ann Blair's rendition of "Speak Low" to her sailor friend, Bobbie Scott.

Typical station food will be served to those in the coffee shop by jean clad waitresses and cigarettes sold by ginghamed girls.

Following the floor show, the

Continued on Page 3

Students May Enter Poetry Contest Now

March 10 is the deadline for the annual poetry contest sponsored by the Colonnade, which opened this week, Lois Alphin, poetry editor, has announced.

The contest is open to all students, with no specification as to length, contents, or form of poetry.

Five dollars, three dollars, and one dollar in war stamps will be given as prizes for the three best poems.

Contributions may be put in the Colonnade box or given to Lois Alphin.

McCorkle Presents Postwar Problems

At the regular Pi Gamma Mu meeting last night, Mary Moore McCorkle presented a paper on the subject, "Political Problems that Will Arise in Drawing Up a Post-War Plan".

In looking at this problem, she said, we must consider two things. First: How the countries and nations are organized today within themselves as to their constitution

Continued on Page 3

Eleven Girls Make All A's Fall Quarter

During the fall quarter eleven girls made straight A's, Dr. Jarman announced in Chapel last week.

The seniors were Jean Arington, Mary Elizabeth Grizzard, Sue Harper, Mrs. Elizabeth C. Hinman, Margaret Lawrence, Mary Moore McCorkle, and Jeanne Strick. Juniors who made all A's were Sarah Moling, Jean Prosise, and Eleanor Wade; the only sophomore was Emily Carper.

Last year during fall quarter 13 girls made straight A's. From those there were 7 seniors, 5 juniors, and one sophomore. Winter quarter there were 4 seniors, six juniors, 1 sophomore and 2 freshmen. During spring quarter 6 seniors, 4 juniors, and 1 freshman made all A's.

Such Simple Sights, Sounds, Smells Steal Into the Niche That Will Spell Memory

We Watch, We Sniff, We Listen . . .

The glorious sunset staining all the little clouds a radiant pink, the horses cantering gaily round the ring, Bobo following each child as he goes in or out of the training school doors, the bare limbs of the branches lifting above the roof or Senior Building, the Library clock—always slow, the orange earth, stripped and bare in our back yards, the lights of the hotel-unblinking, the soft snow falling with quiet intensity, bustling crowds of noisy laughing girls, that big moon floating lazily above, Calico singing softly 'neath the stars in the warm spring air, the high heels and young ladies on Sunday, the saddle shoes and tomboys on Monday. Tuesday, the khaki-clad civilians far from home and lonely—from our windows we see these things, these and many more.

"Come and coast down the hill with me", "go to Butcher's for some ice cream", "meet Joe", "see Frank Sinatra", visit the Library, shop for countless goodies—come do any of the thousand of little things that comprise life at STC—it's all part of our view.

Through our windows we see not only things, but people, not only people but ideas, not only ideas but temperatures.

Have you ever gotten up at the crack of dawn (8 a. m. eastern war time) and looked out the window to see how cold it was? Or gone to Miss Mary to see if you could take double cuts (don't do it without strong moral support) or told your mother to be sure to see that cute little black number in Rice's?

To be entirely technical we must not forget the things we hear out the windows and smell out of the same. The clang of the class bells, the whine of the wind, the steady beat of the rain, the scream of a happy girl greeting her man, the ring of the telephone, (what if I did say out the window? It's a good sound anywhere), the party downstairs, this could continue but let's progress to smell.

One week we have the hazy smell of spring—next the sharp order of returning winter, the luscious food smells floating from the tea room, the clean shining scent of floor polish, the Chanel No. 5 from T. M. (The Man) the soft glow of Halo, the warning stench of cabbage, again, the comforting aroma of people.

This is getting out of hand Let's quit, shall we? You just add to the sight, sounds, and scents of school-life as you may wish. We're all for the sight, sound, and smell of home-cooked food!

And Another Day Goes By at STC

Crenshaw Speaks; Challenges Students

Versil Crenshaw, field secretary for Virginia Baptist Training Union, was the guest speaker in Chapel Tuesday morning. His message to the students carried a challenge in asking "What do you say to yourself," in the vital matter of planning one's life in the world after the war.

THE ROTUNDA

Established November 26, 1920

Published each Wednesday evening of the college year, except during holidays and examination periods, by the students of State Teachers College, Farmville, Virginia.

Office: Student Building Phone 533, Box 168
Printers: The Farmville Herald

Represented for national advertising by National Advertising Service, Inc., college publishers representative, 420 Madison Ave., New York, N. Y.

Member Virginia Intercollegiate Press Association

Entered as second class matter March 1, 1921 in the Post Office of Farmville, Virginia, under act of March 8, 1934.

ELLA BANKS WEATHERS ..... Editor-in-Chief
JANE WARING RUFFIN ..... Managing Editor
MARY ST. CLAIR BUGG ..... Business Manager

Associate Editors

VIRGINIA TREAKLE ..... News Editor
BETTY DEUEL COCK ..... Feature Editor
SHIRLEY PIERCE ..... Sports Editor
JANE SMITH ..... Social Editor

Associate Managers

MARY STERRETT ..... Advertising Manager
RUTH BROOKS ..... Circulation Manager

Assistant Editors

SARA JEFFREYS ..... Photographic Editor
JANE FORD ..... Head Typist

Business Assistants

Helen Cobbs, Margie Pierce, Elizabeth Gates, Mary Wood House, Lucille Lewis, Betty Overcash, Emma Allen, Mary Stuart Buford, Connie Hubbard, Ellen Moore, Dorothy Overeash, Theresa Hutt, Eloise Stancell, Sarah Taliaferro, Rachel Bourne, Lynn Sprye, Dorothy Turley, Mary Walton Rucker, Vivian Gwaltney, Louise Andrews, Bobbie Scott, Margaret Bear, Martha Droste, Frances Lee.

Staff Assistants

Mary Franklin Woodward, Pat Maddox, Nell Holloway, Lelia Holloway, Virginia Radogna, Margaret Sheffield, Betty Lewis, Ruth Jones, Sara Moling, Betty Bibb, Sue Hundley, Bernice Copenhaver, Kathryn Hutchinson, Ann Snyder, Betty Ellis, Catherine Trower, Betty Woodward.

Member
Associated Collegiate Press
Distributor of
Collegiate Digest

This issue in charge of BETTY DEUEL COCK, Feature Editor

WEDNESDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1944

Horror Stories Evoke Renewed Thoughtfulness

So you think you know War? Oh, you're a College girl, and you know all about the War. It's what stopped your supply of Nylon, and what caused your brother to be away from home on Christmas, and what compels all your dates to don Service uniforms instead of zoot-suits, and it's what you study in History class And you don't like War.

From Washington this week comes the report of the Horror Stories of Bataan; sworn statements, documented and released by our Army and Navy, of endless tortures and agonizing, unendurable brutalities inflicted upon our boys after they surrendered Bataan and Corregidor. The reports, compiled by three U. S. officers who escaped from the scenes of death and destruction, tell of a blood-curdling campaign carried on by the Japs, and is alive with reviling, despicable deeds, committed for no apparent reason, that turn the heart of any American cold with horror and hatred, and unbelief at the inhumanity of the Nipponese race.

The most inapprehensible of the humilities consigned was the "March of Death". This began after the surrender, at daylight of April 10, 1942, when thousands of prisoners were herded together at Mariveles and marched 85 miles from the airfield there, many without food or water the whole six to twelve days it took for them to reach their fateful destination.

During the time, starvation was the main cause of death, but this was slow. Those who were found with Jap tokens or money in their possession were unmercifully beheaded. Filipinos died 150 a day to the American rate of 50 per day . . . and finally, unthinkably, three American and three Filipino men, ill from mistreatment, were buried while still alive.

Yes, College girls . . . we know War. We complain about our food, while our brothers have known a diet of poor rice and muddy water and a spoonful of coconut lard. We refuse to go to the infirmary for adequate medical treatment while our boys over there lie dying of malaria. We refrain from drinking water that has a rusty tinge while our men stand in line for twelve hours at the time for a tin cup of muddy seepage that trickles from a broken faucet. And we sally forth in silly school girl flippancy, fuming over shortages, while our sweethearts face brute savagery and indescribable mutilation at the face of our enemies.

We've been asked to settle down. We've been asked to roll bandages and to be a part of the drives that will raise the money to buy the supplies needed to get those boys away from the unholy terrors of War that we'll never know. Now that we've read what did happen, and what can happen, let's show the fellows here and there just what we can do! They've had their March of Death . . . let's help them now on their new March . . . to Freedom! —B. D. C.

Gleanings

By Bernice Copenhaver

The news on the battlefronts remains very encouraging. It has been stated that it is only a question of time before the Russians will be marching into Germany. The Nazis are retreating on the northern, central ,and southern Red fronts. The Baltic Sea which is to Germany as the Mediterranean Sea was to Italy may be entirely under Allied control shortly.

* * * * *

The fourteenth devastating raids on Berlin was made on Hitler's eleventh anniversary of government. Frankfurt, Brunswick and Hannover have also been bombed heavily lately. German translations of the Atlantic Charter were dropped on Frankfurt.

* * * * *

The report has been received that the Germans are evacuating Rome, leaving only small detachments to defend the city. It is also reported they are blowing up certain strategic buildings. The Pope's flag is conspicuously displayed at his residence, and the roofs have been painted so that they can be recognized because his home is practically on the battlefront. The Allies raided airfields in Northern Italy, destroying 36 German planes to the one Thunderbolt which was lost.

* * * *

The Marshalls have again received a heavy bombardment from the Allies. This is believed to be a definite preparation for an attack on Japan Although the United Nations army continues to advance at all points in the Pacific, the United States has been warned not to be too optiministic . . . that the Japanese resistance is becoming stronger all the time.

* * * *

The announcement was made that some iron and steel will be released for home use. They will only be used for certain products, and it is not known when these products will be available to the public.

* * * *

A compromise bill on soldiers' voting will be ontroduced in Congress, but strength is being gathered to defeat any compromise on their voting.

* * * *

Last week escaped prisoners of war of the Japanese told of atrocities made by the Japanese against the Allied prisoners which aroused all Americans to make a vow for merciless vengeance. The news may have a definite effect on the Fourth War Loan drive which is well on its way.

* * * *

Argentina has at last broken diplomatic relations with Germany and Japan. President Roosevelt sent a note to the President of Argentina expressing his pleasure over the action.

Here and There

Probably the most important event of the week was the invasion of Cunningham by the throng of freshmen Saturday night. Dance contests, novel games, anything that comes under the heading of excitement could be found in every corner of "The Building".

Another name to add to the list of the betrothed goes Frances Wentzel. You're right—it's John.

Congratulations go to Mrs. Naomi Major Shipp who returned to school last week after a two-week honeymoon.

Only a word from the ex-victim of measles, Jim, takes Dugger fleeting off to North Carolina to see him off. There are worse things than having measles, you know.

Question of the week: Why did Helen Stites and Bracey trade dates at the movie Saturday night? Replies are in order.

B. Blackwell took extended cuts last week end to see her Bev' off to the Navy. Ah Love! Her major worry now lies in whether or not she can live till June!

Noted around campus this week . . . Hannah Lee and Jane still prefer the Army Air Corps . . . 'Rec Hutt and a "tall, dark and handsome" . . . Nell and Leiky Holloway's brother up to see the girls . . . Virginia Shackelford coming from the P. O. with two letters from the same Lt. every day.

Betty Minetree and Elizabeth Crouch would like to announce that they are both very brand new, proud aunts . . . since Sunday. Congrats, "aunties"!

Bev' Peebles still sticks to U. Va. for a good time. Midwinters this time.

Betty O'Conner must pick 'em for size. Note her with the Hampden-Sydney V-12'er.

Kitty Rennecker is now seen with a V-12 "unit" and his name is not Charlie "Bunnyduck" Pearson.

Richmond Ho! was the onward cry of Betty Cock to see her captain on Friday Libby Jorden, E. Banks and Betty B. on Saturday, and Vivian Gwaltney on Sunday. It was a merry week end. Ask the men in the situation!

WEEK'S SHORT SHORT STORY

Some months ago in the state of Tennessee a Danish born soldier was glancing at S. T. C. through a "Virginian", and happened to run across a picture of a girl whom he decided bore a very strong resemblance to Ingrid Bergman. He liked the idea of an American double for his favorite star. A letter came promptly into being. The girl was Joyce Cheatwood.

Joyce responded favorably, and thus came about an interesting correspondence with young Henning Knudson. His letters, perfections in English grammar, were rich in interest, and along with tales of his life before America came beautiful snapshots of his home, his family, and his friends in Denmark. (Along, too, at fascinating intervals, came luscious boxes of hard-to-get chocolates, and gorgeous yellow roses). Henning was a rather far-away, mystical personage, and an enchanting character to be widely envied and discussed.

Today Henning has materialized. He came Sunday to Farmville, and has been filling the entire week with his massive pre-

Continued on Page 3

the "Y"

By ANNE SNYDER

Sunday School contest will begin Sunday. There will be a poster on the bulletin board to record the attendance at the Sunday School of each denomination. The contest will continue throughout February.

New members of the Y committee will meet with the chairman tonight at the regular meeting time and places. It is very important that the new members be present.

Sings on Saturday nights during February will be conducted by the different classes. These will take the form of a contest.

Mr. Versil Crenshaw who spoke in chapel yesterday will lead discussions on "Planning a Life" each night this week at the Baptist Church.

Crowning Glory Given Rats At Annual Capping by Sophs

At eight o'clock Monday night the "Rec" was filled to the brim with a mixture of Red and White, and Green and White - - - and voices and people. The event was the crowning of the Freshmen by the Sophomores with those inevitable manufacturers of grease (Rat Caps). The ceremony was very short and impressive. Bessie capped Ellett and we in turn were put through the same procedure. kneeling. Then the entire gathering stood for a stately chorus of our Alma Mater - - - and then the mad rush to look at ourselves in the mirror!

Yes, it's greasy hair from now til we overcome those undefeatable (so they say) Sophomores. We asked for 'em and now we've got the long awaited chapeaux. They are white jobs intermixed with dirt, blue, and autographs Of course, those that got a seven hat and wear a six or vice-versa are no doubt uncomfortable, and blue goes with everything. Especially purple and green.

And the most outstanding phase of the whole event is the fact that the sophomores went haywire in ordering the caps and wrote to any number of novelty companies, but no go. They received letters of apology from manufacturers in Detroit, New York, Chicago, Charlotte, Seattle, somewhere in California, but no caps. Where'd they finally get 'em? Why over the hill . . . at the Staunton Novelty Company.

We are full-fledged freshmen now, and we are all on the same team. At least we have part of our uniform. Look out Sophomores - - - well, I guess that means we wear them until June.

Letters to Editor:

Dear Editor:

We don't like to quibble and we aren't ones to go around looking for faults in the school, but the time has come when nearly everyone will agree that something should be done about the tea room situation.

The tea room, supposedly organized for students and teachers has become the "town cafeteria". What could be more disappointing than to go dashing into the tea room after a 1:30 class already for a good meal, only to be greeted with the news: "No more seats or food"!

We realize when ration points are low, the average person in town likes to go to the tea room for a good meal, but is it fair that they may order food and reserve tables by telephone while we must take our chances? Why should they be given preference over the students and faculty members for whom the tea room is originally organized?

Student teachers and faculty members have a limited time in which they may eat their lunches, yet, they must often wait so long that they do not have time to eat their food when it does finally come.

We do not suggest that town people should be prohibited entirely from the use of the tea room, however, we do think that students and teachers should be given preference.

Signed:
TEA ROOM FANS

Question of the Week

If you could do anything in the world you wanted to for 24 hours what would it be?

Sara Moling: I wouldn't tell you!

Anne Nichols: I'd take a trip to V. P. I.

Phyllis Watts: See Johnny and have one heck of a good time for twenty-four straight hours.

Anne Kingdon: Go to Notre Dame.

Margaret Ellett: Be with Bill!

Frog Tomlinson: Play basketball.

Martha Wells: Get all the mail that I'm suposed to get from all the people I'm supposed to hear from at one time.

Helen Apperson: No telling!

Joyce Cheatwood: I guess I'd ride. (Being as I'm through with men for life!)

Nancy Almand: Dance!

Polly Moore: Stay with Nelson the whole time.

Cora Redd: Draw!

Jerry Titmus: Play bridge and eat in the tea room. (Sleep too!)

Mary Evelyn Pearsall: Could I see Allan for twenty-four hours?

Nancy Whitehead: I'd try to see Judge, Jay, Austin, Bud, Edd, Bob, and Al.

"Kakie" Stoner: Ha! Ha! I could do a lot.

Jean Arlington: Go to Michigan (Get married in other words).

Judy Eason: I wouldn't have it printed.

Faye Nimmo: Go to see Jack, (That's Jack Webb, of course).

Jane Ford: Attend the turkie convention (Ruth Dugger is president—Happie Turkie Day is May 13!)

Nancy Watts: Get married!

Ruth Dugger: Play tennis, with Jim and Dave waiting to take up the rest periods. (Play kissie, kissie you know!)

Mildred Droste: See Bill (which one?) and eat.

Frances Lee: Golly, I'd do a lot of things I've never done before!

Betty Cock: I'd spend every hour doing something different.

AMERICAN HEROES

BY LEFF

As our guns groped blindly for vital enemy targets in Tunisia, Sergeant Donald V. Peterson of South Minneapolis crept beyond our lines. Snipers and machine guns raked the ground, but he pushed on, snaked forward into view of our targets. Sheltered from withering fire by one small bush, he radioed fire commands and our guns battered the enemy. His country recognized Peterson's bravery with the Silver Star. You can recognize it with another War Bond.

Ping - Pong Matches Coming Up: Dugger Announces Tourney Rules

Deadline Dates Set For Color Clashes

Monday, February 7, has been set for the ending of the first round in the ping pong tournament. Challenge games have been posted on the A. A. bulletin board and all players must meet their opponents by that date.

Seventeen students will vie in the tourney which is a part of the Color Cup contest between class colors. Playing in the first round are: Mary Agnes Sheffield vs. Ann Jones; Cab Overbey vs. Shirley Pierce; Lucille Jones vs. Mary Ann Loving; and Margaret Ellett vs. Mary Walker Watts.

Also, Kitty Sue Bridgeforth vs. Helen Wilson; Phyllis Watts vs. Sue Hundley; Nellie Smith vs. Phe Whittle; and "Frog" Tomlinson vs. Dot Overcash.

Ruth Dugger, manager of ping pong, has announced the rules regarding the games. All players must play contest match off before deadline date or forfeit will be given to the other player. Two out of three games must be played in each match and scores reported to the manager. Balls and other equipment may be secured from Mike Shifflet on Second floor Annex. Ping pong tables for use are located in the shower room and also in the little gym.

BARBARA SCOTT
Volleyball Manager

Eight Practices In Volleyball Rate You on Team

Volleyball practices are now underway in preparation for the annual class tournaments which have been scheduled for the latter part of February.

Barbara Scott, manager of class volleyball, has announced that eight practices must be had before one can qualify for a class team. These may be obtained during the volleyball periods which are scheduled for Wednesdays at 6 p. m. and Tuesdays and Thursdays at 8 p. m. Even though you are not enrolled in a regular volleyball class, practices may be made at these times.

Class contests in volleyball are scheduled every year and any class member may play provided enough practices have been made. Clash for Color Cup points along with exercise and team competition make the contests among the most looked-forward to of events in the annual sports program.

Notice

All freshmen who have not enrolled in a beginners' swimming class of instruction may begin next week for classes on Monday and Wednesday at 3:50 p. m.

Regular freshmen tests are given each Wednesday afternoon at 5 p. m.

Here 'n' There

Continued from Page 2

sence. He and Joyce have become a familiar twosome at the hotel dining room, and he is often seen patiently waiting in the hall of Junior building, or most often lending an attentive eye to the riding classes that occupy most of Joyce's time.

Postwar Problems

Continued from Page 1

on laws, and as to their economic organization; second. how the countries are organized without—that is, their national political entities, groupings of nations for limited persons or states, tariff barriers, and alliances and agreements already made concerning the Post-War plans.

Numerous questions confronting the nations were presented and discussed by the entire group.

Left Lead

At this point (from the window) there's a three-ring circus going on out there in the Riding field. First Jean Carter Smith jumps Flash, then Emma Allen takes o'l Lightnin' Lindy over, and the whole while the other horses are cantering around in the wind, and Sarah's leading a saddle-less Nellie in and out amid the rush, 'til we really don't know who to watch first. Now it's Flicka who's taking the jump . . . Flash made it at two and a half, Lindy's veteran for three feet, and earlier this aft Cindy cleared three and a half! Nice going for these youngsters . . . and okay for the lazy Lindy, too.

As to why Nellie is saddle-less, could be they "barbecued the saddle, too" last time we . . . well, you understand. Speaking of Nell's attire, too, there has been a suggestion that the Martingale be transferred to her wardrobe. The way she's been tossing her head around lately, it may not be such a terribly bad idea.

Elise is a glutton for punishment, but she actually got Lindy up to a canter Monday, and in just one hour. Next hour she rode Winnie. We have got to know . . . was she bragging or complaining?

The field has been leveled off on the worst side, and we found that those noisy, disrupting tractors have some good points after all. It was no easy thing to keep the horses going at their same gait over that bump, and it always broke Princess from a rack to a canter, infallibly.

And this week we've had an extra special observer, in the form of Henning, who patiently holds Flash or Cindy or Nellie as the case may be, while Joyce high-steps around the ring with a switch in the hand, voicing instructions to the hard-riding gang who are already going in circles from the things they've been trying to remember all along. But Henning merely observes . . . He will not ride.

There's a new horse in the crowd, but he's stabled on third floor Junior. He was originally christened "Captain Midnight", but it seems "Wilburforce" has taken the place by storm. It's feared a bit that if the Dusty Boots get any more bright ideas, he may be banished to the Club-room at the stables, 'cause they sure have added atmosphere to the little place, and there's always room for more! Charts on form, pictures of horses, and several equestrionic calenders have found their way to the walls of the office, and the general environment is one of a horsy attitude.

The sky just clouded up . . . and the horses are heading for the barn before the rain gets here, but before we leave . . . did you see Joyce driving Henning around in Beauty's little cart on Sunday afternoon? It made a pretty sight, but the main objection Henning had was that he had to look at the back of the gal all day! We wouldn't like that either!

PEGASUS

Orchesis Adviser Suggests Criteria For Watching Dance

Miss Emily Kauzlarich, Orchesis adviser has given eight points for the amateur to keep in mind while watching to Orchesis recital. These will, she says, help the average spectator to enjoy the dances more.

1.—Don't try to see too much into it at first. You have to see a dance more than once to enjoy it. Is it interesting to look at? Is it striking in movement?

2.—Watch the opening movement. What is the statement of the dance? It is always repeated once.

